America, unknown to the eAntients.

HESea, that takes feveral Denominations from the Defriptioniof of Ocean.
Countreys which it wafheth, and furrounding the dry Land, cuts out, and fhapes fo many winding Bays, Creeks, and Meandring In-lets, feems no where fo much confin'd and penn'd into fo narrow a Channel, as the Straights of Magellan: From whence again, foon expatiating, it fpreads it felf into two immenfe, and almoft boundlefs Oceans, that which opens to the North, gives terminaries to the four Regions of the Earth; that to the South, onely to A/ia and America; both which, indeed, are but one continu'd Sea, extending it felf round the Univerfal Globe.

This watry part of the World, that almoft through all Ages lay Fallow, hath in thefe later times been Furrow'd by feveral Expert and Stout Captains, who now by their Art and Indufty, have given a good Account of, and made clear Difcoveries from Eaft to Weft, where-ever the Sun rifes or fets.

The Northern Bounds under the Artick-Zone, have been hitherto fo obftructed with Ice, that the undertakings of fuch as adventur'd either to find by the North-Eaft or North-Weft a Paffage to India, have been utterly fruftrate. Of the Southern, no fuch pains hath as yet been taken in the Difco very, fo, that for the moft part it is yet unknown how far the Water, either deep or fhallow, overfpreads the Earth, onely thus much Experience hath made out, that the Antartick needs leffer Line to Fathom, than the Artick-Ocean.

The antient Greeks, Phenicians, and Romans, or whofoever that were Renown'd by Antiquity, and Lifted in the number of their famous Navigators, were no lefs Timerous than Ignorant concerning Maritim Affairs, and are not fit to ftand in the leaft degree of competition with our later Voyagers. .

Of old, by an inviolable Law, made by Cuftom, according to Pliny, Vispetius and others, the Sea was lock'd up, from the eleventh of October, to the tenth of - Farch, no Ships daring to venture forth, dreading fhort Nights, and foul Weather; neither in Summer, did they fo much as once offer, unlefs driven by Storms, to attempt the Offin, or loofe fight of Land; yet there is no queftion, Navigation is very ancient.

- " but that feveral Nations in former Ages, made it their bufinefs, feending their whole time, and wearying themfelves in the Practical Art of Navigation:

The Sacred Scripture teftifies, That the Kings of Judea, Solomon, Fehofaphat, 0 zins, and others, prepar'd feveral Fleets that Sail'd through remote Seas, freighting themfelves with Gold from Ophir, and ocher Rarities, which were

Of Eudoxas, Strab.1. 2.

Strange Voyage of fome Indians.

Of Menelaus: Imported to fupply and enrich the Holy=Land: And Strabo alfo tells us, Thar King Solomon being contemporary with Homer, then difcover'd India. And Pliny. relates, That the Romans, in the Reign of Augufus, paffing the Straigbts of Gibraltar, and fleighting the Ne plus ultra, Coafted Spain, France, and Belgium, leaving not at the Promontory of the Cimbrians (now call'd Shager-Riff) but alfo ventur'd into the Northern Ocean, which wafhes Norwey and Lapland: But long before this, as Atbeneus relates, Phileas Taurominites, a Grecian Captain, and feveral others pafs'd the Herculean-Pillars, penetrating the Nprthern Seas as far as Brittain, and adventuring, made the firft Difcovery of Tbule: And to the Southward the $\mathcal{A}$ frican Coafts without Gibraltar, and beyond Atlas, were now and then explor'd by feveral expert Captains. But more remarkable is the Voyage of Hanno a Carthaginian, who out-fail'd thefe, and infpected the Coafts of Africa, as far as the Gorgades: And Eudoxus Cyzicenus, flying from King Lathyrus, fet Sail from the Arabian Gulph, and paifing the Great=Cape, came to an Anchor at laft in the Mouth of Gibraltar, having difcover'd all the Eaftern, Southern, and Weftern parts of Africa.

Moreover, it deferves feecial obfervation, That an antient Swedifh King, as Cornelius Nepos relates, fent as a Rarity and great Prefent to the Roman Conful Metellus Celer, fome Indians, who loofing their courfe, hatter'd up and down with perpetual Storms and ftrefs of Weather, were at laft driven into the Northern Ocean, where they fuffer'd Shipwrack; yet faving themfelves, Landed on his Coaft: Arifonicus Gramaticus relates, That.Menelaus Sailing from the Sack of Troy, became fo great a Voyager, that leaving the Straights, he furrounded Africa, and difcovering India, after eight years re-meafuring the fame way he went, return'd with great Riches in fafety to his own Kingdom: Which is confentaneous to $H_{\text {omer, }}$ who faith, $0 d_{3}$ J. 1.4 .

That which the Grecian Geographers relate concerning Ptolomy Euergetes, King of Egypt, is not to be forgotten, That fending Pilots, Commiffion'd to take the Soundings, and fettle the Landomarks in the Arabian Gulph, they found by chance a forfaken Veffel, onely in it one Man half dead, lying among feveral other breathlefs Bodies, of whom, being refrefl'd with cunvenient Cordials, they enquir'd his Fortune, but he being unable to give them any prefent fatisfaction, neither underftanding what the other faid, they fent him to the Court, where foon having got a fmattering of Greek, he inform'd Euergetes, that he was a Native Indian, driven from their courfe into the place where they found him by ftrefs of Weather, and that his company were famiffod, all their Provifion Spent in their Wandrings from their intended Voyage; Thus being kindly entertain'd, he alifo promis'd the King to open his Paffage(if fo he pleas'd) into India. The King flept not upon this Intelligence, but immediately prepar'd a Fleet Freighted with fuch Commodities as were advis'd; with which fetting forth by the Conduct of this their Indian Pilot, they Anchor'd in their defir'd Port, and brought the King in return from thence a rich Cargo of Silk, Spices, coflly Drugs, and precious Gems. Cleopatra; about fixty years after; intending not to lofe the advantages reap'd by the former difooveries, equipp'd another and greater Navy; which paffing through the Red-Sea, found the Stern of a Ship, on which was Prefented a Horfe, whereby fome of the more knowing Sea-men judg'd, that it had been a Gibraltar Veffel, and Sailing about Africa, there by fad accident fuffer'd a Wrack. This Stern was afterwards Fet up, and fix'd as a Memorial in the Market-place of Memphis.

In thefe later times, the firft that endeavor'd to drive an European Trade in Africk, and held Commerce with India, was the State of Venice, who Sail'd from thence through the Adriatick, into the Mediterranean Sea : So Steering for Alexandria, where unlading their Goods, from thence they carry'd them over Land, and Shipping again in the Arabian Gulph, Sail'd directly for India. Thus by Land and Water, were exchang'd feveral Commodities, and the Indian Growth and rich Products of the Oriental World plentifully Tranfported to Venice, and from thence, all Europe had ample Accommodation, until an Egyptian Sultan fuffer'd the Way to be infefted by Thieves and Murdering Robbers, that fo they were enforc'd to remove thence, and Difcharge their Ceveral Cargoes at Aleppo; from whence, on Mules and Camels, they carry'd their Goods to Babylon, fo to Ballarium, and then to Ormus, where they Re-fhip'd thence, directly ftanding for India.

Thus they enjoy'd the benefit of fo great a Trade and Commerce, until the Portuguefe found a Paffage by Sea, faving the Expence and trouble of carrying Goods fo far by Land to India; Of which here we will a little inlarge.

John, the firtt King of Portugal, who took from the Moors, by force of Arms, Septa, an Africanc City, having five Sons; Henry his fourth behav'd himfelf fo gallantly in the Leaguer of Septa, that after he became Mafter of the place, this Prince made many bold Excurfions in feveral Parties againft the Enemy, bringing in daily great fore of Booty; fo growing rich, he Rigg'd out two new Veffels to make farther Difcoveries along the Coaft of Africa. Yet this his Expedition went on but flowly, being much taken off in Building there a new City, then call'd Tazanabala, and fince Villa Infantis; but being Admonifl'd by a Dream, and Check'd for his laying thus afide his firf Deo fign of Navigation; he foon after, Anno 1410. Set forth the Ships that he inten* ded ${ }_{2}$ which he the more accelerated, being inform'd by fome of his Prifoners MAsatara's, by whom peopredit the South : This Mountain then was the Terminary of Navigation that way, becaufe thereabouts a long Ridge or Shelf of Sands thruft its Point under Shallow Waters fo far out into the Ocean, that none durft venture to Sail in. to the Offin, being out of fight of Land to double this conceal'd Cape.

- The firft that attempted to find Deep Water, and get round about, difcovering feveral unknown Coafts, and Uninhabited Inés belonging to that Region, were foamies Gonfalves, Triftan Varfeus, and LEgidius Ammius; amongit which were the-Madera's, and St. George de Picho, which Prince Henry firft Planted with Portuguefe, and others fince with Netherlanders. He alfo obtain'd a Grant from Pope Martin the Fifth, of all the difcover'd Territories Eaft-ward from the Canaries, for ever to be the undoubted Right", and belonging to the Crown of Portugal.

After Henry's Deceafe, Anno i460. the bufinefs of Navigation and Difcoveries of new Countreys, lay neglected, becaufe King Alphonfo turmoyl'd in a Civil War, his Crown being at ftake, had not leifure to think or look after uncertain improvements by Sea; yet at laft having quell'd his Enemies, he ventur'd forth fome Ships, who Sail'd as far as the River Zenaga, and came to Anchor before the City of Germy, famous fince for Trade, which gave its denomination to the Countrey and Coafts of Guiny, where they dealing, Barter'd for Ivory, Gold, Slaves, and alfo got fo much footing into the Countrey, that they fuddenly rais'd up a Fort, and Man'd it with a ftrong Garrifon, Shipping their Slaves for Lisbon.

Fobn the Second fucceeding his Father Alphonfo, had a great defign upon Arabia and India, and if poffible, was ambitious to open a Paffage from the Atlane tick, to the Oriental-Seas. But the difficulty lay in Steering fo often from fight of Land, venturing into the Main Ocean, obftructed by fo many dangerous Shoals that lay fo far out into the Offin.

At that time flourifh'd three famous Mathematician, Rboderick, 7o $/$ epl, and Mar." tin Bohemus, Pupils bred up by foames Monteregius; with which the King confulting, perfwaded, that they would by their Art invent fome Inftrument, that by Southern Conftellations, the Pole being deprefs'd, the Navigator might know where he was, and in what height ; fo gueffing what diftance they were from this or that Countrey; they accordingly Club'd Learning, and by their great Study, found out what fince hath prov'd fo ufeful and beneficial to Seamen, the Afrolabe; which help having obtain'd, the Sailers encourag'd, more frequently ventur'd into remote and unknown Seas.

After thefe, King John of Portugal fent Jaques Cano with a Fleet, who Sailing; found the River Zaives, where he erected a Pillar with an Infcription, Latin and Portuguefe, figni fying by whom, and in what Kings Reign thefe African Coafts were difcover'd: Here he alfo met fome of the Natives, who more civiliz'd than the reft, told him, That they had a mighty King, who Raigning over them, kept his Court fome few days Journey up in the Countrey, to whom Cano Jending his Agents, detain'd four Africans as Pledges, which he carry'd with their free confent to Portugal, promifing to bring them back in fifteen Months, who before that time having got fome fmatterings of their Tongue, gaust fane. inform'd them, that their Native Soyl was call'd Congo, whither returning by the appointed time, they were according to their agreement, exchang'd for the Portuguffe, and Cano addrefs'd himfelf with rich Prefents to their King, whom he found fitting in their manner on an Ivory Throne, being from the middle upward Naked, his nether parts cover'd with long Silken Skirts, a Golden Arm. let on his left Arm, athwart his Shoulders hung a Horles Tail, their Badge of Royal Dignity : Cano humbly laid the Prefents down at the Kings Feet, anongft which was a Gilded Flag, or Pennon with a Crofs, which Pope Imocent the Eighth had Confecrated with great Ceremony. After this, many of that Na* tion became Chriftians, and the King himfelf receiv'd Baptifn. But in Chore time, by the Inftigations of their Diabolical Priefts, and others, Chriftianity loofing ground, grew out of countenance: Mean while, King folnt the Second vigoroufly Profecuted the bufinefs of Difcovery, fending Jews and Chris fians by Land from Alexandria and other parts of Egypt to Indir, and from thence to explore the Coafts on the Eaftern fide of Africa, to the Great-Cape; if lo a way might be found fit for Navigators, having doubled that Point, to Traffick with the Oriental parts of the World.

After this Princes Death the Work lay ftill a while, but in fhore time, King Enanuel his Succeffor frefhly undertook the bufinefs once more, fending Vafques de Gama with four Ships, who paffing through many Dangers with grear Diffi: culties; Anchor'd at laft before Calecut, and was the firtt of the Europeans that found 2 way to the Eaft-Indies.

But Cbriftopher Columbus, five Years before Gama's Expedition to the Eaft, had been employ'd in Weftern Difcoveries, which prov'd fo very fucceffful, that he found no lefs thati another World; which foon after, from Americus Vefputius, was call'd America: So that the Divifion of the World by the Antients, (concerning which they had folongerr'd, and were utterly miftaken) was now made manifeft by Experience, and undifputable Demonftration; for formerly the whole World was known by no other names than Afia, Africa, and Europe, but now, thofe three are found to make but one Part of what in: circles the Univerfal Globe; becaufe in the South lies a fecond, known no fur= ther than by its Coaftings and Superficial Margents ; the third part being the New=World, our America.

Here it will not feem amifs, having prov'd that Africa was more than Coafted by the Ancients; to ingage and fearch with fome fcrutiny concern= ing this. America; Firf, Whether at any time 'rwas known by the Ancients? And next, by what People, and when firf Inhabited? About the former, the Learned of thefe later times Jangle amongft themfelves, for fome of them will needs afcribe fo much Honor to Antiquity, declining the Worthy Praife of thofe that made fo wonderful a Difcovery, as if they of old, and many Ages before, had done the fame, or at leaft, that this New. World to them was not unknown, maintaining this their bold Affertion from the Aus thority of what they find, both in Ancient Greek, and Latin Authors: Firft, efpecially in the Learned Plato, who, as you know at large, defrribes a New Atlantis, lying beyond the Straights of Gibraltar; whofe Coaft is furrounded with two vaft Seas that.are Sow'd thick with fcatter'd Iflands. By thefe Seas they underftand the Atlantick and Southern-Sea, by the many Inles, Crba, Hispaniola, Jamaica, California, and others, which lie fprinkled along the Coafts of America. But it cannot be made out, that Plato defcribes ought but á Fancy, his own Idea, not a Countrey that ever was, is, or flall be, though he fers it forth fo Ac: curately, and with fuch Judgment, as if he had taken a Survey of the place, and found fuch a Land indeed.

In like manner, Diodorus Siculus undertakes to prove, That America was known to the Antients; telling a Story, how the Phenicians were driven by a Storm from the Coafts of Africa Weft-ward, falling at laft upon a great and altoges ther unknown Ifland, which our late Expofitors take for America; Muft it therefore be fo? Surely not, for it is onely a bare Story, without any Proof or the leaft Teftimony. They endeavor to make Arifotle boliter up their opinion that he had a knowledge of this New-World, which with no fmall pains they pump from thefe Words: "Beyond the Flerculean Pillars, certain Carthaginian "Merchants penetrated the Atlantick Ocean fo far, that at laft they found a "vaft, yet un-inhabited Ifland, producing nothing but Herbage, Plants, and "Wild=Beafts, yet interlac'd with many Meandring Rivers, abounding with "feveral forts of Fifh, lying fome days Sail from the Continent; they Landings "found a Soyl fo fertile, and Air fo temperate, that there they fetled, and were "the firft Planters of that Infe. But the Carthag inians having intelligence thereof, "Prohibited all Perfons whatfoever, upon Pain of Death, to go thither, feat* "ing the place being fo much commended, all the People would be ready "to flock thither, and defert their own, and fo utterly unfurnifh and debili" tate their then growing Common-wealth.

But how could the Carthaginians find America, without the ufe of the Compars? How happen'd it, that they were fo taken with the fertility of this their Newsfound-Land, when the Adjacent Countreys and Fields about Carthage are every where Flourifling, and moft Luxurious? So that it may better be fuppos'd, that what Ariftotle found folong fince, may rather be the Canary=Iles, or Great-Brittain, than America. The Greeks having then alfo made fome Infpection into the Brittifh-Ifles. They would alfo make you believe, that Virgil the Prince Fueid. 1ib. 6a of Latin Poets, had known the New-World in thefe Verfes; Eincid.lib.6.

There, there's the Trince, oft promis'd us before, Divine Auguftus Cxfar, who once more Shall Golden Days bring to th'Aufonian Land, Kingdoms that once old Saturn did command, And Jhall His power to India extend, Beyond the Ammual Circle, and beyond, The Sun's long Progrefs, where great Atlas bears, Laden with Golden Stars, the glittering Sphears; Axem humero torquet fellis ardentibus aptum.

America was not known to the Ancients.

But what of all this? Who finds in any of thefe Writings; any Marks of America, or the leaft Defcription thereof? Though we cannot deny that the Antient Sages and Wife Philofophers of former times might eafily make out, and no queftion did, that the Earth and Sea made the perfect Figure of a Globe; firt from the round Shadow of the Earth that Eccliples the Moon; the different Rifings and Settings of the Celeftial Luminaries; and the fill Variation of the Pole; fo that the Earth and Sea making one Ball, they might eafily conjecture, that the South-fide of the Equinoctial might be Inhabited as well as the North: But all this was more grounded upon Natural Reafon and Right Judgement, than any Experience of theirs, or the leaft certain knowledge thereof, which fince thefe later times had the firft happinefs to obtain; fo laying thefe Conjeđtures afide, there have been none more grofly erroneous, and fo utterly miftaken in this Point, than fome of the Ancients, and efpecially the Fathers of the Church.

Lactantius Firmianus, and St. Aufin, who ftrangely jear'd at as ridiculous, and not thinking fit for a Serious Anfwer the Foolifh Opinion of Antipodes, or another another Habitable World beyond the Equator: At which, Lactuntius Diol ling, fays, $W^{\prime}$ bat, Forfooth, here is a fine Opinion broach'd indeed; an Ancipodes! beigh-day! People vobofe Feet tread with ours', and walk Foot to Eoot with ws; their Heads downoards, and yet drop not into the Sky! There, yes, very likely, the Trees loaden with Fruit grow downvards, and it Rains, Hails, and Snows upwards; the Roofs and Spires of Cities, tops of Mountains, point at the Sky beneath, them, and the Rivers revers'd topfi-turvy, ready to flow into the Air out of their Channels!

But thefe feeming witty Obfervations of Lactantius, though they may ferve for a Jeft, yet are not grounded on any ferious Reafons; for the Earth and Sea being Globular, making one Univerfal Ball; all Materials whatfoever that belong to this great Body, fink by a natural Propenfity towards its Center; fo that whereeever we Travel, our Feet are downwards, and our Heads upwards, the Sky above, and the Earth beneath; neither need they fear, that any where the Earth Chould Moulder and drop into the Clouds: But St. Auftin Lallust. error concerning our surifodes.

As alfo St. Anlifs, di Giv zir. Deil.16.C.g. Reafons better, admitting that the Earth and Sea make a Univerfal Globe; yet it no way follows, that inhabited Countreys fhould lye oppofite to our Northern, nay, altogether impoffible, feeing that fide which is our Antipodes is all nothing but Sea; and fhould we allow, that there were Land and Water mixt as ours is, who could prove, that they were Peopled ? or how could any get thither, over fuch Vaft and Immenfe Seas? or poffibly pafs the extrean heat of the Torrid Zone, not to be endur'd by any living Creature? And what then becomes of Sacred Scriptute, which fays pofitively, That all Men were deriv'd from Adam, and after the Floud, from Noah and his three Sons? Therefore the Nations of the Antipodes muft be of another Abftract, there being no poffis bility (as they fuppos'd) of paffing from this World to that : But fince the Difs covery of the Eaft and Weff-Iudies, Experience, the beft Miftrefs, hath taught, that in the South are mighty Lands and vaft Territories, and that as far as they have been Penetrated, are found to be full of People, extending their Domis nions from Eaft to Weft. And though St. Aufiin deny'd this now well known Truth, yet long before his time, Cicero, Pliny, and others'amongft the Greeks and Romans, divided the Earth under five Zones; which Virgil defcribes thus :

Five Zones the beav'ns infold, hot Sun-beams beat Always on one, and burns with raging beat. The two Extreams to this on each band lies Mufled with Storms, fetter'd with cruel Ice.
'Twixt Cold and Heat, two more there are, tb' aboads Aßign'd poor Mortals by th' Immortal Gods.

Several opinions of the Adtients concerning it.

And Pliny alfo affirms, though againft the Vulgar Opinion, this truth, "That the Earth is round about inhabited, and that people walk Foot to Foor " in moft parts thereof; though every one be ready to ask why our Antipodes drop " not into the Sky; which queftion, our Antipodes may alfo ask concerning us.

But although the Ancients upon thefe and the like Demonftrations well un. derfood, that there was a Habitable World towards the South under our $H_{0}$ z rizon, yet they could not make out or believe, that there was any poffibility to pafs thither; And, according as St. Aufin conceiv'd, That the Earth produc'd. nothing under either Pole, by reafon of exceffive cold, and that the Equinoxs or Middle $=$ Zone, was not to be penetrated, becaufe of the infufferable heat.
. And Macrobius faith, "That the EquinoEtial Circle,the Artick and Antartick Lines", " bind the two Habitable Zones, and make Temperate by the exceffive Neigh"boring Heats and Colds; and thefe Countreys onely give Animation, and "comfortable Enjoyment to all Living Creatures.

Moreover, St. Aufin in fome places feems to clear his own Doubts, faying; "That People, if they could find a means to Sail thofe Vaft and Undifcover'd "Seas, might make Land, raifing new Stars under another Sky.
A Learned Father, fearching after the Original of all forts of Beafts which multiply by Generation, concludes, That they muft derive themfelves from thofe that were fav'd with Noab in the Ark. But how came they to the Ines? To thofe adjacent and near the Main Land, they might eafily Swim; to the remoter, they were Tranfported.

But this Doubt is not altogether clear'd, for the Domeftick and other Creaj tures fit for Humane ufe and Suftenance were thus brought thither: Yet how comes it to pafs, that Voracious and Wild Creatures are alfo found there, fuch as Wolves, Tigers,Lions, and other Beafts of Prey? This puzzle pucting St. Aufinito a ftand, he had no other means to get off, but by faying, that by God's. Commands or Permiffion, the Angels convey'd them thither; If fo, why might not God pleafe to Plant Men there in like manner, and the rather, the Earth bea ing created for Humane ufe? But what needed this, when Men can in Ships Tranfport themfelves, either of their own accord for curious Inqueft, to find new Countreys, or elfe enforc'd by ftrefs of Weather, to far remoter, and altogether unknown Lands: Befides, though the Earth is here and there divided by large Bays and vaft Seas, yet neverthelefs, in other places it is all continu'd Land, or at leaft parted by fome narrow In-let or Sea; fo that there was no difficulty for a crouded Plantation to go over, and fo eafe themfelves in another Countrey, till then not Inhabited; therefore none need to queftion, but that from Adam, or nearer, from Noal's three Sons, Sem, Ham, and Japhet, thofe, as well as we, were extracted, that Inhabit this our other World.

But one queftion is to be obferv'd, How firft after the expiration of fo ma: ny Ages in thefe our later times, a New=World was difcover'd, altogether unknown to the Antients, when they in the greatnefs of their Parts and $\mathcal{U}_{\mathrm{n}}$ dertaking, Prowefs and Prudence, were no ways inferior to the Modern, and every way as fit for great Defigns and grand Exploits? We need not fcruple or make the leaft doubt, but the Sea hath been Navigated of old ; but the firft attempters fer forth unexperienc'd, in as pittiful and ill-contriv'd Veffels. The Heathens afcribe the Art of Navigation, firft to the Cretans, who under the Con: duct of Neptune, fet forth a Navy to explore Foraign Countries. But Pliny long before gives the'Invention of this Art to Erytlira, Kíng of Egypt, who upon Pieces of Timber, conjoyn'd and brac'd together, crept along the Shores, and ventur'd to Difcover the Hiles in the Red-Sea. But others give that honor to the Trojans, and Micians, when with a Fleet by Sea, they Invaded Thrace: Others, to the Brittains, who made little Veffels of Leather, and were the firft that by this Invention found how to Float upon the Waters: Some plead, that the Samothracians were firft; Ochers, that Danaus before :ill, found a way by Sea from Egypt to Greece. But without all Contradiation, Noal's Ark was the Pattern or Sample, that fucceeding Ages imitating, built their Ships by ; and the more probable, becaufe his Offspring multiplying fo faft, that they were enforc'd to inlarge their Colonies, by paffing Seas, and other broad Rivers, to fettle their Super-numeraries there.

So Jafon Invented a Ship, which he call'd Argos, which Sefofris King of Egyyt took as his Pattern. Next, the Biremis, a Galley with double Banks of Oars, was made by the Erythreans; with treble Banks, by the Corinttian Amodles; the addition of the Quadruple, the Carthagoinians boaft; of the Quinqueremis Nefichtton, Alexander the Great, brought them to twelve Banks; Ptoloniy Soter, to fifteen ; Demetrius, Antigonus Son, doubled them to thirty ; Ptolomy Pbiladelphus, to forty ; and laft of all, Philopater rais'd them to fifty Banks of Oars. Hippus a Tirian, was the firft that fet Ships upon the Stocks; the Rbodians a Ketch, and the Batavians a Boat; the Copes made the firf Oar; Dedalus the Maft and Bolefprit; Pijcus the Beak; the Tyrrbeans the Anchor ; Tiplys the Rudder ; taking example from the motion of a Kites Stern ; Icarus found Sails, fancy'd by the Poets for Wings, though fome afrribe that honor to his Father Dedalus.

Minos was the firft that Ingag'd in a Sea.Fight, whereby we may eafily conjecture, that of old none adventur'd far into the Offin, or to remote Countreys, not daring to truft their fo fleight contriv'd Veffels. But thefe later times have ftrangely and fuddenly improv'd this growing Art of Navigation, yet pitch'd not to that height at firt, as boldly to adventure, and loofe fight of Land.

The Tyrians firt underftood how to Steer their Courfe by the North-Star, and when dark and foul Weather had Clouded the Sky, that they could neither fee Heaven or Earth, but onely. Sea, they directed their Courfe by the Wind ; and if they doubted the change thereof, they let fome Birds flie, whom they follow'd, fuppofing that they food directly to the neareft Land. But thefe are but poor helps, and blind Guides to fhew you Land from the middle of the boundlefs Ocean. It is certain, that the Romans in the time of fulius Cafar and Ausiuftus, ftrecth'd the Bounds of that Empire Eaftward to Euphrates, the Rhyne, and the Darmbe, and Weftward to the Ocean and Mount Atlas, Sailing up and down the Mediterranean, with great Fleets, which foutly endur'd the vios lence both of Waves and Weather; but all this made them not fo hardy, as once to think or look afternew Worlds. But after the Roman power decreas'd, by feveral Eruptions of the Goths, Vandals, Huns, Normanis, Lumbards, and other Northern Countreys, which fwarm'd with People, that overflow'd all places like a Deluge, So that Eurrope was every where puzzel'd and Imbroyl'd ; their whole bufinefs confifting in conjoyning Forces to withftand fuch bold Invaders, and fo vexatious an Enemy.

And farther Eaft, Afia was at the fame time litete better, fill trembling at the daily Alarms and Incurfions of the Sctthians, Perfians, and Saracens; and afterwards the Turks growing upon them more than any of the former, expected no other than a fad Cataftrophe, fo that the known World had too much work cut out for them by thefe Diftractions and Alterations of Government, then to go in Queft of uncertainties, to find they know not where, another.
Hieron. in c. 2. Eplef.
Here alfo is added by St. Ferom, what an antient Writer faith, Great care hath been taken in Computing the Age of this W'orld, and if there be another which Commenc'd not woith ours, (as Clemens mentions in his Epifles) where are fcituate thofe Seas and Lands that make that fecond World? Or is it a part of that, in whicb Adam was Created? Or may it not rather Metaphsicically be taken for Worldly Affairs, govern'd by the Prince of the Air, ruling in the Hearts of the Children of Difobedience?
The Antients opinion of an unkoown world.

But Pliny, Ciceros, and Virgil, the beft in their kind of Latin Writers, concur, That there may be a habitable World under our Horizon, in the temperate Southern Zone, beyond the extream heat, and on this fide of the Antartick colds.

- But what fignifies all this to the Difcovery of America, which lies not onely under the forching Heats of the Equinox, but under the Frofts and Snows of In comment fuper Olad. the Artick and Antartick-Poles? Yet lefs probable is that which Lodowisk Leo, an

But certainly, Obadiah. meant no other than the Reftauration of the feros from the Captivity of Babylon, who after their return, fhould grow more powerful than ever, and they, led by their Meßias, obtain the height of all felicity, who would fend his Evangelifts and Apofles to declare Salvation to the utmof Borders of the Earth. motion. And alchough the Antients found out many Secrets of Nature, a mongt which this of the LoadeStone, Ateracting Iron, as being its proper Food; and the three forts of the Magnet, of which fome will not draw Steel, found by Theamedes a Greek Author, and other fince, well known Properties : Yet they never attain'd that knowledge, that the Load-Stone would eafe Pain, and fop the effufion of Blood, though the edge piercing the Skin; open'd the Vein : as Hieronimus Cardanus experienc'd on himfelf and others, which he had from Laùrentius Guafcus, a great Chyrurgeon. Much lefs, that the Needle of the Compafs being touch'd by the Load-Stone on the Northfide of the Equinox, refpects the North; but deprefing the Artick; and raifing the Antartick Pole; it looks as ftedfaftly towards the South: But far lefs dreamt they of its feveral variations, according to the Coafts that are neareft; as when you come from the Illand del Cuervo, the Point varies more Weft; but Sailing towards the Equinox, it varies Eaftward; by which we may abfolutely conclude, that without this ufe of the Load=Stone, firft found by Flavius Melvius a Neapolitan, in the Year 1303 . it was altogether impoffible to reach America. So that fofeph de Acofta miftakes, who gives the honor of the finding fo great a benefir to Navigation, to fome Mabumetan Sea=men which Vafques de Gama met with near Mofambique, who had Sail'd thofe Seas by the ufe thereof; whereas Gama's Expedition was above a hund dred years after Melfius, who liv'd in fuch a juncture of time for Mathema= tical Learning, that few Ages boafted the like: For then flourifh'd in England, and were Contemporaries, befides others abroad, Richard Walling ford, Nicolas de Lynna, Jobn Halifax, Walter Britte, Jobn Duns, and Jobn de Lignarys, all eminent in Aftronomical Arts, belonging to Navigation, and doubtlefs, no fmall helps to Melfius in this his happy Invention.

The time when America was firtt Pcopled.

The condition of the firf World after the Floud. Jangling.

The firt Doubr is concerning the cime : Mr. Purchas, where-ever he had the Hint, endeavors to prove, that America hath been but lately Planted; for which he thus argues, "That if Afia, or Europe furnifh'd America with People in Abra"ham's time, or at leaft before the Birth of our Saviour ; then it muft upon " neceffity, by the Expiration of fo many Ages, have been much more Popu*"lous, then the Spaniards found when firt they difcover'd it. Befides, the vaft "Territories yet unhabited (fays he) are fufficient teftimonies, that this New "World hath been Planted but fcatteringly, and not many Ages fince, elfe " the Countrey would have more abounded with Inhabitants, becaufe the fer. "When Noal went out of the Ark on Mount Ararat, and not long after, faw " his Seed Spread over Armenia and AJSyria, the new Generation of People con"fifted in Shepherds and Husbandmen, that fetled themfelves near Lakes and "Rivers. Villages, Cities (and much lefs) whole Kingdoms, were fcarce found " on the Face of the Earth, and as little of Trade or Commerce; Riches, Divifion " of Lands, coflly Garments and Furniture for Houfes, were not then in ufe, but "the works of long fettlements in happy Peace. To curb growing-Wickednefs, " and the Pride of Libertines, who incroach'd upon their weaker Neighbors, "Laws were invented, by which Bridle, the unbroke or wild World grew "camer: And firft, the Affyrians were brought to endure the Bit, and anfwer the "Reins of Government; then Egypt, next Greese, and after that the Romans, who " fpreading their Power by Arms and Martial Difcipline, firft civiliz"d the "Gauls, Spain, Brittain, and laftly Germany.
"But becaufe a Countrey or Paftoral Life, knowing no Commerce, but mean "Hovels, and to dwell in Huts, priding in poor and no Habits, defpifing all "greatnefs, unlimited by Laws, and all things elfe, (which the People obferv'd "prefentlyafter the Flood) is now found among the Americans, who will take "them for ought elfe, but new Comers to that Land, as themfelves acknow. For the Mexicans boaft, that they are the eldeft there, and that from "them, Peru, Chili, Chika, and other Countreys towards the South, had their "Colonies, and yet the oldeft Chronicles of Mexico reckon not above a thour $\because$ fand Years. Thus far Mr. Purchas.

But certainly, all this Mufter of appearing Reafons, is not able to vano quifh fingle Truth; For, grant that America was not very Populous when the Furchus contradicted. Spaniards firft arrived there; muft this needs prove, that it was never well inhabited before? Perhaps the Civil Wars, which have been always deftructive' to this Nation, have much hindred the increafe of People; and the more, becaufe their Salvage Nature is fuch, that in feveral places they account Man's Flefh Broil'd a very great Dainty. And fuppofe fuch Prodigal Excefs of their Humane Bankets were not us'd in America, as indeed theyare, Is it wonder, that fuch a great part of the World, not oncly exceeding Europe in bignefs, but Afia alfo fhould here and there have a Tract of Land uninhabited ? Thefe might, by reafon of their Barrennefs, be ufelefs, as many fuch places are found in the midft of the moft Populous and fertile Countreys. But above all this, it is certain, that America to this day (notwithftanding almoft innumerable thoufands of Indians formerly Slain and Maffacred by the Spaniards) is fo well inhabited, that it may Itand in Competition with either Afia or Europe. Arid how could fuch vaft multitudes Plant the farefpreading Countrey of America, without the help of many Ages? Moreover, This truth is not without fufficient Teftimonies; when any one looks on the Illands with which America lies incompals'd, he may fuppofe they did not willingly go from the Main Continent to the Ifles, but were driven thither by Wars among themfelves, or as moft times it happeris, becaufe of the vaft increafe of the Natives, the Coun. trey muft difcharge its burden.

Hereto is added, the feveral Languages us'd in America, as in Europe or any other part of the known World; whereby we may cafily guefs, that America was Peopled prefently after the Confufion of Tongues at Babel. Furthermore, If the Americans live a Rude Life, go meanly Habited, be without ftately Houles; fuch Cuftoms are even among us obferv'd by Several Pcople; as the Tartars, Numidians, and others, which made their Antiquity be call'd in queftion. He alfo muft needs have no knowledge of the Arts and Mechanick Sciences us'd by. the Americans, who concludes, that they fetled but lately in America. One Argument at prefent will be fufficient to contradict them all; and in the further Defcription, the contrary will be more manifeft.

Hieronimus Benfo relates, That he ftood amaz'd at the Gold and Silver Smiths in the Territory of Chito, who without any Iron Tools, made Images, and all manner of Veffels: Which work they perform'd thus, Firft, they made an Oval Crucible of a good Lock, round about Pafted with Earth, embody'd with the Powder of Wood Coals; which Crucible being Bak'd very hard in the Sun, they fill with Pieces of Gold or Silver, and put in the Fire; about which ftanding with five, fix, or more Pipes made of Canes, they blow the Fire fo long, till the Mettal melts, which others fitting on the ground, run it into Moulds of black Stone, and fo with little trouble, Caft into what fhape they pleare: Laftly, Though Mexico can reckon but a thoufand years, muft it therefore follow, that the Inhabitants are no older? How many famous places (even among our felves) have no longer Regifters, and if they have, they are common. ly Fabulous, few Nations boafting truly their own Original; which Argument, not onely contradicts (as we fuppofe) Mr. Purchas, but all others afcribing the Plantation of America to our later times.

S ECT:I.

${ }^{4} 1$N the next place, let us enquire; how the Americans were tranfmitted thither, whether by Sea, or Land? Both which are feafible two feveral ways; if they made an Expedition thither, as Difcoverers, or were driven on thofe Coafts by ftrefs of Weather.

The firft is moft unlikely, and not feeming poffible, for how could they Steer thorow fo vaft an Ocean, to Countreys they never heard of, without the Compafs, and other Neceffaries for fuch a Voyage? for when firt difcover'd, their want of experience in Shipping for fo long a Voyage, knowing no further than the ufe of finall Boats or Cainoos, plainly explode, that they willingly Steer'd from a known World, to an unknown, with no better accommodation ; but fome probable reafons may be made out, to induce us to believe, that they were rather driven thither by Storm.

But fome will fay, How liv'd the little Boats, and how indur'd they in fuch a continual Tempeft, and were not either fivallow'd up amidft the Waves, or ftarv'd for want of Provifion, which their hollow Troughs could not contain?

The firft doubt is the leaf, for there are Examples enough by which appear; that oftentimes great Ships Bulging, are over=fet or funk in the Sea by foul Wea. ther when the Mariners efcape in their Cock=Boat; and if they were but thinly Victual'd for fo long a Voyage, queftionlefs, that little which they had, they fpun out, and made it laft, while the impetuous Storm fhortned the paffage, which fair Weather would have made much longer.
Ph.n.5.5. C. 22:
Pliny tells us of Ammius Plocquius, General of the Red-Sea, That one of his mans save. Slaves being Enfranchiz'd, Sailing down towards the Arabian Gulf, was carry'd by a violent Tempeft from the North, beyond Caramania, and on the fifteenth day came to an Anchor in Hippuros, a Haven of Taprobane, which Ortelius judges to be Sumatra; but Mercator and Cluverius, on better grounds, Zeylon, which is no lefs than three thoufand Englifh Miles.

In like manner, Fofeph de Acofta tells us, That in fifteen days time, he got with a Northerly Wind from the Canaries to America, and his Voyage had been fhorter, durft he have born more Sails, which may partly clear the former doubts.
The Perurians opinion The Peruvians opinion concerning antient SeaVoyages.

Moreover, the Peruvians themfelves give fome fmall Teftimony (in their antient Records) of a few that Landed of old upon their Coafts, which were (as they fay) mighty and cruel Giants, committing much Bloodfhed, Slaughtering the Natives every where; and having fubdu'd the whole Countrey, buile ftately Edifices, of which remain yet the Ruines of fome Foundations, very Artificial and Coftly. They allo Thew near Manta, and Puerto Viejo, many huge Bones (as they believe of Giants, threce times longer and thicker than an ordinary Mans. They alfo tell us, that many Ages fince, one Ica and Arica Sail'd Weftward this, ther upon Sea Wolves Skins, blown up like Bladders: But however, without contradiftion, the Americans never knew, much lefs built any fuch Veffels, with which they durf venture to the Offin, out of fight of Land: their Balfas, Periagos, and Canoos, will not all amount to the Bulk of one of our fmall Barques; wherefore the Inhabitants of Tumbez, when they defcry'd the Spanijh Fleet, fent to difcover Perru, were amaz'd at the high Mafts, fpreading Sails, and bignefs of the Ships, judging them firft to be Rocks, caft up out of the Se2; but obferving then to approach their Coaft, and that they were full of Bearded-Men, thought the Gods were walking in them; by our Modern Poer, Mr. Dryden in his Indian Emperor, thus Elegantly defrrib'd.

Wings on their fides, in flead of Leaves did grow, Whicls gather'd all the Breath the Winds could blow: And at their Roots grew floating Palaces, Whofe out-blow'n Bellies cut the yielding Seas.
Monc. What Divine Monfers, 0 ye Gods, were the fe, That float in Air, and fly upon the Seas! Came they alive or dead upon the Shore? Guy. Alas, they liv'd too fure, Ibeard them roar. All turn'd their fides, and to each other fpoke, I faw their Words break out in Fire and Smoke.
Sure, 'tis their Voice that Thunders from on hifb, Or the $\int e$, the younger Brothers of the Skie.
Deaf With the noife, I tuok my bafty Flight, No Mortal Courage can Jupport the Fright.

But the refolving thefe Doubts, flarts a harder Queftion, viz. Grant that the Americans were by Tempeft driven thither, How then came the Beafts thither? It is certain, that thofe which are beneficial for humane ufe, as Dogs for to Hunt, great Cattel, Sheep, for Food, and other Neceffaries, might eafily be carry'd thither, for fo the Spaniards brought Cows, Horfes, Swine, and other Cat= tel ; and alfo Poultery from Spain, to the new-difcover'd Inles, Cuba, Hispaniola, Famaica, Margaretta, and Li Doninica, when at their arrival, formerly no four: footed Bealts were found there, whofe fertile Soyl hath fo multiply'd their increãe, that the Dogegs running Wilde, and breeding as faft, do great hurt to the Grazing Herds, which they onely fhoot for their Skins, leaving their Flefh, the beft of Meats, onely to Manure the Ground on which they lie.

The Tranfporting of tame and profitable Cattel might eafily be allow'd of, but who would load their Ships with Lions, Tygers, Bears, Wolves, Foxes, and other Serpents and Voracious Beafts? it is certain that fome may be tam'd before they were Ship'd.

Lampridius relates, That Heliogabalus the Roman Emperor, took great pleafure in Domeftick Lions, and Leopards, to frighten his Guefts withal; for with Spaziaids cary Oxen, and Sheep to the American. ines.

How wild Beafts came in Ametica, and the Ifiss. in v.sa H:Liogabali. the third Courfe, they were all brought in, and fate betwixt the Invited, a Man and a Beaft. The great Cham, as Paulus Venetus an Eye-witnefs attefts, Rides on Hunting, attended in couples with tame Leopards. The King of Camboja in like manner is ferv'd with Panthers: Scaliger adds alfo, That they went not unprovided of a Lamb or Goat, to give the Panther, left falling into his natural fea rocity, provok'd by hunger, he fhould make the Huntfmen his Quarry, if he had no other Prey. But notwithftanding fome wilde Beafts feem to forget their Voracious Nature, yet there ought great care to be taken in the Tranfporting of them, becaule they oftentimes grow wild again, which France can witnefs, where two Leopards, a Male and a Female being tam'd, prefently after the death of King Francis, whether negligently or on purpofe, let loofe, ran into the Woods, and near Orleans devour'd a great number of People, and Cattel : Gefner faith, That fome Womens bodies were found, who were untouch'd, onely their Breafts eaten by the Leopards, as if they took them for the daintieft part; which is not unlike the antient feres, who according to Saint Hierom, entertain'd their Guefts as a moft delicious Difh, "with Womens Breafts, and Mens Buttocks Roafted. Befides, the devouring nature of thefe Wilde Beafts, what profit could Tygers, Lions, Wolves, Bears, and the like advantage the Tranfporter? And how came Serpents, Adders, and other Reptiles, thither over the Ocean, that with no Art whatfoever can be made tame? Were the fmall Veffels juft laden with fuch terrible Creatures, when againft their wills, they were by Storm driven on a new Coaft? By thefe impoffibilities we may eafily judge, that the Americans came thither by Land, and no other way, but how, and upon what occafion muft be our next enquiry.

Sect. II.

Two reafons wherefore their Countreys.

${ }^{\circ} \mathrm{H}$Iftories generally gives us onely two accounts, Why People remov'd from one Countrey to another, either not, or thinly inhabited; whe ther driven by force, or of their own accord, fo to unburthen and give eafe to their too Plethorick Countreys.

Thus the banifh'd fapanners forfook their Native Countrey, and fetled them. felves in a defolate Soyl, fince a flourifhing Empire, fhining with Riches, and Crown'd with ftately Cities: So the Batavians took poffeffion of the uninhabited Inle, lying between the Rhyne, and the Wael, being driven out of Heffen by Civil-Wars, and preferv'd the memory of the place, from whence they had their Original on the urmoft Point of the Inland, in the Villages of Cattenuyck; for the Heffens formerly went by the name of Catti; others that remov'd did not onely fall upon their Neighbors, but made a way by force of Arms, chofing their Habitations under a temperate Climate, and in a fruitful Soyl. After which manner the Franks enter'd Gaul, and afterwards the Normans fer upon France; fo that the Conquer'd Countreys, have ever fince from the Conquerors been call'd France and Normandy: But although it cannot punctually be faid, how the Inhabitants of America remov'd, yet it is without contradiction, that they firf found an empty Countrey. The Opinions which they have themfelves concerning it, are full of idle Fancies; Firft, they queftion their Original from the Floud, which is fo well rooted in the memory of all Nations, that the blindeft and moft ignorant know fomething of it, though deformedly alter'd and vary'd, tack'd up with additional fabulous Stories, the truth it felf known onely to us, but to all others loft in Oblivion.

Who hath not heard of Deucalion's Flood, how his Wife Pyrrha and he only efcap'd in a little Boat, and (as 'ris Fabl'd) landing on a Mountain, from thence Peopled the World again, by throwing Stones backwards over their Heads? Somerhing of this feems to hint the true Story of Noah, his Wife; and Children, from whom the defolated World was repleniff'd.

The fame they relate of Prometheus, concerning whom, thus Diodorus Sichlus: "They fay that the Nyle breaking through his Dams, and over-flowing "his Banks, drown'd all Egypt, efpecially that part where Prometheus Rul'd, " where all the Inhabitants were fwallow'd by the Deluge. None can imagine but that Diodorus by this makes mention of a particular Flood, and not the general one in Noal's time; for as the Greeks afcrib'd all things to their Heroes, fo the Egyptians in like manner did the fame to theirs: Therefore they have of the general Flood, made a particular one in Egypt,though perbaps it never was: So that what is Fabled of Prometbeus, is nothing but a Part of the Univerfal Deluge; which the Name Prometbeus proves, becaufe it fignifies, Sprung from Heaven, and is the fame with Noal, whom they hold to be the firft Father of all Mankind fince the Flood, born of, or regenerated from his Wife Afia; and Afia fignifies Earth, or The Mother of all things; and fo efpoufing Noab, being Sprung from God, to Ararat, from whence defcended the Generations of Mankind, and by degrees fpread over the whole furface of the Earth.

The Chinefes, EafteIndians, Fapanners, and other People of Afia and Africa, have alfo fome knowledge of a very ancient Flood; but hood-wink't under many idle Fancies, not unlike that which the Americans relate, from whom feveral Learned Perfons find no obfcure Confeffions of the Deluge, which thus myftically they have wrapp'd up, That one Viracocha cameout of the great Lake Titicaca, and fetled his Refidence upon Tiaguanaco, where yet remain the Ruines of ancient Walls, built after a wonderful manner : At length removing from Tiaguanaco to $\mathrm{Cu} \mathrm{cos}^{2}$, he began to multiply the Generation of Mankind. They fhew in the foremention'd Lake a finall Ifland, under which, the Americans fay; the Sun fav'd himfelf from the Flood; wherefore in ancient Times they fu: perftitioufly obferv'd that place, heightning their Bloody Sacrifices with Humane Slaughter. Others relate, That fix Perfons leap'd through a Hole out of a Window, from whence all Men were fince Extracted; and from that new Increafe, the place (after the Inhabitants of the Old World were all drown'd) got the Denomination of Pacari Tampo; and therefore they hold the Tampo's to be the moft ancient Families : From hence Mangocapam deriv'd, being the Primogenitor of the Ynca's or Kings; from whom Sprung two Generations, Hanon Cuzco, and Urim Cuzco. They tell us alfo, That their Ynca's, when they make War upon any People, fay that the occafion, as they pretend, was, becaufe all Ter . ritories are Tributary to them juftly, from whom they were deriv'd and reftor'd, being the firtt Planters of the New World; and withal, That the true Religion was declar'd to them from Heaven.

This Relation, though mix'd with Fables, fhews (but very darkly) that they have fome knowledge of the Flood: For who are thofe fix clfe that leap'd out of a Window to replenifh the Generations of Mankind, but Shem, Ham, and faphet, with their Wives ?

The Americans can give but a little better Account of their firf Original ; and indeed it is no wonder, becaule for want of Books they can relate nothing certain, but only what they have Regiftred in their ufual Quipocamagos, which is not above four hundred years old. Acofta asking what Original they judg'd of their Original.
they werc of, and from what Countrey and People deriv'd ? receiv'd noother Anfwer, but that America only was their native Countrey, and that they were deriv'd from no other elfewhere. But though the Pervivians are of this Opic And alforic Muxiants, nion, yet the Mexicans are of another mind, giving the Spaniards a far better Acahdir Oribinale count when firf they came thither, wherein we muft a little deviate, viz. How they were remov'd from fome other place, as Robert Comtreus relates, who with many Learned and feemingly true Arguments affirms, That the Original of the Americanis muft be fought for either among the Pbenicians, Sydonians, Tyrians, or Carthaoinians, being indeed all one People. Herodotus faith thus of the Phenis cians, "They liv'd formerly, according to their own Relation, along the Shore "of the Red Sea; from whence removing, they planted the Sea-Coaft of the "Syrians. Feffus Avienus the Latin Poet agrees with this Opinion, where he faith,

> On the Phenicians Coafts the Ocean beats, Who through the Red-Sea Sailing, chang their Seats. They were the firft that ventur'd through the Seas, And freighted Ships with richer Merchandize: Fair or foul Weather, They without controule! Sought Foreign Trade, directed by the Pole.

Original and Habitatiwhom, according ro feveral Learned, the Americans ate extracted.

Herodot. lib. 1.

Saluf in Igwriba.

Ariftotle from a Greek Word calls them Pbenicians, from their being red or bloody with the Slaughter of all Strangers that Landed on their Coaft; but rather, and fo indeed they are call'd Phenicians, or Erytbreans, from Efau, or Edom, from whom they are deriv'd; for thefe two. Words; or Denominations, fignifie in Greek, Red; the two laft, the like in Hebrent. Phenix him. felf firft planted all the Countrey lying between the River Eleutherus, and the Egyptian City Pelufium; and afterwards Damiata, wafh'd by the Medis terrane: But fince, thefe Boundaries are alter'd, on the North, by fudea; Weftward, by the Mediterrane; Southerly, by Egypt ; and towards the Eaft, by the Defart Arabia.

The chiefeft Cities are Polemais, otherwife call'd Acon, Sidon, Arad, Great Cao na, Sarepta, Biblis, Botbris, Berithus, and their Princefs Tyre, formerly fcituate in an Ifle, but fince joyn'd to the Main-Land by Alexander the Great.

None can difown, but that the Pbenicians' have every where been Admirals of the Sea; fo that they were formidable to the greateft Princes. When the Perfian King CambyJes came with a valt Army againft the Carthaginians, he was forc'd to give over his Defign, becaufe the Pbenicians refus'd to help him with their Fleet, being allied to, and the City founded by them : But they not only built Carthage, which frove with Rome to be the Emprefs of the World, but alfo the famous Cities Leptis, Utica, Hippo, and Adrumetum in Afrisa, with Cadiz and Tarteffics in Spain; nay, they fent Plantations of People into the Heart of Iberia and Lybia. It will not be amifs to add Q. Curtius his Relation, who tells us, "Where-ever the Pbenicians came with their Fleets, Landing their Men, they "fubdu"d whole Countreys, and by that means fpread their Colonies over the "known World; Carthage in Africa, Thebes in Boetia, and Cadiz near the Weftern " Ocean. Arifootle relates," That they made fuch rich Returns of their Mer"chandize, and chiefly of their Oyl, in Spain, that their Anchors, Pins, and " all Iron Materials belonging to a Ship, in ftead of that Metal, were Silver.

But to return to our Difcourfe, and difprove the former Teftimony, That the Phenicians found America. The formention'd Comtews faith thus; "None "can juftly doubt, but that fince the Pbenicians took the Command of the Sea " from the Rbodians, they more and more increas'd their Fleets, and growing "experter in Navigation, paffing the Gibraltar Northward, became Malters of "Cadiz,and ftill prepar'd new Fleets,which fearching beyond Allas Southward, "difcover'd the Coafts of $\mathcal{A} f r i c a$, and the adjacent Ifles, driving a great Trade "to the Canaries, and to thole which lay fcatter'd along Cape de Verd, formerly "call'd the Gorgades. This way of Trade alfo was not unknown to the Greeks, "Iberians, and other People; blit after the Pbenicians affum'd it wholly to "themfelves, without any refpect or difference of Countreys, they funk all " whomfoever they could catch. Curtius further adds, faying, "I believe that "the Pbenicians, failing into the Main Ocean, have difcover'd unknown Coun "treys. And which are thofe? Not the Gorgades, or Canary Ifles; for thofe were fufficiently known before; but a Main Land, far beyond. But though the Pbenicians were moft expert, yet not skilful enough to make out fuch Difcoveries. They indeed were the firtt that before any other fail'd out of the Mid-land Sea; nay, they ventur'd a good way into the main Ocean, beyond the Straights of Gibraltar, or the Herculean Pillars: But how far? Not to the Gorgades, above half way betwixt Spain and America; but to the Caßiterides, or Flemifh Iflands, which to the number of nine lie in fight of Spain. Strabo affirms this Truth, faying, "The Caffiterides are ten, lying in order clofe by one another: One "remains-uninhabited; on the reft live a fwarthy People. This way the Phenicians fail'd firft, when they were in queft for Trade, from Cadiz. And though he reckons ten, there are indeed but nine, viz. St. Michael, St. Mary, St. George, Tercera, de Pico, or Tenariff; fo call'd from the Mountain which vomits Fire, Fayal, Las Flores, Del Cuervo, and Gratiofa. Moreover, the fame Strabo relates, "That the Carthaginians did not throw over=board the Traders on the remote "Gorgades, but thofe efpecially that came from Sardinia or Cadiz.

Mean while, we cannot deny, but that the Gorgades that lye before Cape de Verd were frequented by the Carthaginians, long before the Birth of our Savior; but with fo much admiration, that Hanno their Captain in that Expedition was lifted amongft the number of their Heroes, hapning thus: The Carthaginians failing for Cadiz, to affift the Phenicians againft the Spaniards, made that the Seat of War, which foon drew on a greater Defign; for Hamilco and Hanno being impowr'd by the Senate at Carthage, manag'd the War in Spain. Both of them were ambitious to difcover new Countreys. Hamilco fail'd along the Coaft of Spain and Gaule, reaching to Batavia. Hanno fteer'd 'Southerly, carrying thirty thoufand Men of all Trades in his Fleet, purpofing to build a new City in fome place or other, and got beyond the Promontory Ampelufium, now call'd Cabo Spatil; the River Ziloa, which wafheth the City Arzilla; and the Stream Lix, now Lufo, where the Poets place the Gardens of the Hefperides, in the cuftody of a waking Dragon: From thence proceeding on his Voyage, he came to an Anchor in the Mouth of the River Subur, at this day call'd Subu; and afterwards before the City Sala, now call'd Salle, at that time made very dangerous by the voracious Beafts in the neighboring Woods: Ac laft the Fleet reach'd the Foot of the leffer Atlas, which ends at the Point C.haunaria, by the Modern Navigators call'd Cabo Non, becaule it was judg'd, that none could fcape with Life, that durft adventure to fteer beyond Cbaunaria; yet Hanno fail'd between Palma, one of the Canary-Iflands, and the Promontory Bojadoris, towards the pointed Coaft call'd then Cornu Hesperium, but now Cape Verd, in the River $A f a m a$, by Cafaldus call'd Omirabi: Here he found horrible Croccodiles, and Hippopotami or Sea.Horfes. At $\int$ ama is held to flow from the fame Frountain whence the Nyle hath its Original. In this Latitude Hamo defcried thofe Inlands which he call'd Gorgones (from the three deform'd Sifters Medufa, Sthe, nio, and Euryale, whofe Heads were Periwig'd with curl'd Serpents) becaule they found as illfavor'd Women on thefe Iflands, which at this day the Hollanders call the Salt-Iflands; amongtt which, the chiefeft is St. Jago, a Colony of The Portuguefe; but the Mountains oppofite to the Gorgones, on the main Coaft of Africa, rifing aloft with Spiring tops near the River Mafitholus, Hanno call'd the Chariots of the Gods, now riam'd Sierra Liona, lying in eight Degrees Northern Latitude. When Hanno and his Armado, either provok'd by an undaunted Courage, or covetous of Fame, if they proceeded in their fo wonderful Adventure, went

The Intind St. Thomas.

Hinno's Return. forward, where they reported, that they faw Rivers of Fire falling into the Ocean, the Countrey all about burning, and the tops of the Mountains dazleing their Eyes with continual Flafhes of Lightning, intermix'd with terrible Thunder; adding further, That the Natives all the Summer fhelter'd themfelves from the exceffive Heat, in Caves under Ground ; and coming forth in the night, run abroad with lighted Torches over their Ground, fo gathering in their Harveft, and Officiating all orher Affairs of Husbandry : Yet Hanno no ways daunted at fuch ftrange Sights, fail'd from Sierra Liona Southerly to the Equinox, where he difcover'd an Inland not far from the African Coaft, inhabited by a rough and hairy People, to take fome of whom, he us'd all poffible means, yet could not; onely two Women, being incompafs'd by Soldiers, were taken, and carried aboard; but being very falvage, and barbaroufly wild, could not be tamed, or brought to any Complacency; fo they kill'd them, and carried their ftuffdd-up Skins to Carthage, where they were a long time gaz'd upon with great admiration.

This Inand which Hanno then found, can be no other but that which we call St. Thomas, and hath a very unhealthy Air for Strangers, but elfe very fruitful, and abounding with Sugar=Canes; and the hairy People which he makes mention of, were Babeons, or Baboons, which Africa in this place breeds large, to the amazement of the Beholders, in great abundance; becaufe thofe deform'd Monfters, more than any other Beaft whatfoever, reprefent Humane flhape.

Here Hanno ftopp'd his Voyage, being hindred from going further for want of Provifion. Five years he. Spent in this Expedition, before he Anchor'd again at Cadiz, from whence not long after he feecr'd to his Native Countrey Carthage, where he was receiv'd with no lefs Wonder than State, infomuch that none before or after him ever gain'd greater Honor, feeming to oblige his Countrey with the hopes of future Profits from thefe new difcover'd Regiamongh the $G$ uds.
ons: Nay, he receiv'd a Name, and was plac'd amongft their Gods in the Temples, which he being ambitious of, promoted after a ftrange manner, teaching feveral Birds to cry, The great God Hanno; which when they could Speak perfect, they were let fly in the Air, where to the admiration of all Peo. ple, they every where repeated their well-taught Lefforn.

This the moft remarkable Voyage which hapned in the time of the Ancients, confidering they wanted feveral Mathematical Inftuments belonging to Navigation, and efpecially the ufe of the Compafs; and alfo confidering the length of the Voyage to Sierri Liona, whither never any durft venture before: Nay, in fo many Ages after Hanno, the famoufeft Navigators which were fet out by the King of Portugal, feard a long time to cut their Paffage through the EquinoctialsLine; however in long Procefs of time, divers Experiments were made, which have now fo much improv'd the Art of Navigation.

Hanno's Voyage was four hundred years before the' Birth of our Savior ; therefore if none have been further than Hanno, until the time the Portuguefe was not knomin to the An= fail'd beyond Cape de Bona Efperanza, how could America be difcover'd by Sea ? How did they fteer from the Salt-Iflands, or St. Thomas, out of fight of Land, through the Main Ocean, to an unknown World? Hanno himfelf, who was the ftoutef of all Ancient Navigators, not only crept along the Africdn Coaft, which made him fpend fo much time; but not daring to crofs over thofe wide Spreading Bays he found, left not his hold of the Shore, and meafur'd and fearch'd every winding Inlet and Creek: And if he found a New World, why was it not known? The more, becaufe his Ambition carry'd him on to get a Name and Reputation by fuch Naval Difcoveries. And how true the Relation of this Expedition is, Pliny tells us, faying, The Journal-Books were then to be feen which Hanno writ in that his African Expedition: Though many of the Greeks, and alfo of our Moderns, following Hamno, have found feveral things contrary to his Obfervations, wherein he makes mention of feveral Cities built by him, which none ever fince heard of, or any have feen, neither is there the leaft Marks of their Ruines to be found.

This large Relation ferves for nothing elfe, but to fhew that they feek in vain herein to give the Honor of the Difcovery of America to the Ancients; And as little do thofe Teftimonies fignifie that are taken out of Diodorus Sicuo lus, Pliny, Pomponius Mela, and Elian. It will be worth our time to hear every one of them particularly.
Firft, Diodorus faith, "Beyond Lybia, in the Ocean, lies a very great "Ifland, feveral days failing in Circumference, having a very fruitful Soil, and "pleafant Meadows, diftinguifh'd by Hills, and moiftned by Navigable Ri。 "vers, unknown in Ancient Times, becaufe it feems to be feparated from the "other World, and was thus found: The Phenicians failing along the Lybian "Coaft, were feveral days and nights tofs'd with perpetual Tempefts, and at " laft driven to the foremention'd Ifland, where Anchoring, and obferving the "pleafant Scituation thereof, made it known to their Magiftrates.

But how comes this namelefs Ifland to be America? What Man would take that for an Ifland, which far exceeds the main Continent of Afia? And have the Phenicians afcrib'd the finding of this New World to any? Whence then proceeds fuch great filence amongft all the Ancient Writers of a whole World, who otherwife us'd to give Denominations to the leaft remote Village, or Mountain, or River :

Pliny feeaks after the fame manner, faying, "The Writers make mention, "that Atlas rifes out of the middle of the Sands, with a Shrubby and Bufhy top "towards the Sky, on the Shore of the Ocean to which he gives his Denomi"nation; That it is full of Woods, and water'd by feveral Fountains on that " fide towards Africa, by which means it bears all manner of Fruit. In the "Day-time none of the Inhabitants appear, all things being in filence, as in " the middle of a Defart; the Approacher is Atruck with fudden amazement. "And befides its exceffive high Crown, reaching above the Clouds, and neigh: " boring, as they fay, the Circle of the Moon, appears in the Night is if it " were all in a Flame, refounding far and near with Pipes, Trumpets, and Cym. "bals; and the Journey up thither, very long and dangerous。

I cannot underftand that Pliny can mean Ameriea by this, becaule himfelf, in the firf Divifion of his Fifth Book, makes his beginning with the Defcription of Africa: And as to what further concerns the ftrange Relation and dan* ger thereof, is a little before related in Hamnos Voyage ; and it is but a flight Argument to prove it America, becaufe it feems to refound with thofe forts of Inftruments which the Americans were obferv'd to ufe when difcover'd.

Pompouius Mela being the third, hath no greater Arguments than the former.

Lib, s. cap. 4

Lib. 3. cap. 18.
Difcourfe between Midiss and Silenus concerning the Unknown World.
"We hear (fays he) that utmoft People towards the Weft; being the Atlanticans, "are rather half Beafts than Men, cloven-focted, without Heads, their Faces " upon their Breafts, and naked, with one great Foot, like Satyrs or Goblins, "which range up and down, without any Artificial Shelters or Houfes.

Laftly, Elian feems to fay fomething, when he fets down the Difcourfe between Midas and Silenus, out of Theopompus, where Silenus relates, "That Eu, "rope, $A$ fia, and Lybid are Iflands; and that a vaft Countrey lyes beyond this "his tripple-divided World, mighty Populous, and abounding with all other "Living Creatures, as big again as ours, and living twice as long: That they "are wondrous rich; their Religions, Laws, and Cuftoms, founded upon "another Morality and Reafon, quite different from ours. They boaft efpe"cially of two great Cities, Maclimus and Eufebes; the Inhabitants of the firft " maintaining themfelves by driving altogether a Trade of War, muftering "up, and filling their numerous Regiments with feveral valiant Nations. The "Lifted Citizens amount in their Mufter-Rolls, all bred to Soldiery, to two "Millions, of whom few but fcorn either dying bravely by Wounds receiv'd "with Flinteedg'd Laths, and Staves, in ftead of Spears, pointed with Stones, " not knowing the ufe of Iron or Steel, but fo over-ftock'd with Gold and "Silver, that they account it a Drug of lefs Value than our bafeft Metal. "Some Years fince they march'd into our World, a hundred thoufand ftrong, "as far as the Hyperborean Mountains, where being inform'd, that all the $\mathrm{Na}=$ "tions of our World, compar'd with them, liv'd in a poor and defpicable " condition; as not thinking them worth their Conqueft, they return'd. But "the fecond City Eufebes, deals altogether in Peace, and its Citizens are not ra. "pacious, but exercife Juftice, fo much affecting Morality and Divine Wor" fhip, that they conquer Heaven by their Piety and Meeknefs, and the Gods "themfelves are pleas'd to defcend, and advife with them concerning their "Celeftial Affairs.

Who obferves not this to be a Poetical Relation, fhewing how much better the Acquirements of Peace are, than thofe of War; the one conquering only Men, the orher, the Gods'? Nor can more be taken out of Elilan's Difcourfe, but that the Ancients believ'd there was another Habitable World to be our Antipodes.

Thus far hath been difputed concerning the Original of the Americans, whofe Plantations from Tyre or Cartbage by Sea, are found altogether invalid: Yet Inyurirss whecher the Contiturions of the thee witians agece with the $A$ - mericang: meriams. we will fearch a litule further, to fee whecher the People Analogize, either in their Religion, Policy, Oeconomy, or Cuftoms.

It is certain, that the ancient Pbenicians liv'd in Tents, and fometimes ex. chang'd eaten-up Paftures for frefh, which the Americans to this day obferve; by which it might appear, that they are of a Pbenician Extract. But why not as well deriv'd from 1 Numidia, Tartary, or the ancient Patriarchs, who all liv'd fuch an unfettl'd wandering Life? Befides, the Phenicians had a long time given over Paftoral Bufinefs, for Maritime Affairs of greater confequence; not only Merchandizing through all the World, but fending great Colonies in Ships to new Plantations: And moreover, the Americans could not fo Arangely degenes rate from their Anceftors, but would have built great Cities like them; of which many were found in Pbenicia, but none of Antiquity in America.

As to their Religion, if it agreed with the Pbenicians, it was the fame that all the World profefs'd at that time, and therefore may as well be extracted from any other, as them : 'Tis true, we find them inclind to Sorcery, and dealing' with Evil Spirits, as the Phenicians, in which they wére not only guilty, but all other Nations at that time.

Nay, why not as well tranfported out of $\mathcal{A}$ fia or Europe, where were formerly many the like Tamperers, and thofe, that dealt in fuch Diabolical Sciences? And why not from Salmantica, where, as Laurentius Ananias relates, Magick-Arts were publickly taught, and they commenc'd Doctors, and took their Degrees according to their Learning? The Devil alfo hath publick Worfhip amongt the Americans, and fo he had with the Pbenicians : yet not only they, but the whole World had dedicated Temples to him. Here began Humane and Infer: nal Sacrifices, fuppofing that Evil Spirits were delighted, and fo feafted with the Steam of Humane Offerings, whofe fweetnefs made them milder, and fo intoxicating, lull'd them into lefs mifchief.

How famous is Zoroafter, and the whole School of the Eaftern Magicians? fi Mofes's time this Wickednefs had already took place: Nor can it be deny'd but that the Pbenicians carry'd their Idols in their Ships, as Herodotus teftifies, faying, "The'Image of Vulcan much refembles the Pbenicians Patacoioi, which "they plac'd on the Fore-caftle of their Ships.

In like manner, the Americans when they go to Sea, carry their Idols with them ; and the Ships took Name from the Image, which was either painted or carv'd on the Stern, or plac'd elfewhere upon the Deck.

The fame Cuftom the Clinefes obferve to this prefent: Francis Xaverius relates, "That he fail'd in a Cbinefe Veffel from Goa to Japan, which bore an "Idol in its Stern, before which the Mafter lighted Candles, perfum'd it " with Aloe-wood, and offer'd Birds and other Food, inquiring of it the "Event of his Voyage. Sometimes he judg'd from the Statues immovable "Looks, that it would fall out fuccefffully; and other times, not.

Laftly, Porphyrius relates, "That the Pbenicians upon any great Exigency, as "War, exceffive Heat, or Mortal Diftempers, by order felected one of the " moft comely and beautiful of their Children, to be offer'd up to Saturn. And Eufebius faich alfo out of Porplyrius, "That Saturn, whom the Pbenicians call "Irael, the Learned Voßius and Hugo Grotius read Il, or El (one of the ten "Names of God in Hebrew) which they alfo give to the Planet Saturn, who " when he Reign'd in Plenicia, having one only Sori born by the Nymph Aroo. Nay, there is fearce one Countrey, which hath not at fome time or other perform'd fuch inhumane Acts, feeming to them Zeal in their Religion; for the moft eminent of the Heathens fcrupled not at it, which certainly are held to be the Perfians, Greeks, and Romans; and yet they were not abhorr'd, though committing Humane Slaughters.

This holy Butchery and Religious. Slaughter of Mankind began in Rome in the Emperor Adrian's Reign, fo continuing till the time of Tertullian, Laftantius, and Eujebius. The Greeks which inhabited the utmoft part of Italy, employ'd themfelves daily in Sacrificing Strangers to Saturn, and fometimes one another. But at laft this formal Cruelty became a ridiculous Cuftom; for the Romans by fevere Edicts ftrictly forbad all fuch Humane Offerings: Yee that they might retain fomememory of their former Sacrifices, they order'd chirty Images to be made of Rufhes, which every year on the fifteenth of April, were by the Roman Priefts and Veftal Nuns, to be thrown from the Milvian Bridge into the Tyber.

Moreover, Manethon relates, "That the Egyptians in Heliopolis us'd to offer three Men at once to Juno; which Cuftom was obferv'd till King Amafis or der'd, That in ftead of Men, they fhould ferve her with Wax Candles.

Ameftris, Queen to the famous Xerxes, caus'd twelve Men to be burn'd alive, as an. Oblation, to pacifie and oblige Pluto to maintain them, in their prefent Grandeur.

Procopius relates of the People about the Arabian Gulph, "That they often"times Sacrific'd Men to the Sun.
"The Indians, faith Pomponius Mela, kill their neareft Relations and Parents, " before they decay by Sicknefs or Age, and judg'd it fit and moft Religious to "Feaftand Banquet themfelves with the Entrails of the flain.

The Albanians, as Strabo relates, offer yearly one of their Priefts to the Moon.

The fame Mela relates of the Tauri, That they us'd to cut the Throats of Strangers, whenever they came near to the Place of their Sacrifice.

The Egyptian Idol Typlon, as you may read in Manethon, was daily made red. hot, and living People put in, and broyl'd to death.

But to pafs by feveral other People guilty of fuch bloody Idolatry, How did the Altars erected in the Woods in Gaul and Germany, for Taran, Hefus, Teu= tates, and Woden, continually fmoke with the Blood of Humane Expiations? Of which Cafar faith thus in his Commentaries ; "The Gauls are a very Devout "and Superftitious Nation; and therefore when any were dangeroully fick, "or likely to be worfted in Battel, they vow'd to feaft their Gods that fav'd "them with Humane Flefh, and if need were, would make themfelves a "thankful Sacrifice to thofe that help"d them off in fuch an Exigence. Con"cerning thefe bloody Rites, they confulted and imploy'd the Druydes, by "whofe advice they all believ"d that no Vi¿tim was fo acceptable to the N Nu "mens, as pour'd=out Humane Blood, but efpecially that of Malefactors; "which Dainty if they could not procure, their Gods muft be treated with "t the Lives of the Innocent.

Laftly, the Holy Scripture faith thus, When the King of Moab fano that the Battel was too fore for him, be took moith bim feven bundred Men that drew Swords, to break tbrough even to the King of Edom; but they could not. Then be took his eldeft Son, that Ghould bave reigned in bis ftead, and offered bim for a Durnt-offering on the Wall.

Thefe Teftimonies are fufficient Witneffes, That the Ancient Heathens ex. prefs'd the height of their Devotion, and fury of mad Zeal, in fuch execrable Rites, as to this day the like is practifed by the Indians, Chinefes, fapanners, and others: Wherefore it can no ways be a fufficient ground to prove, that the Americans are deriv'd from the Pbenicians, becaufe of their Humane Sacrifices, for that they were ufual Cuftoms in all Places.

The third Proof they offer us, is borrow'd from the fimilitude and likenefs of the Phenician and American Languages : Comteus fets down fome Words, viz. the Phenicians call'd a Mountain, Abila; Blood, Edonn ; a Mother, Anech; a Maid, Hellotia; Water, Heni, and $\mathcal{F a m}_{\mathrm{am}}$ : With the firf agrees the American Anth$l a$; with the fecond, Holedonch; with the third, Anam; with the fourth, Hellotie; with the fifth, Ame, and fame. But thofe that will thus corrupt the Words, may as well make the unfeemlieft Comparifons. It is certain, that the Phenicians and fome of the Americans call a Cup Afur, and Red Wine, Beläfa; But does it therefore follow by this, that the one is extracted from the other? How many Names do fignific all one, amongft People that never had any Converfation together? This proceeds only from meer accident; Or elfe if fome Words of one, found like the fame Words us'd in a remote Countrey, and be of one fignification, muft they therefore be deriv'd from one another? Then upon neceffity the Greeks, Latins, and Germans had their Original from the Hebrews, or the Latins from the Greeks, or the Germans from the Latins, or the Perfians from the Germans ; or, on the contrary, the laft owe their Extract to the firf: I will as a Teftimony, and to give you a Pattern, pick out a few from a greater number.

How little difference is there in many Words between the Greek and Hebreiv? The Hebrews call a Church-Congregation Sanhedrim, the Greeks Euviseron; the Greeks for I advife, ufe reílo, the other $7 \boldsymbol{T D}$; the Hebrevos call Wife-men Zophei, the other zóqoo: And lefs difference there is between Symphonial) and इunqovia, $A$ well-fet Leffon; or Pfanterin and Ya入léerov, $A$ Spiritual Hymn: And who alfo will not find a near refemblance in the confonating of divers Latin and Hebrew Words? For there is little difference betwixt Mefurab and Menfura, a Meafure; Shekar and Saccarus, a fipeet Moifture; Levya and Leerna, a Lionefs, Sabbeca and Sambuca, a Chopping bboard; Pefa and Paffus, a Pace:

Then ftarting over the Greek and Latin, the Teutonicks would likewife pro. duce many Words which have the fame found and fignification with the Hebrew; as Chobel, a Cable; Ethmol and Etmael, Watching ; Sotbim and Sotten, Fools; the Hebrews Arets, is in Dutch, Aerde, or as we in Englifh, Ear'd Lands; Pbert and Peert, a Horfe; Levyah and Leeurw, a Lion; Shad and Schadea, Damages; Kiffe and $K_{\text {Ku }} \int_{\text {fen }}$, in our Dialect the very fame, Kiffe; Sbaken and Schenken, a giving, whence we derive our Englifh Skinker, from ferving of Drink; Bel and Beeld, an Image; for Bel properly fignifies Lord, perhaps becaufe the Images of Heroes or Lords were worfhipp'd by them, or elfe becaule Ninus firft erected an Image for his Father Belus, or Bel, to be worfhipp'd.

It would make a large Volume it felf, to reckon up the Confonancies of the Hebrew, Greek, and Latin, and their fcatterings among all Languages where ever their Empire fpread, the one being indeed borrow'd from the other, as all Languages that deal or have any converfe together: For not only the Words, with fome fmall Alterations of Letters, fignifie the fame in both Languages; butalfo without the leaft alteration. Both Greeks and Latins exprefs I do, by Ago; the Number Eight, by Ofto; an Arm, by Brachium or Brachion, in Englijh, Branches, and Braces; I eat, by Edo; a Cup, by Pbiale ; a Cirrtain, by Cortina, or Cortine ; Merry, by Hilaris, or Hilaros; a ratling Noife or Sound, by Clango; a Camel, by Camelus, or Camelos; a Knee, by Genu, or Gonu; a Bovl or Cbalice, by Calix; a Moufe, by Mus; Deceit, by Dolus, or Dolos; a Houfe; by Domus, or Domos; I carry, by Fero, or Phero; the Pronoun I, Ego; a Lion, by Leo, or A'an ; Elax, by Linum, or Linon; a Mother; by Mater, or Meter; now, by nunc, or nun;

Now if there is not the hundredth part of the refemblance found between the American and Phenician Tongues, as there is between the Hebrew, Greek, Latin, and Dutch, according to the foremention'd Examples, which notwithfanding cannot be obferv'd to be deriv'd from one another, what teftimony can there be in five or fix Words, which only have a few Letters that do not differ? But fuppofe that the agreeing of the Phenician and American Tongues could ferve for a teftimony, that thefe laft People had their Original from the firft, then there remains another doubt, viz. To know what Americans acknowledge the Phenicians for their Fathers; becaufe their Countrey is fo big, that it may almoft ftand in competition with all the other three parts of the Known World, being divided by fo many Nations, which differ not only in their various Cuftoms, but alfo in their feveral Languages, moft of them not having the leaft likenefs one with another: Nay, often times the Inhabitants of one Province differ fo much in Dialect, that, according to Petrus de Cieca, the one cannot underftand the other.
Fobn de Laet obferves out of Peter Martyr, and other Writers concerning the West-Indies, That there are feveral Languages and ftrange Words fooken among the divers Inhabitants of America; for the Hurones call a Head Sionta; the Mexicans, Tzontecontli; the Inhabitants of New-Netberland, Anon $\mathfrak{i}$; the Brafilians, Acanga; the faos, Boppe: the Figures One, Two, Three, and Four, the Hurones tell thus, Efcate, Teni, Hachin, Dac ; the Mexicans, Ce, Ome, Yei, Nabuy; the Sankikanders, Cotte, Nyjfe, Nacha, Wyve; the Braflians, Oyepe, Mocoy, Mocapir, Oirundi; the Jaos, Teroyn, Tage, Terrewaw, Tagyne; the Natives of New-Netherland, Onfat, Tiggani, Affe, Cayere. Moreover the Hurones call a Father Ayjtan; the Mexicans, Tathli; the Canadenfers, Notaovi; in New-Netberland, Ragina; in Brafle, Tuba: And fo it is generally with all other Words, which agree not in the leaft one with the other; fo that every Territory hath not only a feveral Dialect, but in many Places they ufe befides two, three, or more diftinct Speeches, not relating in the leaft one to another, in one Province, by which the People inhabiting Towns and Villages are diftinguifh'd. The Iflanders difcover'd by the Spani= Heaven Tures; a Houfe, Boa; Gold, Cauni, a good Man, Tayno. It is worthy of obfervation, that they pronounce no $H$ in their Language, but what is $\int p$ o. ken with a Vowel, and chen give it a ftrong Afpiration, like the warbling guttural $\boldsymbol{Y}$ Gbain of the Hebrews.

Gen. 9 थ. 25,26, 37.

Gen. 10. 0.15. Canaan, a Servant of Servants hall be be unto bis Brethren. Moreover be fcid, Bleffed be the Lord God of Shem, and Canaan ghall be his Servant: God Jhall inlarge Japhet, and be faall dwell in the Tents of Shem; and Canaan phall be his Servant. And in the next Chapter, Canaan begat Sidon. Thefe Scriptures are explain'd as a Teftimony of the Americans Extract from the Phenicians, which they ground on thefe following Reafons: The Phenicians are Canaan's Succeffors from Sidon, who gave name to their chief City. Tubal the Iffue of Japlet, whofe Tents God promis'd to enlarge, and that Canaan fhould be his Servant, planted Spain.

The Pbenicians, defcendants from Sydon, (fay they) Peopled America; the Spaniards fpring from Tubal, of Japhet, have fubjected the Americans, defcended from Sydon, of Canaan; wherein is fulfilld that Prophecy of Mofes, That Canaan flould be Servant to Japhet; but it feems a great miftake, fo to derive the Phenicians from Canaan, for they are Extracted from Shem, Heber; Abrabam, and Efau, firnam'd Edom, from his faying, Adom, Adom, when he ask'd of Jacob, That Red, That Red, becaufe he knew not how to call the prepared Pottage by its proper Name; And Edom fetling himfelf on Mount Seir, a part of the Stony Arabia, and on the Coaft of the Red-Sea, gave denomination to it, becaufe that Sea was much frequented and Navigated by his Succeffors. The Greeks call it Ery: threum, from Erythros, who is the fame with EJau, and likewife fignifies Red. Hereto is added, That Pbenix and Erythros have the fame fignification in the Greek; So then, thefe Idumeans taking the name of Pbenicians, from the great Phanix, f pread themfelves far and near under mighty Kings, by Navigation in the Red-Sea, and from thence Planted feveral Coafts and Iflands, removing at laft to Syria.

The feventh King of Edom, Mofes reckoneth to be Baal-banan, which name, by tranfpofing the Syllables, the famous Carthaginian General Hannibal bare. Moreover, it may eafily be demonftrated, that the Pbenicians Extracted from Heber, have formerly fooke Hebrew, and fince Arabick; for they dwelt before their removing, in the Stony-Arabia. St. Jerom faith, the Punick Tongue agrees for the moft part with the Hebrew: And St. Aufin tells us, that many, nay, moft of the Cartbaginian words are Hebrew. Elifa, Dido, the firft Foundrefs of Cartbage proves this, for Eli $j_{a}$ or Elifalb, with the Hebrews, denotes $A$ Lamb of my God; and Dido, $A$ Lover. But who can find the leaft likenefs, between the Hebrew or Arabick Tongue with the Americans? Laftly, Since the Pbenicians acknowledge Efau for a Father, what then concerns the Americans, the curfe of Canaan, fince they are no more Extracted from Canaan, than the Pbenicians? Thus much concerning the Pbenicians.

Some would derive the Americans from the ferns; others, from the ten Tribes of Ifrael, carry'd into captivity. The ground of which Opinions is, That the feros and Ifralites were fcatter'd amongft all Nations; therefore they conclude, that America was alfo Peopled by them, the rather, becaufe the an: tient Jemos and Americans were of one Complexion, and went a like Habited, both going without Shooes, onely wearing Sandals, and an upper Coat over a. fhorter Linnen Veft. Both are humble, quick of apprehenfion, and obliging, yet Valiant: But it is certain, they cannor be like the Jews, becaufe the Americans change their Habit, according as they live in cold or hot Countreys, and go not in the leaft like one another.

Father Immanuel relates, That he faw a Brafilian, not onely ftoutly make his party good againft three Portugal Soldiers, but had it not been by meer chance, worfted them.

Laftly, What Ceremonies of Religious Rites are oblerv'd by the Americains, which are ufed in fudaif $m$ ? The ferws indeed have tranfplanted their Circuntcifion amongft divers Eaftern People, and have they onely forgot the firft Ce remony and fignal Badge of their Religion in America, which yet not onely they, but thofe Mabumetans and other Sectaries punctually obferveecull omi

This makes evident their fcatterings about the Face of the Earth, but will not bring them to reach America. The Sacred Text fets forth a two-fold defeription of the Jews; The one before the Birth of our Saviour, when they liv'd as Arangers in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Afia, and Bythinia. Jerufalem was their Metropolis, although others had their chief refidence in Babylon, and Alex: andria; for there was an $A$ fiatick and a European difperfion; thofe of $A f i a$ had Babylon for their chief City, and us'd in their Synagogues the Chaldean Tranflation of the Bible. The Europeans kept their Seat at Alexandric, where they had a Temple like that of ferufalem; and whildt they employ'd themfelves in the Greek Verfion of the Holy Scripture, by the feventy two Interpreters, under Ptolomeus Pbiladelphus, they were call'd Wandering Greeks: Therefore, certainly the Americans are not deriv'd from thefe feres, and with as little realon from thofe, which by Titus Vefpafian, after the deftruction of ferufalem were driven into feveral Countreys, for they were never permitted (that I may borrow the words of St. Cyprian) to fet forward one ftep, though but as Pilgrims, towards their Native Countrey, but ftrictly forbidden not to affemble or meet together in any confiderable number, which would have been neceffary, if they intended to Plant a new World.

A fmall feeming Teftimony is added, being, taken out of the fourth Book of Efdras, that the ten Tribes of Ifrael that were carry'd away by Salmanaffar with their King $H_{0}$ fea to Nabalal, Habor, the River Gozan, and the Cities of the Medes, might be acknowledged for the firft Planters of America: Concerning which, Efdras faith thus, The ten Tribes brought over into another Countrey, confulted that they fhould for ake the mullitude of the Heathens, and travel to a remoter Countrey, where no Generation of Mankind bad ever liv'd before, there they would maintain their Laws, which they bad not obferv'd in their Countrey: Whereupon they went thither thorow the narrow entrances of the River Euphrates, for the Almighty fopt the Vains of the River, till they were past over; for thorow the Comutrey was a way of a year and balfs fourney: Toherefore that Trict of Land is call'd Affareth, then they liv'd there till the last time.

But fince thefe Books of Efdras were not Written by a Prophet, either in the Hebreis Tongue, or allow'd by the fews to be the Word of God, or any where taken notice of in the New Teftament; wherefore then is $\mathcal{A f}$ aretb more America than any other remoter Countrey?
St. Hierom (who certainly had a peculiar knowledge of the condition of the ten Tribes of $I f$ rael, becaufe he liv'd in $A f$ fa, and held Correfpondence with the Jerrs, that he might perfectly learn the Hebrew Tongue,) relates, "That "the ten Tribes (St. Hierome liv'd about the Year four hundred, inder the Em"peror Theodofius) underwent great flavery in the Cities of Medes and Perfians; fo that this ftrange Voyage to Affareth, which muft have happen'd long before St. Hierom's time, may be Recorded amongtt the other Legends of the Rabbies, concerning their Bebemoth and Leyiathan, who lock'd up the Souls of

And how little opportunity the $I f$ raelites had to remove fince his time, may appear by the horrible Deftruction that was made for feveral Ages together in Perficand Media; for alchough the Perfians became Mafters again of the Realm, Conquer'd by Alexander the Great, whilft Alexander's Succeffors invaded one another, yet they were continually in War, either againft the Romans, or elfe the Indians, and other Eaftern People; nay, the Saracens wrefted the Scepter out of their hand, though but for a fmall time; for foon after, breaking out into Factions amongft themfelves, Muchumet Swbittigenes, Imbrael's Son, eftablifh'd his Throne on their Ruines, and incourag'd by fuch fuccefs, Arm'd himfelf againft the Indians, and made ufe of the Turks affiftance, with which he fubdu'd the Babylonian Arabians: After which, the Turks, not without great
flaughter fet the Perficin Crown on their Head, which. immediately totter'd by bloudy Commotions; for Tangrolipix being King of ゆerfia, clafhing with his Brother (utlumufes, made Perfia fwim in the Blood of a CivileWar, till at laft Zengis Chan brought from Tartary fo great an Army, Anno 1200. that none durft flay to make oppofition; for the Turks forfook Perfia after a Conqueft of fix Ages, and made their own way for new Quarters into Carmania, Phrygia, and Bithynia, whence they made fuch incurfions on the Greek Empire, that at laft they became fole Mafters thereof. Who cannot but eafily judge by this, how little opportunity the ten Tribes had, to be affembled together from remote Countreys, and to go long Journeys through untrack'd ways, and full of Enemies, to cravel to America?

Immanuel de Moraes, who had gotten peculiar knowledge of the Americans by his long Converfation with them, judgeth that they are not deriv'd from one People, but from the Carthaginians and fews, and that at feveral times, and places, they Landed in this New World; for the Carthaginians Sailing thither, found the Soyl fo fertile, that many forfook their Native Countrey to dwell there : Whereupon, it was forbidden upon pain of Death, to fend no more thither, left if Cartbage fhould be invaded by a foraign Enemy, it fhould want People for a Home-defence: From this occafion it happen'd, that thofe that were already Traniforted, became rude, and of a Salväge Difpofition, and fpreading their Families, planted the defolate Countreys in a ranging manner, without acknowledging any Supreme Head or Governor.

Thus being featter'd up and down, every one 'invented to himfelf a new Language, which fhould neither agree with the Carthaginians, or any other : But this Opinion is before at large contradicted.

Moreover, Moraes endeavors to fhew; that the Braflians are of a Hebren Ex: trait, becaufe that according to the example of the feros, they might not Mar $=$ vere ry, but in their own Tribes; they alfo call their Unkles, Fathers, and their Aunts, Mothers; ;oth mourn for the Dead a Moneth together, and wear long Garments down to their Ankles. But thefe. Arguments feem to us of fmall confequence, for indeed the Brafilians differ in their Marriages from the fews, for they not onely Marry in their own Tribes, but frequently commix with their Sifters, and Daughters, or other their neareft Relations. Moreover, the Jews call'd them Fathers, from whole Loyns they fprang many Ages before, as well as their Unkles, which the Americans do not.

The Mourning for the Dead hath been an old Cuftom, and is not obferv'd by many People, but the time of a Moneth was not fetled amongtt them, but was obferv'd after a more unufual manner, feventy days, as in the Fields of Moab for Mofes, and elfewhere for the Patriarch Jacob. Laftly, all people know, that the Romans and Perfians girt themfelves about with long Clothes. Befides, the ferws were ftrictly bound to obferve Circumcifion, without which they were not accounted Jezos, which the Brafilians ufe not, as neither their Language or Letters. How is it poffible, that in America they floould at once have forgotten their Extraa, Laws, Circumcifion, Language, and other Ce remonies, when the reft of them obferv'd nothing more ftrictly in all parts of the Earth?

way to Y /and, over which the Norvegians Rul'd above a thoufand years fince; fo from Yfland through Friezland to Groenland, and from thence to Effotiland, being a part of the Main Continent of America.

From Frieland fome Fiffers went thither (as he fays) two Centuries be.

This Opivion is largely contradited. his Journal; wherein he relates, That Effotiland is above a thoufand Leagues diftant from Friezland, and was difcover'd by Friezland Fifher-men that were driven thither by Storm. But he hath fet down many things that have little refermblance of truth,according to what is fince found by credible Navigators; and therefore we cannot depend on Zeno's Difcovery.
The Amerireass Tongue is nothing like the Norrugians. fore the Spaniards touch'd that Shore; which Fobn de Laet contradicts. And indeed what Reafons can be given, Why the Americans of the Straights, between Panama and Nombre de Dios, lying Northerly, fhould have another original than thofe that live to the South, feeing the fame Straights are neither divided by Mountains nor Rivers; and the Spaniards found no alteration in the Cuftoms and Languages betwixt them that liv'd above or below thefe Straights. And who will believe that Norway; which was but indifferently peopled, could afford fuch numerous Colonies as could plant the Northern' $\operatorname{A}$ merico, which far exceeds the South, and chiefly, when the great Ifiands that lie near the Eaft and Weft, are added to it ? Moreover it is certain, (if the Yflander Angrim fonas is to be credited) that fome Families fled out of Norzay from their enraged King to Ypland in the Year 874. which at that time was but meanly inhabited.

Forty years before, Lewis the Juft put the Xfanders under the protection of Pope Gregory the fourth, who gave the Government of the Yfland Church to Anfgar Archbifhop of Hamburgh. But how comes it that there is not the leaft fpark of Clrijfianity found amongft the Northern Americans, if they aré deriv'd from the rjand Chriftians? and why did the 1 Phanders remove to colder Countreys than Groenland and Friezland, or their own native Soil, and for the moft part not inhabited?

Concerning Groenland and Friezland, it is known by our Englifh Navigators, that they are joyn'd together, and both to the Northern America; but not with out vaft Bays and Inlets, which betwixt Groénland and Americi are obftruced with floating Caftes of Ice; fo that the Paffage is very dangerous. And full as troublefom, if not altogether impoffible, would the Journey be by Land, becaufe the Earth lies fo thick cover'd with Ice and Snow, efpecially the Val. leys, that no Traveller is able to get through.
Moreover, that which Grotius fays farther of the Fifhers which firf difoover'd Effotiland, is grounded on the Relation of the Venetian Knights, Nicholas and Marcus Zeno, two Brothers. Anno 1380. Nicholas Zeno fuffer'd Shipwrack on the Friezland Coaft; Marcus inform'd thereof, feerd his Courfe thither; fourteen years they fpent before they came to Eftotiland : at laft they return'd again to Friezland, where Nicholas died : But Marcus returning home publifh'd Foln de Laet accounts it a great miftake in Grotius, that as a teftimony of the Americans original out of Norway, he compares their Languages. He teckons up fome Places to be Northward of Panama, which end their words with the fyllable Lan in ftead of Land, becaufe the Spaniards have left out the Letter $D$ at the end thereof. It is certain, that in the Northern America lie Cimathm, Coatlan, Guefcolan, Artlan, Quaxutatlan, Icatlan, Tapatlan, Cinacatlan, Tenuicbitlan, Comitlan, Metzitlan, Guatitlan, Necotitlan, Curcatatlan. Befides, that moft of thefe Names are not of Countreys, but of Towns and Villages, and therefore no ways fitting to have the termination of Land: and it is well known that many American words end with Lan, which fignifie nothing lefs than Land: for the Mexicains fay Puertatillan, which fignifies At the Gate below; Ochachitlantzitlan, Yet lower; Terioxtitlan, (this City is alfo call'd from her Founder Mexis, Mexico) that is, Refts on a Rock. Moreover, it may not without reafon feem ftrange to any, that the Northern Americans have remembred but three Cities out of all the Teutonick Tongue, viz. Lan in ftead Land.

Concerning Groenland; through which the Norwegians are thought to have travell'd to America, Ly fander witneffeth, That it was accidentally difcover'd by one Eric Rauder, Anno 987. and planted thirteen years after.

Olaus, King of Norway, plac'd two Bifhops over the new Inhabitants, as Sub. ftitutes to the Archbifhop of Drontben. For four Ages they Sail'd frequently to Groenland; but fince their King was impoverifh'd by War, they left off that Trade.

We find not in any Author, that the Norwegians which liv'd along the Sea= fhore; ever went to feek a Way over the inacceffible Snowy Mountains of Groenland, to this our New World.

Befides, Grotius ftands for the Norwegians as Planters, upon teftimony of the Mexicans themfelves, who told the Spaniards, That their Anceftors which plant= ed there came from the North, firft ferling themfelves on Eftotiland, where to this day there are not improbable proofs by feveral remarks, that they were a Norwegian Colony.

- In the American City Norumbega, live a People that fpeak the fame Language, and obferve the fame Cuftoms with the Mexicans.

In this by=Corner are found alfo fome Alavards, or Longobards, or Lombards, as they fay. Now the Spaniards call that New Mexico becaufe laft difcover'd, though indeed the old, cramm'd with People eight hundred years fince: for the Mexicans of New Mexico do not lie fo far Northerly, as to the North-weft: for this ¿Mexico liess in fight of California, which is believ'd to border on Tartary, or at leaft feparated from it by a narrow Channel. But Normmbera (if ever fuch a Place was) muft, according to the Weft-Indian Records, have been fituate where a part of Nemb Erance lies, now planted by the Englifh: between which and New Mexico lies an almoft unmeafurable vaft Tract of Land. Mean while here is not the leaff fign of this City Norumbera to be found: neither do the Inhabitants dwell in Cities, but live in Tents, or moveable Villages, which change their Names as oft as their Governors. Moreover, the Norwegians could not get to this Norumbega by Land through $Y$ Yland and Groenland to Eforiland, becaufe of the vaft Bays, and great Midland-Sea, difcover'd by the Englijh in their North-weftern Difcoveries; fo that leaving Effotiland, it was altogerher impoffible for them to come to Norumbega.

Hereto may be added what the Mexicans fay of themfelves, who acknow. ledge, That travelling from the North, they did not find an unsinhabited Countrey before them, but were forc'd to make their Way by a long and bloody War with the Chichimecen, a falvage People, that knew neither Laws or Religion.

The People alfo dwelling oppofite to California, differ from the Cuftoms of the Mexicans, being divided into feveral People of contrary Conftitutions, and as different Languages.

Grotius fcrues up his Arguments from the likenefs of the American Speech and Cuftoms with the Norwegian: for (fays he) there is little difference between in Englifh, Lamb; Peko and Beke, a Brook or Rivalet. Both Cuftoms and Conftitutions have alfo great refemblance. The Mexicans relate, that their Prede. ceffors onely follow'd Hunting; that they divided and reckon'd the Time, not by Days, but by Nights, and wafh'd their Children as foon as they were born in cold Water.

They are fo much inclin'd to Gaming, that they venture their Liberty at it.' Every one is fatisfid with one Wife, except fome of the Nobility, which oftentimes have more. They throw up high Banks in feveral places to damm out the Sea; believe the Immortality of the Soul; every one eats at a peculiar Table; moft of them go naked, onely cover their Pudenda with a Cloth; fome Sacrifice and eat Manssflefh : all which, according to Tacitus, Pliny, Lucan, and other Roman Writers, was obferv'd by the antient Germans; from whom thofe that inhabit between the Norwegian Mountains were extracted.

Thefe Allegations, to make the Norwegians to be the Parents of the Northern Americans, Fobn de Laet thus contradicts: "It no ways follows that one "People take original from the other, becaufe here and there are feveral words "found, that have the fame fignification and found in divers Countreys; " much lefs when they muft either add, change, or diminifh feveral Letters. " Moreover, there is no fmall miftake in the compar'd words: for Pagod is "not us'd all over America; the Eaff-Indians about the River Indus, call their "Idol-Temples Pagod, or Pagode, the word Guaira is no where us'd in America, "but by the Peruvians, and with them not fignifying a Fan, but a little Oven; "neither is Ilama a Laimb, (for before the coming of the Spaniards thither, nei"ther Sheep nor Lambs were ever feen in Peru) but a Wool-bearing Beaft, "thus defcrib'd by Fofeph de Acofta:
"Ilama (fays he) a four-foored Creature, furnifhes its Mafter with Meat "a and Clothing, and fupplies the office of a Bealt for Burthens, and at no "charge for Hay nor Provender, well fatisfid with what he finds in the Ways ". or Mountains. But the Ilama's are of two forts, either woolly, or fhort.

Thefe Beafts are much ins "clin'd to a Difeafe call'd Carafhe or the Mange, of which they generally "die : and becaufe the Difeafe is very catching, they Araight bury the infect. "ed alive, fo the better to preferve the reft.

Grotius allo miftakes, when he compares the Mexican Peke with the Dutch Beke; for though many Mexican Places, Mountains, and Rivers, terminate in Peke, yet it fignifies not a Brook or Rivulet, for that they call Atlauletli.
Fohn de Laet tells alfo, That with great diligence he found a Mexican Dictio nary, Printed by the Spaniards in Mexico, to find if there were any words in it which agreed with any of thofe European Languages that he underftood, but found not one.

It is the fame cafe with the Cuftoms and Conftitutions between the Normegians and Northern Americans: for what concerns Hunting, how many People have formerly liv'd by it ? The antient Germans, and to this day the Tartars. make it their whole bufinefs, excelling in that Art all other Nations. Befides? that the more ferious fort of the Mexicans many Ages fince foorn'd to derive themfelves from a Hunting Anceftry, but affirm that they found the Chichimeceis in thofe Countreys, who were great Venators:

The accounting of Time by the Nights, extracted from the Hebrevos, is ob: ferv'd by divers Eaftern People : and although the Germans dipt and waftid their Children in cold Rivers, or Brooks, fo foon as, they were born, yet the Mexicans never did it, but the Mother lays the Child on the fourth day after its Birth, in an open place of the Houle; in the middle whereof ftands a Pot full of Water cover'd with Broom, in which they wafh the Infant. Neither are the Americans fo much addicted to the Vice of Gaming as other Nations, fot that Grotius taxeth them too feverely as to that point : as on the contrary, he too much clears them of Polygamy, whereas the Mexicans Marry as many Wives as they pleafe, or are able to maintain. Father Martyn Perez relates the fame of the Cinaloans, and other Anericans; as alfo Quarterius of the Natives in Nova Francia, which lie neareft to Norway. And what need the Americans have the Germans their Teachers, to make Dams and Banks againft Floods, fince Nature and Neceffity it Celf inftucts 'it? and where are any People fo ignorant, as to afcribe the fame event to Men and Beafts after death ? 'Tis true, their manner of eating in America is feveral, becaufe the People do not much converfe together: but they did not go naked; for the Spaniards. found them not onely neatly Habited, but had a proper Name for every thing they wore. The Virginians us'd long Shirts; the Floridans Skinis of wild Beafts, and towards the North they cover'd themfelves from Head to Foor in hairy and undrefs'd Hydes. The facrificing of Men was in former Ages fereading far and near over the World, and how far it was practis'd here, hath been already declar'd at large. Laflly, all the Americans are not guilty of eating of Man's-flefh, but that falvagenefs is confin'd to the Southern America.
Thus much we have faid, to prove that the Norvoegians had no hand in planting the Northern $A$ merica, we fhall now proceed to enquire who planted the Southern Parts, from the Straights between Panama and Nombre de Dios, to the Straiobts of Magellan.
The Pervivians, poffeffing a large Trae of Land along the Coaft of the Southe: Sea, Grotius would thus derive from China:
"The Perruvians, being of a fubtile Wit,and quick of Apprehenfion, argue fufo "ficiently that they are notextracted from the more Northern Americans, but ras "ther from the Chinefes, which the feveral Wrecks of Chinefe Ships found on "thefe Coafts fufficiently evidence : and no wonder, if curiofity or accident "brought the Chimefes expert Navigators to this Countrey, feparated onely by " one Sea from them. To this we may add their Rites of Religion; for both "worfhip the Sun, and call their King the Son of the Sun ; they write no LetRedationof Stamoseqwe" "ters, but make Characters downwards. Mancoctapacus was a Chinefe of frange
"Policy; who being inform'd that his Countrey-men inhabited fruifful Coun" treys on the other fide of the Soutb-Sea, but without Laws or Government, " Sail'd over thicher, and gather'd the fcatter'd Multitudes in a Body, and "eftabliflid an hereditary Kingdom after the Chinefe manner, to him and his

"Succeffors.
To which fobn de Laet anfwers thus: "Though the Perwvians exceed the "other Americans in Policy, and at the arrival of the Spaniards liv'd in a "handfom Order of Government, yet they can no ways be compar'd to the " fharp-witted, and noble-fpirited Chinefes; nay, there are in no Place of Pern. "found fuch Artificers as thofe of China, that bear the praife of all the World; " no where fuch manner of Buildings or Cities, nor the leaft likenefs of the "Chine $f_{e}$ Curiofities. As concerning the Wrecks found in Peru, I find no cre"dible Author that gives an account thereof: for certainly the Chinefes could " much eafier, and a nearer way have come through the Atlantick Sea to the "Coafts of America, lying to the Eaft of Peru, than fteer along the vaft, and " much greater Soutb See, and endure the horrible Storms and vaft Waves, " which the European Ships are fcarce able to endure, much lefs the Cbinefe Vef"fels, which are not fo good. The Spaniards which Sail yearly from Acupul"co to the Pbilippines are fenfible of the great danger which they endure, chielly. "by the great gufts of Wind near California. Befides, the Perwvians before the "the arrival of the Spaniards, were utterly ignorant of great Ships, and the ufe " of Sails. How could they at once have forgotten that Art, which they "brought with them thither, Moreover, it is eafier to Sail from Peru to "China, than from China to Perv, becaufe the Winds under the Equinoctial "Line commonly blow Eafterly. And it is the greater wonder, that the Chi"nefe Jonks accidentally by Storm fhould be driven to Peru, becaufe they "were never ftor'd with Provifions but for a fhort Voyage, whereas this ask'd "nine Moneths. But if any one will fuppofe, that they purpofely directed their "Courfe thither, how came the Chinefes to Sail juft to Peru, and not to Nerw "Spain, which is much clofer to China? why were there no Merchan"difes of the Chinefes found in Peru, fince they went thither for Trade? how "came they to neglect that Navigation they had once found? Nor is their "Sun-worfhip (which was formerly practis'd in moft Parts of the World) of "any validity to derive them from China? But the contrary is mof apparent, " for the Peruvians worfhip for their chief God, Viracooba, that is, God Almighty, of "The Creator of all things.
"The Chinefes, if Confutius an eye-witnefs may be credited, are divided into " three Sects of Religion: The firft follow the Learn'd Trigantius, and acknow"ledge a King of the Heavens, which muft onely be ferv'd as the Clinefeis fole "Governore to which purpofe, two Temples are built in the Royal Cities "Nankin and Pekin, one Confecrate to Heaven, and the other to the Earth. "The fecond Sect hath the name of Sciequia, and ferve the Idol Omyto. The "third nam'd Linzu, imploy, themfelves in Magick and Exorcifins, Conju"ring up, and laying Evil=Spirits, whofe horrid reprefentations, when they " have ftuck upon the Walls, they make an artificial and dreadful noife, as if "Hell were broke loofe, and the Houfe full of Devils; fometimes alfo force "t the Evil-Spirits to enter into. Images, from whence they receive no imper. "t tinent anfwers to their queftions: Therefore, who will compare this Su "perftition of the Perwvians worfhipping of the Sun, to the Cbimefe Religion, "c which do no fuch things ?
"The Peruvians call'd their King, A Lord of the Realm, and not The Son of the «! Sun, as in Chima: Though the Mexicans otherwife worfhip the Sun, and in their " manner of adulation, fyl'd Hernando Cortez, their Conqueror, Son of the Sun ? if As to what concerns the manner of writing, it is very well known, that the "Chinefes words are all Monofyllables, fo that they have as many Letters as "Words, which they joyn fo together, that they reckon eighty thoufand, "but with ten thoufand they are able to exprefs themfelves in moft matters". "Thefe Characters are contain'd in their Halpien or Dictionary. The antient "Cbinefes us'd feventeen feveral forts of Characters in their writing, fome con, "fifting of Serpents, that by feveral Wreathes and contortious Windings, fig" nify'd feveral things; others, of all forts of agreftick Tools belonging to "Husbandry; fome Characters of the Feathers of the Bird Fumsboar; others of "Oyfters and Worms, or of Roots, of Herbs, or Birds Claws, or of Turcles, "or of Herbs and Birds Feathers mingled, or of Planets, and fuch like; but "what manner of Writing or Hieroglyphick of theirs refembles thofe, " who by their own teftimony know neither Pen, Paper, Ink, nor any manner " of Writing, but reckon the antiquity of time by ftrung Beads, which ${ }_{4}^{\text {"c }}$ was obferv'd many ages fince among feveral Nations.

Hitherto we have difcover'd the feveral Opinions concerning the Original of the Americans, or firf Plantation of-America, from all which, having receiv'd no clear or demonftrative fatisfaction, we muft open our way to a further fcrutiny: But firft, we mult needs confefs, that contradiction is not difficult; but it is fomething of Work, when we have beaten down a well-fortifid Opinion, to fet up fomewhat in ftead thereof, to fland a permanent and undeniable truth, which will be the harder, in regard the Inhabitants of this new World have no old Chronologies concerning their Antiquities, and firf Settling there ; yei if we cannot go fo far abfolutely to affert, yet fome probabilities, grounded (as we fuppofe) upon better reafons, may give more fartisfaction; for none will deny, but that the Generations of Mankind being ftrangely multiply'd after the Flood, they then living five times our Ages, and Wars not beginning till the known part of the Earth was oversfock'd, jufting for Territories, and fome thruft quite out, at laft found America; which fpreading it felf to a vaft extent, and now found almoft every where well inhabited, may be guefs'd, Old Voyage of Madok to Americas for which see Vot. Hiff, Brit. compact; as the French themfelves upon the Gauls, the Normans upon them, the Gotts among the Spaniards, and the Saxons among the Brittains, and the Normans again upon them?

Several people may eafily Sail over thither, the $A$ zores or the Canary Inles lye fo, that they are ready (as if defign'd) for Tranfportation to America; from whence Acoffa made a Voyage in fifteen days. Alfo Pliny gives us an account, that thefe Inands lay uninhabited in his time; yet is it well known, that after Pliny's time, Ruins of Buildings were found there, fignifying, they had been formerly Planted; and why might not thofe ancient Inhabitants Sail thence to the neighboring America?

Tercera lying half way between Spain and America, was frequented by Navio gators before the Birth of our Savior; and it feems as eafie to Sail from thence to America, as from the Main Land of Spain thither: Add this, that neceffity forc'd the Spaniards to look about them from other Countreys, for fince they loft their Victorious Champion Baucius Gapetus, they were every where beaten, being tired out by the Pbenician Forces, and that oppreffion over, fuffer'd as much under the Roman Yoke : Wherefore it feems not ftrange, if a cons fiderable number remov'd from thence, that they might live fome where elfe in quiet; for which purpofe they wanted no conveniencies to Rig and fet forth ftout' and fufficient Veffels, able to live in thofe Seas, having had long experience from the Pbenician Voyagers, whofe Fleets Sail'd daily to and again in Several Expeditions, from Cadiz and Gibraltar towards thefe Weftern Coun-: treys: Nay, Hanno himfelf their firf Navigator that way, who gives an account of the Gorgons, or the Ifles of Cape Verd, a good part of the way to America. And though Brittain, Ireland, and the Brittifh Orcades lay further from America; yet fomething may be faid particularly to prove, That many Ages fince, Expeditions had been made from thence to the New World; and that the Inhabitants of thefe our Inles, in former Ages, were peculiarly famous for their skill in Navigation; infomuch, that the Cretans and Pbenicians emulous of their skill, and jealous of their danger, made feveral Attacques and Invafions upon thefe Inles, which is the more probable, many remarks of the Phenician and Greek Language, remaining in the denominations of the Countrey: Of which, take firft this account:
Anno 1170 . When Owen Guyneth, Prince of Wales, having Raign'd long and happily in his fecled Dominions, dying, left feveral Sons, who quarrelling, their elder Brother, as not contented with their fhares of the Principality, nor to be under him, having gotten no mean Interefts and Claims to the whole by, their ftruglings, fo weakned one another, that they open'd a way to the loo: fing of all.

Amongft thefe Brothers, Madok, a Prince of a milder difpofition, weary of fuch unnatural Diffentions, threw up his fhare, better contented to. feek new Fortunes abroad; whereupon there were many foon perfwaded to venture their lives with him, where ever he would pleafe to Tranfport: So Rigging a fmall Fleet, he Sail'd Weftward, far beyond Ireland, where at laft he dif. cover'd an unknown and unsinhabited Countrey, but wondrous pleafant, the Air being temperate, and the Soyl moft fertile: Glad of this good fuccefs (as the Story fays) he returning, (preading the Fame of this his New-Found=Land, which which they might exchange for a barren Soyl, hatter'd and harafs'd with an endlefs Civil-War.

No fmall number flock'd to thefe Summons, as a moft acceptable Undertaking; fo that foon after he was able to. fend forth ten good Ships, Freighted only with Men, Women, and Children, and all other Materials fit for a new Plantation; which not long after Landed in Acuzamil, a Countrey in the North of America, as Francis Lopez de Gomara believes, becaufe there he onely found fome re. maining Tracks of Chriftianity, a People that worflipp'd the Crofs, but knew no reafon why or wherefore they ador'd that fign of our Redemption. Now, fome will fay, that this Worfhip of the Crofs is no argument to prove, that the Brittilh Chriftians firf Planted in the North of America; but what will not time and change of place do, where Tranfplanted People keep no Records, fo they forget not onely Religion, Laws, and Cuftoms, but who they were, and from whence they came, Oblivion firft mutilating, and at laft fwallowing up all; of which, take this one late prefident.

Amno 1598. The Duke De La Roche obtain'd leave of the Frencl, King, to tranfa port a Colony of Volunteers to Neiv France; in his way he Landed fifty Men on the Ifland $\mathcal{D e}$ Sable, to reft his Paffengers, and that he might the better, and with more eafe explore the Countrey, and when refolv'd where to fertle, then to fetch them off; who accordingly, as defign'd, foon after, returning thither, was met with fo violent a Storm, that not being able to Weather the Ille of Sable, where he left his People, he loft his whole Expedition, and was driven back to a French Harbor, where no fooner arriv'd, he was fo highly charg'd, that he was caft into Prifon, when thofe he had left neglected upon the Ine, were not once fo much as thought of; in this interim, they never expecting to hear more of their Captain, liv'd in a wild and miferable condition, feeding upon Fifh, and fometimes wild Swine, withour Bread, Drink, or Salt.

When the Baron of Leri went with Letters Patents, to be Governor of Noya Francia, and by ftrefs of Weather in his Voyage, was forc'd to put in at Sable, where he found the remainder of La Roches People, who being from fifty re: duced to twelve, having clad themfelves in Sea-Wolves Skins, they had not onely loft their former French Civilities, but forgot in a nianner their Religion, much of their Language, and what they were, being as if Metamorphos'd into beftial Salvages.

And although we have already controverted the improbability of Peopling 'America, either by accident of Storm, or fet purpofe; yet it may be poffible that fo it might happen, for as the feveral vertues of Plants, Herbs, PreciousStones, and Minerals, though ftrangely occult, and fo altogecher unknown, that what could never be found by Art, meer chance hath brought to light, and their wondrous qualities, fome cafual accident hath made apparent; fo ftrange and remote Countreys never to be found in our Charts, or Maps, nor Regiftred in any Story, Seamen bound to their intended Harbors, have ftumbled on by chance, either Hoodowink'd ty blind Mifts, or forc'd upon by pertinatious Weather; of which America may be her own witnefs, for how was Columbus ftirr'd up, but by incitations of the Journals of a Sea.Captain, dying in his Houfe, driven on the American Iflands by foul Weather.

Although from the foremention'd places, and after the fame manner, Ame: rica might be furniflid with Inhabitants; fo it alfo gives us a more certain afo furance, that the Planting of America was not onely foon after the Flood, but that they came alfo thither by Land: And how ftrangely would it be againft

And who will make him ignorant of this New World, who living five hundred years before, might not improbably by his own induftry and the help of the former long-liv'd Patriarchs, been well able to make a general Survey of the Old; and he could better furnifh :America, it being nearer Mount Ararat, than fupply Italy, Spain, Germany, or any Northerri Territories in Europe;' fo that America might be known to the firft people after the Flood, nay, inhabit. ed by them, though fince that, the knowledge was loft.Pliny complaining of the Supine negligence, and fupendious floth which reign'd then and long before as he had obferv'd, among all people, and in every place, who were fo far from making inquiry after difcoveries of Lands for new Plantations, that they loft the old, when they had begun to fettle, though under the greatef ferenity of Peace; The Sea by that means lying open be, yond what any juncture of former times could be proud of.

Yet the Fortunate, or Canary Illands were in the firft ages after $\mathcal{N}$ Nah, frequented with Veffels, which in later times were altogether neglected, till Guillaum Betans court, a Gentleman of Picardye, brought them again to be taken notice of by a frefh Trade. The Fable of the Hefperian Gardens, and the Dragon that kept the Golden Fruit, with conftant Vigils, is nothing but an allufion to the Sea, which with Serpentine Embraces, not onely fecur'd thefe fcatter'd Ines, but fwallow'd up feveral Adventurers that too hardy made their unhappy approaches for difcovery.

Another Allegation for the Planting of America by Land, both whofe fides are wafh'd on the Eaft and Weft, by the South and Atlantick Ocean, may be thus probably made out: The Atlantick rowls over with almoft Fathomlefs Waters, three thoufand Leagues of Ground ; the South-Sea not much lefs, which well may be, being indeed but one continu'd Sea, encompaffing, till meeting there, the Univerlal Ball; whence Springs a more likelyhood, that America might be Planted from the Southern parts, from the Straights of Magellan, and Le-Mayr.
Peter Ferinandes de Quir relates, That he and a Commander, Lodowick Paes le Torres faw a part of the South Councrey, and in it innumerable Inhabitants, Whites, Blacks, Sallows, with long, black, curl'd, Woolly, and yellow Hair. They know no $\mathbb{W}$ alls or Fortreffes for Defence, Laws or Kings, but are divided into Tribes: They ufe indeed Bows, Arrows, Clubs, and a kind of Spears : Their Houfes are cover'd with Palm-Tree-Leaves; their Houfholdfuff confifts onely of a few Earthen Pots, and fuch Trinkets; yet they have fome little skill in Weaving, and though they gonaked, pride themfelves in Neck-Laces and Bracelets, made of Mother of Pearl : But thefe for their Complexions and Conftitution of Body, Cuftoms, and manners, are rather deriv'd from the Americans, than they from them, and therefore we muft feek for their Original from the North ; from which are but two ways; one from $Y$ fland and Groeno land, which Grotius endeavors to prove, but contradicted; the other out of Tar= tary, which certainly was the firft Nurfery, from whence the Americans were Tranfplanted.

Tartary or Tattary, fo call'd from the River Tatter, which runs thorow the Countrey Mongul into the Northern Ocean, covers a great part of the Terreftrial Globe ; the leffer Tartary makes out a confiderable part of Europe; the greater is Afia.

This great Tartary, which is a thoufand Leagues long, and fix hundred broad, reckons five chief Provinces, viz, the wild Tartary, inhabited by Herdfmen; $S_{a}$ gatai, of which the Merropolis is Samarcand, famous for the mighty Tamerlane; next Turkeftan; then Kitai, which the great Cham Commands; and laftly, Old Tartary, according to Andreas Cafarienfis, the habitation of Gog and Magog.

Now we muft enquire from what Tartars the Americans are Extracted :
Morneus, Poftellus, Genebrardis, Poterus, and others are of opinion, That the Tartars, which about the year 1228. under the Command of Zing is Cham overfpread the Earth like a deluge, were the Succeffors of the ten Tribes of Ifrael, which were carry'd into captivity to Affria by Salmanazar. The name Tar- Ifra, tary, or rather Tattaria, feems to be fome teftimony thereof, becaufe it fignifies in the Syrian or Hebrero Tongue, Remnants or Remainders, as feemingly, becaule thefe Tartarians were remainders of the foremention'd Tribes; nay, the Northern Tartary Herdfmen preferve to this day the Names Dan, Zabulon, and Naphthali : Wherefore we need not to admire, why fo many fews are found in Rußia, Sarmatia, and Liefland; nay, the nearer to Tartary, the more Jews there are.

Circumcifion hath a long time been obferv'd among them; before Mahomet brought in his new Law; it feems, that Mabomet order'd the Circumcifion and other Laws, according to Mofes, to be obferv'd by the Northern people, becaufe that in his time, they began to Rebel, that fo they might the better be kept in awe by their new Religion.
Foannes Leonclavius relates, That in Liefland near Riga, he heard the wilde Natives call'd Letti, not without great admiration, go crying along the HighWays and Fields, with a doleful voice, Jeru, Feru, Mafco lou: It is.believ'd that they mourn for ferufalem and Damafcus; but by their long continuance in the vaft Wilderneffes, they have forgot their Religion and Laws, and what elfe might enable to tell us who they were. Several learned Authors queftion this removal of the Ifraelites out of Afyria to Tartary, though to our Judgement their Arguments are too weak, to take from them of the footing they have goten there; yet neverthelefs, the Ifraelites are not to be taken for the Planters of America, for why elfe is not fudaifme as well found in America as in Tartary. But it is already fhewn; that America was inhabited long before the difperfion of the Ifraelites.

Moreover, Armenia, out of which; by Noab's Progeny, the whole Earth was re=peopled, borders on Scythia, now call'd Tartary, and Tartary faces America, feparated onely by the Straights of Anian; though fame are of opinion, that out of the South into the Frozen Sea, there is no paffage thorow thefe Straights; elfe (as we have already prov'd the contrary) how came all thofe Voracious and Poyfonous Beafts into America, if it be clearly feparated from Afia by, Sea ?

It deferves here to be related, what happen'd to Henry' Cornelifon Sclasep, and William Byleveld, Sailing from Batavia to difcover the Tartarick River Polyfange, but were taken and carry'd Prifoners to the Fapan Court at fedo; being Commanded there by Order of the Councel to give an account of a fapan Map or Card, which was laid before them, and contain'd the Provinces of fapan, Amboina, the Molucca Illands, Manilba, the Sontb-Sea, Borneo, Celebes, Malacca, Tartary,", Formofa, Corea, and the vaft and Mountainous Countrey or Defart of Feffo, fepas. rated from fapan by the Straights of Sungar; though toward the North, it joyns to Japan in the Province of Ochio; and beginning in forty feven degrees, run North-Eaft towards America, but they could not poffible find the Straights of Anian; but on the contrary, the Promontory of Tartary, viz. the Province $K_{-} g_{-}$ taya or Katui lay in the fame parallel with the Northern America.

Hereto may be added, that $A$ fia hath no Territory any where, which may more eafily with numerous Colonies fupply America than this part of Tartary, as well for the vaftnefs of the Countrey, to which no other can compare, as for the increafing of the Inhabitants : Who doth not admire, that according to Michalon Lithouver, there is fcarce a City in Tartary that boafted lefs than a thoufand 'Temples? and to fee Canguifta firft King of Tartary, about the Year 1200. in Arms; and his Succeffor Hoccata following his Fathers bloody Footfeps; whilft he prepar'd his Sons with three vaft Armies? The eldeft Son, fachis, March'd Weftward with thirty thoufand Horfe; Batho drew with as great an Army towards the North; Tagladais being the youngeft fell into the Moores Countrey above'Egypt. Hoccata himfelf March'd vietoriounly into the North America, fubdu'd great part of the Perfian Kingdom, and beat the Turks, led by the General Goniata with a great Army, Anno 1241. as Jacob Planenfis and Bene. diftus Sarmata, two Monks, fent by Pope Innocent to Hoccata, witnefs: The great number of the Tartars or Scythians, may appear by the feveral people, fpread far and near over Tartary; Pliny reckons fome of them, riz. Aucbetes, Neuri, Geloni, Thuffagetes, Budini, Bafilides, Agathyrfi, Nomades,', Antbropophagi, Hyperborei; Arimplpei, Cimmerij, Ciciantli, Georgi, Sacores, and others: What number would the Inhabitants make up that live in America, in Teneneuf, Virginia, Florida, $N_{\text {ew }}$ Spain, Guadalaiara, Guatemala, Terra firma, Neno Granada, Peru, Cbili, Rio de la Plata, Brafil, Guniana, New Andaluzai?

It will be worth our time, to compare the likenefs between the Scytbians and Northern Americans; both of them are differenc'd with fpecial Marks of a more than ordinary and natural diftance between the Eyes, which much alters the whole Air of the Face, and the plumpnefs and fwelling of their Cheeks fum-mits above the Cheek-bone, moft of thefe are of a middle ftature, having downy Hair upon their Chin, like the Callow Feathers of an unfledg'd Bird. Laftly, as the Tartars, they differ amongft themfelves in their Cultoms, yet in feveral things they agree one with another, according as they are govern d by others, and yet other Princes, fome powerful, and fome weaker, according as every ones power be more or lefs. The Inhabitants of Lucaja bear fo great a refpect, and ftand fo much in awe of their Governor, that if commanded to leap from a Rock, and break their Necks, they inftantly obey.
$\therefore$ The fame is obferv'd by the Tartars; the firft King Canguifta Commanded the feven Princes of his Realm to Murder their Sons with their own Hands, which they all readily perform'd?

In Popaina they live to this day like fome Tartars, without Laws or Lawgivers, who change their places by turns, from the great increafe of the Tartars, the American's no ways differ.

Bartholomens de las Cajas writ to Charles the Fifth, That the Spaniards in few years, onely on the Illands Cuba, Hispaniola, Naco, Hondures, in Venezuela and New Spain, deftroy'd above 2600000 . Men, befides the flaughter that was made in Peru, Brafil, Rio de la Plata and other places, which far exceed the foremention'd numbers.

Polygamy is fill in ufe, both among the Tartars and Americans; both ac. knowledge the Immortality of the Soul, both like Cannibals, Eating and Sacrificing Mans fleff. How famous amongft the Antients was the Altar of Diana in Taurica Cherfonefus, where féveral Men were daily Sacrificed? How delicate, according to Sabellicus, did the Tartars account their Difhes, Sáuc'd and ferv'd with humane Gore Strabo relates, That the antient People account it an honourable Death to be chop'd in pieces, and their flefh ferv'd up in Commons. Thofe that die by Age, a natural death, are defpis'd like Malefactors, and as a punifiment according to their Demerits, left in the open Fields, a prey to Birds and Beafts; fome delight in that loath lome gorging themfelves with Mens flefh, others on the contrary, not onely deteft humane, but all manner of flefh : And juft fo the Americans are diftinguifh'd, for although the Caribes, ©rafflians, the Inhabitants of New Spain, Neiv Granada, St. Martha, and others, Sacrifice and eat Men, yet as many abhor and deteft that odious Diet and abominable Cuftom.

Giles Flefher Queen Elijabeths Agent in Mufion relates, That Anno 1588. Kinach Morfey, Grandfon to the Governor of the Chrim Tartars, made his entrance there with a Retinue of three hundred Noblemen, and two Ladies, of which one was the Widow of his deceafed Brother. The great Prince inform'd of their coming, fent him two flaughter'd Horfes, whofe fides and Hanches they feafted on; as we on Fallow Deer.

Moft of the Tartars ufe no manner of Letters or Characters; in the Voyage made into Perffut, they firt learn'd to make Letters; juft fo it is int. America; their bemoaning of the dead ends in one Moneth, both by the Tartars and Americans; with a Perfon of Quality, the Tartars bury a live Servant; the fame Cuftom is obferv'd by fome of the Americans; and fo much do they agree in a ralvage and rude life, that Merchandizing and Mechanicks are little regarded., Ay fon the American acknowledges the Tartars for a rude People in their Religion, Habits, and Dwellings, and yet in all thefe the Americans differ but very little. Laftly, How common is it amonght them to worfhip the Devil? Along the River Sagadaloo, the Inhabitants are cvery new Moon miferably tormented by ity, which is Everlafting, and for ever. The Tartars alfo are of the like per: fwafion.

But this Opinion Grotius hath laid a ftrong and dangerous Battery againft; that America could not be Peopled by the Tartars, becaufe the Americans before the Spaniards coming thither, had never feen any Horfes; whereas the Tartars ufe no Beäft more, either in Peace or War, for can lefs want: For the Tartariain Forces do not only confift in Horfe; but the Wealeh of this Countrey is reckon'd up in the numerous Breeds of Horfes, and feveral Studs of Mares: Some of the Noblefs keep a thoufand Horfe; none, though never fo poor," but keep two or three; and Beggars there mounted crave Alms and Charity, of the People. When they remove their Habitations, their Horfes carry their Provifions and Tents: If Provifions grow fhort, they eat Mares Milk, high gufted with Garlick, which fatisfies Hunger and Thirft ; and the red Liquor which they tap warm from their Veins, ferves them to help Digeftion, and heighten their Humor, inftead of the Blood of the Grape, our fweet Wine. The fwifteft Rivers, though raging and precipitated with Land-floods, they, dare adventure fwimming their Horfes over, hanging naked by their Manes, and guiding them by a llipp'd Rein whither they pleafe: To their Tails they tie their Saddles, and other Neceffaries, bound up in Rufhes. When 2 Perfon of Quality prepares to crofs any River, they tie two Horfes Tail to Tail, and athwart both their Backs faften a Mat pleited of Rufhes, to fit on. When they are ftopp'd at any broad River, or ftanding Lake, they kill and Alea their worft Horfes; then turning the Skins infide out, and well Liquoring, they ftretch them open with the Ribs, which ftand like the Bayles of a Tilted Wher-: ry, and thus furnifh'd, ferves them for a Boat to carry eight Perfons. When they take the Field, going to War, not any but mufters three Horfes; which makes their Armies, when drawn out in Campain, fhew much bigger than indeed they are: And though many of them are kill'd in the Wars, or flain for Food, yet: the European Tartars pay yearly forty thouland Horfes tothe Ruffians; from whence Grotius thus argues, "If America joyns to Tartary, then "the Horfes which run wild at Grafs might eafily have found America them"felyes, feeking to improve their Pafture, and have gone from one Countrey "into the other, as it appears, that fince the Spaniards tranfported Horfes to "America, they are difpers'd over the higheft Mountains, out of one Province " into the other: Or if the Straights of Anian run between both, the Tartars. " never were Navigators; and fuppofe they had been, they would not have "crofs'd without Horfes, without which they knew not how to fubfift. To which we only fay thus, That although Tartary now, and in former times, abounded in Horfe, yet muft we grant, that it hath been always fo ? or that the ancient $S_{c y t h i a n s, ~ w h o ~ w e ~ a v o u c h ~ f i r f t ~ p l a n t e d ~ A m e r i c a, ~ h a d ~ f u c h ~ f r e q u e n t ~}^{\text {w }}$ ufe of them as the Tartars now. This may be controverted, for that thefe Scythians planting there in the Non-age of Time, prefently after the Flood, the ufe of Horfes was unknown, which the Ancient Poets teftifie by their FiCtion of Centaurs, who when firft feen, the Horfe and Rider were taken for one Creature. The like miftake the Mexicans had, when they faw the mounted Spaniards, a thoufand running away from one Gavalier.

Chap. III.

As to their coming thither of themfelves, it may eafily be confuted: Who knows not, that there is no Countrey a continu'd Pafture, but luxurious Vales feparated with inacceffible Motntains, Lakes, and vaft Wildernẹfes. But David Ingram relates, "That he faw fome Horfes in the Norchern Ancrica, which "the Mexicans, and other Conquefts of the Spaniards never heard of: Whereupon we may conclude, and we fuppofe without all peradventure, That the Americans have abfolutely their Original from Tartary, which bordering Arme. nia, where Noalb's Ark firft refted, hath a convenient way, though beyond the Artick Circle, through a temperate Climate betwixt Heat and Cold, to Cathay, in the fame Parallel with the neighboring America. $\qquad$

CYiristopher Colonus, generally (though by miftake) call'd Columbus, was born in Arbizolo, a: Village in the Dominion of Genon, near Savona; his Father liv'd by Fifhing in the Midland-Sea: So that Sebaftian Schroter, and others befides him, are miftaken, faying, Colonus was born in the City Cucue reum, and defcended of the Noble Family Pilijtrelli : For Peter. Bezarus; Colonus his Countreyeman, gives unqueftionable Proofs of his mean Extract; and amongft other things, That the Common-wealth of Genoa refus'd to receive the great Legacy which Colonus left them in his Will, becaufe they fondly thought it a derogation to theit Honor, being fo great, a Republick, to take any thing of Bequeft from a Fifhers Son : Yet his Majefty of Cafile thought otherwife, not onely enriching him with Wealth, and a fair Revenue for his Difcovery of the Weft=Indies; butalfo, though of a low derivation, rais'd him to great Honor, Ennobling him the firft of his Family with Dignities, Titles, and Efcutcheon, which rank'd him in place among his Prime Nobility.

Colonies, whom we fhall henceforth call Columbus, feent his Youth near the Sea, where he was bufie exploring the Winds, confidering their Natures, and the Quarters whence they rofe, efpecially with the fetting of the Current from the Atlantick to the Mediterrane. The Weftern Winds, which often, as well as the Levant, bloiv feveral days together from the great Ocean, much amufing him, hinted at laft fome Notions, that there might be another World, and new Pla ces to bedifcover'd, beyond the fetting of the Sun; and that the Ne plus ultra fhould not be, if he could help it, the commanding Terminary of the Earth that way: He allo fpent much time, being of a folid Judgment; in the Emendations 'f Charts and Maps, then very much improvable: And the Portuguefe; who at that time had got the fart in Navigation from all. other People, being then bufie to find a way by the South of Africa to the Eaft Indies, not contented to go by hearsfay, he went himfelf in Perfon a Voyage with them. Soon afs ter Columbus fettled himfelf in the Illand Madera, where an Accident hapned, which Erancis Lopex de Gomef a relares thus: "The Mafter of a Ship, whofe and other Trifles. The King of Guaccanarillo gave teftimony of peculiar inclination to the Spaniards, helping them to Fifh up the remaining Goods-of the Wreck, and inform'd them, That fome Rivers flowing from the tops of high Mountains, wafh'd down the Gold amongft the Sand : notwithfanding a ftrange Prophecy had been told to thefe Iflanders, namely, That Bearded Men out of remote Countries jhould deftroy their Goods, take their Land, and maffacre their Children. He alfo told them what made them fly, and betake them to their Heels at the arrival of the Spaniards, becaufe they were oftentimes furpris'd by the Camibals, who fnatch'd up all they could lay hold on : Their Boys and Striplings they gelded, cooping and cramming them up, as we our Capons, for Feafts: The young and well-grown Men they choppd to pieces, falted, and Barrel'd up : Young Women they preferv'd for breed, and old ones they made Slaves. Thefe Cannibals were fo terrible to the Inhabitants of Haytin, that a thoufand of them durft not venture to engage againft ten, but:would run eve. ry way, difpers'd like Flocks of Sheep before the Wolf.

Laftly, Their King permitted the Spaniards to build a Lodge or Hovel, wherein thirty or forty of them might fhelter; but indeed fo taking poffeffon in right of the King of Spain.

Mean while Columbus return'd in fafety to Spain, and was receiv'd with great joy, King Ferdinand making him Admiral of the Sea, and fending his Brother Bartholomew Governor to Haytin, now call'd Hijpaniola. The Gold, Parrots, Maftick, Aloes, the Atrange Bread fucca, whofe extracted Juyce is rank Poyfor, but the Body makes good Meal, which kneaded and bak'd, yields a fine Mänchet and wholefom Food, they look'd upon with great delight and admiration ; but two of the Natives being naked, with Gold Rings through their Nofes and Ears, Ornaments with them of high efteem, and fignifying their no mean Quality; the People old and young came in Throngs to wonder at, ne. ver weary of gazing upon them. But the King, encourag'd by this Succefs, took no dilatory Courfe, but fuddenly, and before any could expect, built fourteen ftout Carvels; and three Frigats, and as foon mann'd them with twelve hundred Soldiers, befides a great number of Artificers of all forts, with their Wives and Children, freighting them with Horfes, Swine, Goats, Cattel for Breed, all forts of European Corn to fow, Fruit-Trees and Vines to plant, and fome Priefts to inftruet and convert the Natives to their Religion:

The fecond of September, Anno 1493. they fet fail from Cadiz, and Anchor'd before Ferreo, the laft and furtheft of the CanarysIflands, where they could gec no Water, but what dropp'd from the Dew hanging on Trees into Troughs. After that, Columbus came on the one and twentieth day amonglt the CaribbyIflands, where he dropp'd Anchor before one, which he call'd Dominico; but finding it defolate, fet fail further, and difcover'd feveral other Coafts, where he likewife found nothing but very great Porcupines or Hedg-hogs, and fweetfmelling Trees. Steering forward, he found the Coafts of the Cannibals, which inhabited along the Shore in little Huts or Hovels, built round of Wood, TheHusof the Canmihass: and ftak'd about on the out=fide with long Poles, like Palifado's: They have alfo Pofts within, which are fhorter, pleited and faftned together with Cotton, or long Roors of Trees, plyant like our Ofiars, over which they hang Cloths painted with horrible Figures and ftrange Reprefentations: The Roofs rife like our Canopy'd Tents, higheft in the middle, cover'd with Palm-Tree Leaves to kecp off the Rain: At the Entrances hang two Hairy Images on Poles, not for Religion fake, but Ornament: Their Bed-fteads being high from the Ground, are fillid with a kind of Straw ; and in long Hovels ficted for that purpofe they fore their Sugar.

Columbus landing here, found all the Camnibals fled; but their Houfes full of Stone Veffels, Cruifes, Pans, and Pots, boyling with Mens Flefh, Parrots, and Wild-foul'; the Hanches and Sides of young Men, on Spits roafting at the Fire, with the Splinters of whofe broken Bones they headed their Arrows. This Illand by the Inhabitants call'd Carucueria, Columbus chang'd to Guadalupt, becaufe the Mountains rife up with their tops not unlike Eftremadura in Spain, famous there for the wonderful Reprefentation of our Lady, as that of the Lady of Loretto in Italy. Thirty Women which he had taken from the neigh, boring Ifles, he fent with Prefents to the fled Canibals, which the next day returning, made a great appearance near the Shore; but when they had gaz'd a while upon the Spaniards, looking ftedfaftly on one another, they fuddenly ran back again, fheltring themfelves in the Covert of the Woods. Columbus thinking it not worth his while to expect their return, feeing their barbarous Life, burnt and deftroy'd all their Boats, and fpoiling whatever he could, fail'd to. Matanino.

Strange Womeh in Masanise.

Remarkable Paflage of Coiumbus.

The releas'd Women in Guadalupe, that came back again, inform'd the Spaniards, That Matanino was an Inle onely inhabited by Women, which at accuftom'd times row'd over to thefe Camibals, where a while they drove a Trade and Commerce of Love, the Product of which, if Girls, they kept; but the Boys they fent over to their Fathers. They live in Caves, the Mouths and Entrances of which they maintain and foutly make good with their Bowe, fhooting Arrows as thick as Hail at the approach of Men, after their impregnating by, the Cannibals.

From hence the Fleet pa/s'd by feveral other fruitful Illands, Columbus giving them the Names of Montferatto, Rodondo, St. Martin, Santa (ruz, formerly by the Inhabitants call'd $\mathcal{A}$ jaya. On this laft Ifland he landed thirty Men; who took four Women, which held out their Hands before them, as if Petitioners that begg'd Quarter, or praying, and then conceal'd themfelves in Ambufcade, the better to furprize more; when by chance they fpied ah Indian Canoo at Sea, with eight Men, and as many Women; whereupon thofe in Ambufcade made a Signal to the next Ship, which immediately fent off fome Boats well Mann'd; but before they drew near them, or expected an On-fet, one of the Spaniards was kill'd, and another wounded with their Arrows; amongft whom 2 Woman, to whom all the reft fhew'd greateft Refpect and Reverence, aim'd very exactly. Their barbed Shafts were poyfond; whereupon the Spaniards. enrag'd, ftemm'd the (anoo, and overfetting, row'd quite over; which little or nothing avail'd; for they all fwam, and though feparated, fhot their Arrows at them, as if the Boat had been a But. At laft the Indians got upon a blind Rock, cover'd with Shole Water, which gave them frefh Courage; but the Spaniards having more aid fent them from the Fleet, took them all Prifoners; but the Queens Son being wounded in the Scuffle; and dying foon after, was the Mouth for raging madnefs; and being afterwards carried to Caftile, fo re. tain'd their fierce and falvage Nature, that they fcar'd away and frighted the Fafe Beholders.

Mean while the Spani/h Flect proceeded on their Voyage, between feveral Inlands, to Hifpaniola, of which fome appear defolate and barren, others green and Woody; the fmall Veffels failing clofe under the Shore, and the great ones A MERICA.
ftanding further off at Sea, which was very turbulent, and beat exceedingly againft the Shole Rocks. The Ifland Burichema, Columbens call'd St. Johns, to which belong'd fome of the Women fent forth in Guadalupe, who inform'd them, That Burichema was well inhabited by a kind and hofpitable Peoplep who when the Camibals landed there fought them, and if Conquerors, were fo much exafperated with their inhumane Barbarifms, that they feiz'd on them like Maftiffs open=mouth d, and tore them piece-meal with their Teeth; yet themfelves abhorring the Cuftom of eating Mens Flefh. Here the Spaniards found onely a large Houfe, furrounded with twelve leffer ones, all deferted; for the Inhabitants with their King Chiafichio were then retir'd into the cool and more fheltring Woods, from the mid-day Heat. All this the Indians told him, which he brought back with him from Spain. Coming to an Anchor at $H_{i}$ /paniola, he fent one of the Indians afhore, that he might tell what brave things he had feen in the Spanifh Court; but the remaining three took the advantage of the following Night, and leaping over=board, fwam to Shore. But this Accident he not much regarded, trufting to have a fufficient Account from' his eight and thirty Spaniards which he had left in the Fort upon the Ifland; and the more, becaufe King Guaccanarillo's brother, in fign of Friendfhip, had prefented him with two Golden Images : But all there Conjectures fail'd him, fo that hearing nothing, he landed, where he found the Spanifh. Garrifon,utterly deftroy'd, and the Royal Fort burnt down to the Ground, and lying in a heap of Afhes. Then they fired feveral Guns, to give notice, that if any of them had conceal'd themfelves, and lay sculking in the Woods, or otherwife, they, fhould difcover themfelves, and come to the fuccour of their Friends: But all in vain, for none came; for as they were afterwards inform'd, the Inhabitants had flizin them, becaufe of their infupportable behavior, infolently committing Robberies, Rapes, and Murders: Hereupon he fent Meffengers to the King Guaccanarill, to inquire why they had fired his Fort, and what they had done with his Men, who brought him this Return, That over that mighty Inland were many Princes, of which two being provok'd by the reports of the Strangers that were entertain'd in the lland, came marching upon them, each with their Armies; but that he endeavor'd what he could, and came with a Power to affift the Serangers ; yet all he got for his Kindnefs, was a Wound in his Leg, which had been fo fore and troublefom, that forc'd him to keep his Bed, and no lefs than feven Concubines to attend him, and drefs the Wound: But he told his Tale fo ill, and feign'd his Lamenefs worfe, that Sibilius, one of the Meffengers fent by Columbus, lifting up the Coverlet, faw that he ail'd nothing, which foon confirm'd his doubt, that he was confederated with the reft, and alike guilty of the Sláughter. At laft Guaccanarillo being defir'd, came in Perfon to Columbus, in whofe prefence he held a long Difcourfe with an Indian Woman, which they had brought from the Inland of Sainta Cruz, there Chriftned by the Name of Catharine: At length Guaccanarillo was difmifs'd, and the Night following this Catbarine, with feven more of the Indian Women, leap'd over-board, and fwom almoft a League to Shore, fogoing thence direatly to their King Guacicanarillo. This Accident gave more fufpicion to Co. lumbus, who thereupon fent threc hundred Men, commanded by Melchior, Hoie eda, and Gorvalano, to march through the Ifland three feveral ways, and with Special Commiffion to fecure as their Prifoner Guaccamarillo. Melchior difcover'd 2 wide River, full of Reaches and winding Bàys, gliding between high Hills cover'd with Woods, refounding with the ecchoing noifes of harmonious Birds, and difemboguing his Waters, enlarg'd by two orher Rivers, into thé Sea, fo making a convenient Harbor for Ships. Here a hundred of the Illand. ers, well Arm'd after their manner, met them, crying aloud, We are no Cannis bals, but Taynos, that is, a People more civil than they are cruel. The Spaniards making Signs of Peace, the Taynos approach'd, and joyn'd their Forces in a friendly manner. Near the place of this Meeting appear'd a Houfe buile in an Oval fafhion, being thirty two Paces in the Circumference, the Roof curiouly pleited of divers colour'd Rufhes, round about which ftood thirty leffer Dwel. lings. Mean while, in his March Hoieda difcover'd a River thiat defcended from a high Mountain, where the Inhabitants gather'd much Gold after this manner:- They dig a Hole about two Foot deep; then taking up their left Hand full of Sand, with their right Hand they cill out the precious Ingots, which little accounting of, as they gather'd, they dealt away to the Spaniards. Moft of the Pieces were as big as Peafe, yet fome fo large, that they weigh'd Dasas 8. Du Orbe Novo nine Ounces. Peter Martyr, Councellor to the Emperor Cbarles, tells us, That he hath feen of them in the Spanifh Court, that were brought over thither by Columbus. Moreover, Hoied was inform'd hete, That this Gold-River took its Original in the Province belonging to Cacicus Callnaboa, fignifying, The King of the Golden Palace.

Columbus builds a City. North part of the Ine, where he intended to build a City; becaule clofe by the Hill on one fide rifes a Mountain, pregnant with Stone and Chalk; on the other, a Plain, fo exceeding fruitful and pleafant, that the Sun farce fhines upon a more delightful and fertile Soil, which they found afterwards by ex-. perience. Here Melons are fet and ripe in thirty fix days; Corn, in two Months; tivice a Year the Trees and Plants bring forth their Ceveral Products; the Vines come to maturity, and are loaden with Clufters of Grapes, in two Years, and Sugar.Canes grow as thick as a Mans Arm in fifteen days. On this pleafant Soil, accommodated with a convenient Haven, Columbus after. wards buile the City Ifabella, fortified with Walls and Trenches againft all Invafions, over which he. made his Brother Bartbolomew Columbus firt Governor. Mean while the Admiral Columbus himfelf march'd up into the Countrey with three hundred Men, in queft of the Gold Mines. Seventy two Leagues the Valley Cibava lies diftant from Ifabella, to which Columbus pafs'd over fwift Currents and high Mountains, where he built a Fort, which he call'd St. Thon mas ; and exchang'd. with the Inhabitants Toys and Trifles, for Pieces and Ingots of Gold, which the Inhabitants, as before-mention'd, found in the Sand of their Rivers: And befides, they inform'd him, That about half a days Journey further, greater Quantities of Gold were to be found, in a browner colour'd Soil :, Whereupon Luxanus, one of his Officers, was fent with a fufficient Party thither, who march'd through a delightful way, cool with fhady Boughs, and pleafant with the profpect of fpacious Meadows, where they mow'd Grafs for their Horfes, which in four days time grew up again higher than our talleft Wheat.

Mean time Columbusbeing recurn'd with great Riches to his new City Ifabel: la, went foon after by Sea, with three Veffels, to difcover new Countreys more remote ; which his Defign fell out alfo fuccésfully ; for he fell firft up. on famaica, where he found more fout Oppofition than elfewhere, by the Na. tives, at his Landing; but finding thenifelves over-power'd, they. came to Agreement, and accepting an amicable Compofure, prefently fruck up a Peace.

Peace. From thence putting to Sea, he next difcover'd Cuba, which failing round about, he found allo to be an Illand; where Landing in a conveniens Harbor, on each fenc'd with a high and jutting Rock, he efpied two little Ho. vels, wherein was abundance of Fifh, befides two great Snakes or Serpents, each having eight Feet, Spitted, and ready to be laid to the Fire to be roafted; but neither Man, Woman, nor Child to be feen, they being gone with part of the Fifh they had drefs'd, into the adjacent Woods; whither the Spaniards following, faw hanging by fmall Strings, on the Branches of Trees, abundance of Snakes, fome of which had their Mouths tied together, others their Tongue and Teech pull'd out. Hence marching on, a little beyond they faw a Company of the Natives, which they judg'd to be about feventy Men, covering the top or fummit of a Hill, to whom the Spaniards made Signs, and to entice them near, Thew'd feveral of their gawdy Trifles; but in vain, till at laft one adventur'd, defcending from the Hill, to whom one of the Natives (who in the firft Voyage that the Admiral made, was taken from the Illand Guanabaini near Cuba, carried to Spain, and there Chriftned) call'd aloud, telling him they need not fear, shey fhould have no harm done them; which faid, they came down all together, and inform'd them, That they were fent by their King to catch Fifh for another King which was with him at Dinner; and if they had not eaten the Serpents, they gave them many thanks; for they were provided for the fecond Courfe, and very fearce to be gof, being a greater Dainty than any Fifh.

Columbus from hence proceeding on further Weftward, difcover'd a fruitful Coaft, verging the Mouth of - River, whofe Water runs boyling hot into the Sea. Somewhat further he faw very ftrange Fifhes, efpecially the Guaican, not unlike an Eel, but with an extraordinary great Head, over which hangs a Skin like a Bag. This Fifh is the Natives Fifher; for having a Line or handfom Cord faftned about him, fo foon as a Turtel, or any other of his Prey, comes above Water, they give him Line; whereupon the Guaican, like an Arrow out of a Bowe, fhoors towards the other Fifh, and then gathering the Mouth of the Bag on his Head like a Purfe=nee holds them fo faft, that he lets not loofe till hal'd up out of the Water.

Here the Spaniards having Din'd on delicate Fifh, went on fill Weftward, and came to an uninhabited Ifle, but well for'd with Geefe, Pelicans, and ugly Dogs that could not bark. Here they came amonglt fo many Shoals, that the Keels of their Ships raked upon the Ground almoft forty Leagues together, the Water thick and white like Milk: Laftly, they came again into deep Water, and Landed at the Foot of a high Mountain, on the Inland Cuba; where they found two Springs of very fweet Water. A Mufqueteer going into the Woods whilft the reft fill'd their Veffels with Water and cut Wood, he fpied a tall Man in a Coat like a white Fryer's Frock ; behind whom came two more, and foon after thirty more follow'd, all alike Habited : the Mufqueteer running away, they beckned him to ftay, but he march'd off; and informing Columbus of his Adventure, he fent a Party well Arm'd to fee farther into the Countrey; but they neither faw nor heard any Men, onely found on the other fide of the Wood a great Plain, but fo overgrown with deep Grafs, that it was impoffible to get through : The next day he fent out twenty five more, which found nothing elfe than the Prints of the Steps of great Beafts and Lyons, and alfo abundance of large Grapes, which hung on the Branches of Vines, clafping about the Bodies of the great Trees.

Hence Columbus again putting to Sea, and Sailing Wefterly, found a Shore overflow'd with Water, and abounding with Pearl-Mufsles, and after that the whole Countrey full of Mountains, whofe tops fmoaked. By this time the Fleet was much damnified by the Shole-water; where, as we mention'd before; they ofteen fruck, and their Keels rak'd upon the Ground; fo that having fprung feveral Leaks, and their Provifions growing mouldy with the Damp, they were forc'd to return; and Tacking about they ran againf Turtles, which lay as thick in the Sea as if they had been fown.

Columbus now on his return home, and Landing once more on Cuba, found an antient Man ftark naked, who Speaking to him (Didacus interpreted, the Language in fome part agreeing with that of $H_{i}$ paniola) to this effect:
$\therefore$ You bave to all admiration come to fee this Countrey from another World, my advice to you is, That you hurt none, for the Souls of evil-doers go to dark places: But on the cone trary, they fhall enjoy the beighth of all Pleajures that are Friends to Peace.
-Colimbus replyd, That be canie a Scourge for the cruel Camnibals, but a Shield to protect the quiet and well-meaning Indians.
After this, returning to Hispaniola, much contrary to his expectation, he found all things which he had fetled there turn'd topfie-turyy: for firt the Governors at If abiella jangled, and were at private contentions anongft themTelves, and the Bereedictine Monk Boilus and Peter 'Margarites were return'd to Spaif', there to make their complaints at Court: and befides, the 'Spaniards had deale very inhumanely with the Natives, by their frequent Rapes, Thefts, and Murders ; wherefore the Indians, not unjufly incensd, deftroy'd all the Spanie ards they found ftragling in any part without the Lines of their Fortification. Camaboa alfo lay about the Fort St. Thomas, and clofely befieged Hoiedd; but receiving intelligence of Cohimbus's arrival, he broke up his Siege, and march'd from thence, but foon after was taken Prifoner by the Spaniards. Mean while upón Defign (a Plot none of the wifeft) the Natives of Hippaniola had neither Till'd or Sow'd the Ground, or'is'd Agriculture the year before, contriving by want of Provifions (not confidering themfelves) to ftarve out the Spaniards; but the mifchief fell upon the Contrivers: for fo great a Famine hapned, that fpreading over the whole Countrey, in a few Moneths fifty thoufand were ftarv'd to death; but the Spaniards made a faving, though hard fhift with their own fore, then, though too late, the Iflanders repented of their folly, for they faw the Spaniards making an advantage of their mifery, not onely built more Houfes in their City Ifabella, but prepar'd their Weather-beaten Veffels, with which Sailing to the Gold Mountains of Cipangi on the Hill, whence fprung feveral Fountains, they rais'd the Caftle of the Conception. Great benefit they reap'd by this Fort, to which they carry'd daily abundance of Amber, Brim. ftone, mix'd Ore of Silver and Gold, and Brazile-wood, befides great ftore of Gold : and they might have gotten ten times more, had they not been fo much inclin'd to flothfulnefs, and minding other vain pleafures : yet notwithftanding all, the Fleet carry'd that year above one thoufand two hundred pound weight of Gold to Spain.

In the mean while the Natives complain'd to Columbus of the Spanifh Soldiers, which under pretence to feek for Gold, committed many infufferable Out. rages; therefore they defir'd that they might be retain'd in their Forts, and not ftraggle fo much abroad, and they would willingly bring them every three Monechs a certain weight of Cotton, Amber, Brazile-wood, and Gold, more than equivalent to what they fratch'd; but Columbus (whofe Soldiers, notwithftanding his feverity, and ufing Martial Law. uponfome of them for *heir Crimes, and proud with their fuccefs) yet prevail'd at laft, that they confented thereto; but the Inhabitants never perform'd their promife, who being almoft famifh'd, had much to do to prefervethemfelves alive, fpending their time in picking Sallads.
*Whilft the Bufinefs remain'd in this ill pofture, or rather confufion, Cibanus, Brother to the imprifon'd Caunaboa, rais'd an Army of five thoufand Men : the Spaniards, divided into five Companies, march'd to meet him ; and their Enemies being naked, and baving no other Arms than Bowes, Arrows, and Clubs, after fome little refiftance, were foon diffipated and put to fight, but overtaken by the Spanif, Horfe, many of them were taken Prifoners, and others forc'd to skulk and hide themfelves on the tops of Mountains.
2. Shortly after this Battel hapned a Huricane, mix'd with Thunder-claps, renting great pieces from the Rocks, and the Wind blowing out of the Eaft, threw down Houfes and Trees, fome of which were carry'd a valt heighth in. to the Air ; three Ships that rode in the Harbor, broke their new Cables, and fplit.againft the Rocks. The Spaniards expetted nought elfe, but that with this exceffive Tempeft the Day of Judgment was at hand. And on the other fide, the Inlandefs afcribed this raging of Heavens to the Spaniards wickednefs. This Storm paft, and the Air fecled, Columbus gave order for thg building of two new. Ships there, with which in March, Anno 1495. he return'd to Spain; where in Medina del Campo he gave an account at the Court about the difcover'd Countreys; where alfo Sentence was pafs'd on feveral Spaniards, and chiefly con. cerning the Benedictine Monk Boilus, who out of meer malice pafs'd by him at Mafs with the Hoft, while he gave it to others, without any diftinction. Then he gave a further account, that his Brother Bartholomenj had found, fixty Leagues beyond Ifabella, feveral deep Pits, the uppermoft Grourd of which Sifred, produced abundance of Gold. Moreover, that he had built the Caftle Aurea there in three Monethstime with little trouble : but becaufe Provifions grew farce there, he found himfelf neceffitated to remove, but left ten Men in the Garrifon, and had fent three hundred of the Inanders with their Governor to Spain. He alfo buile the Caftle Dominico, on the South-fide of Hispaniola; from whence he had travell'd into the Countrey to the River Naiba: where, upon this Shore the King Beuchio Aracauchoa Encamp'd himfelf againft the Naibans, to bring them, belides feveral other People, under his fubjection. That Bartholomeno demanded Tribute of Anacauchoa, which he immediately promis'd to pay, and disbanded his Forces, conducting Bartholomew above thirty Leagues on his Way, along a Path on both fides fown with Hemp, and planted with Brave receprion of King in Hiparailelat Cotton-Trees, to his Palace Xaraqua, in the Weft of Hispaniola, where he was received in great ftate: Thirry of the Kings Wives walk'd before, carrying in their Hands Boughs of Palm=trees, and both Sung and Danc'd very ftrangely; behind thefe came a confiderable number of naked Virgins, very handfom; at laft Bartholomew entring the Palace with the King, found a Table furnifh'd with all manner of Dainties, and a very courteous Entertainment. The next day walking forth to a large Plain, and looking about he faw two Parties that deeps ly engag'd in Fight behind a, Hill, with great flaughter on both fides, and had not he defir'd that they might be parted, there had been much more Blood Mhed. After he had been leveral days friendly entertain'd, he return'd to the Forts Ifabella, Sperancia; Catbarina, St. Fago, Iurrita; Conception, and Dominico; where he found above three hundred Spaniagds ftarvid of hunger, befides many-that were fick.

At that time Guarionexius having been opprefs'd by the Spaniards, and a long time warching for an opportunity, now thinking he had found it, rais'd an Army of fifteen thoufand Men, with, which he was refolv'd to try his fortune againft Columbus; who privately receiving intelligence thereof, fell upon him fo on a fudden and unexpectedly, that he foil'd his Defign, and took all his Commanders Prifoners: But to oblige the Inhabitants, who begg'd for theie King, Columbus fee him at liberty, advifing him to be careful of raifing a War againft him any more. But he not being able to endure the oppreffions of Roldanus Ximenez, a Spanijh Commander, fled to the wild Ciquano's, defcended from the Canibals, and living on fteep Mountains: Of thefe he deffi'd aid againft the Spdniards, and obtain'd not onely their Promife, but fome Men; with which he robb'd and pillag'd the Countrey round about, and what Spa= niards he met with he kill'd, and with his Men did eat, as if a Venifon Feaft. Mean while Ximenez made himfelf Leader of feventy Rebels, which like raging blood-hounds fell upon the Natives after a terrible manner.

Whilft all things were thus in diforder at Hispaniola, the Admiral Cbrifopher Columbus fet Sail a third time with eight Ships from the Haven Barramedd, in the Year 1498. To flum the French Pyrates, which watched for the Indian Treafures, he directed his Courfe to Madera, a fruitful Illand of Corn, Wine, Sugar, Wax, and Cattel, defolate till Anio 1420 . Here coming to an Anchor, he fent fix Ships away to Hipaniola, which himfelf afterwards followed with the remaining two, fteering by the Flemijh Illands, or Acores, firf fo call'd from the Flemings, the firft Planters: Here he dropt Anchor before the City Angra on the Ille Tercera, which is fixteen Leagues in circumference, and very Mountainous; the tops whereof are like Spires, and abound with Grapes : the Plain Countrey produces great fore of Corn, but it will not keep above twelve Moneths. The Ground is oftentimes terribly fhaken by Earthquakes, and between feveral fulphurous Places, both Flames and Smoak afcend up to the Sky. Near the City Angra is a Founta in which turns Wood into Stone. The Winds in thiq Place blow fo fierce and ftrong, that they not onely beat down Houfes, but wear out Iron, and all manner of Stone-work. In Angra the chief Commander of all the Flemigh Ifles hath his Refidence. The City, furrounded by fteep Rocks, lies towards the Sea like a Crefcent, or Half=Moon; for at both ends thereof the Mountains extend with deep Points into, the Ocean. The uppermoft part towards the, Weft ftands likewife fortifid by a high Rock, as alfo by another on the Eaft : on both are continual Watches kept; whereof thofe on the firft can difcover Ships fifteen Leagues off at Sea, coming either from the Eaft or Weforndies; and on the other, all thofe that come from Europe: When they fee above fifteen Sail, they put out the Kings great Flag upon the top of all the Rock.

This City of Angra is divided into feveral Streets: the Governor and Archbifhop live each in a ftately Palace; five handfom Churches are no fmall ornament to it; the Sea before it abounds with Fifh, but are not to be taken in December, by reafon of the turbulent Waves.

Chriftopher Columbus having refrefh'd at Angra, Sail'd along the African Coaft between the Hesperides: under the Equinoctial he was fo miferably tormented by the Heat, that his Veffels feem'd to burri, the Hoops fprung from the Casks, fo that the Water run about the Hold; and they could expect nothing but death from the infufferable Heat, and want of Water:: eight days they had endur'd this hardfhip, when they met with a frefh Gale out of the SouthEaft, fo that they made great Way towards the Weft. On the laft offuly he difa cover'd three high Mountains; and approaching near the Shore, he frielt as in 2 Pofie, all the fweet breathings of fragrant Flowers commix'd, and ac laft faw a convenient Haven; where going ifhore he found cultivated Grounds; and fteps of Beafts, but not a Man appear'd : the nextday they fpy'd a Boat with twenty young Men come rowing from the Shore into the Ocean.. The Admis ral hal'd them in vain to come aboard, for they made the greater halt afthote, ftill looking about continually with great admiration on the Ships : whereupon he commanded them to beat their Drums, and found their Trumpets, that they might by that means entice them aboard; but they rather taking it as a fign of War, made chemfelves ready for refiftance : mean while the Spaniards overtook the Indian Boat, into which they threw a Hat, and other trifles; the Iflanders amaz'd thereat, made figns to them to row athore ; but foon after they fled.

Columbus proceeding on his Joirney came to Paria, where he found a Fiffs ers Pink loaden with Oyfters; which opening and taking out the Meat, were there ; for a broken Difh and a rufty Knife, theSpaniards had four long Strings of Pearl,

From thence anchoring in the River of Cumana, feveral naked Men came aboard, adorn'd with Golden Armlets, and Strings of Pearl, Thefe inform'd him, that they gather'd their Gold from the Mountains and Rivers, and caught their Pearl-oyfters in the adjacent Seas. Some of the Spaniards were nobly entertain'd by the King and his Son, who leading them into their Palace, pla. ced them on Benches of Ebony-wood, curioully wrought, and on a fudden Ce veral Servants came in with variety of Dainties, and well-tafted Wine. But becaufe Provifions grew fearce amongft the Sea-men, and their Meat tainted, Columbus thought it convenient to leave the Pearletrade till fome better opportu. nity. Then fetting forward, the farther he went, the fhallower he found the Sea, infomuch that his Ship fcarce had Water enough to fwim. This inconvenience was followed by a fecond; for the Sea being full of Weeds and Grafs, fcarce fuffer'd any Paffage. A River thirty Yards deep, and twenty Leagues broad, came rufhing out betwixt two Shores into this Sea with fuch force, that the Wayes went high like Mountains, which made Columbus judge himfelf in the greateft danger imaginable, and withall Tack about; fo that he came on the eight and twentieth of Augult Amno 1498. to an Anchor before Hijpaniola, where all things were ftill in a fad confufion, as we before related.
Roldanus Ximenes refus'd to follow Cbriftopher Columbus's, order and writ Letters to the King of $S$ pain, in which he exceedingly a fperfed both the Admiral $C_{0}$ lumbus and his Brother; who were not backward in giving an account quite contrary by their Letters, of the horrid Villanies perpetrated by this Ximenes, and defir'd aid, that fo great an Offender might receive condign punifhment. Mean while the Ciquano's came marching down with fix thoufand Men, which Bartholomerw. went to meet with eighty Foot and fome few Horfe: The Indians which he was to encounter with, rather feeming like Furies than Men, for all of them were daub'd over with black fmuts on their bare Skins from Head to Foot, and their hard Hair pleited in terrible, not in Lovelocks, hung playing, or dangling over their Shoulders. When the Spaniayds in their March drawing up to a River where it was beft fordable, had no Iooner left the Bank, and taken the Water, endeavoring to wade over, but the Salvages rufh'd forth out of the Woods, and let flye a flowre of Arrows, that had they not been provided with Shields and Targets, to keep off fuch a deadly Storm, fo thick they flew, and fo well aim'd, moft of them had perifh'd there: but having recover'd the oppofite Bank, the Enemy play'd all hid, and in a thought fhelter'd themfelves under the protection of the Woods; where the Conqueror purfuing, found the Service very difficult and dangerous, for their Armes, ef pecially their Shields, fopping and intangling them as in a Net, among, the fhrub.

by and twining Branches; which they paffing, rigled themfelves, and made their way, like quefting Spaniels following their Game, and ftill gawling them with their Arrows: whereupon they left their vain purfuit, marching another way to intercept Mayobanexius, who with eight thoufand Ciquano's were then coming down againft them; which prov'd a harder task than was expected: for e're he could reduce, him and his ftubborn Party, he fpent three Moneths in the Service.

BUt the great and worthy Service of thefe two excellent Brothers deferving rather Statues and Trophies of everlafting Honor,Monuments never to be demolifh'd, in their due praife, whohad found our after fo many baffled Ages, a new World, richer, and not much lefs than the old, by the a perfing calumniations of one malicious Perfon, loft his whole Intereft and Credit in the Spanifh Court, quite out of favour with his Prince, who by his infinuations had hinted fo much the matter of Gain among the Courtiers, that every one ftudied no lefs than to get a Commiffion, and fogoing a Commander to the Indies, make up his Mouth, and become fuddenly rich. Firft Francifco Bombadilla prevailing, was fent with full Commiffion to fucceed Columbus in Hipaniola; where no fooner Landing, but he exercis'd the extremity of his Authority; and feizing the Admiral and his Brother, fetter'd their Hands and Feet, and put them aboard on two feveral Ships for Spain: where no fooner arriv'd, but the King, not altogether forgetting former Services, commanded them to be unmanacled, and waited on, not as Prifoners, with a civil Retinue to his Court; where they were well entertain'd three years. But they being active Perfons, weary of folong repole, got a fecond Grant to make farther difcoveries, and fet forth the ninth of May, Anno 1504: with four Sail well appointed from Cadiz, and had a fair Paffage, from thence to Hijpaniola, where begun the Storm. for Bombadilla, who had by the Kings Commiffion fo evil treated Columbus and his Brother, as aforemention'd, would not fuffer him, though reconciled to the King, fo miuch as to Land, and there refrefh themfelves and their Men; fo he was forc'd to fteer on to the Inlands Guamixa and Veragua, where a Huricane, or fudden ftrefs of Weather funk two of his Veffels; the-other two ftanding off to Sea efcap'd bilging, but fo fhatter'd and leaky, having alfo fhipp'd abundance of Water, they were refolv'd to put in at Jamaica; where weary with the long Voyage, and hatterd with the Tempef, many of his Sea-men, fpent with ficknefs, after their Landing, died. To thefe his fufferings from Wind and Weather, and his Enemies abroad, a greater and inteftine mifchief hapned. Erancif co Porefio, one of his chief Commanders, abfolutely rebell'd, and deferting him, with another PaEty of his Sea-men went into Hipaniola: which the Inanders obferving, refolv'd to famifh him, keeping from him both Water and all other Provifions; which bad not Columbus ftav'd off by a handfom Invention, they had compleated their Defign, which was this: He told them that he was the offspring of the Moon, and if they refus'd to fupply his want, the Moon, in vindication of her Son, would famifh them, by fooiling what e're they, had planted or fow'd, and that this would prove true they fhould know by a fignt that on fuch a Night, fhe rifing in her full glory, fhould firft look red; and afterwards by degrees lole a great part of her light; which indeed fo hapned, being Ecclips'd; as he could well prognofticate; and after that, they being ignorant of the caufe, fupplid him with all Neceffaries.

But Porefio, not able to endure the Sea with his fmall Boats, refolv'd to fur $=$ prize one of the Ships that lay before famaica; but Columbus fo much preventec. him, that meeting him in his return, after a hot difpute made him his Prifoner. But thus ended not his misfortunes; for the Veffels which he fought in foon after funk, and no fhip to be found in famaica to tranfport him thence. Laftly, he agreed with fome Indian Fifhermen, to carry Didacó Mendoza to St. Dominica, that there he might hire two Veffels to carry him back to Spain: which Defign taking effect, he arrived there in fafety : where after he had refrefh'd himfelf at the Spanifh Court, after his fo long and unfortunate a Voyage he fell fick, and died on the eighth of May 1506.

Mean while, the Affairs of Hijpaniola grew more out of order: for Bombadilla joyning with Ximenes, refolv'd to hoard up a huge Treafure of Gold, though with the infinite oppreflion of the Natives : of which King Ferdinand having intelligence, fent Nicholas Olanda thither with thirty Sail; who being nominated Vice-Roy, anchor'd in forty days beforé $H_{i j}$ paniold. No fooner arriv'd, but Bombadilla and Ximenes fled, leavifig their vaft Treafure; amounting to ten hundred thoufand Ducats; which guarded with four hundred Spaniards in twenty four Ships was fent to Spain: but fo it hapned, that they were all fwallowed up in the main Ocean, none knowhig to this day in what La : titude they were loft.

Pietro Alponfo Nigno his Voyage.

PIetro Nigno, encourag'd by fome of thofe that had been with Columbus at the Ines of Pearl, Rigg'd out a Ship at his own charge, with Special order in his Commiffion, that he fhould not touch on any Coaft within fifty Leagues of any Place Columbus had formerly difcover'd. But he little obferv'd his Orders,' and what he was commanded; for Sailing into the Haven Curiana, he barter'd Shells, Needles, Glais, and fuch like Trifles, for abundance of Pearls, which the Hlanders brought aboard, for he himfelf having but thirty Men, durft not vens ture athore. Twenty days this bartering Trade continued, Orient Pearls for Decreripuono of curimas. Toys; but finding at laft, that they were a civil and hof pitable People, he Landed, where they entertain'd him in Hovels built of Wood, and cover'd with Palm-Leaves; before their Doors lay great Hills of Oyfter-fhells, the Fifh being eaten, and the Pearls us'd for an ornament; Conies, Hares, Phea: fants, Pigeons, Geefe, Ducks, Deer, and wild Swine; are their ufual Food; and their Bread is made of the Roots of Trees. Moreover, Curiana abounds with thick and flady Woods, which refound in the night with the cries and roarings of wild Beafts: but though they are terrible fierce and voracious, yet the Natives ftoutly venture in amongt the thickeft of them, arm'd onely with Bowes and Arrows. The Inhabitants are of Complexion tawny, their Hair long and curld ; their Teeth they keep white with an Herb, which they continually hold beewixt their Lips. The Women perform their bufinefs of Husbandry, Ploughing and Sowing. The Men are Soldiers, following the bufinefs of War : but in Peace their Exercifes are Hunting and Dancing. They keep annual Fairs, where from all Parts of the Countrey they bring their Commodities to buy and barter. They have their Gold from Cauchieta, fix days Sail Weftward from Curiana.

Thither

Thither Nigno next directed his courfe, and came to an Anchor there on the firft of October, Anmo 1500. The Inhabitants entred aboard without the leaft fhinefs, or fear of danger, and brought with them to barter, Gold, Civeto Cats, Parrots, and Cotton.

Thefe People, though fo civil, are extreamly jealous of their Wives: for when a Spaniard made addrefs to one of them, and coming fomething clofe, her Husband ftept in fuddenly between, and feem'd to forbid the Banns. But coafting onward along the Shore from thence to another Ine, he found Natives far more wild and falvage: for two thoufand in a Body well Arm'd, ftood ready to intercept their Landing ; wherefore he thought it his fafeft courfe to Tack about, and return to Curiana whence he came.

In his Way not far from thence, he fell amongft eighteen of the Cannibals Boats, which according to their cliftom had been a Man-ftealing, and now were fo hardy, that fetting upon the Spanif Ship, they fuddenly clapt him aboard with their Canoos on all fides; but being beaten back by the terror of their Guns, they foon recir'd : yet the Spaniards took one of the Boats with two Men, all the reft faving themfelves by fwimming. One of the two Men lay bound Hand and Foot, who told them, that he was to have been kill'd the next day and eaten, as he faw his Companions, with whofe Flefh they banquetting kept a jovial Feaft. Niono unbinding the Prifoner, gave him leave to do what he pleas'd with the taken Cannibal, who falling upon him, cudgel'd and whipp'd him to death.

Then Nigno in his Way to Curiana touch'd upon the Coaft of Paria, where he found a frange kind of Salt, which the Sea in tempeftuous Weather cafts on the Shore, which afterwards hardens by the Sun. This Salt mult be taken up before any Rain fall, elfe it melts and foaks away into the Ground; yet fometimes grows fo hard as a Stone, infomuch that they make Pots and other Veffels of it; which the Parians barter for foreign Commodities.

Nigno not making here any ftay, return'd a fecond time to Curinna, where he fpent twenty days in pleafant Paftimes, being Lodg'd in a Noble-mans Houfe, at whofe Door was fix'd a Cannibals Head, as a Trophy of his Vi= Etory. He faw there alfo the dead Bodies of divers eminent Perfons fet drying at a Fire, fo hardned to be fet amongft their Idols.

At length Nigno fet Sail homewards, and carried with him an invaluable Treafure in Pearls to Spain: but by the way fell out with his Sea-men, becaufe he kept moft of the Purchafe to himfelf, and would not give them their fhares, nay more than that, kept back the fifth part from the King; whereupon being complain'd of by Ferdinando de Vega, Governor of Gallicia, he was put in Prifon, and at laft fent to the Court, where the Pearls were declared free Prize, becaufe Nigno had barter'd for them at Curiana, contrary to the Kings Orders, not to touch at any Coaft, within fifty Leagues of what Columbus had difcover'd. But fince he had no way regarded thofe Commands to preferve that Pearl-Trade, King Ferdinand Sent Governors to Curiana, who in his Name fhould look after, and employ Men for the catching the Pear!s Oyfters. Thefe, accompanied with a confiderable number of Soldiers, befides fix Monks, forc'd the Inhabitants to furnifh them with abundance of Pearl: which opprefion grew to fuch a heighth, that one Morning a great Party of them confpiring together, fell fuddenly upon them, moft of them being maffacred : affer they had a while infultingly triumphed over the dead Bodies, and finifh'd, as they thought, their good work (feafting on their Flefh at a joyful

Sex or Age, he flew all he met with: But becaufe they themfelves could not follow the rich Oyftereatching; he 'par'd fome for that purpofe, whom he commanded to build ewenty five litthe Houfes, or Hovels, on the Shore, which he call'd $\mathbb{A}$ erio Toledo. After this they went on afrefh in their Pearl-fifhing.

The Voyage of Vincent Agnes Pinzon.

THe firft of December, Anno 1499. Vincent Pinzon fet Sail with four Veffels out of the Haven Palos: he had been Commander of a Ship under Colimbus in his firf Expedition, by which means he got great experience in Navigation. When he came a little beyond the Hefperides, he was furpris'd by a great Storm, which in three days drove him before a plain Coaft; where Landing, he found nothing but the Footfeps of Men; and in the night he faw great Fires, fuch as are generally made in Camps; about day-break twenty Spaniards march'd thither, whom thirty two Men, arm'd with Bowes and Arrows, made ready to encounter; but as they approached, the Spaniards profo fer'd them Peace, but they refufed all Compofition; yet having faced one another a while, they retreated without fighting.

After this Pinzon difcover'd a wide, but fhallow River; where Landing, on a Hill he met a great company of Americans: He , to invite them to Trade, threw them a Shell; in return for which they caft him a lump of Gold; which when the Spaniard went to take up they all fell upon him; and indeed he could not have defended himfelf long, had not fome of his Company quickly come in to his fpeedy refcue, which occafign'd a bloody Conflict, wherein feve. ral Spaniards were wounded, eight kill'd, and one of their fmall Boats funk; for the Americans fought fo valiantly, that they purfu'd the Spanifb Ships into the Sea. Pinzon being at laft freed of thefe Affailants, got into a frefh-water Sea, caus'd by the confluence of many Rivers falling in there : from hence be got fight of the Parian Coaft, and with admiration beheld a Tree which fixteen Men could not compafs: Between thefe Trees he faw as ftrange a Monfter, the foremoft part refembling a Fox, the hinder a Monkey, the Feet were like a Mans, with Ears like an Owl ; under whofe Belly hung a great Bag, in which it carry'd the Young, which they drop not, nor forfake till they can feed themfelves. Pinzon. caught one of them with three Young, which died in the Voyage, but the Dam he prefented alive in Granada to the King.

This Captain having Sail'd fix hundred Leagues, along the, Parian Coaft, in a great Tempeft two of his Carvils in his view were overfer, their Keels turn'd upward ; the third driven from her Anchor, and the fourth fo flaken, and full of Leaks, that ready to fink they ran her afhore to fave their lives; and though he efcaped himfelf the danger of drowning, then being afhore, yet he was no ways freed from far greater inconveniences; for he faw nothing but death either for want of Provifions, or barbaroufnefs of the Inhabitants: whereupon they refolv'd to free themfelves of their miferies by felffllaughter, killing one another ; but fome better advifed to fpend their Lives like Cbrifians upon the unbelieving Salvages : Whilft they were in this defperate condia tion, the Storm ceafed, and Providence prefented their fafety, the Ship driving in before the Wind; at which every one taking frefh courage, they mended the two fhatter'd Ships as well as they could ; wherein venturing to Sea, and fetring Sail, they came on the laft of September, Anno 1500. into the Spanijh. Haven Palos.

The Expedition of Americus Vefputius.

The manner of the Inhabitants in Paria.

Thbir ftrange Cuftoms.

AMericus Veffutius a Florentime, Commanded four Ships, fitted out at King Ferdinand's Charge, fet Sail the twentieth of May, Anno 1497. and refrefhing at the Canaries, from thence he fteer'd to Paria; where he fo much gain'd upon the Inhabitants, that for Pins, Bells, Looking.glaffes, and other Trifles, they daily brought aboard in Barter great fore of Gold, the beft of Merchandife.
Thefe People, both Men and Women go ftark naked, not fo much as co* vering their Pudenda; their Complexion fwarthy ; they fhave off all their Hair, onely fome Women leave a Tuft on their Heads. From their Faces, being broad and flat, one may judge them to be deriv'd from Tartary; they much exceed the Europeans in Running and Swimming, infomuch that the Women of tentimes without any Boats, or floating pieces of Timber, venture two or three Leagues into the Sea; they have fo great skill in Shooting, that they exceed almoft all other Nations, having Arrows headed with fharp Fifhbones; they alfo ufe Lances and Clubs. The Women follow the Men in the Wars, and ferve in fead of Horfes to carry Ammunition and ocher Neceffaries; to which Labor they are fo us'd, that they will bear on their Shoulders forty, nay fifty Leagues together, fuch Luggage, as three Spaniards are fcarce able to lift from the Ground. They acknowledge no Commander or Superior either in Wars or Government; they keep up old Feuds, fighting with an inveterate hatred againft their Neighbors, upon antient fores and revenges, ftill kept in memory of their Relations flain in former Battels, and alfo ftill creating frefh animofities upon their Loffes in later Engagements. Their Language is fmoorh and pleafing, being fpoken with a kind of lifping, and abfolutely different from the neighboring Nations. When they eat they fit upon the Ground, and fleeping lie in Hammocks, each end whereof being faftned to a Poft ; underneath they kindle a Fire; over them they hang Fifh-nets and Hooks, Fifh-baskets and Calabajbes. When they have occafion to eafe Na. ture by evacuation, they retire into fome private Place; but the Women think it no immodefty to make Water, even in the prefence of ftrange Men. They obferve not fingle Matrimony; for every Man takes as many Women as he pleafes, under bonds of Wedlock fuch and fo fleight, that he turns them off at his pleafure : and Women take the fame liberty in cafheering their Husbands when not pleafing them. They bring forth Children with little or no pain, and wafh them in a River fo foon as born; which done they return to their ufual work and bufinefs. When they are incens'd againft their Husbands, they revenge themfelves by poyfoning their Children. Their Houfes are built in the fafhion of a Houre-clock, with a Roof rais'd from the Wall upon four Pillars like the Bell, and cover'd with PalmeLeaves; fome of which are fo big, that they afford room for fix hundred Men: every feventh or eighth year they remove, becaufe (as they fay) the Air is oftentimes infected by Mens Breaths, by their long continuance in one place. Their Rickes confift in Feathers of divers colours, Strings of Fifh-bones intefmingled with green and white Beads, with which they adorn their Heads, Arms, Legs, Ears, and Cheeks: Gold and Pearls they make little account of; and as to Trade and Commerce with with other People, they know not what belongs to it. Their greateft Friendthip confifts in proftuting their Daughters or Wives to one another. Their Dead they bury in moift Grounds, and put with then both Meat and Drink into the Graves: When any Perfon grows very weak by lingring Sicknefs, they carry the Difeafed into a neighboring Wood, where they lay him in a silk Hammock, tied between two Trees; then dancing the whole day about him, at night they fet Bread and Water enough by him to laft four days, and then departing look no more after him, who thus neglected feldomefcape: but if fo it happen that one recover, all his Relations for the future honour nim as a god. When any one falls into a Fever, his Friends immediately bathe him in cold Water, and afterwards fet him before a great Fire, then drive him before them till he falls down almoft breathlefs, and at laft put him to Bed. They neither Let blood in the Arms nor Feet, but in their Sides. and Calves of their Legs. Sometime they faft four days together, which they fuppofe a great means to preferve their Health. Their Bread confifts of a fort of Fruit call'd Jucha, Chambi, or Igname. Laftly, no Lyon devours his Prey with more voraci. ous eagernefs, than they their taken Enemies.

Vefputius being fully inform'd concerning the Situation of Paria, weighed Anchor, and on the fixth day after entred a convenient Harbor, where going a fhore, he found ewenty Houres built in the middle of a Lake on great Pofts : every Houfe had a Draw-bridge, over which they pafs'd from one to the other. So foon as the Inhabitants fet eye on the Spaniards, they immediately drew up their Bridges: yet fome of them in twelve little Canoos came towards the Spanifh Ships, but amaz'd to fee their Looms fo big, durft got, though hal'd with figns, to come aboard, but hafted away to a high Mountain; yet feem'd to fig. nifie that they would return, as indeed they did, bringing fixteen Maids along with them, of which they put four into a Spanijh Boat, themfelves in the intes rim rowing between the Ships from one to another, fhewing all tokens of friendfhip, when on a fudden a Company of old Women came running to the Shore, and tearing the Hair from their Heads, made a terrible noife and excla= mation, expreffing the greateft forrow they could poffible: whereupon the four Indian Maids fuddenly leap'd over=board, and the Men fliot abundance of Arrows out of their Boats at the Ships; nay, fome of them fwimming under Water, endeavor'd to fink the Cock-boats which were made faft behind their Ships. Upon this fudden Oniee the Spaniards making ufe of their Guns, quickly leffen'd the number of the Affailants, infomuch that they fled to the Shore; yet five of them being overtaken, were carry'd Prifoners aboard.
$V e \int p u t i u s$ obferving thefe their mifdemeaning Carriages, judg'd it no way convenient to ftay any longer among fuch barbarous and deceitful Salvages: but having weighed Anchor, and Sail'd eighty Leagues along the Coaft, he ran into another convenient Haven, whofe Shore fwarm'd with People, which on a fudden running away, hid themfelves in a neighboring Wood.

Here the Spaniards Landing were amazed, when in their Huts they faw Snakes and Serpents roafting before a Fire, whereof one had Wings, and anos ther whofe Mouth was tied together with a Rope, ftared with open eyes in a frightful manner.

Here they left feveral Trifles to entice the fled Natives to correfpond with them. And this, their Defign prov'd fuccelsful; for the next day the Americans came aboard without the leaft fear, and offer'd to flew their hofpitable kindnefs to the Spaniards, if they pleas'd to travel three days Journey with them up into the Countrey, telling them, they had onely rais'd thofe few Huts by the Seasfide for a fmall time whilft they Fiff'd in thofe Parts.

The remarkable reception of twenty three Spaniards.Aboutiwenty of the Spaniards well Arm'd refolv'd to undertake the Jour. ney; and travelling over Hills, Dales, and Rivers, they came at laft into a Village confifting of nine of the foremention'd Houles, bue mightily peopled: where they were in a wonderful manner received by their glad welcomes, by Dancing, Singing, Hunting, and other joyful Acclamations, prefenting their Wives and Daughters, as the chiefeft part of their hofpitality, to carefs the Strangers at their pleafure. The news was no fooner fpread, but the adjacent Villages came in throngs to gaze upon, and falute the Strangers, inviting them allo to their Towns. The Spaniards taking it in good part, fpent nine days among them, highly treated with all manner of jollities, but efpecially at their choice with the varieties of $V$ enus : from thence then returning to their Fleet, accompanied with thoufands of the Natives every one carrying Prefents to the Admiral Vefputius; of whom as many as they could at once receive, they entertaining aboard, then difmifs'd them, and admitted others; but the Guns going off, they fuddenly leap'd from the Decks, and div'd like Ducks under Water: But afterwards being inform'd, that fuch thunder-claps were fent them from Heaven to deftroy their Enemies, they were fomewhat better fatisfi'd, and call'd the Spaniards, Charabi, that is, Wife Men.

This Ifland lying in the Mexican Bay, in twenty Degrees of Northern Latitude, Vefputius left on his Starboard, and Sail'd along a Meandring Coaft (which he always kept in fight) eight hundred and fixty Leagues, and at laft entred a Haven, the like whereof he had not feen before. Here he fpent a Moneth in repairing his Ships, to which the Inhabitants freely gave their affrfance; and among other things complain'd, that a falvage People came yearly thither from an Ifland about a hundred Leagues diftant, who fell upon them with horrible rage, and whomfoever they took they ear, but firft inflisted all manner of tortures upon them, (paring none, but together murthering aged People and fucking Infants; wherefore they crav'd affiftance to be reveng'd,' which if the Spaniards would grant, they would follow the Fleet with their Boats. Vefputius promis'd his aid to deftroy fuch a blood-thirfty People; and to affure them that he would perform his Word, he order'd feven of them to go in Canoos before and fhew them the Way. On the feventh day they came to an Anchor before the Illand $F_{y}$, where the Shore was guarded with naked Men, whole Bodies being Atrong and brawny, were painted, and their Arms, Legs, and Head, adorn'd with divers colour'd Plumes, having not onely offen. five Weapons, as Boiwes, Arrows, and Launces, but alfo defenfive, huge Targets, and fquare Shields. So foon as they judg'd the approaching Spaniards to clofe along the Shore with his Ships, fir'd upon them with Chain-fhot, which did great execution : yet notwithftanding about forty Spaniards leaping afhore out of their Boats, found themfelves in no fmall danger; for the Cannibals upon the found of Horns flocking together, fo prefs'd upon them that they were forc'd to lay afide their Guns, and fall to Blows, and had not timely affiftance come to them, they had undoubtedly been all flain : two hours the Victory was doubtful on whofe fide it would fall; yet at laft the Cannibals quitting the Field, left the Spaniards Vietors; who the next day purfu'd thieir gotten Viatory with fuch fuccefs, that they drove their Enemies before them, burnt their Villages and Boats, and carry'dewo hundred and two and twenty of them Prifoners to Spain, where they fafely arriv'd the 15. of November, Anno 1498.

This good fuccefs fo encourag'd Vefputius, that having ©ay'd fcarce feven Moneths afhore, he obtaining the Command over fix Ships, with which he fet Sail from Cadiz; and touching upon the Canaries, Steer'd from thence Southerly; and having Sail'd five hundred Leagues, he difcover'd a Countrey overflow'd and made Marifly by great Rivers, and abounding with Trees, buit faw no fign of any Inhabitants ; yet not long after, coming before an Ifland, he took a Boat with two Prifoners, newly guelt, and fent as a Prefent to feaft the Cannibals, which refus'd to Treat on any other account whatfoever; wherefore he Sail'd eighty Leagues forward along the Shore of an unknown Ifland, where he Barter'd for fome Gold, and got five hundred Pearls for one fingle Shell; thefe Pearls, the Inhabitants faid were not found there, but taken from their Neighboring Enemies, which liv'd Weftward, and had abundance of them.

- Nothing worthy of remark happen'd in this Voyage, onely the ftrange con: ftitutions of a wild People, living on a barren Ifle, deferve to be mention'd.

About their Necks hung two hollow Veffels, the one full of white ftamp'd Worts, and Herbs; and the other, full of Grafs, which they greedily cram'd into their Mouths, feeding like Cattel ; then a Stick wetted with Spittle, they put into the bruis'd Herbs, taking upon the end of it, as upon the point of a Knife, fome of the bruis'd to their Mouths, which (as if chawing the Cud) turning therein, then taking out again, and ftrowing more of the fame Herbs out of the Veffel upon it, fwallow'd it down. No frefh Water was to be had amongft them, but what they gather'd from the Dew in great Leaves: Neither had they any Houfes, but dwelt under great Trees, and fed on dry'd Fifh.

The next remark in this Voyage, was the difcovery of an Ifland not far from the former, where he found the Footfteps of a Gigantick' People, upon which nine Spaniards event a League to fearch the Countrey, where they faw five grese Huts, ftanding in a facious Valley, and in them two old, and three young Women, each of them being twice as tall as an ordinary Man: The old ones invited the Spaniards to eat, who when they were fat down, confulting how they might take and carry one of thefe Gianteffes to Spain, there to fhew her for Money, thirty fix Giants came in to them, (never did the Sun Thine on a more terrible People) which fo amaz'd the Spaniards, that their Hair feem'd to 'ftand an end at the fear thereof: Every Giant was arm'd with a Bow and Arrows, and a Club: They wondering at the nine ftrangers, food talking very earneftly one to another, which gave the Spaniards time to think of making their efcape ; fome judg'd it convenient to difcharge their Guns up. on them, and in the Smoke to run away; othersthought, that it would be bet ter to take a milder courfe, which they all agreed on; and taking their leave, went out of the Hut, but were follow'd by the Giants, who kept a Stones caft behind them, and went fafter or flower, as the Spaniards flacken'd or mended their pace; who at laft getting to the Shore, and from thence into their Boats, they fuddenly put off; but the Giants then purfu'd them with eager fpeed, all of them leaping into the Water, and Swimming, fhot abundance of Arrows after them ; but frighted by the Thunder of two great Guns that were difcharged from the Ships, return'd afhore, and fled inte the neighboring Hills.

Vespitius at laft began to confider of returning home, his. Provifions begino ning to grow fcarce, and his Seasmen faint, having continnd in the Equino ctial heats a whole year; whercfore he directed his courfe towards Spain, in his Voyage, driving along the Coaft an advantagious. Trade, by bartering

Defcription of the Pearl-
Oyfters. Oyfters. Shells ánd Glafs for Pearls. The Inhabitants prefented him with Oyfters, of which fome inclos'd one hundred and thirty Pearls; when they attain to their full growth; they fall out of the Shells themfelves, but thofe that fick, decay. So upon the tenth of Noveriber, the Fleet came fafe to an Anchor before Cadiz. After which;' Vesputius retired to Sevil, with intent to fettle himfelf there, but he had not long repos'd, when Emanuel King of Portugal fent for him to Lisbon, and gave him the Command of three Ships, to difcover new Countreys; between the Canaries and Africa, they pafs'd thorow fo many Fifhes (not unlike a Bream) that in an hours time they loaded their Boats with them; this Fiff hath a round thin Scale, Marp Teeth, Stones in their Brains or Forcheadis, a fharp pointed Hearr, a Bladder fullof:Wind, red Tail and Fins, feeds on Sea Weeds, Gurnets and Oyfters, and is of a delicious Tafte.

From thence, five degrees Southward of the Equinox, he found a naked People on the top of a high Rock, that beckon'd the Spaniards to come towards them; upon which, two of them refolv'd to venture thither, having order not to flay at the moft above five days: The firft incounter they had was of fome Women, who offer'd their bodies to proftitution; but a Youth, as if affrighted with fome fudden danger, came running amongtt them, whom, whilt they ftood gazing upon, and wondering at, an old Woman with a great Club, running down the Hill overtoo's, and knock'd him down dead upon the ground;" which done, the Women that were making Court to the Spaniards, took him by the Heels, and dragg'd up the Hill, where foon after they faw him chop'd in pieces, Broyl'd, and eaten: They alfo made figns to the Spaniards, that they would devour them alfo in the fame manner. The Shore was cronded witl Men, which fhowr'd upon them feveral flights of Arrows; wherefore they thought it beft to Weigh'Anchor, fo taking Aboard their two Men, and having Sail'd 150. Leagues, they got fight of the Coaft of ©rajfile, along whick he Sail'd Southerly to fifty two Degrees, where three Brafilians came Aboard of their own accord, and were eafily perfivaded to go with him to Portugal; but the Weather growing very kad, and the Cold intollerable, the Storms fwelling the Waves into the bignefs of Mountains, Vefputiurs left the Coaft des Patagones, and the Streights, afterwards call'd Magellan, behind him, burnt one of his Ships before Cape Sierra Leona, and brought two fafe to Libbon.

His fourth Expedition happen'd, May 10. Anno 1503. at which time he Steer'd direatly with fix Sail to Sierra Leona, and approaching the Coaft, could not come to an Anchor, becaufe of the ftrong eddying Currents: Three Degrees beyond the Equinox appear'ß a rifing Illand, two Leagues long, and one broad, deftitute of Inhabicants; his beft Ship being fix hundred Tun, fplit here againft a Rock, and nothing of her was faved, but the Sea-men : But $V_{e}$ sputius Rowing afhore with a Boat, found a convenient Haven, with abundance of fweet Water, high Trees, Sea-Spiders, and horrible Dragons, which have a Tharp Head, round fiery. Eyes, and wide Mouths, Wings not unlike a Bats, a fpeckled Breaft, curl'd Tail, blew Back, and two Bags like a drawn Satchel Triangular, were under their Bellies: No lefs ferange are the SeaSpiders, by their hard Feet, long upper Teeth, two long Sheers or Pinchers, and double Belly; between the Head and the Belly lies a black Skin, with which which they darken the Water; when any goes to take them in thight, they make a great fhadow ; they feed on Fifh, the Female lays little white Eggs, not unlike ordinary Hail-ftones.

Vefputius having left this defolate Inle, three hundred Leagues a Stern, enter'd a Haven, to which he gave the name of St. Abdy, where he ftay'd two Months, expecting the return of thofe which he had fent into the Countrey; but feeing it in vain to wait any longer, he proceeded on his Journey, and Sailing in between the Abrelhos, in the River Curubabo, he buile a ftrong Fort, Garrifon'd it with twenty four Men, twelve pieces of Ordnance, and Provifions for fix Moneths : Five Moneths Vefputius had fpent in the building this Caftle; when he return'd home with one Ship, laden with Brafill Wood, where approaching Lisbon, beyond all expectation, the Inhabitants of the City ran to Congratulate his happy return. And from this Americus Vesphitius, the New World is to this day call'd America.

Sect. VII.

The Expedition of Alphonfo, Fogeda, Diego Nicuefa, Ancifus, and Roderick Colmenares.

AMericus Vesputius was fcarce fitted out in Lisbon, when Fogeda fet Sail with three hundred Men from Beata, the chiefeft Haven of Hijpaniola, to the Illand Codego, inhabited by Naked People, but of comely Perfonage, and withal expert and moft excellent Archers : Here he found a very ftrange Tree, which bears a Fruit not unpleafing to the Palate, yet deadly Poyfon, and befides, whoever chances to fleep under their fladow, loofe both their underftanding and Eye=fight, and never attain to their former Sences; except they take fome Opiates, as dangerous, and lo by long fleep, recover.

Here Fogedd fet upon a poor Village near the Sea-fide, where without mercy he put them all to the Sword, except a few Youths which were onely faved, that they might inform Fogeda, what was become of the flain and taken Spaniards; Who told him, that according to their Cuftom, they had Roafted the dead, and alfo their living Prifoners, and feafted on their Fleft. Here having burnt the Houfes, and fifting the Afhes, Nicuefa found fome Gold. But now they began to be diftrefs'd for Provifions; for prevention of which, Nicuefa had given order to Ancifus, Marthal in Hippaniola, that he fhould follow with Famine.

Strange accident.

Aucifus efcapes great danger. a Ship of Victual, for the Army to Codega. But he being kept back by inconveniencies, moft of the Spaniards were famifh'd, fo that the three hundred Men which Codega brought from Hippaniola, were reduced to fixty. And he was already under Sail to HiSpaniola, when Ancifus Anchor'd in the Haven of Codegoos, and fent fome Men afhore to mend his Boat, and fetch frefh Water, which whilft they were doing, the Natives came flocking about them: Three days they fac'd one another, ufing no Hoftility, when at laft a Spaniard that underflood the Codegan Tongue, adventuring to fetch Water, he was immediately encompaffed; when feaking to them, and informing them in their own Lan= guage, That he was none of Fogedas or Nicuefas People, which not long fince. had committed fo great flaughter, they left him, and the rather, becaufe he told them, that Ancifus would take revenge on them, if they did any wrong to him. Thus quieted, they brought all forts of Provifions Aboard. Mean while, Ancifus Sail'd to the Main Continent Uraba, where in the Mouth of a Haven he ran his Veffel a-ground, which was bilg'd; the Sea-mentaking fome Arms along with them, fav'd their lives by fwimming afhore; where, their firft fuftenance they found was ftore of Peaches and Cherries, which was a great. refrefhment in thofe hot Countreys, but yet had undoubtedly been ftarv'd, but that in fearching the Wood for Fruits, they found Wild=Swine, which preferv'd their lives; yet they were not free from apparent danger, having to deal with a Salvage People, into whofe hands they were fo unfortunately caft by Shipwrack; however Ancifus fet a good face on the bufinefs, marching with a hundred Men up into the Countrey, where fome of the Urabanners from an ambufcade unawares, with their Arrows wounded feveral of his Men, hereupon they retreated to the Shore of the River Daria, whither alfo they had brought the fmall Boats, $f_{\text {av'd }}$ from the Wreck; where whilft they were in confultation how to return to Hijpaniola, the Inhabitants having mufter'd themfelves, and making a Body of five hundred Men, fet upon them, who after a fharp Conflict, made them retreat, and at laft to flie, whom Ancifus purfuing, found in a Thicket of Canes or Reeds a great Treafure of Gold. Mean while, Nicuefa Sail'd to the plentiful Golden Countrey Veragua with three Ships, of which he loft two, the one Commanded by Lupus de Olana, and the other by Peter Umbria Olana, which was ftranded in the River Veragua, which gives name to the whole Ifland, but he buile a new Carvil, whereas that of Lupus Olana was bilg'd among the Rocks. Little better fuccefs had Nicuefa, whofe Ship over-turning with a Tempef, he with a few of his Men made land upon Veragua, where he rang'd up and down in a miferable condition, on a barren, and in a manner defolate Shore feventy days: All that time, finding no other Food than Wild Roots, who wandring up and down, at laft met with Olana, a little before caft away on the fame Ifle, whom he fecur'd, becaufe he prefum'd to ufurp the Title, and be prime Commander of that Countrey. Upon which, the Spaniards being divided, fome for Ancifus, fome for Olana, the difference more and more encreafing, would not be reconcil'd, till the Famine over=powering, mafter'd both, fo that not being able to handle their Arms, the Salvages flew them at their pleafure; by this means in a fhort time, of feven hundred eighty five, remain'd fcarce ninety ; yet did not all this mifery work any thing upon the ambitious humor of Vaf : ques Nunnez, who rebelling againft Ancifus, Split that fmall remainder of Men, and with the help of thofe he had drawn over to his Party; made himfelf Governor of $U$ raba, not poffible to be long enjoy'd without fpeedy fupply, which foon after they receiv'd; for Colmenares Sailing from Hijpaniola with Provifions, arriv'd there the 15 . of OCtober, Anno 1510 . having been tofs'd twenty three days at Sea; then making into the River Gaira, to furnifh himfelf with frefh Wa. ter, he loft forty feven Men; for whilft they were filling their Casks, feven hundred of the Salvages came down upon them, and with their Poyfon'd Arrows wounded and kill'd moft of them. Colmenares came in a good time to the remainder under Ancifus Command, being in danger of death for want of Provifions, and finding the factions that were among them about Superiority, he thought it fit, confulting with fome of the chiefeft of them, to find out $\mathrm{N}_{i}$ cuefa; who was indeed the Governor that had the Grant from the King: This agreed, Colmenares went to learch, and at laft lighted upon him, building a Fortrefs againft the affaults of the Enemies on the Promontory. Mormor, he was glad to find him, but griev'd to fee the mifery and hardfhip they endur'd, moft of his Men being kill'd, partly by the exceffive Heats, partly by Famine, and partly by the cruelty of the Natives, fo that he had onely fixty remaining $f$ and thofe many of them alfo fick and weak.

Colmenares having deliver'd his Meffage, Nicuefa broke up his Quarters, and fleighting the Fort, went with him, but both himfelf and his Men were oppos'd from Landing by Nunnez; wherefore Nicuefa was neceffitated to Steer for Hispaniola; whom, or what became of him was never known.

Numez having thus quitted himfelf of Nicuefa, and now, more than ever, wanting Provifion, he refolv'd to take out his own Commiffion at large, and fetting up for himfelf, make no difcrimination of Perfons, Spaniards, or Na. tives, but to make out his Fortune.

And firf, he fell upon Careta King of Coita, whom he took Prifoner, Plunder. ing him of all his Treafure and Provifions; yet this fufficed not long, for foon after, King Poncba invading Careta, Nummez took hold of that opportunity, and pretending to affift Careta, being well recruited with his Forces, fet upon Poncba, who immediately fled, and left all to the fpoil of his Enemies:

This News fo amaz'd Comogrus, another King, that he proffer'd Peace; whereupon Nunnez going thither, was nobly entertain'd in his Palace, being one hundred and fifty Paces. long, and eighty broad, the Floors Pav'd with Stone, and the Roofs Vaulted, his Cellars were ftor'd with Wine, made of the Root fucca, Ages, and Mais; the Privy-Chamber was hung round with dead bodies, Mummy'd artificially with Lent Fires, and were the Corpfes of Comogrus Anceftors, and others of the Royal Blood, and neareft Relations, of whom fome dy'd at leaft four hundred years before; each of the fe faften'd by Cordage made of Reeds, were Habited in Cotton, richly adorn'd with Pearls and Gold. Mean while, a Hurricane.happening, terrible with Thunder and Lightning, and hideous Gufts, fwell'd and fo enrag'd the Sea, that breaking its bounds, overerunning, drown'd the whole Champain; thusthe hopes of a fruitful Harveft being utterly loft, : they fuffer'd under a great Famine.

The Spaniards which Encamp'd near the River Daria, on Uraba, perceiving this, and knowing they had no manner of fupply from Hispaniola; and having already Pillag'd the Neighboring Kings, that they had nothing left. Nunnez

Nunur_ Explois.

Turning the low Land into 2 Sea, marching thirty Leagues up the River, Plunder'd the Village, of which Daibaiba was King, where he found an unvaluable quantity of Gold, but little or no Provifion. Here were many Flitter Mice, or Bars, bigger than Turtle Doves, whofe biting was mortal, unlefs immediately wafh'd with Salt Water, according to the information of the Prifoners.

Now as Nunne乞 Hraba Pillag d towards the South, fo did Colmenares, fetting up alfo for himiflf, make prize of all, to the Eaft with fixty Men, Rowing againft the Stream up the River Diria, above twelve Leagues, where he found in feveral Villages'and Hamlets, and at King Turvi's Palace, abundance, both of Provifion and Gold; from therice he March'd to the mighty Province Abenamchei, which thoügh making fome refiftance, at laft they fubdu'd.
And the neighboring King Abibeiba narrowly efcap'd the like fortune, whofe Pallace was built on the tops of Trees, Plafh'd, and Pleited together, Timber Beams lying athwart; neceffity forcing them to choofe fuch high Habitations, partly; to avoid the Inundations of Rivers, fwoln above their bounds by fudden and altiof affiduous Showres from the Mountains; and partly; to be free from the excurfions of fculking Robbers; alro being better able to defend themfelves in thefe Caftles in the Air, and alfo fecur'd by their heighth from their Shot, being above the reach of their Indian Arrows: The bodies of the Trees downwards, upon which the Houfes are built, are generally twenty four Farhom thick, fo that they cannot eafily be cut down, nor fired; but Colmenares againft thefe, as they fuppos'd, impregnable Forts, having made a Gallery with feveral great Hurdles, fet his Men to work under that fafeguard, with Axes on the Tree whereon Abibeiba's Houfe ftood, who feeing his imminent danger, wondring at this new manner of Storming, came down, promifing to furnifli him with Gold out of the neighboring Mountains, notwithftanding it would be with the danger of his Life; becaufe the Camnibals generally kill thofe that adventur'd to dig in the Mines: To this promife, Colmenares hearken'd, and having fet him at liberty, for the performance, he in ftead there. of, on the contrary, ftirr'd up, and joyn'd with all the Conquer'd Kings, to deftroy him and his Men : Nor were they flack to have executed their defign, five thoufand of them being already drawn together at the Village Tirichi, the appointed place of Rendezvous, and fo privately carry'd, that undoubtedly it had been effected, if not happily difcover'd by this accident.

Numnez, amongft his other Slaveffes, had one exceeding beautiful, on which he was much Enamour'd, and fhe likewife feem'd to bear as great an affection towards him, which the manifefted, by declaring the fecret to Numez which her Brother had imparted to her, being an intended general Maffacre the night following, that fo the might the better make her efcape the day before; yet fo much fhe prefer'd the fafety of her Lover, before the liberty of her Native Countrey, that fhe difcover'd the Plot. Numez not fleeping on this advice, on a fudden fet fo fiercely upon the Confpirators, that he utterly broke their defign ; yet the Feuds and Contefts for Superiority ftill continu'd amonglt them, which look'd, with fo bad a Face to the ruine of all, that news thereof arriving in Spain, it was judg'd fit to fend for Colmenares, and Foln Quicedo to the Court, there to render an account of all their Tranfactions, Both going Aboard a fmall Veffel, were by Storm driven on the Coaft of Cubd, where they were inform'd from a Prifoner, that Valdivia and Zamudio, driven afhore by Shipwrack, and not able to defend themfelyes, were furpriz'd by the Natives, kill'd and caten; that Fogeda driven up and down along the Coaft, had loft moft of his People by hunger, and other hardfhip, and himfelf with much ado getting to Hispaniola, dy'd as foon as Landed of the Wound which he receiv'd by a Poyfonous Arrow, near the River Daria.

But much happier was Ancif us, who foon after Fogeda coming to Cuba, found a King, who fuffer'd himfelf to be Chriften'd, and call'd Commendator; and building a Church, Confecrated it to the Virgin ©ary; in it he crezted an Image of Clay, refembling a Woman, which he clothed in= a Cotton Garment ; round about were plac'd Pots with Meat and Water, according to their old Idolatrous fafhion, otherwife, they believ'd their Idols would devour the Souls of the Dead, and this, though Chriftians, they did not forget.

Nay further, when he went to War, he carry'd the Image of rhe Virgin Mary with him in the Front of his Army, often faying, Ave Maria; and this was the end of that Voyage : But afterwards Ancijus complain'd againft Vafous Numnez in the Spanifh Court, where he receiv'd a Sentence very prejudicial to him. Colo menares and Quicedo had alfo Audience there, whereupon matters being fettled, 2 firm Government was eftablifh'd in Hraba.

Perer Arias bis Expedition, and remarkable Paffages of Valcus Nunnez.

PEter Arias Knight, accompany'd with his Wife, Elizabeth Boadilld, fet Sail Amo 1514. but furpriz'd by a violent Storm, loft two Ships, and return'd to Spain, yet not long after began his Voyage afrefh, notwithfanding he had lately had fuch bad fuccefs, and heard of the great hardfhip which Nicriefa fuf. fer'd, haying not onely kept himfelf alive a confiderable time by feeding on flefh of Dogs, and other fuch like. Creatures; a great Frog being fold in Verigua for a lump of Gold.

But $V$ afchus Nunnez inform'd of Arias arrival, the chief Governor of Uraba, afterwards call'd Nem, Andaluzia, minding to inrich himfelf before he fhould depofe him, and hearing that feveral Gold Mines lay Southward from Urabd, march'd thither with a hundred and ninety Men, thorow great Rivers, Thickets, and Woods full of Wild Beafts, deep Vallies, and broad Rivers, not with out many hazards and difficulties. In the Mountainous Territory Quarequan, the Inhabitants ingag'd him valiantly, with Bows, Arrows, Clubs, W'oodden Swords, Pikes and Launces, but frighted with the meer report of their Mulquers, like flocks of wild Fowl, diffipated and fled, but not fo faft, but that fix hundred of them fell by the hands of the Spaniards, or wete worry'd by their Dogs, train'd up on purpofe for the American W'ars. Soonafter, coming into the Palace, there fate his Brother drefs'd up in Womens Apparel, whom the King kept to abufe, as if. a Concubine; whereof Numez being inform'd, in deteltation of Sodomy, fet the Dogs upon him, who fuddenly tore him in pieces. Amongtt the flain were found feveral Negroes, which fuffering Shipwrack had been caft on the American Shore, and maintain'd a continual War with the 0 lnaraquanen, fo that it feem'd the Blacks which were found dead amongtt them were their Slaves: Yet Numez was forc'd to leave a confiderable number of his Men here, who being half farv'd, and quite tired out, were not able to follow him ; but with the remaining party he march'd on, and at laft came to the high Mountains, from whence he faw the great SoutheSea, and going thither, was met by King Chiapes, leading an Army of thirty thoufand Men, which great Body ftood not long to make refiftance, being terrifid with the Vollyes of Shot, whofe Report the ecchoing Valleys prefented to their Ears, double and trebble: And that which moft amaz'd and difanimated them in the rout, were the Dogs, who fiercely purfu'd and Ceiz'd the flyers, tearing away great morfels of Flefh. After the Battel, the Conqueror proffer'd Peace, which was agreed on, upon the delivery of feveral great Prefents of Gold. After that, Chiapes the King, accompany'd with Numnez the Spanijh Commander, and March'd with him over a broad River to Coquera, where at firft fome For ces made refiftance, but were routed; whereupon, they alfo fuddenly ftruck up a Peace, upon conditions, that the Prince, nam'd alfo Coquera, fhould return Isingread danget onthe him a great quantity of Gold. Here he found a handfome Bay running up in crooked Reaches, above fixty Leagues, which Numnez call'd St. Michael, being fprinkled with Illands, and treacherous with hidden Rocks. There Numez, (though diffwaded by Chiapes, becaufe he knew the South-Sea at that time being the three laft Moneths of the Year, was exceeding turbulent, that no Veffel could hardly live in it, yet) ventur'd with nine Indian Boats, and eighty Men from the Shore into the Offin; where, notwithftanding the high rolling of the Waves, he got to an uninhabited Inland, on which, being neceffitated to ftay 2 night, the Tide flow'd fo much, according to the property of the South-Sea, that the higheft Ground thereon, lay almoft cover'd with Water, every one of the Spaniards having enough to do to fave themfelves from being wafh'd away. Day approaching, difcover'd a fecond inconveniency, for the Indian Canoos either were extremely Leaky, or elfe fo fhater'd, that they were unfit for fervice; yet notwithftanding all this, they ventur'd to return, rather choofing to be devour'd in the Waves, than die of that hunger, whofe mifery they had fufficiently tafted, during the fmall time they had been out. Not long after, Numez Conquer'd the King Tamaccus in a Field Battel, who thereupon purchas'd his Peace with great Prefents of Gold and Pearl. He alfo fhew'd the Spaniards an Illand; whofe fpiring tops were feen from the Main Land, which fo abounded in Pearts, that in no place were either more or fairer to be found: But the King who liv'd on it was exceeding powerful.

Nunnez immediately refolv'd to Sail thither, notwithftanding it was the middle of Ottober, when the South Eaft Winds make fueh a turbulent and hollow Sea, as many times waflid away Trees and pieces of Rocks: Befides, the Weather was more terrible, by continual Lightning and great Thunder-Claps; the Nights very cold, the Days exceeding hot; yet all thefe difficulties could not prevail, for Numnez would not ftay to expect fairer Weather, but went on, and coming thither, he faw how the Indians Fifh for Pearls, which was Diving for Oyfters; but the Weather being rough and foul, they durf not venture for the beft which lay far from the Shore.

But Nunnez leaving his fick and weary'd Men with Chiapes, March'd quite another way back than he came; and croffing a great River, was recciv'd by Prince Teaocha, who furniff'd him with Gold, Pearls, Provifions, and Guides, which carry'd his Luggage and Goods.

Pacra, a great Oppreffor of all his Neighbors, hearing of the approach of Nunnez, fled, but terrifid with threats, return'd with three other Princes, which were all fo Deform'd, that more horrible Monfters were never feen, fcarce any part about them refembling thofe of a Man: The Guides which Teaocba had provided for the Spaniard deffr'd that he might be put to Death, for the Cruelties which he had long, committed; whofe Requeft being granted, he with the other three Princes, were given as a Breakfaft to the Spanijb Doggs. Mean while, the Spaniards were in danger to have periflid for waht of Water; yet at laft, in a Thicket of Brambles, they found a fmall Brook, but none of the Indians durft venture to go to it, for fear of Tygers, and other Wild Beafts; relating, That the Tygers took many people in the nights out of their Huts, if they were not careful in making faft their Doors.
Jobn Ledefma had himfelf eaten part of a Tyger, which for fix Moneths toge ther, had every night feafted on Mans flefh, or Beafts, which they caught in this manner: In the Path along which he pafs'd, coming out of his Den to feek for Prey, a deep. Pit was digg'd, and cover'd very fleightly on the top, into which the Tyger fell ; yet though taken, fo fiercely withfood the Pikes, Darts, and Stones thrown at him, that every one was amaz'd to fee the fury of the Beaft. After that they fought for the Female, but found onely two young ones without 2 Dam, which taking along with them, they put Iron Collars about their Necks, intending to carry them to Spain; but feeing no likelyhood of breed. ing them up, they brought them back again, purpofing to fetch them away when grown fomewhat older, an̂d accordingly coming afterwards to look for them, they found the Den empty, fo that it was fuppofed they had been devour'd by their Dam.

In the Province of Bononiama, the Spaniards inrich'd themfelves with Chains, Nammé further Jounce? and Breaft-Plates of Gold, which in great plenty hung on the Walls in every $\begin{gathered}\text { itato that countricy, vary fer } \\ \text { narkabice, }\end{gathered}$ Houfe: At the River Comogrus, they difcharg'd Teaocha's Guides, and made ufe of Cotog and Ciuriza, two Governors of a barren Tract of Land, full of Hills and Mountains; which they left on their right Hand, and wandred three days over a Moraffe, in which they often funk to their Knees.

In all thefe Travels, Victual was fo fearce that they were much weaken'd by their wants; and though they took frefh courage when they got footing on King Buchebua's Jurifdiction, yet they found nothing but empry Huts; and the like, like in the Countrey of Chiorijus, both having a little before been pillag'd by their more powerful neighboring Enemies, . But although they could not furs: nifl Numez with Provifions, they prefented him with weighty Ingots of Gold: but this rich Metal not able to purchafe the leaft morfel of Bread, drove them into a great Itrait; and indeed they had without doubt been all famifled, had not Pocchorofa, another King, fed them forty days together with ftamp'd Roots. Thus refrefh'd, and inftigated by Pocchorofa, they broke by night in Tubunama's Palace, and took him Prifoner with eighty Concubines, who fearing to be put to death, gave an incredible Treafure of Gold to purchafe his Ranfom.

Numnez thus enriched came at laft to his People which he had left on the River Daria, where two Ships fent from Hispaniola rode at an Anchor.

Whilft things were thus carry'd in America, Peter Arias Sail'd with fifteen Ships, Mann'd with fifteen hundred Men, to New Andalufia, by the Iflands Martinina, Guadalupe, and Galanta, all in America : a confidérable time he Sail'd through the Sea overgrown with Weeds. Afterwards anchoring in the Haven St. Martha, he receiv'd a great repulfe from the Natives, who no ways daunted at the bignefs of the Ships, waded up to their Breafts in the Sea, and flot many great flights of poifonous Arrows at the Spuniards, of whom two being wounded immediately died. Arias fending fome of his Men afhore, they found many Boats lying full of Nets, made of tough Weeds; and Ropes pleited of. Rufhes.

In the Haven St. Martba, being three Leagues wide, are abundance of Fifh; which may be feen under Water twenty Fathom deep.

But now the Spaniards that were afhore breaking into the Houfes, and taking Women and Children Prifoners, the Americans prepar'd for another Fight, which at the beginning was very fierce; but at laft they were forc'd to quit the Field.

Their Houfes and Furniture in them are worthy of obfervation : their Cielings being cover'd with Shells ftrung on fmall Thred, which make a pleafing noife, when mov'd by the leaft breath of Wind. The Walls are hung with fine Stuffs, woven full of Imagery, as Cranes, Lyons, Tygers, and fome Figures of Men ; the Floors are cover'd with parti-colour'd Mats, made of Sea-Reeds, and feveral tough Roots; and their Carpets befet with Pearl add alfo a great beauty to their Rooms.

In the Valleys the Spaniards found feveral precious Jems, as Saphires, Jafper, Emeralds, and great pieces of Amber; and in fome Huts, Baskets, and Chefts full of dry'd Locufts, and Crabs.

Here alfo grows the Root Yuca, as alfo on feveral other Weff-Indian Coafts, of which they make their beft Bread;-and is call'd in Hispaniola and Angola, Yuca; by the Brafilians, Mandiba and Mandiboka; by the Mexicans, Quaubcamotli: it grows with a thick or midling Body, according to the fruitfulnefs or barrennefs of the Soil ; the Leaves are like thofe of a Tulip, and have fmall Flowers and Seed, but no ways ufeful; the Root, not unlike Horferaddiff, hath a milky Juice, which fwells it exceedingly ; the Sprigs, which in the eighth and tenth Moneth fhoot out of the Root, ferve for new Plants; and if at any time it happen, that either by a moift Seafon, or by Worms, or Pifmires, the Plant is fpoil'd, then it occafions fuch an inconvenience amongft the Inhabitants, that half of them in that year die of Famine.

[^1]which they lay foaking five days in Water, they make Meal, which the Portur guefe call Farina frefca, but the Americans, Vipeba.. Moreover, Mandibokia ferves them to make Bread, which they bake over the Fire ; and mix'd with Water, Pepper, and the Flour Nhambi, makes an excellent Pudding, by them call'd Mingaude Carima, no lefs pleafing to the tafte than wholfom Food: and with Orange.Flour, Water, and Sugar, it makes that excellent Julep Tipioca. The Powder of Mandiboka put into 2 Wound, cures very fpeedily. It is very pleafant to fee the Americans eat this Bread; for they tofs it by handfuls at a pretty diftance from their Mouthes without letting fall the leaft Crum. Laftly, it requires great art and trouble to make the Mandiboka fit for Bread : firt they muft peel off the Shell, then put into a Mill turn'd by two Indians it falls, being Ground, into a fquare Trough. The Juice proceeding from it is mortal, if eaten when raw, but wholfom if boil'd : the Meal they put in a Prefs, and when all the moifture is drawn from it, they frow it in an Oven to dry. But the wild Mandiboka, by thofe that live on the Sea-fhore call'd Cuacu Mandiiba, and up in the Countrey, Cuquacucuremia, differs both in fhape and goodnels from the firf.

But to return to our matter: Arias coming to an Anchor in the River Daria, was cheerfully receiv'd by Numnez; his firf Bufinefs which he undertook was the building of three Forts, to fecure the Paffages to the Soutl) Sea; to which purpofe Joannes Aiora received the Command over four hundred Workmen. Moreover, Arias took great diflike in the Place call'd Maria Antiqua, which the Spaniards were forc'd by neceffity firft to Plant in : it lay in a deep Valley between high Mountains, fo that it not onely wanted the benefit of the rifing and fetting of the Sun, but when in or near the Meridian, it fhin'd down upon them, and fcorch'd all their Plants, and the tepifid Moraffy Grounds about the fame infected the Air, and the Water which they took up to wath their Houfes, immediately bred Frogs, the River Daria overflow'd the Grounds with his muddy Water three Leagucs diftance from the Sea; the Paflage thither

Remarkable Tices:

Strange Pearl!
alfo was very troublefom, becaufe of the uneven Ways; and befides; the Tygers and Lyons devour'd many People and Cattel.

The firft Night that Arias lay in Maria Antiqua, the Houfe wherein his Chirurgion Lodg'd was fir'd with Lightning, who running out with his Wife, being both fcorched by the Flames, faw a very great Crocodile, which fnatchiing up his Dog ran away with him towards the River.

The neighboring Territory Coiba produced Trees, whofe Timber us'd for Shipping never breeds Worms, becaufe of its acerbity; whereas on the contrary, all other Veffels in that Countrey are very fubject to that inconvenience. Here alfo grow thofe famous Plague Trees; whofe very Leaves, if but falling upon one, are like Gods Arrows, mortal, and immediately kill, unlefs the Place whercon they light be ftraightway anointed with fafting Spittle : and the Coibenfers fay, that they know another poyfonous Wood, which they ufe to deftroy their Enemies withall.

Whilft Arias was confulting about the beforemention'd Affairs, he fent feve=ral Comanders to divers Places, to take a furvey, and give him an account of their Return of all their Difcoveries. Amongtt others Gafper Moralis was order'd to march towards the South Sea, to confirm the Peace which Nunnez had begun with the Kings Chiapes and T'umaccus; and chiefly to go to the Pearl-Ifland with fixty Men, which Numez was forc'd to leave, being ftrefs'd by tempeftuous Weather. Chiapes and Tumaccus were according to their promife, to prepare an Army ready for his affiftance againft his coming; which indeed they per. form'd, fo that they wanted nothing but Veffels, for the biggeft of theirs could not carry above three or four Men ; yet they undertaking their Enterprife, Landed feventy Men on the Ifland; upon which the Inhabitants under their Kings Conduct ran to meet the new Landed Forces, and crying out aloud Guazzavara, Guazzavara, they ran in amongft the Mufqueteers with their wooda den Swords ; but the report of the Guns, mix'd with Fire, Smoak, and Bullets, foon amaz'd them : the King flying, thought by alarm to raife all the Iflanders; but they being informd, that no People whatfoever could withftand the fire-fpitting People, made Articles of agreement with Moralis, and Condition'd to deliver a hundred pound weight of the choiceft Pearls to the ufe of the King of Caftile; and as a teftimony of his Friendfhip he was Chriften'd Peter Arias, from the Governors Name of Neid Andalufia.

How great the Treafure was which Moralis brought from the Pearl Inland may appear by one of the Pearls, for which Pope Leo the tenth gave forty, four thoufand Ducats to a Venetian Merchant.

Amongtt the Commanders which were fent out by Arias, was alfo Jobana nes Solifius, who Sailing fix hundred Leagues Southerly, along the Coaft of the Caribbies, beyond Cape St. Augufine, he found the Inhabitants of Pernambuck to be no lefs cruel than fubtile; for being invited afhore, he with fome of his Men Row'd thither, where no fooner Landing, but were all kill'd and eaten in the fight of the other Sea-men aboard; at which being amaz'd they weighed Anchor, and Sail'd away, Freighted onely with Brafile Wood, to Cadiz.

Afo in an unhappy hour did Jobannes Pontaus put fome of his Laundreffes athore on the Ifland Guadalupa, to wafh fome Linnen for him; for the Iflanders coming on a fudden out of the Woods furpriz'd them, and forthwith killing without mercy, cut them in pieces, and carbonadoing, eat their broild Flefh hot from the Coals, while Gonfalus Badajocius. Sail'd with eighty Men. Wefterly, Wefterly, and having gone fixty Leagues he went afhore, and fpent fome days in vain, to Court the Americans to a friendly correfpondency; which whilft he was doing, he was recruited with fify Men from Daria, Commanded by Lodoivick Mercado : fo both agreed togecher to travel over the Mountains to the South Sea.

The Governor fuana, whofe Jurifdictions abound in Gold, flying with moft part of his Treafure, was never heard of, onely they took fome of his Slaves; whofe Faces were ftrangely Carv'd with flarp Fifh=bones, the Wounds fill'd with red and black Powder, which fo difcolour'd the Flefh that it could never be got out. After that they travell'd through the Wildernefs five days together, being onely met by fome Indians carrying Maiz, who fignifid to thern, that King Periguete liv'd along the Sca-fhore, and up into the Countrey the blind Totonoga; of both which they got an unvaluable Treafure of Gold. Amongft other Pieces of that rich Metal was one which weighed two pound.

Taracura rais'd in this Expedition eighteen thoufand weight of Gold : and little lefs did they take out of the Territories belonging to the Princes Panao nome, Tabor, Cheru, and Scoria : The Prifoners ferv'd them in fead of Horfes, they not being able to carry all the Gold themfelves, the meaneft Soldier having above three thoufand Pounds Sterling for his fhare.

They were now got to Paña's Kingdom, not without leaving fad remarks of their avarice and cruelties. When Pariza furrounding this Parcy thus loaden with Gold, Charged fo fiercely, that at che firlt Affaule feventy of them were flain; thofe few that efcap'd brought the tidings of their fad misfortune to Peter Arias. Amonght thofe that efcaping return'd, was Francifcus Delapuente, whofe oblervations concerning catching Pairots and wild Fowl, we will briefly relate, the digreffion being but fhort.

The Indian where the Parrots are moft frequent climbs into a Tree, and chattering like them, with his Voice imitating their Notes; allures his fellow. prater to draw near, and fuffer him to take them in his Hands. But more belongs to the taking of wild Fowl, as Geefe, Ducks, Swans, and the like : From the bottom of their ftanding. Pools and Lakes in that Countrey grow Weeds, which Spreading upon the Water ripen, and rotting breed WaterFlies, Spiders, and Frogs, upon which the Fowls feed. Near thefe Pools in the Gardens grow Cabbages as high as Trees, which often dropping into the Water ferve the Birds both for Nefts and Food: but the skilful Fowler finds it his beft way to take one of thefe Cabbages, and making it hollow in the middle, claps it on his Head like a Helmet, then going into the Water up to his Chin, and paffing foftly along infuch manner, that nothing is feen but the floating Cabbage, and coming near the Birds, he takes them one after another by the Legs, and puts them into a Bag ty'd about his middle for that purpofe.
But what is more worthy obfervation is the American Bird Toucan Xochitena. chate, having a flefhy Bill, like a Mouth full of Teeth, which continually opens and fhuts to draw Breath, having no Noftrils; the Back, Neck, and Wings; are black, the Breaft yellow like Gold, the Belly and end of the Tail of a Vermillion colour.

This Bird Toucan feeds for the moft part on Pepper, which tarries not long with them, but muted almoft as foon as fwallowed : which Pepper thus evacuated the Natives value above their common, becaufe the unpleafing fharp acidity, or biting quality is thereby much mitigated.

But to return : Whilft the Expeditions under the Commarid of Peter Arias had fuch bad fuccefs, Arias himfelf and Vafchus Nunnez hapned to clafh: Nun'- nez, who fince his difcovery of the Soutb Sea was held in fome repute at the Spanifh Court, had built four Ships on the Shore of the fame Ocean, to make farther infpections along the Coafts thereof: but being commanded to come to Arias the Governor, he was committed to Prifon, and accufed of high Treafon, as if he had intentions to fettle himfelf in Peru; and abfolutely to have left Daria: : all which though he difown'd, and utterly deni'd with great proteftations when brought to a Trial, and no witnefs to affirm the contrary, yet was by Arias's fpecial Order Beheaded.

Not long after which Lupus Sofa; Governor of the C.anary Iflands, was fent to fucceed Arias in Neio Andalufia.

SECT:IX.

1. The Expeditions of Francifo Fernandez, Lupus Caizedus, Chriftophero Morantes, Bernardo Igniguez, and Juan Grifalva.

FEviandez, Caizedus, and Morantes, antient Planters in Cuba, obtain'd a Licence from the Governor DiegoVelafques, to Rig out three Ships with a hundred and ten Meh to difcover new Lands. : Velafques thought fit to add one more to their number upon the Kings account; which Truft he committed to Ignie guez: all of them confulted with the experienc'd Navigator Antonio Alamines. Six days the Fleet had been at Sea, when they difcover'd Land, which by a Name of the Coaft, anfwer'd fucatan; which, as the Spaniards were afterwards inform'd, fignifi'd, We underfand you not.

Upon the Shore they found a City, whofe Stone Buildings, with ftately Fronts and high Turrets, thew'd moft magnificently. Fernandez call'd this City for its wonderful bignefs, Cairo, from the Egyptian Metropolis, famous through the World.
-The Spaniards coming to Land were courteoufly receiv'd, and conducted into the City ; the neatnefs of whofe Marketsplaces, and exactnefs of their Streets, they beheld with admiration; as alfo the coftly Stuff Garments both of Men and Women : but their wonder increas'd when they beheld very artificial Croffes, concerning which upon inquiry they related, That a Man more glorious than the Sun, being bufie in erecting the Croffes, died. But thefe People, though fo courteous and civil at firf, feem'd in few days to be weary of their company; which the Spaniards obferving founded a Retreat, and Sailing Wefterly, proceeded on their intended Defign, and foon after anchor'd before Campechium; the King of which conducted Fernandez and Morantes, with fome others, into che City, confifting of three thoufand Houfes. In his Palace they were entertain'd with all manner of Fowl roafted: After which refrefhment they furvey'd the City ; in which, amongt other curious Buildings, was Arange Stage. a high, but fquare Theatre of Marble, on which ftood the Image of a Man, on all corners affaulted by four wild Beafts, which were of a no lefs ftrange than horrible flape. Not far from this Image they faw a Serpent fathion'd up of Chalk and little Stones, whofe coyl'd. up Tail was forty feven Foot long, and of a proportionable thicknefs. This Serpent, fprinkled with Mens Blood yet warm, feem'd to prey upon a Marble Lyon : both thefe were inclos'd with a Stone Rail, within which Malefactors were daily executed. BloodyBows and Arrows broke in fmal! pieces lay between the Bones and dead Bodies. Igniguez call'd call'd the King Lazarus, becaule he difcover'd his Countrey on St. Lazarus's Day.

Making no long ftay here; they return'd to their Ship, and weighing Anchor Sail'd fifty Leagues more Wefterly, the Fleet got fight of $M_{0}$ (cobo, in the Territory Aguanil, whofe King affaulted the Spaniards with fo much fury, that two and twenty of thern were flain, and fcarce one efcap'd which was not wounded : wherefore they return'd, with bad fuccefs to Cuba. Yet Velafques no ways difcourag'd thereat, not long after fitted out four Veffels, Manning them with three hundred Men under the Command of fuan Grifalva and Alas mines; who having Sail'd feventy Leagues, difoover'd the fruiffụ IIland Cof umella; along whofe Shore ftood fair Stone Edifices, intermix'd with Temples, whofe Steeples appear'd above the Houfes. Grifalva beinig led up into one of thefe Steeples by a Prieft, faw at a diftance off at Sea the Territory fricatan: and in the Place where they were, there were fpacious Halls, full of Marble and Stone Images of deformed Men and Beafts, which with a murmuring noife, and burning of incenfe they religioully worfhip. The Spaniards call'd this Ifland Sancta Cruz.

Sailing from hence they directed their Courfe to Campechinm, where thic year before they had been fo civilly treated; where arriving, and without any fear coming alhore, they found the Campechiums quite of another humor than they were the former year, telling them, They would not fuffer any Strangers to be amongt them; and placing a burning Torch between theirs and the Spanif $h$ Forces, threatned, That if they did not depart in quiet, they would force them : which accordingly they endeavor'd, making a fierce Onfet upon the Spaniards; who being now come under their Battlements, when they faw their advantage, pour'd what they had kept as a referve, whole Volleys of fmall Shot amongft them; which ftruck fo much terror, that they all ran away, flifting for themfelves, and crowding into the City.

Thie Spaniards found afterwards fucatan to be but a Peninfula, and came bè.

fore a River which fell with fo frong a Current into the Mexican Sed, that it retain'd its fweetnefs for the fpace of two Leagues.

Exceeding horrible Sacrilices.

Maiden-Ifand.

This River, flowing out of the Province Tabafco, was call'd Grifalva: upon whofe Banks ftood above fix thoufand Americans ; and in the Water appear'd a hundred Boats with Armed Men, which Row'd aboard the Spanijh Ships. The Interpreters of $C_{w b a}$, whofe Language agrees for the moft part with the Tabafcers, prevail'd fo much, that the King himfelf came to the chief Commander Grijalva, and bartering with him, gave him as much Gold as his Iron Helmer, Breaftplate, and other Armor weighed.

Soon after they Landed on the Ifland of Sacrifice, fo call'd from the horrid Sacrifices which the Inhabitants made daily. .

Amongft other ftrange Images, there ftood a great Lyon of Marble, feeming almoft decollated with a great gafh; into which Wound they pour'd humane Blood warm, which was receiv'd into a Stone Trough fet for that purpofe underneath; then the Figure of a Man Carv'd in Alabafter, bowing fors ward, as if looking into the Trough upon the Blood. Thofe which were facrificed were Prifoners taken on the neighboring Coafts, whom bringing before their Idols, they ripping open make no farther infpection, but onely to whip out the Heart; with which having fmear'd the Lips of their Idols, they throw it into the Fire : the Heads and Corps they let lie unburid ; whofe flefly parts, efpecially their Cheeks, they feaft upon.

The next Ifland is inhabited by Women;- to which Annually their Neighbors go, pretending merry kindnefs, but upon amorous inclinations: and Plough and Till their Ground, and Weed their Gardens.
Ponmerbianum a City: The chief City of Tabafoo is Pontenchianum, and contains above fifteen hundred Houfes, all built of Stone hardned with baking after their manner; which in fome Places, befides their Turrets and Temples, yield a pleafant Proa fpect at a great diftance. Fourteen eminent Towns more did the Spaniards. alfo fee in Tabafco.

When in converfing with them they obferv'd their Atrange manner of Seal. ing their Bargains and Contracts one with another, they were amaz'd, for not uling Wax, they ufually Seal'd their Compacts with their own Blood, common. ly drawn with a Stone Knife, either from their Tongue, Hand, or Arms.

Their Priefts live fingle, and if found to be Unchaft, are punifht with Death. An Adulterefs is fold for a Slave: Unmarry'd People may not frequently con. verfe with Marry'd: Thirty five days in the year makes their Lent, in which they abftain not onely from Flefh, but Fifh alfo, feeding, onely upon Roots and Herbs. In this place the Spaniards were receiv'd in great fate, Canopy'd with green Palm-Tree-Branches, and in like manner conducted aboard again, not without many Prefents, viz, the Effigies of a Man curioufly wrought in Gold, wherewith they return'd to Cuba.

SECT. IX.

The Expedition of Ferdinand Magaglian, commonly call'd Magellane.

THe Bifhop Bartholomew de Cafis, living a confiderable time in Hijpaniola, in the City Dominico, being inform'd of the abundance of Pearls which were caught before Cubagua, and the unfupportable cruelty of the Spaniards there under Ocampus, us'd againft the Inhabitants, went to Spain, with a defign to obtain of the Emperor Charles the Fifth, the Government over Cumaina and Cubagua, under pretence, to draw the ignorant Natives from their Idolatry, to Cbriftianity; which his requeft was efpecially promoted by William of Naffaw, the Emperors prime Favorite; fo that having his Letters Patents granted to that purpofe, he took Ship, and arriv'd with three hundred Spanifh Gentlemen of Quality in Cumana: And that they might have the greater refpect fhown to them there, -they had each a Red Crofs given them, fuch as the Knights of Calatrava generally wear. Yet little did Ocampus, the old Governor of Cumana, regard either them or their Authority; for in fead of receiving and fubmitting, he kept the Bifhop de Cafis out by force of Arms; who then made. complaint to the Vice=Roy of the Weft=Indies in Hispaniola, and in the mean time, put his Cargo into a new Store=houfe.

But whilft he made his Addreffes, Ocampus having fufficiently inrich'd himfelf departed, which incourag'd the Cumaners, who already were incens'd, and weary of their former fufferings, to venture on a defign, whereby they might revenge themfelves of the Spaniards, which their undertaking prov'd fo fuccels? ful, that very few efcap'd the Maffacre: Of which, de Cafis being inform'd, and much difcontented thereat, betook himfelf to a Dominican Cloyfter in His Spaniold.

Yet not long after, the Cumaners paid dear for that flatighter, for one Cafellio, though not without feveral Engagements, with various fuccefs, lafting forty days together, having at laft utterly vanquifh'd them, put to an ignominious Death, Hanging up feventy of their Princes, and to them of meaner quality, fhewing as little mercy.

As little fuccefs had-Lodowick Lampagnano, fent out by fome Spanifh Merchants, with Letters Patents from the Emperor to Fifh for Pearl, before the fame Cubagua; to which purpofe he carry'd peculiar Nets and other neceffaries with him. But the Cubaguan Spaniards unanimoufly withftood him ; fo that not being able to effect his defign, over power.d with a Melancbolly Diftemper that broke his Heart, he dy'd.

MageRnnus Expedition, how it happen'd.

Strange Giarto

Strsighes of Magellan; how found.

In the interim, while thefe farce confiderable Voyages turn'd to fo fmall account, Ferdinand Magaglimius (for fo Peter Martyr calls him, and not Magellianus, which herein deferves to be credited, becaufe they were intimately acquainted, and great friend fhip between them, ) undertook to Sail round about the World ; the occafion of which we will here relate at large :

This Magaglianus, or Magellanus, a Gentleman of Portugal, having perform'd things of great importance for his King, in $A$ frica; although with no lefs trouble than Charge, defir'd an addition of half a Ducket a Moneth added to his Annual Penfion; an inconfiderable Sum to make a Requeft for, yet though fo little, was as niggardly deny'd: Whereupon, highly incenfed, he ftudy'd no little revenge; to which effect, foon after an opportunity was prefented, by means of Francifcus Serranus, who writ from Ternata to him, that he fhould fpeedily come thither, which he foon after did upon this account:

Pope Alexander the Sixth, having fixt Terminaries between the Kings of $C_{a}$ file and Portugal, both bufie at that time in difcovering new Countreys, Or der'd, That Cafile fhould poffers all the Coafts lying to the Weft of the chief Meridian, and Portugal to the Eaft: By vertue of this partition, the rich Spicy Molucia Iflands fell abfolutely to the Portuguefe: Now Magellanus perfwaded Cbarles the Fifth, that they might be Sail'd to with a Wefterly Courfe, and therefore belong'd to Cafile; Which advice, Charles the Fifth confidering, and approving, Rigg'd out five Ships, with which Magellanus fet Sail from Sevil, the tenth of Auguft, Amo 1519. Five Moneths he ply'd up and down the Coaft inhabited by the Patagones, where he found none but one fingle Perfon, or rather a Monfter, a Giant ten Foot high, who coming Aboard his Ship, devour'd a great Hamper full of Biskets, and at one Draught drunk up nine Pottels of Water. He alfo faw feveral Trees which had been Hew'n with Axes, and Croffes made on the tops of them. Whilft he lay in that Harbor, which was call'd St. Julian, he Cafhier'd his Vice-Admiral, Jobn Carthagena, with his Father Confeffor, and fparing their lives, fet them afhore, and there left them to feek their Fortunes, though they had Confpir'd to Murther him.

Magellanus from thence Sailing afterwards Southerly along America, to forty two Degrees Southern Latitude, was engag'd with the eddyings of a very ftrong Current, which driving one of the Ships into a Bay, fplit againft a blind Rock, but the Men being fav'd in their Boat; were driven farther and farther into a Channel, between high and Snowy Mountains; whereupon he immediately judg'd (as the famous Negromancer Roderick Talerus had often told him) that there was the Paffage, through which the Northern Ocean flow'd into the Southern; wherefore he refolutely adventur'd to Sail into thofe Sraigbts, which in fome places narrow, and in others broad, is an hundred and twenty Leagues long, and full of fmall Ines and dangerous Rocks. Whilft he ftill Sail'd on, the Ship call'd Antonio, Tacking abour, return'd to Cadiz.

But Magellanus enter'd the great South-Sea with three Sail, on the 25 . of Octo. ber, where the Sea-men fuffer'd extremely by exceffive Heat, Drought, and Famine, three Moneths and twenty Days, without fight of Land: And now, their Shooes, and the Leather which cover'd their Shields, began alfo to grow fcarce (which before had been counted a Dainty) when they difcover'd two Illands lying two hundred Leagues diftance one from another, yet both Defolate and Barren, wherefore they were call'd the Unfortunate Ifles: After that, they came amongft a great number of Iflands, whofe Inhabitants were much inclin'd to Thievery ; for which caufe they Denominated them Ladrones, the chiefeft Inland call'd Borneo, hath two hundred fifty four Leagues in Circumference, whereon a Tree grows, whofe Leaves when faln off, feem to be alive and creep like Worms. The King of this Inland entertain'd the Spaniards very courteoufly, two Elephants bringing his Prefents to them on the Shore, out of a City confifting of twenty thoufand Houfes.

Near Borneo are two leffer Iflands, call'd, $Z_{u}$ bo and Matan; The King of $Z u b 0$ free= ly fubmitted himfelf to the Spaniards, and Magellanus leaving his Fleet at Anchor in the Haven, went with his own and other Indian Boats, and attended with fome of the Zubenfers to Matan, where fetting a Village on Fire, he carry'd great Riches from thence : This not fatisfying, he refolv'd within eight days to fet upon the Royal Head=City; but the King in his own Defence, Encountering with Magellanus, flew him, and feven Spaniards more, befides twenty two dangeroufly wounded ; thofe which efcap'd by flight, got to $Z u b 0$, where being invited to Dinner by the King, they were all of them (in ftead of a fecond Courfe) Mur. ther'd at Table. The occafion of this was out of Revenge, becaufe the Spaniards had fall'n too foul upon their Women and Maids, Devirginating, and forcing them to their Pleafure, than which rudenefs nothing was among them more Deteffable. The Sea-men weakned by thefe Misfortunes, were neceffitated to burn their third Ship, call'd, St. Fago; but Sailing to the Molucco Iflands with the other two, they Freighted them both with Cloves; with which the Ship Irinitas Sail'd to Nerr-Spain through the South.Sea, and the Victoria, Commanded by fobn Sebaftian de Lano went the fame way which the Portuguefe us'd, and fo to St. Lucar de Barramed, near Sivile, where he came to Anchor with his Ship and eighteen Men.

> S E C T. X. Ferdinando Cortez bis Voyage.

ALthough Several Expeditions of the Spaniards to America prov'd very un. fuccelsful at the firft, yet they ftill undertook them afreffe, and with renewing Courage : Ferdinando Sottus, though the Landed five hundred Men in Florida, yet brought no Treafure from thence, onely he cut off the Hands of fifteen Princes, becaufe they would not difcover their Mines of Gold.

Yet far worfe fuccefs had Pamphilus Narvaez, who loft both his Fleet and Men, faving onely ten out of fix hundred, in the River Palma, and they alfo afo terwards dy'd there, or eat one another to fatisfie their raging Hunger.

But much better was the fortune of Ferdinando Cortez, Sailing from Spain to America, in the Year 1519. who having the Command given him over ten fout Ships, and three Frigats with five hundred Foot, and an additional Forice of fixteen Horfe, sais'd by the new Spanifh Inhabitants on $\mathcal{C}_{u}$ ba; with which Forces Landing on the Inaad Cozumella, he prohibited Humane Sacrifice to their Idols, and Erected a Crofs with the Image of the Virgin Mary, in one of their Temples, and releas'd Hieronimus'Aquilaris, after a feven years Slavery, having fuffer'd Shipwrack with Valdivid; at which time fome that fav'd themfelves in the Boat, were by the Current in thirty days driven to fucatan, in which time feven dy'd of Hunger; the reft going afhore, were no fooner Landed, but Sax crific'd by the Natives to their Gods or Zemes. Among the fix that remain'd, yet left alive, and to be offer'd after'the fame manner the next day, was this Aquis laris, who with his Companions, breaking Prifon, in the following night fled to a Neighboring Prince their Enemy, and one that maintain'd a continual War againft thefe Cannibals.

Here Cortez fent Articles of Peace to Taxmarus the King of the Countrey, but he fleighting his proffer, came down upon him into the Field with forty thoufand Men, drawn from the City Potanchanum, which contain'd above twenty thoufand Houfes, all built of Stone : And indeed the Spaniards had here feen their laft day, had not Cortez drawn by a feeming advantage the Enemies under his Canon, and fent his fmall Party of Horfe to attend the motion of the Rear; when fo foon as they had fir'd their Canon, making great Execution, the -Front routed, and the Rear terrifid with the noife and fmoke of the Guns, they alfo broke, being at the fame inftant Charg'd with the Horfe, which were fo terrible to them that never faw Horfes, nor fuch Service on Horfeback before, that in a fhort time the whole Body of fo great an Army was utterly diffipated,

Twelve Leagues beyond Zempoal, Cortez buile a new City near the River Grifalva, and call'd it Vera Crux, which Diego Velafques refented fo ill, it being done without his knowledge, that he petition'd the Council of (uba to give Setro tence of Death againft the Founder: But whilft Cortez expected an aufiver from the Embaffadors (which were fent to the Spanifl Court to give account of the neceffity of building a City there) he travell'd eighty Leagues Wefterly. The Zempoalenfers accompanied him in great Troops, hoping by that means to fhake off the yoke of the mighty King Montezuma, againft whom they were then defign'd. Cortez coming into the Territory of Sincuchimalar, was in the Name of Montezuma, by one of his Princes, courteoully entertain'd in a great Village, fcituate on a fteep Mountain, withour any Path or Way leading to it, but by two high Ladders. Sincucbimalar lies furrounded with Hills, whofe tops feem to touch the Clouds. Coming down from the Village, they travell'd through a barren and cold Valley, where they fuffer'd fuch great Incon. veniences by want of Provifions and Water, and exceeding coldnefs of the Weather, that many of them perifh'd. After that, they afcended a pleafant Hill, on whofe fummit food a Chappel, with a handfom Steeple, and hedg'd about with great heaps of Wood, brought thither by the Inhabitants for the ufe of their Sacrifices. At the foot of this Mountain was a fruitful Valley, water'd by a pleafant River, on whofe Banks a certain Prince nam'd Cacatami= nus had a Palace, built of Stone, and containing many Rooms, and convenient Lodgings. Somewhat higher to the Land, appear'd more of the like Structures, which were all under Montezuma's Jurifdiction; but the neighboring Countrey Tlaxcalld, whofe Inhabitants were famous for their Valor, would never receive any Laws from Montezuma.

Cortez no fooner fet footing in this Countrey, but he was fet upon by a thoul fand of the Inhabitants, who at the firft Affaule kill'd two of the Spanijh Horfe, yet after this bold Charge, the Affailants fled, and on the next day defir'd Peace; whereupon the Spaniards march'd quietly into the Countrey, when a confus'd Company, or Forlorn=Hope, making a horrible Noife, fet upon them; but after a flight Skirmifh, they 'fled to their Main Body, which immediately drawing up, being at leaft a hundred thoufand, hemm'd in the handful of Spao niards, and fo were ready to fwallow them, leaving them no Angle to efcape at. Thus invironed, they were affailed on every fide, fighting till Sun-fet, and had undoubtedly been utterly deftroy'd, had not Cortez ply'd his fix Pieces of Cannon, difcharging continually Volley after Volley upon them.; and though the Execution was very much, yet the Sound and report of their Ordinance was more terrible to them that were out of the reach of the Bullet, and made more to the gaining fo great a Victory, Fear conquering more than Slaughter; fo that by the Evening, defpairing either of their Safety or better Fortune, the whole Army disbanding fled: But the purfuing Conquerors firing five of their Villages, remain'd Mafters of the Field; yet they, though thus totally routed, taking frefh Courage (a wonderful thing!) reinforc'd them, and fet upon the Spanifh Camp, with no lefs than 150000 Fighting Men: Yet nots withftanding fo vaft an Army, Cortez fo well order'd his fmall parcel of Men, and fo valiantly led on upon all Advantages, that he in like manner defeated this, as they thought, Invincible Preparation. Thus flefh'd with fo much Blood of the Natives, he raged every where, giving no Quarter where-ever he went.

Mean while Quefitangal, a neighboring Prince, having alfo raifed an Army with which he defign'd, being affifted by darknefs, craftily to fall into the Spa= nish Quarters by Night, fubrilly diffembling, fent Embaffadors the day be. fore, with feveral Prefents, and Overtures of Peace, which indeed were onely Spies, to take notice where they mighe beft break in upon them; which Cortez miftrufting, and foon being inform'd of the whole Defign, he cut off the Spies Hands, fo fending them back to Quefitangal with Defiance: Hereupon the Indians inmediately fetting forward, took advantage of the enfuing Night, and with great fury fell upon the Spaniards, who preacquainted with the Defign, were in fo good a pofture to receive them, that not able to endure fuch hot Service, they quickly retreated, and utterly gave over the Enterprize : But Cortez as much encourag'd by thefe. Victories, purfu'd them, and the fame Night Storm'd Tlaxcalla, a City containing above twenty thoufand Houfes, which in few Hours he carried. This City was curioully built, of bak'd Stones, and a place of great Trade; infomuch that the Market-places fwarm'd with Buyers and Sellers, bartering one with another all manner of Provifions, as Fifh, Flefh, and Bread, alfó Plumes of Feathers, Pearls, imbroyder'd Tapeftry, Chalk, Stones, Timber, and Herbs.
iH
Twenty days Cortez faid here to refrefh his Army, and then march'd to the neighboring City Chiurutical; with the Auxiliary Forces of the Tlaxcallans, to the number of above a hundred thoufand; they told him, That the People of Clinrutical had barricado'd up their Streets, laid upon the tops of thieir Houfes great heaps of Stones, that their upper Rooms were cramm'd with Archers, and all things made ready both for Offence and Defence; which Advertifement he not much hearkned to, becaufe he was conducted into the City with all their State=Formalities of Singing and Tabering upon their Tamboes, and every where courteoufly entertain'd.

Mean while Montezuma had rais'd a great Army, which were in their ad-$A$ Ploo frangely difooyrrid vance, not onely to the defence of his Border, but to furprize them them while they ftaid in that City, the Townfmen having invited him thither to their refcue and his own defence, had not the Plot been accidentally difcover'd by a Chirutecan Woman, who giving advice to one of her Friends that follow'd Cortez, that he fhould immediately make his efcape, becaufe that all the Strangers would be deftroy'd within few Hours, who came ànd inform'd Cortez thereof; whereupon he defir'd all the Magiffrates of the City to come and Ipeak Strage Martial Affairs. with him, who no fooner entred the Hall where he was, but his Men by Command immediately fhot them to death, which terrible Rumor fpreading, and alarm'd with the report of the Executing Mufquets, the City was fuddenly in an Uproar, gathering thither Arm'd from all places, and began a fharp Conflict, which lafted five Hours; but then wearied out, and defpairing of Succefs, loofing their Courage, they defir'd a Ceffation, and at laft concluded Peace with the Spaniards.

This News of his difcover'd Intention, fo ftartled Montezuma, that he fuppos'd it better to defift, and procure the Favor of Cortez by Prefents; wherefore he fent him 15000 Cotton Habits, trim'd up very richly, ten great Char: gers of Gold, and fome Veffels of. Wine, defiring him for a while to forbear his Intentions of marching to Tenufitain his Chief City, and that he would in the mean while treat with him for an Accommodation. But Cortez, though he accepted of the Prefents, yet neverthelefs held his Refolution of marching on.

Eight Leagues from Tenufitan he faw the double-fpired Mountain Popocatepeque, lo call'd from the Smoke which continually afcends from its top; for Popoca fignifies $A$ Smoke, and Tipeque, $A$ Mountain. The Smoke rifes upright, and with fo much ftrength, that by the greateft Wind it deviates not one jot from mounting upwards in a direat Line, to whofe forked Head ten Spaniards refolv'd to climb ; but having got fearce half way up, they were forc'd to return, the Afhes lying knee-deep; yet at laft two more refolute conquer'd all thofe Difficulties, and got to the top, where the mouth of the Cave, as they gueffed, meafur'd four Miles in Circumference : The fhaking of the Mountain, and roaring of the Flames, frequently burfing forth, fo much terrified them, that they faid not long there; for, as we faid, the Ground not onely trembled under them, but the Fiery Gulph ejected great Stones, which falling down on all fides of the Mountain, rolled to the bottom ; and without doube they had there perifh'd, had they not fpeedily run to a hollow neighboring Hill, from whence they came at length to the reft of their Company, where they were admir'd by the Indians for their undaunted Refolution, and prefented with feveral rich Gifts. Thefe Indians had a Tradition, That for wicked Princes, and fuch as had not govern'd the People well, this was the Tophet ap: pointed for their Torments.

Cortez being got through the poor Territory of the Guazazingers, and having fuffer'd great Cold upon the Mountains, difcover'd Amaquameca, the chief City ${ }^{\text {ca. }}$ of the Province Chialco, feated in a great Lake, to which he row'd in a kind of Boats, by the Inhabitants call'd Acales. Paffing from thence, he was courteoufly receiv'd in Iztapalapa, another City, which boafts above eight thoufand Stone Buildings, befides admirable Palaces, with fpacious Rooms, delightful Gardens, and Ponds full of Fiff, and almoft cover'd with Fowl; from whenee a Wall or Cawfesway of a great breadth, that crofs'd over both Land and Water, led from Iztapalapa to Tenufitan. This Cawreaway hath many Bridges, which are drawn up in time of War, under which the Water suns out of a Sale Lake into a Frefh, that ebbs and flows, although lying between high Mountains, and feventy Leagues from the Sea.

On both fides this Wall, being ten Leagues in length, appears three great Towns, viz. Mefiqualifngo, Coivacana, and Vuichilabufco, all Populous, and well. built.

Huw thiy make Salr.

Remarkable Paffige of Xing Mentezumm:

Colvacana is fupplied by the Salt Lake, to its no fmall benefit and inriching; for the Water being by Pipes convey'd into the City, in all the Places and Ci fterns for its reception makes a Scum, which being coagulated by the Sun, and after boyl'd, becomes Salt, with which they drive a great Trade; for no Salt being to be had in any place but here, all Foreign Merchants come thither for Supply.

Cortez being in his March within a League and a half of Tenufitan, Montezu= $m a$, preceded with a thoufand of his Noblefs, came to meet and falute him, all of them rather like Pilgrims, bare.footed, and congying, kiffing their right Hands, with which they firft kifs'd the Ground : After thenı appear'd Montezuma himfelf, who put a Chain of Gold, imbofs'd with Pearls, about Cortez his Neck, and immediately conducted him to the City, where having entred, and being come into the Palace, Montezuma plac'd Cortez on a Golden Throne, and furrendred up his Right to his Catholick Majefty of Spain, in the prefence of all his Peers, to their no fmall amazement.

But whilf all things had a good face, and went on thus fairly beyond their expectations, Cortez was inform'd, That King Coalcopoca had a Defign on the new City Vera Crux, and had treacheroully murder'd two of the Garrifon, and wounded two more : Whercupon Cortez having fuch fair beginnings, who had fwallow'd already in his.Hopes the whole Empire and Wealth belonging to Montezuma, laid hold of this Occafion, pretending Trealon, and breach of Contract; wherefore he put Montezuma under Cuftody, notwithftanding he had clear'd himfelf of the Confpiracy, by bringing. Coalcopoca, with his Sons, and fifteen of his Peers, Prifoners to Tenufitan, who by the command of Cortez fuffer'd a lingering death, being all burnt with Green Wood. But in vain did Montezuma think to reconcile himfelf with Cortez, fince all he did could render no manner of fatisfaction; however he continu'd to oblige him by frefh Favors, whofe Relation we will be more particular in, as meriting the fame.

Montezuma's Grandees feem'd to be much difontented, becaufe he had with: out the leaft refiftance or confideration fetled a handful of Strangers to domineer over his whole Dominions, by which his weaknefs and pufillanimity, he was now a Prifoner, like a common Malefactor, who had formerly govern'd fo mighty Territories. Amongft feveral Princes which feem'd thus to be concern'd, was Catumazin Governor of the Province Hacolvacan, who had he not been furpriz'd and attaqu'd the Night before by the information and difcovery of Montezuma himfelf, he would have hazarded the ruine of all Cortez his Succeffes: But now Fortune ftill daily more fmil'd, giving wonderful Advantages to the Spaniards; Silver and Gold continually flowing like Rivers from all Quarters, that their onely trouble and puzzle was where and how to difpofe it : but yet for all this, they were not free from jealoufie, that Montezuma's Forces might fwallow theirs, though he was fecur'd; of which you may judge by the vaftnefs of his Imperial City Tenufitan, feated in the Province of Mexico, where a Salt Lake mixes its Waters with a frefl River, both which in circumference contain, as we faid, Ce venty Leagues, and diftant from the Main Land five or fix Miles; the Water about it continually cover'd with fmall Boats rowing up and down. It hath four Stone, befides Draw-Bridges in feveral Places, and ftrengthned with Gates no lefs artificial chan coffly, which lead from the City to the Main Land: The Frefh Water is convey'd through the Salc in a Wall'd Channel, out of which none may take up Water, except they pay Excife to the Kings FarmersThis City boafts above fixty choufand Houfes, all divided into Illands, but joyn'd with great Wooden Bridges : The Market-place furrounded with Galo leries, drives a quick and conftant Trade, being always full of Buyers and Sel. lers. In every Street they have a publick Inn, in each of which they keep Ordinaries, wherein the Tables are ftor'd with well-drefs'd Flefh and Fifh, not wanting plenty of Wine. Their Trades are divided into feveral Companies, and they have their peculiar Places to dwell in. They deal very much in C $a$ caos, a Fruit not unlike an Almond, which beaten to Powder, and prepar'd with feveral other Ingredients, gives name to that excellent Drink now in ufe with'us, call'd Chooclate : They grow onely on moift and warm Grounds, and are us'd fo currently in Trade, that they go in ftead of Money. Amongft many beautiful Edifices, their Guild is very magnificent, wherein twelve Judges, attended by a confiderable number of officers and Servants, fit daily, hearing and determining all manner of Caulfes. The next is their Chief Temple or Minfter, built quadrangular, all of Free-Stone, having four Portals, opening into the four principal Streets or Triumphs, that end at the four Stone Bridges. On the Walls, being of an exceeding height; ftand feveral Turrest, fo high, that they feem to hide their Spires in the Clouds; and have Apartments, wherein the Priefts Diet, Lodge, and Study, which are afcended by Marble Steps. Thefe Religious Perfons are generally of Noble Extract, which at feven years old are carried thither, where leading a very frict Life, they never come forth to fee the World, till they enter the State of Matrimony. The fao mous Coloffw, that flood over the Rbodian Haven, between whofe Legs all Ships did Sail, that came in or went out of the Harbor, cannot fand in competition with the flupendious Idol Vuicbilabuchichi, whofe Head touches the Arch'd Ceis ling of the high Temple. Near his ftand feveral leffer Images, made of Meal and all forts of Herbs bak'd togecher, and kneaded with Mens. Blood. Along the Walls are exceeding dark Vaults, in which the Priefts onely walk; over them are large Halls, full of Prefentations of their Gods, which ferve for the Burying-places of their Kings.

Whilft Cortez and Montezuma were viewing the Temple, two Spaniards rufh'd fuddenly into one of the Cells, where they found abundance of Lamps and Torches burning, and the Walls bedaub'd two Inches thick with Humane Gore: Overohead hung vaft numbers of their Sacrificing Knives; and the ftench of the place was intollerable.
But Cortez going on, Montezuma and his Attendants refented it very hainour$1 y$, that he pull'd down fome of their Idols, and durft prefume to look in the Kings Face; for thofe People bear fo great Reverence to their Kings, that none dares fo much as once look up in their prefence: His Council fand barefooted, ftooping with their Faces bow'd almoft to the Ground before him: Four times a day they change their Apparel; and a Suit which they have onice worn, is put to no other ufe, but prefented to fuch Soldiers as have done fome eminent Service. Whatever manner of Chargers, Difhes, Pots, Cups, and other Veffecls the Emperor is ferv'd in at his Table, are every Meal new. The King hath in Tenufitan three great Structures, whofe Magnificence, for Coft and rare Architecture, can hardly be parallell'd. The firft is the Refidence for all deform'd People: The fecond, an Aviary for all manner of Birds and Fowl, being a Spacious open place, Roof'd with Nets, and furrounded with Marble Galleries. The third, being a Den for Wild Beafts, was divided into feveral Rooms, wherein were kept Lions, Tygers, Wolves, Foxes, and all manner of Four-footed Animals.

But whilft Cortez having ftaid waiting eight Months in Tenufitan, for the return of the Meffengers fent to the Spanijh Court, receiv'd Tidings, That Pamphilo Narvaccy, by order of Velafques, was come with eighteen Sail, Mann'd with eight hundred Foot, and eighty Horfe, from (uba, and now riding before the Mexican Coaft; from whence foon after he receiv'd unexpected Command, to come prefently aboard unarm'd, and refign up his Authority: But he in ftead of fubmiffion, compelld Narvaccy in a fhort time to relinquifh his Title, and own him for Superior. Mean while the Spaniards which remain'd in pofferfion of Tenufitan, ran the hazard of a general Maffacre; for the Citizens much ftomacking the Oppreffions of the Spaniards, who grew very infolent, inflaving their King, bringing their inveterate Enemies the Tlaxcallans and Guazuzingans into their City, exacting them to pay Tributes, pulling down their Gods, and demolifhing their ancient Idols, they brake out from all Parts in a tumultuous manner, ran to Arms, and befieg'd them Day and Night in their Fort, although Montezuma endeavor'd to perfwade the contrary. Cortez hearing of it, came to their relief with the New Forces Landed from Cuba; but he fighting his way ere he could get in, was fo roughly entertain'd by the Mexicans, that they kill'd him forty Men, wounding as many more; and notwithftanding fifteen Field-pieces with continual Shot made foul Breaches, leffening the number of the Affailants, yet they fuddenly fill'd up their Vacancies again with frefh Men, which clamber'd over the Heaps of thofe that lay nain. Three Days the Battel had continu'd very fierce, when Montezuma being with the Spaniards in the Caftle, went to a low Window, to fee if he could command his Subjects to retreat ; but a continual Cry fo deafned their Ears, and fhowres of Arrows and Stones fo took away their fight, that he did nothing:

Then

Then Montezuma, thinking to be more cafily either heard or feen, went to a higher Window, where looking our, he was unfortunately hic with a Stone, of which he died three days after. Befides their Enemies, the Spaniards fuffer'd extremely by Famine; and though they had beaten down a Tower, whick thad done the Caftle great mifchief, and fet fiye hundred Houfes on fire, yet they could difeern no likely iffue thereof, but judg'd it beft to make their efcape by Night over the neareft Bridge : Cortez therefore dividing his gotten Treafures, which amounted to above feven hundred thoufand Duckets, amongft his Soldiers, carried Montezuma's Son, and two Daughters, Prifoners. with him, though not without infinite danger and lofs; for the Tenufitans affail'd him on both fides, and falling in alfo upon his Rear, fpar'd not to kill Montezuma's own Children. In this laft Fight the Seryice was fo hot, that Cor. tez loft forty two Horfe, a hundred and fifty Spaniards, and two thoufand Auxiliaries; and although gotten over the Lake, they were ftill purfu'd by the Mexicans, who would then undoubtedly have made a general slaughter, had not Cortez amuled the Enemies, by leaving in the Night great Fires in feveral Places, his fuppos'd Camps, whilf he filently ftole away: Yet the Tenufitans would have purfiu'd the Spaniards, had they not wanted Provifions: But Cortez fending his Treafure before him, through the Countrey Colva, to Vera Crux, with a Convoy of five Horfe, and forty four Foot, were all cut off by the Col. vanns, and feafted upon in a Thankfgiving Sacrifice. The fame misfortune be= fel twelve Spaniards in Tepeacu, which great City furrendred it felf up to Cortez, being affifted by a mighty Army of Tlaxcallans and others. But after all thefe Loffes, he took Guacciachiulla, and $I_{z z u c a ̈, ~ b o t h ~ f o r t i f i e d ~ w i t h ~ f t r o n g ~ W a l l s ~}^{\text {, }}$ and Gates ; in which laft he burnt above a hundred Temples, built for Hu mane Sacrifices. All the Countrey through which he thus ranfack'd, he call'd $N_{\text {Nemb }}$ Spain. From the City Tazuco, which he had newly taken, intending to befiege Tenufitan, he digg'd through the Lakes a broad Trench, of above three Leagues in length, to bring up thirteen new Ships to Tenufitan; and the neighboring People envying, that that City fhould not be conquer'd, as well as theirs, rais'd an Army of above a hundred and fifty thoufand Men, making Cortez their General: Himfelf incamped on one corner of the City, appointing the other tivo fides to be invefted by Gonfales Sandovalo, and Pedro Alyarado; but the Befieg'd refolutely broke out, and made a fierce Sally with five thoufand Boats, fetting upon the thirteen Ships; but the great Guns made fuch execution and havock amongft them, that they retreated with great damage. Whoever were taken Prifoners in this Fight by the Spaniards, the Tlaxcallans, being Commifion'd by Cortez, feafted upon. On the feventh day the City was taken, but not without great Slaughter, and the new King imprifon'd.

After this mighty Conqueft, Cortez refolv'd to difcover thofe Territories that lay Southward; and whilft he was making all things ready for the Voyage, he fent two Ships with an invaluable Treafure to Spain, who fearing to be taken by the French Pyrats, ran in at Tercera, where a miferable Accident hapned to the Seamen of the biggeft Ship, wherein were carried two Tygers, which though taken young, and bred up amongft men, yet had not fo quite forgotten their natural ferocity, but that one breaking loofe in the Night, tore feven of them in piects, hurting a far greater number, of which fome had the Brawns of their Arms, the Calves of their Legs, and flefhy parts of their Thighs bit out.

Several Places in America breed Tygers, that far exceed Lyons in fiercenef; ; never fo fruitful, yet it is left defolate and forfaken. But the Baboons that spaniards rofied. frequent the Woods are more pleafant, and lels dangerous. Peter Arias relates, That his whole Army incountred with thefe Beafts, which climb'd from one Tree to the other, fhrieking, and making very ftrange Gefticulations to thofe that were gone before, and gathering their Mouths and Hands full of Stones, which they threw as exact and ftrongly as a Man. When one of thefe Baboons, fhot by a Mufquet, fell to the Ground, the reft gave fuch a horrible flriek, that the Woods refounding with the noife, Atrook a terror into the Spas niards. Amongft feveral things that hapned in this Counter-fcuffe, take this one: A Spaniard taking aim with his Mufquet at an old Baboon, which fate pearch'd up in a Tree, and being now juft ready to give Fire, the Baboon Solo dier, at the very inftant, to break the Shot, taking a Stone out of his Mouth, threw it exactly into the Mans Mouth, with fuch force as beat out fome of his Teeth; with which fudden blow furpris'd, he loft his Mark; and the proud Foe, fhewing figns of Triumph, went his way.

But whilft Cortez ftaid in the Countrey of Tenufitan (now call'd Mexico) Franci $i$ cus Garajus fail'd out of the Haven of famaica, with eleven Ships, to the River Panucus, there, according to the Command of the Emperor Charles, to planta Colony: Whereupon he went afhore, ordering his Fleet to fail along "in fight of Land: So wading through the River Montaltus, which glides between high Mountains, he came to a Moraffy Ground, in which he and they often funk almoft up to the Middle, and loft his way in a Thicket of young Trees; yet at laft being come to the River Panucus, he found feveral high Walls, being the Ruines of Fortreffes, Temples, and Towers, deftroy d by Cortez; fo that the City lay quite defolate. Twenty Leagues further, upon the Banks of the fame River, Cortez had in like manner fack'd and deftroy'd Chiglia, a Town which before its burning teckon'd above twenty thoufand Houfes, befides many fair Palaces, Walls, Towers, and Temples: Which Cruelties and Spoil had bred fo great an Odium in the Inhabitants againft the Spaniards, that they immediately fent an Army againft Garajus, who had only a few halfoftarv'd Men with him; yet he receiv'd the Enemy twice in his Retreat to the new Colony St. Steven, rais'd out of Chiglia's Ruines; but finding no Provifions whereever he came, he judg'd it fitteft to fend his Horfe into the Countrey to Forage; which Cortez meeting, took Prifoners, under pretence that Garajus came to take Poffeffion, where he had neither Authority nor Right. Cortezalfo made himfelf Mafter of Garajus Ship and Flect, commanding him withal to appear in Tenyfitan, which not knowing how to avoid, he obey'd: His People mean time ranging up and down without a Head or Commander, either died by Famine, or were murther'd and eaten by the Natives; for at one time the Americans made a general Feaft with two hundred and fifty rofted Spaniards: But their days of Triumph lafted not long; for Sandovalus, one of Cors tez his Prime Officers, fet with fo much fury upon thofe Camibals, that he kill'd feveral thoufands of them, and burnt fixy Perfons of Prime Quality, all Coms manders, in the fight of their Friends and Relations. But Garajus, whofe Son was married to Cortez his Daughter, liv'd not long after the Wedding, which occafion'd a murmur as if Cortez had poyfon'd him, to nd himfelf of a Parterer in his Government; for it had been generally obferv'd, that his Ambition fuf- fer'd no Equal. The Americans fell all down before him ; all were Servants alike : The Court which he kept fwarm'd with Attendance, on which he fpent valt Sums of Moncy ; yet his Incomes were able to bear fuch exceffive Dif burfements. He kept in conftant Pay five thoufand Soldiers, and feveral Ships ready rigg'd and prepar'd on all occafions, to hold in awe the enflav'd People, or elfe for the Difcovery of New Countreys: Yet after all thefe extraordina. ry Charges defray'd, to fhew his Wealth and Greatnefs, he caus'd a Piece of Cannon to be caft all of maffic Gold : for the Kings which formerly acknowledg'd Montezuma for their Sovereign, gave him a yearly Revenue, mot of which were valu'd to be worth twenty three Tun of Gold; for fo much the King of Tefcufcus, a ftately City, paid, whofe Houfes Plaifter'd with White-. Lime, feem'd afar off to be rather a Chalky Hill or Mountain, cover'd with Snow: Full as much did the King pay which reigned in Otumba, notwithftanding he had receiv'd with his Chriftianity the Name of Ferdinand Cortez; yet others gave lefs: The King Guacinalgo, with his Mother, and fome Slaves, bringing Gold, came to prefent it to Cortez; and entring the Palace, through a Guard of five hundred Horfe and four Hundred Foot, which were always ready Arm'd for fear of Infurrections, he fell down proftrate on the Ground, Thus all things even out=went whatever he could defire, hope for, or imagine, And Alvaredo, one of his Commanders, being fent Eaftwardly, brought great Treafures back with him, which the conquer'd Kings were forc'd to raife.

But Fortune, who feldom continues her Favors long, at laft began to frown; for Cortez having fent an unvaluable Treafure of Gold and Pearls to the Em: peror Cbarles the Fifth, Floryn the French Pyrate met with and took it, which went fo much to his Heart, that for a confiderable time he fent no Advice to the Spanifh Court, which made them grow jealous of him, doubting that he intended to make himfelf King over Nent-Spain; and this Sufpicion was not a little augmented by his Enemies.

In the Neck of thefe, follow'd another Misfortune; for Cbriftopber Olitus, fent out by Cortez to difcover new Countreys, rebelling, took up Arms againft him, being then in the Haven Figueras, five hundred Leagues beyond. Notwithftanding the Spaniards, although amongft a new-conquer'd People, which without doubt long'd for Revenge, were not to take notice of their danger, but to go on with undaunted Refolution; whereupon Cortez drawing out a frong Party, march'd a long and troublefom way to meet Olitus, making great Slaughters whereeever he came. Francifco de las Cafas was commanded to go upon the fame Account by Sea, and arriving firft, found him fetling his new Colony, which he nam'd Triumph de Sancta Crux ; and notwithftanding the Water with a Northerly Wind was very rough and boyfterous in the Haven Figueras (which the Spdniards call'd fo, becaufe they found Trees there, which growing at the Foot of the Mountains, bore a Fruit not unlike a Fig) yet they came to a prefent Engagement, wherein Cafas worfting Olitus, having funk one of his Ships, ftood out again to Sea; but furpriz'd by a violent Storm, and driven on the Shore, fell into Olitus's Hands, who had a little before alfo taken Egidius or Giles Gonfales. Thefe two Prifoners confulted together how they might poyfon or murder Olitus, which fell out according to their defires, becaufe the Servants of the Houle where they lodg'd fided with them ; fo taking hold of the firt opportunity, as they were at Supper together, they ftabb'd him with their Knives in feveral places; yet the Wounds were not fo great or mortal, but that he retain'd ftrength to efcape in the dark to a neighboring Hut ; but the Affaffinates immediately fent out Meffengers, publifhing, That he who did not, knowing where Olitus was immediately bring him to them, fhould receive condign punifhment; which terrifying Olitus, he difcover'd himfelf, and was immediately beheaded.

During the time that the Spanijh Officers had thefe Civil Broyls one againft another, Lodowick Ponteus, a Man well experienc'd in the Law, came from Spain to America, there in the Emperors Name to fettle all things in good order; having alfo particular Inftructions, to fhew great kindnefs to Cortez, and to make him a Knight of the Order of St. James, that by that means the Emperor might be the more efteem'd for his Noble Subjects and Servants, amongft the Mexi-cans, who are themfelves of a proud and ambitious fpirit, and chiefly the No. bility, which doth manifeftly appear by their Apparel, more gorgeous than the meaner fort of Americans; and though the Slaves go ftark naked (having onely a Cloth tied about their Privities ) and with a Bowe and Arrows walk before their Lords, yet the Better Sort go very' coflly Habited; for about their Necks they wear Strings of Pearl ; on their Heads, a Cap, from whence hang down two Scarfs, one longer than the other; then a party-colour'd Cotton Coat covers their whole Bodies to their Knees, under which they wear a Veft girt about their Middle.

But at laft, after all thefe Services, Cortez difagreeing with the Vice:Roy Don Antonio Mendoza; being about that time fent over, went male-contented into Spain.

Sect. XI.
Diego Gottierez bis Expedition.

ANno 1540. Gottierez being chofen Governor of Nenc Carthage, weigh'd Anchor from Cadiz, and failing to Nombre de Dios, upon his Landing clafh'd with pend too much upon his Authority; for the Countrey being full of Woods and Mountains, might hide many of his Enemies: But he not regarding the Advice, went a Journey from New Granada, and having march'd fifty Leagues Eafterly, he crofs'd into the River Suere, with fixty Spaniards, and was prefent. ed by the Princes of thic Countrey with as much Gold as amounted to feven thoufand Duckets. Here he fpent fome Weeks, effecting little; but now all things growing fcarce, though he was very earneft with the Natives for Provio: fions, yet he could get little; which kind of Life the Soldiers dilliking, and growing weary of, went away in the Night to Nicaragua. Gottierez thus left alone, got into a Boat; with intent to follow them; and being juft put off from the Shore, was met by Captain Barjanto, who brought new Forces and frefh Provifions with him : This wrought upon him to flay there. Not long after Alphonfo de Prifa went with twenty feven Men from Nombre de Dios to the fame River Suere; but it being then very rough at the Entrance, he was neceffitated to pars on to a fmall uninhabited Inc, where whilft he lay at an Anchor, the Weather began to grow worfe and worfe; the Gufts of Wind, mix'd with Showres of Rain, Thunder, and Lightning, feem'd to threaten a general Deftruction; for in the Ship two Spaniards and one Moor were kill'd by the Lightning: In feventy two Days, the Sun did not Thine four Hours: At laft weighing Anchor, he fail'd over to the Main Land, where he faw nothing bur vaft Mountains and Wilderneffes. Here for a time they liv'd upon Cockles found on the Shore, and wild Fruits in the Woods : At length coming to Gottierez, he fent him with his People in five Boats to fetch new Forces from Nombre de Dios. In his way thither he faw a Houle built of Canes, cover'd with Palm-leaves, forty five Paces long, and built after an Oval fafhion: Round about it ftood feveral leffer Hovels, all which making up a Village, the Spaniards nam'd Francijco, becaufe they came thither on St. Francis Day. About half way they met with the Lords of Suere and Chiuppa, going to attend Gottierez, to whom being admitted, and fitting with him at Table, he gave them, as a Dainty, rofted Chickens and frefh Pork; but they gave it to their Servants, not delighting in the tafte of fuch Victuals. Gottierez, by means of an Interpre. ter, told them concerning the Cbriftian Religion, at which they, bow'd their Heads, without making any Anfwer: But how little mind they had to embrace it, quickly appear'd ; for not long after, they fet their Villages on fire, and all the Provifions which they could not carry with them, they fpoil'd, and foretiring, hid themfelves upon inacceifible Mountains. Another Incentive leading them to this Fight, was, becaufe the Governor Camachiren, and his Deputy (notwithftanding he had given Gottierez as much Gold, when he came firft into the Countrey, as amounted to feven choufand Duckets, as we mention'd before) yet was put in Prifon by his Order, contrary to all Promifes: Nay, Gottierez threatned to burn him (not regarding, that he had befides re. ceiv'd of him feveral Pieces of Gold, refembling all manner of Beafts, as Tygers, and others; and alfo Fifhes and Fowls curioufly wrought, which were valu'd at two Tun of Gold; yet this Prefent feemed too little for him, whereupon bringing the Prifoner to a Cheft, he fwore that he would roft him by degrees, if in four days time he did not furnifh him with four times as much more Gold as that Cheft would hold: Whereupon Chamachiren's Servants went away to get the requir'd Gold; but he,through carelefnefs of the Watch, made his efcape in the Night, fo that Gottierez loft his Booty. But the other Prifoners, though threatned to be torn afunder with Dogs, remain'd firm, difowning difowning that they had any Gold; and among the reft, one fpeaking boldly to the Spanifh Officer faid, That be flood amaz'd at his treacherous dealings, Doby did he keep bim Chain'd againft Law and Promife, and often threaten'd him with death, but yet would not kill him, for he, faid be, bad rather choofe to die, than live fo miferable a life.

Dangerous Mountains, Strange Huts.

Gottierez's Confcience troubling him, he would willingly have releas'd the Indian, and the rather, becaufe he promis'd to procure a great ranfome of Gold; but the inferior Commanders would not confent to it. After this they march'd fix days through great Wilderneffes, and over high Mountains; finding no Footfteps of any People. Laftly, They came down a very dangerous and fteep Mountain, where had not the Shrubs and jutting Stones Ferv'd them to hold by, they had all broken their Necks.
Fifteen Leagues, the hanging of this Mountain §pread it felf along a fweet River, on whofe oppofite Shore ftood ftrange Huts full of dead Tygers, Deers Heads, and Legs; here they faid two days to reft themfelves, where the Trees Mamei and the $C a z a b i$ Plants yielded them good Food.

Travelling forward, Gottierez ask'd an Indian which was the neareft way to a Village, but he pretending not to know any near hand, had his Head immediately cut off. In like manner, and for the fame reafon the Indian Prince Thould alfo have been Executed, had not Gottierez given order to the contrary; feeing his refolution, that with no lefs Patience than undaunted Courage, ftretch'd forth his Neck to the Executioners. Mean while, their Provifions decreafing, they fuffer'd extreme hunger; infomuch, that fome fainted quite away. The Souldiers alfo rebelling againft Gottierez for Food, he commanded them to kill their Dogs, and ftamp the Barks of Trees; two days they travelled much difcontented in this maniner, and at laft came to the entrance of a Wood, where they efpy'd an Indian ftanding behind a Tree, which on a fudden ran away with incredible fiwiftnefs: early the next morning, above four thoufand Indians came Marching againft the faint Spaniards, making a terrible noife with Horns and Drums; they were all except their Princes Painted black and red; fome wore Plumes of Feathers on their Heads, and Collars of the fame about their Necks; the fight began very fiercely, by cafting abundance of Stones, and fhooting of Arrows, wherein, though Gottierez was at firft Valiant fight. Wounded, yet after half an hour the Affailants fled, but recruited with frefh Forces renew'd the fight, breaking into their Ranks, and making fo great nlaughter amongft them with Woodden Swords, and Palm-Tree Clubs, knocking down, and dealing fuch deadly Wounds, that of the Spaniards, three onely efcap'd, faving themfelves by flight, who two hours after, much amaz'd and terrify'd, came to their referve, confifting onely of twenty four Men, which Alphonfo de Rifa Commanded; the infulting Enemy at their Heels, waving over their Heads the Swords, Shields, and CrofssBows which they had gotten from the flain Spaniards; and fome withal crying in the Spanifh Tongue, Come Chrijtians, come, and take Gold. But de Rifa, for all their pride, fet them going with fome Volleys of Shot; after this, efcaping innumerable other dangers, he came to Nombre de Dios, without having effected any thing of Note.

The Expeditions of Peter Alvarado, Francifco and Gonzalvo Pizarro, and Diego de Almagro.

IN the City of Panama, in Neiz Spain, liv'd three eminent Spaniards, call'd Francifco Pizarro, Diego de Almagro, and Ferdinand de Luque a Prieft, which joyntly defign'd to difcover farther Southerly along the rich Gold and Pearl Coaft, and infpect the Southern Ocean. De Luque was to look to home-affairs, and Pizarro fet Sail firft with a Ship Man'd with one hundred and fourteen Men, which Almagro follow'd with feventy more, yet both were valiantly repuls'd by the Peruvians; but although they return'd the firft time with bad fuccefs, yet they undertook their bufinefs once more, but with no better fortune; whereupon difcouraged, the undertaking feem'd to be totally laid afide, and the American Vice-Roy, Peter de Rios forbad any to attempt a farther Difcovery concerning Peru.

The former difficulties with this Edict eafily wrought upon Pizarro's men, all but twelve, to leave him, for the reft went over with the Ship fitted out by Rios with fuccors to the Ifland Gallo, where Pizarro refided, having allo fail'd in his fecond Expedition. But although he had made two bad Voyages, yet having an inclination to a third attempt, he went to Spain, defiring of the Emperor to be Governor of Peru, which he had difcover'd; for belides his Plea of Merits he had taken poffeffion of the Country tiwice by Landing there, intended for the ufe of his Imperial Majefty; one of his Sea-men to that purpofe flourifhing his two-handed Sword over his Head, the gliftering of which Sword fo frighted the Natives, that none of them durft come near him.

His requeft being confulted upon, was at laft granted, the Government of Peru being conferred upon him; but Almagro took it very ill, that Pizarro went to the Emperor on fuch a defign for himfelf; yet by the mediation of his Friends the difference was reconciled, then Pizarro fetting Sail with one hundred and fifty Foot befides Horfe, and Landing at the Illand Puna, at firft was courteoufly entertain'd; but the Spaniards by extravagant hunting and fearching every where their Houfes for Gold, and committing feveral other outrages, incenfing, chang'd the humor of the Inhabitants fo much, that they fell upon them. In ttead of Enfigns, Standards, and Warlike Trophies, they ufed long Canes, at the end whereof were ty'd the Bones of their antient Hero's, honor'd by them after their death : But thefe Reliques fav'd not the Indians from flaughter, fo well as the coverts of a neighboring Wood.

From this Ille, lying three degrees Southward of the Equinottial, Pizarro paffed over to the Main Continent, where they were all in a great confufion, upon the report of the Spuniards cruelties committed in Puna; yet all the preparations of the Indians to withftand, ftop'd not Pizarro from his intended courfe; for firft, having the fuccefs to mafter Tampez, thence he made nothing to march his Forces over the River Ambato, there burning a Temple Dedicated to the Sun. The Portico ftood towards the Eaft, the rifing of their God, before which hung a Curtain of their fine Cotton Stuff, within ftood the prefentations of two Golden Rams, fhaded with Black, and as many Dragons, bèfore which the Fire never went out, continually fupply'd with Offerings of burnt Incenfe; on the Pillars hung feveral Men flead, their Flefh kept firm, and free from all Putrifaction, with the infufion of a fharp Juyce.

Here Almagro coming to Pizarro with frefh Forces, they made no little penetration into Peru, fatisfying every where their thirft of Gold, and flaughtering the Toothlefs Tombezes, a people who having offended their King, had by his order the upper Teeth of the whole Nation beaten our.

Peter Alvarado inform'd concerning the Riches of Peru, and well knowing how to infinuate with the Emperor in his fawning Letters, at laft by his Friends fo prevail'd, that he alfo got leave to go thither; in purfuance of which, Anno 1534. he Weigh'd Anchor with feven Ships from Guatimala, a City built by him between two Mountains. But Landing at Puerto Viejo, and Marching Eafterly over Snowy Mountains, the was meet by Almagro, between whom a bloody incounter was like to have happen'd, but after fome time, a Treaty being fet a Foot, they came to a Compofition on thiefe Articles: That Alvarado upon the receipt of a hundred thoufand Duckets, fhould leave his Men with Almagro, and depart from Peru; with which fum, being inrich'd, he foon after fitted out fourteen Sail to difcover new Countreys to the Weft; but being bufie in his preparations, was fent for to Mexico by Don Antonio Mensdoza the Vice-Roy, to undertake a Voyage with him to the new.difcover'd Countrey of Sibolla, abounding in Gold and Saffron, according to the report of four Dominican Monks; and having already rais'd feven hundred Men, news came to Mexico, that Peter Zunica had receiv'd an overthrow by the Indians of Sa lifco; to whofe affiftance Alvarado March'd with all fpeed, and found the Indians incamp'd on a high Mountain, fortifid with conjoyn'd Trees, and great Stones ty'd together with Rufhes, behind which they were fecure from Shot. The Spaniards climbing up the Mountain, approach'd their Works, when on a fudden the Defendants giving a great Shout, cut the Cords which held their Fortification together, whereupon the Stones and Trees tumbled down with fuch force, that they kill'd both Men and Horfe, few efcaping alive : In this the Perruvians.

Wickednefs of a Woman: conflict Alvarado himfelf was loft. His Wife Beatrix Cuova made a fately Funeral for her Husband, and caus'd her Houfe to be Painted black, refufing either to Eat or Drink for a fet time, yet notwithftanding, all her pretence of forrow, fhe fo minded her bufinefs, that fhe took the Government of Guatimald into her own hands; but her Dominion lafted not long, for on the eighteenth of September, Anno 1541. happen'd a hideous Tempeft of Wind and Rain, mixt with continual Lightning, and horrible claps of Thunder, and what was more terrible, was anfwer'd with roars and horrid bellowings from the cae verns of the Mountain, at whofe foot Guatimala ftood. About midnight the Mountain was deliver'd; whofe Birth was the irruption of an Inundating River, a precipitate torrent tumbling down full of Rocks and Stones, which carry'd all before it, fo that in few minutes Guatimala was utterly fwept away, not the leaft mark remaining, nor any left alive except Alvarado's Baftard Daughter by an Indian; and in the adjacent Fields, fome few, and they maim'd, with broken Arms or Legs; after this utter deftruction, they re-built another Guatimala, three Leagues more Eafterly. But though Alvarado was loft in this

[^2] Enterprize, yet the Voyage to Sibolla was not laid afide, for Francifco Velafques March'd thither with eight hundred Men, of which moft were Horfe, but found nought elfe but Snowy Mountains and barren Plains, infomuch, that his Menkand Horfes were ftarv'd for want of Provifion; wherefore he return'd without fuccefs to Mexico, having onely burnt fome Villages, and had reveral Rencounters with the Natives.

But Attabaliba a Perran Prince, inform'd of Pi¿arro and Almagro's coming, commanded them both to depart out of his Kingdom ; but they not regarding it, march'd directly to Caxamalca, where Attabaliba kept his Court, who again fent other Meffengers to them with command to leave his Dominions. Pizarro made anfwer, that he could not obey any Commands but thofe of his Mafter the Emperor, who had order'd him to feak with the King himfelf at his own Palace.

Attabaliba hearing that Pizarro refolv'd to come forward, fent him a pair of Painted Shooes and Armlets, that he might put them on when he appear'd before his Throne : Captain Ferdinand Sotto march'd before with twenty Horfe, paffing clofe on the Flank of Attabaliba's Army: The Indians amaz'd at the prauncing of their Horfes, retreated into their Fortifications, but were for their cowardize immediately flain by the King's Order.

Sotto fent a Meffage to Attabaliba, That the Spaniards defir'd peaceably to Treat with him, to which he receiv'd anfwer, That no Peace could be made, unlefs they reftor'd the Gold and Silver to the Owners, which they had Plunder'd from them, and forfook his Territories; which fo doing, they fhould have Audience the next day: Hereupon the Bifhop Vincent de Villa Viridi was conducted into the Royal Palace, in the City of Caxamalca, and brought before At. tabaliba, who came thither in great State ; with a Guard of twenty five thoufand Men; he was carry'd on the Shoulders of his prime Nebles in a Sedan, about which hung Garlands of Gold, and divers colour'd Feathers; himfelf was cloth'd in 2 white loofe Veft, without Sleeves; his Temples were bound with a red Ribbon, with a long Taffel on his left Cheek; on his Fore-head ftuck three curious Feathers; before him March'd three hundred of his Life Guard, all in one Livery, who clear'd the way through which the King was to pars. The before-mention'd Bifhop carry'd in one Hand a Crofs, in the other a Book, difcourfing with the King to this effect ; That God is the Trinity, Adam the firft ©Man; Clbrist Born of a Virgin, dy'd on the Crofs; the Pope God's Vice-Gerent, who according to the Power be had from Heaven, had given Peru to the Em. peror Charles, as alfo all otber Countreys in America; and if he hould prove obfinate, and refift, be muft expeet notbing lefs than utter ruine. Attabaliba reply'd, That he ferv'd Pachamaca, being the Creator of all things; and next to him the Sun and Moon: How glorious do they appear (faid he) in comparifon of a Crucifid God? To make Peace and Alliance with mighty Princes, was the true Foundation of roife Government: But the Pope muft needs be fenfele $f_{s}$, devoj'd of all reafon, and witbal bighly unjust, to give aivay wobat was none of his own, viz. other mens Kingdoms, in whbich be never had the leaft or fmalleft concern. Moreover, be would not defert that Religion which be and his Anceffors bad maintain'd So many Ages, and the ratber, becaufe there are no apparent or fufficient Teftimony of the trutb of Chriffianity. The latter claufe was thus anfwer'd, faying, This Book, 0 King, which I bold in my band, proves and declares all that you queftion. Attabaliba looking upon it, turn'd it over Leaf by Leaf, then look'd more intentively upon the Print, which done he clap'd it to either Ear, and at.laft as altogether unfatisfid, in difdainful manner threw it away.

But Pizarro gaining time while the King and Bifhop thus difcours'd, had drawn his Men in Battel-Array, his fixty Horfe he divided into three Wings, Commanded by his three Brothers, Ferdinand, Foln, and Gonzalvo Pizarro, left the Captains Sotto and Bavalcazar in an Ambufcade; Peter de Canada march'd in the Van, and he himfelf in the main Body, leaving Sotto in the Rear.

Bids for bis ranfoma an untvaluable treafure.
baliba had thrown his Holy Book, Tbe Word of God, upon the ground; both Aimies were Engaged, whiilf their Trumpers founded, their Drums beat, their Canons roar'd, the Horfes neigh'd, and the Dogs bark'd, they made a fpeedy march up againft the Walls of Taxamalca, which dreadful mixture of terrible noifes ftruck fuch a Pannick fear into the hearts of the Indians, that they all prefently broke, in their flight crowding one another to death at the Gates of the City, which being too narrow to receive them, they themfelves made breaches in their own Walls to enter; which opportunity the Spaniards no ways neglect. ed, but entering with them, fhor and kill'd all they could reach; their Dogs alfo having no little fhare in the flaughter; whole companies of Indians were trode under the Horfes feet, yet near Attabaliba's Chair was the greateft refifts ance, for no fooner fell one of the Bearers, but immediately another fupply'd the place; fo that the King was furrounded with heaps of his own flain Subs jects, to whom Pizarro himfelf Charg'd up fo clofe, that having feiz'd him by his long Hair, he pull'd him out of his Throne, and having gotten him under him, fecur'd immediately in Fetters; whereupon all his Life-Guard forfook him, and fled : But the lofs of the Battel, which was Attabaliba's utter ruine, was laid upon Runninagui, a Captain appointed to lie in Ambufh, fo to fall in the Rear of the Spaniards with five thoufand men; but was fo far from performing his Orders, that terrifi'd at the uncouth noife of the Guns, and the reft, that he fled one hundred and fifty Leagues Southerly, before he ftopt, or fcarce ever look'd behind him in fo long a flight. Mean while, Attabaliba compounded with Pizarro for his Ranfom, viz. to pay him as much Gold as that Hall in his Court (where they made the Agreement) could hold to the top; they firft meafur'd the heighth, then the length, which was found to be fifty four Foot, and the breadth nine : In purfuance of this compofition, Gold was brought thither from all places, according to Attabaliba's order; yet he could not raife fo much as would perform his bargain,' which made the Spaniards to grumble: But Attabaliba defiring fome longer time to perform it, telling $\mathbb{P}_{i}$ - zarro, that moft of the Gold was brought on Slaves Shoulders, a long and troublefome way, of two hundred Leagues long, from the City Cufco, and if this would not fatisfie, Pizarro might fend fome of his own people thither, to inform him, that he need not fear the leaft danger, as long as he was Prifoner with his Wife and Children.

The tivo Captains, Sotto, and Peter del Baro being fent away to that purpofe, met after forne days Journey with one of Attabaliba's Leaders, who was bring. ing the King's Brother Guafcar with a Party, Prifoner to Caxamalca.
Guafar had now a fair opportunity to crave affiftance of the Spaniards, telling them, that he and Attabaliba were the Sons of Guanacava, fo that the Kingdom was to be divided beewixt borh. But Atcab́aliba had by force made himfelf Mafter of all, whereas he being the youngeft, ought to be fatisfid with that fhare which Guafcar, being the eldeft, would affign him; for the right of Inheritance belong'd juftly to him, and yet he was carry'd away bound to flaughter : But if Pizarro would da jưtice in delivering him out of his Brothers bloody Hands, he would raife him thrice as much Gold as Attabaliba had pro. mis'd :. To which purpofe he defir'd Sotto and Baro to put off their Journey to $C_{u f c o}$; which they not daring to do, went on their way, and Guafcar defcending the Valley Suçubuania, was burnt alive by Attabaliba's Soldiers.

Mean while, Almadro came with frefh Forces to Taxamalca, which occafion'd no fmall trouble in Pizarro, who was onely thirfty after Gold : On the other fide, Alnagro as greedy, grew jealous that Pizarro fhould keep the promis'd Hall full of Gold for himielf; and he fhould have no fhare, becaufe Attabalibi was his Prifoner; therefore he earnefly defir'd that Attabaliba might privately be made away, and that the Booty might be divided to one as well as the other.

Pizarro to prevent all inconveniencies that might happen from his diffenting, gave in the prefence of the King to every private Soldier a thoufand Duckets in Gold, and fix thoufand five hundred twenty five Silver Crowns; the inferior Officers receiv'd four and thirty thoufand Crowns, and the others fixty thoufand; the fifth part of the Booty he referv'd for the Emperor : And notwithftanding Attabaliba perform'd his promife in filling the Hall full of Gold, yet he had the fentence of Death pronounc'd againlt him; neither would his excufe of Innocency ferve, or his Requefts to be fent to Spain, there to clear himfelf before the Emperor; but fighing, and lamenting his misfortunes, was ty'd to a Poft, and Strangled in the prefence of Pizarro. For whofe Death, though a Heathen, Divine Vengeance purfu'd thefe cruel and unjuft Arbitrators that thus made their- Will a Law, none of them dying a natural Death.

Moreover it was oblerv'd, that a few days before this Execution a blazing Star appear'd, which Attabaliba feeing, prefaging fadly of himfelffaid, That a great Prince would die in a fhort time; but Pizarro's chief pretences for the Kings juft fuffering was, that he had cruelly murder'd his Brother Guafcar: But this was a meer blind, for that that incens'd them againft Attabaliba, was, that he knowing where the unvaluable treafure lay, which Guafcar had bury'd, would not difcover it to them.

Attabaliba, before his death, defir'd that he might be bury'd in the Territory Quito, by his Father Guaynacava, whom the Perwians for his great Juftice and Prudence in Gòvernment, believed that he would arife, and fettle the World fo troubled and full of diforder in peace and quiet: The Corps was accordingly carry'd thither in great State after their manner, attended by his Brother, whom Illefcas Ruminingui which ran from Attabaliba in the Battel, where he lay in ambufl when he might have done them good fervice; in the way to his entertainment, receiv'd with all fhews of forrow ; but when they were feafted to excefs, bury'd in fleep and Wine, he Maffacred and flea'd Illefcas the Kings Brother alive, and made a Taber of his Skin. Whilft Attabaliba's Funeral was thus bloodily folemniz'd, his General Quizquiz raise'd a great Army, which Pizarro encountring after a valiant refiftance, totally routed; then marching victorioufly to Cufco, he faw great Fires in the City, and the Citizens fighting with the Spaniards, fent before; but the Horfe breaking in upon them, moft of them fled the next morning to the Mountains: Thus the Spaniards became Mafters of the City, where they inflicted the moft cruel tortures on all Sexes, by that means to force them to difcover, if they knew of any hid. den Treafures, being not fatisfid with what they found there, although they had gotten a greater Treafure in $C u / c o$ than that that they had extorted from Attabaliba before: Nay, they gave thofe that were murther'd for Food to their Dogs : Among the ref, Didacus Salazar having a very fierce Dog call'd Bezerril, had alfo an old Indian Woman his Prifoner, to whom he gave a Letter to deliver to the General Pizarro; the Woman had not gone many Paces before fhe was fet upon by Bezerril, whom Salazar let loofe, that he might delight himfelf in feeing the Dog tear the poor old Woman; but fhe obferving him come run. ing at her with fo great fiercenefs, fell down upon her Knees, and holding forth the Letter, cry'd, Good my Lord, good my Lord Dog, I mujt carry this Letter to General Pizarro, whereupon the furious Curr having more compaffion than the Spaniard, ftood ftill a little, and at laft lifted up his Leg in a fornful manner, ulrin'd upon her, and return'd fatisfid; at which fportive behavior of the Cur and the Chrone, Salazar laughing, was fo well pleas'd, that he gave the Woman her life.

After $C_{u} /{ }_{c o}$ had been fufficiently Plunder'd, Pizarro made Almagro Governor thereof, with the Territories belonging to it, and buile near the River Lima a Town, which they call'd Los Reyes. Mean while, Almagro receiv'd Letters Patent from the Emperor, in which he was nominated Marr/hal of Peru; en. courag'd by that honor, he took a great defign in hand, for the Peruvians had reported, that the Golden Chili lay to the South; and Alnagro being encourag'd, and affifted by Pizarro, March'd inqueft thereof with two Troops of Horfe, and five hundred Foot: But mean while there happen'd fo great Rains, and fuch foul Weather, that the Ways were almoft unpaffable, fo that the Expedition grew very troublefome; yet however he went on, in which hard March he loft both Horfe and Men.

Whilft Almagro was upon this undertaking, Francico Pizarro receiv'd Letters Patent from the Emperor, in which he was Intitul'd 'Duke of Peru, but with 2 Salvo for the honor before given to Almagro ; yet thefe balanc'd honors bred great diffention between the Duke and Marfhal, which Mango Inga another of Attabaliba's Brothers obferving, laid hold of the opportunity, and fetting Mango Inga akese cufore upon the Spanifh Garrifon in Cufco, took the City. Whereupon Pizarro immediately fent his Horfe thither, under the Command of Alphonfo Alvarado, and Gomes de Todoya, againft whom the Indians fought very valiantly, infomuch, that the Battel was a long time doubtful; yet at laft the Spaniards got a bloody Victory, and regain'd Cufco; hither after fome time, Almagro returning with ill Succefs, having effected nothing, was kept out by Ferdinand Pizarro, under pretence that he could not open the Gate without Order from his Brother the Duke. Almagro much offended thereat, yet faying little, was fo privately let into the City, that he furpriz'd the Governor Ferdinand Pizarro, anid his Brother Gonfalvo, with Alphonfo Alvarado Prifoners; fwearing that he would not reft before he had rooted all the Pizarro's out of Perru. But whilf he was paffing the intended Sentence of Death upon them, Gonfalvo and Alvarado broke Prifon; and got away to the Duke; who troubled for his Brother Ferdinand there in cuftody, and in danger of his life, came to Compofition; whereupon Ferdinand was alfo releas'd : But this was no fooner dorie, and he had got his Brother fafe there, but the Duke regarding nothing lefs than the keeping of the new-made Peace, fent to Almagro, that the Emperor having given him the prime Command over Peru, he requir'd him to leave $C_{u} f(0$, or elfe he would force hịm. Almagro fent anfwer, That if he could fee the Emperor's Hand, he would immediately obey, otherwife not ; whereupon both Parties prepar'd for War, wherein they had many fharp bickerings in a fhort time: But Almagro being too weak fell into the Dukes hands, who order'd him to be ftrangled in the Gaol, and his body afeerwards to be drawn to the Market-place, and there publickly Beheaded.

Ferdinand Pizarro being not long after fent to Spain, with the fifthis of the gotten Treafure for the Emperor, was Imprifon'd in the Caftle Motto, for Al magro's Death: But what further happen'd to him there, or became of him; hath never been Recorded by any Pen.

But young Almagro, inftigated by his Guardian fobn Rada, refolving, to be reveng'd for his Fathers Death; to that purpofe he went to Los Reyes, where by the help of fome hir'd Malescontents, he defign'd to Murder the Duke upon Sr. Foln's day, in the Church at high Service: But this bufinefs was not fo clofely carry'd, but the Duke had fome inkling thereof, who therefore ftay'd at home, and went not to Mafs that day. The Confpirators doubting the event, hearing that their Plot was difcover'd, though defeated in their purpofe, yet not fail'd in their Courage, ran at noon day to the Palace, crying, Kill the Tyrant, kill the Traytor. But Pizarre being fo much forewarn'd, had lock'd up the Gates, and arm'd himfelf, which when they could not enter, yet they went back through the City, and waving a bloody Sword, cry'd, Pizarro is flain; this being believ'd, above tivo hundred private Friends to Almagro ap= pear'd, who all ran to the Palace, crouding about the Gates: And Francifco de Chares coming out at a private Door, hoping to pacifie the Mutineers, was immediately Stab'd; but they rufhing in the way he came, found fome fout oppofition, for feven Halberdiers of his Guard fought till they were all kill'd in the Dukes prefence; but Pizarro was taken alive, and being brought before Almagro, he Savagely Butcher'd him with his own hands; which done, they ran crying along the Sereets, Long live the Emperor, and Didacus Almagro.

But after all this, Pizarro's Parry joyning together, valiantly withftood the $R^{R}$ Confpirators, fo that a confiderable number were flain on both fides, yet $A l$ magro at laft getting the better, confifcated the Goods of all thofe that were againft him; 'and now every one fliew'd him the refpect of Chief Governor, till the Emperor fhould either fettle him, or fend another.

From hence Marching to Cufco, he had like to have paid for all, but prevented by private intelligence thereof; which happen'd thus,

Garcius Alvarado and Cbrifopher Sotello were Joynt-Governors of Cufco; but quarrelling, and coming to Blows in like manner, Sotello was flain: This Vela Vice-Roy of Peru. Almagro took very hainoully, as being his intimate Friend, giving forth threatning Speeches of Revenge ; which Alvarado inform'd of, and intending fome way or other to prevent all Dangers, and fave himfelf, he invited Almagro to a Feaft, but privately refolving to make it a Bloody Banquer, by his Death at the Table. Of this he being inform'd, as we mention'd before, ftaid at home; and privately fent for fome Soldiers that had belong'd to Sotello, feriding word that he was indifpos'd: Alvarado, under a fhew of Kindnefs, goesto Almagro, hoping to perfwade him to come to his prepar'd Treat ; bu: fo foon as he.was enter'd the Hall, they clapp'd to the Gate, and the Soldiers falling upon Alvarado, flew him: But foon after Almagro was call'd in queftion, and not long enjoy'd this his ufurp'd Authority; for the Emperor Charles fending the Learned Vacca de Caftro with full Authority to Peru, to fettle that difturb'd Kingdom, Almagro now us'd to Govern, had no Ears to become a Subject; therefore he march'd with an Army to meet Cafro, by whom, after a bloody Fight, being beaten and put to flight, having four thoufand Men, he fell into the Victors Hands near Cufco, where he was treated very feverely; for fhortly. after he was condemn'd to be Beheaded; others were ftrangled, and fome torn in pieces with Horles.

- Not long after this great Execution, Blafoo Nunnez Vela came to Peru, and being appointed Vice-Roy, had four Councellors affign'd him, with whom he was to confule in all Affairs; and efpecially to fet the Indians at liberty, which till then had fuffer'd much mifery under the Spanifh Tyranny: To perform which, the Emperor had given an Order under his Great Seal, which was to be publifh'd and proclaim'd in all Places. Vela at his arrival faithfully perform'd all his Commands, feiz'd upon Vacca de Caftro, becaufe he had Executed Almagro without any Examination or Tryal; yet by this means be got the hatred of all, fo that moft of the Spaniards chofe Gonfalvo Pizarro for their Chief, whereby Affairs grew daily more and more out of Order. Murders Xuaraz: Vela laid all the blame thereof upon William Xuarez Governor of Lima, whom he fent for in the Night, and correcting over-feverely, gave him alfo two mor. tal Wounds, of which he prefently died: The Body was in the Morning drawn along the Streets, which caus'd fo great a murmuring amongt the Inhabitants, that foon after they feem'd to make a general Infurrection : Wherefore Numez Vela fearing the worft, refolv'd to convey himfelf from thence ins cognito, and pafs to I'ruxillo: But his four Councellors advis'd him to the contrary; yet he took his own way, caufing all his Treafure to be fent aboard; and having made ready his Horfes to depart, the Common People in a tumultuous manner fet upon the Palace, catching, fnatching up, and carrying away
Istaken and putin pisit all the Silver they could find, and meeting the Vice-Roy; feiz'd, and thruft him into a Dungeon; which done, they fell at variance amongft themfelves; for fome would have him executed, but others infifted to have him fent Prifoner to Spain; which laft being the more moderate, getting the upper Hand, Vela was put aboard, and committed to the cuftody of Didacus Alvarez, who Anchoring in the Mouth of the River Tombez (kindnefs growing betwixt them) releas'd the Vice=Roy his Prifoner, and fee him afhore, who not long after got fome For. ces together.

Mean while Piarrro was every where acknowledg'd for Supreme Governor, who having Intelligence of the Vite=Roys Defign, Tent Francijco Carvayales thi. ther, between whom and Vela was a flarp Encounter; but at laft being worfted, and retaken by Carvayales, hee was foon after executed, and his Head plac'd on a Pole near the Gallows.

ef MERICA.
The Emperor Charles turmoil'd with Wars at home, faw no likelyhood to fettle the confus'd Affairs of Perr ; yet at laft he thought it convenient to fend one Peter Gafca thither, an Ecclefiaftick, of a fubtile and ingenious Wie, who landing Anno i546. in Lima; with no other Title than Clief Conncellor to the Em. peror, took quite another courfe than Veld, perfwading them all, that Affairs fhould be fetled in order; according to their own defires, and former Mifcarriages never be remembred, being utterly deleted by an Act of Oblivion.

The News of this General Pardon fpreading it felf far and near, wrought a great change; for Pizarro's Intimates, and thole neareft of Concern, fhrunk daily from him; which Gafca obferving, march'd againft him ; and that they might make the more hafte, they loaded feveral Perivians, chain'd, with their Arens, whom when they lagg'd, they fwitch'd and whipp'd before them. And now both Armies being mer, and difcharging their Cannons at one another, with confiderable lofs to each fide, whole Regiments came running over to Gufca; fo that Pizarro being quite forfaken, yielded himfelf to the mercy of the Conqueror, who accus'd him of High Treafon, and caus'd him to be ftrangled in a Dungeon, and fix'd his Head on a Marble Pillar in Lima, envi $=$ ron'd with Iron Rails, and infcrib'd with a brief Account of all his Offences. But Gafca not thus fatisfied, hang'd up feveral Commanders, and whipping and ftigmatizing others, condemn'd them after to the Gallies: But his greateft fpight was againft the Field-Marfhal Carvayales, a Perfon of the Age of fourfcore years, whom tying to a Horfes Tail, he caus'd a whole Hour to be drawn up and down the Market-place, fcorn'd and derided of all People; which done, he was quarter'd alive.

Not long after Gafca furrendred the Command of Peru to the Learned Cians ca, and carried an unvaluable Treafure to Germany, for the Emperor Charles, who gave him in requital for his faithful Service, the Bifhoprick of Valentia.

Sect. XII.

The Expeditions of John Stade, and Nicholas Durando Villegagnon.

A Bout the fame time that Gafca arriv'd in Spain, Jobn Stade had the Command over a fmall Fort rais'd of Stone and.Earth, on the Illand Maro, adjacent to Brafile, becaufe the Salvage People of Tupin Imba fail'd twice a year from the Countrey of Brikioka, to Maro, at the time when the Plant Abbati was ripe, of which they made the Liquor that they generally drink at their Humane Banquets: They alfo landed on Maro about the Bratti-Fifhing. This Bratti is a Fifh of a very delicious tafte, either caught in Nets, or fhot by the Tuping Imba, and carried to their feveral Habitations. Againft thefe People Stade kept a continual Guard, when Heliodorus Heffe, Son to Eobanus Heffe, the famous Latin Poet in Germany, came to vifit him. Stade to entertain his Gueft the better, went into the Woods to hunt for Venifon, where he was taken by the Tupin Imba, of which the King march'd in the Rear with a great Palm.Tree Club, and carried him towards the Sea fide, that he, with others that waited on the Shore, might make up a Kawerwipepicke (that is, A Feaft of Rofted Men) But becaule Stade being a German of a large Body, well-skinn'd, young, plump and fat, they all concluded to fpare this Dainty, and carry him alive to Brikioka, that with fuch a Banquer they might highly carefs their Wives: But the Jour. ney being long, and a juft melancholy poffefing him with fear, and the terror of cettain death, and to be Food for fuch ravenous Cannibals, fo macerated and confum'd him, that he was almoft dwindled away to Skin and Bone; wheré upon thinking him thus lean to make but few favory Morfels, they chang'd theirfrefolutions, and growing better acquainted, he having learn'd their Tongue, and being able to difcourfe with them, they lik'd his company fo well, that they let him live amongft them: Nine years Stade had been a Slave amongft thefe Man-eaters, when the French coming thither, bought him for a few Trifles, and carried him to Normandy, where landing Anno 1555. he went from thence to Hamburgh, being his Native Countrey.

Dwandd's Exyeditioni
Nicholas Durande a Frenchman fet Sail from Havre de Grace, at the fame time when Stade came thither. This Durande having loft a Cafte in Brittaiii; to the great prejudice of the French, out of a pretence of advancing their Affairs, and to fill up their almoft exhaufted Treafury, reported, That the Spanifh and Portuguefe Forces were driven out of India, where they had gather'd fo much Wealth; and it would certainly redound to the Honor and Profit of France, if they could become Mafters of the Gold and Silver Mines. King Henry the Second approving of the Propofal, and the more becaufe the Admiral Gaspeir Colioni was alfo very earneft, looking upon it as a fafe Retreat for the Proteftants, at that time cruelly perfecuted: and Durande, fenfible of the Admirals thoughts, privately inform'd him, That in his American Defign he chiefly aim'd to plant a True Church of God in America, where the Profeffors might enjoy themfelves peaceably. This Report being fpread amongft thofe that call'd theméelves Protefants, (fled from Switzerland in great numbers to France) made many of them venture upon the Defign ; who having fitted themfelves, and fetting fail with three Ships, after fome time arriv'd on the Coaft of Brafile, and landed on the Rock-Ifland, in the Haven fanuario: Here Durande built feveral Watch-houfes, and the Fort Coligni, which he fortified with a confiderable number of Guns: Not long after he writ to fobn Calvin, That he would pleafe to furnifh this new Plantation in Brafile with good and able Teachers of the Gofpel; which Requeft being immediately taken into ferious confideration by the Claffes, one Pbilip Corguileray, a Gentleman near Geneva, fet Sail out of the Haven Honfleurs, with three Ships, freighted with fome Provifions, feveral Perfons of divers Trades, and two Minifters, Peter Richer, and William Cbartier: But he had fcarce made Africa, when they began to have a fcarcity of Vietuals; wherefore they turn'd their Defign of feeling the Gofpel in America, to Pyracy,' where they made fmall fcruple or difference, whether Friends or Foes, but made Prize of all they could light upon, though indeed their Minifters both preach'd and perfwaded the contrary, amongft whom a Controverfie happening, put other Bufinefs into their Heads; for one Foinn Cointak, formerly a Paa rifian Sorbonift, was alfo amongft thofe that remov'd from Geneva, who pretended that Coligni had promis'd him a Minifters place, fo foon as he landed at Brafile; but Richer and Chartier, not fatisfied that there was any fuch Promife, and confequently thinking themfelves not obliged by his bare Affertion, told him, That themfelves being able, under God, to perform the Work, they needed no fuch Coadjutor: This bred fo great a Rancor between them, that Cointak acgaint the Miniffers. cus'd them for teaching falfe Doctrine, and chiefly that they did not mix the Wine at their Sacraments with Water, which Father Clemens had ftrictly commanded. Durande, being prevail'd on by the Cardinal of Lorein, joyn'd with Cointak, and thercupon fo flarply perfecuted the Protefants, that he ftarv'd feveral of them, which others to elcape fled to the Brafilians: Nay, he took. Jobn

D: Bordell, Matthias Vermeil, and Peter Bourdon, out of their Sick-Beds, and tying their Hands and Feet, threw them headlong from a Rock into the Sea: Soon after which, the bloody Perfecutor return'd with ill fuccefs to France, where he wrote a Book againft the Reform'd Religion; but all the Honor which he gain'd was, that all Parties on both fides accounted him a diftracted Perfon.

Durande drowns three Religious Men. - SECTHALII. The Expeditions of John Ribald, Renatus Laudonier, and Gurgie.'

FLorida being upon the Continent of America, and fo call'd by forn Ponteus;' who landed there upon Palm=Sunday, though Sebaftian Gaboto a Venetian, imploy'd by Henry the Seventh King of England, landed there before, may well be term'd the Europeans Bloody Stage, Pontaus being flain here: But Ferdinand Sotto exercis'd againft the Inhabitants inhumane Cruelty five years together ; yet at laft died of a deep difcontent, becaufe he could not reach his Aims, having condemn'd fo many Floridans fruitlefly to dig for Gold in the Mines. However, fince that, fulian Sumanus and Peter Abumada undertook the Work anew, but with the like bad Succefs. Anno 1545: one Lodowick Cancello, a Dominican, chought to effect great things with four of his Affociates; but landing on Florida, was deftroy'd by the Natives. But Gafper Coligni the Marflal, neither difcourag'd :by thefe miferable Proceedings, nor the former Treachery of Durande, prepar'd for a new Expedition thither; and accordingly fobn Ribald was firted with two Ships from Diep, at the Charge of Charles the Ninth King of France, wherewith having fail'd thirty Degrees. Northern Latitude, he came before the Promontory of Francifco, where he ran up into the Mouth of a wide River, to which he gave the denomination of Dolphin, upon whofe Banks were whole Mulberry-Woods, which nourifh'd Silk-Worms in ftrange abundance. From hence he fail'd by the Wolves Head (a Point fo callid, becaufe great numbers of Wolves breed there) and leaving the (edarsifland, landed on Florida, where he built a Triangular Fort, and having furnifh'd it with Men, Guns, and Provifions, fail'd back for more Supplies to France; but coming this ther, found all things in diforder, occafion'd by a War amongft themfelves; fo that the French which guarded and dwelt in the Fort, waited in vain for $\mathrm{Re}_{\mathrm{e}}$ lief, and their Provifions growing feant, thought it fitteft and their beft way to build a Veffel, and fail from thence; which having effected, and being gone about the third part of their Voyage there hapned fuch a Calm for twenty Days, that they made not the leaft way, which drove them to fo great extremity, their Provifions being fpent, that they drank their own Urine, and fed upon their old Shoes, which alfo in a fhore time failing, they agreed amongf themfelves to kill and eat one of their Sea-men, call'd Henry Lacher, on whofe Flefh they liv'd fome days; but being again driven to the greatef want imao ginable, in this extremity of Defparation, their Condition being altogether hopelefs, an Englifh Frigat difcovering them, and obferving by their manner of Sailing that they were in fome great want, drawing near, fent their Long-boat aboard, and found them fo weak, that they were not able to handle their Tack; whereupon generoufly taking pity of them, they reliev'd them, and conducted them to the Coaft of England, and then brought them to Queen Elizabeth, who had formerly defign'd to rig a Fleet for Florida.

tation in Brafile, and Coligni's Difference with the King being decided, he prevail'd fo much, that Renatus Landonier fhould with three Ships fail to relieve the Garrifon in the late deferted Fort. Laudonier landing in Nova Francia, found a Stone with a French Infcription, plac'd on the Shore by Ribald, and hung full of Laurel Garlands: Then he vifited the King Saturiona, whofe Son Atorcus had fe. veral Children by his own Mother, according to a Salvage Cuftom obferv'd in that Countrey. Whilft they ftay'd here, a Fiery Meteor appear'd in the Sky, with fuch fervor, that fome Rivers boyl'd with the heat of it, and the Fifh parboyl'd, died; nay more, it fcorch'd all the Plants far and near: The Natives alcrib'd this Plague to the French Cannons, by which means they food in great fear of the French, who might have done great things had not they differ'd amongft themfelves; For a Sea-man nam'd Rubel Patracon, pretending to have skill in Necromancy, would undertake to fhew the Places where the Gold and Silver Mines were, which the reft of the Sea-men believing, rebell'd againft Laudonier, and though fick, imprifon'd him, forcing him to figa a Writing to this effect, That the two Ships, of which the Rebels made Vaffar and Trincant Commanders, fhould with his leave and permittance fail to New Spain for Provifions. Whilft they were preparing for their Voyage, Rupiferrir having been fent to the King Utina, came back with many rich Prefents, and withal brought Information of the Gold and Silver Mynes Apalatica; but Vaffar and *. Irincant taking no notice thereof, fet forth, and took a Spani $\beta$ Carvel, richly laden before Havana, whofe Commander they ágreed to releafe on the payment of a great Ranfon ; but the Mafters Son being fent affore to fetch the Money which they had agreed for, in ftead thereof,made his Fathers Mifchance known; whereupon two great Frigats and a Galley were the next Morning very early fent to attaque the Frencl, between whom was a fharp Ericounter; but in a fhort time the two Pyrats were funk, and the Prifoners fold for Slaves, excepting a few that efcap'd in their Long-boat.

- In this interim Laudonier receiving no Supply from France, was brought to great extremity; for the Rebels had carried great part of his Store with them. In thefe ftraights he was forc'd by thofe that ftaid with him, contrary to the Articles of Peace lately made with King Utina, to take him Prifoner, in hopes that for his Liberty he would procure them fome Provifions; but the Inhabitants incens'd at the bafenefs of fo unexpected an Action, could not be wrought upon by any means to give them Relief; but grown more perverfe than before, appointed a general Meeting to elect anocher King; fo that out of all hopes, they utterly gave themfelves over for lof. In this defperate condition, foln Haukins, a great Sea-Captain, came thither with four Englifl, Ships, who pitying their mifery, furnifh'd them with Neceffaries, and having onely four Veffels, lent them one, becaufe Laudonier was at that time too weak to endure the Sea; but not long after recovering ftrength, and all things ready to fet Sail, Ribald came to an Anchor before Charles-Fort, with Ceven Ships from Diep: Within few days after, the Spanilh Admiral Peter Melandez arriv'd with eight Frigats, whereof the French having Intelligence, cut their Cables, and ftood out to Sea, whom the Spaniards chac'd, but could not reach; whereupon leaving them, they landed in the Mouth of the River Dolpbin, where by help of the Moorihh Slaves they began to intrench themfelves; of which Ribald having notice, immediately fail'd thither, at leaft to difturb, if not abfolutely drive them from their Work; but furpriz'd in the way by a great Storm, loft molt of his Fleet, ingag'd among the Racks; yet the Men were moft of them fav'd. In this Storm the Spaniards allo fuffer'd great damage, yet made an Advantage of the Frenchmens Misfortune, marching with all fpeed to Charles Fort, in which were onely two hundred weak Men, Ribald having taken the primeft Soldiers along with him. In the Morning before Sun=rife the Spaniards made a fierce Affault, and in a flore time became Mafters of the Place, which Laudonier feeing, fled in a Boat; others leaping from the Walls into the Moat, fav'd themfelves by firimming: Whoever fell into the Viftors Hands, was without mercy flairr; nay, fuch was the Spaniurds inveterate malice to the French, that wanting living Bodies, they exercis'd their Cruelty upon the dead, pulling out their Eyes, and cutting off their Members, carrying them in Triumph on the Points of their Swords. In the interim, the Storm ceafing, Ribald approach'd Charles=Fort, with his Thatter'd Fleet; but was fo amaz'd when he faw the Spani $h_{\text {Flag fet upon the Walls, and Vallemond marching towards }}$ him with a Squadron of Spaniards, that although a Ríver lay between them, yet he prefently came to a Treaty, and deliver'd up all his Men, being above four hundred, upon promife of good Quarter ; but the Spaniards in tead of keeping their Agreement, bound them, leading them all to the Caftle, wheré, both againft their Articles, and the Law of Arms, they maffacred them, and burnt their Bodies; but Ribald being quarter'd, they fix'd his Limbs upon Poles about the Walls, fending his Head to Sevil. When Charles the Ninth, King of France, receiv'd notice hereof, he was not in the leaft concern'd at the Spanifh Cruelty us'd to his Subjects, out of a particular hatred to Coligni, the firf Promoter of the Voyage. But though the French Crown fo little regarded the inhumane Ufage committed by the Spaniards in Charles Fort, yet Dominicus Gurgie flew'd himfelf fo highly concern'd thereat, that turning all his Goods into Money, he levied two hundred Soldiers, and fourfcore Sea-men, which he put aboard three fmall Ships, pretending that he would onely touch at Brafile; but failing beyond Cuba, he ftood directly for Florida, wherê after his Landing he was. kindly receiv'd by Saturiona the King, who complaining much againft the Spaniards Oppreffions, fent to joyn with him his Kinfman Olotocara, having the Command of a great Army.

The Spaniards by this time had not onely frengthned Charles-Fort; but alfo rais'd two others on each fide of the River Mayo, in which three Holds lay Garrifon'd above four hundred choice Soldiers. Thofe in the new Forts made little refiftance; but quitting the fame, and flying into a neighboring Wood, fell into an Ambufcade of Indians, who flew thirty of them, and preferv'd ninety for a Publick Execution. Thus they march'd on victorioufly to CharlesFort, where by thie way fixty Spaniards fallying out, were every one cut off, which much facilitated the Frencbmens Work. The Governor Melandez, feeing a certain ruine attend him, fled into the Woods; but met there by the Floris dans, return'd to the French, of whom he begg'd Life for himfelf, and fome of his People : Yet Gurgie deaf to all intreaties, would hear nothing, but pref. fing on, took them all Prifoners, and as a juft Reward of their Cruelty to his Countrey-men, hang'd them on the next Trees: After which Execution, it can farce be exprefs'd how kindly the Natives entettain'd the French, becaufe they had freed the Countrey from the Spanijh Oppreffions. Thus having accomplifh'd his Defign, and returning home, he was nobly receiv'd at Rocbel, but had not the leaft Countenance for all his trouble from the King ; the Cardinal of Lorein telling him, That for his good Service be ought to fuffer death, becaufe be bad fitted out three Ships nipon his own Account, without Autbority.

Four Englifh Expeditions, inder the Conduct of our Famous Seas Captains Martin Forbifher, Sir Francis Drake, Thomas Candifh, and John Smith.

CAptain Forbifher failing to the Northern Parts of America, Anno 1576. chufing a bad time, the Year being too much Spent, and the Ocean fo full of Ice, that it forc'd him to return to England: Nor many Months after, he renew'd his Voyage, Queen Elizabeth häving rigg'd out, and fent under his Command one Frigat and two Ketches, Mann'd with a hundred and forty Men: The twenty fixth of May he weigh'd Anchor, and fail'd to the Orkenies, lying to the North of Scotland, where landing, he found the poor Iflanders fled out of their Huts, into Caves and Dens among the Rocks. From thence he fteer'd North-North-Weft, through abundance of floating Pieces of Timber, which oftentimes gave him great ftops. The fourth of fuly he made Friezland, where he met with a great Storm of Hail, mix'd with Snow: Before the Shore lay a great Ridge of Ice, which hindred for a while their Landing: Here he faw feveral Wild People, but could not come to feeak with them; for upon the leaft approach they fled; yet when they faw any advantage, made refiftance: At laft, three of them came unarm'd to the Shore, beckoning Forbifher to come to them; which he had done, had not great numbers of the Natives appear'd too foon from an Ambufcade in a Wood, and behind a Hill, who feeing them. felves difcover'd, march'd up into the Countrey, three onely ftaying on the Shore, of whom the middlemoft feigning to be lame, at laft fell down, whom his Companions took up, and carried a little way, but then forfook, by which the Englijh obferving their Defign, fhot that the Sand flew all about him; whereupon forgetting his Lamenels, he ran as fwift as a Deer up a Hill.

Forbihher's Men had by this time fill'd two Barrels with a Mineral not unlike Gold, but was afterwards found to be of little value. Nothing elfe of Remark did he find here, except great long-hair'd Men, who being exceeding falvage, fubtilly plot nothing elfe but to murder, lurking for Men, like Wild Beafts for their Prey, whom, when caught, they tear in pieces. Clofe fitted to their Bodies, they wore the Skins of feveral Wild Beafts, priding in the Tails which hung down betwixt their Legs. Their Tents are of conjoyn'd Whalebones, cover'd over with the like Skins, the Entrance always facing the South. They ufe Bowes, Arrows, Slings, and two fores of Boats: In the big. geft they can carry feventeen Men, which are made of feveral Wooden Planks clinch'd together, and cafed on both fides with Leather: The fmalleft ones are cover'd juft in the fame manner, much refembling a Weavers Shuttle, having in the middle a Hole, wherein a Man fits, who drawing the Cover of the Boat about his Wafte by Strings, with one Oar makes fwift Paffage.

The Countrey it felf is barren, yet feeds abundance of Deer, Hares, Wolves, Bears, and Dogs like Wolves, whofe Flefh ferves the Inhabitants for Food.

This Countrey feems to be exceedingly troubled with great Earthquakes, becaufe feveral pieces of Rocks, and whole Mountains rent afunder, may be feen in divers places.

The fourth of Auguft, Forbiher having elevated the Pole to fixty eight Dce grees, beyond what Sebaftian Gabot, the firf Difcoverer of thofe Parts, and fet out by Henry the Seventh, had done (for America Northward never before had been fo far penetrated) and laden with a fort of flining Sand, which he believ'd might contain much of a Golden Oar, having with him three of the Na, tives, viz. a Man, a Woman, and a Child, fet Sail for England, and the feventh of September came to Milford-Haven, and not long after arriv'd in London, where in fhort time the Salvages died.

At the fame time when Forbijher fail'd Northerly, Sir Francis Drake alfo, fitted out by Queen Elizabeth, fteer'd another Courfe, failing by Cape Blanko and Cape Verde, along the African Coaft,to Brafile, where he caught feveral Sea-Wolves, and Anchoring in the River $L a$ Plata, furnifh'd himfelf with Frefh Water: Then proceeding on his Voyage through the crooked Straights of. Magellan, he came to an Anchor before Moucha, wafl'd by the Soutb Sea. The Illanders receiv'd him very courteoully, becaule they were inform'd that the Englifh were at great Wars with the Spaniards, to avoid whofe Cruelties, they had deferted the main Continent, and fetled on Moucha. One of thefe Mouchaners going aboard, ferv'd them for a Pilot to the Haven Valparizo, where Drake burnt the St. Fago, a fmall Village, and plundring all the Countrey about it, got together a great Treafure of Gold and Silver. Before Arica he took three Spanijh Ships, richly laden; and before Lima, four more, having an unvaluabic Treafure of Pearls and Gold aboard them. Thus inrich'd, he fteer'd his Courfe Northerly to forty two Degrees; but the Cold forcing him to fall four Degrees to the South. ward, he difcover'd a very pleafant and inhabited Coaft, the People whereof fhew'd him great kindnefs: The King himfelf coming aboard with a great Train, fet a Crown of Gold upon Drakes Head, and gave him a Golden Scepter, and an Ivory Chain. After this he infpected the Iflands Tidor, Ternata, Fava, Zeilon, and Cape de Bona Ejperanza, from whence, after a three Years Voyage, having encompars'd the World, he came fafe to London, where he refted not long; for failing Ammo 1585. to America, he took great Prizes from the Cities St. Fago, St. Domingo, St. Augufin, and Cartbagena, fetting them all on Fire. Thus again returning home vi¿torioully, and after the famous defeat of the Spanifh Armado, he rigg'd out a new Fleet, having for his VicesAdmiral Cap. tain Huwkins: 'Their Defign was to have fail'd to Panama; but both dying, and fo the Conimiffion ceafing, the expected great and golden Project alfo died with them.

Candijf hig Expedition. A Year after the death of thefe famous Navigators, Captain Thomas Candish Mann'd with a hundred and twenty Men, and Provifions for two Years, ferting fail in a lucky Hour, a fecond time encompafs'd the World, paffing the Straights of Magellan; in which Voyage having got above ten times the value of his Charge, by taking the Spanish Cariack St. Anma, valued at twenty Tun of Gold; and at laft freighted with a Mafs of Treafure, he came fafe into the River of Thames.

But much worfe fuccefs had Captain fohn Smith, who weigh'd Anchor Anno 1614. with two Ships, fitted out by feveral Merchants in London, for Nerv- England, and on the Ifland Monachigga to load Copper, Gold, and other Minerals that were to be had there, and alfo to fifh for Whales: But there were no fuch Minerals to be found there, nor any Whales to be taken on the Coaft, becaule the time of the Year was paft; fo that he return'd home without Succefs. However, not long after, they undertook the fame Expedition a fecond time, but with worfe Fortune; for being gotten in fight of Virginia, he was treacheroufly fet upon, and taken by the French, who accus'd him, that he had deftroy'd the Plantations in Nova Francia, and unlefs he would make fatisfaction for the Damage, they threatned him with death. He was carried Prifoner to Rechel, in a French Ship; but not far from thence furpris'd by a mighty Storm, Smith finding an opportunity, leap'd into the Boat, and driving betwixt the Waves, at laft, half dead, was thrown upon the Ifland of Oleron, whom aftero wards, having loft all, an Engligh Ship took in, and brought to his Native Countrey.

Netherland Expedition by Jaques Mahu, and Simon de Cordes.

FIve Ships being fitted out at Rotterdam, the Command of them was given to Jaques Mabu and Simon de Cordes, who on the twenty feventh of June, Anno 1598. weigh'd Anchor from the Goree, and fail'd on an immenfe Voyage; at laft landing at the Illand St. Fago, they won a ftrong Cafle there, and took two Barques; but at laft Articled with the Portuguefe, that they might undifturb'd fupply themfelves with Frefh Water, yet they, as if they minded no Agreements, whilft the Dutch were filling their Casks, came down upon them with two hundred Horfe, each having a Foot-Soldier behind him ; but the Hollanders made fo ftout refiftance, that they put them all to flight.

The City of St. fago, which gives Denomination to the whole Iland, is built long-wife, having a convenient Haven, like a Crefcent: Through the City glides a River, on both fides of which, beyond the Town, arife feveral high Mountains : That part which faces the Sea, hath Fortifications, defended with ftrong Bulwarks. The Portuguefe had brought all their Guns to bear towards the Sea, to fink the Holland Ships, which they invited thither under pretence of kindnefs; but a great Storm hindred the Fleet, that they could not Anchor at the appointed place; onely two of the Ships fail'd pretty near, but not within Shot.

Chap. III.

From hence fteering to the Defolate Ifland Brava, they faw nothing but five ruin'd Houfes, the Door of one ftopp'd up with great Stones, which being taken away, was found full of Turkijh Wheat, which prov'd a great kindnef़̣ to the Searmen.

Mean while the Admiral Mabu died, and his Body put into a Cheft fill'd up with Stones, was thrown over-board; fo that Simon des Cordes carrying the Flag, fteer'd his Courfe to Guinee, there to refrefh himfelf; for moft of his Men were fo weakned by the Scurvey, that they were fcarce able to hand the Sails.

Arriving at their intended Port, the Sick were carried afhore; and the Vice $=$ Admiral Beuningen, being conducted by a French Guide, went to the Vice. Roy of that Countrey, who fat on a low Bench, with a Sheeps-skin under his Feet, in a Violet=colour'd Cloth Suit, without any Linnen, Shirt, Shoes, or Stockins; on his Head a Cap made of yellow, red, and blue Eaftern Cloth; his Face whitened with Afhes, flew'd in feveral places its natural blacknefs,appearing through the Colours; about his Neck a Collar or Chain of Glars Beads: Behind him fat his Nobles, with Cocks Feathers on their Heads, and their Skins painted Red.

Beuningen plac'd by the King on a Mat, complain'd to him, That the Gwines ans fled from him whereever he came, though in Friendfhip, to barter European Commodities with them, againft Fruits, Poultrey, Sheep, and other Provifions: Whereupon the King promis'd to furnifl him therewith, and invited Beuningen to Dinner. After fome ftay, the Kings Wives entred the Palace, a very mean and ill-favour'd Building, more like a great Barn than a Kings Houfe, and plac'd a kind of nafty Trough on the Ground, in which lay no. thing but fome wild Herbs, and a piece of a fmoak'd Sea-Calf; and though he was a Perfon of the largeft fize, and corpulent, yet he eat fparingly. Beno ningen, though exceeding hungry, found little rellifh in fuch kind of Meats; wherefore fpreading a Napkin, his Attendants brought him fome Bisket and Spanifh Wine, whereof after the King had tafted, he lik'd fo well the rellifh, that it rock'd him afleep, whilft Beuningen walk'd to the Sea-fide to refrefh hims. felf; but the Guinedins coming about him, he was forc'd to return to the King, who waking at the noife, appear'd highly incens'd at his People, and took Beuningen into his Houfe : However the Subjects, notwithftanding the Kings Commands, when Beuningen was fent into a neighboring Hut, kept Watch about it all Night: The next Morning early an old Woman entred, muttering to her felf, and went out and in to Berningen three times one after another, knocking on a Box not unlike a-Pair of Bellows, out of which flew abundance of Duft about Beuningen, which caus'd a great Laughter amongft the Guineans. The King alfo coming to him, prefented him with two Goats, and four Hens, and fo conducted him back to the Ships.

Beuningen feeing that there was no good to be done, fer fail from thence, and Bloody Seaj̀ very frange coming before the River La Plata in America,' it appear'd Blood-red. Out of the Water which was taken up in Buckets, ftarted a fort of Infects like Fleas, which caus'd a frange and fad Diftemper amongft the Sea-men, that when any Meat was offer'd to them, fo foon as ever they put it to their Mouths, they would fall down backwards in a fwoon, foaming and frothing at the Mouth, and turning up the White of their Eyes, die diftracted. Suffering under this Difafter, they hafted from thence with all fpeed, and failing into the Straights of Magellan they kill'd above fourteen hundred Penguyins, which is a Bird that preys on Fifh, and lives in Holes under Ground; they fomewhat re= femble a Goofe, onely they ftand more upright, and are double-crefted, with two plumy Combs. Coming to an Anchor in the Green-Bay, there arofe a great Storm, which continued feveral days, fo that they were forc'd to moor their Veffels with four Anchors, extremely afflicted both with Hunger and Cold, preferving themfelves alive by eating young Grout, at that time not above 2 fpan high from the Ground ; but this courfe Food bred an incurable Dropfie, that pofted them on to a fudden death. Afterwards, when the Weather grew more pleafant, the Inhabitants being Gyants, moft of them eleven Foot high, grew more troublefom, oftentimes affailing them, and throwing Darts pointed like Harping-Irons, at which they were very expert. Their Salvage Natures may appear by their Dealings with the dead Hollanders, cutting off their Heads; and bruifing them to pieces, fticking Darts through their Hearts, and cutting off their Privities.

At laft the Fleet getting into the South Sea, were by ftrefs of Weather feparated one from another: Two Ships, being the Faith, and the Good Tydings, were driven back into the Straights of Magellan, where they fuffer'd the uttermoft extremity of Hunger : Here they took a wild Woman, and two Children, who being of a fallow Complexion, had a great hanging Belly, a wide Mouth, crooked Legs, long Heels, and Breafts like Cows Udders; about her Neck a String of Snail-fhells, and upon her Back a Beafts Skin, faftned about her Neck with the Sinews of it; her Food nought elfe but live Fowls: The fame Diet the Children fed upon: The youngeft being but fix Months old, had his Mouth full of Teeth, and ran without any help: The eldeft they care. ried to Amfterdam ; but having kept the Woman aboard two Nights, they gave her feveral Trifles, and fee her afhore. Here they found old Ice in the middle of Summer, four Foot thick.

Beuniingen lingred in the Straights of Magellan, and being tired out with Hunger, Cold, and Storms, return'd home; and had they not by accident taken taken abundance of Coneys, they had all perifh'd. Above two Years had this unihappy Voyage lafted, when they arriv'd at their Native Countrey, with fix and thirty Men, being all that remain'd alive of a hundred and five.

Sect. XVI.

The Expedition of Oliver van Noord.

TWo Months after Mabu, Oliver van Noord fet fail with four Ships, and two hundred forty eight Men, from the Maes. Having reach'd the Princes I/land, he loft feven of his Men by the Treachery of the Portuguefe; and Anchoring before the City Javeiro, he was no better entertain'd by the fame Nati. on: Here having a Rencounter, and both Sides receiving confiderable Lofs, he fteer'd for St. Sebaftian, a fruitful Ifland, producing an Herb very wholefom againft the Scurvey: Here the Sea-men found great fore of Sea. Mews, and Parrots, befides feveral forts of delicious Fifh. The approaching Winter advis'd them from entring the Straights of Magellan fo late; wherefore they judg'd it beft to feek a convenient Harbor, to put their Sick afhore to refrefh themfelves. The Ifland St. Hellen, for its fruiffulnefs, feem'd to be the mof convenient for this purpofe; but a great Storm preventing them, they came to St. Clara, where taking in Frefh Water, they caft Anchor in Porto Defire. In this Haven they faw a kind of Sea-Dogs, whofe fore-parts being overgrown with long Hair, feem'd like a Lyon, and the Feet like Mens Hands; over their Eyes and $\mathcal{U}_{\text {pper-lips }}$ grew black and white Hair, which in Stormy Weather ftands ftaring upright, but in Calm, lies flat and fmooth; they Urine backwards, fleep very foundly, and caft their Young every Month: Their Flefh wellsboyl'd prov'd a favory Difh.

Van Noord going afhore here, faw not a Man; but only Burying places on high Rocks, built of red Stones, and adorn'd both within and without with Bowes, Arrows, and other ftrange things: Under the Heads of the Dead lay four-fquare Shells, and other things artificially carv'd. Curiofity made them, defirous to make a further fearch into the Countrey ; wherefore he rowed during a whole Tide up a River; and when their Boat ran aground at che time of Ebb, he walk'd feveral Leagues up into the Countrey, where he faw nothing but Deer, Buffes, and Oftriches: and becaule he faw no People, he judg d the Coalt to be uninhabited; but returning again, he found it otherwife; for the Sea-men, though commanded to ftay in the Boat, which lay in the middle of the River, went afhore, where they were fo fiercely fec uponby thirty of the Natives, that three of them were kill'd, and another wounded in the Leg. Thefe People are very ftrong and Salvage, with painted Faces, and long Hair; but after this Encounter, they faw no more of them.

But van Noord having fpent fourteen Months in fearch, and loft a hundred Mer, fet fail again with three Ships; for one of them, being the Unity, he burnt at the Inand Clara, where he Winter'd, becaufe of a great Leak which could not be fopp'd. Here they brought five thoufand Fowls aboard, which much increafed their Stock of Provifions.

From hence paffing the Wide Ocean, into the Straights of Magellan, four times the Fleet attempted to go into the Sonth-Sea, and was as often driven back by crofs Weather into the Straiglts; but the fifth time prov'd more fuccefsful; for having got through, and left the Straights a handlom way aftern, they

Van MCord takes a Sps: nifh Ship:

After that, the Fleet Sail'd into Hungers Haven, where they found the ruines of the deferted Philip-Stadt, which Captain Thomas Candifh had feen fourteen years before, fortifid with four Bulwarks; but now onely fome Houfes, a Church, and a Gibbet were ftanding: Four hundred Spaniards buile that City, as a Key to the Straights of Magellan. But all their Provifions being fpent in three years time, and no relief coming from Spain, and what they Sow'd expecting the hopes of a Harveft, the Salvages coming down by night deftroy'd; which caus'd fo great a Famine to rage amongft them, thit many dy'd; not fo much as putting off their Clothes, who lying in the Houfes unbury'd, occafion'd fuch a ftench in the Gity, that the remainder fled into the Field; where they liv'd a whole year by the Fruits of the Trees, Herbs, and Roots: At laft, three and twenty of them, amongft which were two Women remaining yet alive; refolv'd to travel to the River La Plata, and accordingly fet forward, but what became of them could never yet be heard, only one Ferdinaido that was of that company, accidentally wandring from the reft, happen'd to light upon Candijh's Fleet.

Here Van Noord fet on Shore the Vice-Admiral facob Claefzoon Ilpendam, for fome crimes which he had committed; and leaving him behind, Sail'd from thence thorow the South-Sea along the Coaft of Chili and Mocha; which Inland, of a confiderable bignefs, rifes in the middle with a forked Mountain, from which a convenient River comes flowing down into the Countrey.

The Inhabitants conducted the Hollanders to their Village, confifting of about fifty Houfes built of Straw, but were forbid to go into their Huts: $u_{p}$. on the Mens call the Women appear'd, which being divided into three parties, humbly kneel'd down before them; and foon after an old Woman brought an Earthen Can full of Cica, a Liquor made of Mays, whofe extra. eted Juyce, boyl'd and put into Tubs, ferments like our Beer or Ale, with a cap of Barm, with which they treated the Hollanders, who drinking moderately, were well refrefl'd; but the Natives will ply this Liquor, till they make themfelves Diftracted, and are mad Drunk.

From hence Van Noord fteer'd his courfe to Sancta Maria, where in his way he took a Spanifh Ship, call'd Buon fefus, that is, Good fefus, and receiv'd intelligence from the Prifoners, that the Admiral Simon de Cordes, with twenty three Men was kill'd by the Americans on the Promontory Lavapia, being the head Land or Point oppofite to St. Maries; that a year fince, tydings were brought to Lima of his Fleet; fo that they had made all things ready to withfand him. But Van Noord hinder'd by ftrong contrary Winds, not able to reach Sancta Maria, ftood direetly for St. Jago, in whofe Haven lay a great Spanifh Ship full of Indians, and two other going in, which two he fet on Fire, and the third he Tow'd towards his Fleet; repenting extremely that he had given liberty, and fet Francifco de Tvarro Commander of the Buon Fefus affiore; becaufe he afterwards underfood from the Spanifh Pilot, that Ivarra threw ten thoufand two hundred pound weight of Gold, pack'd in fifty two Cales, over-board, when he oblerv'd that he was like to loofe his Ship.

The Fleet Sailing forward came to an Anchor before the Thieves-Ifland, whofe Inhabitants are very light Finger'd, go fark naked, and are of grear ftrength; they found the Women much Disfigur'd, their Nofes, Lips, and Cheek-bones eaten by the French Pox.

In the Bay La Baya, the Dutch Admiral, with a Spanifh Flag on his top-Maft, fent one of his Seasmen in a Fryers garb afhore, if poffible under that difguife; to get Provifions; which falling out according to their Defign, they werefupply'd with all manner of Vietuals: After that, the Hollanders burnt five Vil, lages on the Ifland Capull; took a Chinefy Veffel, one Spanishb Barque, and a Carvel Laden with Brandy from Cocos; and after a great and bloody Fight funk the Admiral of the Manilla's, and fo at laft with various fortunes arriv'd at Rotter:dam, having in three years encompals'd the World.

The Expedition of George Van Spilbergen:

ANno 1614. the eighth of Auguft, the Eaft-India Company of the United Netberlands fee out feven Ships iunder the Command of George Spilbergen, who coming to Cape St. Vincent, and engaging with the Portuguefe, took one of their Ships, and fo proceeded on his Voyage to the Straights of Magellan, but by a huge Storm, the Fleet was feparated. Amongit thofe that were fcatter'd was the good Ship call'd Meraiv, in which fome of the crew had confpir'd to have kill'd the Mafter, and feiz'd the Veffel; but he having fome inkling thereof, fet fo ftoutly upori two of the chief Contrivers with his drawn Hanger, that he forc'd them to leap over=board, and as ftoutly ordering the reft, fet all to rights.

But Spilbergen Landing on one of the Pengujn Iflands, found two Dead Bodies juft cover'd with Earth, about their Necks was a Chain of gliftering Snail Shells neatly ftrung; the Grave ftuck full of Bowes and Arrows, was pleafant to look upon, between feveral high Mountains, whofe tops lay bury'd in Snow: The Fleet came out of the Straights of Magellan, but not without great danger, for the South-Sea much difturb'd by rempeftuou's Weather, feem'd to raife its Waves up to the Sky, fo that they had enough to do, from being ingag'd among the Rocks: But at laft with great difficulty, wonderfully efcaping all danger, they Anchor'd before La Mocha, an Ifland which on the Noith fide lies low, and on the South defended by Rocks.

Bloody fight bet ween the Hollanders and Spani/h Fleer.

Spillergen feeing abundance of Men Itanding on the Shore, Row'd thither to Barter for Merchandize, amongft them was a Sheep with a long Neck, bunchBack'd like a Camel, a little Mouth, and long Legs; which Beaft ferves them in flead of Horfes, to carry their burthens, and perform their Tillage. The Americans breed up thefe Sheep every where, by reafon of the extraordinary benefit they receive from them, forme of them keeping no lefs than eighteen hundred. Their Shepherds ride upon a Beaft almof like an Ox, and carry in their hands Copper-Plates, hung round about with Bells, which they flake, making a different noife when their Sheep fhall go in or out ; and on their Heads wear Feathers like Coronets, ftanding upright.

From thence, Spilbergeon departing, Landed at laft on the Inand of St. Mary, where he burnt all the Spanish Villages; as he did alfo in Val Pary $/ a$.

After going afhore, in the Haven Quintero, he faw abundance of Wild Horfes drinking out of a Rivulet, fupply'd with frefh Water from an adjoyning fteep Mountain; fofoon as they efpy'd Men, they inftantly running away, were feen no more.

Having left Quintero, and fpent a Moneth in Sailing farther, they difcry'd eight great Ships; whereupon the Prifoners inform'd them, that it was the Spanish Fleet, of which Roderigo de Mendoza was Admiral, fitted out on pures. pofe to fight Spillergen, whofe coming (as we faid) was known a year before. At midnight Mendoza Boarded Spilbergen, but was fo roughly receiv'd, that he was forc'd to Retreat with the lofs of the Ship St. Francifco. At Daydbreak, the Holland Admiral fir'd at Mendoza, who anfwering with equal courage, occa. fion'd a fimart Engagement, wherein the Spaniards were fo hard befer, that they put forth a White Flag; but it was immediately taken in again by the Commanders aboard, choofing rather to die, than furrender, becaufe they had mock'd at Mendoza, when he hinted the difficulty of the Enterprize in the Grand Perwvian Councel, faying, They went out, onely to take a ferb difabled Hol. landers, and tying them band and feet, carry them to Execution. Yet their high and proud Stomachs prov'd very fatal to them, for afterwards totally routed and put to fight, moft of them funk by the way.

This done, the Hollanders victorioufly Sail'd to Calyon de Lima, having a cone venient Haven: The City adorn'd with curious Houles and Temples, is ftrengehen'd by a Platform, Planted with great Guns towards the Sea, and the Shore was guarded by eight Troops of Horfe, and four thoufand Foot; whereupon Spilbergen, who was yet to go fo great a Voyage, judg'd it no way convenient to adventure the lofs of all on the good or bad event of a Battel, efpecially being fo much over-power'd by the number of the Enemy: Wherefore feeing no hopes of Victory, fetting forward to Guarma, he got fome frefli Provifions.

Againft the City Peyta, he play'd his Cannon with fuch fury, that the Townsmen deferted the place, which he obferving, fee it on fire, and Sail'd to Aquapuls que, where from the Fort at firft the Spaniards fired fome Guns at them; but foon after changing humor, they came to an Accommodation, furnifhing the Hollanders with convenient Provifions. Paffing on, and coming to Selaques, both Natives and Spaniards having fuffer'd fome of the Hollanders to Land; after fet upon them treacheroufly in a Thicker, but to their little.advantage, for they made fo good a Defence; that the Affailants not able to bear the brunt, fled with great lofs.

Spilbergen Sailing from hence to the Manilla's, waited there for the Spanijh Admiral fuan de Silva, who had made (as was reported) great preparations for him long fince; but feeing it was in vain, at laft he return'd to Zealand, where he came to an Anchor, loaden with Riches, in the middle of Summer; Anino 1617.

SECT: XVII: The Expedition of William Cornelifzon Schouten, and Jacob Le Maire:

SOme Merchants that were call'd the Auftrian Company, fitted out one Ship with fixty five, and a Ketch with two and twenty Sea-men, giving the Command thereof to the Captain's Schouten and Le Maire: Amio 1615 they Weigh'd Anchor from the Texel; the firft took a view of one of the three Inlands, call'd Mabrabomma, lying before Cape Sierra Leona. This Inland appearing a great height out of the Sea, was not inhabited, they feeing onely three Wild Buffes, many Wild Cats, Birds which bark'd like Dogs, Wild PalmTrees, Lemon-Trees, Turtles, Crocodiles, Parrridges, and Storks: From hence, paffing by the dangerous Shelf $A b r o l b o s$, they ran into Porto Defire, where on the Rocks they found abundance of Eggs, and Spierings, or Smelts, and Spire. grafs fixten Inches long, wherefore they call'd that Inlet Spierings-Bay. Their Sloop alfo brought two Sea=Lions, and one hundred and fify Penguins from the Penguin Ifles, having Sail'd two Leagues up the River; in the interim, the ground being meer Stone, and their Anchors coming home, the great Ship drove againft a Rock, and at Ebbing Water, broke off the outermoft Planks and Iron-Work, and the Ketch allo ftriking on a high Shelf, was at low Ebb two Fathom with her Keel above the Water, and had without peradventure been overfet, and bilg'd, but a frefh North-Weft Wind kept her upright, yet at laft, the Weather growing calm, fhe lean'd, but the Tide coming in very faft, fet her afloat, fo that fhe was miraculoufly fav'd; then fetting Sail again to King's Ifland, they found fo many Eggs of black Mews, that one without ftiring from his place, might reach above fifty Nefts, and in each of them at leaft three Eggs, which they carry'd aboard by thoufands. Their Boat Rowing Southerly down the River, found fome Oftriches, and Beafts not unlike Stags, but with exceeding long Necks. On the Hills lay Stones heap'd one upon another, which removing, they found Dead Bodies of eleven Foot long; here they fpent their time in cleanfing their Ships, and new Sheathing the Ketch, but as they were Tallowing, the Flame accidentally got becween the Creviffes which immediately taking Fire, in a fhort time confum'd it to Afhes: The great Ship had gotten a Horn in her Bow, feven Foot under Water; this Horn being firm without any hollownefs, and not unlike a great Elephants Tooth, ftruck thorow two Aflien and one Oaken Plank, fticking in a Rib of the like Wood, and yet above half a Foot remain'd out to be feen.

At length Scbouten Weighing Anchor from Porto Defire, and Sailing to four and fifty Degrees Southern Latitude, met whole Shoals of Whales, infonuch, that he was fain to Tacque to and again to fhun them. SeazPies, bigger thati Swans, came flying in great numbers aboard, fuffering themfelves to be taken

On the North-fide they fpy'd a high and fcraggy Coaf fpreading it felf to the Eaft South-Eaft, which they call'd, The States Country, that which lay to the Weftward of it, Maurice of Naffau, the Inlands in fify leven Degrees Barnevield's Ifles, and the fharp Point in which lay the Snowy Mountains, Southwar̃d of the Magellan Straights end, the Cape of Hoorn.

ries in the South-Sea.

Strange entertainment at the Horn Hands.

Near the ewo Illes fuan. Fernando, they found great fore of Fifh, after that they view'd thefe Illands, that lay fcatter'd up and down the South-Sea, each of them they nam'd according to their feveral occafions, calling the firft, The Ifle of Dog's, becaufe they have abundance of Dogs there that could not bark: Another, The Bottomeffs Ifland, becaule the Sea was fo deep about it, that they could not come to an Anchor. The Inhabitants who go naked, with their Skins pounced full of frange fhapes, of blue Snakes, Dragons, and fuch like Creatures, Salli'd out of the Woods upon the Hollanders with great Clubs, to which was faften'd the Sword or Snout of a Sword-Fifh, and alfo with Slings.

Somewhat further they came to Water:Land, and Flyes-Ifland, the firf fo nam'd, becaufe the Shore round about was planted with Trees, but in the middle all lay cover'd with Salt-Water; the other from the Flyes, which with incredible numbers troubled the Sea-men four days together.

Moreover, the Reception or Entertainment which Schouten was welcom'd withal, at the HoornoIflands, being very remarkable, we will in brief relate:

Anchoring in nine Fathom Water, Shelly ground, before a frefh Rivulet; three Hollanders fent to the King were by him courteoully entertain'd, who with frange humility, not bow'd, but kiffing their Feet fell flat on the ground, and put the Hollanders Feet upon his Neck; and after this manner of Salutation, waited upon them aboard : Yet although this King fawn'd fo much, and feem'd fo humble, yet he was very fevere over his Subjeats, for finding one that had filch'd a Sword, he not onely brought and reftor'd it, but immediate. ly Executed the Thief before their Faces.

Le Maire and Arias Claefzoon were much honor'd here, for the old and young King put their Crowns on their Heads, curioully Wrought of fine White Feathers, and the end adorn'd with fmall Red and Green Feathers ; they gave alfo to each of them a Pigeon, White to their Wings, the hinder part Black, and under their Bellies Red.

In the interim, the King of WatersIfland vifited the other, by whom Le Maire was treated: When they met, they made ftrange fhews of Honor to each other, but at laft fhew'd their Salvagenefs by eating raw Fifh, and rudely Dancing before the Hollanders. Le Maire going into the Countrey, and climbing up a high Mountain, faw nothing but Morafs.Wilds, and Vallies, lying under Water: The King and his Retinue here kept him company, during his ftay there, when weary with walking, they fate down together under Coco-NutTrees; the young King tying a String about his Leg, climb'd with exceeding dexterity up a high Tree, bringing feveral Coco-Nuts down with him, which he open'd very expeditioufly.

Arias Claefzon, Rowing afhore one night, found the King fitting under a Roof, refting on four Pillars, where feveral Naked Women Danc'd before him according to their Mufick, which was Taboring upon a hollow Piece of Wood, which yielded a murmuring found without any diftinct Tune.

But the two Kings meeting again, the next day Complemented one ande ther with more antick and ridiculous Poftures, fitting fide by fide under the Roof, imploring their God, with their Hands folded, and cheir Heads bow'd to the ground : At this interview, four Holland Trumpeters and Drummers ftood playing before the King, to the great admiration and amazement of the Illanders, which were near ten thoufand gather'd together upon the News of the ftrangers to attend the two Kings. Soon after a great company of Rufticks came running thither, which had a green Herb call'd Cava, ty'd about their middle; on a fudden they began all to chaw this Cava, throwing that which they had chaw'd into a large-Woodden Trough, then putting Water to it, they Kneaded it together; whịh done, brought the Liquor on their Heads to the two Kings, before whom they kneel'd when they gave them any : Yet notwithftanding they receiv'd fuch honor from their Subjects, they fhew'd fervile refpects to the Hollanders, for every King prefented them with a Pig, which they firft laid on their Heads, then kneeling, put it down at Le Maires Feet, and bowing their Heads to the ground, rofe again. They wear their Hair long, which Brayded, hung on the left fide of their Heads down to their Hips, ty'd at the end with two Knots; but the Nobility had two fuch Locks: All of them went naked, their Privities onely cover'd. The fmalleft of the Men exceeded the biggeft of the Hollanders in tallnefs. The Women had long Breafts hianging like Satchels down to their Bellies, and fo unfhamefac'd, that they proftituted themfelves to any, in fight of all Men; and fill at low Water, their bufinefs was to catch Fifh, which they greedily eat raw.

After all this Entertainment, Weighing from hence, Schouten Saild along the Coaft of $\mathcal{N e m b = G u i n y , ~ w h e r e ~ t h r e e ~ B o a t s ~ f u l l ~ o f ~ N e g r o ' s ~ c a m e ~ R o w i n g ~ t o . ~}$ wards them, Slinging very fiercely Stones at them, and hovering about, attended their motion all night. Next morning, feven Boats more coming to their affiftance, they fet upon the Hollanders, but foon fled from their Bullets; yet two of the Negro's were taken, that in each Noftril wore a Ring. Sailing further, Ceveral Boats came aboard of them, whereof thofe that Row'd, break. ing their $A \iint_{\text {agays }}$ or Launces over their Heads, enterd the Ship; the Hair of their Heads and Beards bedawb'd with Lime, flew about, whilft they Danc'd on the Decks, after they had eaten a good Meal : But they endeavor'd to res ward this their kind Entertainment with Treachery, for going afhore, they foon after return'd in greater numbers, and fat upon the Anchors which lay over the Bows of the Ship, and there being a great calm, endeavor'd to Towe the Ship towards the Shore, whilft others threw Stones and Arrows. But fo foon as the Hollander's firing their Guns Wounded feveral of them, they all fled, except fome which they took Prifoners, whereof one whom they after= wards call'd $M_{0} \rho_{\text {es, }}$ did them great fervice.

But Le Maire was amaz'd at nothing more, than when on the next Coaft he faw feveral little Houfes built about nine Foot high, out of which many Peo, ple Iffu'd, which were all deform'd, either having .Wry Nofes, Bow Legs, Squint Eyes, or crooked Backs, and all in one part or another mif-fhapen.

At laft, Anchoring before facatra, the Ship was ftopt there by order of the EafteIndia Company, and the Men divided and put aboard thofe Ships that Sail'd from India to Holland, and arriv'd in fafety at Flufhing, after they had Sail'd about the World, in two years and eighteen days.

Voyage of the Naffavian Fleet, under the Command of Jaques L' Heremite, and Geen Huigo Schapenham.

Remarkable Exploits of L' Hermite.

THe United Netherlands, to abate the Spanifh Greatnefs, fet out a confidera. ble Fleet, which they fent to try their fortune, in making Prize of what ever they could light upon in any of their Havens wafh'd by the SouthSea.

Jaques L' Hermite had ten Ships under his Command, Mann'd with fixteen hundred thirty feven Men, and two hundred ninety four Brafs and Iron Guns, with which he fet Sail from Goree, Anno 1623. and coming before Cape Vincent, he difcover'd eleven Turkiß Pirates, whom fighting, he beat, and re=took the Holland Ships they had made Prize of.

At Roxents Head, L' Hermite gave chafe to fifteen Spanijh Ships, and coming up with them, funk eleven, and took four laden with Sugar. Afterwards An= choring at Safia, he fent the Ship Over-y ffel, and a Frigat call'd the Gray-Hound, to Convoy home the Prizes; afterward being inform'd, that thirty Spanigh Ships were making to therr, Sailing into the Haven St. Vincent, the Spring Water that he fupply'd his empty Cask with being brakkifh, caus'd an excoriation of the Guts, which brought the Bloody-Flux, whereby he loft many of his Sea-men; being well entertain'd by the Salvages of Antonio, they went on to Sierra Leoma, a Mountainous Point full of Lime-Trees, here they found the Names of Sr. Francis Drake, and other Englifh cut in a Rock.

After that he put in at the fruitful Inand Amakon, where he caus'd his Chirurgeon to be Beheaded.

This wicked Man being brought to the Torture, would confefs nothing concerning the Crimes objected againft him, but being ftrip'd for Execution, they found a finall Bag hanging on his Breaft, in which lay a Serpents Skin and 'Tongue, with which he had Poyfon'd feveral Men, but he confefs'd nothing.

The firft of February, the Fleet came to Cape de Pemias, which they know at a great diftance, by its high Mountains cover'd with Snow.

In fhort time after, Sailing by the Mouth of the Straights of La Maire, they met with very tempeftuous Weather, and feventeen of their Men going afhore, were devour'd by the Cannibals of Terra del Fuogo. Thefe People being all Whites, and of a large Stature, Paint themfelves Red, and go ftark naked, except fome of higheft quality who tie a Deer Skin about their Necks; and the Women cover their Nakednefs with a piece of Leather : They live in Bowers made of the Branches of Trees, Stak'd three Foot deep, in a round at bottom, and above like our Tents, Canopy'd, the top of which open, to carry out the Smoke like a Chimney; and have no other Houfhold-ftuff than fome Baskets, in which they lay their few Fifhing Implements. They go continuallyArm'd with Clubs, Arrows, Slings, and Stone-Knives: Their Boats being only the Trunk of a Tree made hollow, rife tip before and behind like a Half-Moon, and are fourteen, and fome fixteen Foot long, and two broad, and Row fwifter than a Pinnace with many Oars. Laftly, they are fo Salvage, that they feem rather to be Beafts than Men, knowing no Religion, ill Natur'd, cruel and Treacherous.

From hence, paffing on, L' Hermite refrefh'd at the defolate Inc Fernando, and fo Steer'd his Courfe to Calla de Lima, on whofe Coaft, taking a Spanijh Veffel, the Prifoners told him, that their Plate.Fleet had Weigh'd Anchor, and were gone to Panama; only the Admiral which carry'd forty Brafs Guns, with fifty Merchant-Men, lay clofe under the Shore, Guarded by three Stone Bulwarks, Fortifi'd with fifty Guns.

L'Hermite having a defign upon thefe, took three Spanifh Veffels that were going thither, and at midnight, fent Captain Adrian Tol, Peter Slobbe, and Meindert Egbertfzon, with twelve well Mann'd Boats, furnifh'd with Brafs Drakes, and Hand-Granado's, to Attaque the Spanifh Fleet that lay hard by ; and whilft fome gave a falle Alarm on the North of Callao, the Boats Rowing from Ship to Ship, in fhort time fir'd forty of them; although the Spaniards from the Shore endeavor'd by their Shot to drive back the Enemy, neither the Fort or Admiral fparing Powder nor Ball.

In this valiart Exploit the Hollanders had onely feven Men kill'd, and fifteen Wounded : About break of day, feyen of the Spanijh Ships floated, burning towards the Dutcl) Fleet, which were as terrible as now Fire-fhips, which forc'd them to Weigh Anchor to fhun them.
After that, $L^{\prime}$ Hermite took two Ships laden with Wine, a third full of Wood, and a fourth with Wheat: One of thefe Prizes he fitted and prepar'd for a Fire-fhip, and fending her to Board the Spanifh Admiral, it ran aground within thot of him; whereupon being batter'd by the Admirals Guns, and thofe from the Bulwarks, and at laft taking Fire gave but a fmall blow, becaufe moft part of the Powder had taken Wer.

In this interim, while thus their defign went profperoufly on, their Admiral L' Heremite dy'd, whom they Bury'd on the Ifland Lima, and Schapenbam, in defiance of the Vice-Roy in Callao, caus'd one and twenty Spaniards to be hang'd at the Yard.Arm, becaufe he had fent him a fcornful Anfwer on the Propofals concerning the delivery of the Prifoners.

Cornelius facob/zoon Sailing to Pifco with four Sail from the. Fleet, could do no good there, for he not onely found the City to be furrounded with a Wall of fifteen Foot high, but having alfo many Earthen. Redoubts, behind which lay above two thoufand arm'd Men, wherefore he deferted the fame after fome Rancounters: But the Rear-Admiral, fobn Williamfzoon Verflioor, who was fent to Gainquil, had much better luck; for he not onely took that Metropolis, but allo burnt a new Royal Gallion, and two leffer Veffels; carry'd a conquer'd Veffel to Lima; flew above a hundred Spaniards, and threw feventeen overboard, becaufe they had fhot Poyfon'd Bullers againft the Law of Arms; of which Conqueft Captain Engelbert Shutte had the greateft honor: But the Sea, men grew weaker and weaker by the Scurvy, and all of them would have perifh'd, had they not found a foveraign Herb on the higheft Mountains of Lima. Schapenlam being chofe Admiral in L' Heremites place, Weigh'd Anchor from Callao, and ran into the Inlet Pifcadores, where on the fhore he rais'd a Sconce; yet not long after departed from thence without any effect, but loft twenty eight Men, through the bad Conduct of their Commanders; the like number he loft alfo at Aquapulque, on the fide of which City ftands a Cafte with four ftrong Bulwarks; the Holland Fire-fhip lay juft without the reach of the fhot, the reft lay along the fhore in a row, there to feize upon the Veffels expected thither from the Manillaes: But becaufe the Scurvy raged amongft the Sea-men, and difabled them, they waited in vain, Schapenham Sail'd through the SouthSea to the Ladrones, where he found fore of Provifions. Anmo 1625. in March, he drop'd Anchor before Maleye, and from thence went with Herman Spiult, the Governor for the Eaft-India Company in Amboina, to Ceram, where they Con. quer'd the Fort Lochoe, and foon after Cambella; then the Fleet being divided, Schapenham carry'd home two Ships from Batavia, and the remainder return'd at feveral times, they being hir'd to ferve the EaftoIndia Company to Surratta, Malacca, Coromandel, and the Molucco Illes: Schapenbam Deceafing near Bantum, and being Bury'd on Pulo Doftok, the Ships arriv'd at the Texel in July, Amno 1626.

Henry Bicwer bis Voyage.

ANno 1643. Brever fet Sail with four Ships from Reciffo, and ran clofe along the States-Ifle, fo dangerous and Rocky, that he durft not put in to the Land; from which flew great abundance of Party-colour'd Ducks, with fharp Bills, about the Ships, and under the Keels fwam alfo Whales,

On the Weft fide of the Straights Le Maire, Brown ran into Valentine's Inlet, where he was much troubled by the Winds which came whiftling through the hollow Mountains with great and fudden gufts: The fhore afforded red and black Strawberries, Carville and Mufcles, to the great refrefhment of the Seas men, who dzily faw SearLions, but could not come to fhoot one of them, for no fooner they perceiv'd any body, but they Diving under Water, fwam away; and though they faw Mens Foor.fteps of eighteen Inches long, yet they never found any Men. Thence Sailing into the South-Sea, along the Coaft of Chili, they enter'd a Bay which they nam'd Brever's-Haven; where Landing, they walk'd towards a great Smoke which they faw afar off, but coming near it, found only two Houles within a large Plain, full of Sheep, Oxen, and Horfes; before the Houfes ftood Woodden Croffes.

The Dolphin Pink and a great Boat being fent to the Inler, lay the following Night at an Anchor near a high Mountain; from whence, in the Night, two great Guns were fir'd, whereupon, Lieutenant William Ter Bergen Landed with

Of the Bounds of America, and of the Divifion of the Mexican or $\mathcal{X}$ orthern part thereof.

Aving in the firft part of this Volume difcours'd at large concerning the original of the Americans, and whether that parr of the World call'd India Occidentalis, or America, were known to the Ancients, or own its Difcovery wholly to the Moderns, as alfo of all the Difcoveries that have been made of the feveral parts thereof, and by whom, we fhall now pafs on to the Topographical part, defcribing every particular Province or Region, by giving an account of their Situation, Temperature, Productions, Nature of the Soil, and Quality of the Inhabitants. America, lying Weftward of the Azores, and the Worlds Meridian, is by fome fuppos'd to confift of one vaft Ifland, and feveral leffer ones, fcatter'd about it : Nor can this fuppofition be thought vain, if, as many think, it be inviron'd on the North-fide, as toward the Eaft, South, and Weft it is known to be; Eaft and South, by the Atlantick 0 ceant; and Weft, by Mar del $Z_{\text {ur }}$ : But becaure the North.Weft Paffage, though attempted by many, as NelJon, Davis, Forbijher, Button, Smitb, Huddon, and others, hath not yet by any been fully difcover'd ; fo that it is not certainlyknown whether America be joyn'd to Greenland, and the Arctick Region, by a continu'd Tract of Land, or fever'd by the Ocean : We fhall follow the method of thofe Geographers, who, reputed fufficiently Authentick, have divided this new World into Iflands, and two grand Peninfula's joyn'd together by an Iflhmus, or Neck of Land; call'd The Sraightof Darien, by fome The Straight of Panama, lying al. mof under the Equinoctial Line, and extending in length from Nombre de Dios Southward above a hundred Miles, and from Eaft to Weft feventeen Miles over in the narroweft place. Of thefe two grand Peninfula's the Northern is generally call'd America Mexicana, from Mexico the chief City of the Province, properly call'd \$Mexis cand; which was heretofore without doube the moft potent, rich, and flourifhing of all the Kingdoms of the Iidians, at leaft on the Northsfide of the Ijtlimus. In the divifion of the feveral Provinces of America, as well thofe of the Northern as of the Southern Continent, we find fo various an account among the feveral Geographers that have written of them (not any two of them agreeing in one and the fame order) that to reconcile the differing methods of fo many difagreeing Authors would be an endlefs work : wherefore we fhall pitch upon the fureft courfe, and not omitting the mention of any of the Provinces taken notice of by the faid Authors, hereby endeavor to take in whatfeever material hath been obferv'd by all of them, and by the way take occafion to fhew how one differs from another in the diftribution of them. Thofe therefore of the Northern America (that as near as can be we may bring the defign of many into one) feém moft fitly defcrib'd in this following order: I. Eftotiland; 2. Terra Laboratoris, or Nova Britamnia; 3. Canada, or Nova Francia; 4. Nova Scotia; 5. Neip England; 6. Nerv Netherlands, now call'd New York, as being in the poffeffion of the Englifh; 7. Guacatimala; 19. Nova Gallicia; 20. Nova Bifcaia; 21. Nova Mexico; 22. Cibola; 23. Nova Granata; 24. Tontonteac; 25. Quivira; 26. Nova Albion; to which by moft Authors is added California; which being an Illand we thought fit to referve to be fpoken of amongft the Iflands, as allo Terra Nova, or New-found Land; which laft lies utmof Weft, as the other Eaft of Northern America. Some there are alfo (and particularly Monfieur de Martini) who among the above-mention'd Provinces have inferted Greenland, though doubtlefs with little reafon, fince though it be granted that it is not divided by any Sea, yet it is evident, if any credis may be given to all modern Maps and Globes, that the greateft part of Greenland liés in the Hemirpherre of the known World ; and therefore we have judg'd it moft convenient to refer the particular mention thereof to the Defcription of the Arctick Region.

The Iflands of Northern America are I. Terra Nova, or Neib-found Land; 2. The Ifland of AjJumption; 3. The Bermudas, or Summer-Ifland ; 4. Hispaniola; 5.St. Fobn Porto Rico; 6. Cuba; 7. Famaica; 8. The Lucayes; 9. The Caribes, or Antille; 10. Margarita; II Cubagua; 12. La Trinidad; 13.Tabago; 14. California, the biggeft of all the American. Illands.

The length of the Weft-Indies is generally computed to be from the utmof South of Terra Magellanica, to the farthef North of Efotiland, about fix thoufand Englifh Miles, reaching from fix Degrees of Northern, to fifty three of Southern Latitude ; the breadth from St. Michael or Piura Weftward, to Parabaya, a Town on the Coaft of Brafil Eaftward, three thoufand nine hundred Miles, and the whole compafs. thirty thoufand.

SECT. II.

Eftotiland.

THat the Englifh have been very great Undertakers of Voyages and Difcoveries toward the North-Weft, appears by the denomination of divers pla. ces, both from the Perfons which have Sail'd thitherward, and alfo from fuch of our own Countrey Names as were thought fit to be there fix'd, as beyond the Arctick Circle are Sir James Lancafter's Sound, Sir Dudley Diggs's Cape, Queens Annes

Foreland, Cumberland IJles, Davis's Straight, ecc. on this fide toward the Arctick Circle, Button's and Brigg's Bay, Hudfon's'Sea, otherwife term'd Mare Chrifianum, out of which more Wefterly runs a narrow Sea call'd Hudfon's Straigbt: beyond Hudfon's Sea towards the Arctick Circle is a place call'd Newo North-Wales; and on this fide anfwerable to it, between Button's Day and the Chrifian Sea, lies Neis South-Wales; all which places we find generally fet down in the American Hemifphere, but in the Geographical Difcourfes thereof little is faid of them, if fo much as nam'd. The fartheft part of Land Northward, between Hudfon's Gulph and Hudfon's Straight, betwixt fifty feven and fixty Degrees of Northern Latitude, goes generally by the Name of Effotiland, I mean that properly fo call'd (for Effotiland is by fome as latgely taken as Canadd, by Claverius, Golnitzius, Peter duVal, and others, namely for all that Tract of Land extending from that fuppofed Straight of Anfan, which dividés America from Aflatick Tartary, as far as the utmoft point of Land that floots toward the Atlantick Ocean) which Southerly towards Terra Laboratoris is bounded with a River vulgarly call'd Rio Nevado, or The Snowy River. Efotiland feems to have deriv'd its Name from its lying more Eafterly than the reft of the Provinces, and, according as Nova Britamia is plac'd in fome Charts, might very well be taken for the fame, though it hath not been fo term'd by any Author, but rather Terra Laboratoris, Cortereatis, and Nova Britamia are generally receiv'd to be all one.

This Province is affirm'd by Matthias Quadus, and 7. Antonius Maginus, to have been the fiff difcover'd Countrey of the new World, and that by Antonius Zeno, a Patrician of Venice, in the Year of our Lord 1390. which was long before the Expedition of Columbus, through the encouragement of Zichmus, King of the Ine of Friezland; but by whomfoever found out, or at whatfoever time, it is commonly affirm'd to be not ill furnifh'd with Provifions of all forts, as Beafts, Birds, Fifh, Fowl, and Fruits, having a Soil indifferent fertile, in refpect of the coldnefs of the Climate. The People in general (for fome there are that live wild and falvage up and down the Woods, and go naked, whereas the Clothing of the Countrey is the Skins of Beafts and of Sea-Calves, call'd Morfes) are reported not onely tolerably civil, but alfo ingenious and expert both in mechanick Arts, and other neceffary Faculties, infomuch that the firft Voyagers to this place are faid to have oblerv'd of them upon this firf Difcovery, That they fow'd Corn, brew'd Beer and Ale, and Traded by Sea to Greenland, Friezland, and other places, to the diftance of fifteen hundred Miles; and that they were not altogether void of the ufe of Letters, but that their Character was onely proper to themfelves and not intelligible by any other Nation : Moreover, there is a certain Tradition, that there was here and there forme little knowledge of the Latine Tongue amonght them, and that there were found divers Latine Books in a Library of one of their Kings; the reafon of which, iftrue, is conjectur'd to be from certain Etropeans who underfood that Language, having in Ages paft fuffer'd fhipwrack upon'thofe Coafts, where chancing to abide either through conftraint or choice, they might haply at their Deceafe leave behind them fome Books and other Monuments of the Latine Tongue. They were obferv'd to ufe fuch a kind of Javelin or fhort Dart, as was known to be us'd by the People of Fiva, and fome other Iflands of the Edft.Indies; whereupon it feems not wholly improbable, that they might for a long time have entertain'd Traffick and Correfpondence with them.

The Morfes, or Sea-Calves before mention'd, are about the bignefs of a young Heifer, the 'Hunting of which by the Natives, who take them in great numbers, is to them in the flead of Whale-fffing, which is not there fo good, for they draw a great quantity of Train. Oyl out of them. On each fide of the Jaw of this amphibious Creature (for it is faid to live very much on the Land, as well as in the Water) there fticks out a crooked Tusk, winding downward like an Elephants Probofcis, above a Cubit in length, and as white and hard as Ivory: It is efteem'd of great vertue, at leaft it paffes for fuch among thofe who take it for other than what it is, for it is frequently vended for Ulnicorns-horn ; of which impofture Dr. Brown takes notice, and gives a Caution againft in his Vulgar Errors.

This Countrey is fuppos'd, and that probably enough, to have ftore of Brafs and Iron Mines; but for the Mines of Gold and Silver, which fome have imagin'd there, the Northerly Situation of the Countrey, and by confequence the coldnefs of the Climate, give fufficient caufe to queftion the truth of any fuch affertion. What chief Towns, Cities, Rivers and Mountains there are in this Province, is not yet deliver'd by any, onely Maginus and Quadus make mention of four principal Rivers, which difperfe themfelves through the Countrey, and take their fource out of 2 great Mountain in the midft thereof.

SECT. III.

Terra Laboratoris.

Situation.

TErra Laboratoris, by fome call'd Nova Britannia, by others Corterealis, (though there are fome who make Laboratoris and Corterealis two diftinct Countreys, comprehended, according to Peter du Val, under Nova Britannia, as the more general Province; or, according to Clwverius, under Canada) lies from about fifty four to fifty feven Degrees of Northern Latitude, between Eftotiland and the River Canada, which Maginus and fome others, though for what reafon is not exprefs'd, name Fretum trium Fratrum, The Bay of the three Brethren; others, The River of St. Laurence, and is, according to the faid Author, of fo vaft a bignefs, that the Mouth of it extends it felf thirty five Italian Miles wide; likewife of fuch a length, as to have been navigated a continu'd Voyage of eight hundred Miles. 'The deno. mination of Terra de Laborador, or Laboratoris, feems probably enough conjecturd to be from the cultivability (if one may fo term it) of the Soil, or its aptnefs for Cultivation or Tillage; that is, becaufe by the painful Hand of the Labourer or Husband-man it may be rendred fo fertile, as to yield all forts of Grain and Fruits; haply in allufion to that fruitful Countrey of Campania in Italy, vulgarly known by the Name of Terradi Lavoro. As for the Appellation of Terra Corterealis, it need not be queftion'd, but that it derives it felf from Gaspar Corterealis, a Portuguefe Gentle. man, who about the Year of our Lord 1500. is thought by fome to have made the firft difcovery of thefe Parts; though Sir Sebaftian Cabot a Venetian, is more generally believ'd to have been the Man that (under the favour and countenance of Henry the Seventh, King of England) firft difcover'd them, at leaft the adjoyning Ifland Terra Niova, or Newvofound Land; but juft onely difcover'd, being hinder'd the farther profecution of that Defign, by the important Affairs in which the faid King was about that time involv'd; neither did Corterealis, whether he was the firt, or came after, do any more, for returning within a year after his firft fetting out, he was never heard of; nor, as Oforius a Portugue/e Hiftorian writes, any of his Company, being all fuppos'd to have been drown'd by Shipwrack; and in like manner Michael Corterealis; who the year following fet forth with two Ships in queft of his Brother Gaspar. Upon which feries of Misfortunes the Portuguefe being wholly difcourag'd, and giving over this Defign, the French of Armorica or Bretany fucceed them in it with fomewhat better fuccefs about the Year 1504. whereupon it came to be term'd Nova Britannia, or New Britain. The ancient Inhabitants of this place were formerly of a Nature, like the generality of the American People, fomewhat bruitifh and falvage, but by long converfation with the Frencl, are faid to have caft off their original wildnefs, and become more civilly manner'd : they are very jealous of their Wives, by report much addicted to Soothfaying, though otherwife having little of Religion, or of any other kind of Learning; they dwell for the moft part in Caves under Ground, feed chiefly upon Fifh, and are accounted moft expert Archers. Whatever places the French have built here befides, thofe of chiefeft note are St. Maries, Cabo Marzo, and Breft.

Canada, or New France.

CAnada, as it is taken for one and the fame Province with Nero France, contains New France, properly fo call'd, Nova Scotia, Norumbega, and fome adjoyning Iflands, as the Canada of Cluverius, lying more North-Wefterly, comprehends (as we have already intimared) Eftotiland, Laboratoris, and Corterealis, and, according to the moft modern Divifion (for that of Cluverius neither confents with the lateft Authors, nor agrees with exact Survey, it being nam'd Canada, in refpect the River Canada runs through it) hath on the North Terra Corterealis, on the South New England, and on the Eaft the Ocean, and hath between forty five and fifty two or fifty three Degrees of Northern Latitude. The River Canada is judg'd to be the largeft of all the Rivers of America, as thofe Rivers generally the largeft of all in the World befides; it rifes in the Weftern parts of this Province which remain yet undifcover'd, and in fome places fpreads it felf into huge Lakes, fome of them a hundred Miles in compafs, with many little Iflands difperfed up and down in them, and fo running from the Weft about a hundred Leagues, falls at laft into the North part of St. Lavrence Bay, being that wide Emboubbeure of thitty five Miles breadth already mention'd. This River is extraordinary full of Fifh, among which there is one fort more remarkable than the reft, call'd by the Infiabitants Cadbothuis, having Heads refembling the Heads of Hares, and Bodies as white as Snow ; they are taken for the moft part before the Inle de Lievres. The Countrey on both fides of the River is pleafant and indifferently fertile, efpecially towards the South-Weft, where upwards from the River the Ground rifes into many little Hills, invefted moft of them with Vines, with which and feveral other forts of Trees this Countrey abounds, being well water'd with a great many leffer Streams, all of them falling into the River Canada.

That this Countrey is term'd New France, from having been difcover'd by the French, at leaft more fully than before, there needs no queftion to be made; but whether Foannes Verrazanus, under Francis the Firft of France, or Sebaftian Cabot before fpoken of, were the firft in this Difcovery, may admit of fomething of difpute: the Cabots indeed, (for fohn the Father is by fome mention'd to have accompanied. his Son) who by all are own'd the firt Difcoverers of New-found-Land and Terra de Baccalaos, are allo commonly repured to have firft found out the Province of $\mathcal{N e w}$ France, together with fome parts adjacent, though perhaps it might be upon this Ground that Terra de Aova, or New-found-Land, not being known at firt to be ant Illand, Nerb France and that might be taken for one continu'd Province; and it appears fo much the more probable, becaufe Canada, or Nova Francia, is by fome call' ${ }^{\text {d }}$ Terra Nova; however itbe; or whoever were the firt Adventurers, Quarteri and Champlain are the two French-men that have gain'd fo much fame by making a more ample and particular fearch into thefe parts, that this Province may feem from thence to have fufficient claim to the 'Title of New France, whereof that part more efpecially fo call'd, lies on the North.fide of the River Canada, and Southward to TerraCorcerealis. The Winter is here very long, and fo much the more fevere by reafon of a cold North=Weft Wind which blows moft part of the Winter Seafon, and brings with it fo thick a Snow, that it continues upon the Ground moft commonly till after May. The Countrey is for the moft part wooddy, but in the Champain parts thereof very fruitful of Corn, and all forts of Grain, efpecially Pulfe : It hath alfo Fifh, Fowl, wild Deer, Bears, Marterns, and Foxes in abundance, and of Hares fuch plenty, that one of the little Iflands belonging to this Pro. vince, is by the Frenchnam'd L'Ifle des Lievres, or The Ifland of Hares: But the moft 'peculiar Commodity belonging to this Countrey is the Efurgnuy, a kind of Shell. Fifh, extraordinary white, and approv'd of fingular vertue for the fanching of Blood; to which purpofe they make Bracelets of them, not onely for their own ufe, but alfo to vend them to others; but Fohn de Laet and others have obferv'd no other than a fuperftitious ufe of them amongft the Salvages, in their Funeral Rites for the Dead : the manner of theirtaking it is very remarkable; for when any one is condemn'd to die, or taken Prifoner, they cut offall his flefhy parts in long flices, and then throw him into the River, where they let him lie twelve hours, and at laft pulling him out again find his Wounds full of Efurgnui. Luadus and Maginus make mention of three ancient Towns, namely Canada (denominated as the Pro. vince, from the River) Hochelai and Hochcbelaga, giving Name to a Territory about it, which Geographers either take no notice of, or make fome queftion of the being of fuch Towns; however, a late Defcriber of the Weft-Indies, not mentioning the other two, gives this defcription of the laft, viz. Hocbcoelaga:

* "This City (faith he) Yaid to be the Seat and Refidence of a King of this Country " whom the Natives, at leaff fome of them, acknowledge and reverence, carrying "him fometimes in great pomp upon their Shoulders fitting upon a Carpet of "Beafts Skins, is fituate far within Land, at a diftance of fix or feven Leagues from "the River 'Caniada, and is a kind of fortifid place, encompafs'd about with a three"fold Range of Timber Ramparts one within another, of about two Rods high "from the Ground, with crofs Planks, or pieces of Timber jutting out, on purpofe "to hinder an Enemy's Scaling or getting up; towards the top there is as it were a "Scaffold or Gallery fram'd, from whence they may throw down Stones (of which "there is always good fore ready, or what elfe to annoy the Affailants: It hath "one onely Gate for Entrarice, and that likewife well fortifid after their manner: "There are guefs'd to be in it fifty or fixty great Houfes, built (as the maner of the "Americans that live in Houfes ufually is) in a fquare Figure, each fide being about "fifty Foorlong, or more, and fixteen or twenty broad, but not many Stories " high; and in the midft of the Court or void fpace, a place to make their Fire, "s and do other neceffary work about it. Moreover the Territory round about "this Town is both rich in Soil, and pleafant in Profpect.

Befides thefe three above=mention'd Towns there are feveral others, which are not untaken notice of in the moft modern Defcriptions and Maps, viz. I. Stadac, or Stadacone, fomewhat Weftward of a fmall Ifle call'd The Ifle d' Orleance; 2. Quebeque, which being made a Colony of the French, and the Natives expell'd, came to be Entituled St. Croix; 3. Tadouffac, which lies in that part of the Countrey denominated from the River Saguenay, and by fome call'd at this day Nonvelle Bifcaye, a de. lightful place, and full of ftately Trees, and hath likewife a good and fafe Haven, capable capable of receiving twenty Ships; 4. Trois Rivieris, or three Rivers; 5. Monreal ; 6. Sillery; 7. Richelieu; befides two ftrong Canles or Forts, Franceroy and Sc. Lewis; the Firft buile by Monficur Robeval at his Landing here, about the Year 1540. the other defign'd for a Colony, in the Ycar 16rr. by Monfieur Cbamplany, but hinder'd by the Invafion of the Iroquois. The fmaller Rivers that run out of the Gulph of St. Lawrence, and the grand River Canadatowards the North, on which fide chiefly lies this Province, are, 1. Cbichefedec, 2. St. Margarite, 3. Le (quemin, 4. Saquenay, before-mention'd, 5. Montopne; and on the South fide, the River Mary. The principal Tribes of the ancient Natives of this Countrey were; on the North fide of Canada the Canadans, the Betijamites, the Hurons, the Algoniquins, the Quenongebins, the Algoingequins, the Altagopantans, the Atticameques, the Nipifiriniens; and on the South fide, the Etecbemins, and the chief Heads or Princes of thefe Tribes were call'd Sagamores.
Faques Quartier Complementing their King Agouthanna, took up his Quarters a whole Winter at St. Croix, a Sandy Promontory, overflow'd by the River Canada, into which falls the Lake de Champlain, grown round about with Cheftnut Trees; in it breeds the ftrange Fifh call'd Chaoufarou, generally ten Foot long, with Heads like Sharks, and two rows of Teeth in their Mouths, their Skins full of frong Scales, which are fufficient Shields againft Swords and Lances, are great devourers of other Fiff and Fowls, which they take after this manner, rize they fwim amonglt Reeds or Canes, and lie ftill with their Mouths open ; whereat the Birds fitting down upon them, are immediately fwallow'd.

The Natives of Nova Francia anoint their bodies with Oil; in the Summer they go naked, and in the Winter mantle themfelves in Furs. Their Warlike Accoutrements are Darts and Clubs, but chiefly great Shields. They are revengeful, cruel, and fraudulent; their Women common to all Men, from fifteen to twenty, after which, Marrying, they become very Chafte. Their Diet is Indian Corn, frefh and falt Fifh, Venifon, Buffalo's and Beavers fleflı; wiping their Fingers (when greafie) on their Heads, or their Dogs backs, which wait for the Scraps.

At that feafon when the Corn covers the ground, to any heighth, they eat Cockles, Dogs, dead Caryon, and the Skins wherewith they Clothe themfelves. When they have eaten their fill, they tabering on their Bellies, cry, Tapoue Mikispoun, that is, $V_{e}-$ rily I am Catisfi'd. They give their Sick a fpeedy Cure, either immediately killing them, or inhumanely expofing them to the Woods, to be devour'd by ravenous Beafts, but if they die fuddenly, they in howling tone pronounce $O v e, O v e, ~ t h e r e b y ~$ to chafe the Souls of the Deceas'd out of their Huts; they ftick the bodies on Wood. den Prongs, cover them with Bark, and lay their Clothes and Arms by them; all what remains of the Funeral Feafts is burnt, whereas at other times, what e're is brought on their Table they eat, though ready to burft. They make the firft Proofs of their Valour by undergoing a moft prodigious Torment, in this manner; Two by confent tie their naked Arms together, on which they fuffer burning Sulphur to be pour'd, till the flefh flarts from the bone; if either of them Thrink, or pull back his Arm, he is accounted by them ever after as an ignominious and bafe Coward. They call God Atabocan, and believe that one Meffou firft drowning the world by a general Deluge, reftor'd it again after a wonderful manner, viz. Meffow hunting with Wolves, they fcented a Deer which being clofely purfu'd, leap'd into a neighboring Pool, the Wolves following it, were drown'd; Melfou coming thither, food amaz'd at a Bird, which inform'd him, that the Wolves were pluck'd down, and held faft in the bottom by horrible Monfters, whereupon he diving, the Pool immediarely began to fivell, and at lalt the whole fur-

Face of the Earth to be overflow'd. Meffou afterwards let a Raven fie to fetch a Clod of Earth, but in vain, for all the Land lay drown'd in Water; at laft a Rat diving to the bottom, brought a lump of Earth, out of which Meffour refor'd the World ; fhot Arrows into Trees, which became fruitful Branches. Here alfore-

They boaft their Extract from Heaven. - Their ftrange Relation concerning it. fide an innumerable many Sorcerers, call'd Pillotoa's, which fometimes being poffefs'd with a Frenzy, fcourge themfelves in a terrible manner, infomuch that the Blood runs down by their fides: Thefe People are held in great efteem, for they boaft themfelves to have their Original from Heaven upon this occafion, viz. Ataenfic, a certain great Queen or Goddefs, refiding above the Stars, had a fick Hufband, who Dreamt that he fhould be reftor'd to his former health fo foon as he could but tafte of the Fruits which grew on a Tree, whereby the Family of Heaven were kept alive, but that the Tree mult needs be cut down, which Ataenfic obeying, gave onely two blows, when the Tree, to her great amazement, fell out of Heaven down to the Earth; there being by this means nothing more left to eat in Heaven : Ataenfic follow'd the fallen Tree, and being big with Child, bare a Daughter, which growing up to years, was Deliver'd of two Daughters, viz. Taovifcaron and Joiskeha; the eldeft of which flew the youngeft : By thefe Fables we may difcern their obfcure knowledge of Noab's Flood, Eve's Fall, and Cain's Murder. No lefs ridiculous is that which they believe concerning the Creation, viz. That the Waters were inclos'd within a Frog, which Jouskeha caufing to be cut open, all Streams and Rivers iffuing out, had their Original from thence: This done, Jouskels open'd a Pit, out of which came all forts of Beafts; they a fcribe a Bodily Village towards the Weft ; from which renoving fometimes, they knock at the Doors of their former Friends in the Night, and fow deferted Grounds: That the Journey towards the Village in which the Souls refide is very ftrange; the High. way thither beginning at a Rock nam'd Ecaregniendi, where they firf Paint their Faces, which done, they go to a Hut inhabited by an old Man, nam'd Ofotrach, who takes the Brains out of the Souls Head ; after which they walk to a broad Ri. ver, which they crofs on a narrow Plank or Bridge, on which a Dog encountring, forces them to leap into the Water, which carries them down to the foremention'd Village. They acknowledge one Oki for the Governor of the Sea, and feafons of the Year : They alfo Religiounly Worfhip the Rock Tfankebi Arafta, which they believe fome ages ago was once a Man, but afterward Transform'd into a Rock, in which a Demon refides, who can make their Journies either fuccefsful or dangerous, wherefore they offer him Tobacco. Their opinion of Thunder is likewife very ridiculous, for they fay that the Devil endeavoring to vomit a horrible Serpent, by fraining to evacuate the farme, rents the Clouds, and occafions ThunTree, which by his blowing thereon grew fo high, that it touch'd the Clouds, and Thakabecb eafily ftept into them, where he found all forts of delight and plea. fure ; but having a Sifter on Earth, defcended again along the Tree, and fetching his Sifter, conducted her above the Stars; mean while, Thakabech going in the Night to fee if he had taken any thing in his Net which he had pitch'd, found it full of Fire, and obferving the fame very narrowly, faw that he had taken the Sun, but durft not approach the fame, by reafon of its great heat; but making a Moufe, fent her to gnaw the Net in pieces, and fet the Sun at liberty. Every

[^4] twelfth year they keep an extraordinary great Funeral-Feaft; for on the Setatime they flock from all parts to the appointed place, every one carrying thither the Bodies or Bones of their Deceas'd Friends, wrapt up in Clothes, and hang them over their their Meat, which they eat finging; fuch fond and Superfitious Conceits make up the Religion of thefe poor deluded People.

SECT. V.

Accadia, or Nova Scotia.

NOva Scotia, or News Scotland, formerly call'd Accadia, is commonly accounted a part of New France, (vize that part which lying on the South fide of the River Canada, and Thooting South-Eafterly into a bofom of the Sea, forms it felf into a Peninfula, between the Gulph of St. Lavrence, and the Bay Francoife) neverthelefs, becaufe of the different concernments of this part of the Countrey, in regard the right of claim to feveral places in this diftrict, moft efpecially of all No. $v_{a}$ Francia befides, hath been long in difpute between $\mathcal{U s}_{s}$ and the French, it will be moft convenient to Treat of it apart; and becaufe the Series of Affairs, from its firft difcovery, till of late years, appears faithfully reprefented on the Englifh part, in a Remonftrance Addrefs'd to the King and Council by Sir Lewis Kirk, and his Brother fobn Kirk Efquire; it will not be amifs (onely adding fome few things upon occafion) to follow exactly the Narration of Affairs, deliver'd in the faid Remonftrance to this effect.

"He whole. Tract or Space of Land in America, lying on either fide of the River Canada, which a long time fince were known by the Names of "Nova Francia, and Nova Sootia, were at firft difcover'd and found out by the Eng. "Crown of England: Neither was it unto any other Chrifitian Princes, or their Sub. " jects more clearly known or difcover'd, untill about the year 1600 . fome of the "French underftanding the benefit arifing by Traffique in the River of St. Lamorence, " having formerly feiz'd upon that Tract of Land, fituate on the North fide of "the faid Floud or River Canada, did afterwards, in Anno 1604. (under the Cone "duct of Peter de Gua, Lord of Monts, who in the year 1606. was follow"d by Monfieur "de Pourtrincourt) Poffers themfelves of L' Accadie, lying on the South fide of " the faid River, naming the whole Nova Francia, challenging to themfelves for " many years, at leaft de faito, the Poffeffion thereof, with fole liberty of Com. "2. In Anno 1621 . King fames of England looking upon the Poffeffion gotten "there by the French, as upon an Invafion, did by his Letters Patents Grant un. "to Sir William Alexander a Scotchman (Created afterwards Earl of Sterling, by King "Charles the Firf) L' Accadie, by the Name of Nova Scotia; who in the year 1622, "and 1623 .after Sir Samuel Argal bad driven out Biard and Maffe, and demolifhing their "Fort, carry'd them Prifoners to Virginia, having obtain'd the Poffeffion thereof, "they Planted a Colony therein, and kept Poffeffion for about two years after, " until fuch time, as upon the Marriage of his Majefty King Cbarles the Firft, with " the Lady Henrietta Maria, the faid L" Accadie, or Nova Scotia, was by Order of the "King of England return'd into the Poffeffion of the French.

" and carry'd into France, and her Lading, as if fhe had been lawful Prize, Confio " fcated; whereupon the Kirks fuffer'd lofs, to the value of twelve thoufand Pounds. "And although the Lord Scudanore, Ambaffador in France, by the King of Englands "fpecial Command, and the faid John. Kirk being there in Perfon, by the King's "Command, did often earneftly urge, that the Moneys due to the faid Kirks, and
" the faid Ship, with her Lading, might be reftor'd, which for no other caufe had

"fruitlefs endeavors return"d into England without accomplifhing his defires.
" 7. In the year 1654 . Cromvol, although an unjuft Ufurper of the Government, " yet upon confideration of the Premifes, taking a juft occalion for requiring the "Poffeffion of $L$ ' Accadie, fends forth Ceveral Ships under the Command of one
"Sedgrick, who by vertue of the Authority granted him by Cromwel, affaulted and
"fubdu'd the aforefaid Forts in Nova Scotia, and reftor'd them into the Poffeffion "of the Englifh: And alchough in the year 1655. a League of firm Peace and Amity "being concluded between Cromwel and the French King, the French Ambaffador "did often urge the Reftitution to the Poffeffion of the French; yet for the fame caus "Ses aforefaid, which had mov'd Cromivel to feize upon them, it was thought fit ftill "to retain the Poffeffion of them; and alchough according to the purport of the "twenty fifth Article of the Peace, Commiffioners on both fides were to be ap"pointed for the deciding and determining that Controverfie; yet nothing was
"d done therein, neither did the Commiffioners ever meet within three Moneths, as " in the twenty fourth Article of the Treaty was provided and agreed : So that " now the cafe is very clear, that the Poffeffion to the Enolifh remains firm and juft, "and that the Forts and Bulwarks before fpecifid, are without all peradventure "under the Power and Juriddiction of the King of England.

Since the Reftauration of his prefent Majefty, the French Ambaffador reprefenting unto the King the Pretenfions of the French unto the feveral Forts and other places in Accadie, and urging the non-performance of the Articles of Agreement between Oliver Cromwel and the French King, mov'd the King of England, As a pro. fef'd Enemy to all Violence, for a Reftitution of all the Forts and other places which were then in the poffeffion of the Englifh: Not long after which, whether upon the Ambaffadors requeft, or upon other important Affairs intervening, or upon what other ground foever it were, the French were fuffer'd to re-enter on the forefaid places, and do yet keep Poffeffion of them, till fuch time as the Englifh claim under the juft Title of the Kirks, fhall meet with fome fit occafion of being reviv'd.

That which we fuppofe gives the French fo much the more confidence in their claim of this Country, is their prefumption upon the Expedition of James Quartier, whom they will have to be the firf Difcoverer, if not Poffeffor, not onely of the Ine of AJJumption, but alfo of this Coaft of Nova Francia, not taking notice it feems of Sebaftian Cabot, under Henry the Seventh.

The chief places of Note in this Countrey, are, I. Port Royal, a Colony of French, faid to have been Planted there by Monfeur de Montz in 1604. by report, capable of receiving a thoufand Ships; and in 1613 . (the French being driven out by Sir Samuel Argal, Governor of Virginia, who took Prifoners Biard and Maffe, and demolifh'd the Fort at Port Royal) given by Patent, as aforemention'd, to Sir William Alexander; afterwards by him fold again to the French; then in the time of Oliver Cromwel re-taken by Major Sedgwick; laftly, re-poffefs'd by the French. 2. manner of living. a Force as he had brought with him from France. But de la Roque endeavoring to make a further difcovery of Canada, Sail'd up the River Saguenay, where fpending both time and Money, he was Commanded home by the French King, and the fruitlefs Expeditions lay dead till about 1604.

Ofd 1 2onti.

When Peter de Monts obtaining Letters Patents to Trade for Furs in the foremention'd Countries, Sail'd with two Ships beyond Accadie, up St. Lambrence Bay, where he Landed on the Ine St. Croix, where of ninety feven Men, with which he ftaid there a whole Winter, "he loft thirty five; but having frefh Supplies fent him from France, he remov'd to Port Royal, where leaving forty Men, he return'd home ; thefe forty being reduc'd to twenty three, and in great want, walking along the Sea.fhore in a defpairing condition, efpy'd a Ship coming up with full Sail, Sail, which upon nearer approach, prov'd a French Veffel, of which Poutrincourt was Commander, who receiving his wretched Countrey-men with great joy, took them with him to Port Royal, being fent thither on purpofe to fettle a Plantation in Accadie : Meanwhile the Letters Patent granted to Monts, being call'd in, the firft Planters in Port Royal were forc'd to defert the fame, and return home; and alfo Poutrincourt returning, came back again three years after to Port Royal, where finding the Houfes ftanding as he had left them, he Manur'd the Countrey all about, and endeavoring to Plant Cbrifitianity among the Natives, Chriften'd among others an Accadian Lord, who was above a hundred years old; all which Poutrincourt Sailing back to France, related at the Court.

The fefuits, being allo inform'd thereof, obtain'd leave of the Qiseen to fend Peter Biard and Euemond Maffe thither, on pretence, that Henry the Fourth had him. felf promis'd them the fame Priviledge in his Life time. But the Merchants at Diep, which were concern'd in the, new Plantations with Poutrincourt, oppofing the go. ing over of the foremention'd fefuits, exprefs'd themfelves very violent againft them, and laid to their charge the Blood of the late King, which they faid was yet reaking in Paris : What affurance (alleadg'd they) bad their Goods which were in the Cuftody of Men inclin'd to the Spaniards? Muft the Chriftian Religion be promulgated? There are So many Orders of Monks which may eafily produce two Men; but if the Queen was refolv'd to fend Jefuits thither, they defir'd reftauration of the Monies mbich they bad difburs'd: To which Biard and Maffe harkening, gather'd up the demanded Monies, under pretence of being requir'd towards the Preaching of the Cbriftian Religion amongft thefe remote Heathens; by this means getting great Sums, they bought out the foremention'd Merchants, fo that the new Plantations fell half to the $\mathcal{F}_{e}$ fuits, who ferting Sail, and arriving at Port Royal, turn'd all things topfituryy, and fo thwarted Poutrincourt in his defigns, that he was forc'd to complain to the French Court of the fefuits oppreffion, whofe aim it was to get all things into their own Poffeffion; whereupon they Excommunicated Poutrincourt's Son (who ferv'd in his Father's place at Court, and gain'd the Duke Guereheville in France to be of their Party, by promifing him, that he fhould fhare in the new Plantations for a contracted Sum of Money: After this they receiv'd all forts of Arms and Ammunition, with feveral Brals Guns, of the then King Lewis the XIII. and other gifts Collected and gather'd out of their feveral Societies, for two new Accadian Apo. fles. Gilbert $d u$ Thet, a fubtile man of the fame Order, tranfported their Neceffaries.

At this time all things going favorably with the fefuits, they made themfelves Mafters of Port Royal, and began to raife a Fort on the River Pemtagovet; but there their happy Proceedings were ftop'd, for Captain Argal beforemmention'd, Sailing thither in vindication of the Englijh, was encounter'd by du'Thet, (who firing the firft Gun on Argal, was by him taken off with Chainefhot) and taking Biard and Maffe, carry'd them Prifoners to Virginia, and difmantled the Fort built at Port Royal, after which it was by King fames given by Patent to Sir William Alexander, as hath been already related, together with what of moft remarkable hath happen'd fince.

 Norumbegua.Whence denominated.

Townis and Cities not certainly known.

NOrumbegan, lying between Nova Scotia Northward, and Nen England Southward, is fo utterly not taken notice of by many as a diftinit Piovince, that it might feem to be fowallow'd up and loft in the two Councieys bee tween which iet lies, or at leaft to be thought a part of Virginiai or New England (for Virginia largely taken is faid to contain New England, Novum Belginm, and Kirginia, efpecially fo call'd) and that fo much the rather, becaufe the Beffibees, accopinted by Sanfon d' Abbeville an ancient People of New England, are writeen to have livid near the River Penob foot, which is reckon'd to be the fame wish Pemitegovet, or (as fonie will have it) Norumbeguas, from which, or from a certain great City of that Name, the Country for fancy's fake mult needs be denominated; but fince moof commonly we find it nam'd dand treated of apart, ic will not be improperito follow that method, carrying the Bounds of Neiv England no farther. Northward tilian the River Quismebeqqui or Sagadabioct, and fo derermining the main parte of this Ceunhtrey to that Pace between the aforefaid River and Pentegovet, excepting a finall Southerly portion upon the Banks of che River Chovacovet; fo that it appears chiefly

As for the Towns on Cities of this Province, there is but a very uncertain ace count to be given, forafinuch as the pretended great City Norimubbegua, from whence the Province fhould take its Appellationj; is not acknowledg'd by any of ohe moft authentick modern Writers, nor in any late Voyage of Difcoyery any mention made either of that or any other confiderable Town or City:: Di. Heglin fuippo. fech it to be no other than Agguncia, a poor litele Village, that Ieemis compos'd of ia company of Hutts or Sheaves, cover'd with the Skins of Beafts, or the Bayks of Trees. But the moff favourable conjecture is, that it mighe haply be the Ruines of an ancient Town, which the Natives Call'd Aramberk', and had probably deferted it long before the arrival of the Europeans in thofe paris; howevers, 'it is not very probable that the Name of the Countrey fiould be deriy'd from this City, if ever there were any fuch, of from the River, which appears to have bëen term'd Norumbegud on purpofe to make way for this derivation, whereas Pomtegovet is the ancient Appellation that properly belongs to it ; nor hath any modern one been apply'd to it but that of Rio Grande, by Buno in his Comment upon Pbilip Cluverius'; apon what ground is hard to tell, fince it is obferv'd by Heylin and others, to be neither large, nor otherwife much to be commended, being Navigable not above twenty or thirty Miles, in refpeet of its many great Cataracts and Falls of Water, an Inconvenience with which many other Rivers of America are' prejudic'd, and rendred impaffable.
Before and about the Mouth of this River, which is judg'd to be aboitt eight or nine Miles broad, lie many fmall Inands, or rather Hills, inviron'd with Water, the chiefeft of which is by the French call'd La Hante Ifle, from the high and Mountainouls:appearance of it to thofe that fee it from afar off at Sea.
Theaforemention'd Buno, though he names, as belonging to Norumbera, thefe feveral places, viz. Porto del Refugio, Porto Reale, Paradifo, Flora, and Angolema, from fome obficure French teffimonies, withour particularifing any Author, yet he afeerwards confeffes, that the Names given by the French, and thofe apply'd bythe Spaniards, are fo various and difagreeing, and breed fuch a confufion, that no Charts or Defrriptions had' concluded upon either.

As for thofe who will have Norumbega deriv'd from Nombergia, in refpect of a Co. lony brought thither from Normey, if the Etymologie be not a litele too much forc'd, the Invention may pafs well enough till a better be found out.

In this Countrey the temperature of the Air is'not bad, aon the Soil unfruifful, if it were well cultivated, chiefly towards the Rivers, and where it is not either overgrown with Woods, or craggy with Hills and mounrainous Rocks : neither are the Woods unprofitable, for they afford good Timber, and all kind of neceffary and ufeful Wood, efpecially Beeches, Fir-trees, Wallnut-trees, and other Nuts: The Plains are very pleafant, and yield good Pafturage, onely the Maritime Coafts are fo fhallow and full of Sands, that the Sailing near them is accounted fomewhat dangerous; and this may be imagin'd to be the reafon that no Authors have yet met with any Ports or Havens belonging to this Countrey, which they have thought worthy their notice. Iovidedn ASCanada is by fome accounted a general Province, containing New France, L'Accadic, Norumbega, and other places, fo under Virginiia largely taken, are comprehended New England, News Necterlands, and Virginia properly fo call'd; however, fince that part which vulgarly goes under the Name of Virginia and Nens England: were poffers'd, if not difcover'd, at feveral times, and their Plant tations promoted and propagated upon feveral occafions, and by diftinct Interefts, and fince Nexs England hath been look'd upon as a place confiderable enough for Perfons of very eminent quality to concern themfelves in $i t$, we rather are induc'd to confider this Countrey as a principal part, than as any way depending on, or being any Branch or Portion of Virginia.

It lies between Norumbega, which it hath Northward, and New Netherlands Southward, from forty one to forty five Degrees of Northern Latitude, in the midft of the temperate Zone, and paralell to France and fome part of Italy in the Weftern Hemifphere, fo that one would think it fhould enjoy the fame temperature of Air; but the contrary is found, for that part which borders upon the Sea is colder, partly by reafon that the Sea-waves break the reflexion of the Sun-beams, partly by reafon of the abundance of Vapors, which mounting upward, abate the ardor of them; but the more Inland parts of the Countrey are indifferently warm: Moreover it hath been found by certain experience, that thofe Countreys which look towards the Eaft, or Sun-rifing, are colder than thofe which lie towards the Weft, or Sunofetting, and chofe that have the Evening Winds on them, warmer than thofe which have the Morning Winds; which being fo, it fhould follow, that the temperature of the Air in thofe Regions is peculiar to the Bodies of thofe of our Nation, who being accuftom'd to a Climate fomewhat temperate, are neio ther able to endure extremity of Cold, nor immoderate Heat: Yet there are who affirm, that Nevo England, though fituate in the midft of the temperate Zone, nevers thelefs feels both extremities of the two oppofite Zones, in the Summer the heas of the Torrid, and in the Winter the cold of the Frigid.

As for the firft difcovery of this Countrey, it is not to be expected otherwife firfl difoo: than than that of the difcovery of thole other Countreys hitherto difcours'd of, that is to fay very uncertain ; but becaufe the French boaft of Joannes Verrazanus (whothough an Italian, was employ'd by the French King Francis the Firft) as the firft Difcoverer, not onely of Nova Francia, as hath been already intimated, but alfo of this Coun. trey and the adjoyning Coaft and Regions, we fhall not think it impertinent to give from their own Relations, a brief view of his Voyage, and afterwards a particular Defcription of the Englifh Plantations there, and of their Tranfactions, both one with another, and beeween them and the Nations. The Narration of Verrazanus's Voyage is as followeth :

Remarkable
Voyage of Vcrrazanus.

ON command of the French King Francis the Firft, Folm Verrazanus, Anno 1524. ferting Sail Weftward from the Canary Ifles, difcover'd a low American Coaft, " in thirty four Degrees North Latitude, inhabited by naked People, which be" hind the fandy Hills facing the Sea, Manur'd many fruifful Plains. Then Sail"ing 2 hundred Leagues along the Shore Northerly, he view'd a Countrey full of "Vines, which grew up amongtt the Boughs of high Trees; and Sailing up a "pleafant River, Landed on the Ifland Clandia, full of woody Mountains: thence "he ftood for the main Continent ; where after having vifited a King, Clad in " wrought Deer-skin, he Sail'd by a Bay, at whofe Mouth appear'd a Rock in an "Inlet, twenty Leagues; where appear'd five fmall Inles, all of them exceeding " fruitful. After this (being got a hundred and fifty Leagues to the Northward) "he found very falvage People, whofe Heads appear'd through Bearskins and "Sea-Calves. By this time having Terreneuf on his Starboard, he return'd back to "Diepe.

Thus far Verrazanus made fome difcovery of the Coaft, which hath fince not onely been farther infpected by the Engligh, but alfo by them Planted and call'd Ners England.

This Countrey, whether firft difcover'd by the faid Verrazanus, or together with the reft of largely-taken Virginia, by Sir Walter Raleigh, or, as fome fay, by Captain Gofnald, in the Year 1602. was fo well known to the Englifh in the beginning of King fames's Reign here, that the fecling and carrying on of Plantations in this part of America, was vigoroully promoted by many of the moft eminent Perfons in England: whereupon it was about the Year 1606. being the fourth Year of the faid King, granted by Patent tó feveral Lords, Knights, Gentlemen and Mer chants, under the denomination of The Plymouth Company, both in favour of thofe generous Spirits, who ftudied and endeavor'd the good of the Publick by foreign Plantations, and indulgence to thofe, who not well fatisfid with the Government of Church and State, and willingly tranfporting themfelves and Families thither, as to their Aflum, could more conveniently be Spar'd than the better affected part of the People: And alchough the Colonies at firft fent over fucceeded not according to expectation, yet in a fhort time there Plantations were brought to very great perfection. Captain Weimouth, who had been employ'd there by the Lord Arundel of Warder, for the difcovery of the North-Weft Paffage, falling fhort of his Courfe, hapned into a River on the Coaft of America, call'd Pemmaquid; from whence he brought five of the Natives for England, three of whofe Names were Mannida, Skettioarroes, and Tafquantum, and Landing at Plymouth, prefented them to Sir Ferdinando Gorges, whom he made ufe of as Inftruments for the farther advancement of thefe Plantations: they were all of one Nation, but of feveral parts, and feveral Families; he kept them with him three years, and obferving in them an inclination to vertuous Defigns, and Spirits above the Vulgar, he gain'd information from them what great Rivers ran up into the Land, what Men of note were feated on them, what Power they were of, how Ally'd, what Enemies they had, and the like; and taking fome light from thence, fent away a Ship, furnifh'd with Men, and all kind of Neceffaries convenient for the Service intended, under the Command of Captain Henry Cbatoung, a Gentleman of a good Family, and very capable for Undertakings of this nature ; and giving him fufficient Inftructions what to do, fent along with him two of the faid Natives for his better Conduet and $\mathrm{Di}_{\mathrm{i}}$ rection, ordering him by all means to keep the Northerly Gage as high as C.ape Briton, till they had difcover'd the Main, and then to beat it up to the Southward as the Coaft tended, till they found by the Natives they were near the place to which they were affign'd. By that time they were about a hundred Leagues off the Ifland of Canara, the Captain fell fick of a Feaver, and the Winds being Wefterly, his Company fhap'd their Courfe for the Indies, and coming to St. Fobn de Porto Rico, the Captain went afhore for the recovery of his Health, whilft the Company took in Water, and fuch other Provifions as they had prefent need of, and fpent fome time in Hunting, and other Recreations; after which fteering their intended Courfe, they were met with by the Spanifh Fleet that came from the Havana, taken Prifoners and carried into Spain, the Ship and Goods being confifcated, the Voyage overthrown, and the Natives loft.

- Not long after the fetting out of Chaloung, Thomas Haman was fent by Sir Fobn Popham, Lord Chief Juftice of England, towards the River of Sagadehoc, to the fuccour of Chalowng, if need were; but not finding him, after he had foowr'd the Coaft all about, he return'd back into England.

Captain Prinne was likewife fent from Brifol, who arriving happily in thofe Parts, brought back with him at his return the moft exact Difcovery of that Coaft that ever had been gain'd till then.

A while after, at the Charge of the faid Sir Jolm Popham, a hụndred Men were fent to fettle a Colony at Sagadeloc, under the Command of George Popham, Raleigh Gilbert, Mafter of the Ship, who feated themfelves in a Peninfula, at the Mouth of this River; which attempting to difcover, they met with a Wood near to an Inland, diftant from the Line about forty five Degrees, and fome odd Seconds, where they eafily went on Shore. In the Year 1608. the Commander of the Colony deceafing, and not long after him the Lord Chief Juftice, who had been the chief that had furnifh'd them with frefh Supplies, they return'd for England in thofe Ships that had been fent them with Succours: At which unexpected return, the Patrons of the Defign were fo offended, that for a certain time they deffifed from their Enterprizes. In the mean while the French making ufe of this occafion, Planted Colonies in divers places, when Sir Samuel Argal from Virginia difturb'd their Defigns, and brought away Prifoners all he could lay hold on.

Suddenly after Captain Hobfon and divers others were fet out with very great Preparations, and with them two of the Natives which had been detain'd for fome time in England, whom they thought to have made ufe of, the better todraw the reft of the Natives to their Commerce; but becaufe a little before twenty four of them had been treacheroufly dealt with by one Hunt, they contracted from thence fo great an animofity towards the Englifh, that Captain Hobfon was confrain'd to return without effecting any thing.

In the Year 1614. Captain fobn Smith, being fent to Fifh for Whales, and feek after Mines of Gold and Silver, Landed upon the Illand of Monabiggan, where he found fome ftore of Whales, but not fuch as thofe by whofe Oyl they ufe to make fo much profit.

About the fame time (two of the Natives being recover'd, Erpenow of Capawick; that had efcap'd from Captain Hob ono, and Affacumet of Pemmaquid, one of thofe that had been taken Prifoners with (haloung) Captain Harly, with Neceffaries convenient for fuch a Voyage, was difpatch'd away by Sir Ferdinando Gorges, the Earl of Southampton favouring the Defign, and furnifhing him with fome Land-Soldiers under the Command of Captain Hobfon, who not difcourag'd with his former ill Succefs, refolv'd upon a fecond Adventure.

In the Year 1615. Sir Richard Hakings undertook a Voyage into thofe Parts by authority of the Council of the fecond Colony, but by reafon of the great Wars among the Natives, his Obfervations could not be fuch as might give any farther light than what had been already receiv'd.
Soon after which Captain Dormer coming for England from Newofound.Land, and Landing at Plymouth, apply'd himfelf to the Governor, by whom he was difpatch'd away, with Direction to meet Captain Rocroft, fent away a little before; but $\mathbb{R} 0-$ croft being dead by that time Dormer could come after him to Virginia, where he heard he was, he returning to Capawick, was there fet upon by Erpenow, the foremention'd Salvage, and other Indians that were Confpirators with him ; and within a fhort while after at Virginia, whither he went to be cur'd of the Wounds he re? ceiv'd in that Affaffination, he fell fick and died.
About the Year 1623 . Captain Robert Gorges; newly come out of the Venetian War, was employ'd by the Council of New Englands Affairs as the LieutenantGeneral, to regulate the Abufes of divers Fifheremen and other Interlopers, who without Licenfe frequented thofe Coafts : for which Service he had affign'd to him all that part of the main Land fituate upon the NortheEaft fide of the Bay of the Mefiachafets.
By thefe feveral Colonies fent fo thick one after another, both a full Difcovery of the Countrey came to be made, and a large gap open'd to the free poffeffion thereof; yet in regard of the many difappointments and misfortunes the feveral Companies fent over met with, and counting the vaft Charges their fetting forth coft the Undertakers, which would have been ftill increas'd by the need of continu'd Supplies, in all probability Neov England would have been but thinly peopled to this day, had not a great Tide of People, poffefs'd with an averfion to the Church-Government of England, and fled into Holland for Liberty of Confcience, eagerly taken hold of this opportunity to make themfelves Mafters of their own Opinions, and of a Place where they might erect a Government fuitable thereunto: and though at firft there were fome Exceptions taken, as if this Countrey was to be made a Receptacle of Sectaries, and fuch as condemn'd the Ecclefiaftical Government of the Nation, infomuch that Sir Ferdinnndo Gorges, to whom they ap. ply'd themfelves, defiring him to mediate for them to the Council of New Englands. Affairs, when they perceiv'd the Authority they had from the Virginia Company, could not warrant their abode there, had enough to do (notwithftanding his Apology, That thefe things hapned contrary to bis expectation) to wipe away the jealoufie which was entertain'd of him, it being Order'd, that nomore fhould be fufo fer'd to pafs into New England, but fuch as fhould take the Oaths of Allegiance and Supremacy: yet at laft there was little notice taken who went, perhaps upon confideration, that the vaft refort of People thither would be of greater advantage to the Plantations, than their different Opinions, at fo remote a diftance, could be prejudicial, fo long as they acknowledg'd Obedience to the King and Civil Power: However, Sir Ferdinando, to clear himfelf the better, mov'd thofe Lords that were the chief Actors in the Bufinefs, to refign their Grand Patent to the King, and pa/s particular Patents to themfelves of fuch part of the Countrey along the Sea-Coaft, as might be fufficient for them : To this Motion there being a general Affent given by the Lords, and a Day appointed for the conclufion thereof, an Act was made for the Refignation of the Patent, alloting to each Man their feveral Bounds. From the uttermoft parts began the Limits of the Lord Mougrave, and ended at Hudfon's River. To the Eaftward of which River, for the fpace of fixty Miles in length, was plac'd the Duke of Richmond's Affignment: Next to him was fetled the Earl of Carlile: Next him the Lord Edward Gorges: Next the Marquefs of Hamilton: Then Captain Jobn Mafon: And laftly his own, which extended to the great River Sagadeboc, being fixty Miles, and fo up into the Main Land a hundred and twenty Miles, which he was pleas'd to call by the Name of The Province of Main.

The Landing of the Englifh in Plymouth Plantation was very much facilitated by the great Mortality that hapned amongft the Indians about that time, amongft the Pecods, Narraganjets, Nianticks, Tarantines, Wippanaps, and thofe of Abargini, Agiffanoang, and Pockanekie, their Powiwows, or Doctors, feeing with amazement their Wigwams, or Streets, lie full of dead Bodies, and in vain expecting help from Squantam their good, or Abbamoch their bad God. Not long before, that blazing Comet, fo much talk'd of in Europe, apppear'd after Sun-fetting in their Horizon South-Weft for the fpace of thirty Sleeps, (for fo they reckon their Days). They Landed at firft with little or no refiftance, a handful of Men onely being.fent before to keep poffeffion for their Companions, who arriv'd eight days after; when the Natives appearing with their Bowes and Arrows, let flie their long Shafts amongt them; whereupon one Captain Miles Standifh with his Fowling-piece fhot the fouteft Sachem amongtt the Indians, as he was reaching an Arrow from his Quiver; which the reft feeing, fled into the Woods and Thickets.
The fame Year the Merchant-Advenurers in England fent forth flore of Servants to provide againft the Wants of that place; amongft whom came over a mix'd Mul. titude, who ferled themfelves in the Bofom of the Cape now call'd Gloucefter."

About the Year 163 r. there fled to the Englifh at Water stown the Indians that dwelt thereabouts, for protection againft the Tarratines, a fort of cruel and falvage Cannibals, by whom near the Town of Sauguft, in the very dead time of the Night, one Lieutenant Walker being on a fudden alarm'd, was fhot through his Coat and Buff Jacket with two Indian Arrows. That Night the Englifh ftood upon their Guard, and the next Morning fent word to other parts; who gather'd together, and taking counfel how to quit themfelves of thefe Indians, agreed to difcharge their great Guns; whofe redoubled noife, ratling in the Rocks, truck terror into the Indians, and caus'd them to betake themfelves to flight. The Autumn following, others of the Indians, who till then had held a good correfpondence with the Planters, began to quarrel about the Bounds of their Land; but a great Mortality, by the raging of the Small-Pox, breaking out amongft them, put an end to that Controverfie: There died amongft the reft one of the chief of the Sagamores of the Mattacbufets, call'd Sagamore Foln, who before his Death had been inftructed in the Cbriftian Faith, and took care that his two Sons fhould be nurtur'd therein.

In the Year 1635: there arrived feveral Ships with great plenty of Provifions, and many Perfons of good Quality, and amongft the reft Sir Henry Vane.

The fame Year the People of Cambridge, otherwife call'd Nenostoivn, hearing of a fertile place upon the River Canectico, remov'd thither, and erected a new Corporation by the Name of Banectico, being encourag'd thercunto by the Lord Say and the Lord Brooks, and planting a Forreft at the mouth of the River, cail'd it Saybrook Forreft.

About the Year 1638 . the Pequods, a fout and Warlike Nation, lying to the South§outh-Weft of the Mattachufets, were difoover'd upon their March within fome few Miles of Hartford: Their coming very much terrifi'd all that inhabited thereabouts; but they took onely three Women and return'd; one of whom making a violent refiftance, had her Brains beaten out; the other two they carried away with them, without abufing their Perfons, as it was fuppos'd they would, for they efteem'd cheir own Sbalus, being black, beyond our Women. Their chief Defign was to learn to make Gunpowder ; which feeing they could not effeat, they look'd upon their Prize as nothing fo precious as they imagin'd.

A little after another Indian War threatning the Engligh, they refolv'd together to fend an Ambaffador to Cannonicus, chief Sachem of the Naraganfits, endeavoring to prevent him from confederating with the Pequods, who (as they had Intelligence) were about fending to him to joyn with them : Cannonicus being grown old, had refign'd the Government to his Nephew Mantinemo, a ftern Man, and of a cruel Nature. The Ambaffadors arriving at his Court, which was about eighty Miles from Bofon, the Indian Prince affembled his chief Councellors, and having Entertain'd the Ambaffadors Magnificently, and Feafted them Royally, gave them Audience in his State-houfe; where the Sachem, to manifeft his greater State, lay along upon the Ground, with all his Nobility fitting about him, with their Legs doubled up, and their Knees touching their Chin: The Englif Interpreter having made his Speech in the Name of the reft, both Cannonicus and the young King gave difcreet Anfwers, fignifying their Refolutions to keep a fair Correfpondence with the Englifh, and yet not to fall out with the Pequods: Who a little after making alfo their Addreffes to the fame King, he diffwaded them by many Reafons from making War with the Englifh, and to deliver into their hands thofe Perfons that had murther'd any of them. The Pequods neverthelefs, though they feem'd inclinable to his Coun. fel, yet they acted as Enemies; for when the Engligh fent a Company of Soldiers into their Countrey to treat with them about delivering up the Murtherers, they made fhew of willingnefs, but Spying their advantage, betook themfelves to their Heels; and whomfoever they took ftragling by furprife, they revil'd and infulted over in a moft cruel manner, vilifying the Chrifitian Religion, and uttering all the Blarphemies they could invent. Whereupon they rais'd frefh Souldiers for the War, to the number of fourfcore, out of the feveral Towns in the Mattachufets, and with fome Indian Guides came to their Forr, within which they had pitch'd their Wigwams, the Entrance being on two fides, with intricate Meanders to enter; at which were plac'd Indian Bowe-men, who thot the foremoft of the Englifh; yet they had little to boaft of in the end, for the Englifh rufhing in through the winding Ways, and placing themfelves round the Wigwams, made a very profperous Shot, by directing the Muzzles of their Mufquets againft the Indians which lay fleeping on the Ground: In the midft of which rouzing terror and confufion they were defeated with little ado, moft of them being eicher wounded, kill'd, or taken. The Enolifh thus animated with the firf Victory, fend their Prifoners to the Pinna. ces, and profecute the War in Hand, marching againft the next Body of the Indians, which lay Encamp'd on a Hill about two Miles diftant, where they gave them a fecond Overthrow, flaying many more than in the firf Engagement; the reft flying to a very thick inaccelfible Swamp or Bog, were there befieg'd by the Englifh; and skulking up and down, as they faw their opportunity they would Shoor at them with their Arrows, and then fuddenly fall flat along in the Water; at laft the Eng. lifh finding out a Paffage into the Swamp, utterly defeated them, and put an end to the War with the lofs of few Mens Lives, and not many wounded.

In the Year 1640. there came over a frefh Supply of People into New England, and finding no place to fettle in within any of the former erected Colonies, they repair'd to a place call'd Long Ifand, fever'd from the Continent of Nebrb- Faven, about fixty Miles off the Sea.

The Year following the four Colonics, namely the Mafachuyfets, Plymourth, Cas nectico, and News Haven, taking into confideration the many Nations that were on all fides of them, as the French, Dutch, Jews, and native Indians; as alfo how the three firt went to lay claim to Lands they never had any right to, and the laft to be continually quarrelling and contending, where they faw any hopes of prevailing, by Commifioners chofen from the relpective Colonies, concluded a firm Confederation to a fiffe each other in all juff and lawful Wars; upon which chere came in certain Indian Sachems, as Pombam, Miantonemo, Soccanocob, and Uncas, who not onely fubmitted to the Englisb Government, but alfo, if occafion were, in matters of Controverfie fubmitted to their Arbitration : But che Conteft berween Miantoo nemo and Uncas was too hot to be appeas'd, (though the English were not wanting to interpofe) unlefs by the Blood of one of them, as will appear by the Confequence: Uncas was a Prince of For, whofe Life Miantonemo, though a much more potent Prince, fought to take away by treachery, hiring a young Man of the Pequod N 2 。 tion to murther him, as the following Story renders furpected; for one dark Evening this Sacchem paffing from one WTrgwam to another, was Shot through the Arm with an Arrow; but recovering the Palace, had the Arrow pull'd out, and his Arm cur'd : the young Man that was fufpected being examin'd, how he came by that great fore of Wampompeage which was found about him, and being able to give no good account, it increas'd the furpicion, and induc'd Uncas to complain to the English at a General Court held at Bofon: Whereupon the young Man was Examin'd in the prefence of Miantoneme, who came thither with his Attendants; but the young Man tutor'd, as fuppos'd, by Miantonemo, pretended that Uncas had enjoyn'd him to feign chat he was hir'd by Miantonemo to kill him : To which Tale of his little belief being given, it was concluded upon farther Examination of him in private that he had done the Fact : neverthelefs they let him depart with Miantonemo, advifing him to fend him home to Uncas ; but he in ftead of returning him cut off his Head, and forthwith gather'd an Army of a thoufand Men to fight with Uncas ; who met him with half the Men : the Batecl being joyn'd, the Narraganfets, though the far greater multitude, were beaten by the Wavbiggins, through the Valour of Uncas their Prince; who perfected his Vitcory by pofferfing himeelf of the Perfon of Miantonemo, whom, having put his Life-guard to fight, he carried away with him in triumph to the Town of Hartford, defiring to have che advice of the United Colonies what to do with his Prifoner: Whereupon the Commiffioners having had fufficient proof of Miantonemo's treachery towards this Prince, advis'd Uncas to put him to deach, but not to exercife that barbarous kind of cruely which is ufual amongft them in thefe Cafes. The Sachem, upon this advice, not long after pretended to remove him to a fafer place, but by the Way caus'd him to be Executed : His Subjects and Kindred were troubled at his Death, but the little Princes his Neighbors, over whom he had tyranniz'd, rather rejoyc'd.
In the Year 1645 . the Sons of old Canonicicus, their Father being dead, began to fall into hot Contentions with their Neighbors, and being forbidden by the united Colonies, they did not ftick to threaten Wars to the Englifh alfo. Whereupon the Commiffoners rais'd an Army of Horfe and Foot, and made Major General Edward Gibbons Commander in Chief over them. But the Indians hearing of this Preparation, fenc fome of their chief Nobility to the Commiffioners of the United Colonies, who were affembled at Boffon, to Treat about Peace; to which the Commiffioners agreed, upon condition they fhould pay a part of the Charges of the War ; and that they fhould fend four of their Sons for Hoftages till the Sum was paid; and the Hoftages being fent back before the Wapom was all paid, the two Princes, Peficus and Mexanimo, upon the fending a Company of Armed Men to de= mand it, fent the remainder of the Money.

In the Year 1647. divers Perfons of Quality ventur'd their Eftates upon an Iron Mill; which they began at Braintree, but it profited the Owners little, rather wafting their Stock, the price of Labor in matters of that nature, being double or treble to what it is in England:
fi Thefe are the moft material Tranfactions we find deliver'd by any one which hapned from the firft difcovery till the Year before mention'd : what hath hapned from that time to this, chiefly relates to the feveral Revolutions that have been in England, and fhall be therefore taken notice of when we come to Speak of the Government of thefe Plantations.

The Com: modities of this Countrey, together with the Trees and other forts of Plants.

Though there are, who having remain'd fome time, and been concern'd in thofe Parts, affirm the Soil of New England to be nothing fo fruitful as it is believd and commonly deliver'd to be, yet we think it not improper to give a brief account of the Trees and other Plants; alfo the Beafts, Birds, Fifhes, and other Commodities which moft Writers will have to be the production of this Countrey, efpecially fince we find them compactly fumm'd up by an unknown Writer in the Language of the Mufes. Therecital of the Plants and Trees, which (excepting the Cedar, Saffafras, and Dyers Sumach) are all of the fame kind with thofe that grow in Europe, onely differing in nature, according as the Epithets of many of them declare, is as follows :

Trees both in Hills and Plains in plenty be; The long-liv'd Oak, and mournful Cypreß Tree; Skie-tonring Pines, and Cbefnuts coated rough; The lafting Cedar, with the Walnut tough; The Rozen-dropping Fir,for Maft inufe; (Sprewfe; The Boat-men feek for Oars light, neat grown The brittle Afh, the ever:trembling ASps; The broad--jpread Elm, whofe Concave barbors T'be Water-fpungy Alder, good for nought; (Wafps; Small Eldern by the Indian Fletchers fought;

The knotty Maple, pallid Birch, Hawthorns; The FHorn-bound Tree, that to be cloven fcorns; Which from the tender Vine of t takes bis Spoufe, Who twines embracing Arms about his Boughs. Within this Indian Orchard Eruits be fome; The ruddy Cherry, and the jetiy Plumb; Snakemurthering Hazle, with/ /weet Saxafrage, Whofe Leaves in Beer allay bot Feavers rage; The Dyers Shumach, with more Trees there be, That are both good to ufe, and rare to fee.

Beans: The Beafts peculiar to this Countrey are the Moofe, the Rackoon, and the Muf. quafh; the two firf LandeAnimals, the laft Amphibious, which with others common to them with us, are thus verfifid by the abovefaid Author :

The Kingly Lyon, and the ftrongzarm'd Bear; Left red-ey'd Ferrets, woily. Foxes fhould, The large limb'd Moofes, with the tripping Deer; Them undermine, if Ramper'd but with. Mold; 2uill-darting Porcupines, that Rackoons be. The grim-fac'd Ounce, and rav'nous bowling Wolf; Cafted itb' bollowb of an aged Tree; The skipping Squirrel, Rabbet, purblind Hare, Immured in the felf-fame Cafle are, Whofe meagre Paunch fucks like á foallowing Gulph; Black glittering Otters, and rich Coated Beaver; The Civet-f cented Mufquash fimelling ever.

Of fuch of thefe as are altogether unknown to us, take thefe brief Defcriptions.
The Noofla The Beaft call'd a Moofe, is not much unlike red Deer, and is as big as an Ox, flow of Foot, Headed like a Buck, with a broad Beam, fome being two Yards wide in the Head, their flefh is as good as Beef, their Hides good for Clothing; if thefe were kept tame, and accuftom'd to the Yoke, they would be a great Commodity: Firft, becaufe they are fo fruitful, bringing forth three at a time, being likewife very uberous: Secondly, becaufe they will live in Winter without any Fodder. There are not many of thefe in the MajJachufers Bay, but forty Miles to the North-Eaft there are great fore of them.

The Rackoone is a deep Furr'd Beaft, not much unlike a Badger, having a Tail the Ranken. like a Fox, as good Meat as a Lamb: Thefe Beafts in the day time fleep in hollow Trees, in a Moon-fhine night they go to feed on Clams at a low Tide, by the Sea fide, where the Englifh hunt them with their Dogs.

The Musquafh is much like a Beaver for fhape, but nothing near fo big; the the maf. Male hath two Stones, which fmell as fweet as Musk, and being kill'd in Winter, never lofe their fweet fmell : Thefe Skins are no bigger than a Coney-skin, yet are fold for five Shillings apiece, being fent for Tokens into England; one good Skin will perfume a whole houfe full of Clothes, if it be right and good.

The Birds both common and peculiar are thus recited.

The Princely Esgie, and the foaring Hawk, Whom in their monknown ways there's none can chawk: The Humbird for fome Queens rich, Cage more fit, Than in the vacant Wildernefs to jit. The fwift-wing'd Swallown fiweeping to and fro, As $\int$ wift as Arrond from Tartarian Bowe. When as Aurora's Infant day new Springs, There th'marning mounting Lark her fiveet lays fings: The harmonious Tbrufh, fwift Pigeon, Turtleedove, Who to ber Mate docb ever conffant prove: The Turky-Pbeaf ant, Heath $=$ cock, Partridge rare, The Carrion-tearing Cronv, and burtful Stare, The long-hv'd Raven, th'ominous Screech-Owl, Who tells, as old Wives fay, dif afters foul.

The drowfie Madge that leaves ber day-lov'd $N_{e} \rho f$, And loves to rove, when Day-birds be at reft: Tb'Eelsmurtbering Hearn, and greedy Cormorant, That near the Creeks in morijh Marfhes haunt. The bellowing Bittern, witt the long-leg'd Crane, Prefaging Winters bard, and dearth of Grain. The Silver Swan that tunes ber mournful breath, To jing the Dirge of her approaching death. The tattering Oldwives, and the cackling Geefe, The fearful Gull that Jhuns the murthering Peece. The ftrong wing g'd Mallard, with the nimble Teal, And ills hape't Loon, who bis bargh Notes doth Squeal. There Widgins, Sbeldrakes and Humilitees, Snites, Doppers,Sea-Larks, in whbole million flees.

Of tiefe the Humbird, Loon, and Humility are not to be pals'd by without particular ofervation.

The Humbird is one of the wonders of the Countrey, being no bigger than a The mem. Horne, yet hath all the Dimenfions of a Bird, as Bill, and Wings with Quills, Spi-der-lile Legs, fmall Claws : for Colour, the is as glorious as the Rainsbow; as the flies, the makes a little humming noife like a Humble-bee, wherefore fhe is call'd the Eumbird.

The Loon is an ill.fhap'd thing like a Cormorant, but that he can neither go nor flie; he maketh a noife fometimes like Sowgelders Horn. The Humilities or Simplicites (as we may rather call them) are of two forts, the biggeft being as large as a

The Loon. The Huniplitity. grem Plover; the other as big as Birds we call Knots in England. Such is the fimpliity of the fmailer forts of thefe Birds, that one may drive them on a heap like fonany Sheep, and feeing a fit time floot them; the living feeing the dead, fettle thmfelves on the fame place again, amongft which the Fowler difcharges again : Tiefe Birds are to be had upon Sandy Brakes, at the latter end of Summer before the Geefe come in.
No lers Poetical a Bill of Fare is brought of the Fifh on the Sea-Coafts, and in the pithes. Fivers of New England in thefe fublequent Verfes.

The King of Waters, the Sea ghouldering Whale, The fnuffing Gramphs, with the Oily Seale, The-form prefaging Porpus, Herring-Hog, Line-Ghearing Sbark, the Catfifh, and Sea Dog, The Scale-fenc'd Sturgeon, mory-moutb'd Hollibut, The flounfing Salmon, Codfifh, Greedigut: Cole, EIaddock, Hage, the Thornback, and the Scate, Whofe flimy outfide makes him feld in date, The fately Baß, old Neptune's flecting Poft, That Tides it out and in from Sea to Coaft. Conforting Flerrings, and the bonny Shad, Big-belly'd Alewives, Mackrills richly clad

With Rainbow colours, Froffijh and the Smiclt, As good as ever Lady Guftus felt.
The fpotted Lamprons, Eels, the Lamperies, That Jeck frefh Water-Brooks with Argus Eyes, Thefe watery Villagers, with thouf ands more, Do pafs and repafs near tbe verdant Sbore. Kinds of Shell-fifh.
The luf cious Lobfter, with the Crabfish raw, The brinish Oyfter, Mufcle, Periwigge, And Tortoije fought for by the Indian Sqaw, Which to the Flats dance many a Winters figge, To dive for Cocles, and to dig for Clams, Whereby ber lazie Husbands guts she crams.

The Soal.

The Shark.

The Hollibut.

To fpeak of the mof unufual of thefe forts of Fifh; Firft the Seal, which is call'd the Sea-Calf, his Skin is good for divers ules, his Body being between Flefh and Fifh, it is not very delectable to the Palate, or congruent with the Stomack; his Oil is very good to burn in Lamps, of which he affords a great deal. is

The Shark is a kind of Fifh as big as a Man, fome as big as a Horfe, with three rows of Teeth within his Mouth, with which he fnaps afunder the Fifhermans Lines, if he be not very circamfpect: This Fifh will leap at a Manshand if it be over board, and with his Teerh Snap off a Mans Leg or Hand if he be Swimming; thefe are often taken, being good for nothing but Manuring of Land.

The Hollibut is not much unlike a Pleace or Turbut, fome being two yards long, and one wide, 2 Foot thick; the plenty of better Fifh makes thefe of litile efteem, except the Head and Finns, which Stew'd or Bak'd is very good; thefe Hollibuts be little fet by while Baffe is in feafon.

The Baffe is one of the beet Fifhes in the Countrey, and though Men are foon weary'd with other Fifh, yet are they never with Baffe; it is a delicate, fine, fat, faft Fifh, having a Eone in his Head which contains a Sawcerful of Marrow, fweet and good, pleafant to the Palate, and wholfom to the Stomack: When there be great fore of rhum, we only eat the Heads, and Salt up the Bodies for Winter, which exceeds Ling or Haberdine: Of thefe Fifhes fome are three, and fone four Foot long, fome bigger, fome leffer; at fome Tides a Man may catch 2 dzen or twenty of thefe in three hours; the way to catch them is with Hook and Line : The Fifherman taking a great Codoline, to which he fafteneth a piece of Lobfter, throws it into the Sea, the Fifh biting at it, he pulls her to him, and knoiks her on the head with a Stick.

Alewives are a kind of Fifh which is much like a Herring, which in the latir end of April come up to the frefh Rivers to Spawn, in fuch multitudes as is almct in. credible, preffing up in fuch fhallow Waters as will fcarce permit them to Svim, having likewife fuch longing defire after the frefl Water Ponds, that no bexings with Poles, or forcive agitations by other devices, will caufe them to return tithe Sea, till they have caft their Spawn.

Clamms or Clamps, are a Shellufifh not much unlike a Cockle, they lic under the Sand, and have every one of them a round hole to take Air, and receive Yater ar. When the Tide ebbs and flows, a Man running over thefe Clamm banks will prefently be made all wet, by their fpouting of Water out of thofe fmall hole: Thefe Fiffies are in great plenty in moft places of the Countrey, which is a gret Commodity for the feeding of Swine, both in Winter and Summer; for bein;
once us'd to thofe places, they will repair to them as duly every Ebb, as if they were driven to them by Keepers: In fome places of the Countrey there be Clamms as big as a Peny white Loaf, which are great Dainties amongft the Natives, and would be in great efteem amongft the English, were it not for better Fifh:

Other Commodities which this Countrey is faid to yield, are, in down-right Profe, Furrs, Flax, Linnen, Iron, Pitch, Mafts, Cables, and fome quiantity of Amber; fo that if what many Authors have confented to affert concerning New England be not a meer Fietion, what e're hath been affirm'd of the unfruitfulnefs of the Country will demonftrably be found invalid.

There are alfo to be found here fome hurtful Creatures, of which, that which is moft injurious to the Perfon and Life of a Man is the Rattle-Suake, which is generally a yard and a half long, as thick in the middle as the fmall of a Mans Leg; fhe hath a yellow Belly, her Back being fpotted with black, ruffet, yellow, and green colours, plac'd like Scales; at her Tail is a Rattle, with which fhe makes a noife when fhe is molefted, or when the feeth any approach near her; her Neck feems to be no thicker than a Mans Thumb, yet fhe can fwallow a Squirril, having a great wide Mouth, with Teeth as fharp as Needles, wherewith fhe biteth fuch as tread upon her, her Poyfon lyeth in her Teeth, for fhe hath no Sting. When any Man is bitten by any of thefe Creatures, the Poyfon fpreads fo fuddenly through the Veins, and fo runs to the Heart, that in one hour it caufeth Death, unlefs he hath the Antidote to expel the Poyfon, which is a Root call'd Snake-weed, which muft be champ'd, the Spittle fwallow'd, and the Root apply'd to the Sore; this is prefent Cure againft that which would be prefent death without it: This Weed is rank Poyfon, if it be taken by any man that is not bitten; whofoever is bitten by thefe Snakes, his flefh becomes as Spotted as a Leopard, until he be perfectly cur'd. It is reported, that if the Party live that is bitten, the Snake will die, and if the Party die, the Snake will live. This is a moft Poyfonous and dangerous Animal, yet nothing fo bad as the report goes of it in England; for whereas it is faid to kill a Man with its breath, and that it can flie, there is no fuch matter, for it is naturally the moft fleepy and unnimble Creature that lives, never offering to leap or bite any Man, if it be not trodden on firf; and it is their defire in hot weather to lie in Paths, where the Sun may fhine on them, where they will fleep fo foundly, that I have known four Men ftride over one of them, and never awake it ; five or fix Men have been bitten by them, which by ufing of Snakerweed were all cur'd, never any yet lofing his life by them. Cows have been bitten, but being cut in divers places, and this Weed thruft into their flefh, were cur'd; A fmall Switch will eafily kill one of thefe Snakes. In many places of the Country there be none of them, as at Plymouth, New-town, Igowamme, Nahant, ecc. In fome places they will live on one fide of the River, and fwimming but over the Water, as foon as they are come into the Woods, they turn up their yellow Bellies and die. Upinto the Countrey, Weftward from the Plantations, is a high Hill, which is call'd Rattle: Snake-Hill, where there are great fore of thefe Poyfonous Creatures.

There are likewife troublefome Flies.
Firft there is a wild Bee or Warp, which commonly guards the Grape, building by Cobweb habitation amongft the Leaves: Secondly a great green Flie, not much unlike our Horfe-Flies in England; they will nipp fo fore, that they will fetch Blood either of Man or Beaft, and are moft troublefome where moft Cattel are, which brings them from out of the Woods to the Houles; this Flie continues but for the Moneth of June. The third is Gurnipper, which is a fmall black Flie, no bigger than a Flea ; her biting caufech an itching upon the Hands or Face, which provoketh foratching, which is croublefome to fome; this Flie is buffe but in clofe Mornings or Evenings, and continues not above three Weeks; the leaft Wind or heat expels them. The fourth is a Musketor, which is not unlike to our Gnats in Enoland; in places where there is no thick Woods or Swamps, chere are none or very few. In the new Plantations they are troublefome for the firft year, but the Wood decaying they vanifh : Thefe Flies cannot endure Wind, heat or cold, fo that thefe are only troublefome in clofe thick Weather, and againft Rain, many that are bitten will fall a fcratching, whereupon their Faces and Hands fwell.

butrk. barck. The Mowbacks were ever accounted a cruel bloudy People, which were wont to come down upon their poor Neighber with more than bruitifh Savagenefs, fpoile ing their Corn, burning their Houles, flaying Men, ravifhing Women, yea very Canibals they were, fometimes eating on a Man one part after another before his Face, and while yet living; infomuch, that the very Name of a Movback would Atrike the Heart of a poor Aberginian dead, till they had the Englifh on their fides to fuccor them; for thefe inhumane Homicides confefs, that they dare not meddle with a white Fac'd Man, accompany'd with his hot-mouth'd Weapon.

Thefe Indians are a People of tall Stature, long grim Vifages, flender Wafted, and having exceeding great Arms and Thighs, wherein they fay their frength lieth; which is fuch, that one of them hath been known to kill a Dog with a fillip of his Finger, and afterwards to have flead and fod him, and eat him to his Din. ner. They are fo hardy, that they can eat fuch things as would make other Indians fick to look upon; being deftitute of Fifh and Flefh, they fuffice Hunger and main. tain Nature with the ufe of Vegetatives; but that which they moft hunt after, is the flefh of Man : Their cuftom is, if they get a ftranger near their Habitations, not to Butcher him immediately, but keep him in as good plight as they can, feeding him with the beft Victuals they have.

Thefe Indians are more defperate in Wars than the other Indians, which proceeds not only from the fiercenefs of their Natures, but alfo in that they know themfelves to be better Arm'd and Weapon'd; all of them wearing Sea Horfe Skins and Barks of Trees, made by their Art as impenetrable, it is thought, as Steel, wearing Head. Pieces of the fame, under which they March fecurely and undantedly, running, and fiercely crying out, Hadree Hadree fuccomee fuccomee, We come we come to fuck your Blood, not fearing the feather'd thafts of the ftrong-arm'd Bowamen, but like unruly headtrong Stallions, beat them down with their right-hand Tamabawks, and lefthand Javelins, being all the Weapons which they ufe, counting Bowes a cowardly fight. Tamabaivks are Staves of two Foot and a half long, with knobs at one end as round and big as a Foot-ball; a Javelin is a fhort Spear, headed with fharp SeaHorfe Teeth; one blow or thruft with thefe fharp Weapons, will not need a fecond to haften death from a Monolacks arm.

The Tarrenteens faving that they eat not Mans flefh, are little lefs Salvage and cruel than thefe Cannibals; our Indians do fear them as their deadly Enemies, for fo many of them as they meet, they kill. Take thefe Indians in their own proper and na. tural difpofition, and they are reported to be wife, lofty-fpirited, conftant in friendflip to one another, true in their promife, and more induftrious than many others.

The

The Pequants are a ftately Warlike People, juft and equal in their dealings; not treacherous either to their Country-men, or Englifh, to whom (except in time of War) they were not any ways uncivil. Their next Neighbors the Narraganfets, are the moft numerous People in thofe Parts, the moft rich alfo, and the moft induftrio ous; being the Storeshoufe of all fuch kind of wild Merchandize as is amonght them. Thefe Men are the moft curious Minters of their Wampompeage and Mowbakes, which they form out of the inmoft Wreaths of Periwinkle-fhells. The Northern, Eaftern, and Weftern Indians fetch all their Coyn from thefe Southern MintMafters. From hence they have moft of their curious Pendants and Bracelets, from hence they have their great Stone Pipes, which will hold a quarter of an Ounce of Tobacco, which they make with Steel Drills and other Inftruments; fuch is their Ingenuity and dexterity, that they can imitate the EnglifhMold fo accurately, that were it not for matter and colour, it were hard to diftinguifh them; they make them of green, and fometimes of black Stone; they are much defir'd of our Englifh Tobacconifts, for their rarity, ftrength, handfomnefs, and coolnefs. Hence likewife our Indians had their Pots, wherein they us'd to feeth their Victuals before they knew the ufe of Brafs. Since the Englifh came, they have employ'd moft of their time in catching of Beavers, Otters, and Mufquashes, which they bring down into the Bay, returning back loaden with English Commodities, of which they make double profit, by felling them to more remote Indians, who are ignorant at what cheap rates they obtain them, in comparifon of what they make them pay, fo making their Neighbors ignorance their enrichment: They were never known to be defirous to take in hand any Martial Enterprize, or expofe themfelves to the uncertain events of War; wherefore the Pequants call them Womenslike Men, refting fecure under the conceit of their popularity, and feeking rather to grow rich by induftry, than famous by deeds of Chivalry.

Moft of thefe Northward Indians are between five and fix Foot high, ftraight Bo. dy'd, ftrongly compos'd, fmooth Șkin'd, merry Countenanc'd, of Complexion more fwarthy than the Spaniards, black Hair'd, high Foreheaded, black Ey'd, outNos'd, broad Shoulder'd, brawny Arm'd, long and flender Handed, out Breafted, fmall Wafted, lank Belly'd, well Thigh'd, flat Kneed, with handfome grown Legs, and fmall Feet : In a word, take them when the Blood skips in their Veins, when the Flefh is on their Backs, and Marrow in their Bones, when they frolick in their an. tique Deportments and Indian Poftures, they are more amiable to behold (though onely in Adam's Livery) than many a trim Gallant in the neweft Mode; and though their Houfes are but mean, their Lodging as homely, Commons fcant, their Drink Water, and Nature their beft Clothing, yet they ftill are healthful and lufty. Their fmooth Skins. proceed from the often anointing of their Bodies with the Oyl of Fifhes, and the fat of Eagles, with the greafe of Rackoons, which they hold in Summer the beft Antidote to keep their Skin from blifering with the forching Sun ; it is their beft Armor againft the Musketoes, and the fureft abrafour of the hairy Excrement, and fops the Pores of their Bodies againft the nipping Winters cold. Their black Hair is natural, yet is brought to a more Jetty colour by Oyling, Dying, and daily dreffing; fometimes they wear it very long, hanging down in a loofe difhevel'd Womanifh manner, otherwife ty'd up hard and fhore like a Horfe Tail, bound clofe with a Fillet, which they fay makes it grow the fafter; they are not a little Phantaftical in this particular; their Boys being not permitted to wear their Hair long till fixteen years of Age, and then they muft cone to it by degrees; fome being cut with a long foretop, a long lock on the Crown, one of each fide of his Head, the reft of his Hair being cut even with the Scalp; the young Men and Soldiers wear their Hair long on the one fide, the other being cut flort like a Screw; other cuts they have as cheir Fancy leads them, which would torture the Wits of the moft exact Barber to imitate. But though they are thus proud of the Hair of their Head, you cannot wooe them to wear it on their Chins, where it no fooner grows, but it is fubb'd up by the roots, for they count it as an unufeful, cumberfome, and opprobrious excrement, infomuch as they call him an Endlish Mans Baftard that hath but the appearance of a Beard.

The Apparel, Ornaments, Paintings,anl other artificiul Deckings of the Indians.

The Cloathing of the Indians is only a pair of Indian Breeches to cover their fecret Parts, which is but a piece of Cloth a yard and a halflong, but between their Groins, ty'd with a Snakes Skin about their middles, one end hanging down with a flap before, the other like a tail behind. In the Winter time, the more Aged of them wear Leather Drawers, in form like Irish Troufes, faften'd under their Girdle with Buttons: They wear Shooes likewife of their own making, cut out of a Moofes Hide; many of them wear Skins about them, in form of an Irish Mantle, and of thefe fome are Bears Skins, Moofes Skins, and Beaver Skins few'd together, others Ot. ter Skins;and RackoonSkins; moft of them-in the Winter having his deep Furr'd Cat Skin, like a large Muff, which he fhifts to that Arm which lieth moft expos'd to the Wind. Although they are poor, yet is there in them the farks of natural Pride, which appears in their longing defire after many kind of Ornaments, wearing Pendants in their Ears, in form of Birds, Beafts, and Fifhes, Carv'd out of Bone, Shells, and Stone, with long Bracelets of their curious wrought Wampompeage and Mowhackees, which they put about their Necks and Loins; thefe they count a rare kind of Decking; many of the better fort bearing upon their Cheeks certain Pourtraitures of Beafts, as Bears, Deers, Moofes, Wolves, ecc. fome of Fowls, as of Eagles, Hawks, ec. which is not a fuperficial Painting, but a certain Incifion, or elfe a raifing of their Skin by a frall flarp Inftrument, under which they convey a certain kind of black unchangeable Ink, which makes the defir'd form apparent and permanent. Others have certain round Impreffions down the outfide of their Arms and Breafts, in form of Mullets or Spur-rowels, which they imprint by fearing Irons: Whether thefe be Foils to illuftrate their unparallel'd Beauty (as they deem it) or. Arms to blazon their antique Gentility, cannot eafily be determin'd : But a Segamore with a Humbird in his Ear for a Pendant, a black Hawk on his Head for his Plume, Mowbackees for his Gold Chain, good fore of Wampompeage begirting his Loins, his Bowe in his Hand, his Quiver at his Back, with fix naked Indian Lacquies at his Heels for his Guard, thinks himfelf little Inferior to the great Cham.

In Winter time they have all manner of Fowls and Beafts of the Land and Wa-rimes and Hopipitality at their Ketrle. ter, Pond-fifh, with Catbaires and other Roots, Indian Beans and Clamms; in the Summer they have all manner of Sea-fifh, with all forts of Berries. For the ordering of their Victuals, they Boil or Roaft them, having large Kettles which they Traded for with the French long fince, and do ftill buy of the Englifh as their need requires, before they had fubftantial Earthen Pots of their own making. Their Spits are no other than cloven Sticks, fharpen'd at one end to thruft into the ground; into thefe cloven Sticks they thruft the Flefh or Fifh they would have Roafted, behem. ming a round fire with a dozen of Spits at a time, turning them as they fee occaflo on. They feldom or never make Bread of their Indian Corn, but feethe it whole like Beans, eating three or four Corns with a mouthful of Fifh or Flefh, fometimes eating Meat firft, and Corns after, filling the Chinks with their Broth. In Sum. mer, when their Corn is fpent, Sqouter qquashes is their beft Bread, a Fruit like a young $^{\text {a }}$ Pumpion: But as all are fellows at Foot-ball, fo they all meet Friends at the Ket-

the, faving their Wives, that Dance a Spanielelike attendance at cheir Backs for their Fragments. If their occafions caule them to Travel, the beft of their Vi&tuals for their Journey is Nocake, (as they call it) which is nothing but Indian Corn parch'd in the hot Afhes ; the Afhes being fiffed from it, it is afterwards beaten to Powder, and put into a long Leathern Bag, trufs'd at their Back like a Knapfack, out of which they take thrice three Spoonfuls a day, dividing it into three Meals. If it be Winter, and Snow be on the ground, they can eat when they pleafe, making ufe of Snow for their Drink; in Summer, they muft flay till they meet with a Spring or Brook; with this ftrange riaticum they will travel four or five days together. They keep no Set-Meals, their Store being fene, they champ on the Bit, till they meet with frefh Supplies, either from their own endeavors, or their Wives induftry, who trudge to the Clamsbanks when all other means fail. Though they are fometimes fcanted, yet are they as free as Emperors, both to their Countrey. men and English, be he ftranger, or near acquaintance ; counting it a great difcourtefie, not to eat of their high-conceited Delicates.

Their hardinefs is much to be admir'd, no ordinary pains making them fo much as alter their countenance; beat them, whip them, punch them, if they pur on a refolution, they will not winch for it; whether it be their benumm'd infenfibles nefs of fmart, or their hardy refolutions, is hard to refolve; It might be a Perillus his Bull, or the Rack might force an out-cry from them, but a Turkish drubbing would not move them, the unexpected approach of a morta! Wound by a Bullet, Arrow, or Sword, ftriking no more terror, nor cauling no more exclamation in them, than if it had been a fhot into the body of a Tree; fuch Wounds as would be fudden death to an English Man, would be nothing to them; whether it be, that by their rare skill in the ufe of Vegetatives, or by Diabolical Charms, they cure them; neverthelefs, the very name and thoughts of death is fo hideous to them, or any thing that prefents it fo terrible, that a hundred of them will run from two or three arm'd with Guns. In the Night they need not to be feared, for they will not budge from their own Dwellings, for fear of their Abamacho (the Devil) whom they much fear, fpecially in evil enterprizes, they will rather lie by an Englisb fire than go a quarter of a Mile in the dark to their own Dwellings; but they are well freed from this Scarescrow fince the coming of the English, and lefs care for his delufions.

Now for the matter of Government amongft them; it is the cuftom of their Kings to inherit, the Son always taking the Kingdom after his Fathers death. If there be no Son, then the Queen rules; if no Queen, the next to the Blood-Royal; who comes in otherwife, is but counted an ufurping Intruder, if his fair carriage bear him not out the better, they will foon Unfcepter him. Some fay the chief Powabe is next in Dignity and Authority to the King, and when he dies, Marries the Squafachem, or Queen.

The Kings have no Laws to Command by, nor have they any annual Revenues; yet commonly are they fo either fear'd or belov'd, that half their Subjects effate is at their Service, and their Perfons at his Command, by which Command he is better known than by any thing elfe; for though he hath no Kingly Robes to make him glorious in the view of his Subjects, nor daily Guards to fuccor his Perfon, nor Court-like attendance, nor fumptuous Palaces; yet do they yield all fubmiffive fubjection to him, accounting him their Soveraign; going at his Command, and coming at his Beck, not fo much as expoftulating the caufe, though it be in mat. ters thwarting their wills; he being accounted a difloyal Subject that will not effect what his Prince Commands. Whofoever is known to Plot Treafon, or to lay violent violent hands on his lawful King, is prefently Executed. Once a Year he takes his Progrefs, accompanied with a dozen of his beft Subjects, to view his Countrey, to recreate himfelf, and eftablifh good Orders. When he enters into any of their Houfes, without any more Complement, he is defir'd to fit down on the Ground, (for they ufe neither Stools nor Cufhions) and after a little refpite all that are prefent come in, and fit down by him, one of his. Seniors pronouncing an Oration gratulatory to his Majefty for love, and the many good things they enjoy under his peaceful Government. A King of large Dominions hath his Vice-Roys, or inferior Kings under him, to agitate his State Affairs, and keep his Subjects in good Decorum. Other Officers there are, buthow to diftinguifh them by Name is fomething difficult. For their Laws, as their Vices come fhort of many other Nations, fo they have not fo many Laws, though they are not without fome, which they in. flict upon notorious Malefactors; as Traitors to their Prince, inhumane Murtherers, and, fome fay, Adulterers: for Theff, as they have nothing to fteal worth the Life of a Man, therefore they have no Law to Execute for Trivials, a Subject being more precious in the Eye of his Prince, than, where Men are fo fcarce, to be caft away upon fo fleight a matter. A Malefactor having deferv'd Death, and being apprehended, is brought before the King, and fome other of the wifen Men, where they enquire out the original of the thing, after proceeding by aggravation of Circumftances he is found Guilty, and Caft by the Jury of their ftrict Inquifition, he is Condemn'd and Executed in the following manner : The Executioner comes in, who blindefolds the Party, fets him in the publick view, and Brains him with a Tamabauke, or Club; which done, his Friends bury him.
Offthimar-
riages. Doctors, may have two or three Wives, but feldom ufe it, Men of ordinary Rank having butone; which difproves the report, that they had eight or ten Wives apiece. When a Man hath a defire to Marry, he firft gets the good will of the Maid or Widow, after, the confent of her Friends for her part; and for himfelf, if he be at his own difpofing, and if the King will, the Match is made, her Dowry of Wampompeage paid, the Sagamore or King (whe for every Marriage hath a Fathom of Wampompeage, which is about the value of feven or eight fhillings) joyns their Hands, never to part till Death, unlefs the prove a Whore, for which they may put away their Wives.

As it is natural to all Mortals to worfhip fomething, fo do thefe People, but exactly to defcribe to whom their Worfhip is chiefly bent, is very difficule: They acknowledge efpecially two, Ketan, fome fay Tantum, their good God, and Hobamocco, fome fay Squantum, their evil God; to Ketan they Sacrifice (as the ancient Heathens did to Ceres) after their Garners be full with a good Crop. They likewife Invocate this God for fair Weather, for Rain in time of Drought, and for the recovery of their Sick; but if they do not hear them, then they verrifie the old Verfe, Flectere fi nequeo Superos Acheronta movebo, their Pownoons betaking themfelves to their Exorcifmes and Necromantick Charms, by which they bring to pafs ftrange things, if we may believe the Indians, who report of one Piffacannans, that he could make the Water burn, the Rocks move, the Trees dance, and metamorphofe himfelf into a flaming Man. In Winter, when there is no green Leaves to be got, he would out of the Afhes of an old Leaf, calcin'd and put into the Water, produce a new green Leaf: And of a dead Snakes Skin, a living Snake, both to be feen, felt and heard. The manner of their action in their Conjuration is thus : The Parties that are fick or lame being brought before them, the Pownow fitting down, the reft of the Indians giving attentive audience to his Imprecations and Invocations, and after the violent expreffion of many a hideous bellowing and groano ing he makes a ftop, and then all the Auditors with one voice utter a Chort Canto; which done, the Pownow ftill proceeds in his Invocations, fometimes roaring like a Bear, other times groaning like a dying Horfe, foaming at the Mouth like a cha. fed Boar, fmiting on his'naked Breft'and Thighs with fuch violence, as if he were mad: Thus will he continue fometimes half a day, Spending his Lungs, fweating out his Fat, and cormenting his Body in this diabolical Worfhip. Sometimes the Devil, for requital of their Worfhip, recovers the Party, to nuzzle them up in their devillifh Religion. But fince the Englifh (upon whom, and in whofe prefence it is faid the Pownows could never work their Witchorafts). frequented thofe Parts, they daily fall from his Colours, relinquifhing their former Fopperies, and acknowledge the Power of the Englifh-man's God, as they call him. And it is reported of them, that at the very firft they were fo tractable to the Chrifian Religion, that they would fay King James was good, and his God good, but their Tanto nought, though of their two Gods he was accounted the good one.

They ufe no orher Weapons in War than Bowes and Arrows, favirig that their Captains have long Spears, on which, if they return Conquerors, they carry the Heads of their chief Enemies that they flay in the Wars, it being the Cuftom to cut off their Heads, Hands and Feet, to bear home to their Wives and Children, is true tokens of their renowned Victory. When they go to their Wars; it is their Cuftom to paint their Faces with diverfity of Colours, fome being all black as Jet, fome red, fome half red and half black, fome black and white, others fpotted with divers kinds of Colours, being all difguis'd to their Enemies, to make them more terrible to their Foes, putting on likewife their rich Jewels, Pendents, and Wampoms peage, to put them in mind that they Fight not onely for their Children, Wives and Lives, but likewife for their Goods, Lands and Liberties. Being thus Arm'd with this Warlike Paint, the antique Warriors make towards their Enemies in a diforder'd manner, without any Soldier like Marching, or Warlike Poftures, being deaf to any word of Command, ignorant of falling off or on, of doubling Ranks or Files, but let flie their winged Shaftfmen without either fear or wit: T'heir Artillery being fpent, he that hath no Arms to Fight, finds Legs to run away.

They have two forts of Games, one call'd Puim, the other Hubbub, not much unlike Cards and Dice, being no other than Lottery. Puim is fifty or fixty fmall Bents of a Foot long, which they divide to the number of their Gamefters, fhuffing them firft between the Palms of their Hands; he that hath more than his Fellow, is fo much the forwarder in his Game: Many other Whimfies be in this Game, which would be too long to commit to Paper. He that is a noted Gamefter hath a Hole in his Ear, wherein he carries his Puims in defrance of his Antagonifts. Hubbub is five fmall Bones in a fmall fmooth Tray; the Bones be like a Die, but fomething flatter, black on the one fide and white on the other, which they place on the Ground, againft which violently thumping the Platter, the Bones mount, changing colours with the windy whisking of their Hands to and fro; which action in that fport they much ufe, fmiting themfelves on the Breaft and Thighs, crying out Hub, Hub, Hub; they may be heard play at this Game a quarter of a Mile off: The Bones being all black or white make a double Game; if three of one colour, and two of another, then they afford but a fingle Game; four of a colour, and one differing, is nothing; fo long as the Man wins he keeps the Tray, but if he loofe the next Man takes it. They are fo bewitch'd with thefe two Games, that they will lofe fometimes all they have; Beaver, Moofeskins, Kettles, Wampompeage, Mowhacks, Harchets, Knives, all is confifcate by thefe two Games. For their Sports of action they have commonly but three or four, as Football, Shooting, Running, and Swimming ; when they play Countrey againft Countrey, there are rich Goals, all bchung with Wampompeage, Mowbacks, Beaver Skins, and black Otter Skins: Their Goals are a Mile long plac'd on the Sands, which are as even as a Board; their Ball is no bigger than a Hand-ball, which fometimes they mount in the Air with their naked Feet, fometimes it is fway'd by the multitude, fometime alfo it is two days before they get a Goal, then they mark the Ground they win, and begin there the next day. Before they come to this Sport they paint themfelves, even as when. they go to War, in policy to prevent future mifchief, becaufe no man fhould know him that mov'd his patience, or accidentally hurt his Perfon, taking away the oc. cafion of fudying revenge. Before they begin, their Arms are put off, and hung upon fome neighboring Tree, after which they make a long ferowl on the Sand, over which they fhake Hands, and with loving Hearts fcuffle for Victory. While the Men Play, the Boys Pipe, and the Women Dance and Sing Trophies of their Husbands Conquefts; all being done, a Feaft fummons their departure.

Such is their dexterity in Shooting, that they can hit a running Hind, or flying. Pigeon, without a ftanding paufe or lefteey'd blinking; they draw their Arrows between their Fingers and the Thumb, their Bowes are quick, but not very ftrong, not killing at above fix or feven fcore diftance : Shooting at one another, they have a trick with fwift conveyance to flum the Arrow; this they do to make them expert againft time of War. They are crain'd up to their Bowes even from their Childhood; for little Boys with Bowes made of little Sticks, and Arrows made of great Bents; will hit down a piece of Tobacco-pipe every time a good way off. As thefe Indians are good Marks-men, fo are they well experienc'd where the very Life of every Creature lieth, and know where to fmite him to make him die prefently. Their Swimming is not after our Englifh fafhion, of Spread Arms and Legs, which they hold too tirefom, but like Dogs, their Arms before them, cut. ting through the Liquids with their right Shoulder: In this manner they will Swim very fwift and far, either in rough or fmooth Waters, fometimes for their eafelying as ftill as a Log; fometimes they will play the Divedoppers, and come up in unexpected places.

For their Hunting, it is to be noted, that they have no fwiftofooted Greyhounds to let flip at the fight of the Deer, no deep-mouth'd Hounds, or fcenting Beagles, to find out their defired Prey; themfelves are all this, who in that time of the year when the Deer comes down, having certain Hunting-houfes in fuch places where they know the Deer doth ufually frequent, in which they keep their Rendezvouz, their Snares, and all their Accoutrements for that Employment: when they get fight of a Deer, Moofe, or Bear, they fudy how to get the Wind of him, and ap. proaching within fhot, fab their Mark quite through, if the Bones hinder not. The chief thing they Hunt after is Deer, Moofes and Bears: It grieves them more to fee an Englifhman take one Deer, than a thoufand Acres of Land. They Hunt likewife after Wolves, wild Cats, Rackoons, Otters, Beavers, and Mufquashes, Trading both their Skins and Flefh to the English. Befide this Artillery they have other devices to kill their Game, as fometimes Hedges, a Mile or two Miles long, being a Mile wide at one end, and made narrower and narrower by degrees, leaving onely a Gap of fix Foot long; over againft which in the daystime they lie lurking, to fhoot the Deer which come through that narrow paffage; fo many as come within the circumference of that Hedge, feldom return back to leap over, unlefs they be forc'd by the chafing of fome ravenous Wolf, or fight of fome accidental Paffenger : In the Night, at the Gap of this Hedge, they fet Deeratraps, which are Springes made of young Trees, and fmooth wrought Cords, fo frong, that it will tofs a Horfe if he be caught in it.

In the Trade of Fifhing they are very expert, being experienc'd in the knowe ledge of all Baits for feveral Fifhes, and divers Seafons; being not ignorant like. wife of the removal of Fifhes, knowing when to Fifh in Rivers, and when at Rocks, when in Bays, and when at Seas: Since the English came they are furnifh'd with English Hooks and Lines, for before they made them of Hemp, being more curioully wrought, of ftronger Materials than ours, and hook'd with Bone-Hooks; but lazinefs drives them to buy, more than profit or commendations wins them to make of theirown. They make likewife very ftrong Sturgeon-nets, with which they catch Sturgeons of twelve, fourteen, and fixteen, and fome eighteen Foot long in the day-time, and in the nightecime they betake themfelves to their Birchen Canoos, in which they carry a forty-fathom Line, with a fharp-bearded Dart faftned at the end thereof; then lighting a Torch made of Birchen Rinds, they wave it to and again by their Canoo fide, which the Sturgeon much delighted with, comes to them tumbling and playing, turning up his white Belly, into which they thruft their Lance, his Back being impenetrable; which done, they hale to the Shore their ftrugling Prize. They have often recourfe into the Rocks whereupon the Sea beats; in warm Weather, to look out for fleepy Seals, whofe Oyl they much eíteem, ufing it for divers things. In Summer they Fifh any where, but in Winter in the frefh Water onely, and Ponds; in frofty Weather they cut round Holes in the Ice, about which they will fit like fo many Apes with their naked Breeches upon the cold Ice, catching of Pikes, Pearches, Breams, and other forts of frefh-Water Fifh.

Their Arts and Manufactures are divers, as firft their dreffing of all manner oftherir fis of Skins, which they do by fcraping and rubbing, afterwards painting them and Manurita with antique Embroiderings in unchangeable Colours; fometimes they take off the Hair, efpecially if it be not kill'd in fealon. Their Bowes they make of a handfom fhape, ftrung commonly with the Sinews of Moofes; their Arrows of young Elder; feather'd with Feathers of Eagles Wings and Tails, headed with Brals in fhape of a Heart or Triangle, faftned in a flender piece of Wood fix or eight Inches long, which is fram'd to put loofe in the pithy Elder, aftewards bound faft for riving : Their Arrows are made in this manner, becaufe it might fhake from his Head, and be left behind for their finding, and the Pile onely re. main to gaul the wounded Beaft. Their Cordage is fo evert, foft, and fmooth, that. it looks more like Silk than Hemp. Their Sturgeon Nets are not deep, nor above thirty or forty Foot long, which in ebbing low Waters they ftake faft to the Ground where they are fure the Sturgeon will come, never looking more at it till the next low Water. Their Canoos are made either of Pine-trees, which before they were acquainted with English Tools, they burn'd hollow, fcraping them fmooth with Clam-fhells and Oyfter-fhells, cutting their out-fides with Stone Hatchets. Thefe Boats are not above a Foot and a half, or two Foot wide, and twenty Foot long. Their other Canoos be made of thin Birch Rinds, clofe Ribb'd, and on the in-fide with broad thin Hoops, like the Hoops of a Tub; thefe are made very light, a Man may carry one of them a Mile, being made purpofely to carry from River to River, and from Bay to Bay, to fhorten Land-paffages. In thefe cockling Fly boats, wherein an Englishman can fcarce fit without a fearful tottering, they will venture to Sea, when an English Shallop dare not bear a Knot of Sail, fcudding over the over-grown Waves as faft as a wind driven Ship, being driven by their Paddles, being much like Bateledoors; if a crofs Wave (which is feldom) turn het Keel up-fide down, they by fwimming free her, and feramble into her again.

Of their Deaths, Burials and Mourning.

Their Language, is onely peculiar to themfelves, not inclining to any of the more refined Tongues. Some have thought they might be of the difperfed feniss, becaufe fome of their wordṣare near unto the Hebrew; but by the fame rule they may conclude them to be fome of the gleanings of all Nations, becaufe they have words which found after the Greek, Latine, French, and other Tongues. Their Language is hard to learn, few of the English, being able to feak any of it, or capable of the right pronunciation, which is the chief grace of their Tongue: They pronounce much after the Diphthongs, excluding $L$ and $R$, which in our English Tongue they pronounce with as much difficulcy, as moft of the Dutch do $T$ and $H$, calling a Lobfter a Nobfann. Every Countrey doth fomething differ in their Speech, even as our Northern People do from the Southern, and Weftern from them; efpecially the Tarrentine, whofe Tongue runs fo much upon $R$, that they wharle much in pronunciation. When any Ships come near the Shore, they demand whether they are King Charles's Torries, with fuch a rumbling found, as if one were beating on an unbrac'd Drum. In ferious Difcourfe our Southern Indians ufe feldom any fhors Colloquies, but fpeak their minds at large, without any interjected Difcourfes from any, the reft giving diligent audience to his utterance; which done, fome or other returns him as long an Anfwer: They love not to feeak multa, fed maltum; feldom are their words and their deeds ftrangers. According to the matter of their difcourfe, fo are their acting Geftures in their Expreffions.

The Indians are of lufty and healchful Bodies, not experimentally knowing thofe Difeales which are incident to other Countreys, as Feavers, Pleurifies, Calentures, Agues, Confumptions, Convulfions, Apoplexies, Dropfies, Gouts, Pox, Mealles, or the like, but fpin out the thred of their Days to a fair length, numbering fixty, eighty, fome a hundred years: But when any one lies a dying, the doleful cries, and throbbing fighs of the Friends and Relations, exprefs unfpeakable forrow; and when the Party is dead and laid in the Ground, they not onely weep and howl for a good Space over the Grave, but alfo keep Annual Solemnities of Mourning, rubbing their Faces with black Lead all about the Eye-brows, and part of their Cheeks; yet do they hold the Immortality of the Soul, in which their Indian Faith jumps much with the Turkish Alchoran, dreaming of a certain Paradife, or South. Weft $E l y$ fium, wherein they fhall everlaftingly abide, folacing themfelves in odoriferous Gardens, fruitful Corn-ficlds, green Meadows, bathing their tawny Hides in .the cool Streams of pleafant Rivers, and fheltering themfelves from Heat and Cold in the fumptuous Palaces fram'd by Nature, concluding, that neither care nor pain fhall moleft them, but that Natures bounty will adminifter all things with a voluntary contribution from the Store=houfe of their Elyfum ; at the Portal whereof, they fay, lies a great Dog, whofe churlifh fnarlings deny admiffion to unworthy Intruders : wherefore it is cheir cuftom to bury with them their Bowes and Arrows, and good fore of their Wampompeage and Moowbacks, the one to affright that affront* ing Cerberus, the other to purchafe more immenfe Prerogatives in their Paradife. For their Enemies and loofe Livers, whom they account unworthy of this imaginary Happinefs, they fay that they pafs to the infernal Dwellings of Abamocho, to be tortur'd according to the Fictions of the ancient Heathen.

The drudgery of all laborious forts of Work, and the management of all dome-

fick Affairs, lies wholly upon the Indian Women, who are made meer Slaves by their Husbands; they build the Houfes, fowe and reap the Corn, provide Lobfters for their Husbands to bait their Hooks when they go a Fifhing for Baffe or Cod; and for thefe Lobfters they are many times forc'd to dive in the extreameft Weather, then lug home a great weight of them upon their Backs, as alfo all the Fifh which their Husbands carch for pleafure, from the places where they were caught : They drefs all the Meat, ferve it up to their Husbands, and waiting till they have fill'd their Bellies, are glad of their leavings. In Summer they gather Flags, of which they make Mars for Houfes, and Hemp and Rufhes, with Dying Stuff, of which chey make curious Baskets, with intermixed Colours and Pourtraictures of antique Imagery. Thefe Baskets are of all fizes from a Quart to a Quarter, in which they carry their Luggage. In Winter they are their Husbands Caterers, trudging to the Clamsbanks for their Belly-timber, and their Porters to lug it home. They likewife few their Husbands Shoes, and weavẹ Coats of Turky Fea. thers, befides all their ordinary Houfhold drudgery which daily lies upon them, infomuch that a grea0 Belly hinders no bufinefs, nor doth a Child birth take much time, but the young Infant being greas'd and footed, wrapp'd in a Beavers Skin, bound with his Feet up to his Bum, upon a Board two Foot long ạd one Foot broad, and his Face expos'd to all nipping Weather, this little Pappoufe eravels about with his bare-footed Mother to paddle in the Icy Clam.banks, after three or four days of Age have confirm'd her recovery. For their Carriage, it is very civil, Smiles being the greateft grace of their Mirth. Their Mufick is Lullabies in Rocking their Children, who generally are as quiet as if they had neither Spleen or Lungs. Their Voices are generally both fweet and well order'd, fo far as pure Nature teachech them. Their Modefly drives them to wear more Clothes than the Men, having alo ways a Coat of Cloth or Skins, wrapp'd like a Blanket about their Loyns, reaching down to their Hams, which they never put off in Company.

There are to be reckon'd up forty five chief Towns, befides what others there may be of lefs note, built or made habitable by the Englifh fince their firft arrival in New England, till about the Year 1650.

Firf, St. Georges Fort, where the firf Plantation was fetled, at the Mouth of the River Sagadebock, in a kind of Peninfula, or half Ifland.

The fecond, New Plymouth, feated no lefs commodioufly upon a large Bay, call'd by the Natives Pautuxed; where they firff fetled that went over out of diffatisfa. Etion to the Church-Government of England.
The third, Salem, call'd by the Indians, Mabumbeak; which ftands on the middle of a Neck of Land very pleafantly, having a South River on the one fide, and a, North River on the other fide. This Town feems to have been buile in the Year 1628. by a part of that Company, who, being fent over by the MerchanteAdventurers, fetled themfelves in this Cape.

The fourth Mafhawmut, or Cbarles-town, fituate on a Neck of Land on the Norths fide of the River Charles. The form of this Town, in the Frontippiece of it, reSembleth the Head, Neck, and Shoulders of a Man; through the right Shoulder whereof runs the Navigable River Mijfick, which by its near approach to Charles - River in one place, makes the chief part of the Town a Peninfula: It confifts of a hundred and fifty Dwelling-houfes, many of them beautif'd with pleafant Gardens and Orchards: Near the Warerefide is a large Market-place, forth of which iffue two fair Streets; and in it ftandsa large and well built Church.

The fifth, Matapan, or Dorchefter, a Fronteer Town, ftanding over againft the Dortheftr. Inand near the Sea-fide : It is water'd with two fmall Rivers, and is buile in the form of a Serpent turning its Head Northward; it hath Orchards and Gardens full of Fruit-trees.

The fixth is Bofon, anciently Accomonticus, the Center and Metropolis of the reft, Bofors. buile in the form of a Heart, and fortifid with two Hills on the Front-part thereof, the one having great fore of Artillery mounted thereon, the other having a Atrong Battery, buile of whole Timber, and fill'd with Earth: Ac the Defcent of the Hill lies a large Cave or Bay, on which the chief part of this Town is built, over-topp'd with a chird Hill, all three like over-topping Towers, keeping a con. ftant Watch to forefee the approach of foreign Dangers. The chiefeft part of this City-like Town is crowded upon the Sea Banks, and wharf'd out with great Indu. ftry and Coft, the Edifices large and beautiful, whofe continual enlargement prefageth fome fumpruous City.

The feventh, Roxbury, fituated between Bofon and Dorcheffer, water'd with cool and pleafant Springs iffuing from the Rocky Hills, and with fmall Frefhets watering the Valleys of this fertile Town: The form of it refemblech a Wedge double pointed, entring between the two abovesmention'd Towns, and in the room of thofe Swamps, or tearing Bufhes which were there before, they have now goodly Fruit-trees, fruitful Fields and Gardens.

The eighth is Lyme, or (according to the Indian Name, Saugus) fituated between Salem and Charles-town, near a River, whofe ftrong Frefhet at the end of Winter fills all her Banks, and with a violent Torrent vents it felf into the Sea. This Town is almoft fquare, confifting many years ago of above a hundred Dwelling-houfes, ha. ving alfo an Iron Mill in conftant ufe: The Church being on a level Land, unde. fended from the North.Weft Wind, is made with Steps defcending into the Earth.
The ninth is calld Water-town, anciently Pig $\int g u f f e t$, fituated upon one of the Branches of Charles:River, water'd with many pleafant Springs and fmall Rivulets, running like Veins throughout her Body. This Town began by occafion of Sir Ricbard Saltingfall, who arriving with fore of Cattel and Servants, Winter'd in thele Parts.

In the Year 1633. there was erected bet'xeen Charles-town and Waterctoonn, a Place call'd Newetoron, and by the Indians, Amongcangen, fince nam'd Cambridge, being the tenth in order : It is in form like a Lift of Broad=cloth, reaching to the moft Sour therly part of Merrimeck River; it hath comely and well order'd Streets, and two fair Colledges; the firft call'd Harverd Colledge, from Mr. Fomn Harverd, who at his Death gave a thoufand Pounds to ir ; to the other Mr. John Harnes was the chief $\mathrm{Be}-$ nefactor. This Town was appointed to be the Seat of the Government, but it continu'd not long.

The eleventh call'd Ipfiwich, or Sawacatuc by the Indians, is fituated on a fair and delightful River, iffuing forth from a very pleafant Pond, and afterwards breaking its Gourfe through a hideous Swamp of large extent; it lies in the Sagamorefhip, or Earldom of Aggavoan, now by the Englifh call'd Effex.

Twelve Miles from $I_{p}$ wich, near upon the Streams of Merrimeck River, is fitua. ted the twelfth, call'd $\mathcal{N}$ enobury.
The People of Newstown, or Cambridge, upon their removal of the Plantation of Canectico, paffing up the River, built a Town, which they call'd Hartford, the thirteenth in number, divers others coming in the room of thofe that departed from Cambridge.
The fourteenth, feated upon a fair frefh River(whole Rivulets are fill'd with-freft Marfh, and her Streams with Fifh, it being a Branch of that large River of Merrimeck Allwives) is built in the Inland Countrey, and call'd Concord: It confifted at firt of above fifty Families: Their Buildings are for the moft part conveniently plac'd on one ftreight Stream under a Sunny Bank, in a low Level. The People that firft fet forth to build this Town, fuftain'd great hardfhip and mifery, by rea. fon of the uncouth Ways, and extremity of the Weather, it being the firf Inland Town that was built.

South-Eaft of Charles-River, upon the SearCoaft, is fituated the fifteenth Town nirgsim: Hingham ; the form whereof is fomewhat intricate to deferibe, by reafon of the Seawafting Crooks, where it beats upon a moultring Shore; yet in fome places the Streets are compleat : It confifted at firft of about fixty Families.

The fixteenth is in Plymouth Government, fituate upon the Sea.Coaft, firft nam'd Dukesebury, afterwards Sandwich.

About the year 1617. a new'Supply coming over into the fe Parts, and not find-

Nowhaver. ing in the Mattachufets Government any commodious place to fettle in, they after much fearch took up a place fomewhat more Southerly, neat the Shalles of Capecod, where they found a commodious Harbor for Shipping, and a fit place to erect a. Town in, which they built in a fhore time, with very fair Houfes and compleat Streets; and Chortly after feveral others: Amongtt which they erected a new Government, which from their firf Fronteer Town, being the feventeenth, was call'd Nervhaven.

The eighteenth is in the Government of the Matiachufets, and call'd Dedbam, being an Inland Town, fituate about ten Miles from Bofon in the County of Suffolk, well water'd with many pleafant Streams, and abounding with Gardens and FruitTrees: It confifted at firf of about a hundred Families, being generally given to Husbandry.

The nineteenth being alfo in this Government is call'd Weymouth, batter'd on the Eaft with the Sea Waves; on the South-Weft Rocks and Swamps make it delightful to the Deer, as the ploughable Meadow Lands to the Inhabitants.

About the Year 1638 . Printing was brought over into Newo England.
About fix Miles from $I_{p}$ wich, North.Eaftward, was erected another Town zomb. call'd Roroly, being the twentieth.

About the Year 1639. began the one and twentieth Town Hamptoin, in the County of Norfolk, to be built: It is fituate near the Sea-Coaft, not far from the River of Merrimeck: The great ftore of falt Marfh did entice the People to fet down their Habitations there.

Not far from this Town of Hampton, was erected the two and twentieth, call'd Salisbary, feated upon the broad fwift Torrent of Merrimeck-River: It lieth on the Northern fide, over againft the Town of Newbury, the River between them being about half a Mile broad, but hath an Inand in the midft thereof, which makes it: the more eafily paffable. The fituation of this Town is very pleafant, the Skirts thereof abounding in fair and goodly Meadows, with good fore of ftately Timber in many places upon the Uplands.

About the Year 1640 . by a frefl Supply of People that fetled in Long. I/ and, was Lonsgrand. there erected the twenty third Town, call'd Soutbampton; by the Indians, Aganoom.

The fame Year alfo the Town of Sudbury, being the twenty fourth, began to be sudian: built in the Inland Countrey: It is furnifh'd with great fore of frefh Marfh, but lying very low, it is much endammag'd with Land.floods.

About this time there was built at Mount Wंolle fone, by fome old Planters and saainrreis certain Farmers of the great Town of Bofon, a Town nam'd Braintree, being the twenty fifth, within the Mattachufets Government: It is well peopled, and hath great fore of Land in Tillage.

In the Year 1641. Mr. Richard Blindman coming from Green Harbour; a Place in ciomefra? Plymouth Patent, with fome few People of his acquaintance, fetled in Cape Anne; where they buile the twenty fixth Town, and nam'd it Glowcefter.

There is alfo fituate upon $\mathscr{P}_{\text {ufcataque River, to the North-Eaft of Bofon, a Town ownt }}$ call'd Dover, being the twenty feventh, the People by voluntary refignation being under the Mattachufets Government.

In the Year 1642. was erected the eight and twenticth Town, call'd Wooburn.
In the Year 1644. Reading the nine and twentieth Town was built, being in the Government of the Mattacloufets; it is well water'd and fituated about a great Pond, having two Mills, a Saw-Mill, and a Corn-Mill, which ftand upon two feveral Streams.

A little after was built the thirtieth Town in this Colony, call'd Wenham, fituate between Salem and Ipfwich; it is very well water'd, as moft Inland Towns are, and the People live altogether on Husbandry.

About the Year 1645 . one Mr. Pinchin, having out of defire to improve his Eftate by 'Trading with the Indians, fetled himfelf in a place very remote from any of the Towns of the Mattacbufets Colony, yet under their Government, and great ftore of People ftill reforting to him, they at laft erected a Town upon the River Canettico, calling it Spring-field, being the one and thirtieth Town; it is very fitly feated for a Beaver Trade with the Indians, in regard it is fituate upon this large Navigable River, and upon fome Rivulets of the fame.

In the Year 1648. was founded the Town of Haverbill, being the two and thirtieth, about a Mile or two from the place where the River of Merrimeck receives into it felf the River Sbaivshin, which is one of her three chief Heads.

Not long after, the Town of Malden, being the three and thirtieth Town, was built by certain People that came out of Charles.Town; thefe two Towns being fever'd the one from the other by the large River of Miftick.

The reft we fhall onely name, as 34 . Bervick, alias Chanoun. 35 Oxfurd, alias Sagoquas. Falmouth, alias Totam. 36. Brifol. 37. Full, alias Paffataquack. 38. Dartmouth, alias. Bobanna. 39. Norwich, alias Segocket. 40. Taunton, alias Cobannet. 41. Greensa Harbour. 42. Yarmouth. 43. Norībam, alias Pafcataqua. 44. Exeter. 45. Weymouth.

The chief Rivers of New England are, Pafcataway, Sagadaboc, Pemmaquid, Ag̈amentico, Merrimeck, Tachobacco, Mifick, Narraganfet, Mifhuivin, Comestacut, Newichwavoch, Kynebequy.

The Indian Natives are now become fo weak in number, and in fome meafure

The prefent ffate of the Natives. reduc'd to a dread of the growth of the Englifh, that of late years they have not praçtis'd any thing againft them, or at leaft, not juftifid them by numbers in. open Hoftility, willing rather to purchafe their Peace and buy off Injuries committed by them at the Price of their Lands and Poffeffions.

And although care and expence hach been many years apply'd to the Converfion of Indians to the Faith, however inclinable they feem'd at firft to the imbracing thereof, not then fo well difcerning the infincerity of its Profeffors; yet there are fo few of late who do imbrace it or perfevere in it (wanting a good Foundation for inftruction in Moral Honefty, and perhaps the example of it in thofe that undertake to inftruct them in Religion; ) that Chriftianity to them feems a Chimera, Religion a defign to draw them from the libidinous Pleafures of a lazy Life; however, fome there are who make Profeffion of Cbrifitianity, and fome who are educated in the Schools of New Cambridge, to enticle them to Preach the Gofpel in their own Lan guage.

One great hindrance to the Propagation of the Faith amongft thofe Heathens, is the diverfity of their Languages; for it is commonly known, that the Natives themfelves do not underftand one another, if their Habitations are but at forty Miles diftance.

Their Church-Government and Difcipline is Congregational and Independent, yet in fome places more rigid than others, for in many Towns there yet remains fome leaven of Presbytery, from which Sects our Independency had its Original ; info-much, that one of the moft remarkable Oppofers of Epifcopal Government, Doctor Baftwick (who, fpoil'd fo much Paper in railing at the Churcli Government of England, and crying up Liberty of Confcience) finding the Apoftacy of his own Brethren of Bofon from their firft Principles, and his, gerietally prevail over them, even to the denying that liberty to others, which they feem'd only to aim at, did write a large and vehement Dehortatory Epifle to them from their Nemb Lights or Paths, fay. ing, That according to tbeir prefent Tenents, they could not pretend to be better, or other than a Cbriftian Synagoone.

Their Laws and Methods of Government are wholly of their own framing, each Colony for themfelves, makes an Annual choice of Governor, Depury Go. vernor, and a certain number of Affiftants, by the plurality of Suffrages collected from their feveral Towns, the Electors are only Free-men and Church-Members; for he that is not a Member of their Church, can neither chufe, nor be chofen a Magiftrate, nor have his Children Baptiz'd; befides the lofs of many other Prio viledges, and liable moreover to frequent, if not conftant Mulcts for ablenting themfelves from Divine Worfhip (fo call'd) in their Meeting-houles.

Since the tranfmitting of the Patent in Nero England, the Election is not by Voie ces, nor erection of Hands as formerly, but by Papers, thus:

The general Court-electory fitting, where are prefent in the Church, or Meet-ing-houfe at Bofon, the old Governor, Deputy, and all the Magiftrates, and two Deputies or Burgeffes for every Town, or at leaft one; all the Freemen are bid to come in at one Door, and bring their Votes in Paper for the new Governor, and deliver them down upon the Table, before the Court, and fo pals forth at another Door, thofe that are abfent, fend their Vores by Proxies. All being deliver'd in, the Votes are counted, and according to the major part, the old Governor pronounceth, That fuch an one is chofen Governor for the year enfuing. Then the Freemen, in like manner, bring their Votes for the Deputy Governor, who being alfo chofen, the Governor propoundeth the Affiftants one after another. New Affiftants are, of late, put in nomination, by an Order of general Court, beforehand to be confider'd of: If a Freeman give in a Blank, that rejects the Man nam'd; if the Freeman makes any mark with a Pen upon the Paper which he brings, that elects the Man nam'd : Then the Blanks and mark'd Papers are num. ber'd, and according to the major part of either, the Man in Nomination flands elected or rejected; and fo for all the Affiftants. And after every new Election, which is, by their Patent, to be upon the laft Wednefday in Eafer Term, the new Governor and Officers are all new Sworn. The Governor and Affiftants chuife the Secretary. And all the Court confifting of Governor, Deputy, Affiftants, and Deputies of Towns, give their Votes as well as the reft ; and the Minifters and Elders, and all Church-Officers, have their Votes alfo in all thefe Elections of chief Magiftrates : Conftables, and all other inferior Officers, are fworn in the general, quarter, or other Courts, or before any Affiftant.

Every Free-man when he is admitted, takes aftrict Oath, to be true to the So. ciety or Jurifdiction.

There are two general Courts, one every half year, wherein they make Laws or Ordinances: The Minifters advife in making of Laws, efpecially Ecclefiaftical, and are prefent in Courts; and advife in fome feccial Caufes Criminal, and in framing of Fundamental Laws.

There are befides four Quarter Courts for the whole Juriddiction, befides other petty Courts, one every quarter at Bofon, Salem, and Ipfwich, with their feveral Ju. rifdictions; befides every Town, almoft, hath a petty Coure for fmall Debts and Trefpaffes, under twenty Shillings.

In the general Court, or great quarter Courts, before the Civil Magiftrates, are try'd all Actions and Caufes Civil and Criminal, and alfo Ecclefialtical, efpecially touching Nonomembers: And they themfelves fay, that in the general and quarter Courts, they have the Power of Parliament, Kings-Bench, Common-Pleas, Chan. cery, High-Commifion, and Star-Chamber, and all other Courts of England, and in divers Ca es have exercis'd that Power upon the Kings Subjects there, as is not difficult to prove. They have put to death, banifh'd, fin'd Men, cut off Mens Ears, whip'd, imprifon'd Men, and all there for Ecclefiaftical and Civil Offences, and without fufficient Record. In the leffer quarter Courts are try'd, in fome, Actions under ten Pounds, in Bofon, under twenty, and all Criminal Caufes not touching.Life or Member. From the petty quarter Courts, or other Courcs, the parties may appeal to the great quarter Courts, from thence to the general Court, from which there is no Repeal.

Twice a year, in the faid quarter Courts held before the general Courts, are two Grand-Juries fiworn for the Jurifdiction, one for one Court, and the other for the other; and they are charg'd to enquire and Prefent Offences reduc'd by the Governor who gives the Charge.

Matters of Debt, Trelpafs, and upon the Cale, and Equity, yea and of Herefie allo, are try'd by a Jury.

The Parties are warn'd to challenge any Jary-man before he be fworn; but becaufe there is but one Jury in a Court for trial of Caules; and all Parties not pre. fent at their Swearing, the liberty of challenge is much hinder'd, and fome inconveniences do happen thereby. Jurors are return'd by the Marfhal, he was at firft call'd The Beadle of the Society.

The Parties in all Caufes, fpeak themfelves for the moft part, and fome of the Magiftrates where they think caufe requireth, do the part of Advocates withour Fee or Reward.

Though among the feveral Colonies which were founded here by the confluence of diffenting Zealots, this Government is exercis'd, differing from that of the Church and State of England: yet in thofe Provinces which are.granted by particular Perfons, the Government is much more conformable to that of England; but as the Mattachufets or Bofoners were from the beginning the moft Potent and Predominant of all the reft of the Colonies, (infomuch, that Bofon may well be accoun= ted the Metropolis of all New England, ) fo of late years they have ftill ufurp'd more and more Power and Authority over the reft; and efpecially have not fuck to give Laws to the forefaid Provinces allotted to particular Perfons, and have gone about wholly to fubjugate thofe places to theniflves, intrenching upon the rights of the true Proprietors; and thar, even contrary to the Kings exprefs Commands by his Officers, there, and as it were in open defiance of his Majefty and Government, as is evident from this following Narration, of their behavior upon 2 bufinefs of this nature.

Proceedings of the Mattiashufers againtt shujers againt
lis Majefties CommiffioCommifi

IN the Year of our Lord 1665 . his Majefties Commiffioners for the Affairs of New England, being in the Province of Mayne, the People being much unfetled in Point of Government, by reafon the Mattachufets Colony, or Bofon Govern. ment, did ufurp compulfively a Power over them contrary to their wills; and the right of Sir Ferdinando Gorges Heir, who had his Commiffion then in the place, did unanimoufly Perition to his Majefties Commiffoners to fettle the Government; upon which the faid Commiffoners examin'd the Bounds and Right of Mr. Gorges Patent, with all the Allegations and Pretenfions on both fides, and fo according to their Inftruction from his Majefty, did fettle a temporary Government under his Majefty's immediate Authority, until fuch time as his Majefty fhould give his final determination thereof; and for that end did Inftitute Juftices of the Peace to Go. vern the Province according to the true Laws of England. Alfo his Majefty was pleas'd by his Mandamus in April $\times 666$, to the Governors of $\mathcal{B o f o n}$, to fignific that it was his will and pleafure, That the Province of Main fhould ftand good as his Commiffioners had fetled it, until he had more leifure to determine it ; yet not. withftanding, after three years quiet poffeffion, and exercifing of Government by the Kings Juftices, according to their Commiffion granted by his Majefty's Commiffioners, the Bofoners, without any Conference with the faid Juftices, did in a hoftile manner oppofe the King's Power, July 1668. which was as followeth:

The General Court of Bofon fent their Warrants to keep Court at York under their Authority, and for that purpofe Commiffonated Magiftrates by their own Authority, namely Major General Fohn Leveret, Mr. Edward Ting, Captain Richard Walden, and Captain Robert Pike: Whereupon the King's Juftices did oppofe their Warrants, and fent Poft to New York, with an Addrefs to General Nicholas, for Ad vice what to do therein ; who forthwith difpatch'd away to the Governors of Bofton, informing them of the danger of their Proceeding, it being an open breach of Duty, to fubvert the Government eftablifh'd by his Majefty's Power; alfo fent the King's Mandamus, April 1666 . that will'd to the contrary. Notwithftanding the Bofon Magiftrates in July 1668. in order to their Bofon Commiffion, came to York Town in the faid Province, with feveral Armed Men, Horfe and Foot, to keep Court under their Authority ; Oppofition was made by the King's Juftices, and his Majefty's Power was urg'd, but little regard thereunto thewn; his Majefties Mandamus was likewife much infifted upon, and produced by the Juftices, who ask'd the Bofoners what they thought of it ? and how they durf act fo contrary to the King's Will and Pleafure? Major General Leveret told them; That he believ'd it might be the King's Hand, but he had a Commiffion from the general Court at Bofon, which he would follow and obferve by the help of God. The fame day in the Afternoon the faid Major General Leveret, with the reft of the Bofton Magiftrates, feiz'd and imprifon'd the Province Marfhal in doing his Office, and then forthwith went in warlike pofture to the Court-houfe, where the King's Juftices fat in Judicature, and putting them from their Seats, fat down themfelves in their Places, and Executed their Boffon Commiffion. The King's Juftices drew a Prote/t againft their Proceedings, and fo left the Decifion to God's Providence, and his Majefty's good Pleafure. Then they turn'd out all Officers, both Military. and $\mathrm{Ci}-$ vil, and Swore others in their Places under their Authority; they forc'd the whole Record of the Province out of the Recorders Houfe contrary to his Will, by vertue of a Special Warrant from that Court. 'They imprifon'd the Mayor of the faid Province about three weeks, forcing him to give in five hundred Pound Bonds, not to act according to his Commiffion ; which with fome Refervations he was forc'd to deny for the fecurity of his Eftate.

Thefe riotous Proceedings thus acted with fuch a precipitate fury, fo incens'd his Majefty, that fpeedy care had been taken to reduce them to reafon, had they not upon mature confideration bethought themfelves afterwards to yield Obedience to

- his Majefties Orders.

Having treated at large of all that concerns New England in general, both in reference to the Natives and the Endlifh Planters, we fhall conclude with a brief view of the Provinces of Laconia and Main, as they are truly Defcrib'd (among other in. genuous Collections and Obfervations of the Affairs of America, and efpecially thefe Parts) by Ferdinando Gorges Efq; Heir to the abovemention'd Sir Ferdinando, and thereby fole Lord of the faid Provinces; onely contracting what hath been by him deliver'd more at large.

Among divers Plantations of the Englifh happily Founded in New England, is a Province to the Landward, nam'd Laconia, fo call'd by reafon of the great Lakes therein, but by the ancient Inhabitants thereof it is call'd The Countrey of the Troquois: It lies between the Latitude of forty four and forty five Degrees; having the Rivers of Sagadehock and Merrimeck on the Sea-Coaft of New England, Southerly from it ; into each of which Rivers there is a fhort Paffage, frequented by the Salyages inhabiting near the Lakes. Alfo it hath the great Lakes which tend towards California in the South Sea on the Weft thereof: On the North thereof is the great River of Canada, into which the faid River difgorgeth it felf by a fair large River, well replenifh'd with many fruitful Iflands: The Air thereof is pure and wholefom, the Countrey pleafant, having fome high Hills, full of goodly Forrefts, and fair Valleys and Plains, fruitful in Corn, Vines, Chefnuts, Wallnuts, and infinite forts of other Fruits, large Rivers well for'd with Fifh, and inviron'd with goodly Meadows full of Timber-trees.

One of the great Lakes is call'd The Lake of Troquois, which together with a Ri . ver of the fame, Name, running into the River of Canada, is fixty or feventy Leagues in length.

In the Lake are four fair Iflands, which are low and full of goodly Woods and Meadows, having fore of Game for Hunting, as Stags, Fallow=Deer, Elks, Ree. Bucks, Beavers, and other forts of Beafts which come from the Main Land to the faid Iflands.

The Rivers which fall into the Lakes have in them good fore of Beavers; of which Beafts, as alfo of the Elks, the Salvages make their chiefeft Traffick.

The faid Inands have been inhabited heretofore by the Salvages, but are now abandon'd by reafon of their late Wars one with another: They contain twelve or fifteen Leagues in length, and are feated commodioufly for Habitation in the midft of the Lake, which abounds with divers kinds of wholefom Fifh.

From this Lake run two Rivers Southward, which fall into the Eaftern and Southern. Sea-Coaft of New England.

Into this Lake there went many years fince certain French of Quebeck, who fided with the Algovinquins, with the help of their Canoos, which they carried the fpace of five Miles over the Impoßible Falls, to Fight a Battel in revenge of fome former Injuries done by the Troquois to the Algovinquins, who had the Victory; for which caufe the French, have been fo hated ever fince by the Nation of the Troquois, that none of them durft ever appear in any part of that Lake. But their Trade, faid to be fixteen thoufand Beavers yearly, is partly fold to the Dutch, who Trade with the Weft. end of the faid Lake over Land by Horfes, from their Plantation upon Hudfon's River: and another part is conceiv'd to be purchas'd by the Hiroons, who being Newters, are Friends both to the one and the other; and thefe Hiroons bring down the greateft part of all by the River of Canada.

The Way over Land to this great Lake, from the Plantation of Pafcatapoay, hath been attempted by Captain Walter Neale, once Governor, at the Charges of Sir Fer. dinando Gorges, Captain Mafon, and fome Merchants of London, and the Difcovery wanted but one days Journey of finifhing, becaufe their Victuals was fpent, which, for want of Horfes, they were enforc'd to carry with their Arms, and their Clothes, upon their Backs: They intended to have made a fettlement for Trade by Pinnaces upon the faid Lake, which they reckon to be about ninety or a hundred Miles from the Plantation over Land.

The People of the Countrey are given to Hunting of wild Beafts, which is cheir chiefet Food.

Their Arms are Bowes and Arrows. Their Armor is made partly of Wood, and partly of a kind of twifted Stuff like Cotton.Wool.

Their Meat is Flour of Indian Corn, of that Countreys growth, fodden to Pap, which they preferve for times of Neceffity when they cannot Hunt.

This Province of Laconia, however known by a diftinet Name, is included withinthe Province of Main, which offers it felf next to our confideration.

All that part of the Continent of Nero England, which ewas allotted by Patent to Sir Ferdinando Gorges and to his Heirs, he thought fit to call by the Name of The Pro- vinece, Matse vince of Main. It takes it beginning at the entrance of Pafcatovay Harbor, and fo paffeth up the fame into the River of Nenoichwavoch; and through the fame unto the fartheft Head thereof; and from thence North-Weftwards for the fpace of a hundred and twenty Miles ; and from the Mouth of Pafcatozay Harbor aforefaid, North-Eaftward along the Sea=Coaft, to Sagadehock; and up the River thereof to Kinibequy River, even as far as the Head thereof; and into the Land North-Wefto wards, for the fpace of a hundred and twenty Miles.
To thefe Territories are allo adjoyn'd the North half of the Ifles of Sholes, toge. ther with the Inles of Capawick and Nautican, as alfo all the little Inlands lying within five Leagues of the Main, all along the Sea=Coaft, between the aforefaid Rivers of Pafcatoway and Sagadelock.
He no fooner had this Province fetled upon him, but he gave publick notice, That if any one would undertake by himfelf and his Affociates, to Tranfpore a competent number of Inhabitants, to Plant in any part of his Limits, he would affign unto him or them fuch a proportion of Land, as fhould in reafon fatisfie them, referving onely to himfelf fome fmall High-Rent, as 2 s . or 2 s .6 d . for a hundred Aûres per Annum: and if they went about to build any Town or City, he would Endow them with fuch Liberties and Immunities, as thould make them capable to Govern themfelves within their own Limits, according to the Liberties granted to any Town or Corporation within this Realm of England. And as for others of the meaner fort who went as Tenants, that they fhould have fuch quantities of Land affign'd them as they were able to manage, at the Rate of 4 d . or 6 d . an Acre, according to the nature or fituation of the Place they fettle in.

- And for the Divifion of the Province, and the Form of Government which he intended to Eftablifh, he firft divided the Province into feveral Parts; and thofe again he fubdivided into diftinct Regiments, as Eaft, Weft, North, and South; thofe again inco feveral Hundreds, Parifhes and Tythings, and thefe to have their feveral Officers to Govern, according to fuch Laws as fhould be agreed upon by publick Affent of the Free-holders, with the approbation of himfelf or Deputy, and the principal Officers of the publick State.

The fetled Government for the general State, to whom all Appeals were to be made, and from whom all Inftructions for the welfare of the Publick were to iffue, were to confift of himfelf or his Deputy, who was to be chofen every three year by himfelf, with the advice of his Council : Next a Chancellor for the determinad tion of all Caufes; A Treafurer, to whom the care of the publick Revenue was to be committed; A Marfhal, whofe Office was to overfee the Regiments, and to provide Men for publick Service ; An Admiral, to take care of all Maritime Afo fairs, to whom a Judge of the Admitalty was to be joyn'd to determine all Maritime Caufes; A Mafter of the Ordnance, to look to the publick Arms and Ammunition; A Secretary, to receive Intelligence, and to acquaint himfelf or Deputy therewith. To thefe belong all their feveral Officers and Minifters for the Execution of all Matters proper to their feveral Places.

The chief Town of this Province is call'd Gorgiana, which is Govern'd by a Mayor, the reft are onely inconfiderable Villages or fcatter'd Houfes; but through Encouragement given to Adventurers and Planters, it may prove in time a very flourifhing Place, and be replenifh'd with many fair Towns and Cities, it being a Province both fruitful and plearant.
SECT. II.

New Netherland, now call'd New York.

THat Tract of Land formerly call'd The Neird Netherland, doth contain all that Land which lieth in the North parts of America, betwixt New England and Mary-Laind; the length of which Northward into the Countrey, as it hath not been fully difcover'd, fo it is not certainly known : The breadth of it is about two hundred Miles. The principal Rivers within this Tract, are Hudfon's-, River, Raritan-River, Delaware-Bay-River. The chief Iflands are the Manhatans-: Inland, Long-Ifland, and Staten-Inland.

The firft which difcover'd this Countrey was Henry Hudfon, who being hir'd by the Eaftindia Company to feek a Paffage in the Northern America to China, fet Sail Anno 1609. in the Half-Moon Frigat; coming before Terre-neuff, he ftood about towards the South-Weft, where Sailing up a great River, he found two Men Clad in in Ruffelo's Skins; and from thence arriv'd fafe at Amferdam.

New Aetherland thus difcover'd, invited many Merchants to fettle a firm Plantation there; to which purpofe they obtain'd Letters Patents in 1614 . granted them by the States in the Hague, That they might onely Traffick to Neiv Nethize. land; whereupon they earneftly profecuting the Defign, fent out Adrian Block and Godyn, who difcover'd feveral Coafts, Illes, Havens, and Rivers.

The Countrey, as they faid, being then void, was therefore free for any body that would take poffeffion of it: Notwithftanding which pretence, they were fcarce warm in their Quarters, when Sir Samuel Argal, Governor of Virginia, having firft Spoil'd the French in Accadie, as we faid, difputed the Poffeffion with thefe alfo. And although they pleaded HudJon's Right (whoby Commiffion from King fames, and upon an English Account, had lately difcover'd thofe Parts) and pretended they had not onely bought all his Cards and Maps of the Countrey, but all his Intereft and Right alfo, and had fully contented him for all his Pains and Charges in the Difcovery; yet the faid Hudfon being an Englisboman, and acting all that he did by Commiffion from the King of England, upon Debate it was concluded, That the Land could not be alienated after Difcovery without the King of England's confent, efpecially it being but a part of the Province of Virginia, already poffers'd by the Subjects of Englaind : So that they were forc'd to wave that Title, and the Dutch Go. vernor fubmitted his Plantation to His Majefty of England, and to the Governor of Afterwards, upon confidence, it feems, of a new Governor fent from Amferdam, they not onely fail'd to pay the promis'd Contribution and Tribute, but fell to fortifie themfelves, and to entitle the Merchants of Amferdam to an abfolute Propriety and Dominion of the Counery, independent of any other; building Towns, as New Am. fterdam; raifing Forts; as Orange Fort, near the Branch of the Nordt River, which they call Hell-Gate. Complaint whereof being made to King Charles, and by his Am.

baffador reprefented to the States, they difown the bufinefs, and declare by Publick Inftrument, that it was onely a private Undertaking, viz. of the Weff-India Company of Amfterdam. Whereupon a Commiffion was granted to Sir George Calvert, made Lord Baltimore in Ireland, to Poffefs and Plant the Southern parts chereof, lying towards Virginia, by the name of Mary-land; and to Sir Edmund Loyden, to Plant the Northern parts towards Neiv England, by the name of Nova Albion: Which makes the Dutch the fecond time feem willing to compound; and for the Sum of tivo thoufand and five hundred Pounds, they offer to be gone, and leave all they had there. But taking advantage of the troubles in England, which then began to appear, and foon after follow'd, they not only go back from their firf Propofitions, and make higher Demands, but alfo moft mifchievoufly (as fome report) furnifh the Natives with Arms, and teach them the ufe of them, as it may be thought, expecting to ufe their help upon occafion, againft the Englijh.

After His Majefties Reftauration, His Majefty being truly inform'd of his juft Pretences to all that LUurp'd Territory call'd New Netherland, (the fame having been formerly part of New England) and of how great prejudice to the Act of Navigation, and how dangerous Intruders the Dutchmen are generally upon other Princes Dominions, what mifchief might enfue to all our Englifh Plantations in time of War, if the Dutch were permitted to frengthen themfelves in the very heart of His Majefties Dominions, being Mafters of one of the moft commodious Ports and Rivers in America: His Majefty refolv'd to feize upon the fame, as his undoubted Right, and in May 1664 . having defign'd four Commiffioners to the perfecting of Affairs in New England, Collonel Richard Nichols, Sir Robert Carr, George Cartwright, and Samuel Mawrick Efquires, with chree Ships of War to convey them to Bofton: The matter was fo order'd, that the fame Ships ferv'd for the reo ducing of the Town and Fort of Neno Amfterdam, upon conditions, advantageous to His Majefty, and eafie to the Dutch.

Now begins New Netberland to lofe the Name, for His Majefty having conferr'd by Patent upon his Royal Highnefs the Duke of York and Albany, all the Acquifitio ons made upon Foraigners, together with Long-Ifland, the Weft end whereof was wholly fetled and Peopled by Dutch.men; his Royal Highnefs impower'd, by Commiffion as his Deputy-Governor, Colonel Nichols, Groom of his Bedecham. ber, to take the Charge and Direction of Reducing and Governing all thofe Terrio tories; it was by him thought fit, to cliange fome principal denominations of Places, viz. Neıp Netberland into York-/hire; New Amferdam into New York; Fort-Amfcel into Fort. Fames; Fort-Orange into Fort-Albany; and withal, to change Burgomafers, Schepen, and Schout, into Mayor, Aldermen, and Sheriff, with Juftices of the Peace; fo that all the Civil Policy is conformable to the Methods and Practife of England, whereas Nein England retains only the name of Conftable in their whole Rolls of Civil Offi. cers.

It is plac'd upon the neck of the Illand Marhatans, looking towards the Sea; encompars'd with Hudfon's River, which is fix Miles broad; the Town is compact and oval, with very fair Streets and feveral good Houfes; the reft are built much after the manner of Holland, to the number of about four hundred Houfes, which in thofe parts are held confiderable: Upon one fide of the Town is famessFort, capable to lodge three hundred Souldiers and Officers; it hath four Baftions, forty Pieces of Cannon mounted; the Walls of Stone, lin'd with a thick Rampart of Earth; well accommodated with a Spring of frefh Water, always furnifh'd with Arms and Ammunition, againft Accidents: Diffant from the Sea feven Leagues, it affords a fafe Entrance, even to unskilful Pilots; under the Town fide, Ships of any Burthen may Ride fecure againft any Storms, the Current of the River being broken by the interpofition of a fmall Ifland, which lies a Mile dittant from the Town.

About ter Miles from New York is a Place call'd Hell-Gate, which being a narrow Paffage, there runneth a violent Stream both upon Flood and Ebb; and in the middle lie fome Rocky Iflands, which the Current fets fo violently upon, that it threatens prefent Shipwrack; and upon the Flood is a large Whirlwind, which continually fends forth a hideous roaring, enough to affright any Stranger from pafing farther, and to wait for fome Charon to conduct him through ; yet to thofe that are well acquainted, little or no danger : It is a place of great Defence againft any Enemy coming in that way, which a fmall Forticfiation would abfolutely prevent, and neceffitate them to come in at the Weft end of Long-Ifand by Sandy Hook, where Nutten Ifland forces them within the Command of the Fort at New York, which is one of the beft Pieces of ${ }_{\text {i }}$ Defence in the North parts of America. It is buile moft of Brick and Stone, and cover'd with red and black Tyle, and the Land being high, it gives at a diftance a pleafing profpect to the Spectators. The Inhabitants confift moft of English and Dutch, and have a confiderable Trade with Indians for Beaver, Otter, and Rackoon.Skins, with other Furrs; as alfo for Bear, Deer and Elke-Skins; and are fupply'd with Venifon and Fowl in the Winter, and Fifh in the Summer by the Indians, which they buy at an eafie Rate ; and having the Countrey round about them, they are continually furnifh'd with all fuch Provifions as is needful for the Life of Man, not onely by the Englifh and Dutch within their own, but likewife by the adjacent Colonies.

The Manbattans, or Great River, being the chiefeft, having with two wide Mouths

Wholefom ! Waters. is call'd Port May, or Godyns Bay. In the middle thereof lies an Inland call'd The States Ifland ; and a little higher the Manhattans, fo call'd from the Natives, which on the Eaft fide of the River dwell on the Main Continent. They are a cruel People, and Enemies to the Hollanders, as alfo of the Sanhikans, which refide on the Weftern Shore. Farther up are the Makwaes and Mabikans, which continually War one againft another. In like manner all the Inhabitants on the Weff fide of the River Manhattan are commonly at Enmity with thofe that poffers the Eaftern Shoré; who alfo us'd to be at variance with the Hollanders, when as the other People Weftward kept good Correfpondency with them:

On a fmall Inland near the Shore of the Makwaes, lay formerly a Fort, provided with two Drakes and eleven Stone Guns, yet was at laft deferred.

This Countrey hath many removable Water-falls, defcending from fteep Rocks, large Creeks and Harbors, frefh Lakes and Rivulets, pleafant Fountains and Springs, fome of which boyl in the Winter, and are cold and delightful to drink in Summer. The Inhabitants never receive any damage by Deluges; neither from the Sea, becaufe the Water rifes not above a Foot; nor by the fwelling Rivers, which fometimes, for a few days covering the Plains, at their deferting them, leave them fat and fruitful. The Sea.Coaft is Hilly, and of a fandy and clayie Soil, which produces abundance of Herbs and Trees.

The Oak grows there generally fixty or feventy Foot high, and for the moft part free from Knots, which makes it the better fit for Shipping.

The Nut=trees afford good Fuel, and a frange Profpect when the Wood is fet on fire, either to hunt out a Deer, or to clear the Ground fit to be Till'd.

Some Plants brought hither, grow better than in Holland it felf, as Apples, Pears, Cherries, Peaches, Apricocks, Strawberries, and the like.

Their Vines grow wild in moft places, and bear abundance of blue, white, and vinet Muskadine Grapes : Sometime fince the Inhabitants made a confiderable advana tage by the Wine of them, which is not inferior to either Rbenijh or French.

All manner of Plants known in Europe grow in their Gardens: The Water- Waer Leifl Lemmons, no lefs pleafing to the Palate than healthful when grown ripe; they are about the bignefs of an indifferent Cabbage : the Englifh prefs a Juice out of them, which if it did not turn fowre in a fhort time, might well be compar'd with Spat nijh Wine.

The Calabafhes which grow there, made hollow, ferve for Water.cups.
Pumpions are alfo there in great abundance.
Their Wheat though Set fix Foot deep, grows very fpeedily : Kidney-Beans wheait being planted amongft it, they will wind about the Stalks thereof.

Gray Peafegrow here fo faft, that they gather them twice a year.
In one Field Phyfical Herbs and Indigo grow wild in great abundance; and Bar: ley fprings above a Mans heighth.

Moreover, there are divers forts of fweet-fmelling Flowers.
The Hills are mof of a fat and clayie Soil, fit to make Pots, Tobacco-pipes, or Soill of hic any other fort of Earthen Ware.

In fome places alfo is fore of Mountain Cryftal, and that fort of Mineral which we call Mufcovia Glafs: Others afford Marble, Serpentine Stone, and other forts of hard Stone. And though the Natives did not think it worth their while, or were not in a capacity to dig for Minerals themfelves, yet it remains without contradiEtion, that the Mountains inclofe both Gold and Silver.

When Captain William Clieff, Anno i645. us'd the Indian Interpreter Agheroenfe (to decide the Differences which arofe between the Weff-Indiat Company and the wild People call'd Makwaes,) he oblerv'd him to paint his Face with a yellow glittering. colour, which he judg'd to be of fome rich Mineral : whereupon buying fome of the faid Agheroenfe, he put it into a Crufible, and gain'd two fmall pieces of Gold out of the fame, valu'd at fix Shillings; but keeping it private, and purchafing $\dot{a}$ great quantity of the faid Mineral from Agheroenfe (who had flow'd him the Mountain which produced the fame) extracted good flore of Gold out of it; which por. feffing Clieff with a belief of having found out a bufinefs of great confequence, he fent Arent Corfen of New-haven with the fore-mention'd Mineral to Holland; but the Ship being never heard of afterwards, and the Princefs Pink, in which Captain Clieff was himfelf, with fore of the newsfound Mineral, being caft away, the Bus finefs came to nothing.

The Inhabitants, though divided into feveral Nations, yet agree in many things, as in painting their Bodies, Shields, Clubs, and other Utenfils in their Houfes. The Colours wherewith they paint themfelves they prefs out of Plants, or make them of certain Stones grownd into very fine Powder. The chiefeft Plant is not unlike the Myrcle, onely it hath more Boughs, and bears red Berries; the Juice of which being dry'd in the Sun, is afterwards preferv'd in little Bags. The Natives temper their Colours with Water, and paint their Bodies with the fame: It is as good a Purple as can be found. They allo draw Ships, Trees, and Beafts after a very rough manner: In fead of Feathers they wear pleited Hair, which being colourd red, hath an excellent glofs, which never fades though it Rain on the fame. - Horfes.
The Horfes bred in this Countrey, being either brought thither from Eng: land or Utrecht, far exceed chofe of Englijh breed; but are both of them fubject to a ftrange Difeafe, of which many die in few hours. The fame Diftemper alfo feizes on Cattel if they go into Forreft Pafture: But the onely thing to cure the fame, is Hay from falt Marffy Grounds.
Hog. The Oaken Woods have ftore of Hogs, which if taken and fatned with Turkigh Wheat, are moft deliciots Meat.
Sheef. The Sheep, though they breed well there, yet are very fcarce, becaufe the Plane ters not being able to fpare Men to watch them, they are often devour'd by Wolves.

There are alfo abundance of Deer, all forts of Fowls, Turkies, Geefe, Ducks, Pigeons, and the like.

Iyons.

Blaek Bears.

Strange

The Lyons, whofe Skins the Indians bring to Market, aretaken on a high Moung tain fifteen days Journey South Weft from thence.

There are likewife many black Bears, fearful of humane kind, but if Hunted, they run direct on thofe that purfue them: they fleep all the Winter, lying fix Weeks on one fide, and fix on the other, and fucking their Feet all the time : They generally lurk among Brambles, or in the Concavities of fome hollow Mountain.

On the Borders of Canada there is feen fometimes a kind of Beaft which hath fome refemblance with a Horfe, having cloven Feet, fhaggy Mayn, one Horn juft on their Forehead, 2 Tail like that of a wild Hog, black Eyes, and a Deers Neck : it feeds in the neareft Wilderneffes : the Males never come amongft the Females except at the time when they Couple, after which they grow fo ravenous, that they not onely devour other Beafts, but alfo one a nother.

Towards the South of Neiv York are many Buffes, Beafts which (according to Erafmus Stella) are betwixt a Horfe and a Stag : though they are of a ftrong Conftio tution, yet they die of the fmalleft Wound, and are fubject to the Falling.ficknefs : they have broad branchy Horns like a Stag, fhort Tail, rough Neck, Hair colour'd according to the feveral Seafons of the Year, broad and long Ears, hanging Lips, little Teeth, and Skin fo thick, as not eafie to be pierced : The Females differ from the Males, for they have no Horns; both may eafily be made tame: when Hunted; they vomit out a fort of fcalding Liquor on the Dogs: they have great force in their Claws, for they can kill à Wolf with the fame at one blow: their Flefh, either frefh or falted, is a good Diet : their Claws alfo cure the Fallingficknefs.

But no Beafts are more plentiful here than Harts and Stags, which feed up and down in great Herds: when they are Hunted by Wolves or Men, they immediately take the next River, where they are caught feveral together, by being crofs'd in their Swimming, and affrighted by the Eccho which comes from the Mountains, made by the Hunters hollowing on the other Shore, which makes them fearful of Landing : whilf the Huntfmen joyning feveral pieces of Wood together get upon them, and Rowing towards thefe Deer, intercept them, being tir'd and out of breath.

Moreover, this Countrey breeds many Musk Cats, efpecially in Marfhy mus-Cass. Grounds. There Beafts are beautiful to the Eye, having black fpeckled Skins, their Mouths, full of Tharp Teeth, and their Tails being long trail after them.

Many of the Learned maintain a Difpute concerning Civet, Whether it be the Seed of the Civet-Cat? the Affirmative, which Cardanus maintain'd, is contradicted by Julius Scaliger. Matthiolus, an Author of no little credit, fuppofes that Civet is the Sweat of the Car, becaufe it is moft chiefly taken when thefe Beafts are exceedingly vex'd and wearied: But fince the Sweat runs from all parts of the Body; which neverthelefs do not all produce Civer, it is impoffible that Sweat flould be Civet. Others account Civet to be the Dung of the Cats; which laft feems to come neareft to truth: for certainly it, is nothing elfe but an Excrement in the flefhy parts about their Pizzle, or near the Fundament. The Cats being in pain to be difcharg'd of this Civet, free themfelves from it by rubbing a Tree; and allo fawn on thofe which take it from them with a Spoon.

Befides all other wild Creatures, the Countrey according to Adrian Vander Donk, produces yearly eighty thoufand Beavers. Pliny relates, that thefe Beafts bite off ther Pizzles and throw them to the Hunter, which are an exceeding good Me dicine to help Abortion, ftop the Monethly Flowers, Giddinefs in the Head, Gout, Lamenefs, Belly and Tooth-ach, Rhumes, Poyfon, and the Evil. But Pliny makes a great miftake herein, for the Beavers have 2 fmall Piffel faften'd to their Back-bone, in fuch a manner, that they cannot loofe them but with hazard of their lives: They live in the Water, and on the Shore, in great companies together, in Nefts built of Wood, which deferve no fmall admiration, being made after this manner: The Beavers firf gather all the loofe Wood, which they find along the Banks of the Rivers, of which, if there be not enough, they bite the Bark off from the Trees in the neighboring Woods, then with their Tusks, of which two grow above, and two below in their Mouths, they gnaw the main body of the Tree fo long, till it drops afunder : 'Their Nefts very artificial, are fix Stories high, cover'd on the top with Clay to keepout Rain; in the middle is a paffage which goes to the River, into which they run fo foon as they perceive a Man; to which purpofe one of them ftands Sentinel, and in the Winter keeps open the Water from freezing, by continual moving of his Tail, which is flat without Hair, and the moft delicious Meat that can be had. The Beavers go big fixteen Weeks, and once a year bring forth four young, which fuck and cry like young Children, for the Dam of them rifes on her hinder Feet, and gives her Teats, which grow between the fore-legs to two of her young, each of them one; the foremoft legs of a Beaver refemble thofe of a Dog, the hindermoft thofe of a Goofe; on each fide of the vent are two fwellings within two thin Skins; out of their vent runs generally an Oily moyfture, with which they anoint all the parts of their body which they can reach, to keep them from being wee; within they are like a cut-up Hog; they live on the Leaves and Barks of Trees; they love their young ones exceedingly; the long Hairs, which fhining, flick out on the back, fall off in Summer, and grow again againft Harveft; they have fhort Necks, ftrong Sinews and Legs, and move very $f_{\text {wiftly }}$ in the Water, and on the Land; if incompafs'd by Men or Dogs, they bite moft feverely; the right Castoreum, fo highly efteem'd by Phyficians, is a long Vefica, not unlike a Pear, within the body of the female Beaver, the Indians mince the Cods of the Male Beavers amonglt their Tobacco, becaufe they produce no Caforeum.

This Country abounds alfo with Fowls; for befides Hawks, Kites, and other Birds of Prey, there are abundance of Cranes, of feveral forts, fome grey, fome brown, others quite white; all of them have firm Bodies, and Bones without Marrow, Claws of a finger long, ftrong and crooked Bills, their Brains dry, their Eyes little and hollow, hard Features, the left Foot leffer than the right, both deform'd, their Blood thick, and the Excrements of a horrid fmell; they breed moft in old Woods, whofe ground is without Brambles, and alfo near the Water, for they feed on Fifh, and devour all forts of Fowls; nay, fnatch up Hares, Rabbets, Tortels, and feveral other forts of Animals, which they carry away with them in the Air; nay, when hungry, they feize on one anorher; fome of them fly abroad for their prey about noon, others at Sun-rifing; they fall like Lightning on what e're they purfue; they drink little, except the Blood of thofe Creatures which they devour; they are very libidinous, coupling above thirty times a day, for only with their like, but alfo with the Hens of Hawks, and other Birds; they lay their biggeft Eggs in thirty days, and the leffer in ewenty days; they generally bring forth three young; thofe of them that cannot endure to look full againft the Sun, are thrown out of their Nefts; the young ones when they begin to be fledg'd, are by the old carry'd into the Air, and let flie, but fupported by them; their fight is wonderful quick; for though they flie as high as ever they are able to be difcern'd, yet they can fee the leaft Fifh that is in the Water, and a Hare lying in the Bufhes: their Breath ftinks horribly, wherefore their Carcafes fuddenly ror; though they are libidinous, yet they live long; moft of them die of hunger, becaufe their Bills when they grow old, grow fo crooked, that they cannot open the fame, wherefore they flie up into the Air againft the Sun, and falling into the coldeft Rivers, loore their Feathers and die.

Befides the foremention'd Birds of prey, there are abundance of Storks, Ravens, Crows, Owls, Swallows, Gold-finches, Ice-birds, Kites, Quails, Pheafants, and Winter-Kings, and which are moft remarkable for their rich Feathers, the Spechtes, they pick great holes in Trees, and make a noife as if a Man were cutting down a Tree. The Pigeons flie in fuch flocks, that the Indians remove with them to the place where they make their Nefts, where the young ones being taken by hundreds, ferve them for a Moneths Provifion.

Moreover, New York breeds: a ftrange Bird about a Thumb long, full of gliftering Feathers; it lives by fucking of Flowers like a Bee, and is fo tender, that it immediately dies if water be fpirted upon it ; the Carcafe being dry'd, is kept for a Rarity.

But this Countrey abounds chiefly in Turkies, whofe plenty deferves no lefs admiration than their bulk, and the delicious tafte of their Fleff, for they go feeding forty or fifty in a flock, and weigh fometime forty or fifty pound apiece; the Natives either fhoot them, or take them with a Bait fuck on an Angle: In March and Harveft the Waters fwarm with Geefe, Teal, Snites, Ducks, and Pelicans, befides many ftrange forts of Fowls not known in Europe.

The Rivers and Lakes produce Sturgeon, Salmon, Carps, Pearch, Barbils, all forts of Eels, and many other Fifh which are taken near Waterfalls: The Sea affords Crabs with and without Shells, Searcocks, and Horfes, Cod, Whiting,Ling, Herrings, Mackrel, Flounders, Tar-buts, Tortels, and Oyfters, of which fome are a Foot long, and have Pearl, but are a little brownifh.

Amongft the Poy fonous Creatures which infeft New York, the chiefeft and moft dangerous is the Rattle-Snake, whofe defcription we have already had at large in New England.

The Inhabitants have their Hair black as Jet, harfh like Horfe-hair; they are broad Shoulder'd, fmall Wafted, brown Ey'd, their Teeth exceeding white; with Water they chiefly quench their Thirf: Their general Food is Flefh, Fifh, and Indian Wheat, which ftamp'd, is boyl'd to a Pap, by them call'd Sappaen: They obferve no fet time to Eat, but when they have an Apperite their Meals begin. Beavers Tails are amongft them accounted a great Dainty: When they go to Hunt, they live feveral days on parch'd Corn, which they carry in little Bags ty'd about their middle; a little of that faid Corn thrown into Water fwells exceedingly.

Henry Hudfon relates, That Sailing in the River Montains, in forty Degrees, he faw the Indians make ftrange Geftures in their Dancing and Singing; he obferv'd farther, that they carry'd Darts pointed with fharp Stones, Sodder'd to the Wood; that they flept under the Sky on Mats or Leaves; took much Tobacco, and very ftrong; and that though courteous and friendly, they were very Thieves. He Sailing thirty Leagues further, went in his Boat to an old Indian Commander of forty Men and feventeen Women, who conducted him to the Shore, where they all dwelt in one Houfe, artificially built of the Barks of Oak-trees; round about it lay above three Ships load of Corn, and Indian Beans to dry, befides the Plants which grew in the Fields. No fooner had Hudfon enter'd the Houfe, but he was receiv'd on two Mats Spread on the ground; and two Men immediately were fent out to fhoot Venifon or Fowls; and inftantly returning, brought two Pigeons; a fat Dog, whom they nimbly flea'd with fhells, was alfo laid down to the fire.:

They alfo made other Preparations for Hudfons Entertainment, but not willing to venture himfelf amongft them, that Night,tafted not of it, notwithftanding the $I_{n}$. dians breaking their Darts, threw them into the fire, that thereby they might drive away all fears and jealoufies from him.

The Habits of the Natives, efpecially of the Men, are few; the Women go more

New NeApparel. neat than the Men; and though the Winter pinches them with exceffive cold, yet they go naked till their thirteenth year : Both Men and Women wear a Girdle of Whale-fins and Sea.ghells; the Men put a piece of Cloth, half an Ell long, and three quarters broad, between their Legs, fo that a fquare piece hangs behind below his Back, and another before over his Belly. The Women wear a Coat which comes half way down their Legs, fo curioufly wrought with Sea- hells, that one Coar fometimes cofts thirty Pounds. Moreover, their Bodies are cover'd with Deerskins, the lappets or ends of which hang full of Points; a large Skin button'd on the right Shoulder; and ty'd about the middle, ferves for an upper Garment, and in the Night for a Blanket : Both Men and Women go for the moft part bare= headed; the Women tie their Hair behind in a tuft, over which they wear a fquare Cap wrought with Seafhells, with which they adorn their Foreheads, and alfo wear the fame about their Neck and Hands, and fome alfo about their middle. Before the Hollanders were Planted here, they wore Shoes and Stockings of Buffelo'sskins; fome likewife made Shoes of Wheatenoftraw, but of late they come nearer to our Fafhions: The Men Paint their Faces with Several Colours; the Women only put here and there a black Spot; both of them are very referv'd.
Their houles.'
Their Houfes are moft of them built of one faftion, onely differing in length; all of them agree in breadth of twenty Foot: They build after this manner, they fet Peel'd Boughs of Nut.Trees in the ground, according to the bignefs of the place which they intend to build, then joyning the rops of the Boughs together, they cover the Walls and top with the Bark of Cyprefs, Afhen, and Cheft-nutTrees, which are laid one upon another, the fmalleft fide being turn'd inwards: according to the bignefs of the Houfes, feveral Families, to the number of fifteen dwell together, every one having his Apartment. Their Fortifications are moft of them built on fteep Hills, near Rivers; the accefs to them is onely at one place, theyare built after this manner : They fet great,Poles in the Ground, with Oaken Pallifadoes on each fide, crofs-ways one amongft another; between the croffes they fet other Trees, to frengthen the Work: Within this inclos'd they generally build twenty or thirty Houfes, of which fome are a hundred and eighty Foot long, and fome lefs, all of them full of People : In the Summer they pitch Tents along by the River fide to Fifh; againft Winter they remove into the Woods, to be near their Game of Hunting, and alfo Fuel.

To take many Women is not cuftomary here, only amonglt Military Officers, who Marry three or four Wives, which fo well agree, that there is never any difference betwixt them; thofe that are not of Age, never Marry but with the confent and advice of their Parents: Widows and unmarry'd Men follow their own opinion and chojec; only they take Cognizance of their Eftates and Extraction: The Bridegroom always prefents the Bride; for the leaft offence, the Man after having foundly beaten his Wife, turns her out of Doors, and Marries another, infomuch, that fome of them have every year a new Wife: On breach of Marriage, the Children follow the Mother, from whom they account their Generation: They account Adultery, if committed under the bare Canopy of Heaven, a great Sin: Whoring is Licenc'd to fingle Women, if they receive Money for it, and no Man fcruples to Marry them; nay, thofe that are Marry'd, boaft how many they have enjoy'd before their Marriage : She that is inclin'd to Marry, covers her whole body, and fets her felf wrapt up in the middle of the way, where a Batchelor paffing by fees her, and makes up the Match blindfold: When impregnated, they take great care that their Fruit receives no hindrance nor prejudice: When the time of their Delivery approaches, (which they know exactly) they go to a Melancholly place in the Woods, though in the coldeft Weather, where they raife up a Hut of Mats, and bring the Child into the World without any help or Company, wafl the Child in cold Water, and wrap it up in Mats; then a few days after going home, they bring up the Infant with great care, none putting them out to Nurfe: So long as a Woman gives fuck, or is quick with Child, fhe will not ad. mit of Copulation; one who hath the Flowers, never comes abroad : In time of ficknefs they faithfully affift one another: When any die, the neareft Relations Thut their Eyes; and after having watch'd them fome days, they are Interr'd after this manner:: The Corps is plac'd fitting with a Stone under its Head, near it they, fet a Pot, Kettle, Difh, Spoons, Money, and Provifions to ufe in the other World; then they pile Wood round about it, and cover it over with Planks, on which throwing Earth and Stones, they fer Pallifadoes, and make the Grave like a Houfe, to which they fhew Veneration, wherefore they account it a great piece of villany to deface any thing of it: The Men make no fhew of forrow over the Dead, but the Women mourn exceedingly, and carry themfelves very ftrangely, beating their Breafts, fcratching their Faces, and calling night and day on the name of the Deceas'd: The Mothess make great Lamentation at the Death of their Children, efpecially Sons, for they fhave off the Hair of their Heads, which at the Funeral is burnt in the prefence of all their Relations; which is allo perform'd by the Wo. men when their Husbands die; befides, they black all their Faces, and putting on a Hart-skin Shirt, mourn a whole year, notwithftanding they liv'd very contentioully together.

On fome occafions they go a Worfhipping of the Devil, to a certain place where Conimereti Sorcerers fhew ftrange Feats of A Ativity, tumbling over and over, beating the Sorcerers fhew frange Feats of Activity, tumbling over and over, beatirg themelves, and not without great noife leaping in and about a great Fire : at laft they make a great Cry all together; upon which (as they fay) the Devil appears to them in the fhape cither of a tame or wild Beaft : the firft fignifies bad, and the other good fortune ; both inform them of future Events, though darkly; and if the bulinels fall out contrary, they affirm that they have not rightly underftood the Devil's meaning. Moreover they bewitch fome in fuch a manner, that they foam at the Mouth, throw themfelves into the Fire, and beat themfelves feverely; and fo foon as they whifper in the Ear of thofe whom they have bewitch'd, they immediatcly recover their former health.

Language of the New Ne. therlawders.

Moncy

The Language of this Countrey is very various, yet it is divided into onely four principal Tongues, as the Manbattans, Wappanoo, Siavanoo, and Minqua's, which are very difficult for Strangers to learn, becaule they are fooken without any Grounds or Rules.

Their Money is made of the innermoft Shells of a certain Shell-fifh, caft up twice a year by the Sea: Thefe Shells they grind fmooth, and make a Hole in the middle, cutting them of an exact bignefs, and fo put them on Strings, which then ferve in ftead of Gold, Silver, and Copper Coin.

Now to fay fomething of the Vices and Vertues of the Inhabitants. They are in the firft place very flovenly and nafty, fubborn, coverous, revengeful, and much addicted to filching and ftealing. Some appear referv'd, ufing few words, which they utter after ferious confideration, and remember a long time. Their Underftandings being improv'd by the Hollanders, they are quick of apprehenfion, to diftinguifh good from bad : they will not endure any Oppreffion, but are very patient of Heat, Cold, Hunger and Thirf. They have a ftrange way of ufing Stoves, which are fet in the Ground and cover'd with Earth, into which they go through a little Door. A fick Perfon coming into the fame, fers himfelf down, and places hot Stones round about him ; which done, and having fweat a confiderable sime, he leaps into cold Water, by which he finds eafe of all his Diftempers.
Though there People know no great diftinction between Man and Man, as other Nations, yet they have noble and ignoble Families amongft them; fuperior and inferior Offices, which they enjoy by Inheritance; but fometimes the Martial Offices are beftowed according to the Valour of the Perfons: Their Generals feldom give their Enemies a Field-Battel, by drawing or dividing their Men into Regiments or Companies, but make it their whole Defign to defeat their Enemies by fudden Sallies from Ambufcado's; for they never ftand out a clofe Fight, unlefs compell'd to it, but if encompafs'd round, they fight to the laft Man. When any danger threatens, the Women and Children are convey'd to a fecure place. Their Arms formerly were Bowes and Arrows, and-Battel-axes, but now they ufe Muf. quets, which they have learn'd to handle with great dexterity. Their fquare Shields cover all their Bodies and Shoulders. About their Heads they tie a Snakes Skin, in the middle of which fticks either a Fox's or Bear's Tail. They cannot be known by their Faces, they are all over fo befmear'd with Paint of divers colours. They feldom give Quarter to their Enemies, except Women and Children, which the Conquerors ufe as their own, that by that means they may increafe and ftrengthen themfelves : and if any Prifoner is not kill'd prefently after the Battel, but falls into the Hands of one whofe Relations have formerly been flain by his Party, he is Roafted three days by degrees before he gives up the Ghoff. It deferves no fmall admiration, that the Sufferer during the whole time of his Torture, Singstill he breathes his laft. They have few or no Punifhments for any Offence, committing few Crimes which are by them accounted Capital. If any one fteal, and the Goods be found in his cuftody, the Governor of the place where he refides commands him onely to reftore the fame to the Owner. If any one murther or kill the other, the Relations of the flain, if they can take the Malefactor in twenty four hours, may withouc Examination or delay put him to death alfo; but that time being once expir'd, the Revenger is liable to be kill'd in the fame time by his Relations whom he flew. All Obligations have their power and vertue from certain Prefents deliver'd upon the making of a Contract, which is done thus: They dry as many Sticks as they have Articles, which if they agree upon, every Man on the concluding of the Difcourfe lays a Prefent before the others Feet. Sometimes they hang up the Prefents, becaufe they are ofterfethree days in Confultation before they refolve ; after which if the Prefents be taken down, it is a certain fign of their Agreement; but if not, they procced no farther, unlefs the Articles and.Prefencs are alter'd. On Bufineffes of confequence the Commonaley repair to their Gover: nor's Houfe, there to hear and enquire what the Nobility there affembled have concluded or refolv'd on ; at which the beft Orator ftanding up, tells them their Intentions. It happens fometimes that a turbulent Perfon making a Mutiny, and refufing to hearken to realon, is immediately beheaded by one of the Nobility; in contradietion of which none dare prefume to fpeak the leaft word.

There are fcarce any fteps of Religion found amongft thefe People, onely they fuppofe the Moon to have great influence on Plants. The Sun, which over-looks all things, is call'd to witnefs whene're they Swear. They bear great refpect, and ftand much in fear of Satan, becaufe they are often plagued by him when they go a Hunting or Fifling: wherefore the firft of what they take is burnt in honor of him, that he to whom they afrribe all wickednefs might not hurt them. When they feel pain in any part of their Body, they fay that the Devil fits in the fame. They acknowledge that there refides a God above the Stars, but troubles not himfelf with what the Devil doth on Earth, becaufe he continually recreates himfelf with a mof beautiful Goddefs, whofe original is unknown: She on a certain time (fay they) defcended from Heaven into the Water, (for before the Creation all things were Water) into which fhe had inftantly funk, had not the Earth arofe un. der her Feet, which grew immediately to fuch a bignefs, that there appear'd a World of Earch, which produc'd all forts of Herbs and Trees ; whilft the Goddefs taking to her felf a Hart, Bear, and Wolf, and Conceiving by them, fhe was not long after delver'd of feveral Beafts at one time : and from thence proceeded not onely the diverfity of Beafts, but alfo Men, of which fome are black, white, or fallow; in nature fearful like a Hart, or cruel and valiant like a Bear, or deceifful like Wolves: after this the Mother of all things afcended up to Heaven again, and fported there with the Supream Lord, whom they fay they know not, becaufe they never faw him : wherefore they fhall have lefs to anfwer for than Cbriftians, which pretend to know him to be the Punifher of things both good and bad, which are daily committed by them : and for this ridiculous Opinion they can hardly be brought to embrace the Cbrifitian Faith.

Concerning the Souls of the Deceafed, they believe, that thofe which have been good in their life-time, live Southward in a temperate Countrey, where they enjoy all manner of pleafure and delight ; when as the Wicked wander up and down in a miferable Condition. The Eccho which refounds from the Cries of wild Beafts in the Night, they fuppofe to be the Spirits of Souls tranfmigrated into wicked Bodies.

At their Cantica's, or Dancing-Matches, where all Perfons that come are freely

Spectators to have fhort Sticks in their Hands, and to knock the Ground and Sing altogether, whilft they that Dance fometimes act Warlike poffures, and then they come in painted for War with their Faces black and red, or fome all black, fome all red, with fome Atreaks of white under their Eyes, and fo jump and leap up and down without any order, uttering many Expreffions of their intended Valour. For other Dances they onely fhew what antick Tricks their ignorance will lead them to, wringing of their Bodies and Faces after a ftrange manner, fometimes jumping into the Fire, fometimes catching up a Firebrand, and biting off a live Coal, with many fuch tricks, that will affright rather than pleafe an Englighoman to look upon them, refembling rathera company of infernal Furies than Men.

When their King or Sacbem fits in Council, he hath a Company of Arm'd Men to guard his Perfon, great refpeat being fhewn him by the People, which is principally manifefted by their filence. After he hath declared the caufe of their Convention, he demands their Opinion, ordering who thall begin: The Perfon order'd to fpeak, after he hath declar'd his mind, tells them he hath done : no Man ever interrupting any Perfon in his Speech, nor offering to feeak, though he make never fo many long ftops, till he fays he hath no more to fay. The Council having all declar'd their Opinions, the King after fome paufe gives the definitive Sentence, which is commonly feconded with a fhout from the People, every one feeming to applaud and manifeft their Affent to what is determin'd.

If any Perfon be condemn'd to die, which is feldom, unlefs for Murther or In. ceft, the King himfelf goes out in Perfon (for you muft underfand they have no Prifons, and the guilty Perfon flies into the Woods) where they go in queft of him, and having found him, the King fhoots firft, though at never fuch a diftance, and then happy is the Man that can fhoot him down; for he that hath the fortune to be Executioner, is for his pains made fome Captain, or other Military Officer.

They greafe their Bodies and Hair very often, and paint their Faces with feve. ral Colours, as black, white, red, yellow, blue, $\sigma_{c}$. which they take great pride in, every one being painted in a feverà manner.

Within two Leagues of New York lieth Staten-Ifland, it bears from New York Weft fomething Southerly: It is about twenty Miles long, and four or five broad, moft off it very good Land, full of Timber, and producing all fuch Commodities as LongeIfland doth, befides Tin and fore of Iron Oar ; and the Calamine Stone is faid likewife to be found there: There is but one Town upon it, confifting of Englifh and French, but it is capable of entertaining more Inhabitants.

Betwixt this and Long-IJand is a large Bay, which is the coming in for all Ships and Veffels out of the Sea.

On the North-fide of this Ifland After-skull River puts into the Main Land, on the Weint-fide whereof there are two or three Towns, buton the Eaft-fide but one. There are very greât Marfhes or Meadows on both fides of it, excellent good Land, and good convenience for the fetling of feveral Towns. There grows black Wal. nut and Locuft, as there doth in Virginia, with mighty, tall,ftreight Timber, as good as any in the North of America: It produceth any Commodity which Long. Ifand doth.

Hud Jon's River runs by New Yoirk Northward into the Countrey, towards the Head of which is feated Ners Albany, a Place of great Trade with the Indians, be. twixt which and New York, being above a hundred Miles, is as good Corn-Land as the World affords, enough to entertain hundreds of Families, which in the time of the Dutch Government of thefe Parts could not be fetled by reafor of the Indians, excepting one Place, call'd The Sopers, which waskept by a Garrifon, but fince the Reducement of thefe Parts under His Majeftics Obedience, and a Patent granted to his Royal Highnefs the Duke of York, which is about fix years, by the care and diligence of the Honorable Collonel Nickols, Fent thither as Deputy to his Highnefs, fuch a League of Peace was made, and Friendfhip concluded becwixt that Colony. and the Indians, that they have not refifted or diffurb'd any Cbrijitians there, in the feeling or peaceable poffeffing of any Lands within that Goyernment, but every Man hath fat under his own Vine, and hath peaceably reap'd and enjoy'd the Fruits, of their own Labors, which God continue.

Welt watd of $\mathcal{A} f t e r$-skull River before mention'd, about eighteen or twenty Miles, runs in Raritan River Northward into the Countrey fome fcores of Miles; both fides of which River are adorn'd with Spacious Meadows, enough to feed thoufands of Cattel : The Wood=Land is very good for Corn, and ftor'd with wild Beafts, as Deer, Elks, and an innumerable multitude of Fowl, as in other parts of the Countrey. This River is thought very capable for the erecting of feveral Towns and Villages on each fide of it, no place in the North of America having better convenience for the maintaining of all forts of Cattel for Winter and Summer Food.

Upon this River is no Town fetled, onely one at the Mouth of it ; but next to it, Weftward, is a Place call'd Newofons; where are two or three Towns and Villages fetled upon the Sea-fide, but none betwixt that and Delabare-Bay, which is about fixty Miles, all which is a rich Champain Countrey, free from Stones, and indiffe-. rent level, having ftore of excellent good Timber, and very well water'd, having Brooks or Rivers ordinarily, one or more in every Miles travel. This Countrey is peopled onely with wild Beafts, as Deer, Elks, Bears, and other Creatures, fo that in a whole days Journey you fhall meet with no Inhabitants except a few Indians. It is alfo full of ftately Oaks, whofe broad-branch'd tops ferve for no other ufe, but to keep off the Suns heat from the wild Beafts of the Wildernefs, where is Grafs ashigh as a Man's Middle, which ferves for no other end, except to main. tain the Elks and Deer, who never devour a hundredth part of it, than to be burnt every Spring to make way for new. How many poor People in the World would think themfelves happy, had they an Acre or two of Land, whilft here is hundreds, nay thoufands of Acres that would invite Inhabitants.

Delaware-Bay, the Mouth of the River, dieth about the mid way beewixt Neıp York and the Capes of Virginia.

The beft Commodities for any to carry with them to this Countrey is Clothing, the Countrey being full of all forts of Cattel, which they may furnifh themfelves withal at an eafie Rate, for any fort of Englifh Goods, as likewife Inftruments for Husbandry and Building, with Nails, Hinges, Glafs, and the like. They get a Livelihood principally by Corn and Cattel, which will there fetch them any Commodities: Likewife they Sowe fore of Flax, which they make every one Cloth of for their own wearing; as alfo Woollen Cloth, and Linfey-woolfey; and had they more Tradefmen amongft them, they would in a little time live without the help of any other Countrey for their Clothing; for Tradefmen there are none but live happily there, as Carpenters, Blackfmiths, Mafons, Taylors, Weavers, Shoemakers, Tanners, Brickmakers, and fo any other Trade : Them that have no Trade bed take themfelvesto Husbandry, get Land of their own, and live exceeding well.

We fhall conclude our Difcourfe of this Countrey with a notable Character gìven thereof by a late $\mathbb{W}$ riter, as to the great advantage of happy living in all refpects, for whofoever fhall be pleas'd to betake himfelf thither to live.

The CharaEter of a hap py Countrcy

IF there be any terreftrial happinefs (faith he) to be had by any People, efpecially of an inferior rank, it muft certainly behere. Here any one may furnifh "himfelf with Land, and live Rent-free, yea, with fuch a quantity of Land, that "he may weary himfelf with walking over his Fields of Corn, and all forts of "Grain, and let his Stock amount to fome hundreds; he needs not fear there want " of Pafture in the Summer, or Fodder in the Winter, the Woods affording fuffici"ent fupply, where you have Grafs as high as a Man's Knees, nay, as high as his "Wafte, interlac'd with Pea-Vines, and other Weeds that Cattel much delight in, " as much as a Man can pafs through : And thefe Woods alfo every Mile or half. "Mile are furnifh'd with frefh Ponds, Brooks, or Rivers, where all forts of Cattel, "during the heat of the day, do quench their thirf, and cool themfelves. Thefe "Brooks and Rivers being inviron'd of each fide with feveral forts of Trees and "Grape-Vines, Arborlike interchanging places, and croffing thefe Rivers, do fhade " and fhelter them from the fcorching beams of the Sun. Such as by their utmoft "Labors can fcarcely get a Living, may here procure Inheritances of Lands and "Poffeffions, ftock themfelves with all forts of Cattel, enjoy the benefit of them " whilft they live, and leave them to their Children when they die. Here you need " not trouble the Shambles for Meat, nor Bakers and Brewers for Beer and Bread, "rnor run to a Linnen-Draper for a fupply, every one making their own Linnen, " and a great part of their woollen Cloth for their ordinary wearing. And how "prodigal (if I may fo fay) hath Nature been to furnifh this Countrey with all "forts of wild Beafts and Fowl, which every one hath an intereft in, and may Hunt "at his pleafure; where, befides the pleafure in Hunting, he may furnifh his Houle "with excellent fat Venifon, Turkies, Geefe, Heath=hens, Cranes, Swans, Ducks, "Pigeons, and the like; and wearied with that, he may go a Fifhing, where the "Rivers are fo furnifh'd, that he may fupply himfelf with Fifh before he can leave "off the Recreation. Here one may travel by Land upon the fame Continent "hundreds of Miles, and pafs through Towns and Villages, and never hear the " leaft complaint for want, nor hear any ask him for a Farthing. Here one may "lodge in the Fields and Woods; travel from one end of the Countrey to another, " with as much fecurity as if he were lock'd within his own Chamber: And if "one chance to meet with an Indian Town, they fhall give him the beft Entertain" " ment they have, and upon his defire direct him on his Way. But that which "adds happinefs to all the reft, is the healthfulnefs of the Place, where many Peo= "ple in twenty years time never know what Sicknefs is; where they look upon it " as a great Mortality, if two or three die out of a Town in a years time. Befides "the fweetnels of the Air, the Countrey it felf fends forth fuch a fragrant fmell, "that it may be perceiv'd at Sea before they can make the Land: No evil Fog or "Vapor doth any fooner appear, but a North=Weft or Wefterly Wind immediately "diffolves it, and drives it away. Moreover, you fhall fearce fee a Houfe, but the "South-fide is begirt with Hives of Bees, which increafe after an incredible man. " ner: So that if there be any terreftrial Canaan, 'tis furely here, where the Land "floweth with Milk and Honey.

 NEW DESCRIPTION
O. F

M A RY-L A N D.

S E C T. III.

Efore We proceed to the Defcription of this Countrey, it will be firft requifite to relate the true occafion and means, whereby this part of America came to be erected into a Pro. vince, and call'd Maryoland.
In the Year of our Lord 1631. George Lord Baltemore ob. tain'd of King Cbarles the Firft, of Great Brittain, ©cc. a Grant of that part of America, (firft difcover'd by the Englifh) which lies between the Degrees of thirty feven and fifty Minutes, or thereabouts, and forty of Northerly Latitude; which is bounded on the South by Virginia; on che North, by New England, and New Ferfey, part of Newn York, lying on the Eaft fide of Delaware Bay; on the Eaft, by the Ocean; and on the Weft; by that part of the Continent which lies in the Longitude of the firft Fountains of the River call'd Patomeck.

In purfuance of this Grant to his faid Lordfhip, a Bill was prepar'd, and brought to His Majefty to Sign, who firft ask'd his Lordfhip, what he fhould call it, there being a Blank in the Bill defignedly left for the Name, which his Lordfhip intended Chould have been Cre/centia; but his Lordfhip leaving it to His Majefty to give it a Name, the King propos'd to have it call'd Terra-Marie, in English, Mary-land, in honor of his Queen, whofe Name was Mary; which was concluded on, and infer. ted into the Bill, which the King then Sign'd; and thereby the faid Tract of Land was erected into a Province by that Name.

His Lordfhip fomewhat delaying the feeedy pafling of it under the Great Seal of England, dy'd in the interin, before the faid Patent was perfected; whereupona (who was Chriften'd by the Name of Cacil, but afterwards confirm'd by the Name of (ecilius,) the now Lord Baltemore, under the Great Seal of England, bearing Date Fune 20. 1632 2. in the eighth Year of His faid Majefties Reign, with all Royal Jus rifdictions and Prerogatives, both Military and Civil in the faid Province, as Power to Enact Laws, Power of pardoning all manner of Offences, Power to confer Honors, erc. to be held of His faid Majefty, His Heirs and Succelfors, Kings of England in common Soccage, as of His Majefties Honor of Windfor in the County of Berks in England; yielding and paying yearly for the fame to His Majefty and to His Heirs and Succeffors for ever, two Indian Arrows of thofe parts, at the Caftle of Windfor aforefaid, on Tuefday in Eafter Week, and the fifth part of all Gold and Silver Oar, which fhall happen to be found in the faid Province.
"By the faid Patent is Granted to his Lordfhip, his Heirs and Affigns, all that "part of a Peninfuld, lying in the patts of America, between the Ocean on the Eaft, " and the Bay of Chefapeack on the Weft; and divided from the other part thereof "by a right Line drawn from the Promontory, or Cape of Land call'd Watkin's. "Point, fituate in the aforefaid Bay, near the River of Wigcho on the Weft, unto the " main Ocean on the Eaft, and between that bound on the South, unto that part " of Delavare Bay on the North, which lies under the fortieth Degree of Northerly "Latitude from the Equinoctial, where News England ends; and all that Tract of "Land between the bounds aforefaid, that is to fay, paffing from the aforefaid "Bay call'd Delaware Bay, in a right Line by the Degree aforefaid, unto the true " Meridian of the firft Fountains of the River of Patomeck; and from thence ftretch"ing towards the South, unto the furtheft Bank of the faid River, and following "the Weft and South fide thereof, unto a certain place call'd Cinquack, near the " Mouth of the faid River, where it falls into the Bay of Chefapeack, and from thence "by a ftreight Line unto the aforefaid Promontory, or place call'd Watkin's-Point, ${ }^{43}$ which lies int thirty feven Degrees and fifty Minutes, or thereabouts, of Northern "Latitude.
Title.
By this Patent his Lordflip and his Heirs and Affigns are Created the true and abfolute Lords and Proprietaries of the Faid Province, faving the Allegiance and Soveraign Dominion due to His Majefty, His Heirs, and Succeffors; fo that he hath thereby a Severaignty Granted to him and his Heirs, dependant upon the Soveraigaty of the Crown of England.
His Lordfhip, in the Year 1633 . Tent his fecond Brother Mr. Leonard Calvert, and His third Brother Mr. George Calvert, with divers other Gentlemen of Quality, and Servants to the number of two hundred Perfons at leaft, to fettle a Plantation there: who fet Sail from the Cones in the Ifle of Wight in England, on Novemb. 22. in the fame Year;; having made fome flay by the way, at the Barbadoes and St. ChriJophers in America, they arriv'd at Point Comfort in Virginia, on February24. following; from whence flortly after they Sail'd up the Bay of Chefapeack, and Patomeck River : And having review dhe Country; and given Namés to feveral places, they pitch'd upon a Town of the Indinits for their firf Seat, call'd Yoncomaco, (now Saine Maries) which the then Governor Mr. Leonard Calvert, freely Purchas'd of the Natives there, for the Lord Proprietaries ufe, with Commodities brought from England.
That which facilitated the Treaty a nd Purchafe of the faid place from the In. dians, was a refolution which thofe Indians had then before taken, to remove higher into the Countrey where it was more Populous, for fear of the Sanfquelhanocks, (another, and more Warlike People of the Indians, who were their too near Neighbors, and inhabie between the Bays of (befapeack and Delaware) there being then actual Wars between them, infomuch, that many of them were gone thither before the Englisho arriv'd : And it hath been the general practice of his Lordfhip, and thofe who were employ'd by him in the Planting of the faid Province, rather to purchafe the Natives Intereft, (who will-agree for the fame at eafie rates) than to take from them by force, that which they feem to call their Right and Inheritance; to the end all Difputes might be remov'd touching the forcible Incroachment upon others, againft the Laws of Nature or Nations.

Thus this Province at the vaft Charges, and by the unweary'd Induftry and endeavor of the prefent Lord Baltemore, the now abfolute Lord and Proprietary of the fame was at firft Planted, and hath fince been fupply'd with People and other Neceffaries, fo effectually, that in this prefent Year 1671. the number of English there amounts to fifteen or twenty thoufand Inhabitants, for whofe Encourage. ment there is a Fundamental Law eftablifh'd there by his Lordfhip, whereby Liberty of Confcience is allow'd to all that Profefs to believe in fefus C.brift; fo that no Man who is a Cbriftian is in danger of being difturb'd for his Religion ; and all Perfons being fatisfid touching his Lordfhips Right, as Granted by his Superior So. veraign, the King of Great Brittain, and poffefs'd by the confent and agreement of the firft Indian Owners, every Perfon who repaireth thither, intending to become an Inhabitant, finds himfelf fecure, as well in the quiet enjoyment of his Property, as of his Confcience.

Mr. Charles Calvert, his Lordfhips onely Son and Heir, was in the Year. 166r. fent thither by his Lordfhip to Govern this Province and People, who hath hitherto continu'd that Charge of his Lordfhips Lieutenant there, to the general fatisfaction and encouragement of all Perfons under his Government, or otherwife concern'd in the Province.

The precedent Difcourfe having given you a flort Defcription of this Province from its Infancy to this day, together with an account of his Lordfhips Patent and Right, by which he holds the fame; we will here feeak fomething of the Nature of the Countrey in general, and of the Commodities that are either naturally afforded there, or may be procur'd by Induftry.

The Climate is very healthful, and agreeable with English Conftitutions; but Newscomers have moft of them heretofore had the firft year of their-Planting there in fuly and Auguft, a Sicknefs, which is call'd there $A$ Seafoning, but is indeed no other than an Ague, with cold and hot Fits, whereof many heretofore us'd to die for want of good Medicines, and accommodations of Diet and Lodging, and by drinking too much Wine and Strong-waters; though many, even in thofe times, who were more temperate, and that were better accommodated, never had any Seafonings at all; but of late years, fince the Countrey hath been more open'd by the cutting down of the Woods, and that there is more plenty of English Diet, there are very few die of thofe Agues, and many have no Seafonings at all, efpecially thofe that live in the higher parts of the Country, and not near to the Marfhes and Salt=water.

In Summer, the heats are equal to thofe of Spain, but qualif'd daily about Noon; at that time of the Year, either with fome gentle Breezes, or fmall Showres of Rain: In Winter there is Froft and Snow, and fometimes it is extremely cold, infomuch, that the Rivers and the Northerly part of the Bay of Cbefapeack are Frozen, but it feldom lafts long; and fome Winters are fo warm, that People have gone in half Shirts and Drawers only at Chriftmas: But in the Spring and Autumn; ( $\boldsymbol{\nu} \mathrm{z}$ ) in March, April, and May; September, October, and November, there is zenerally moft pleafant temperate Weather: The Winds there are variable, from the South comes Heat, Gufts, and Thunder; from the North or North=Weft, cold Weather; and in Winter, Frof and Snow; from the Eaft and South-Eaft, Rain.

The Soyl is very fertile, and furnifh'd with many pleafant and commodious Rivers, Creeks, and Harbors.

The Country is generally plain and even, and yet diftinguifh'd with fome pretty fmall Hills and Rifings, with variety of Springs and Rivulets: The Woods are for the moft part free from Underwood, fo that a Man may Travel or Hunt for his Recreation.

The ordinary entrance by Sea into this Country is between two Capes, diftant each from the other about feven or eight Leagues; the South Cape is call'd Cape Henry; the North, Cape Charles; within the Capes you enter into a fair Bay, Navigable for at leaft two hundred Miles, and is call'd Cbejapeack Bay; ftretching it felf Northerly through the heart of the Countrey, which adds much to its Fame and Value : Into this Bay fall many ftately Rivers, the chief whereof is.Patomeck, which is Navigable for at leaft a hundred and forty Miles: The next Northward, is $P_{a}-$ tuxent, at its entrance diftant from the other about twenty Miles, a River yielding great Profit as well as Pleafure to the Inhabitants; and by reafon of the Inlands and other places of advantage that may Command it, both fit for Habitation and Defence : Paffing hence to the Head of the Bay, you meet with feveral pleafant and commodious Rivers, which for brevity we here omit to give any particular aca count of : On the Eaftern Shore are feveral commodious Rivers, Harbors, Creeks, and Inlands; to the Northward whereof you enter into another fair Bay, call'd Delaware Bay; wide at its entrance about eight Leagues, and into which falls a very fair Navigable River.

This Countrey yields the Inhabitants many excellent things for Phyfick and Chyrurgery; they have feveral Herbs and Roots which are great Prefervatives againft Poyfon, as Sn.ke.Root, which prefently cures the bitings of the Rattle-Snake, which are very Venomous, and are bred in the Countrey; others that cure all manner of Wounds; they have Saxafras, Sarfaparilla, Gums and Balloms, which Experience (the Mother of Art) hath taught them the perfect ufe of.

An Indian feeing one of the English, much troubled with the Tooth-ach, fetch'd a Root out of a Tree, which apply'd to the 'Tooth, gave eafe immediately to the Party ; other Roots they have fit for Dyers, wherewith the Indians Paint themfelves as Pacoone (a deep red, orc.

The Timber of thele parts is good and ufeful for Building of Houfes and Ships, the white Oak for Pipe-faves, the red for Wainfoot; there is likewife black Wall. Nut, Cedar, Pine, and Cyprefs, Cheft-nut, Elme, Afh, and Popelar, all which are for Building and Husbandry: Fruit-trees, as Mulberries, Perfimons, with feveral kind of Plumbs, and Vines in great abundance.

Of Strawberries there is plenty, which are ripe in April, Mulberries in May, Rafo berries in fune, and the Maracok, which is Comething like a Lemon, is ripe in Auguf. In Spring time there are feveral forts of Herbs, as Corn-fallet, Violets, Sorrel, Purflane, and others which are of great ufe to the English there.

In the upper parts of the Countrey are Buffeloes, Elks, Tygers, Bears, Wolves, and great ftore of Deer; as alfo Beavers, Foxes, Otters, Flying.Squirils, Racoons, and many other forts of Beafts.

Of Birds, there is the Eagle, Gofhawk, Falcon, Lanmer, Sparrow-hawk, and Maro lin; alfo wild Turkies in great abundance, whereof many weigh fifty Pounds in weight and upwards, and of Partridge great plenty: There are likewife fundry forts of finging Birds, whereof one is call'd a Mock.Bird, becaufe it imitates all other Birds; fome are red, which fing like Nightingales, but much louder; others black and yellow, which lat fort excels more in Beauty than tune, and is by the English there call'd the Baltemore-Bird, becaufe the Colours of his Lordfhips Coat of Arms are black and yellow: Others there are that refemble mof of the Birds in England, but not of the fame kind, for which we have no names: In Winter there are great plenty of Swans, Cranes, Geefe, Herons, Duck, Teal, Widgeons, Brants, and Pidgeons, with other forts, whereof there are none in England.

The Sea, the Bays of Chefapeack and Delaware, and generally all the Rivers, do abound with Fifh of feveral forts; as Whales, Sturgeon, Thorn-back, Grampufes, Porpufes, Mullets, Trouts, Soules, Plaice, Mackrel, Perch, Eels, Roach, Shadd, Herrings, Crabs, Oyfters, Cockles, Muffels, occ. but above all there, the Fifh where. of there are none in England, as Drums, Sbeepssbead, Cat-fish, wc. are beft, except Surgeon, which are there found in great abundance, not inferior to any in Europe for largenefs and goodnefs.

The Minerals may in time prove of very great confequence, though no rich Mines are yet difcover'd there ; but there is Oar of feveral forts, viz. of Tin, Iron, and Copper, whereof feveral trials have been made by curious Perfons there with good fuccefs.

The Soyl is generally very rich, the Mould in many places black and rank, infomuch, that it is neceffary to Plant it firft with Indian Corn, Tobacco, or Hemp, before it is fit for English Grain; under that is found good Loam, whereof has been made as good Brick as any in Europe: There are ftore of Marfh-grounds for Meadows; great plenty of Marle, both blue and white; excellent Clay for Pots and Tiles: To conclude, there is nothing that can be reafonably expected, in a place lying in the fame Latitude with this, but what is either there found naturally, or may be procur'd by Induftry, as Oranges, Lemons, and Olives, erc.

We nead not here mention Indian Corn, (call'd Mayz) Peafe and Beans of feveral forts, being the peculiar products Planted by the Indians of that part of $\mathscr{A}$ merica.

Commodities which are, or may be fro-curd by in curd by int duftry: Wheat, Rye, Barley, Oats, Peafe, Beans, Ecr. good Beer of Wheat or Barley Male, after the English. Mode, is made, even in the meaneft Families there; Some drink Beer of Indian Corn, others of the Stalks thereof, or of the Chipps of the PockykerryTree, all which make a-fort of frefh and pleafant Drink; but the general Diet of the Country is now English, as moft agreeable to their Conftitutions.

There are few able Planters there at prefent, but what are plentifully fupply'd with all forts of Summer and Winter Fruits; as alfo of Roots and Herbs, of all forts out of their Gardens and Orchards, which they have Planted for their Profit as well as Pleafure: 'They have Pears, Apples, Plumbs, Peaches, ©r. in great abun. dance, and as good as thofe of Italy; To are their Mellons, Pumpions, Apricocks,' Cherries, Figgs, Pomegranates, occ. In fine, there is fcarce any Fruit or Root that grows in England, France, Spain, or Italy, but hath been try'd there, and profpers well.

You may have there allo Hemp, Flax, Pitch, and Tar, with little labor; the Soyl is apt for Hops, Rape-feed, Annice-feed, Woad, Madder, Saffron, ecc. there may be had Silk-worms, the Country being for'd with Mulberryotrees, and the fu* perfluity of the Wood will produce Potafhes.

There is a great quantity of Syder made there at prefent, and as good as in any other Countrey; good Perry and Quincedrink is there likewife made in great plenty: The Ground doth naturally bring forth Vines in great quantities, the quality whereof being fomething corrected by Induftry, (as there have been feveral trials thereof already made there) may no doubt produce good Wine, to the great en. couragement and advantage of the Undertakers.

Brave Ships may be built there with little charge, Clab-board, Wainfcot, Pipeftaves, and Mafts for Ships, the Woods will afford plentifully; fome fmall Vero fels have been already built there : In fine, Beef, Furrs, Hides, Butter, Cheefe, Pork, and Bacon, to Tranfport to other Countreys, are no fmall Commodities, which by Induftry, are, and may be had there in great plenty, the English being already plentifully fock'd with all forts of Cattel and Horfes; and were there no other Staple-Commodities to be hop'd for, but Silk and Linnen (the materials of which apparently will grow there) it were fufficient to enrich the Inhabitants.

But the general Trade of Mary-land at prefent depends chiefly upon Tobacco, it being the Planters greateft concern and fudy to fore himfelf betimes with that Commodity, wherewith he buys and fells, and after which Standard all other Commodities receive their Price there; they have of late vented fuch quantities of that and other Commodities, that 2 hundred Sail of Ships from England, Barbadoes, and other English Plantations, have been ufually known to Trade thither in one Year; infomuch, that by Cuftom and Excize paid in England for Tobacco and other Commodities Imported from thence, Mary-land alone at this prefent, hath by his Lordfhips vaft Expence, Induftry, and Hazard for many years, without any charge to the Crown, improv'd His Majefties, the King of Englands Revenues, to the value of Forty thoufand Pounds Sterl. per annum at leaft.

The general way of Traffick and Commerce there is chiefly by Barter, or Exchange of one Commodity for another; yet there wants not, befides English and other foraign Coyns, fome of his Lordfhips own Coyn, as Groars, Sixpences, and Shillings, which his Lordfhip at his own Charge caus'd to be Coyn'd and difpers'd throughout that Province; 'ris equal in finenefs of Siver to English Sterling, being of the fame Standard, but of fomewhat lefs weight, and hath on the one fide his Lordfhips Coat of Arms ftamp'd, with this Motto circumfrrib'd, Crefcite of Multiplicamini, and on the other fide his Lordfhips Effigies, circumfrrib'd thus, Cecilius Dominus Terre-Marie, &cc.
The Govern: mencr.

The Order of Government and fettled Laws of this Province, is by the Prudence and endeavor of the prefent Lord Proprietary, brought to great Perfection; and as his Dominion there is abfolute (as may appear by the Charter aforemention'd) fo all Patents, Warrants, Writs, Licenfes, Actions Criminal, ecc. Iffue forth there in his Name : Wars, Peace, Courts, Offices, or all in his Name made, held, and appointed.

Laws are there Enacted by him, with the advice and confent of the General Affembly, which confifts of two Eftates, namely, the firft is made up by the Chan. cellor, Secretary, and others of his Lordfhips Privy-Council, and fuch Lords of Mannors, and others as thall be call'd by particular Writs for that purpofe, to be Infu'd by his Lordfhip: The fecond Eftate confifts of the Deputies and Delegates of the refpective Counties of the faid Province, elected and chofen by the free voice and approbation of the Free-men of the faid refpective Counties.

The Names of the Governor and Council in this prefent Year 1671. are as followeth, Mr. Charles Calvert, his Lordfhips Son and Heir, Governor; Mr. Pbilip Cal. vert, his Lordfhips Brother, Chancellor; Sir William Talbot Baronet, his Lordfhips Nephew, Secretary; Mr. William Calvert, his Lordfhips Nephew, Mufter-MafterGeneral; Mr. Ferome White, Surveyor-General; Mr. Baker Brooke, his Lordfhips Nephew; Mr. Edvard Lloyd, Mr. Henry Courfey, Mr. Tlionass Trucman, Major Edward Fits-Herbert, Samucl Cher Efq.

His Lordfhip, or his Lieutenant there for the time being, upon due occafion, Convenes, Prorogues, and Diffolves this Affembly; but whatfoever is by his Lordfhips Lieutenant there, with the confent of both the faid Eftates Enacted, is there of the fame Force and Nature as an Act of Parliament is in. England, until his Lordhip declares his dif-affent; but fuch Laws as his Lordfhip doth affent unto, are not afterwards to be Alter'd or Repeal'd but by his Lordfhip, with the confent of both the faid Eftates.

Their chief Court of Judicature is held at St. Maries Quarterly every Year, to which all Perfons concern'd refort for Juftice, and is call'd The Provincial Court, whereof the Governor and Councilare Judges: To the Court there doth belong feveral fworn Attorneys, who conftantly are prefent there, and act both as Barrifters and Attorneys; there are likewife chief Clerks, Bayliffs, and other Officers, which duly attend the Court in their refpective places.

The Province is divided at prefent, fo far as it is inhabited by English, into Counties, whereof there be ten, viz. St. Maries, Charles, Calvert, Ame Arandel, and Baltemore Counties, which firft five lie on the Weft fide of the Bay of Chefapeack; on the Eaftern fide whereof, commonly call'd The EaferibShore, lies Sommerfet, Dorchefer, Talbot, Cacil, and Kent Counties, which laft is an Illand lying near the Eafterno fhore of the faid Bay.

Befides the Provincial Court aforenam'd, there are other inferior Cours, appointed to be held in every one of the Counties fix times in the year, for the dif. patch of all Caufes, not relating to Life or Member, and not exceeding the value of three thoufand weight of Tobacco; the decifion of all other Caufes being referv'd to the Provincial or higher Court beforemention'd, and there lies Appeals from the County-Courts, to the Provincial Court.

There are Sheriffs, Juftices of the Peace, and other Officers appointed by the Lord and Proprietary, or his Lordfhips Lieutenant for the time being, in the faid refpective Counties; and without four Juftices, of which one to be of the 迕orm, none of the faid refpective County-Courts can be held; any of his Lordfhips Privy Council may fit as Judge, in any of the faid County=Courts, by vertue of his place.
Thefe Coutts are appointed to be held at convenient Houfes in the faid Counties, which commonly are not far diftant from fome Inn, or other Houfe of Entertainment, for accommodation of Strangers; one of the faid fix County Courts in each County is held for fercling of Widows and Orphans Eftates.
-There are Foundations laid of Towns, more or lefs in each County, according to his Lordfhips Proclamation, to that effect Iffu'd forth in the year 1668. In Calvert Cointy, about the River of Patuxent, and the adjacent Cliffs, are the Bounds of three Towns laid out, one over againft Point Patience, call'd Harvy Town, another in Battel:Creek, call'd Calverton, and a third upon the Cliffs, call'd Herrington; and Houfes already built in them, all uniform, and pleafant with Streets, and Keys on the Water fide. In the County of St. Maries, on the Eaft fide of St. Georges River, is the principal and original Seat of this Province, where the general Affembly, and Provincial Courts are held, and is call'd St. Maries, being erected into a City by that Name, where divers Houfes are already built: The Governor hath a Houfe there call'd St. Jobn's; the Chancellor Mr. Pbilip Calvert, his Lordfhips Brother, hath an. other, and in this place is built and kept the Secretaries Office, where all the Records are kept, all Procefs, Grants, for Lands, Probates of Wills, Letters of Adminiftration are iffu'd out : the Plat of a Fort and Prifon is lately laid there, upon a point of Land, term'd Windmil-Point, from a Windmil which formerly food there, the fituation is proper, for that it commands the breadth of the faid River of Saint Georges; fo that when it is finifh'd, all Shipping may fafe ly Ride before the Town, without the leaft fear of any fudden Affault, or Attempt of Pirats or other Enemy whatfoever. This City has formerly been the ufual place of abode for his Lordfhips Lieutenants, and their Retinue; but of late years the prefent Governor, Mr. Charles Calvert, hath built himfelf a fair Houfe of Brick and Timber, with all Out-houfes, and other Offices thereto belonging, at a place call'd Mattapany, near the River of Patuxent beforemention'd, where he and his Family refide, being a pleafant, healthful, and commodious Seat, about eight Miles by Land diftant from St.Maries.

The Indians in Maryeland are a People generally of ftreight, able, and well proportion'd Bodies, fomething exceeding the ordinary pitch of the English, their Com. plexion Swarthy, their Hair naturally long and black, without Curle, which ge. nerally they cut after fome ftrange Fantaftical Mode; nay, fometimes they Dye it with red and other prepofterous Colours: They Liquor their Skins with Bears Greafe, and other Oyls, which renders them more tawny, and lefs apt to receive injury from the Weather: They are fubtile from their Infancy, and prone to learn any thing their Fancy inclines them to, in other things flothful.

There are as many diftinct Nations among them as there are Indian Towns, (which are like Countrey.Villages in England, but not fo good Houfes) difpers'd throughout the Province : Each Town hath its King (by them term'd Werowance) and every forty or fify Miles diftance differs much from its Neighbors in Speech and Difpofition: The Safqualanocks, though but few in number, yet much exceed the reft in Valor, and Fidelity to the English; the reft being generally of a more Treacherous Spirit, and not fo ftout, and the number of the English do already exceed all the Indians in the Province.

The Werozance is affifted by Councellors, call'd Wijoes, who are commonly of the fame Family, and are chofen at the pleafure of the Werowance: They have Captains in time of War which they term Cockoroofes.

Moft of their Governments are Monarchical, (except the Safquabanocks, which is a Re-publick) but for fucceffion they have a peculiar Cuftom, that the Iffue of the Males never fucceed, but the Iffue Male of the Female fucceed in Government, as the furer fide: They all fubmit to, and are protected by the Lord Proprietaries Government; and in cafe of any Affault or Murder, committed on any Englifh, the Party offending is try'd by the Laws of the Province; and in cafe of any new EleEtion of King or Emperor among them, they prefent the Perfon fo Elected to the Governor for the time being, who as he fees caufe, either alters or confirms their Choice.

In the Year 1663 .at the Indians Requeft, the prefent Governor Mr. Charles Calvert, and fome others of his Lordhhips Privy-Council there, went to Pafcatoway, in this Province, to be prefent at the Election of a new Emperor for that Nation : They prefented a Youth nam'd Nattawafo, and humbly Requefted to have him confirm'd Emperor of $P_{a} \int_{\text {catoway }}$, by the Name of Wabocafjo; which after fome charge given them in general, to be good and faithful Subjects to him, the Governor accordingly did, and receiv'd him into his Protection.

They pay great Refpect and Obedience to their Kings and Superiors, whofe Commands they immediately Execute, though with an apparent hazard of their Lives.

The Mens chief employment is Hunting, and the Wars, in both which they commonly ufe Bowes 2nd Arrows; fome of late have Guns and other. Weapons, by a private Trade with fome Englifh Neighboring Plantations: They are excellent Marks-men, it being the onely thing they breed their Youth to : The Women Plant and look after the Corn, make their Bread, and drefs what Provifions their Husbands bring home. Their way of Marriage is by agreement with the Womens Parents or Friends, who for a certain Sum of their Money, or other Goods, deliver her to the Man at a day appointed, which is commonly feent in jollity.

There are two forts of Indian Money, Wampompeage and Roarioack, thefe ferve Their Money. among them as Gold and Silver do in Europe, both are made of Fifh-fhells, which they ftring like Beads; Wampompeage is the largett Bead, fixty whereof countervails an Arms length of Roanoack, which is valued at fix Pence Sterling; with this they purchafe Commodities of the Englifh, as Trading-Cloth, ©rc. of which they make themfelves Mantles, which is fomething fhaggy, and is call'd Dutch Duffels; this is their Winter Habit; in Summer they onely wear a narrow lip of the fame to cover thofe parts, which natural modefty teaches them to conceal; the better fort have Stockings made thereof, and pieces of Deer-Skin, fitch'd together about their Feet in fead of Shooes: The Womens Apparel is the fame, but thofe of the beft Quality among them bedeck themfelves with Wampompeage or Roanoack, or fome other toy.

Their Houfes are rais'd about the height of a large Arbor, and cover'd with Barks of Trees very tite, in the middle whereof is the Fireoplace, they lie generally upon Mats of their own making, plac'd round the Fire, a Woodden bowl or two, an Earthen Pot, and a Mortar and Pefle, is their chiefeft Houfhold.ftuff; he that hath his Bowe and Arrows, or Gun, a Hatchet, and a Canoo, (a term they ufe for Boats) is in their minds rarely well provided for; each Houfe contains a diftinct Family, each Family hath its peculiar Field about the Town, where they Plant their Corn, and other forts of Grain afore $=$ mention'd.

They are courteous to the Englifh, if they chance to fee any of them coming towards their Houfes, they immediately meet him half-way, conduct him in, and bid him welcome with the beft Cates they have: The Englifh giving them in like manner civil Entertainment, according to their Quality.

The Werolvance of Patuxent having been Treated for fome days at St. Maries, by the then Governor, Mr. Leonard Calvert, his Lordfhips Brother, at his firft coming thither to fettle that Colony, took his leave of him with this Expreffion, I love the Englifh fo well, that if they fhould go about to kill me, if I bad So much breath as to Jpeak, I woould Command my People not to revenge my death; for I know they would not do fucb a thing, except it were through my own default.
In Affairs of concern, they are very confiderate, and ufe few words in declaring their intentions; for at Mr. Leonard Calverts firft arrival there, the Werowance of Pafs catovay being ask'd by him, Whether be would be content, that the Englifh pould fit down in bis Countrey? recturn'd this anfwer, That be would not bid bim go, neither would be bid bim ftay, but that he mightt iffe his own difcretion. Thefe were their expreffions to the Governor at his firft entrance into Mary-land, whom then they were jealous of, whether he might prove a Friend or a Neighbor, but by his difcreet Demeanor to. wards them at firt, and friendly ufage of them after wards, they are now become, not only civil, but ferviceable to the Englifh there upon all occafions.

The Indians of the Eaftern fhore are moft numerous, and were formerly very re. fractory, whom Mr. Leonard Calvert fome few years after his firft fettling the Colony, was forc'd to reduce, and of late the Emperor of Nanticoke, and his Men were defervedly defeated by the prefent Governor, Mr. Charles Calvert, who reduc'd him about the year 1668. which has fince tam'd the ruder fort of the neighboring Indians, who now by experience, find it better to fubmit and be protected by the Lord Proprictaries Government, than to make any vain attempt againf his Power.

Thele People live under no Law, but that of Nature and Reafon, which noto withftanding leads them to the acknowledgement of a Deity, whom they own to be the Giver of all good things, wherewith their Life is maintain'd, and to him they Sacrifice the firft Fruits of the Earth, and of that which they acquire by Hunting and Fifhing: The Sacrifice is perform'd by their Priefts, who are commonly ancient Men, and profefs themfelves Conjurers; they firft make a Speech to their God, then burn part, and eat and diftribute the reft among them that are prefent; until this Ceremony be ended, they will not touch one bit thereof; they hold the Immortality of the Soul, and that there is a place of Joy, and another of Torment after Death, prepar'd for every one according to their Merits.

They bury their Dead with ftrange expreffions of Sorrow (the better fort upon a Scaffold, erected for that end) whom they leave cover'd with Mats, and return when his flefh is confum'd to Interr his Bones; the common fort are committed to the Earth without that Ceremony; but they never omit to bury fome part of their Wealth, Arms, and Houfhold ftuff with the Corps.

THe moft Southerly part of Virginia (for all that Tract of Land, reaching. from Norumbega to Florida, and containing New-England, New-York, Maryland, and this part we are now about to Treat of, was by Sir Walter Raipleigh term'd Virginia, in Honor of our Virgin-Queen Elizabeth) lies between Maryland, which it hath on the North, and Carolina, which it hath on the South, from thirty fix, to near thirty eight Degrees of Northern Latitude; and with the reft of thofe Countries which were comprehended under the fame Denomination, was by the Encouragement, and at the Expence of the faid Sir Walter Rawleigh, firf Difcover'd (as fome fay) by Captain Francis Drake, for his many notable and bold Ex- reafon to afcribe the firft Difcovery thereof to Sir Francis Drake, whofe chief performances, from the time he firft made himfelf Eminent at Sea, were againft the Spaniards, and for the moft part in the SpanilhoIndies; as his taking of Nombre de Dios, and Vinta Cruz, with an infinite mars of Treafure; his taking of Santo Domingo in Hispaniola, and of Cartbagena in Castella Amma and that which feems to have given occafion of attributing to him the firft Difcovery of thefe parts, was his touching upon the North part of the Ine of California, where being nobly Entertain'd by Hioh, a King of that Countrey, and having a Surrendry thereof made to him, in behalf of the Queen of England, he upon a Pillar erected, Infcrib'd the Arms of England, with the Queens Name and his own, and call'd the place Nova Albion: Certain indeed it is, that Sir Waller Ranleigh was the firft Promoter of this Difcon very; for, after Mr. Martin Forbihher had been fent by Queen Elizabeth to fearch for the North-Weft Paffage, which was in the year 1576 . and for which he alfo was by the Queen advanc'd to Knight-hood, and nobly rewarded; and Sir Humphrey Gilbert obtaining the Queens Letters Patents, for attempting a Plantation, had reach'd Nevofound.land (though perifhing in his return) he upon thele Relations and Inducements undertook by others (for his employments would not permit him to go in Perfon) to gain Difcoveries to the Southward; and accordingly in the year of our Lord 1584. obtain'd a Commiffion from the Queen, to difcover and Plant new Lands in America, notactually poffefs'd by any Cbriftigns, who, with the affiftance of Sir Richard Greenvil and others, provided two fmall Barques, under the Command of Captain Pbilip Amidas, and Captain Arthur Barlon, who fetting Sail the 27. of April, fell the $2^{d}$ of July following with the Coalt of Florida, and made Difcovery of the Ifle of Wokokon, Roanoack, and the Continent of Wingandacoa, which they left; and arriving in England about the midft of September. following, Her Ma= jefty upon the relation of their Difcoveries, was 'pleas'd to call this Countrey Virginia.

April 9.1585. Sir Richard Greenvil, with feven Sail, and feveral Gentlemen, left Plymouth; and on May 26. Anchord at Wokokon, but made their firf Scat at Roanoack on Auguft 17. following, which lies in thirty fix Degrees of Northerly Latitude, or thereabouts, where they continu'd till June 1586. during which time they made feveral Difcoveries in the Continent and adjacent Illands.; and being endanger'd by the treachery of the Salvages, return'd for England, and Landed at Port/mouth on fuly 27: following.

- Sir Walter Rapleigh and his Affociates, in the year 1586 . नent a Ship to relieve that Colony, which had deferted the Countrey fome while before, and were all return'd for England as is beforesmention'd.

Some few days after they were gone, Sir'Richard Greenvil, with three Ships, arriv'd at the Plantation at Roanoack, which he found deferted, and leaving fifty Men there to keep Poffeffion of that Countrey, return'd for England.

The year following, Mr. Fobn White, with three Ships, came to fearch for the fifty Englifh at Roanoack, but found them not, they having been fet upon by the Natives, and dilpers'd fo, as no News could be heard of them, and in their room left a hundred and fifty more to continue that Plantation.

In Auguht 1589. Mr. Jobn White went thither again, to fearch for the laft Colony which he had left there; but not finding them, return'd for England in Septemb. 6. 1590.

This ill Succefs made all further Difcoveries to be laid afide, till Captain Gofnol on March 26. 1602. Fet Sail from Dartmouth, and on May 11. following, made Land at a place, where fome Bifcaners, as he guefs'd by the Natives information, had formerly fifh'd, being about the Latitude of forty eight Degrees Northerly Latitude from hence putting to Sea, he made Difcovery of an Inand which he call'd Marthas Vineyard, and Chortly after of Elizabeth's Ifte, and fo return'd for England, fune 18. following.
In the Year 1603 . the City of Brifol rais'd a Stock, and furnifid out two Barques for Difcovery, under the Command of Captain Martin Pring, who about June 7. fell with the North of Virginia in the three and fortieth Degree, found plenty of good Fifh, nam'd a place Whitfon-Bay, and fo return'd.

In the Year 1605. the Right Honorable Thomas Arundel the firt, Baron of Warder, and Count of the Roman Empire, fer out Captain George Waymouth, with twenty nine Sea-men, and neceffary Provifions, to make what Difcoveries he could; who by contrary Winds, fell Northward about one and forty Degrees and twenty Mi. nutes of Northerly Latitude, where they found plenty of good Fifh; and Sailing further, difcover'd an Illand, where they nam'd a Harbor, Pentecoft-Harbor; and on July 18. following, came bạck for England.

In the Year 1606. by the follicitation of Captain Gof nol, and feveral Gentlemen, a Commiffion was gransed by King James of Great Brittain, evc. for eftablifhing a Council, to direct thofe new Difcoveries; Captain Neroport (a well practic'd Marriner) was intrufted with the Tranfportation of the Adventurers in two Ships, and a Pinace, who on Decemb. 19. 1606. Set Sail from Black-wall, and were by Storm, contrary to expectation, caft upon the firtt Land, which they call'd Cape Henry, at the Mouth of the Bay of Chefapeack, lying in thirty feven Degrees, or thereabouts, of Northerly Latitude : Here their Orders were open'd and read, and eight declar'd of the Council, and impower'd to chofe a Prefident for a year, who with the Council Thould Govern that Colony : Till May 13. they fought a place to Plant in, Mr. Winkfield was chofe the firft Prefident, who caus'd a Fort to be rais'd at Powhatan, now call'd James-Town: In fune following, Captain Newport re. turn'd for England, leaving a hundred Men behind himn; fince which time they have been fufficiently fupply'd from England, and by the indefatigable Induftry and Courage of Captain Jobn Smith, (one of the Council at that time, and afterward Prefident of the Colony) they made feveral Difcoveries on the Eaftern fhore, and up to the Head of the Bay of Chefapeack, and of the principal Rivers which fall into the faid Bay.

Virgiinia being thus Difcover'd and Planted, King James by his Letters Patene bearing Date April 10. in the fourth year of his Reign, 1607. Granted Licence to Sir Thomas Gates, Sir George Summers, and others, to divide themfelves into two fe. veral Colonies, for the more fpeedy Planting of that Countrey, then call'd Virginia, between the Degrees of thirty four and forty five of North Latitude, that is to fay, taken in that large extent, mention'd in the beginning: The firf Colony to be undertaken by certain Knights, Gentlemen, and Merchants, in, and about the City of London: The fecond to be undertaken, and advanc'd by certain Knights, Gentlemen, and Merchants, and their Affociates, in, or about the City of Briffol, Exon, Plymouth, and other parts.

At the firft Colonies Requeft, in the feventh year of the fame King, a fecond Patent was Granted to feveral Noblemen and Gentlemen, (including Sir Thomas Gates, and Come of hisformer Fellow-Patentees) bearing Date May 23. 1610. whereby they were made a Corporation, and Body Politique, and ftil'd, The Treafurer, and Company of Adventurers and Planters of the City of London, for the firft Colony of Virginia: And by this Patent, there was Granted to them, their Succeffors and Af. figns, two hundred Miles to the Southward, from a Cape of Land in Virginia, call'd Point Comfort ; and two hundred Miles to the Northward of the faid Cape,along the Sea-fhore, and into the Land from Sea to Sea.

And on March 12. 1612. the faid King, in the ninth year of his Reign, Grants them a third Patent, of all Iflands lying in the Sea, within two hundred Miles of the Shore of that Tract of Land on the Continent, granted to them by the faid fore mer Patent, $\mathfrak{F a c} .7$.

In the Year 1615. Captain Smith procur'd by his Intereft at Court, and the King's Favor, a Recommendation from His Majefty, and divers of the Nobility, to all Cities and Corporations, to Adventure in a ftanding Lottery, which was erected for the benefit of this Plantation, which was contriv'd in fuch a manner, that of 100000 . Pounds which was to be put in, 50000 . oneiy, or one half was to return to the Adventurers, according as the Prizes fell out; and the other half to be difpos'd of for the Promotion of the Affairs of Virginia, in which, though it were thare years before it was fully accomplifl'd, he had in the end no bad Succefs.

In the eighteenth Year of the faid King's Reign, at the Requeft of the fecond Colony, a Patent was Granted to feveral Noblemen and Gentlemen, of all that Tract of Land lying in the parts of America, between the Degrees of forty and forty eight of Northerly Latitude, and into the Land from Sea to Sea, which was call'd by the Patent New England in America: For the better Government whereof, one Body-Politick and Corporate was thereby appointed and ordain'd in Plymouth, confifting of the faid Noblemen, Gentlemen, and others, to the number of forty Perfons, by the Name of The Council eftablifh'd at Plymouth in the County of Devon, for the Planting, Ruling, Ordering, and Governing of New England im America.

The Mifcarriages and Mifdemeanors of the aforefaid Corporation for the firft Colony of Virginia, were fo many and fo great, that His faid Majefty was forc'd, in or about 0 Etober 1623 . to direct a $\mathrm{Qn}_{\mathrm{n}}$ Warranto, for the calling in of that former Patent, which in Trinity Term following was legally Evinc'd, Condemn'd, and made Void, by Judgment in the Court of the then Kings-Bench, as alfo all other Patents, by which the faid Corporation claim'd any Intereft in Virginia. Thus this Corporation of the firft Colony of Virginia was diffolv'd, and that Plantation hath been fince Govern'd and Difpos'd of by Perfons Conftituted and Impower'd for that purpofe from time to time, by immediate Commiffions from the Kings of England.

In the Year of our Lord 1631. the Right Honorable George Lord Baltemore ob, The Pareni tain'd a Grant of King Charles the Firft of Great Britain, ecc. of part of that Land to graned tand the Northward, which is now call'd Mary-land, but this Per Mary-land was the Lord not perfected till 1632 . as you may underfand more fully by the precedent Difcourfe of Mary-land, which by exprefs words in the faid Patent is feparated from, and thereby declar'd not to be reputed for the future, any part of Virginia.

And in the fifteenth Year of the Reign of King Charles the Second of Great Bri, The pareat tain, trc. on Marcl) 24. 1663. Edward Earl of Clarendon, then High. Chancellor of granted to England, George Duke of Albemarle, William, now Earl of Craven, John Lord Berkley, thereral Noon Anthony Lord AJhley, Sir George Carterett Knight and Baronet, Sir William Berkley Knight, and Sir fobn Colleton Knight and Baronet, obtain'd a Patent from His Majefty, of the Province of Carolina, which lies to the Southward of Virginia, in which is included fome part of that Land which formerly belong'd to the faid diffolv'd Company of Virginia. So that Virginia at prefent extendeth it felf onely, and is fitu. ated between thirty fix and thirty feven Degrees and fifty Minutes, or thereabouts, of Northern Latitude, and is bounded on the North, by Mary-land; on the South, by Carolina; on the Eaft, by the Ocean ; and on the Weft, by the South-Seas.

The Entrance by Sea into this Countrey is the fame with that of Mary:land, be. tween Cape Henry and Cape Charles, plac'd on each fide of the Mouth of the Bay of Chefapenk; on the Weft fide whereof you firft meet with a pleafant and commodi- Rivers of ous River call'd Fames-River, about three Miles wide at its Entrance, and Navigable a hundred and fifty.

Fourteen Miles from this River Northward lies York-River, which is Navigable fixty or feventy Miles, but with Ketches and fmall Barques chirty or forty Miles farther.

Paffing hence to the Nórth you difcover a third fately River, call'd Rappabanock, which is Navigable about a hundred and thirty Miles - from whence following the Shore to the North you enter into Patomeck-River, which is already defcrib'd in the precedent Difcourfe of Maryeland, to which Province this River belongs, whofe Southerly Bank gives Bounds to that part of Virginia and Maryeland.

To thefe Rivers many other Inland Branches and Rivulets are reduc'd, the chief of which are hereafter feccifid.

The Countrey is generally even, the Soil fruitful, the Climate healthful, and Naure of agreeable with English Conftitutions, efpecially fince the increafe of Inhabitants, and accommodation of good Diet and Lodging, which the firf Planters found great want of heresofore. For many years, till of late, moft New.comers had the firf Year in fuly and $\mathcal{A}$ uguft, a Difeafe which is call'd $A$ Seafoning, whereof many died, like to what is mention'd before in the Defrription of Marysland, though more mortal and common than in Mary-land, becaufe Virginia is a lower Countrey, and fomewhat hotter, infomuch that formerly divers ill of that Diftemper have 3in. i. come purpofely from Virginia to Maryeland, to recover their Health ; but now, fince the Countrey is more open and clear from Wood, few die of it, and many have no Seafonings at all.
b This Countrey affordeth generally all fuch Roots, Herbs, Gums, and Balfoms, as are exprefs'd before in the Relation of Mary-land.
All forts of Trees for Building and Husbandry, Fruit-Trees, Vines, ©cc. 2re found in both Countreys, equal in goodnefs and quantity, onely in fuch things as require more Sun, and that may be produc'd by Induftry) there may be fome little difference, becaufe Virginia is fomewhat more to the Southward of Marysland, as in Vines, Oranges, Lemmons, Olives, Silk, ơc.
silk-Gras. There is a Plant grows naturally in this Countrey, and in Maryeland, call'd SilkGrafs, which will make a fine Stuff with a filky Glofs, and better Cordage than .n Hemp or Flax, both for ftrength and durance.

The wild Beafts, Birds, and Fifh, are much the fame alfo in this Countrey as are before defcrib'd in the precedent Defcription of Mary-land : Neverthelefs we fhall think it proper not to omit fome Fruits, Plants, Beafts, ©c. mention'd by the moft. Fruisp pra- authentick Defcribers of Nero England, ias peculiar to that Countrey. The Fruits Jiar to Virare, their Putclamines, which are a kind of Damfons; Meffamines, a kind of Grapes; Chechinquamins, a fort of Fruitrefembling a Chefnut; Rawcomens, a Fruit refembling a Goofe-berry; Macoquer, a kind of Apple ; Mettaquef wnnauks, 2 fort of Fruit refem. bling Inkian Figs; Morococks, refembling a Suraw-berry, befides a Berry which they. call Ocoughtanamnis, Fomewhat like to Capers.

Their peculiar.Roots are Tockapoaugh, good to eat; Wichfacan, of great vertue in healing of Wounds; Pocones, good to affwage Swellings and Aches; Mufquafpen, wheréwith they Paint their Targets and Mats. Alfo they have in great requeft a Pulfe call'd Afentamen, and the Plant Mattouna, of which they make Bread.

Their peculiar Beafts are, the Aroughena, refembling a Badger; the Affapanick or Flying=Squerril; Opaffum, a certain Beaft having a Bag under her Belly, wherein the carrieth and fucklech het Young; Muffafcus, which fmelling ftrong of Musk, reSembleth a Water.Rat; Utcbunquois, a kind of wild Cat.

- Their peculiar Fifh are Stingrais.

On the Weft fide of the Bay of Chefapeak, between Cape Henry and the Southerly Bank of the River of Patomeck, áre three fair Navigable Rivers, as is before men. tion'd, into which the other fmall Rivulets fall, which here we will give fome aco count of, as alfo of the Indian, or antient Names by which thefe three principal Riyers were formerly known. The firt whereof is Powbatan (now call'd fames-River) according to the Name of a large and confiderable Territory that lieth upon it. The Rivers that fall into this Southward, are Apamatuck; Eaftward, Quijonjcohanuc, Nanfamund, and Chefopeak; and Northward, Chickamabania.

The fecond Navigable River is Pamaunkee, by the Endlifh now term'd York-River: The Rivulet that falls into this is Poyankatanck.

The chird (which is before defcrib'd, and ufually known by the Name of Rappallanoc) was formerly term'd Toppabanoc.

This we thought fit here to infert, to the end no colour of miftako might remain to after Ages concerning the derivation or original change of fuch proper Names, efpecially being Places of great advantage to the Colony.

The chiefeft of thofe Tribes or Divifions of People among the Indians, that were by Name known to the Englilh at their firf arrival, were upon the River Poubatan the Kecougbtans, the Paipabeges, (on whofe Land is feated fames-Tomn) the Weanocks, Arrobatocks, the Appametecks, the C anfamunds, thie Chefapeacks, &8 c. On the River Pamaunkee, arethe Youngtanunds, the Mattapaments, &e. Oil the River Toppabanoc, the Manaboacks, the Moragbtacunds, and the Cuttatawomens. On the River Patawomek, the Wighbooomocains, the Onammanients, and the Moyanances. On the River Pawtuxunt, the Acgmintacfuacs, the Paintuxunts, and the Matapunients. On the River Eolus, the Safquefabanoes: Southward from the Bay, the Cbawonocks, the Mangoacks, the Mona cans, the Mainabocks, the Mafawomeks, the Atquinabucks, and the Kuf carawaocks, befides a number not material to be nam'd, as having had little of Tranfaction that we hear of with the Planters.
Thenumber of Englifh Inhabitants in this Country are in this prefent Year i671. about thirty or forty thoufand, who are plentifully ftock'd with all forts of tame Cattel, as Cows, Sheep, Horles, Swine, ©rcai and all forts of Englifh Grain; 'great fore of brave Orchards for Fruit, whereof they make great quantities of Cyder and Perry.
2They have been much oblig'd by that worthy Gentleman Mr. Edward Digger, Son of Sir Dudlej Digges, who was Matter of the Rolls? and al Privy Councellor to King Chirles the Firft, of Great Britain, Gc. For the faid Mr. Digges at his great Charge and Induftry, hath very much advanc'd the making of Silk in this Countrey, for which purpofe he hath fent for feveral Perfons out of Armenia to teach them that Art, and how to wind it off the Cods of the Silk-worms; and hath made at his own Plantation in this Colony for fome years laft paff, confiderable quantities of Silk, which is found to be as good Silk as a'ny is in the $W$ orld, which hath encourag'd divers others to profecute that Work.
21Though this Countrey be capable of producing many other good med ComCommodities, yet the Planters have hitherto imploy'd themfelves for marisitine. the moft part in Planting of Tobacco, as they do in Mary-Land. whereof here are two fots, one which is call'd Sweet-fented, and the other call'd Oranoack, or Bright and Large, which is much more in quantity, but of leffer price than the former ; and the Plantations upon York River are efteem'd to produce the beft of that fort of Sweetfcented: There is fo much of this Commodity Planted in Virginia, and Imported from thence into England, that the Cuftom and Excife paid in England for it, yields the King about fifty or threefcore thoufand Pounds Sterling, per ammum: With this Commodity the Planters buy of the Ships that come thither for it (which are above a hundred Sal yearly from England, and other Engli/h Plantations) all Neceffaries of Clothing, and other Utenfils of Houfhold-ftuff, $\odot c$. which they want, though they make fome Shoes, and Linnen and Woollen Cloth in fome Parts of Virginia, of the growth and Manufacture of the Countrey; and if they would Plant lefs Tobacco (as it is probable they will e're long find it convenient for them to do, it being now grown a Drug of very low value, by reafon of the valt quantities planted of it) they might in time provide themfelves all Neceffaries of Livelyhood, and. produce richer and more Staple-Commodities for their Advantage. Their ufual way of Trafique in buying and felling is by exchange of one Commodity for another; and Tobacco is the general Standard, by which all other Commodities receive their value; but they have fome. Englifb an d foreign Coyns, which ferve them uponimanyoccafions.on The Government is by a Governor and Council, Appointed and Authoriz'd from time to time by immediate Commiffion from the King of Great Brittain: And Laws are made by the Governor, with the confent of a General Affembly, which confifts of two Houfes, an Ulpper and a Lower; the firtt confilts of the Councilj, and the latter of the Burgeffes chofen by the Freemen of the Countrey; and Laws fo, made are in Force till His Majelty thinks fit to alter them: 10 siti
The chief Court of Judicature is call'd The Quarter-Court, becanfe in mon it is held every quarter of a $\mathrm{Year}_{\text {, whe }}$ whereall Caufes Criminaland $\mathrm{Ci}_{-}$ vil are heard and determin'd, and the Judges of this Court are the Governor and Council: The prefent Governor in this Year 1671, is Sir William Berkley, who was made Governor by King Charles the Firit, of Great Brittain, \&c. in the Year $164^{\circ}$. And thofe of the Council are Sir Henry Chicbefy, who is one of the greateft and moft confiderable Planters there, and Mr. Edward Diggs before-mention'd, Mr. Th homas Ludwel Secretary, Major-General Robert Smith; and divers otheriworthy Gentlemen.
That Part of the Country where the Engli/h are Planted, is divided into nineteen Counties, viz. $\mathcal{X}$ Cortbampton-County in Acomack, on the Eaftern fiore; and on the Weftern fhore , Corotuck: Lower- $\mathcal{X}$ (orfolk, Xanfemund, Ille of. Wight, Surry, Warwick, Henerico, Fames, Cbailes, York, Xew-Kent, Glocefter, Viddlefex, Lancafler, $\mathcal{N}$ (ortbiniberland, Wefmoreland, Rappabanock, and Harford-counties.
In every, one of thefe Counties there are inferior County-Courts kept every Month; thefe take no Cognizance of Caufes relating to Life or Member, or exceeding a certain limited Value,fuch being refer'd to the Quarter-Courts only, to which likewife there lie Appeals from their Inferior Courts.
There are Sheriffs, Juftices of the Peace, and other Officers in every refpective County, appointed by the Governor, for the Adminitration of Jutice, who fit there according to his Order, and whereof thefe County-Courts are chiefly compos'd.
There are few Towns as yet erected in this Colony; the Principal Seat of the Englif there, is at a Place calld Games-City, in Honor of King fames of Great Erittain, &cc. This is fituated in a Peninfula, on the North-fide of Games River, and has in it many fair Brick and other good Houfes : In this place are held the Quarter-Courts,General Affemblies, the Secretaries Office, and all other Affairs and greateft Concerns of the Colony are here difpatch'd. On the fäme fide, nearer the Mouth of this River, Pands Elizabeth-City, containing alfo feveral good Houfes of Brick and Timber.

Sir William Berkley, the prefent Governor refides at a place fomewhat diftant from fames-City, calld Green-Spring, a fair Brick Houfe, which he himfelf caus'd to be Built.
-The other Towns of Note belonging to the Englifh; are only Henricopolis, or Henir's-Tomn (fo namd from Prince Henry then living, built in a very convenient place, more within Land, about eighty Miles diftant from fames-City) and Dale's-Gift, fo nam'd from Sir Thomas. Dale Deputy-Governor of the Countrey, about the Year I610.
${ }^{T}$ The Indians of Virginiafar exceed thofe of Maryland, in Treachery. and Cruelty to the Englifh there, as will appear by this following Relation of tlieir Proceedings towards' them, fince the firt Seating of that Colony, wherein neverthelefs the Civility of fome particular Perfons at their firft Landing is not to beomitted.
${ }^{7}$ Upon the firftarrival of Captain Amiddas and Captain Barlow in Wingandacba, now Virginia, they were accofted by Granganimieo (the King's onse ferse Brother of that Countrey) who, attended with a Train offorty or fif- and thes. ty Men, came in a very civil manner to Treat about a Commerce of Trade and Traffique, which immediatly began between them, and feveral Barters were made: Granganimeo, who was very juft of his word, and always kept his promisd Day of meeting, fancying moft a Pewter Difh, gave twenty Deer-skins for it, and boring a Hole therein, hung it about his Neck for a Breaft-plate; afterwards he, with his whole Company, and his $W$ ife and Children, frequently and familiarly did eat and drink aboard the Englib Ships, the King himfelf call'd Wingina, lying fick at his chief Town, fix days Journy off, of a dangerous Wound which he had receiv'd from a neighboring King his mortal Enemy. Some of the Englifh going to Land upon the Ifle of Roanoack, were met by Granganimeo's Wife, who, her Husband being abbent, commanded her Servants fome to draw their Boat afhore, forme to carry thein on their Backs to Land, others to carry their Oars into the Houfe for fear of ftealing; and having caus'd a great Fire to be made to warm them, and to dry thofe that had been wet in their Voiage, the afterwards entertain'd them with a plentiful Feaft or Banquet after that Country faftion ; and when they took alarm at the coming of two or three of her Men with Bows and Arrows, fhe caus'd the Bows to be broken, and the Men to be beaten out of the Houfe, befides feveral other demonftrations of extraordinary civility; and when not withftanding all this they could not be perfwaded to Lodg any where but in their Boat, the us'd all means imaginable to make them quit their Jealoufy, and accept of a Lodging in the Houfe.
In the Year $1585 . a$ Company that went over with Sir Richard Greenwil, burnt the Town of Aquafcogoc, for a Silver Cup that was ftoln by fome of the Indians, took Prifoner Menatonon, King of Cbawonoc, who gave Relation of a King about three days Journy off, who poffes $s^{\prime} d$ an Ifland rich in Pearl, which was taken in a deep Water that inviron'd it. Going towards the Countrey of the Mangoacks (among whom in the Province of Cbaunis Temaotan, they heard of a Mine of ftrange Copper call'd Waffador, with Skiko, the King of Cbamonock's Son, and Manteo Manteo, a faithful Salvage, for their Guide) they were treacheroully dealt with by Wingina, alias Pemiffapann (for fo, his Brother Grangani-, meo being lately dead, he had alter'd his Name) who endeavor'd to ftir up a Confederacy of the Chawonocks, Moratocks, and Mangoacks againft them; yet by the urgent perfwafions of Enfenore his Father ${ }_{20}$ the trueft Friend the Englifh had, after the death of Granganimeo, and feeing them fafe return dfoom their Journey, wherein he thought they had all perifh'd, and efrecially upon Menatonon's fending. Meffengers to them with Pearl, and Okijco King of Weopomeoch to yietd himfelf Vaffal to the Queen of England, his Hatred was fomewhat cool d; but Enfenore deceating foon after, he return'd to his old treacherous Pra-l ctifes again, and in che end, while he was contriving Mifchief againft the Pla ters, he himfelf was fhot, taken Prifoner, and beheaded.

After the Company left upon Virginia by Sir Richard Greenvil, (for he himfelf was recurn'd), tir'd out with hunger, hard hhip, and the maso ny extremities they were at laft reduc'd to, had defertad the Place, and obtain'd paffare for England, through the civility of Sir Francis Drakers pitying their difters, fifty Men more were Landed upon Rodnoack-Ifle, by the lame, Perfon, who how they were furpris'd and deftroy'd by the Natiyes, was difcover'd at large to the Supply that was fent over, in the Year 1587. by Mr. White.

A fmall Party under Captain Smith going down the River to Kconghean, were very fiercely affaulted by fixty or feventy Indians, but their Mufquet-fhot did fucls Execution amongft them, that they fled into the $w$ oods and left behind them the I mage of their God, which had been carry'd before them as their Standard, and not long after fent one of their Queiongcaforks to offer Peace, and to redeem their 0 kee; which Smuth granting, on condition fix onely of them would come unarm'd and load his Boat with Provifions; and promifing more over to become their Friend, and furnifh them with Beads, Copper, and Hatchess: They accepted the Condition, and brought him Ve, nifon, Turkies, wild Fowl, Bread, and what elfe they had, Singing and Dancing in fign of Friend hip till they departed.
In his next Voyage for the difcovery of the Head of Cbickamabania River, he was, through the neglect of his Sea-men who were fent to watch the Booty, taken Prifoner, in which condition he was kepta whole Month: then being releas'd, he got Provifions for the People in Fames-7 onn; which had they not timely receiv'd, they had all abandun'd the Place, and return'd to England.

While Affairs ttood thus in a mean condition, Captain $\mathcal{X}$ enpport ariving there with a Ship and fixty Men to ftrengthen the Plantations, he went to Weromocomoro, where King Powbatan ke this Court, and found him fitting on a Bed of Mats, and an Embroiderd Leather Cufhion, Cloth'd in Deer-skins; at h's Feet fat a yonng Maiden, and on each fide of the Houfe twenty Concubines; his Head and Shoulders painted red, and a Chain of white Beads about his Neck. $\mathcal{X}$ (emport tito oblige him, gave him an Englifh Youth; for which he receiv'd Powbo tans Friend Mamontak, with whom returning, he found a fad accident, for the Fire had not onely burnt the Houfes of the new Planters, but alfo the Pallifado's about fames. Tornn, made for a Defence againft the Enemies Affaults, and moft, of their Store; which was fo much the worfe, becaufe it hapned in the Winter, and indeed had prov'd very fatal, had not a Ship, which was fuppos'd to be loft, happily arriv'd there with a confiderable quantity of Provifions.

Whilft the Town was rebuilding; Smith, fee Sail in an open Barque with fourteen Men, and difcover'dtwo Illes before Point Charles, to which he gave his Name; then ran into the Inlet Chefapeack, in the midft of which lay feveral Iflands, by the Sea-men call'd Ruffels. Before the River Wighcomoco they found a difturbed Sea, and more Northerly a Bay with frefl and hot Water, and at laft he met with two Virginians, which conducted the Englifhalong a Creek to Onawmoment, where fome hundreds of them lay in Ambufcade, according to Powbatan s. appointment, to cut off Smith; who leaping forth on a fuldden appear'd like Devils, all pairited; but the Bullets flying about made them all run away. Smith, whofe Defign was onely to difo cover the Countrey, and the Silver Mine of Pataiboineck, ten Leagues up into the Countrey, found the Metal to be of little value, fo that he return'd with little Suc, cefs, being newly cur'd of a poyfonous Wound in the Arm, which was given him by a Fifh not unlike a Shark, whilft he lay aground near Toppabanock.
A while after being inform'd of Powbatan's Defign to deftroy the Englifin, (though he had been lately Prefented by Nerpport with a Silver Bafin, a rich Chair, Bed, and Furniture belonging to it, with other things of value) he, to prevent him, chofe forty eight out of two hundred Men which were Garrifon'd in fames-Töon, then going to Weronvocomoco, Landed with much trouble, the River being frozen above half a Mile from the Shore.

A German Soldier amongft Smith's Company giving private notice to Poiblatain of the Defign of the Englifh, imade his Efcape by flight: But Smith going on to Pamaunke, found King Opechancangough with feven hundred Men in Arms, threat. ning a fierce Battel; but Smith making direatly up to him, fet his Piftol on his Breaft, and forc'd him to lay down his Arms. Powbatan by this time provided with Swords.and Mufquets by two Dutch-men, alfo began to beftir himfelf afreff; but his Intentions being too foon known, he was again quieted, and forc'd a fecond time to fend Smitb a String of Pearl; after which a Peace was concluded between all the Natives and the Englijh.

Many other Quarrels and Encounters there were in the Infancy of the Plantation between the Indians and the English, wherein it would be endlefs to recount all the Treacheries and Ambufcades of the Salvages, fome of which had prov'd very pernicious to the Planters, had they not been betray'd to Captain Smith by Pocahonta, King Powbatan's Daughter, who upon all occafions fhew'd her felf a great Friend to the Englifh, having fav'd the Captain's Life, when, being her Father's Prifoner, he was juft brought to Execution.

This Lady was afterwards brought into England, Chriftned by the Name of Rebekah, and Married to one Mr. Rolf, and died at Gravefend in an intended Voy.age back to her own Countrey.

Nor did their Cruelties and Treacheries end when the Plantation came to be more fecled, for on the two and ewentieth of March about the Year r621. in the time of Sir Francis Wyut's Government, they generally combin'd to deftroy all the Englifh there; and carried on this devilifh Defign with fucti diffimulation and dexterity, that in one day they cut off Ceven hundred Men, Women, and Children, there being at that time not above fifteen hundred in the Countrey.

Since which time, in the Year of our Lord 1643 . there hapned another bloody Maffacre, wherein near five hundred Englifh were in one Night miferably butcher'd by thofe barbarous and perfidious Salvages :- whofe Blood the prefent Governor, Sir William Berkley, nobly and juftly reveng'd the Year following, utterly deftroying moft of them, and taking Prifoner their chief Emperor, Opichancono, who died not long after in Prifon.

Having given but a fmall hint, in its proper place, of the Story of Captain Smith's Imprifonment by Poobhatan, and his deliverance from Death by Pocahonta; we have thought not improper to referve the Story of it, being very remarkable for a particular Relation, before we conclude our Defeription of Virginia, fince otherwife we fhould have interrupted the Series of our former Difcourfe.

The Relation of Captain Smith's being taken Prifoner by Powhatan, and of bis being deliver'd from Death by bis Daughter Pocahonta.

THe Salvages having drawn from one George Caffen, whither Captain Smith was gone, profecuting that opportunity, they follow'd him with three hundred Bowe-Men, conducted by the King of Pamaunker, who in divifions, fearching the turnings of the River, found two of his Men by the fire fide, whom they fhot full of Arrows, and new. Then finding the Captain, who, as is faid, us'd the Salvage that was his Guide as his Shield, (three of them being flain, and others fore gall'd) the reft would not come near him: Thinking thus to have return'd to his Boat, regarding , them as he march'd, more than his way, he flipp'd up to the middle in an Ofier-Creek, and his Salvage with him, yet durft they not come to him, till being near dead with cold, he threw away his Arms: Then according to their compofition, they drew him forth, and led him to the Fire, where his Men were flain; diligently they chaf'd his benumm'd Limbs, he demanding for their Captain, they fhew'd him Opechankanough, King of Pamaunkee, to whom he gave a round Ivory double compafs Dyal. Much they marvel'd at the playing of the Fly and Needle, which they could fee fo plainly, and yet not touch it, becaufe of the Glafs that cover'd them; but when he demonftrated by that Globe-like Jewel, the roundnefs of the Earth, and Skies; the Sphere of the Sun, Moon, and Stars, and how the Sun did chare the Nighe round about the World continually ; the greatnefs of the Land and Sea; the diverfity of Nations, variety of Complexions, and how we were to them Antipodes, and many other fuch like matters, they all food as amaz'd with admiration : Notwithftanding, within an hour after they ty'd him to a Tree, and as many as could ftand about him prepar'd to Choot him; but the King holding up the Compars in his Hand, they all laid down their Bowes and Arrows, and in a triumphant manner led him to Orapaks, where he was after their manner kindly Feafted, and well us'd.

Their order in conducting him was thus; Drawing themfelves all in Fyle, the King in the midft had all their Bowes and Swords borne before him. Captain Smith was led after him by three great Salvages, holding him falt by each Arm; and on each fide fix went in Fyle with their Arrows nocked. But arriving at the Town (which was but onely thirty or forty Hunting Houles made o: Mats, which they remove as they pleafe, as we our Tents) all the Women and Children ftaring and gazing at him, the Souldiers firft all in Fyle wheel'd off to the Rear in good Order; on each Flank were Officers, like Serjeants to fee them keep their Poftures: A good time they continu'd this Exercife, and then caft themfelves in a Ring, Dancing in fuch feveral Poftures, and finging and yelling out fuch hellifh Notes and Screeches; being frangely Painted, every one his Qiiiver of Arrows, and at his Back a Club; on his Arm a Fox or an Otterssskin, or fome fuch matter for his vambrace; their Heads ànd Shoulders Painted red, with $\mathrm{O}^{\prime \prime} 1$ and Pocones mingled together, which Scarlet-like colour, made an exceeding handlome fhow; his Bowe in his Hand, and the Skin of a Bird with her Wings abroad dry'd, ty'd on his Head, a piece of Copper, a white Shell, a long Feather, with a fmall Rattle growing at the Tails of their Snaks ty'd to it, or fome fuch like Toy. Ail this while Smith and the King food in the midf, guarded, as before is faid, and after three Dances they all departed. Smith they conducted to a long Houfe, where chirty or forty tall Fel. lows did guard him, and e're long, more Bread and Venifon was brought him than would have ferv'd ewenty Men, I think his Stomack at that time was not very good; what he left, they put in Baskets and ty'd over his Head. About mid. night they fet the Meat again before him ; all this time none of them would eat 2 bit with him, till the next Morning they brought him as much more, and then did they eat all the old, and referv'd the new as they had done the other, which made him think they would feed him for flaughter: Yet in this defperate eftate to fend him from the cold, one Maocaffater brought him his Gown, in requital of fome Beads and Toys Smith had given him at his firft arrival in Virginia.

Two days after a man would have flain him (but that the Guard prevented it) for the death of his Son, to whom they conducted him to recover the poor man then breathing his laft. Smitb told them, that at fames.Town he had a Water would do it, if they would let him fetch it, but they would not permit that ; but made all the preparations they could to affault fames-Town, craving his advice, and for res. compence he fhould have Life, Liberty, Land, and Women. In part of a Table. book he writ his mind to them at the Fort, what was intended, how they fhould follow that direction to affright the meffengers, and without fail fend him fuch things as he writ for, and an Inventory with them. The difficulty and danger, he rold the Salvages, of the Mines, great Guns, and other Engines, exceedingly affrighted them, yet according to his Requeft they went to James=Toron, in as bitter weather as could be of Froft and Snow, and within three days return'd with an An. fiwer.

- But when they came to fames-Town, féeing Men fally out as he had told them they would, they fled; yet in the night they came again to the fame place where he had told them they flould receive anfwer, and fuch things as he had promis'd them, which they found accordingly, and with which they return'd with no fmall expedition, to the wonder of them all, fuppofing that he could either Divine, or the Paper could fpeak : then they led him to the Youtbtanunds, the Mattapanients, the Payankatanks, the Nantaugbtacunds, and Onamomanients upon the Rivers of Rapabanock, and Patanomek, through intricate ways, and back again by divers other feveral Na= tions, to the Kings Habitation at Pamaunkee, where they entertain'd him with moft ftrange and fearful Conjurations. Not long after, early in the Morning, a great fire was made in a long Houfe, and a Mat fpread on each fide thereof; on the one they caus'd him fit, and all the Guard went out of the Houfe, and prefently there came skipping in a great grim Fellow, all Painted over with Coal, mingled with Oyl ; and many Snakes and Weefels-skins ftuff'd with Mofs, and all their Tails ty'd together, fo as they met on the Crown of his Head in a Taffel; and round about the Taffel was a Coronet of Feathers, the Skins hanging round about his Head, Back, and Shoulders, and in a manner cover'd his Face; with a hell: $T_{2}$ voice, and a Rattle in his Hand. With moft ftrange geftures and paffions he began his Invocation, and environ'd the fire with a Circle of Meal; which done, three more fuch like Devils came rufhing in with the like antique Tricks, Painted half black, half red; but all their Eyes were Painted white, and fome red Atrokes like Mutchato's, along their Cheeks : round about him thofe Fiends Danc'd a pretty while, and then came in three more as ugly as the reft, with red Eyes, and white ftrokes over their black Faces ; at laft they all fate down right againft him, three of them on the one hand of the chief Prieft, and three on the other; then all with their Rattles began a Song, which ended, the chief Prieft laid down five Wheat Corns, then fretching his Arms and Hands with fuch violence, that he - fweat, and his Veins fwell.'d, he began a fhort Oration : at the conclufion, they all gave a fhort groan, and then laid down three Grains more; after that, began their Song again, and then another Oration, ever laying down fo many Corns as before, till they had twice incircled the Fire ; that done, they took a bunch of litthe Sticks, prepared for that purpofe, continuing fill their Devotion, and at the end of every Song and Oration, they laiddown a Stick between the Divifions of Corn: till night, neither he nor they did either eat or drink, and then they feafted merrily, with the beft Provifions they could make: Three days they us'd this Ceremony, the meaning whereof they told him, was to know if he intended them well, or no. The Circle of Meal fignifid their Countrey, the Circles of Corn the bounds of the Sea, and the Sticks his Countrey. They imagin'd the World to be flat and round, like a Trencher, and they in the midft. After this they brought him a Bag of Gun-powder, which they carefully preferv'd till the next Spring, to Plant as they did their Corn, becaufe they would be acquainted with the nature of that Seed. Opitchapam, the King's Brother, invited him to his Houfe, where, with as many Platters of Bread, Fowl, and wild Beafts, as did environ him, he bid him well. come, but not any of them would eat a bit with him, but put up all the remainder in Baskets. At his return to Opechancanoughs, all the Kings Women, and their Children, flock'd about him for their Parts, as a due by Cuftom, to be merry with fuch Fragments.

At laft, they brought him to Meronocomoco, where was Powhatan their Emperor. Here more than two hundred of thofe grim Courtiers food wondering at him, as be had been a Monfter; till Powbatan and his Train had put themfelves in their greatelt-Braveries. Before a Fire, upon a feat like a Bedfted, he fit cover'd with a great Robe, made of Rarompun-Skins, and all the Tails hanging by. On either hand did fit a young Maid, of fixteen or eighteen years of Age, and along on each fide the Houfe, two rows of Men, and behind them as many Women, with all their Heads and Shoulders Painted red; many of their, Heads bedeck'd with the white Doun of Birds, but every one with fomething, and a great Chain of white Beads about their Necks. At his entrance before the Emperor, all the People gave a great flout. The Queen of Appamatuck was appointed to bring him Water to wafh his Hands, and another brought him a bunch of Feathers, in ftead of a Towel to dry them : Having Feafted him after their barbarous manner as well as they could, a long confultation was held, but in conclufion, two great Stones being brought before Powbatan, as many as could, laid Hands on him, dragg'd him to them, and thereon laid his Head, when being ready with their Clubs, to beat out his Brains, Pocabontas, the Emperors deareft Daughter, feeing no intreaty could prevail, got his Head in her Arms, and laid her own upon his to fave him from death; whereat, the Emperor was contented he fhould live to make him Hatchets, and her Bells, Beads, and Copper; for they thought him a Man of all Occupations like them. felves; for the King himfelf will make his own Robes, Shoes, Bowes, Arrows, Pots, Plant, Hunt, or do any thing as well as the reft.

Two days after, Powhatan having difguis'd himfelf in the moft fearful mannef he could, caus'd Captain Smith to be brought forth to a great Houfe in the Woods, and there upon a Mat by the Fire to be left alone. Not long after, from behind a Mat that divided the Houfe, was made the moft doleful noife he ever heard; then Poobbatan, more like a Devil than a Man, with about two hundred more as black as himfelf, came unto him, and told him, That now they were Friends, and prefently he fhould go to fames-Town, to-fend him two great Guns and a Grindftone, for which he would give him the Countrey of Capabowofick, and for ever efteem him as his Son Nantaquoud. So to James-Town with twelve Guides Powbatan fent him. That Night they Quarter'd in the Woods, he fill expecting (as he had done all this long time of his Imprifonment) every hour to be put to one Death or other, for all their Feafting : but Almighty God (by his Divine Providence) had mollifid the Hearts of thofe ftern Barbarians with compafion. The next Morning betimes they came to the Fort, where Smith having us'd the Salvages with what kind* nefs he could, he fhew'd Ravbunt, Powhatan's trufty Servant, two Demi-Culverins and 2 Milftone, to carry to Powbatan: they found them fomewhat too heavy; but when they faw him Difcharge them, they being loaded with Stones, amongt the Boughs of a great Tree loaded with Ifickles, the Ice and Branches came fo tumbling down, that the poor Salvages ran away half dead with Fear. But at laft we regain'd fome Conference with them, and gave them fome Toys, and fent to Powhs$t a n$ 's Women and Children fuch Prefents, as gave them in general, full content.

Sect. V.

Carolina.

CArolina is that part of Florida which lies between twenty nine and thirty fix simation and Degrees and thirty Minutes of Northern Latitude : It is waflh'd on the of farrorimp. Eaft and South, with the Atlantick Ocean ; on the Weft with Mare Pacificum, or the South Sea; and on the North, bounds on Virginia. A Countrey wherein Nature fhews how bountiful the can be without the affiftance of Art, the Inhabitants (excepting a little Maizwhich their old Men and Women Plant) depending meerly on the natural and fpontaneous Growth of the Soil for their Provifions, the Woods furnifhing them with fore of Fruit and Venifon, and the Rivers with plenty of feveral forts of wholfom and favory Fifli.

This Maintenance, which without forecaft or toil they receive from the natural fruitfulnefs of the Countrey, will, if we confider either the largenefs of their Growth, or the duration of their Lives, be thought neither fcanty nor unhealthy, their Stature being of a larger fize than that of Englijhemen, their Make frong and well proportion'd, a crooked or mif-fhapen Perfon being not to be found in the whole Countrey; and (where the chance of War, which chey are almoft continually engag'd in one againft another in their little Governments, Spares any of them) they live to an incredible old age; fo that when the Englifh came there, they found fome of their Kings, who faw defcend from them the fixth Generation.

The Soil is very rich and fertile, producing naturally Walnuts, Grapes (of Produtions which the Englijh who are there Planted have made very good Wine) Apricocks, of the Soli: Bullys, with a multicude of orhers; befides the Woods alfo are full of very good Peaches, and all the Seafon of the Year Arew'd all over with Strawberries. Mul. berry-Trees are the common growth of the Woods; and to affure you they are the natural Offspring of the Place, and grow to an incredible bignefs, one whereof the Englifh (who are new Planted at Albemarle Point on Afhley River) made ufe to faften the Gate of their Pallifado to, was folarge, that all who came from thence fay, they never faw any Oak in England bigger, which is but the ordinary fize of the Mul-berry-Trees of this Countrey, which is fo fure an Argument of the richnefs of the Soil, that the Inhabitants of Virginia enquiring of the Seamen who came from thence, concerning the Quality and Product of the Countrey, when they were inform'd of the large Mulberry. Trees it produc'd, were fo well fatisfid with it, that they made no farther Enquiry. There are alfo other Trees, as Afh, Poplar, and Bay, with feveral forts unknown to us of Europe; but thofe which make it almoft all one general Forreft of large Timber.Trees, are Oak, both red and white, and Cedar. There arealfo here and there large Groves of Pine-Trees, fome a hundred Foot high, which afford a better fort of Maft than are to be had either in MaryLand or Norway. Thefe larger Trees weaving their luxuriant Branches into a clofe Shade, fuffer no Under-wood to grow between them, either by their Droppings, or elfe the Heads of Deer which loofening all the tender Shoots, quite deffroy ir; fo. that a great part of the Countrey is as it were a vaft Forreft of fine Walks, free from the heat of the Sun, or the incumbrance of Shrubs and Bufhes, and fo clear and open, that a Man may eafily ride a Hunting amongft the Trees, yielding a Profpect very pleafant and furpaffing. On the Skirts of thefe Woods grow leffer Trees and Shrubs of feveral forts; amongft them are fundry Dying Materials, which how well the Inhabitants know how to make ufe of, appears in the Deer-Skins that the chief of them wear, which are Painted, or rather Dy'd, with Ceveral lively Colours. But amongft their Shrubs, one of moft note and ufe is that whofe Leaves make their Cafini, a Drink they frequently ufe, and affirm to be very advantageous for the prefervation of Health; which, by the defcription our Englifh give of the fize, colour, and fhape of the Leaf, the fort of Tree it grows;on; and the tafte, colour, and effects of the Drink, which is nothing but the Decoction of the Leaf, feems to be the very fame with the Eaf-India TEE, and by thofe who have feen and tafted both, affirm'd to be no other, and may very probably be a fpontaneous and native Plant of this Place, fince thofe who give us an account of it, tell us, that this fo much valu'd Leaf grows moft plentifully in Nanking, a Province in China under the very, fame Latitude, and very much agreeing in Soil and Situation with this of Carolina.

What Herbs elfe the Countrey produces, the Englifh Enquirers (who by minding their Plantations and Settlement there, have been taken off from fuch unprofitable Actions) give us but little account, onely they fay, that thofe Plats of Ground which have been formerly clear'd off by the Indians for the Planting their Corn, they found thick cover'd with three-leav'd Grafs and Dazies, which the fertility of the Soil thrufts forth, whenever the Natives remove their Tillage to fome other place, and leave the Earth to its own production; and in other parts they found plenty of Garden Herbs growing wild. The low and Moorifh Grounds are for the moft part overgrown with Sedge and Reeds, and fuch other Trafh, which ufually incumbers rich and uncultivated Lands; thofe they call Swamfas, which with a little Husbandry would prove very good Meadows. There are alfo fome large and pleafant Savanas, or graffy Plains.

Thefe are a part of the Trees and Plants beft known to us, that Nature of her felf produces, in a Soil which contrives and nourifhes any thing. The Englifh who are now Planted in the moft Northern parts of it, at Albemarle, bordering on Virginia, have Apples, Pears, Cherries, Apricocks, Plumbs, and Water-Melons, equalling, and if you will believe the Inhabitants, both in largenefs of fize and goodnefs of tafte, exceeding any in Ewrope. And they who are Setled farther South on Afhley River, have found that the Oranges, Lemmons, Pomegranates, Limes, Pomecitrons, ©c. which they Planted there, have thriven beyond expectation; and there is nothing which they have put into the Earth, that through any defect in the Soil, hath fail'd to profper.

Befides thofe things which do ferve to fatisfie Hunger, or provoke it, the Land Commodidoth with great return prodece Indigo, Ginger, Tobacco, Corton, and other Com. Countrey. modities fit to fend abroad and furnifh foreign Markets; and when a little time fhall have brought thofe kind of Plants to maturity, and given the Inhabitants leifure to furnifh themfelves with Conveniences for ordering thofe things aright, the Trials that they have already made of the Soil and its fitnefs for fuch Plantations, affure you, that befides Silk, enough to fore Europe, and a great many other confiderable Commodities, they fhall have as great plenty of good Wine and $\mathrm{Oyl}_{;}$as any part of the World.

The Mould is generally black, mellow, and upon handling feels fofr, and (to ufe their Expreffion who have been there) Coapy, and is generally all over the Countrey juft like the fine Mould of our well order'd Gardens. Under this black Earth, which is of a good thicknefs in moft places that they have try'd, there lies a Bed of Marle, and in fome parts Clay.

The Rivers are ftor'd with plenty of excellent Fifh of feveral forts, which are taken with great eafe in abundance, and are one great part of the Natives Provifion, who are never like to want this Recruit, in a Countrey fo abounding in large Rio vers, there being in that one fmall Tract between Port Rafal and Cape Carteret, which are not one Degree diftant, five or fix great Navigable Rivers, that empty themfelves into the Sea. Thefe Rivers are alfo cover'd with Flocks of Ducks and Mallard, whereof millions are feen together, befides Cranes, Herons, Geefe, Curlews, and other Water-Fowl, who are fo eafie to be kill'd, that onely rifing at the difcharge and noife of a Gun, they inftandly light again in the fame place, and prefently offer a frefh Mark to the Fowler. At the Mouths of the Rivers, and along the Sea.Coaft, are Beds of Oyfters, which are of a longer Make than thofe in Europe, but very well tafted, wherein are often found good large Pearls, which though the unskilful Indians by wafhing the Oyfters do commonly difcolour, and fpoil their luftre, yet 'tis not to be doubted, but if rightly order'd, there will be found many of value, and the Fifhing for them turn to fome account.

Befides the eafie Provifions which the Rivers and Sea afford, their Woods are well ftock'd with Deer, Rabbets, Hares, Turtle.Doves, Phefants, Partridges, and an infinite number of Wood-Pigeons and wild Turkies, which are the ordinary Difhes of the Indians, whofe Houfe-kecping depends on their Fifhing and Hunting, and who have found it no ill way of Living in fo fertile a Countrey, to truft themfelves without any labor or forecaft, to the Supplies which are there provided to their hands, without the continual trouble of Tillage and Husbandry. Befides, thefe Woods are fill'd with innumerable variety of fmaller Birds, as different in their Notes as Kinds.

The Temperature of this Province is agreeable to a Countrey, whofe Pofition is on the warmer fide of the temperate Zone, but yet the Heat is not fo fultry nor offenfive, as in Places under the fame Latitude in the Old World ; to which moderation of Heat, as well as the healthinefs of it, the vaft Allantick Ocean, lying to che Eaft and South of it, may perhaps not a little contribute, an inftance whereof fome think China to be ; to which defervedly admir'd Countrey Carolina exactly anfwers in its Pofition and Latitude, the trending from North-Eaft to South-Weft of its Coaft, and the lownefs of its Shore, and wants nothing but Inhabitants, to make it equal, if not excell, in all conveniences of Life, as it doth in richnefs of Soil, that flourifhing Empire. The healchinefs of the Air is fuch, that it is not onely benign and favorable to the home-bred Indians, and Conftiturions accuftom'd to it, but the Englifh-men who firf Planted on Ahley River, though for fome other Conveniences they Planted on the fide, or almoft middle of a Morafs, and were encompafs'd with a falt Marfh, where the Air, pent up with Woods that furrounded them, had not that freedom it hath in open and cultivated Countreys, yet loft not in a whole years time, of a confiderable number, any one Perfon, of any Difeafe to be imputed to the Countrey, thofe few that dy'd in that time finking under lingring Diftempers which they brought with chem, and had almoft worn them out before they came thither. The Bermudians (who being accuftom'd to the pure Air of their own Ifland, cannot without hazard of their Lives put themfelves into any other Place) affur'd of the healthinefs of this Place, which is the next Land to them, and under the fame Latitude, venture hither. And generally all the Englifh Planting in the Weforndies, are fo taken with the Conveniences of this Countrey; which, as fome of the moft confiderable of the Englijh in thofe Parts fay of it, prö. mifes all that the Heart of Man can wifh, that they fend the overplus of their People hither; to which the Inhabitants of Barbados, a skilful and wary fort of $\mathrm{Plan-}$ ters, well knowing in all the parts of the Weft-Indies, have been found to remove the Hands they could fpare. As the Summer is not intolerably nor offenfively hot, fo the Winter is not troublefom nor pinching, but enough to correct the Humors of Mens Bodies, the better to ftrengthen them, and preferve their Healths, and fo far to check the growth of Plants, that by this fop they may put out more regularly, and the Corn and other Fruits the better ripen together, and be ready feafonably at the.Harveft, the want whereof in fome Countreys hinders the beneficial Growth of feveral valuable Commodities, the continual Spring all the year long making that their Crops are never ready, their Trees being laden with green and ripe Fruit at the fame time, which is to be feen in the Vines growing between the Tropicks, where, though they bear excellent Grapes, yet they cannot make any Wine, whileft the mixture of ripe and fowre Grapes upon the fame Branch, renders them unfit for the Prefs, which from Grapes fo blended, though of a good kind, would fqueeze out a very crude and ufelefs Liquor. This alfo is the reafon why many Parts where our Wheat will grow very well, do yet lofe the benefit of it, whileft the fe. veral Ears ripening unequally, never make the Crop fit for the Sickle. But this Countrey hath Winter enough to remove that Inconvenience, and to put fuch a fop to the Rife of the Sap, and the Budding of Plants, as to make the feveral kinds of Fruits Bud and Bloffom in their diftinct Seafons, and keep even pace till they are fit to be gather'd.
To this happy Climate the native Inhabitants are very well fuited, a ftrong; lufty, and well fhap'd People, who to their well knit and active Bodies, want not ftout and vigorous Minds; they are a People of a good Undertanding, well Humor'd, and generally fo juft and Honeft, that they may feem to have no nottice of, as their Language hath no word for, Difhonefty and Cheating; and the worft Name they have for ill Men is, that they are not good. They are a fout and va. liant People, which appears in the conftant Wars they are engagd in, not out of covetoufnefs, and a defire of ufurping others Poffeffions, or to enrich themfelves by the Spoils of their Neighbors, but upon a pitch of Honor, and for the glory of Vie ctory, which is their greateft joy, there being no parts of their Lives wherein they enjoy fo much fatisfaction, and give themfelves fo wholly to Jollity, as in their Triumphs after Vietory: Valor therefore is the Vertue they mof efteem and reward, and he which hath behav'd himielf well in the Wars, is fuffer'd to wear the Badges of Honor, and is advanc'd beyond others with fome Marks of his Courage; which amongft fome is blacking the Skin below his Eyes with black Lead, in fathion fomething of an Half-Moon; which Mark of Courage is not fuffer'd to be worn by any, but thofe who by fome brave Action, as killing the Ene. my's Leader, orc. hath fignaliz'd himfelf in their Encounters. They are faithful to their Promifes, fair and candid in their Dealings, and fo far from Difhonefty, that they want even the Seeds of it, viz. Forecaft and Covetoufnefs; and he will be very litele apt to deceive you to Day, who troubles not himfelf much about to Morrow, and crufts fox the Provifions of the Day to the Day it Celf; which proceeds not in them for want of Wit, butdefire of Content and Quice, or by the help of their natural Reafon they enjoy that Happinefs which the Philofophers could not by their Study and Reading attain to, whileft thefe Men cut off thofe Defires which Learning could never help the other to Govern; and which if once permitted to run out beyond the prefent, are capable of no Reft nor Bounds. In their Converfation they are courteous and civil, and in their Vifits make Prefents to one another; when they meet, their way of Salutation is Atroaking on the Shoulders, and fucking in their Breath; and if he be a great Man whom they Salute, they ftroak his Thighstoo ; as civil an Addrefs, as thofe Patterns of good Breeding, the Hero's, us'd to their Princes, who in their greateft Courthips, we are told, em. brac'd their Knees : After their Salutation they fit down; and it is ufual with them to fit ftill almoft a quarter of an hour before they fpeak, which is not an effect of fupidity or fullennefs, but the accuftom'd Gravity of their Countrey; for they are in their Tempers a merry, frollick, gay People, and fo given to Jollity, that they will Dance whole Nightstogether, the Women fitting by and Singing, whileft the Men Dance to their Ayrs, which though not like ours, are not harfh or unpleafing, but are fomething like the Tunes of the Irijh: So that if we will not let our felves too fondly admire onely the Cuftoms we have been bred up in, nor think Men are to be valu'd for making Legs after our Mode, or the Clothes they wear, which, the finer and gayer they are, always the more to be fufpected of Luxury and Effeminatenefs; if we will allow but thefe Men to follow the Garbs of their own Countrey, and think them fine enough in a flape onely to hide their Nakednefs before, or a Deer skin hanging loofely on their Shoulders, and their Women not ill Dress'd in Garments of Mofs, and Necklaces of Beads, whileft the Fafhion of their Courts require no other Ornaments; if, I fay, a long and pleafant Life, without Diftemper or Care, be to be valu'd, without the incumbrance of unneceffary Trinkets; if Men are to be efteem'd for Valor, Honefty, Friendfhip, Hus manity and good Nature, though Strangers to the ceremonious Troubles we are accuftom'd to, the Natives of Carolina will as little, or perhaps lefs, deferve the Name of Miferable, or Salvage, as thofe that give it them. 'Tis true, the French and Spaniards who have Planted amongft them, or with little Armies travell'd their Countrey, bave been ill handled by them; but yet the Indians never did them any harm, or treated them otherwife than Friends, till thofe Europeans by their breach of Faith and feveral Outrages, had provok'd their juft Revenge; and they did nothing but what moft vertuousand generous fort of Men are apt to do, to revenge thofe Affronts, which did not agree with their Tempers tamely to endure. That this did not proceed from treachery and inconftancy in their Natures, is apparent in the contrary Correfpondence they have had with the Enolifh Setled amongft them, to whom they have been all along very kind, as they were at firft very covetous of their Company; for after that fome of their King's Relation had been at Barbados, and had'feen and admir'd the Temper, Fafhions, and Strength of the Englifh there, and had been very civilly Treated in that Inland, they were fo well fatisfid with them, that at the coming of the Englifh to Settle there, the feveral little Kingdoms ftrove with all the Arrs and Arguments they could ufe, each of them to draw the Englifh to Plant in their Dominions, by commending the richnefs of their Soil, conveniency of their Rivers, the healthinels of their Countrey, the difparagement of their Neighbors, and whatever elfethey judg'd might allure the Englifh to their Neighborhood. Nor was this onely the firft heat of Men fond of Novelties, and as foon weary of them again, but ever fince the Englifh firft Planted at Albenarle Point, on Ahley River, they have continu'd to do them all manner of friendly Offices, ready on all occafions to fupply them with any thing they have obferv'd them to want, not making ufe of our Mens Neceffities, as an opportunity to enhance the Price of their Commodities, a fort of fair Dealing we could fearce have promis'd them amongtt civiliz'd, well bred, and religious Inhabitants of any part of Errope; and though they are much frighted with our Guns, both fmall and great, yet like innocent and well-meaning People, they do not at all diftruft our Power, but freely, without fufpicion, truft themfelves, both Men and Women, even their Kings themfelves, in our Town, Lodging and Dancing there frequently whole Nights together, upon no other Pledges but the bare confidence of our mutual Friendfhip; nor do our Men ufe any greater caution in Converfing with them, ftragling up and down, and travelling fingly and unarm'd through their Woods for many Miles about, and are fo far from receiving any injury or ill treatment from them, chat on the contrary they are kindly us'd and Entertain'd, and guided by them in their Way whenever they defire it; and when any of our Men meet them in their Walks, the Indians all ftand fill till they are gone by, civilly Saluting them as they pafs. Nor doth this Affurance of theirs bound it felf within their own Homes, they of their own accords venturing themfelves aboard our Ships, have gone voluntarily with our Men to Virginia and Barbados. Nor have the Englijh been wanting on their parts in any thing that may preferve this Amity, being very cautious of doing them any injury, bartering with them for thofe things they receive of them, and buying of them even the wafte Land they make no ufe of.

Befides the fimplicity of the Indians Diet, it is very remarkable, that they have a general averfion to thofe two things which are moft acceptable to our Palates, and without which few of us either eat or drink with any delight ; for in their Meats they cannot endure the leaft mixture or rellifh of Salt; and for their Drink, they utterly abominate all manner of ftrong Liquor ; to the latter whereof, their large Growth and conftant Health, is perhaps not a little owing.
Their manner of Govertr. ment.

Every little Town is a diftinct Principality, Govern'd by an Hereditary King, who in fome places is not Son, but Sifters Son to the precedent King, the Succeffion of the Blood.Royal being continu'd by the fafer fide. The great Bufinefs of thofe Princes is to lead their Men out againft their Enemies in War, or againft the Beafts in Hunting ; for unlefs it be to appoint them where to Hunt, or elfe to Confult about making fome Attempt upon their Enemy, he hath but fmall trouble in the Government of his Subjects, who either through their own Honefty, or the few occafions they have for Controverfies in their extempore way of Living, need few Laws, and little Severity to keep them in order; but yet they Govern their People without Contràt, and fail not of a ready Obedience to their Commands; fo that when fome of them have bought things of fuch of the English, who by the Orders made amongft our felves were not to Traffick with the Indians, they have, upon Complaint made to their Cafiques, been reftor'd again, though in ftrict Rules of Law they were neither bound by, nor oblig'd to take notice of the Rules which were made onely to Govern our own People, and had at juft Prices bought what they carry'd away; fuch is the Honefty of Men, whole Principles not being core rupted with Learning and Diftinction, are contented to follow the Diftates of right Reafon, which Nature has fufficiently taught all Men for the well ordering of their Actions, and enjoyment and prefervation of humane Society, who do not give themfelves up to be amus'd and deceiv'd by infignificant Terms, and minding what is juft and right, feek not Evafions in the Niceties and Fallacies of Words.

The fame is to be faid of the firft Difcovery of this Countrey, as hath been formerly faid of Virginia and Florida, of both which it partakes; but as to the prefent paraned ty Intereft and Propriety, the Enolijh, befides all Virginia intirely, have alfo fo much ferer ferfois of Florida as makes up this confiderable Province of Carolina, which foon after the by fis Maz happy Reftauration of His prefent Majefty King Charles II. from whom it receives Denomination, was granted by Patent to Edward Earl of Clarendon, L. Chancellor of England, George Duke of Albemarle, William Earl of Craven, Foln Lord Berkley, Anthony Lord A/hley, Sir George Carteret, Vice-Chamberlain of His Majefty's Houfhold, Sir William Berkley, Knight and Baronet, and Sir Jobn Colleton, Knight and Baronet.

The Lords-Proprietors of this Countrey, for the better Settlement of it accord. ing to their Patent granted unto them by His Majefty, and for the enlargement of the King's Dominions in thofe parts of America, have been at great Charge to fecure this forich and advantageous a Countrey to the Crown of England, to whom of an. cient Right, by the Difcovery of Sir Sebaftian Cabott in the time of Henry the Seventh, it doth belong,and for its Situation, Fertility, Neighborhood to our other Plantations and feveral other Conveniences, of too valuable confideration to be negligently 1oft: By the Care therefore and Endeavors of thofe Great Men, it hath now two Their care confiderable Colonies Planted in it, the one of Albemarle, on the North fide, border, ford seling ing on Virginia, where are fome hundreds of Englifh Families remov'd thither ving of thition from Nero England, and fome of our other Plantations in the Weff-Indies; and another towards the middle of the Countrey, at Cbarles-Town, or Aßhley-River, a Settlement fo hopeful, for the healthinefs of the Land, and convenience of accefs by a large deep Navigable River, and fo promifing in its very Infancy, that many of the rich Inhabitants of Barbados and Bermudas, who are now crowded up in thofe flourifhing Iflands, and many in our other American Plantations, are turning their Eyes and Thoughts this way, and have already remov'd part of their Stock and Servants thither. Nor is it to be doubred, but that many, following the Example of thofe who went to Albemarle, will be drawn to this better Plantation at Afhley: River, from Nevp-England, where the heat of their Zeal, and the coldnefs of the Air, doth not agree with every Man's Conftitution; and therefore it is to be thought, that many well temper'd Men, who are not much at eafe under fuch Extreams, will be forward to remove hither.

The Lords:Proprietors, for the comfortable fubfiftence, and future enrichment Fair Terms of all thofe who fhall this Year 1671. Tranfport themfelves and Servants thither, proposd to allow every Man a hundred Acres per Head, for himfelf, his Wife, Children and thinbere. Servants, he carries thither, to him and his Heirs for ever, paying onely one Peny. an Acre, as a ChiefeRent; which Peny an Acre is not to be paid thefe nineteen years; and thofe Servants who go along thither with their Mafters, fhall each alfo have a hundred Acres upon the fame Terms, when he is out of his Time. But though thefe Conditions are very advantageous, and the Countrey promifes to the Planter Health, Plenty and Riches at a cheap Rate, yet there is one thing that makes this Plantation more valuable than all thefe, and that is the fecure poffeffion of all thefe things, things with as great certainty as the fate of humane Affairs, and the tranfient things of this Life are capable of, in a well continu'd Form of Government, wherein it is made every Man's Intereft to preferve the Rights of his Neighbor with his own ; and thofe who bave the greateft Power, have it limited to the Service of the Countrey, the Good and Welfare whereof whileft they preferve and promote, they cannot mifs of their own, the Lords. Proprietors having no other aim, than to be the greateft Men in a Countrey where every one may be happy if it be not his own fault, it being almoft as uncomfortable, and much more unfafe, to be Lord over, than Companion of a miferable, unhappy, and difcontented Society of Men.

With this Defign the Lords-Proprietors, who are at great Charge for carrying on this Plantation, have put the framing of a Government into the Hands of one, whofe Parts and Experience in Affairs of Stateare univerfally agreed on, and who is by all Men allow'd to know what is convenient for the right ordering Men in Society, and fetling a Government upon fuch Foundations, as may be equal, rate, and lafting; and to this hath a Soul large enough to wifh well to Mankind, and to defire, that all the People where he hath to do inight be happy. My Lord Alpley therefore, by the confent of his Brethren, the reft of the Lords Proprictors, hath drawn up, to theirgeneral fatisfaction, fome fundamental Conftitutions, which arefince, by their joynt approbation, confirm'd to be the Model and Form of Government in the Province of Carolina; the main Defign and Ballance thereof (according to the beft of my memory, having had a Copy thereof) in (hort is as followeth :

The Alodel
drawa up by the Lord Afh ley for th: Governmen of Carelina.

13Very County is to confift of forty fquare Plots, each containing twelve thoufand Acres. Of Eight more of thefe fquare Plots are Proprietors is to have one, which is to be call'd a Siguiory. a Landgrave, who is to have four of them; and two cafiques, who are to have each of then two apiece; and thefe fquare Plots belonging to the Nobility, are to be call'd Baronies.. The other twenty four fquare Plots, call'd Colonies, are to be the Poffefion of the People: And this Method is to be ebfervid in the Planting and Setting out of the whole Countrey; fo that one Fifth of the Land is to be in the Proprietors, one Fifth in the Nobility, and three Fifths in the People,
2. The Signories and Baronics, that is, the hereditary Linds belonging to the Proprietors and Nobility, are all entirely to defcend to their Heirs, with the Digrity, without power of alienation, more than for three Lives, or one and twenty years, or two Thirds of their Signiories and Baronies, and the reft to be Demefne.
3. There will be alfo fome Mannors in the Colonies, but none lefs than three thoufand Acres in a piece, which, like the reft ot the Colony Lands, will be alienable, onely with this difference, that it cannot be parcell'd out, but if fold, it muft be altogether.
4. There is to be a Biennial Parliament, confifting of the eight Proprietors, the Landgrayes and Cafiques, and one out of every Precinct, that is the fix neighboring Colonies, for the People, cholen by the Freeholders; thefe are to fit and Vote alcogether for the making of Laws, which fhall be in fotce no longer than fixty years after their Enacting, the great mifchief of moft Governments, by which not onely the People are mightily entangled by multiplicity of Rules and Penalties, and thereby laid opentu the Malice and Defigns of troublefom Men and cunning Projectors; but, which is far worfe, the whole frame of the. Government in tract of time comes to be remov'd from its origio nal Foundation, and thereby becomes more weak and tottering.
5. There are eight fupream Courts for the difpatch of all publick Affairs; the firft confifts of the Palatine, who is the eldeft of the Proprietors, and hath power to call Parliaments, and difpofe of publick Offices. The other feven fupream Courts are, 1. The chief Juffices for the detcrmining of Controvelfies of Meums and Trum, and judging of Criminals. 2. The Chancellors, for paffing of Charters, and managing the State Matters of the Province. 3. The High-Conftables, for Military Affairs. 4. The Admirals, for Maritime Affairs. 5. The High-Stewards, for Trade. 6. The Treafurers, for the publick Stuck; and 7. The Chamberlains, for Ceremonies, Fafhions, Marriages, Burials, foc. Thefe sre the feven fupream Courts, to whom lies the ultimate Appeal in all Caufes belonging to them. Each of thefe Courts confifts of one Proprietor, and fix other Councellors, whereof two are chofen by the Nobility, and two by the People. All the number of thefe eight Courts joynd together make the Grand Council, which are in the nature of a Council of Staie, and are entrufted with the managenent of Affairs of greateft concernment. There is alfo in every County a Couit, and in every Precinft another ; from the Precinct Court there lies an Appeal to the County Court, and from the Connty Court to the Proprietors Court, to which the Matter in queftion belongs, and there is the laft decifion and determination thereof, without any farther Appeal. And to keep the People from the Charges and vexation of long Suits, to the enriching of Men cunning in Words, care is taken, that no ciaufe flall be Try'd morethan once in any one Court, and that profefs'd Pleaders for Money fhall not be allow'd.

Liberty of Confcience is hereallo allow'd in the greateft latitude, but yet fo, that neither Atheifts, or Men of :1o Religion, are permitted; Atheifm, Irreligion, and vicious Lives being condemn'd, as difagreeable ro humane Nature, inconfiftent with Government and Societies, and deftructive to all that is ufeful to, or becoming of Mankind; as on the other hand, rigorous Impofing of, and hot Contentions about the Ceremonies and Circumftances of Religion, is an occafion of perpetual Strife, Faction and Divifion, keeps Men from Pedate and temperate Enquiries after Truth, eats out the great Cement of humane Converfation, charity, and cannot be found in any one, who bath but modefly enough to think himfelf lefs than a Pope, and fhort of Infallibility.

There is alfo to be a Regifter of all Grants and Conveyances of Land, to prevent even the occafions of Controverfies and Law-Suits.
There are feveral other lefs confiderable Particulars in this Government, all contriv'd and de. fign'd for the good and welfare of the People; all which are fo well put together, and in fuch equal proportion ballance each other, that fome judicious Men who have feen it, fay, it is the beft and faireft Frame, for the well-being of thofe who fhall live under it, of any they have feen or read of.

Florida.

SOuth-Weft of Virginia lieth the fpacious Countrey of Florida, remarkable hi. therto rather by the great pains which the Spaniards have taken, and the ill

Situation and Bounds: Succeffes they have met with in the difcovery and fearch of this Province, than by any thing elfe they have difcover'd in it anfwerable to their defires. On the Eaft it hath the Atlantick Ocean, or Mare del Nordt; on the South, and South-Weft, the Gulph of Mexico and Mare Virginium ; and full Weft, part of New Gallicia, and fome other Countreys, not yet perfectly known.

This Countrey is alfo one of thofe, faid to have been firft of all difcover'd by Sir Sebaftian Cabot, at the Charges of the King of England, about the Year 1497. but afterwards more throughly fearch'd into by Joln Ponce de Leon, a Spaniard, who in the Year 1512. Fet Sail with three Ships out of the Haven St. German in Porto Rico, Norths Weft to the Ifles Del Veio, Caycos, Yaguna, Amaguyao, Manegua, and Guanabani, firft difcover'd by (hrijfopher Colonus, and call'd St. Salvador : After that Steer'd NorthWeft by a Coaft, which (becaufe of its pleafant profpect) was calld Florida, or (according to the more common Opinion) becaule it was on PalmsSunday, which the Spaniards call Pafcba de Flores, or Pafcha Florida) that he Landed here: And to find out a Haven he kept fight of the Shore, which appear'd South-Weft from him. Here the Ships met with fo ftrong a Tide, that notwithftanding they had a frefh Gale of Wind, yet could they not ftem it ; one of the Ships was driven to Sea out of fight; the other two cafting Anchor, which raking, drove toward the Shore; whither, being beckned by the Indians, they immediately went; when no fooner he Landed, but they ran in great Companies to make themfelves Mafters of the Veffels, kill'd one Spaniard, and wounded two more : the Night approaching put an end to the Fight. From hence Sailing to the River La Cruix for Wood and Water, they were refifted by fixty Natives, which they put to flight with their Guns, and took one Prifoner ; after which they erected a Stone Crols. The Promontory, by which glides the ftrong Current, lies in twenty Degrees North-Latitude, and call'd Cabo de Corrientes, as the Row of Inles, before the Main Land Los Martyres, becaufe the Cliffs at a diftance appear like Men ftanding on Poles. Laftly, after fome fmall Encounters with the Floridans, Ponce return'd home, being onely inform'd fally by the Indians, that in Florida was a River, and on the Ifle Bimini a Fountain, whofe Waters made old People young.

But after this Florida remained not unvifited; for eight years after the foremention'd Voyage, Lucas Vafquez de Aylom weighed Anchor with two Ships from Hijpas niola, to fetch Slaves from the adjacent Ifles for the Gold=Mines, which Labor the Natives were not able to perform : therefore fteering his Courfe Northwardly, he Sail'd along the Coaft of Clicoa and Gualdape, by them call'd Cabo de St. Helena, and Rio Jordan, where the Natives look'd upon the Ships as Sea-Monfters, and feeing Bearded Men in them, fled : the Spaniards purfuing them, overtook one Man and a Woman; who being well Entertain'd, and Clad in Spanifh Habits, made the Stran. gers fo acceptable to their Countrey-men, that their King fent fifty Men Aboard of them with Provifions, and to invite the Sea-men to his Dominions. The King fat with a great Cloth about him, made faft on his Shoulders, covering his Belly, Breaft and Back with the Lapper thereof, and being long, was held up by one of his Servants; over one of his Shoulders hung a String of Pearl that came three cimes about, and reach'd down to his Thighs; on his Head he wore a Cap full of Ribbonds; his Arms and Legs were allo furrounded with a double Chain of Pearl; in his right Hand he held a very rich Staff : But the Queen went almoft naked, onely a piece of a wild Beafts Skin hung down before her from her left Shoulder to her mid-Leg, and a double String of Pearl about her Neck hung down between her Breafts, and her Hair Comb'd behind reach'd down to the Calves of her Legs; about her Wrifts and Ancles hung alfo Strings of Pearl.

On the King's Command, the Spaniards were permitted to make infpection into the Countrey, in which they were every where courteoufly Entertain'd, and not without Gold and Silver Prefents. Returning Aboard, Vafquez invited the Indians to go with him, under pretence of returning them thanks for the Favours which they had beftowed upon him ; but no fooner had he gotten a confiderable number in his Ships, but he fet Sail, and lofing one Ship, arriv'd with the other fafe at $H_{i}$ Ppaniola with a few Indians, for moft of them with grief and hunger died at Sea, and thofe that remain'd alive, liv'd on dead Carrion.

Some few years after, Vafquez receiving Letters Patent from the Court of Spain for the Government of Florida, fitted out a Ship thither in 1620. which brought a good Return of Gold, Silver, and Pearls; whereupon he himfelf went not long after, and coming into the River fordan, loft one of his Ships, which prov'd not the worf Accident ; for Landing two hundred Men, they were all of them either flain or wounded by the Inhabitants; fo that Vafquez was forc'd to found a Retreat: And after that the Spaniards were lefs willingly drawn to that Coaft, and the rather, becaufe the Inhabitants feem'd poor, and had little Gold but what they procur'd from the Otapales and Olugatono's, fixty Leagues Northward up in the Countrey.
Notwithftanding thefe unfuccefsful Expeditions, Pamphilus Narvaez retain'd fo much Courage, that obtaining Letters Patents from the Emperor Cbarles the Fifth, he fitted out four Sail and a Brigantine, ,weigh'd Anchor from Cuba with fix hum dred Men and eighty Horfe, in the Year 1528. On Florida he Landed three hun-a golden Bell hid amongft the Nets, Chefts full of Merchandife; and in each a dead Body cover'd with Bealt Skins, and painted; Pieces of Linnen Cloth, and Wedges of Gold, which they had from the remore Countrey Apalache. Narvaez, though agaiuft the Opinion of Numnez Cabeca, march'd up into the Countrey, whilft the Fleet was to Itand along the Shore, and travelling fifteen days. faw neither Houfe nor Man," onely here and there fome Dalmito-Trees : Croffing a River on Floats, they were Encountred by two hundred of the Natives; of which the Spaniards, having routed them, took fix Prifoners, who furnifh'd them plentifully with Indian Wheat. After this they march'd fifteen days farther; without difcerning the lealt footiftep of a Man; but at laft they met an Indian Lord with a confiderable Train, before whom march'd leveral Pipers: being told by Narvaez that his Journey was for Apalache, he conducted the Spaniards with a Canoo over a River, and Landing again, walk'd with them to his Village, where he Entertain'd them with great civility. Narvaez; after a long and troublefom Journey, came at laft in fight of Apalache, a Village which contained two hundred and forty Straw Houfes, built between the Mouna tains on a Moorifh Soyl, full of Nut, Pine, and Savine. Trees, Oaks, Laurel, and fhort Palmito's, befides the Trees, which blown down in feveral places by a ftrong Wind from between the Hills, and lying crofs, cumberthe High-ways: There are many deep Pools, and alfo Bears, Lyons, and other ravenous Creatures, which make the Ways very dangerous. Narvaez falling fuddenly on the Village, took the Cafique Prifoner, as alfo ftore of Wheat, Mortars to pound it, Hides, and Thredfpun Cloaks. Here he refted twenty five days, during which time fome of his Men Journey'd farther into the Countrey, yet found none but poor People, troublefom Ways, and an unfruifful Soyl : twice they were fet upon by the Na tives, who kill'd fome of the Horfes and Men: They being a very ftrong People run fark naked, and as fwift as a Deer, Diving under Water from the Spaniards Bullets; which not a little amazing Narvaez, he thought it convenient to fet upon the Village Aute, lying on the Shore: Nine days he was in a miferable condition before he got any Wheat, Peale, or other Provifions from this Village; the getting whereof coft him very dear, for the Villagers behav'd themfelves fo valiantly, that they kill'd many Spaniards, and fome of their Horfes, which fince they left the Haven of St. Cruce had travell'd two hundred and eighty Leagues; fo that being tir'd and out of heart, they could not carry the Sick and Wounded, who not able to. go, fell down dead in the Way : wherelipon it was judg'd convenient to make five Barques; in which they made their Shirts ferve for Sails, the Horfes Tails and Mayns for Ropes, their Skins to hold frefh Water ; with which putting out to Sea; they faw no Land in Ceven days; and running through the Straights of St. Miguell; Steer'd along the Coaft of Rio del Palmes; where they fuffer'd great Drought, infomuch that fome drinking falt Water, died thereof: at laft Landing, they were in the Night fet upon by a Cafique, who having given Narvaez 2 great Wound in the Face,fled, leaving behind him a Sable Cloak, fcented with Amber; three days they rang'd again along the Sea-fhore, when the Barque of Nunnez Cabeca being behind, was by Storm driven on the Shore, where a hundred Indians waited to cut them off, Cduci if. but were pacifid with fome'Trifles: Thus being bereav'd of Arins, Provifion; and all manner of Neceffaries, they found themfelves on an Infe; by the Intiabitants call'd Malhado, where they were lodg'd and maintain'd fo long as they had any thing left; but Famine grew at laft to luch a heighth, that they devour'd one another, and in a fhort time of eighty Menthere remain'd onely four alive, viz. Numez Cabeca, Cafillo, Orantes, and Eftevanico, who at laft by Land reach'd to. New Gallicia, and foon after to Mexico, having efcap'd a thoufand Dangers. Of Pamphilus Narvaez never any tydings being heard, it is fuppos'd he was drown'd.

ther Journey very remarkable.

After this miferable Adventure, the Bufinefs of Florida lay dead for eleven years, till Eerdinandus Sottus, chofen Governor of Cuba, obtain'd fo much of the Emperor Charles the Fifth, that he ventur'd one Expedition more for Florida: Befides Seamen he carried five hundred Foot, and three hundred and fity Horfe; with which Landing in the Bay Del Efpirito Santo, he march'd againft the Cafique Vitacucho, whom he took Prifoner, with a thoufand of the Natives, whom he either put to the Sword, or caus'd them so be torn in pieces by Dogs; and ftaying all the Winter in Apalacbe,fortifi'd that place, and furnifh'd himfelf with Provifions; he was inform'd, that thirteen days Journey from thence lay the Kingdom of Cofachiqui, abounding with Gold, Silver, and Pearls, which made every one of the Spaniards very defirous to go thither, notwithltanding the Way was very dangerous; for the valiant Floridans lying in Ambufcade in the Corn=Fields, wounded and kill'd many of them by Shooting from thence. Sottus, fo foon as March approached, fet forward on his Way. In the poor Province of Acbalaqui he found a few young People, and the old moft of them blind. From Cofachiqui he was follow'd by four thoufand Natives, who carried the Spaniards Luggage, and ferv'd them as Guides through Woods and Wilderneffes. The feventh day they ftopp'd at a great River, whither Sottus fent four Companies to feek out a Paffage over, whereof three return'd without any effect, but the fourth, Commanded by Captain Anmafio, and a Colonel of 2 thoufand Cofachiquians, came to a Village built along the River; in which they made a a miferable Rout, killing all they lighted on, and hanging the Sculls of the Dead by their fides : this done, they march'd back. Sottus at laft efpying a Village on the other fide of the River, beckned to the Natives to come over to him; whereupon fix came immediately; who underfanding that he defir'd their friendly Affiftance and Trade, promis'd to acquaint their Governefs, being a young Maiden : who foon after came over to Sottus, and prefented him with a Sering of Pearl : he com: plain'd to her for Provifions, which the promis'd in part to fore him with. Crof. fing the River he found a brave Countrey, where were Pearls as big as gray Peafe, Copper of a golden colour, but no Gold. Out of the Tombs of their Princes the Spanifh Officers, with the leave of the foremention'd Maid their Governels, got an incredible Treafure in Pearls. In the Village Tolomeco they did the like. But here their Provifions growing fearce, the Army was divided into two Bodies, Balthafar de Gallegos leading one, and Sottus the other; yet the Defign of them both was on the Province of Cbalaque; whither marching, they were furpris'd by fuch a violent Storm, that few would have been left to relate their Adventures; had not the Trees bore it off from them ; for it not onely Thundred and Lightned as if Heaven and Earth would have mee, but alfo Hail-fones fell down as big as-Eggs, which beat down the Boughs of Trees. In the pleafant Valley Xualu, belonging to the Kingdom of Cofacbiqui, they refted fifteen days, and then march'd through Countreys of Guaxale, Acofes, and Coza , where above a thoufand Indians, adorn'd with Plumes of Feathers and rich Furr Cloaks, came to meet and welcom them, and to defire them from the Cafique to flay there all the Winter; but Sottus refolving to go to the Haven Achufi, refus'd the fame. After this he view'd Taliffe, fortifid with woodden and earthen Bulwarks; where the Cafique Tafcalufa, a Man asbig again as an ordinary Spaniard, receiv'd Sottus with great civility, and conducted him to Mavilla, lying in a pleafant place. The City, furrounded with double Pallifado's, fill'd up with Earth

Earth between, (where alfo at eighty Paces diftant from one another, ftands a Tower to contain eighty Soldiers) hath two Gates, eighty Houfes, in every one of which dwell a choufand Men, and a large Market-place in the middle; where whillt the Spaniards were in the midft of their Mirth, they on a fudden hoard a great cry of Arms; the firft Affaule was made by feven thoufand, which ftill increaled by frefh Supplies; but the Spaniards at laft fetting the City on fire, broke through them, and left above eleven shoufand flain, either by the Smoak and Flame, or by their Bullets, Sivords, Horfes Heels and Dogs; the Spaniards alfo loft eighty three Men and forty three Horfes. Thence going to Chicora they were ftopt by the Natives before a deep River with high Banks, which at laft croffing, not without great trouble and blood-fhedding, they Winter'd in the Village Cbicora, where the Inhabitants let them reft very quietly for tiwo Moneths; at the end of which, joyning together in the Night, they fhot Fire into the Straw Roofs, and maintain'd a Fight of two hours long, in which the Spaniards loft forty Men, fifty Horfes, and all their Hogs, which were burnt in the Houfes. From thence going to Chicacolla they were refifted in moft places, and in the Fort Alibamo Engag'd by four thoufand Floridans, who waited for their coming; but thofe were fo fhrewdly hand-: led, that half of them were flain, and Sottus became Mafter of the Fort, as allo of Cbifca, which he Storm'd and took unawares. With nolefs trouble and danger did he get over the River El Grande, where he difcover'd a Village that contain'd above four hundred Houfes, and many delightful Fruit. Trees. The Cafique Cafquin, maintain'd the Spanifh Army fix days in this place, and taking five thoufand of his Subjects, march'd with them to Capaba, which hath a deep and broad Moat on three fides thereof: the fourth was fortifi'd with frong Ellifado's, through which the Spaniards breaking, made way for Cafquin, who puit all to the Sword, the Governor onely efcaping in a Canoo to a neighboring Ifle. The Entrance being thus taken by the Spaniards, Cafquin return'd home. After which Sottus concluded a Peace with Capabaes the Governor, and took up his Quarters in the Village Fitangue, where he receiv'd continual Sallies; but taking fifteen Cafiques Prifoners, threatned to burn them alive, unlefs they would procure them fome Gold; yet not being able to get any, they had only their Hands cut off and were Cent away. Moreover, Sottus help'd the Guachacoya's, to ruine thofe of Anilcos; which Defign prov'd fuccefsful, yet not aco cording to Sottus's defire, for he found not the Gold-Mines which he expected, but〔pent in this five years Progrefs the great Treafure which he took out of Atibaliba's Palace; and the Pearls which he got in Florida, for the Oyfters being open'd againft the Fire, and the Pearls drill'd through with a hot Iron, loft much of their luftre, neither would his People confent to build a City in the Haven Achuff. In the midft of thefe Tranfactions Sottus died of the Bloody-flux, and his Body was Interr'd in the River El Grande. After which his Succeffor Ludovicus de Alvarado had worfe fuccefs, for half of the Army being wafted by the excefive heat, the reft refolv'd to defert Florida, utterly defpairing to be ever able to reffet the valiant Natives. In the Province of Auche they procur'd a Guide, whom, becaufe he mis-led them in their Way, they caus'd to be torn in pieces by their Dogs: after. which they march'd without a Guide through fuch bad Ways, that they loft a hundred of their Men and eighty Horfes, befides many Floridans that carried their Luggage : At laft coming to the River El Grande they conquer'd two Villages; which fortifying, they took up their Winter Quarters in them. But this being the fourteenth year, in which the River us'd generally to overflow and drown all the adjacent Countreys, on a fudden, to their great amazement, the Wood which they had gather'd for the build. ing of Barques to carry them home, was wafh'd away, their Provifions fpoil'd, and their Habitations drown'd : and to this Inconvenience was added another yet greater; for the Govegnors round about rais'd all the Forces they could poffibly, to revenge, themfelves on the Spaniaris' for their great oppreifion. But Alvarado being inform'd of this Defign by the Cafique Anilco, caus'd thirty of the Abettors of the Plot, to have their Hands cut off. Not long after this the Spaniards fet Sail, when a thoufand Canoos that came to Engage them lay fixteen days amongt them, killing and wounding feveral of the beamen, and funk a Barque with forty eight Men, and alfo kill'd many Horfes which were yet on the Shone; the Prifoners they took were ftrappado'd to death, and the Horfes fhot: yet fome of them got fafe from Panuco to Mexico.

There above-mention'd Expeditions to Floridd, notwithftanding they fell out low'd by three Jefuits from Rome, viz. Peter Martinius, Foan Roger, and Francis Villaregius: The Mafter of the Ship in which they went being ignorant where he was, judg'd it convenient to Land; whereupon nine Netberlanders and four Spaniards, amongt which was Martinius; went afhore on Florida, whilft a Storm arifing drove the Ship to Cuba; by which means thofe that were Landed were left in a miferable condition, having no Food but wild Herbs, on which they fed twelve days: fo that this Expedition alfo came to nothing.

At laft the Frenth following the footsfeps of the Spariards, Jobn Ribald and Rene Laudoniere having Sail'd feveral times to Ftoridd, difcover'd feveral Coafts; but their Men were often fet upon by the Spaniards, and cut off.
-Anno 1567. Dominicus Gurgius fer Sail thither with three Ships, which carried two hundred Soldiers and eighty Sea-men ; with which entring the River Tacatucouru he Landed, and found a Youth call'd Peter du Bre, who efcap'd when the Spaniards cru* elly maffacred the French in the Garrifon Carolina; after which du Bre ranging up and down, at laft ferv'd Saturiona, Governor of Florida; whom deferting, and now meeting with the French his Countreyemen, he brought feveral Cafiques to joyn with them againft the Spaniards, whom they drove out of three Forts, which were all by the Command of Gurgius difmanteled.

- Elorida is call'd by the Natives, Irquafa. The Spaniards have buile two Forts on the fame, the one erected on the Promontory Helena, is Confecrated to the Apofte Matthen. The City and the Fort Angufine lies near the River May. Both City and Fort ftand on 2 Hill, which is pleafant and well fet with Trees. Between the Foreland is a deep and wide Channel, which wafhes the City and Fort ; it is eight-fquare, at each corner thereftands a round Tower, in whiçh the Soldiers keep Guard; the Countrey is water'd by two Rivers, which gliding between the Main and the Foreland, are grear Safeguards to the Fort. The City is almoft fquare, onely againft the Fort it is much clofer buile than in any other place, and divided into four Sereets. The Church fands without of the City, and before it the Auguftine Cloyfter.

moft of them tie it in a Knot on the top of their Heads; two fmall Boards cover their Breafts, and fix leffer hang on their Arms, two Bells at each Ear, and a Cap on their Head, with a Feather: Their Quivers, which are always full of Arrows, fharpned with Fifh Bones, hang by their Sides; In their left-Hand they hold a great Bowe, with which they go to War, the King walking before with a Club. They Confult daily about warlike Affairs in the King's Palace, where he himfelf fits on a high Seat ; the Grandees falute him firftwith their Hands lifted over their Head, crying $\mathrm{H}_{a}, \mathrm{He}_{e}, \mathrm{Y}_{a}$, at which the reft cry $\mathrm{Ha}, \mathrm{Ha}$; then every one fits down on a Stool round about the Room. If they have any Bufinefs of Confequence to debate, then the King .ends for the ancienteft Perfons and Priefts, call'd favoas ; this done, they give a Cup of (aßine (which is a hot Drink made of Herbs) to the King; after which every one drinks in order out of the fame Cup. This Liquor occafions Sweat, quenches Thirf, and fatisfies the Appetite for twenty four hours. When they March againft their Enemies they live on Indian Wheat, Honey, finoak'd Fifh, and divers forts of wild Roors, amongft which they mix Sand and Cinders, to preferve them the longer. No fooner are the two Armies come within fight one of another, but the Kings of both Parties roll their Eyes about in theit Heads, mutter fomething to themfelves, and makeftrange Geftures and Exclamatio ons; which is anfwer'd by a general Cry of the whole Army : then each King turn• ing himfelf with great Reverence to the Sun, takes a woodden Platter with Water, which he throws over his Army fo far as he is able, and begs of the Sun to grant him, that he may fpill his Enemies Blood in like manner; then throws another Difhzfull into the Fire, wifhing that his Soldiers may thus Offer the Bodies of their Foes to che Flames; 'then ftep forth the Priefts', who are always skill'd in the. Art 'of Necromanicy, and feating themfelves on a Shield in the midft of the Army, draw a Circle, in which they make many ftrange Geftures, not without muttering to themfelves, and feemingly fay a Prayer of a quarter of an hour long; during which they deport thenfelves fo frangely, that they rather feem to be Devils themfelves, than Charmers of the Devil: They turn their Eyes quite round, and their Bodies Bodies as if without Joynts; at length being wearied they leap out of the Circle, and inform the King of the number and condition of the Enemies Army. Thofe ver'd all over with Boughs full of little Tharp Prickles, which they infociates, co. Crocodiles Throat, who with open Mouth comes running at them, and fothrove. ing him on his Back, ftick his Belly full of Arrows, and kill him with Clubs. But to long Poles, and carry them home as Trophies of their Victory, and afterwards fet them up in fome Field or fpacious place, putting both Men and Women to watch them; then comes the Prieft with a woodden Image, and utters Execrations againft the flain Enemies; at a corner of the Fields kneel three Men, one of which ftriking with great force on a Stone, gives as many Blows as the Prieft pronounces Curfes, whilft the other two thake their Calabafhes fill'd with Stones, and Sing many ftrange Songs: No fooner is this ended, but the Women whofe Husbands are flain in the Battel, walking to the King, cover their Faces with their Hands, make many Arange Geftures, and defire liberty to take what revenge they can, and licence alfo to Marry at the limited time ; all which the King permitting, they return thus com: forted tiome crying. Not long after they go to the place where their Husbands lie buried, where they crop their Hair up to their Ears, and throw it on the Grave, as alfo the Arms and Drinking-Cups which the Deceafed us'd in their lifeatime; after which they may not Marry before their Hair be grown again to their Shoulders. The fame Cuftom is alfo oblerv'd when their King is buried ; but then alfo all his Subjects Faft and Howl three days together, ftick his Grave full of Arrows, and burn his Houfe and all his Goods.

The Floridans differ amongtt themfelves very much, for thofe that inhabit the Province Panuca, which borders upon New Spain, are valiant and cruel People, Offering their Prifoners to their Idols, and eating them. The Men pluck up the Hair of their Beards by the Root, make holes through their Nofe and Ears, and Marry not till their fortiech Year.

Next to thefe follow the Realms of Aranaris and Albardaofia, inhabited by a People, which exceed all others in fubtilty.

The Natives of Jaquazia run fafter than a Deer, and tire not though they travel a whole day.

The beft Swimmers are found in Alpacbia, Autbia, and Someria, where the Women Swim through deep and great Rivers with their Children in their Arms. Here alfo are many Hermophrodites, which carry all the Luggage when an Army is upon a March.

We find mention'd alfo two other Provinces of note, viz. Colus (which lies near the Point call'd Cape Florida) and Tegifta, or Florida properly fo call'd, being that long Peninfula, which pointing upon the Ille Cuba, by the Cape Los Martyres, ftretcheth it felf North and South about a hundred Leagues in length, but not above thirty in breadth where it is largeft. In this Province is the Rio de lo Spirito Santo. The Soyl, though it produces Indian Wheat twice a year, yet it is never Dung'd, but when the Corn (which is planted in March and June) is in, they burn the Weeds; the Afhes of which ferves them in fiead of Soil. The King divides the Corn according to every Mans Family. In the Winter they dwell four Moneths in the Woods, where they build fmall Huts of Palm-boughs, feed on Venifon, fmoak'd Fifh, and Crocodiles, which have pure white Flefh, and are caught after this mane with more fubtilty and are they take their Deer, viz. They hide themfelves under a Stags Skin, fo cunaingly, that it feems as if living, which they place near the Rivers where the Deer generally come to drink, when on a fudden they fhoot them.

Their Priefts ferve in ftead of Chirurgeons, wherefore they always carry a Bag full of Herbs about with them, which are chiefly good againft vener eal Diftempers; for there People are exceeding libidinous; nay, Sodomy and defiling of young Children is accounted no fin : Yee though they are much inclin'd to Women, they attain to a great Age.

Rene Laudoniere Landing not far from the City Augufine, fituate on the Banks of the River May, met with the Floridan Governor Saturiona, who conducted him to the Frencb King's Court of Arms, erected two years before, which Saturiona, as a teftimony of his zeal to the French, had Crown'd with Laurel and Flowers. Saturiona had with him alfo his Son $\mathcal{A} t o r e u s$, who had begotten divers Children on his Mother; whom his Father after that time no more acknowledging, refign'd her up wholly to him : At which time alfo his great Grandfather being then living, was above a hundred and fify years old, and faw his Childrens Children to the fifth Generation.
The Religion in Florida is abominable, wicked, and crucl : When they return Conquerors from a Battel, the old Women rake off the dry'd Hair from the fore-mention'd Poles, hold it aloft, and thank the Sun for their Victory. But the Offerings of their firt-born Sons are terrible, for they knock out their Brains with a Club in the prefence of the King. Their annual worfhipping of the Sun is alfo very ridiculous; for filling the Skin of a Stag full of fweer-fmelling Herbs, they hang the Horns and Neck with Garlands, and carry it with the noife of their kind of Vocal and Inftrumental Mufick, to a high Trunk or hollow Body of a Tree, on which they place the ftuffd Stag, with his Head towards the Sun ; which done, they falling down, defire that he would pleafe to afford them plenty of all fuch Fruit as they Offer oo him; after which taking their leave; they let the foremention'd Skin remain there till the following Year.
The Spaniards fince their Defeat in the Fort Carolina, and their Engagement with Sir Francis Drake, Amno 1585 . have had little difturbance on Floridd.

Drake having burnt and plunder'd Domingo and Carthagena, fteer'd along the Coaft of Florida, and difcover'd a Beacon on the fame; whereupon he fent out Spies, who fail'd a League up a River, on whofe Banks they faw a Fort, and fomewhat higher the Town Augufine, built full of woodden Houles; all which being related to him, he fteer'd thicher, fir'd his Guns twice againft the Fort St. Folm; which the Spaniards anfwering onely with one Volley, fled, with their Commander Peter Menendez; when the Englifh prepar'd to Storm; a Prifoner, being a Frencb-man, came in a Boat from them to Drake, and inform'd him that the Spaniards had left the City Auguftine and Fort St. John; to which Drake going, found there Pallifado's of pleited Boughs, coverd with Earth, and a Cheft with ewo thouland Pound, for the payment of the Soldiers, and fourteen Brafs Guns, with which he fer Sail from thence.

The Mountains of this Countrey are onely the Apalatei, fuppos'd by the Na. tives to have rich Mines of Gold in them, and which the Spaniards faw, but had not time, nor other accommodation to ftay and fearch them, by reafon they were fo much wearied and wafted with a long March before they gat thither, and found the People fo fout and obftinate thereabouts, that in ftead of enteraining them with their Hens and Fowl, as other places had done, they were welcom'd with Blows, and made to return, leaving not a few of their beft Soldiers behind.

Rivers there are many, and thofe very large and commodious, as 1. Rio Secco, or The Dry River, fo call'd by the Spaniards (as fome think) becaufe they could find no Gold in it. 2. Rio Grande, or The Great River. 3. Ligeris. 4. Garsuma. 5. Sequana, occ. Thefe laft, fo namid by the French, who, after the Spaiiards, for fome time had, but never held any long poffeffion of the Countrey. There are alfo Rio de Flores, Rio de Nieves, and Rio de Spirito Santo, leffer Streams, yet all of them, with the reft, falling at feveral places into the great Lake of Mexico; and fome of them not a little haunted by the Caymans or Weft-Indian Crocodiles, a Creature, as hath been faid before, dangerous both at Sea and Land.

The Natives, who as yet hold Poffeffion and Command of it for the moft part; are themfelves generally forted into certain Tribes or great Families; all which are Govern'd feverally by Chiefs of their own, whom they call Paracoußi, and by reafon thereof are almoft continually in Feud and War one with a nother.

The Towns and Places moft known in this Province, are 1. St. Helens, feated on or near unto a Promontory of the: fame Name, where this Councrey bordereth on Virginia. 2. Fort Charles, or Arx Carolina, built and fo nam'd by the French King, but afterwards ruin'd by the Spaniards. 3. Port Royal, a well frequented Haven, at the Mouth of a River which beareth the fame Name. More within Land there is, 1. Apalache, an old Town of the Natives, formerly a Place of great refort, but now a poor thing of about forty or fifty Cottages; and yet as poor as it is, Pamphilius Narvaez, as before related, when he fearch'd the Countrey, found the Natives not willing to part with it : for though he took it from them, it was not without fome refiftance, and they quickly recover'd it again : and at the 2. nam'd Aute, ane other old Town of theirs, nine days March from the other, they overtook him, and fell fo refolutely upon him, that he left not a few of his beft Soldiers dead upon the place, and was content himfelf to march quietly away with the reft. 3. Ochalis, a Town confifting of about five or fix hundred Sheds and Cottages likewife of the Natives. 4. Vittacucbe, a Burrough of two hundred Houfes.

There is alfo on the the Eaftern Shore of this Peninfula, St. Matthews, a Place poffefs'd and well fortifid by the Spaniards; and St. Augufines on the fame Shore; but lying fomewhat more Southerly than the other, at the Mouth of 2. River of the fame Name, taken and fack'd by Sir Francis Drake in the Year 1585.

Sect. II.

Jucatan.

JUcatan is a Peninjula, or halfoIfland, being encompass’d with the Sea on all fides, fave onely to the Southe Weft, where it is joyn'd to Guaxata, its farther and more Eafterly Point looking towards Cuba. The knowledge of, when, and by whom this Province was difcover'd, is included in that of New Spain, of which fome will have it to be a part. The whole Province contains in compals nine hun. dred Miles or more, and lies between eighteen and twenty two Degrees of Northern Latitude, or thereabouts, the Air fomewhat hot; and the Soil not altogether fo fertile as fome other parts of New Spain are; but in recompence thercof the People are fo much the more induftrious, living for the moft part by Handicraft Trades. Neither is it altogether unftor'd with Corn and divers forts of Fruits, befides what it hath of Fowl and Beafts, as Geefe, Hens, Deer, ecc. particularly it yieldech plenty of Wax and Honey, by reafon of its frequent Swarms of Bees. They report fome fecial things of this Province, as namely, that the People of the Countrey us'd generally, and long before the -Spaniards came thither, a certain Ce.

remony of Religion, not much unlike to our Baptifm, and.which they call'd by a Name that in their Language fignifidd Regencration, or A Second-Birth; that they obferv'd it fo diligently, that few or none amongtt them omitted to initiate themfelves by it, believing, that thereby the Seeds and Ground-work of all Goodnefs was laid in them, and that they were fortifid by it againft the affaults and temptations of evil Spirits; that aftee they were three or four years old, till they came to twelve, they ufually thus Wafh'd and Baptiz'd themfelves; and that none were permitted amongt them to Marry, that were not firf initiated after this manner; that they chofe likewife a folemn Day upon which to do this; and that the Friends. and Relations (efpecially the Father and Mother) of the Parties to be initiated, as well as the Parties themfelves, always Fafted three days before the faid Initiation; and that a great many of the Natives had a Tradition, or general Report amongft them, that of ancient time this Province of fucatan was poffefs'd and cultivated by a certain People which came thither from the Eaft, after a tedious long wanderring, and many hardflips endur'd at Sea, having efcap'd the Hands of their Enemies onely through the power of the Deity they worfhipp'd; who help'd them, and made them to pafs fecurely, even through the Waves of the Sea. All which, if true, feems not a little to confirm the Report which goeth for currant in the Welfh Chronicles, of one Madoc ap Orben, the Son of Guineth, a Prince of that Countrey, who is faid to have fall'n upon'a far Countrey this way in his Travels; which he lik'd fo well, that having fecur'd to his Companions their fafe abode there during his abfence, he return'd himfelf into Wales for more Men; and that he cranfported thither as many as he could carry in ten Barques full fraught. This he is faid to have done about the Year of our Lord 1170. but neither he nor any of his Men were ever heard of fince; and the fuccefs of the Expedition, it feems, little enquir'd after by the Welfh. However, the Relation feems not altogether incredible.

The chief Towns of the Province are, I. Merida, in the Navel of the Countrey; and the Seat of the Governor, twelve Leagues diftant from the Sea on either fide. 2. Valladolidt, thirty Leagues diftant from Nerida. 3. Campeche, a great Town, confifting of about three thoufand Houfes or more, when firft conquer'd by the Spaniards; who found fuch Monuments of Art and Induftry in it, as did clearly argue, that the Place had been once poffefs'd by fome People that were not barbarous. It is now call'd St. Francifco, and was furpriz'd in the Year 1596. by Captain Parker, an Englifh-man, who took the Governor himfelf and fome other Perfons of Quality with him, together with a Ship richly laden with Gold and Silver, befides other Commodities of good value. 4. Tabafco, by the Spaniard now call'd Villa de Nuefra Sennora de Viftoria, and commonly Viftoria onely, in memory, as 'tis thought, of the firft great Vietory which Cortez obtain'd over thefe People at the Battel of Potonchan, as hath been faid. 5. Cinela. 6. Potonchan. 7. Salamanca.

All along the Coaft of this Countrey there lie certain Illands, fome within the Bay or Gulph call'd Honduras, pertaining to the next Province, as 1. La Zarza. 2. La Def conefcida. 3.Vermeia. 4. Los Negrillos; and fome without it, as 1. Zaratan. 2. Pantoia. 3. De Mageres, or The Ifland of Women; fo nam'd by the Spaniards, who at their firt Difcovery of thefe Parts, for a long time together could meet with none but Women. The chief of them is call'd $A c u f a m i b$, commonly Cozamul, and is fifteen Leagues in length, and about five in breadth, and was as it were che Thoro-wfare, or Common Road of the Spaniards, when they firt difcover'd the Countreys of Nens Spain: For firft here Landed Ferdinando de Corduba; after him Fobn de Grialva, and others; and laft of all the fortunate Cortez. It is now call'd St. Crux.

C H A P. IV.

Guatimala.

TUatimala ftretcheth to the ISthmus, or Neck of Land, which, as we faid, joineth the Northern and Southern parts of the New World together.

This Countrey is bounded Northward with the Peninfula of Jucatan abovefaid, and part of the Gulph or Bay of Honduras; on the South, with Mare del Zur ; on the Eaft and South-Eaft, it hath Cafella Aurea; and on the Weft, New Spain. The length of it lieth uponithe Coaft of Mare del Zur, and is faid to be little lefs than three hundred Leagues; but the breadth not half.fo much, and in fome places very narrow. It is generally a fertile and good Countrey in all refpects, but efpecially abounding in Cattel and good Paftures; it is fubdivided into feven inferior Provinces or Countreys, which are 1. Cbiapa. 2. Verapaz. 3.Honduras. 4. Nicaragua. 5. Veragua. 6. Cofta Rica; and 7. Guatimala, Specially fo call'd : all differing in Language and Cuftoms one from another.

The Bifhoprick (as it is now call'd) of (biapa is border'd on the Weft with Newo Spain; on the Eaft with Vera Paz; and on the South with Mare del Zur. It is a Countrey much fhaded with Woods, and thofe replenifh'd with many fair and goodly Trees, of divers forts, and of the largeft fize, as Oaks, Pines, Cedar, Myrtle, and Cyprefs. Trees, befides others which yield them a good kind of Rozen, precious Gums, ecc. alfo feveral forts of Balfom, as white, red, green, and black, not onely pleafant to the Scent, but an excellent Remedy for all manner of green Wounds: the beft of it drops out of the cut Bodies of the Trees; and the worft is prefs'd out of the Wood and Leaves.

There are alfo proper to this Countrey feveral other kinds of Trees and Plants, as that whofe Fruit taftes like Pepper and Cloves, being of a great heighth; a Tree whofe Leaves cure all ulcerated Sores, or the bitings of any poyfonous Beaft.

There is a fort of Cabbage call'd Ilantas, which grows to the heighth of a Tree, fo that Birds make their Nefts in them; they are eaten likewife like other common Cabbages.

There is alfo an Herb with narrow Leaves, which is no fooner touch'd, but it Chrinks up to nothing ; but at the going away of thofe which touch it, it obtains its former vigour.

Here are likewife Quails, Ducks, Geefe, Pheafants, Parrots, Turtle-Doves, Pigeons, and the like, in great abundance.

Amongft the feveral forts of Falcons which breed in this Countrey, there is one fort which hath one Foot proper to its kind, the other like that of a Goofe; it feeds on Fifh along the Rivers.

The Bird Toto-Queztall, which is fomewhat fmaller than a Pigeon, with green Feathers and a long Tail, is taken onely for its Tail, which when the Indians have pull'd out, they let the Bird fly again, there being a Law amongfrthem, that whofoever kills one of them, is to fuffer death.

The Cranes here are of a dark Gray; the biggeft of them have a tuft of Feathers like a Crown upon their Heads.

The Birds Guacamayes, which are red and blue, are like a Peruan Goofe. viait Birds?
Moreover, the Countrey yields brave Horles, Goats, Sheep, Rabbets, and Foxes; Beanes alfo wild Dogs, Leopards, Lyons, and Tygers.
-The wild Hogs which breed here have their Navels on their Backs, and have. no Tails, they fmell exceeding ftrong, and feed together in great Companies.

The Taquatrin, a certain Beaft proper to thofe Parts, hath a Bag under its Belly; in which it generally carries feven or more young ones, and hath alfo a bald Tail; it creeps into Houfes in the Night to fteal Hens.
5ere is alfo a cercain Beaft (whofe Name we find not) abour the bignefs of a Rabbet, and like a Rat, and carries its young ones on its back whenfoe're it comes abroad.
The Serpents, which are very numerous here, trouble the Inhabitants excee: dingly, efpecially near the Village Ecatepeque, where there are fuch an abundance on two little Hills, that none dares approach them; fome of them are very poyfonous, for if touch'd with a Stick, the Poyfon runs up the fame : and whoever are anointed with the Blood of a dead Serpent, die a lingring. Death. Foln de Laet re:lates, that the Indians took one which carried thirty young ones, which being 2 Finger long, crep up and down immediately; and the old one, being above twenty Foot long, ferv'd the Natives for Venifon.
EAmongft other Beafts is alfo the Teutblacokaubqui, or Fortrefs of the Serpents; it hath a Head like an Adder, thick Belly, glittering Scales, a black Back, Sprinkled with white Croffes; 2t its Tail theregrows yearly a Bone, with which it makes a noife when it ftirs ; its poyfonous Teeth deftroy thofe which are bit therewith in twenty four Hours, unlefs the part which is wounded be held in the Earth folong till the pain be over. Notwithftanding the noife, terrible afpect, and geftures of this Animal, the Indian Hunters make nothing to take the fame by the Tail; atid wap it up in Linnen, and carrying it home make it tanne. It is able to live a whole Year without either Meat or Drink; its Head when cut off grows to the bigriefs of a

No lef refolute arefthe Iudians in taking the Ibitobaca, which is an Ell long, of a crimfon Cotae full of black and white Specks, the Bones whereof they wear about their N tek in (tcad of Chains.

The Ignamads gerpent which doth no manner of hurt, though terrible to look upon to thofe which know it not, having a Bag under its Chin, a glittering Comb on its Head and on its Back flarp Bones, which ftand like a Saw, and a long Tail : It lays fify Eggs at a time as big as Acorns, of a very good tafte, and fitto eat when boyl'd : It alfó lives both in the Water and on the Land.

Here are allo many Baboons, which are big and heavy, with ugly Heads, Thort Legs like a Man, and Tails ftanding upwards; they eat all forts of Fruit, but chiefly cover after Wine and Bread; and are fo lafcivious, that they ofeen fet upon Women - The Females generally bring forth two, one Male, and the other Female. There is alfo another fort, whofe Skins, being red, are full of little Spots.

The ancient Inhabitants of Chiapa (divided into the Chiapaneca's, the Zeques, the Zeltates, and the Quelenes) are very Civil and Witty, alfo skilful in Painting, Singing, Breaking of Horfes, and many other Trades.

The Places of more principal note in this Countrey, inhabited by the Spaniards, are 1. Ciudad Real, pleafantly feated in the midft of a round Vale or Plain, and al. moft encompafs'd with Hills reprefenting the form of an Amphitheatre; allo at the Foot of one which ftands in the midft of the reft, the City is built. It is 2 City, fpecially Priviledg'd by the King of Spain, having a Court of Juftice, Cathedral, and Dominican Cloyfter; of a pure and temperate Air, and the Countrey round about plentifully abounding both in Corn and Fruit, onely fomewhat toocold to produce Lemmons and Oranges; but for Pears, Apples, Peaches, Quinces, Cherries, and the like, they grow here in great abundance.
2. Chippa, which giveth Name to the Valley aforefaid ; It is a Bifhop's See, and famous $;$ if but for one of its Prelates, viz. Bartholomeo delas Cafas, of the Order of Predicants, who was Bifhop of this City, and his Memory juftly precious amongft the poor Americans at this day, for his Charity towards them, and for the fout and zealous oppofition which he made againft the Spaniards cruel and inhumane dealings with the Natives at the beginning of their Conquefts: by which at laft, notwithitanding much difficulty and refiitance made by interefted Perfons of the other Side, he procur'd them liberty, and an Edict from the Emperor in favor of them; whereby they were declay'd to be a Free People, and not Slaves, and the Spaniards forbidden to ufe them any longer as fuch, or to force them to any kind of Labour againf their wills of otherwife than by agreement, with them, which Liberty they, enjoy to this day; and though the Spaniards are faid to give chem very fmall Wages. in lome places, and for their Work in theis Sugar-Mills (which is no fmall Labor) not above five Reyals, or Two fhillings $\overline{\text { Ix }}$, pence a Week, for the Maintenance of themfelves, their Wiyes and Children, yet by reafon it is with Confent, and in a Countrey where all things are plentiful and cheap, their Condition is much better than it was, and the favor which that good Bifhop did them, never to be forgotten. It is at prefent 2 great and populous City, and lieth almoft in the mid-way betwixt the Cities of Mexico and Guatimala,
3. St, Bartholomelvs, in the Countrey of the Quelenes.
4. Tecpatlan, the chief of twenty five Villages, faid to belong to the Zoques: Here the Dominicans have another Cloyfter.

The Zeltates poffers a fruitful Countrey, have thirteen Villages planted with Trees that yield Cocbenile, being under a Common-wealth Government.

The chief Place of the Quelenes is Copanavatzla, where there is good Cheefe, and ftore of brave Cattel : The River (hiepa gliding through the midft thereof, lofeth it felf in the Northern Ocean. In this part of the Country are Beafts not unlike Apes, with long Tails, which they wind about the Legs of thofe whom they find fwimming and fo pull them under Water; wherefore they that go to Swim take Axes along with them, to cut off their Tails.

The Water of the River Blanco is clear and wholfom, running for the moft part through Rocky Grounds, which neverthelefs are overfpread with Trees.

In the higheft Ground of Cbiapa, a League and a half from the City Reall, fpring clear Fountains, whofe Water ebbs and flows every fix hours.

Near the Village call'd Afixa is one which runs three years together, though in the drieft Seafon, and is dry three years, though it Rain never fo much.

Not far from the Village Cinacatan is another Spring, whofe Water cures fevesal Sickneffes, but kills all Birds and Beafts which drink of the fame.

Here are likewife divers Baths.
The Rivers which run out of the Valley Cbiapa, fall into two great Pits.
Near the Village Bartholomens, in the Province Quelenes, is a ftrange Cavern, out of which by the throwing of a ftone into the fame, are heard mighty noifes like claps of Thunder.

- Nor far from the Village Chicomucolo, appears a Cavern, in which is a great Plain on one fide, and a ftanding Lake, whofe Water is like Sand, on the other.

The Spaniards, if they wanted not Slaves, might dig good ftore of Gold, Silver; Copper, Lead, Tin, and Quickfilver, out of the Mynes on the Mountain Ecatepeck, which is in nine Leagues compals: The Wind blows fo ftrong after Sunsrifing, that no Man is able to travel for it, but in the Night.

SEct. II.  Vera Paz.

VEra Paz, or The Countrey of True Peace, was fo nam'd by the Spaniards, as they fay, becaule it was never conquer'd by the Sword, but reduc'd to Obedie ence onely by the Preaching of the Dominican Fryers. It is bounded on the Weft and South-Weft with Chiapa; on the Eaft with fome part of Guatimala and Honduras ; and on the North with Fucatan. It contains about thirty Leagues in length, and almoft as much in breadth, being a woody and mountainous Countrey for the moft part, yet well diftinguifh'd with Valleys and lower Ground. It is much fubject to Rain, which 'tis faid to have for nine Moneths of the Year almoft continually; by reafon whereof the Countrey, being otherwife hot, is much annoy'd with a kind of Mof quit, or great fort of Gnats, which fpoil the Fruit very much, and are otherwife not a little trouble to the People. Moreover, there happen oftentimes terrible Earthquakes and Storms, with Thunder and Lightning.

The chief Commodities of this Countrey, are a kind of Amber, which fome call Liquid Amber, which drops from divers of their Trees, and is faid to be a Commodity very precious, and of much ufe; Maftick, Sanguis Draconis, Gum Anime, Sarfaparilla, China-Wood, and divers other Medicinal Drugs, which it affordech in great plenty. The Woods afford a fweet fmell, and the Trees in the fame grow a wone derful heighth.

The Canes which grow here, being a hundred Foot long, and proportionably chick, ferve for Timber.

There is alfo a hard Wood call'd Iron-Wool, either fiom its hardnefs or colour, or both, which never rots.

The abundance of Flowers which grow here afford nutriment to innumerable fwarms of Bees, which are about the bignefs of Imall Flies. Their Honey, which is fomewhat tart, they hide in the Roors of Trees, or in the Earth. Another fort, which is made by the $\mathbb{W} /{ }^{2} \mathrm{P} s$; bereaves thofe that tafte of their Senfes.

The noted'ft Beaft in this Countrey is the Danta, which refembles a Mule, hath no Horns, but Afh colour'd long Hair, Thort Neck, hanging Ears, thin Legs, with three Claws before and two behind, long Head, narrow Forehead, little Eyes, a Nofe hanging over its Mouth, little Tail, fharp Tceth, and a Skin which is fix Fingers thick, and fcarce penetrable by any Weapon. This Beaft is taken in Traps, Holes, or elfe with Dogs, which he often kills when hunted towards the Water. They fay that this Beaft taught Men firft to Let-blood; for if it be too full. of Blood, it pricksit felf againft a fharp Cane, and ftops up the Orifice again very carefully. The Flefh thereof is good Meat, as alfo that of the Roß Lyons, which in the day-time fleep on a high Tree, where they are fhot by the Indians.

The Tygers are much more dangerous to be taken; yet the Indians Hunting them, eat them in ftead of Beef; and allo through all News Spain.

The Bears, which make the Ways very dangerous to travel, have black frizled Hair, broad Tails, Feet like Mens Hands: but fince the Indians have made ufe of Guns, which they learn'd from the Spaniards, they have much leffen'd the number both of Bears and Tygers.

There are likewife many Leopards, Apes, and wild Goats (whofe Skins ferve the Natives for Drums) Hogs, and Armadillo 's.

Amongft their Fowls, are Eagles and Parrots.
The Countrey is fo well for'd with Water, that in three Leagues fpace are above thirty Rivulets, and as many Fountains.

On the Mountains grow great quantities of Sarfaparilla, Mechoacan, and the China. Root, which being yellowifh hath feveral Saffron-colour'd Knobs on the top. The Sarfaparilla grows with many Stalks, creeping along over the Ground; the Body thereof is tough and full of Prickles, the Leaves broad and Tharp at the ends, and are of a bluifh colour on one fide, and green on the other, and bear Clufters of Flowers, which clofe like Buds, and are firft green, next vermilion-red, and laftly blackifh : within are two hard Stones, which inclofe a white Kernel, by the Indi-. ans call'd Juapecanga.

The Bay Golfo Dulce, which pours its muddy Water into the Sea, freds the great Fifh Monati, and a great number of Crocodiles.

Several Rivers abounding with Fifh fall alfo into the fame, having their Banks fet all along with Trees, in whofe Boughs, joyn'd together on the top, thofe fort of Birds make their Nefts which prey on Fifh.

The Women in this place are much fhorter Liv'd than the Men, fo that thereare often thirty Widowers to one Widow. Women with Child are Deliver'd by themfelves in the Highoway; and from thence they go to the next River to wafh themfelves and the Child.
As for any Towns or Places of much Traffick or Note, inhabited by the Spaniards, we find not any nam'd, fave onely St. Auguftines; near unto which there is faid to be a Cave and Fountain within Ground, which converts the Water that falleth into it out of feveral leffer Springs, into a kind of Alabafter or Stone, perfectly white, and fafhions it likewife into Pillars, Statues, and other artificial Forms of very curious Workmanfhip, as Laet reporteth.

Sect. III.

Honduras.

HOnduras hath on the South, Guatimala abovefaid ; on the Weft, a certain Bay, or Arm of the Sea, which they call Golfo Dulce, from the abundance of frefh Waters which run into it from all Parts; on the North and NorthEaft, the Atlantick Ocean ; and fomewhat to the South-Eaft, Nicaragua. It contains in length, viz. from Eaft to Weft, Coafting along upon the Sea, about a hundred and fifty Leagues, and in breadth eighty. The Countrey is rich both in Corn and Pafturage, being faid to be very much advantag'd that way by the conftant overflowings of the Rivers, which are very many, abour Michaelmaßetime, and which the People order fo well, that they water their Gardens, and exceedingly fertilize the whole Champain, or lower part of the Grounds by them.

The fruitful Valleys of this Countrey were anciently very well inhabited, till vaft multitudes of the Natives were deftroy'd by the Spaniards Cruelties, of which the Bifhop Bartbolomeo de las Cafas, in his Letter to the Emperor Charles the Fifth, gives this Relation :
"The young Children (faith he) they murder'd, beating out their Brains againft " the Stones; the Kings and Princes of the Countrey they either fcorch'd to death, "or threw them to the Dogs to be torn in pieces; the poor People they drove in"to their Houfes, and then fet them on fire; thofe that remain'd were condemn'd "to the greateft flavery imaginable, being us'd in fead of Mules and Horfes, and " having greater Burdens laid upon them than they were able to carry, infomuch " that thoufands of them fell down dead under them; fome out of defpair run. " ning into the Woods were famiff'd, after they had kill'd and eat their Wives and "Children for Hunger. In this one Province onely they maffacred above twenty "hundred thoufand Men, and amonglt others, Perfons of Quality, which had ci"villy Entertain'd them: nay, they tortur'd the poor innocent Natives all the "ways they could poffibly invent, onely to know of them where their Gold lay ; "particularly Diego de Valafoo fpar'd none that ever fell into his hands; infomuch "that in a Monechstime above ten thoufand were flain by him : He hiang'd thir. "teen Noble=men, to twelve of whom he gave the Denomination of The twelve "Apofles; and the chiefeft of them he call'd in a derifion, Jefus Cbrift. Some they " fuffer'd to ftarve to death, with their Heads comprefs'd between the cloven Barks "of wild Vines; fome alfo they buried alive, and leaving onely their Heads to "d appear above Ground, bowl'd Iron Bullets at them, and forc'd them to eat one "another; befides infinite other hellifh Cruelties, too horrid and dreadful to be "recounted.

This Countrey produces much Maiz, Wheat, Honey, and great Calabafhes, from whence the firft Difcoverers call'd that Sea Golfo de las rbueras, becaufe thiey met with abundance of Calabafles, floating on the Water, which at Santo Domingo bear the Name of Ybueras.

This Countrey is water'd by three Rivers, the firft Cbamalucom, which glides by the City San Pedro; the fecond Ulva, inhabited on both Shores; the third $H_{a}$ guaro, the Grounds adjacent to which would prove very fruitful, were the Inhabitants not too lazy. In ftead of a Plough they ufe a long Pole, with two crooked Staves at the end, one bent downwards and the other upwards, with which they cut and turn the Earth. The Natives feed on feveral Roots; Flefh, and Vermine;

At their Feaft they make themfelves Drunk with a Drink made of Honcy, Noble-men heretofore onely drinking the Liquor of Cacao; but of late it is com. mon, and made by all People, though never fo mean. They feeak feveral Langua* ges, the chiefeft whereof is that of the Chontales, a falvage People. They divide their Year, call'd Joalar, that is, Paßing, ínto eighteen Moneths, and each Moneth into. twenty Days. They formerly meafur'd the Year by the Nights, and began the Year forty days fooner than the Europeans.

The Towns in this Province are i. Neio Vallodolid, by the Indians nam'd Comayagua, lying in a pleafant Valley under a temperate Climate. The Cattel brought hither from Spain increafe exceedingly. The SilvereMynes are alfo fo well for'd, that they keep the Melting-houfe in the Town always employ'd.

The Governor of this Place hath his Refidence next to the Treafury-Chamber.
Anno 1588, the Bifhop's See was tranflated hither from Truxillo: Nineteen years before which Francifco de Monteio fent his Lieutenant Aphonfo de Cacenes thither, to build a Village half way beeween the Southern and Northern Ocean; who accordingly erected the Town Santa Maria de Camoyagua, near a River Navigable for Ca. noos, which difembogues in Puerto de Cavallos. The remaining part of the Way to the Haven Fonfeca being paffable for Carrs (which was a means to prevent many Inconveniences which us'd to happen to Travellerson the Way between Panama and Nombre de Dios) the Spanifh King was fo much concern'd at the firft propofal hereof, that he fent the famous Surveyor Baptifta Antonello thither, and the rather, becaufe he received information, that the new Way, along which they carried the Merchandife from Peru, A1exico, and other Countreys along the South Sea, lay very pleafantly, by reafon of the brave Vineyards, Corn-Fields, Fruit-Trees, Paftures, Streams abounding with Fifh, Herds of Deer, and Cony-Warrens; yet Antonello meeting with many troubles, would not undertake the Bufinefs.

New Valladolid is adorn'd with a great Church, a Cloyfter, belonging to the Monks De la Merced, and handfom Streers.
2. Thirty Leagues Weftward from this City lies another call'd Gratics a Dios, begun by Captain Gabriel de Royas, Anno I 530 , that fo he might be near the Gold-Mines : But becaufe the Natives kept the new Inhabitants in continual alarm, and daily Storm'd the unfinifh'd Fortifications, Royus was neceffitated to leave off building any farther, the rather, becaufe none came to his affiftance from the neighboring Garrifon.

Six years after Gonzales de Alvarado undertook this Work, and buile the City on a Rocky Mountain; which, though otherwife barren, produc'd lufty Horfes and ftrong Mules.
3. San Pedro,though lying under a hot and unwholfom Climate, us'd formerly to be a brave City of Trade; but it is gone much to decay fince Golfo Dolce hath been difcover'd, becaufe from that Bay the Commodities are carried in Barques up into the Countrey.
4. The Village fuan de Puerto de Cavallos, inhabited by Factors and Moors: It receiv'd that Denemination, becaufe not far from it feveral Horfes were forc'd to be thrown over-board in a Storm. Though it be but ill fortifid, yet it hath an exceeding large Haven. Captain Cbrifopher Nerpoort arriving here Anmo 1591. found two hundred Houfes, and in them a confiderable Booty left, notwithftanding four Ships richly laden had lately fet Sail from thence.

Six years after Nerpport, Capt. Ant. Sherly re-took the Place, and leaving the Haven open for Pyrats, Alphonfus Coriado judg'd it convenient to remove the Trading Place to Amatique; he built the Village Thomas de Cafilla, and fortifid the fame againft all manner of Affauls.

Behind Cavallos lies the Valley Naco, which is exceeding fruifful, being fituate between high Mountains, where formerly was found plenty of Silver.
5. Eaftward from Cavallos appears the famous City Truxillo, near a large Bay; fecur'd from all Storms by two Cliffs, full of Trees; 'the Mouth of the Haven call'd foan Gil, is above two Leagues broad; and receives two Rivers, one from each fide of the City: The Stream Quaimarotte flows Eaftward, and the River Antonio Weft. ward, both abounding in Fifh. The Countrey round about produces abundance of all forts of Provifions, and chiefly abounds in Grapes, which are gather'd twice a year: Eight days after Anguft they cut their Vines, which afford them ripe Grapes again in OEtober; they have two Harvefts of Corn; alfo Lemons and Oranges are very plentiful : The Cattel brought hither from Spain are exceeding. ly increas'd to $2 n$ incredible number.

Truxillo it felf lying on a feep Mountain, is defended on that fide which refpects the Sea, with a thick Wall of fix Foot high; between which and the Haven are many brambly Bufhes, which prevent the accefs to the Wall, onely a narrow and fteep way leading up to the City, which hath a ftrong Gate, guarded with two Brafs Guns, and fufficiently Fortifid to oppofe an Enemy. The Eaftern Cliff, which bends before the Haven is call'd Puntala Rye, on which ftands a Houfe with a high Beacon : Beyond the Wall Eaftward, near the Haven, is a Ship-yard, before which ftands a large Woodden Crofs: The Caftle in which the City Store is kept, joyns to the Wall, near unto which, within the Town appears St. Francis Church; but the Cathedral call'd Eglefia Major, is Seen above all other Buildings: The Houfes cover'd with Palmito-Leaves, have Walls of Pleited Bufhes, Plaifter'd over within and without : Behind the City, where it lies open, are exceeding high Mountains.

Anno 1576. the Englifh falling on this frong Place, carry'd a rich Booty from thence; after which, Capt. Antb. Sherly and Capt. Will. Parker ventur'd once more on the fame, but being difcover'd by the Centinel, wereforc'd to Retreat, not without a confiderable lofs: When not long after, Captain Fobn Van Hoorn a Hollander, at. tempting the fame, had much better fuccefs; for he Weighing Anchor for Pernambuc, with four Frigats, three Ketches, and a Sloop, fet Sail to Truxillo, where arriving, lay clofe before the City with his four Frigats, which fired very fiercely on the Town; the Inhabitants of which not being idle, kill'd three Men in one Ship, forc'd her to fall farther off from the Cafte: Whilf the Ketches and Sloop went about a Gun fhot Weftward beyond the City, towards the River Antonio, where they Landed two hundred and fifty Soldiers, which march'd with all fpeed up the Hill, where the Caftle lay which they Scal'd at Noon.day; the Befieged being provided with feven Guns, fhot, and threw Stones continually amongft them, yet were forc'd to Retreat from the Dutch Handgranado's: During the ftorm, the Admiral himfelf Landed, but before he came out of the Boat, the foremention'd Soldiers had made themfelves Mafters of the Fort, with the lofs of onely eight Men, and were bufie Pillaging all places they came at, and carrying their gotten Booty to a Watch-houfe near the Cafte on the Shore; when on a fudden a Fire happen'd in the Eaft part of Truxillo, which increas'd in fuch a manner, that in few hours two third parts of the City lay in Alhes; every one then had enough to do to fave themfelves, yet for all the hafte they made, feveral Hollanders were kill'd at the blowing up of the Magazine, and moft of the Booty loft by the Fire ; infomuch that they carry'd but two hundred thirty nine Skins, fix Bales of Indigo, eight hundred and twenty Pounds of Sarfaparilla, Ceven Brafs, and three Iron Guns, four Clocks, and fome few trifles with them; having before made an inform'd them, that they had not the leaft knowledge of the Hollanders Fleet, till the Evening, when the Beacon on Punta La Rye was fir'd : Moreover, that the City was inhabited by two hundred Spaniards, and as many more Mulatoes and Moors; and that the Trade thereof was much gone to decay, becaufe there had been no Gallies there in two years before.

Twenty feven Leagues from this City lies the Village Forgo de Olancho, where four thoufand Spaniards force Tribute from fixteen thoufand Indians, who polfels much Gold.

Sect.IV.

Nicaragua.

Siturtion and bounds.

NIcaragua is a County of this Province, border'd Northward with Honduras; on the Eaft, with the Atlantick Ocean, and part of Veragua; on the South, with Mare del Zur ; and on the Weft, with Guatimala, being call'd by Diego Lopez de Salzado, The New Kingdom of Leon, and comprizing feveral little Territories, as Nicoya, Nequecheri, Mabyth, Deria, Mafaya, Mandigua; Cacoloaque, Cepeoro, Los Micos, Madira, and the Contales. It hath few.Rivers in it, the want whereof is fupply'd by the benefit of a great Lake, in the midtt of the Countrey, call'd by the Spaniards, Laguna de Nicaragua, containing, as is fuppos'd, above one hundred Leagues in compafs. It empties it felf by the Port of St. Fuan into the Atlantick or North-Sea, but reachert as far as the South or Mare del Zur, at leaft within a very few Leagues; and from whence fome Spanifh Captains are faid to have made a paffage, though with much difficulty, into the Lake, and from thence to the NorthSea. It is abundantly well for'd with good Fifh, but withal much haunted with Crocodiles; and the Countrey about it fo plentiful in all things, efpecially Cattel, Cotten-Wool, Sugars, and all kind of Fruits : Amongft which, the chiefeft is the Zeiba, which is of fo great a thicknefs, that fifteen Men holding Hand in Hand, can fcarce encompafs the fame. The Callabafhes ripen here in fourteen days time: The Sea along the Coaft, breeds Whales and other Sea=Monfters, which are ofen feen above Water.

Nature of the Inhabitants.The Inhabitants of this Countrey, (except the Cbontales, which live on the Mountains, and maintain their old Salvage Cuftoms) have for the moft part learnt the Spanigh Tongue and Manners, and exercife themfelves in all forts of Arts and Siences, efpecially in Working of Silver, making of Clothes, Wax-Work, and the like: From the Mountains they gather Balfom, Liquid Amber, Turpen. tine: They alfo drive a great Trade in Cotton, Skins, and feveral forts of Provifions, to Panama, and Nombré de Dios.

The Lake Laguna de Nicaragua, which hath a hundred and feventeen Leagues in Circumference, and round about inhabited, is by three Leagues of Land feparated from the South-Sea; and difcharges ics Waters into the River Defoguadero, which falls into the Northern Oceán. Alphonfus Calera, and Diego Macliuca de Zuafo, were the firft that Sail'd out of the foremention'd Lake into the Sea, not without many dangers, by reafon of the great Waterefalls; call'd Rondales, which fall into the River $\operatorname{Def}$ aguadero, and forc'd them often times to draw sheir Barques over the Land.
Gite.
The chief City is, 1. Leon, which is furrounded with Woods, and lies clofe by the Lake; hath a great Church, five Cloyfters belonging to the Monks, de la Mercede, feveral Houles for the King's Officers, and a hundred and ewenty thouland Families of Indians which pay Tribute. Three Leagues beyond Leon appears a high Spiry Mountain, from whofe top, both Morning and Evening, rifes a mighty fmoke, and fometimes cafts out great fulphurous Stones over the neighboring Fields, and on a fudden mighty Flames. A Dominican Monk, in hopes to get fome melted Gold out of its burning Mouth, went up the fame with four of his Fraternity, and carry'd an Iron Chain and a Kettle, which were no fooner let down into the hole, but they were immediately melted; yet not fo difcourag'd, they refolv'd to venture a fecond time with ftronger Materials, which neverthelefs had the fame, or rather worfe event; for the Fire flew out in fuch a manner, that the Dominicans fadly fcorch'd, had enough to do to efcape with Life, fince which none durft prefume to approach the fame.

But befides the Epifcopal City Leon, Erected by Francifcus Fernandez, 2. Granada acknowledges the fame Builder, and lying allo on the fhore of Laguna de Nicaragua, is adorn'd with a Caftle, Church, and feveral Sugar-Mills: Not far from it lie the fmall Lakes Mafaya and Lindiri; the firft which is inclos'd between exceeding high Mountains, covers the Foot of the burning Mountain Mafaya; the other falls into Laguna de Nicaragua, near which is the fmoky Mountain Munbacho, furrounded with Fruit-Trees.
3. © 4. The Towns fean, and Nerrva Segovia, which are not far from thence, are of little confequence.
5. Realeio, this is, as it were, the Chattam of America, being a place on the SouthSea, where the King of Spain hath all his Ships built that are made of American Timber, and inhabited by few or none but Shipwrights, Mariners, and Men of that kind of Profeffion.
6. 心7. Nicoya; Avarines.
8. Cartage, forty Leagues diftant from Nicoya, and lying almoft in the midft of the Iftbmus, or Streight of Darien, equally diftant both from the North and South Sea; on both which it is faid likewife to have a convenient Port or Haven for Shipping.

The Spaniards, when firft they Landed here, call'd this Countrey Mahomets Pa. radife, becaufe of its exceeding Fruitfulnefs. The Cacao which they ufe here in ftead of Money, is not unlike the Stone of an Almond. The Inhabitants, in ftead of ufing a Sreel and Flint to ftrike Fire withal, rub two pieces of Wood together fo long, till one of them is kindled ; and burn the Boughs of Pine Trees in ftead of Candles. Amongft the feveral Languages which they feeak, the Mexican is the chiefeft : Amongft their Recreations, Dancing is principal, which is perform'd afo ter a very ftrange manner, for they meet fometimes two or three thoufand together, according to the bignefs of the Province, in a fpacious Field, which is made clean before for that purpofe: He that leads the Dance goes backward, and with many ftrange Geftures, turns himfelf about, which the reft, following four and four together in a row, imitate, whilft their Tambores beat on hollow Inftruments, and fing Songs, which are firft anfwer'd by the Ring-leader of the Dance, and then feconded by the whole Company, each of them waving a Fan or a Callabafh, and being all adorn'd with Plumes of Feathers on their Heads, and Strings with Shells about their Arms and Legs; they alfo act feveral antick Tricks, the one, the blind Man, the other, the Cripple, one feigns himfelf to be deaf, the other makes a wry Mouth, one cries, and another laughs, whileft others drink healths in Chocolate, which continues till Midnight.

A King of this Countrey in former times us'd to feed the Fifh Manati with Bread, in the Lake Guainabo, where it would appear at its being call'd Matto, Matto, which fignifies Noble-minded, and oftentimes catry eight or ten Boys on its Back from one fide of the Lake to the other; but being fhot by a Spaniard with an Arrow, never appear'd again.

There is likewife a black Bealt in this Countrey call'd Cafcu, refembling in fome things a Hog; it hath a hard Skin, little Eyes, open Ears, cloven Feet, fhort Nofe, and makes fuch a terrible noife, that it affrights thofe which hear it.

No lefs Atrange and wonderful is the Fox:Ape, which hath two Bellies one under another, in the lowermoft of which it carries its Young, which are never brought into the World till they are able to fhift for their own Food. It hath the Body of a - Fox, Feet like a Man's Hands, and Ears liké Batt.

It will not be amifs before we conclude with this Province, to give you a Relation of the Difcourfe which hapned Anno 1527. between the Spanifh Commander Erancifco de Monteio and the Nicaraguan Cafique Alquinotex, who being a hundred and ten years old, told him, "That before the Spaniards arrival there, great numbers " of his Soldiers perifh'd after a ftrange manner; for after having vomited abun"dance of Worms, they fell down dead on a fudden : thofe that efcap.d the Con. "tagion differing amongft themfelves, made two Parties, which twice Engaging " with one another, each of them loft above a hundred and fifty thoufand Men. "Yet both thefe Plagues were no ways to be compar"d to the Slaughter which the "Spaniards had made amongft them.

About the fame time an Italiant, call'd Hieronymo Bonzo, Lodging with a Nicara; guan Noble man that underftood the Spanifh Tongue, was thus fer upon by him: What do not ( 0 h Chrift) the Chriftians do! they no fooner get their Foot into an Indian's Hut, but they commandingly call for Maiz, Honey, Winter.Clothes, Gold, Silver, and a Woman to cool their luffful defires: Certainly there is notbing more vicious on Earth. To which Bonzo gave him this Anfwer: The wicked Spaniards commit oftentimes unfeemly things. The Indian again fuddenly retorted, faying, Where are any fuch Men to be found as good Spaniards? I bave never known any but wicked Villains. To which Bonzo faid, Wby bave you made place for them on Nicaragua? Which was thus reply'd to by the Nobleman: "All People round about took Oath on the firft News of the Cbriftians ar"rival, to hazard all, and fight to the laft Man, before they would be under the " infupportable Yoke, with which they had heard other Countreys were opprefs'd "with by them. To which purpole they made ready Bowes, Arrows, Lances; "Stones, Clubs, and other Weapons of War: But when it came to the trial, the "Spanifh Horfe, of which they had never feen the like, ftruck fuch a terror into the "Indians, that they fled, and fent two Agents to Monteio to defire Peace; but their "Defign was onely to gain time, that they might gather new Forces, to venture "a fecond Encounter; which prov'd as fatal to them as the firft. Then defiring "Peace once more, they gather'd all that were able to bear Arms; and fwore one 's to another not to fir a Foot; and withal made a Law, That whofoever did " fhrink fhould be kill'd immediately: But the Women being inform'd hereof, " begg'd that they might rather fuffer under the Spanifh Yoke, than be torn in pieces " by their Dogs, or kill'd by their Bullets and Swords, alledging, that they were " not able to refift the Spaniards; and entreated them, that if they were refolv'd "to go on with their firf Defign, they would firf fend their Wives and Chil"dren to the other World, that fo they might not fall into the hands of the mercin "lefs and bloody Chriftians: Whereupon moit Voices judg'd it convenient to " make ufe of the Opportunity, and to fubmit to Monteio. But his cruel deal" ings made fome to contradict that Determination, for which they paid "dearly; for not onely they, but their little Infants, were put to the moft cruel

Sect. V.

Coftarica.

COftarica borders on the Eaft with Veragua; on the South and Eaft, with the Sea; and on the North, with Nicaragua. The Countrey it felf is barren and mountainous; whofe Inhabitants were valiant enough to Encounter with the Spanifh Forces, being unwilling to lofe their former Priviledges.

This Coaft was difcover'd firft by Chrifopher Columbus, who Ammo 1502. Sailing up the Rivers Belen and Veragua with Barques, took much Gold out of the Mynes Uria, but chiefly from between the Roots of Trees which were grown together.

SECT. VI.

Veragua.

VEragua is bounded on the Weft with Coftarica; on the Eaft it hath the Diftrict, or Countrey of Panama, being otherwife wafh'd on all fides by the Sea. It hath its Name from a River of great note in this Tract, by which it was firft difcover'd. The Countrey is for the moft part mountainous, and the Soil oute wardly barren, but recompencing all defects with the abundance of its more inward Wealth, that is to fay, in the richnefs of its Mynes, of which it is faid to afford many, and fo inexhauftibly rich and good, that the Spaniards here know no end of their Wealth; although by the ftoutnefs and untameablenefs of the Natives, it was 2 long time, and they met with many difficulties, before they could make them. felves Mafters of the Treafure.

The chief Towns they have here are 1. La Conception, lying at the Mouth of a Rio $\begin{gathered}\text { rii foien } \\ \text { romen }\end{gathered}$ ver fo nam'd, and the Seat of the Governor.
2. La Trinidad, upon the Banks of the fame River likewife, but down towards Port Beleno, and about fix Leagues Eaftward of Conception.
3. St. Foy, twelve Leagues more to the South, where the Spaniards melt their Gold, and caft it into Bars or Ingots.
4. Carlos, 2 Town they have upon the Coalt of Mare del Zur.
5. Philippina, another on the Weft of Carlos; both of thefe feated upon a large capacious Bay; before which there lie certain little Iflands, to the number of thirty or more, which the Spaniards are faid to have wholly difpeopled long fince, by forcing the Natives over into the Continent to work in the Mynes, as ufually they did before the Emperor's Prohibition : but now they ule Slaves or Negro's, which they buy for that purpofe from Guinee and other Parts.

Sect. VII,

Guatimala, properly fo call:d.

G
Uatimala, feecially fo call'd, hath on the Weft the River Xicalapa, which di-a a ound of vides it from Vera $P_{a z}$; on the Eaft it is bounded with the Countrey of Nisaragua; on the North, with Honduras; and on the South, with Mare. del Zur.

This Councrey was conquer'd by Peter de Alvarado, Amno 1525 . It is, by reafon of its neighborhood with Vera Paz, not altogether clear of Mountains, but otherwife well water'd with Rivers, and enrich'd with fair and fruitful Valleys, which afford not onely good Pafturage, and many great Herds of Cattel, but likewife good ftore of Wheat, Maiz, and other Fruits of the Earth. Great plenty of Cotton-Wool is general. ly both here and in the other Provinces, viz. Vera Paz, Chiapa, &c. fome Medicinal Woods likewife, and Liquors, and abfolutely the beft Sulphur in America. The Peo. ple are generally cractable and well difpos'd, both in point of Religion and civil Government.

The Towns of chief note are 1. Guatimala, now call'd St. Fago de Guatimala fince the re-building thereof, for about the Year 1586. it was almoft buried in Afhes, which one of the neighboring. Mountains, for the Space of fix Moneths together, continually belch'd out in fuch fearful quantities, that many People were flain, the old City deferted, and a new one built in another place. The day before this fad Accident hapned, the neighboring Mountains were obferv'd to fhiver, and a great noife was heard from under Ground; which amazing the Indians, the news thereof was carried to the Bifhop, Franci/cus Moroquin, who narrowly enquiring into the Caufes of thefe Accidents, and what they might portend, found that a fad Event would fuddenly follow, as accordingly it did; for about mid. night on the eighth of Auguft, Anno 1541. Such a mighty fore of Rain fell, as if the Clouds had been all diffolv'd into Water, which came rowling from the Rocky Mountains with fuch violence; that it wafh'd down great Stones, which carried on by the ffrength of the Water againft the Houfes, beat them down; and none could have feen how they were ruin'd, had not the mighty flafhes of Lightning, follow'd by terrible claps of Thunder, lighted the Night. Some inftantly deferting this miferable place, fled up into the Countrey, and there built a new Guatimala (as above-mention'd) fur-nam'd St. Fago, three Leagues farther towards the Eaft, in a Valley through which flow two Rivers, between two Vulcans, or fmoaking Mountains', which fometimes vomit forth terrible Flames, mix'd with dreadful Thunder-claps, Afhes, and great Stones, infomuch that the Ground all about it; which is exceeding fruitful, feems to move. There are many of thefe Vulcans in feveral parts of America, as namely at Arequipa in the Kingdom of Peru, at Puebla de los Angelos, in the Province of Tlafcalla abovefaid, a Mountain of fo great heighth, that they are fain to go little lefs than thirty Leagues turning and wind. before they can reach the top of it, and others in feveral other places. They are generally Mountains of great heighth, and running fharp upwards, but at the top containing fome quantity of plain and level Ground; in the midft whereof is a Pit or Hole, out of which abundance of Smoak and fiery Sparkles are vomited almoft continually, and fo deep, that they are fuppos'd for the moft part to reach to the very bottom of the Mountain. Some of thefe Vulcans caft forth neither Fire nor Smoak, yet are clearly feen to burn at the bottom with a quick Fire, and which is fo extreamly hot, that it infantly melteth Iron, or any other Metal that is caft into it, as by experience hath been found: for fome conceiving that the Matter which maintains thefe Fires within the Bowels of the Earth fo long together, can be nothing elfe but melted-Gold, have endeavor'd feveral times to extract and draw it forth in certain Veffels of Iron and Brafs, which they have caus'd to be let down into the bottom of the Vulcan or Pit, by long Iron Chains made on purpofe: but, as we faid, the extream heat and force of the Fire below al ways melted them before they could be drawn up again, and by that means hath rendred all fuch Attempts fruftrate. In this Town, now call'd St. Fago, refide above fix hundred Spanif) Commanders, and more than twenty five thouland Indians which pay Tribute. They have alfo a brave Church and two Cloyfters, one belonging to the Dominicans, and another to the Order La Merced, and likewife a noble Holpital. Not far from thence is a place call'd $\Upsilon_{\text {zaleos }}$, where there are Orchards of Cacoa two Leagues in fquare, each of them producing yearly as much as fifty thoufand Men are able to carty. They reckon the Cacao by Contels, which is the number of four hundred; by Xequipiles, of eight thouifand; and by Carga's, of twenty four thoufand. In this County is a Mountain, whofe top fmoaking continually confumes by degrees, and oftentimes covers the neighboring Countrey with Afhes: The Water which flows from the fame differs very much, for fome of it is wholfom and fit to drink; fome foul and ftinking, and fome turns Wood, if laid in the fame, to Stone. Here is alfo the Beaft whofe Head is highly efteem'd for the Bezoar Stone, which it carries in the fame. Here is likewife a little Bear, which in feead of a Mouth, hath a long Nofe with a round Hole in it, and a hollow Tongue, with which it fucks Honey, and difturbs the Nefts of Pifmires. The Women in this Place make curious Earthen Ware, colour'd either red or black with the Mud of two feveral Brooks. .The Indians call'd the boyling Fountains in this County Hell, becaufe they bubble up a Bowesfhot high, and make the River Caliente, which, notwithftand. ing it hath pars'd half a League through a wide Channel, retains its exceeding heat. Not far from it lies a Stone, which having a Crack in the middle, fends forth a thick Damp, and againft bad Weather a thundering noife. On the Moun. tains grow exceeding large Trees, efpecially Oak. Here Pifmires which are of an extraordinary bignefs, are brought to Market,amongft other Provifions.
2. St. Salvador, forty Leagues diftant from Guatimala Eaftward, and feated upon the River Guacapa, and having about it a fmall Territory, which by fome is accounted a diftinct Countrey or Province.
3. Acaputla, a Town of the Natives, fituated at the Mouth of the River, and be. ing as it were, the Port-Town to St. Salvador.
4. Trinidad, a Town of great refort, being the greateft Empory and Place of Traffick for all forts of Commodities, betwixt the People of Neıs Spain and thofeof Peru.
5. St. Michaels, two or three Leagues diftant from the Bay Fonfeca, upon the South Sea.
6. Xeres de la Frontera, on the Confines of this Province, towards the Borders of Nicaragua, befides feveral Villages which we fhall have occafion to mention.

In the middle of a Lake within this Territory is an Ifland, on which the Indians had a Tradition, That a Man no fooner fet his Foot but he died immediately: which Opinion of theirs was chang'd when the Spaniards went thicher in Boat-fulls and return'd fafe again, with Relation that they had feen a large Stone Image, refembling a Woman; before which lay the Afhes and Bones of flain People.

Round about the Village Guaymoco grow great Balfom-Trees, which afford Timber of fifty five Foot long. From this Village leads a Way to the City Salvador, near which the fore-mention'd River Guachapa runs with fo many windings, that the Traveller is forc'd to crofs the fame feveral times before he can come to the Foot of a Mountain which formerly caft out terrible Flames; but now the combuftible Matter being confum'd, there appears onely a great Hole on the top, with Afhes in a large compafs round about it. At the Foot of the fame are two Pits, one of which fmoaks continually in fuch a manner, that it flifles all thole that approach it ; yet the Mountain is well overfpread with Cedars and Pine-Trees.

Three Leagues farther lies the Village Nixapa; and not far from thence the Hill Elmal Pais, which confifts of great Stones and Afhes, wonderfully mixt together: No lefs wonderful is a Brook which flows in the Night till Morning, and then finks into the Ground : And in the Countrey Choluteca is another, which hides it felf at Noon, and appears again towards Night. The Cavern which formerly produc'd Fire and Smoke, now affords good Water to the Village Curcatan, and City Salvador: Near the Village ratepegve are five Springs, which caft up Allom and Sulphur. The Natives Cbontales which fpeak feveral Languages, flock to the Village Mimilla, to make Offerings; not far from hence are two Pits, one of which is full of boyling Water, and the other as cold as Ice: Moreover, Cocori lies near a high Mountain, on the top of which is a very turbulent Lake.

The chiefeft Haven of this Countrey, which lies along the South-Sea, is Balbia de Fonfeca, Difcover'd by Gonfalves Davila, Amo 1522. and fo nam'd from Joan Ro. drigas de Fonfeca, Bifhop of Burgos; In the middle thereof appears the Illand Petronella, with nine others, of which four are inhabited by Indians.

The good conveniency of the Haven Eonjeca, induc'd fome of the Spaniards to make a new Paffage from the fide of the Southern Ocean, to the Northern, roiz. from Panama to Nombre de Dios, defigning it to reach from the faid Haven Fonjeca, unto Puerto de Carellos, which are diftant one from the other forty five Leagues; molt of it good way, except fome over-grown Mountains, which might be made paffable with little trouble; to which purpofe they built the Town Buend Esperanca, yet neverthelefs the Work remain'd unprofecuted.

There are moreover reckon'd as appertaining to Guatimala, the fmall Provinces Soconulco, Suchitepee, and Cbilulteca, the chief of them being Soconufco, to which be. longs the Town of Gevetlan, where the SpaniJh Governor hath his Refidence; the reft feem to be onely fmall Territories about Towns of the fame Name, in like manner as St. Salvador, and St. Miguel beforemention'd.

The Kingdom of Mexico, or New-Spain.

Bounds of New-Spain.

NEw Spain, the chiefeft part of the Northern America, reckons in length from the Eaft-Point of Yucatan; to the place where Mechoacon juts againft Guadalajara three hundred and fixty Leagues; and in breadth from the Northern parts of Panucos, to the Southern Ocean, a hundred and eighty Leagues; befides a great part which lies to the Northward, behind inacceffable Mouncains and Wilderneffes; inhabited by the Tepecuaenes, Guachucules, Cacatequas, Tecaxaquines, and others; and was, before the Spaniards Conquer'd and Difmember'd it, much larger than now it is; for as much as it comprehended the whole Province of Newb Gallicia, and reach'd from the furtheft Point of the Peninfula of Fucatan South. ward as far as News Biifcay, and the Confines of Califormia Northward; containing in length feven hundred Leagues and more, and about half as much in breadth : But fince the Conqueft by Hernando Cortez and his Followers, the whole Countrey of New-Gallicia is taken from it, and made a diftinct Government or Audiencia, as the Spaniards call it, of it felf.

The Natives of the Countrey are of the Race of the Chichiece; a Salvage and The Oitginat Wilde fort of People, of the Province of New-Gallicia, efpecilly in the Parts of Neiv-Bijcay, living in Forefts and in deep Caves under Ground whofe Pofterity do ftill at this day much trouble and annoy the Countrey thereabuts; notwithftanding all the endeavors of the Spaniards, and the Garrifons whic they keep in thofe parts on purpofe to deftroy them. About five hundred years ag, or more, according to the account of the Mexican Annals, divers Hoards, as they are all'd, of theie Chichir mec.e, weary, it feems, of their Woods and fubterraneous dwelings, iffu'd out into the more open Air, and fell down in huge multitudes into defe Southerly parts of America, which are now call'd Mexico and Nelv-Spain; not al at once, but at $\mathrm{Fe}-$ veral times, and under feveral names, viz. of the Suchimilci, Cblce, Tepanece, Tlafalteca, and others, who fubduing or driving out the People they ound in thofe parts; Seated themfelves in their room: And though at firft every fation or Company of them, as they came, feiz'd upon fome Province apart by nemfelves, and held it, as it were, in Soveraignty to themfelves, without acknowedgement of any de. pendance or fubjection to their Neighbors, or thofe that wee there before them; yet in Tract of time, and by fortune of the Wars, which the made one upon an. other, they fell under the Government of one King, viz. he King of Mexico, which was the chief City of the Province.

This Kingdom, at the time that the Spaniards firlt Difcoverd the Countrey, was Govern'd by a Prince, nam'd Motezuma; one, who by his Vala and good fuccefs in the Wars, had in a few years of his Reign, before the Spaniar's came thither, fub. du'd the better part of a hundred Cities and great Towns tohis Dominion; and held in actual fubmiffion to his Government, and Tributaryto him, no lefs than thirty feveral Cafiques or petty Princes; every one of which pid him Tribute, and were able upon occafion to bring into the Field an hundred tioufand Men: He is faid to have been, for his Perfon, a wife and good Prince, juff, affable, and tender of his Subjects good : but by reafon of fome heavy exactions, which his own power, and the Practife of his Anceftors before him, gave him the :onfidence to Impofe upon the Conquer'd People, a great part of his Subjects liv's but unwillingly under his Obedience, and rather by conftraint than otherwife : being alfo further ex. afperated againft him by one barbarous Cuftom, which tie Mexicans frequently us'd, viz. the Sacrificing of Men. Their manner was, whenfoever they had any folemn occafion of doing Honor to their Devil=god Vitziloprchtli, as they call him, to fend out an Army of Men from Mexico, into fome of the fubdu'd Provinces, (in cale they had no Enemies nearer Hand) and to fetch in as many Men as they thought good, to be Sacrific'd; whofe flefh likewife afterwards they did eat in a folemn Banquet. This being a bufinefs of their Satanical Religion, and Motezuma a Prince extremely Superfitious and Devoted to the Service of his gods, it is faid, that he Sacrific'd commonly, one year with another, twenty thoufand Men, and fome years, upon extraordinary occafions, not lefs than fifty thoufand: So great and grievous a Tyranny, by the juft Juidgement and Permifion of Almighty God, for their great and unnatural fins, did the Enemy of Mankind exercife upon them. He was likewife much given to Women, but it was onely to fuch as were counted his Wives; of which he is faid to have had no lefs than a hundred and fifty with Child by him at one time.

The Bounds of this Kingdom at prefent are thus; on the Eaft it hath a large part of Gratimala, I I xtendech it felf in length from fucatan South.Eaft, to the Borders of Neiso Gallicia Northward, above eight hundred Italian Miles, and in breadth, from Panuco to the Suth Sea, about half fo much. It lieth wholly under the Tor* rid Zone: nor is it aCountrey generally fo mountainous or high feated, as fome others of America are but for the moft part level or low; yet is it lo fann'd, (for three parts at leaft of four, by the cooling Blafts of the Sea, and the Heats otherwife fo moderated yth frequent Rains, which it hath conftantly three Moneths in the Year, viz. Jone, $\mid(y ;$ and $\mathcal{A} u r u f)$ that the Air is rendred thereby exceeding temperate, and the climte not unhealthful, efpecially to temperate Bodies, and fuch as are never fo little ud to it. A goodly Countreyl it is, of inexhauftible Wealth and Riches, whether welegard the Mynes of Gold, Silver, Brafs, Iron, ©r. of all which it hath man, and very good; or the Fruits of the Earth, abundance of Cattel, plenty of Coh and Grain, of which they have ewo Harvelts; or any other Commodities and Edowments of Nature, which ferve for the enriching of the World. A mongft ofer things, it affords Caßia, the Fruit whereof is à thing well known, and much conmended by the Apothecaries for its ufe in Phyfick, efpecially in Purgations, and rmoving of all Obftructions of Phlegm, Choler, ©cc. Such ftore of Balm, Amb, all forts of Gums and precious Liquors, as no Countrey in the World is better frnifh'd with excellent Perfumes and Phyfick, than the Kingdom of Neros Spain.

Amongithe many ther forts of Trees which this Countrey produces, the moft remarkable is their Tuas, of which, there being five kinds, one is call'd Cumbeba, from whence proceed that admirable Tincture, commonly known by the Name of Cochinele, which is tus made : On the top of this Tree is found a Worm, which hath the bignefs and fape of a great Loufe, which fo increafes, that in one years time a hundred Trees hall be fock'd from the feed of one of thefe Animals. The Worm it felf, being wite, after the Skin is carefully pull'd off, put in cold Water or Affes, and fo dry' C , becomes Cochinele. The beft fort of it is to be had in Tlafcala, and that in fo great a puantity, that no lefs than five or fix hundred Arrobes of Spanifh Meafure (each Aifobe is as much as five Endijh Bufhels) is yearly Tranfported thence. The other for, which grows on the Mountains, and that which is not fo carefully gather'd, calld Chichimecas, Dyes not fo well as the right Cochinele. The Tunas alfo bears a Fruidlong and whitifh, with a fmooth Shell, and full of little Seeds like Figs : Tle red, which are inferior in tafte to the white, colours the Urine red.
Pine-Apples: The Pine.Apples which grow here differ from the Spanifh, for the Pulp is not inclos'd in a Shell: They have a pleafant fmell, and a Pulp, which if eaten much of, caufes an Appetite, it being of a tartifh tafte; they keep good a long time when Salted.
Fruit Casno.
But much more beneficial is the Cacao, with which Fruit New Spain drives a great Trade; nay, ferves for Coin'd Money. When they deliver a Parcel of Cacao, they tell them by five, thirty, and a hundred. Their Charity to the Poor never exceeds above one Cacuo Nut. The chief reafon for which this Fruit is fo highly efteem'd, is for the Cbooolate, which is made of the fame, without which the Inhabitants (being fo us'd to it) are not able to live, notwithftanding it caufes Phlegm and Vomiting to thofe that are ftrangers thereto. When the Englifh Commander Thomas Candifh coming into the Haven Guatulco, burnt two hundred thoufand Tun of Cacao, it prov'd no fmall lofs to all News Spain, the Provinces Guatimala and Nicaragua not producing fo much in a whole year. The Trees on which this Fruit grows are divided into four forts, differing in bignefs and fhape: all of them are very tender, for they will not onely grow in no place but on their ufual Ground, but cannot en. dure the cold Nights Storms, or exceffes of Heat ; wherefore the Cacao-Trees which grow out of the Fruit that falls off, come to no perfection, except in thady and warm Valleys; which is alfo the reafon why the Planters of New Spain plant the great Leafy Tree (acaoquanthly (that is, The Mother of the Cacao's) near the Cacao-Tree, that it may the better grow under the Shadow thereof; in which manner whole Woods are planted : In the fecond year it bears Fruit, which is firft ripe in faniary, and again in the midft of Summer. Amongft the four fors the chiefeft is Quathuitl, of an indiffent heighth, and full of flarp-pointed Leaves, which are faft to the Boughs without Stalks, and bears a great Flower of a yellowifh colour, which falling off, leaves long, tough, and hairy Threds behind them, out of which grows the Cacavently, a Fruit which is oval, heavy like a Melon, of a Saffron-colour, of a fat and thick Juice, a bitterifh, yet pleafant tafte, and very cooling; being dry'd in the Sun it is thereby made fit to keep; it is likewife highly efteem'd, becaufe the $\mathrm{Cbo}^{-}$ colate is made of the fame. Before the Spaniards made themfelves Mafters of Mexico, no other Drink was efteem'd but, that of the Cacao; none caring for. Wine, notwithftanding the Soil produces Vines every where in great abundance of it felf. But befides the Quathuil, Nerw Spain hath three other forts of Cacao-Trees, viz. Mecanal, pleafant to behold for its heighth, large Leaves and Fruit; the next is the Xo. chucaual, which is lefs than the former; and laftly the leaft fort, which is call'd Halcacabual. The Fruit of thefe four forts of Trees, though differing in fhape, yet is all one in power and operation.

The Spaniards to make (bocolate mix Maiz (by the Mexicans call'd Tlaolli) either whole or Ground, or boyl'd before with Chalk. 'Moreover, they put the red Ker. nels alfo in the Drink, which grow in the Fruit of the Achiote-Tree. Of the Kernels, which are dry and cooling, boyl'd in Water, and ftirr'd till it comes to 2 . Pap, chey make Cakes, which mix'd with the (hooolate, gives it a cleanfing power, and takes away all taftes that caufe vomiting.

The Pepper Mecaxochite, which grows creeping along the Earth, with long and fragrant Leaves, round Stalks, hairy Roots, and three long Cods which fhoot upwards. This Pepper tempers the over-cooling property of the Chocolate. Laftly, it confifts alfo of Xuchinacatlis, Thilxochitle, and the Rozenifh Gum, Holli. The Xocinacatli is a Tree with fmall Leaves, and great Flowers hanging on long Stalks that bend downwards, within of a purple, and without of a dark-green colour, of a fweet fmell, and refembling an Ear; and this Flower alfo gives a pleafant tafte and whollom operation to the Cbocolate. The Tilxochitle runs up to the tops of Trees like Ivy ; the Flowers, of a darkifh brown colour, cleanfe the Nerves, ftrengthen the Brain, and takeaway the rawnefs of the Stomach. The Holli drops out of the Holquabuytle, a fmooth barky Tree full of Moifture, which at firft appearance is white, then yellowifh, and laftly black, which kneaded into round Balls and Roafted, is a remedy againft a Loofnefs and forenefs of the Bowels.

Nature of the Piople.

The Natives of the Countrey are very ingenious in divers mechanical Arts, efpecially in making of FeathersPictures, a piece of Curiofity wherein they are held to be incomparably, or rather inimitably excellent; and fo induftrious at it, that al. though the Americans generally are not a People over-much addicted to any kind of Labor or Study, yet at this they will fit a whole day together, without either Meat or Dfink, onely out of a natural affection they have to the Work, and a defire to be excellent in it ; The Countrey indeed affords them great variery of Birds and other Fowl, of moft rare and exquifite Colours, which is a great advantage to their Skill, and helps much to the accomplifhment of their Work. They Paint likewife very curioully upon their Cottons ; and are held to be generally the beft Goldfmiths in the World; of moft perfect skill in the purging and refining of all forts of Metals; but efpecially of Gold and Silver : And yet in other things fo ftrangely ftupid and ignorant, that when the Spaniards firft appeared amongt them, not a few of them (as 'tis reported) took the Horle and Man both for one Crea. tures' and when the Horfe Neighed, they would enquire very ferioufly what he faid: :-

Lakes of of Cbapala and Mexico the former of which is in the more Northern parts of the Kingdom, towards the Borders of New Gallicia, and is chiefly famous for the abun: dance of good Salt that is yearly made and Tranfported thence. The other of Mexico is one of the largeft and goodlieft in the World, of circular form (as forme fay) litule lefs than nine hundred Miles in compafs, environ'd with the main Land, the Peniinfula, of Cape of Floridd, Jucatan, and the Ifland Cuba, having tiwo onely Paffages in and out, and both of them well fortifid : the one betwixt the Point of fucatin and the Ifte Cuba, where the Tyde violently enters; and the other betwixt the faid Ifland and the Cape of Floridn, where it goeth as violently out: upon which Gulf the King of Spain hath-always fome good Ships in readinefs for all occafions; ; and by thein, 'tis fuppos'd, he doth more affure his Eftates in thofe parts of America; than by all the Gartifons befides.
is The whole Kingdom of Mexico, or New Spain, is fubdivided into thefe Inferior Provinces:
The Ceveral Provinces.
2.1. The Archbbiffoprick of Mexico. 2. The Bifhoprick, Mechoacon. 3. Los Angelos, or. Tlafcale. 4. Guaxaca. 5. The Lordichip Panuco: And 6. the Province Tabafo.
valice, the chief Province of Neib-Spain, fo denominated from Mexico the chief City, not only of the Province, but of all America; lying between Tlafcale and Mechoacan, extends in length from North to South, a hundred and feventeen Leagues; and in breadth along the Southern Ocean, feventeen, but up in the Countrey, fify four Leagues: In which circumference lie to the North-Eaft, Lateotlalpa, Mextio Han, Xilotepeque, and Panuco; Weftward, Matalzingo, and Cultepeque; Eaftward, Tuzo roco; South-Eaft, Chalco; Southward, Suchimilco, Tlaluc, Coyxca, and Acapulco.

It is bounded on the Eaft; with the Guif of Mexico; on the Weft, with Mechoacan; on the North, with Panuco, and fome parts of New-Gallicia; and on the South, with Ilafcalla.

This Countrey is both large and rich, containing not much lefs than one hun. dred and thirty Leagues, both in length and breadth; and if it yields any thing to Peru in the plenty of Gold and Silver, 'tis certain it much excels it in many other Commodities; as namely, in all forts of Fruits, abundance of Cattel, plenty of Corn and Grain; in all which, the advantage this Countrey hath, not only of Pe$r u$, but of all the other Provinces of America befide, is well known: Not to fpeak any thing of the great plenty and variety of good Fifh, which both the Rivers and Lakes of this Countrey afford, which is very great; infomuch, that the very Trio bute of the one Lake of Mexico is faid to yield an Income of above twenty thoufand Crowns yearly, one with another.

The People of the Councrey are generally Induftrious and Active, efpecially fince the Spaniards came among them; rich Merchants, if they apply themfelves to it; and they fay likewife good Soldiers, when they are train'd and imploy'd that way.

The chief Towns and places of the Province are, 1. Mexico, both anciently and at prefent, the Metropolis and Capital City; being the Seat of an Archbifhop, and the ordinary Refidence of the Vice-Roy, and chief Governors of Nend-Spain.

This City, by the Indians was formerly call'd Tenuftatan, lies in nineteen Degrees and a half to the Northward of the Equinoftial-Line, rais'd out of a brackifh Lake, full of muddy Water; whofe circumference along the Mountains is feventy Leagues: This Lake fivarms continually with Boats, which carry the People to and again from one inhäbited Ifland to another; four Stone-bridges, no lefs coftly thian artificial, with Arches and Gates in Ceveral places, lead from the City to the Main Continent.

The frefh Water which they liave in the City Mexico, is led into the fame through Pipes that lie in the bottom of the Lake; but none are to enjoy the benefit thereof, before they have paid a certain Sum of Money to che King's Collectors.

Moreover, the City divided into Iflands, contains above fixty thoufand Houfes, which being buile on feveral Infes, have large Bridges, which reach from one to another; fome that lie in the middle of the Lake, they approach in little Boats; round about the Lake, efpecially where the way leads from the Continent into the City, lie feveral Suburbs, all inclos'd with Walls; between which fand ftrong Towers, cover'd on the top: To keep off the force of the Water, the Tenuftatans have with great labor and charge, made a Bank through the Lake, half way along the City: But the Lake Laguna; from whofe bottom Mexico is rais'd, is divided in two parts, the Sweet Lake, which is higher than the Salt, falls in to the fame through Sluces, with Bridges built on the Bank that leads from the City to the main Latid: The SaltLake, which hath brackifh and bitter Water, ebbs and flows according as the Wind blows; no Fiff is able to live in the fame, becaufe the Water which in the fight of Mexico falls into the fame out of the Mountains, hath a fulphury Ground : All along the fhore, much Salt is made, with which the Citizens drive a great Trade: There are continually above a hundred thoufand Boats (by the Indians call'd Acales, and by the Spaniards, Canoos) going off and on from one fhore to another: The frefh Water Lake, which is bigger than the $f_{a} l \mathrm{t}$, and feeds fmall Fifhes, hath above fito ty Suburbs about the fame, of which, fome boaft five thoufand, and others ten thoufand Houfes: Nay, the Suburb Tefcuco, in former times was no way inferior to Mexico in bignefs; fince the Spaniards have been Mafters of this City, they ftopt up many Moars, to inlarge their narrow Streets.

Befides three publick Markets, every open place affords all forts of Provifions daily; the Indians call the Markets Tianguyfly, and the Spaniards, Tianguez; the firft and chiefeft ftands in Tatelulco, adorn'd with Galleries on three fides; in the mid. dle of this Square, which is accounted the biggeft in the World, ftands next to the place of Execution, a ftately Fountain; the Tents which are every Week pitch'd up here for Trade, amount to above thirty thoufand. The fecond Market call'd St. Fobn's, is in Mexico, and fwarms continually with People. The third is call'd Hipolito, from the Guardiansaint of the City, whither every Wednefday and Thurfday comes fuch a multitude of People, that this Spacious Market is too little for them; for the fale of every Commodity, a peculiar corner is allotted; but great Packs are left to be difpos'd of in Boats, which lie near the fhore.

At the four corners of the City, at prefent call'd St. Fobn, St.-Maria la Rotonda, St. Pablo, and St. Sebaftian, are above four thoufand Spanijh Families, and thirty thoufand Indians, befides what inhabit Tatelulco, now St. fago.

The Air in this place is very ftrange; in the day time, the Sky is generally Se . rene; the North Wind againft the Evening brings Rain, of which the Mountain Tepeaquilla lying a little League beyond the City, gives certain Teftimonies; for when a black Cloud appears on the top thereof, it is certain to be blown from thence over Mexico with Rain : After a moift Evening follows a Starslight Night, and a pleafant Morning: From September till May, it is generally dry Weather here, but if it chances to Rain, the Rain is attended with a Storm, which occafions a fulphurous Fogg, very unwholfom, and fo dark, that one Man cannot difcern another, and caufes a pain through all the Limbs, nay fometimes. Death it felf; wherefore, whenfoe're it approaches, every one keeps clofe in his Houfe, or goes into the Countrey.

Moreover, it is worthy of obfervation, how Arangely this City is alter'd fince its being Conquer'd by the Spaniards, and efpecially when Anno 1629. it was overflow'd by a mighty Deluge; which alteration by Barnabe Cabo, in a Letter to the Fefuite Hernande Leon, is thus fet forth:

piatiof mastio.

Mexico, fays he, lying in a Valley between high Mountains, hath Ceventy Leagues in circumference: The Valley being Oval, is for the moft part interfpers'd with Lakes, which the Indians, and after them the Spaniards have digg'd, only the Lake which wafhes Mexico is natural; and to ftop the Water-falls, there are Banks and Sluces.every where: The Flood before Mexicalcingo flows a Fathom and a half higher than before Mexico. The four other Lakes to the Northward have much more Water than the Mexicalcingo, of which, fome have fcarce four, others but three Leagues in circumference; when as Mexicalcingo's Lake reckons fifteen, and Mexico's fixteen. On the breaking of the Banks, Mexico hath often fuffer'd great damage, wherefore the Vice-Roy de Valefoo took feecial care to make a vent for the Water through the loweft Mountains; whereupon the Countrey being Survey'd, the Northern Coaft neár the Village Gueguenoca, was found to be the moft convenient. But about the manner of letting the Water out, the Surveyors could no ways agree; moft of them were of opinion to dig Channels, into which the Lakes might difcharge their Waters ; others, thought beft to make a Gutter under Ground, which laft Velafca put in hand with unhappy fuccefs, becaufe the Laborers who under-min'd the Ground, were choak'd $w$ ith the falling in of the Sand, or ftifled with the fulphurous.Vapors rifing out of the Earth: Neverthelefs, they gave not over the Work, though they began it quite another way,for a French-Man, call'd Henry Martin, advis'd to deepen the River Quaiotitlan, which falls into the Ingma, and by that means make it a Bay, into which the Laguna might pour her over-charg'd Waters: Which defign,though contradicted by the Jefuir fohn Sanchez, was put in practice; by which means the Water fell in a fhort time fo much, that they could walk dry to the Cliff El Ponnel, lying a League from the City; wherefore they continually labour'd on this Work, till fuch time as Conde de Getues came over for Vice-Roy, who judg'd the Charge to be unneceffary, nay Commanded the Ditches to be broken down, which ftopt the Water along the Silver Mines of Pachuca, that he might fee exactly how much it would over-flow Mexico: After which the Flood rofe yearly higher and higher; till at laft, Anno 1629. a mighty Rain falling, fwole the Laguna in fuch a manner, that it over-whelm'd all Mexico, wafh'd down the Houfes, all Merchandizes which could not endure the Water, were fpoil'd, and had not they had innumerable Boats to help them, thoufands of People might have perifh'd in this Deluge: But at laft, Henry Martin reftor'd again the fore-mention'd Channel to its former Perfection, and brought the Flood which fell down out of the Mountains within the Banks of the River.

Qluantitlan digg'd alfo a Channel of eight thoufand Fathom long, and made an Arch'd Sewer under Ground of the fame length, which Sewer hath at every two hundred Fathoms diftance, Vent-holes, and a hole of fixty Fathom deep, and by this means, diverting abundance of Water, they dry'd Mexico in a fhort time : When the Banks and Streets began no fooner to appear, but they fell to work to raife the Ground, and to lay Bridges, and allo to build more Boats. The Citizens likewife found it convenient to make another deep Sewer for the carrying away of more Water, notwithftanding it requir'd twenty years labor. The River, which in a manner runs through the middle of the City, is curb'd by a Wall; a crooked Bridge, with many Arches, and of a long extent, leads to the City, in which ftand stately Pala: many brave Palaces, with plearant Walks of Trees about them; the Cloyfters of feveral Orders of Fryers, appear with high Spires and Turrets, above all other Buildings.

The Francijcans have here four very fumptuous Buildings: The firft, Confecrated to St. Francis, ftands in the uppermoft part of Mexico, within a large fquare Court, and on each a pleafant Walk of Trees: The Cloyfter it felf is very high, and treb. ble Wall'd, with Towers and Galleries about it : In the middle of the City Itands another Tower'd-Cloyfter, call'd St. fago. The third lies a little diftance from it, which being built long, hath a ftately Turret, and is call'd Maria de Rodonda. The fourth, not far from the firft, but much fmaller, is nam'd San Diego; thefe belong to the Francifcans. The Augufin Monks are alfo no way inferior to the Erancifcans, for magnificent Structures, with fpacious Halls, high Towers, and rich Balconies: The firft is denominated from Sto Auguftine, juft behind which appears San Pabla, lefs ftately than the reft. St. Sebaftian, near the Laguna, is built in manner like a Church, whofe Tower ends like a Pyramid. The Cloyfter San Cruz, belong= ing alfo to the Auguftines, built fquare, ftands near the Marker, in the middle of which ftands a fately Fountain: The Court within inviron'd with thick Walls, amazes the beholders by the pleafantnefs of its fituation.

Moreover, the Dominicans inhabit two brave Cloyfters; the chiefeft Dedicated to St. Dominic, is eight fquare; to which is adjoyning a pretty large Church, with a Steeple : The fecond, which ftands on one fide of St. Fago, and confifts of three fe. veral Structures, is call'd Collegio de Porta Cali. Oppofite to St. Jago, near the great Marker, Market the Fefuits have a fately Colledge, or High-School, where many are brought up in the Latin and Greek Tongues, whence it is call'd, Cafa Profeffa Les Eftudios.

There is alfo another Habitation of Religious Men, call'd Illefonfe Sanna Noviciad, which for State, may vie with any Royal Palace.

Cloythers beLunging to the Monks of La Merced.

Womens Cloyfters.

The Vice:

Roy's Palace bithop's Scat.

The Monks of La Merced dwell in two Cloyfters, both Confecrated to the Virgin Mary, yet Sirnam'd Montferatte, and Carmel: The firft lying not far from the River, is a mean Structure, in comparifon to the laft; the uppermoft Tower of whofe Temple appears above atl other Buildings, in the upper part of Mexico near the Cloyfter of St. Francis.

The Women have alfo fourteen Cloyfters here, the chiefeft whereof is Dedicated to Catharine of Siena ; but much more fplendid is that of Santa Terefa, built like. an Imperial Palace; famous for its ftately Gardens, and round Fountain, which continually fpouts Water. The reft, which we fhall onely name, are La Encarnacio, Santa Ines, FefusoMaria, Laurenfo, Las Des-calcas, Santa Clara, Juan de la Penitentia, Regina Cali, Santa Monica, las Rocogidas, Jeronymo, and Conceptione; befides che Almfhoufes, Real de los Indios, and Nofra Senora del Amor: There are likewife eight Hofpitals, viz de Dios, del Spiritu Santo, Juan de Doys, de la Mifericordia, de fan Hippolito, and de fan Lazaro. The three chief Churches bear the Name of Catharine, Mare tin, and Vera Cruz; and the Clergy-men thereto belonging, enjoy many fately Palaces, amongft which are fuan de Lateran, de Cbrifto, and las Nivas:

The Refidence of the Vice-Roy which lies near the Dominican Cloyfter, Porto Ca. $l i$, is fo fumptuous a Structure, that it may ftand in competition with any of thofe Edifices which were fo much cry'd up by the Ancients; neverthelefs, it is not to be compar'd to the Arch-bifhop's Sear, built round like a Theatre, whofe Lufter expreffes the Quality of him that inhabits the fame, he being Governor of the Bi Thopricks of Fafcala, Guaxaca, Meclaoocan, New Galicia, Chiapa, Yucatan, Guatimala, Verapaz, and the Pbilippinas. This marvellous Structure was begun by Ferdinand Corte: fius, but was finifh'd by Sebaftian Ramires de Fuenleal; and not much inferior there. unto is the Cafa de Cabildo Alameda.

At prefent, Mexico is thought to be one of the richeft Cities of the World, abounding (if reports be true) in all kind of voluptuous gallantry and bravery, even to excefs: It is fuppos'd to contain about fix or feven Miles in compafs, and to confift of above an hundred thoufand Houfes or Families, whereof not the tenth part Spaniards, but thofe that are, all Gentlemen, at leaft as to their garb and manner of living; for they live moft fplendidly in all refpects, both for Diet and Apparel.

For the firft, we have f poken fo much already of the general plenty of all things in the Kingdom of Newb-Spain, that pertain to this part of pleafure, that it is not to be doubted : And for the fecond this may be fome inftance, viz. that it is no extraordinary matter to fee an Hat-band or Role all of Diamonds, in fome ordinary Gentlemans Hat; and of Pearl among the common Citizens and Tradefmen. The Coaches (which moft Gentlemen keep) almoft cover'd with Gold and Silver, richly befet with Precious Stones, and within ordinarily lin'd with Cloth of Gold, or the beft China Silk that can be gotten; of which Coaches, in time of year, at the Alameda, as they call it, which is, as it were, The Hide-Park of Mexico, and a place made of purpofe for recreation and delight, a Man fhall obferve not feldom, above a thoufand or two thoufand Coaches, full of Ladies and Gallants coming thither onely to take the Air, and their Pleafure, both the one and the other attended with a numerous Train of Servants and Mulattoes of both Sexes. In la Plateria, which is but onely one Street in Mexico, nigh to the Vice-Roy's Palace, in lefs than half ant hours fpace: with the turn of an Eye, you may fee Millions of Wealth in Gold; Silver, and Precious Stones, in the Goldfmiths and Jewellers Shops thereabours. ${ }^{*}$ In a word, there is nothing hinders Mexico.from being the moft abfolute City in the World for delight and bravery, but onely two Inconveniences to which it is fubject: The one is the danger of the Lake, with the Infalls whereof it may feem to be almoft continually threatned, and in the Year 1629 . did actually fuffer a very great calamity, the Waters breaking through the Banks, and drowning a great part of the City, with the deftruction of much People, and the lofs of all their Goods intirely, through the avarice (as is fuppos'd) of the Vice-Roy that then was, and fome other of the King's Officers, who diverted the Money that flould have been employ'd for the fortifying and repairing of the Banks, to their own proper ufes: The other is from the nature of the Soil and Ground it felf on which it flandech; which is found to have a tincture of Sal Nitre in it, fomewhat ftrong; and the Winds partly from the Lake it felf, and partly from the Hills about it, rais fing the Duft of this Earth conftantly every Evening, for many Moneths of the Year together, fo violently, that the Air is even darkned therewith for fome time : The Inhabitants are much annoy'd by it, and made fubject to divers Hypocondria. cal Pains and Infirmities, and fometimes kill'd with it, efpecially fuch as either cannot, or care not much to avoid it.

The City lieth about fixty Leagues, or a hundred and fifty Miles diftant from the Allantick or North Sea, from whence by the Port of St. Join d' Ullua, or Vera Crux, (which are the ufual Landing.places) there is a fair and eafie March to Mexico, by the Cities of Xalabar, Perotta, Puebla de los Angeloś, and Taafcalla, all of them open and unfortif'd Places, (as likewife Mexico it felf) and the Countrey round about very rich and well accommodated with all things.
The next City of note in ancient times was Chulula, which being built in a fruit- Ciy comples. ful Plain, had above twenty thoufand Dwelling-houfes, and as many more Ban. quetting-houfes. The number of the Temples and Turrets were equal with that of the days in the Year: The Government thereof belong'd to a Mayor and fix Aldermen, and one chief Prieft; for they never went upon the leaft Defign before they had been at their Devotion; in which the Prieft's Office was onely to perfume the Idols four times in twenty four hours, viz. in the Morning, at Noon, after Sun=fet, and at Midnight; at which times none durft be abfent, but they us'd alfo a cruel Exercife on themfelves, and one much more cruel on others, for on ufual Feaft-days they abftain'd from Meat, Drink, and Sleep, fcourg'd their Bodies with knotted Cords after a miferable manner, evacuated cheir Seed, that fo they might curb all flefhly Defires, and met every Night in a fpacious place, where fitting down they wounded themfelves with Lances in their Legs and Arms, fo long till the Blood gufh'd out of the fame; which gathering in a Cup, they anointed their Temples therewith, and dipt the Lances in the fame, and then hung them up before the Temple in Bundles of Straw. Of thefe were a great number, and the more, becaufe they never us'd their Lances but once. But on thefe Days, which were Confecrated to the Idol Tezcallipuca, every one befides che.Priefts wore a new Rope made of the Hemp Mangey, of a Fathom long, and a thick Knot at the end, with which they beat themfelves fo miferably on their Backs, as if they intended to have broken them : After which the Priefts ftay'd five days in the Temple, in which they us'd the like cruelty, eating fcarce once in twenty four hours.

Their Prifoners they us'd after a moft horrid manner, viz. in their Temples ftood a round Stage of Stone; to the top of which they afcended by a Square Scaffold, fupported by twenty eight Pillars; behind which appear'd thoufands of Mens Heads, and amongft them the Prifoners that were to be Offer'd fat ftark naked, and guarded by feveral Armed Men; three Foot from the Steps which led up to the top of the Scaffold, ftood a pyramidical Stone, (by the Indians call'd Quauxia calli) and behind it two round Chappels, cover'd on the top like Mirres, each had four Holes in a large Gate, in which fat a horrid Reprefentation, worfhipp'd by fix Priefts call'd Chackalmua, whereof one call'd Papas, or Iopilzin, whofe Office was to pluck out the Hearts of the Prifoners, being in greateft efteem, wore a red Mantle about his Body, not unlike a long Coat, with broad Fringe, which trail'd afo ter him upon the Ground, and allo a Crown of green and yellow Plumes on his Head; his Ears and under Lip were likewife adorn'd with Precious Stones: The other five appear'd in like manner with their Hands and Faces painted red, but ha. ving Leathern Fafcia's about their Heads, and white Coats ftitch'd with Black on their Bodies, they might eafily be diftinguifh'd from the Topilzin; who on a fudden ran down the Stairs to the Prifoners, and fiew'd each of them an Image, (faying, This is your God) made of Bledo. Pafte, Maiz and Honey, green Beads for Eyes, and Grains of Maiz for Teeth: whereupon the Prifoners were led up, and laid with their Backs on the fharp Stone Quauxicalli; then the five Priefts took hold of their Leggs, Arms and Head, put woodden Collars about the Sufferer's Necks, whilft the Topilzin fhew'd Reverence to the Idol; which done, with a fharp Stone he cut open the Breafts of the Prifoners, who in a deplorable condition lay on the pyramidical Stone, and pulling their Hearts out of their Bodies, fhew'd the fame reeking to the Sun, and at laft threw them toward the Idol, and the dead Bodies down the Stairs, where fome appointed for that purpofe carried the fame away; but every one taking his own Prifoner, and roafting and boyling him, Cerv'd him up to his $\because$ Friends as a great Dainty.

This kind of Murdering was not onely us'd amongft the Mexicans, but alfo by all the other neighboring Indians, and efpecially in the City Chulula, which (as we have faid before) fignifies The Sanctity of all the Gods: for in this Town fix thoufand Children were yearly Offer'd.

The Citizens hereof us'd to drive a great Trade, efpecially in Cochinele.
Their Habits were feveral; for Perfons of Note wore Cotton Coars; about the Edges of which hung Feathers and pieces of Conyoskins: the meaner fort went in Nequons, or a fort of Linnen Coats made of the hairy Leaves of the Tree Magucy.
3. The City Tezuco, full of handfom Streets and fair Houfes, is built near the falt Mexican Lake, yet hath no want of frefh Water, with which it is fupply'd by Gutters from the Mountains under Ground, according to Antbony Herrera, it twice exceedeth in bignefs the famous City Sivill in Spain.
4. Quitlavaca, by the Spaniards call'd Venezuela, (becayfe it is, like Venice, furrounded with Water, and divided into feveral Ifles,) boafted formerly above two thoufand Families: From the Town a Cawfey of twenty Foot broad, and half a League long, leads through the Lake to the Main Continent.
5. Yztacpalapa, a very populous Place, and lying part of it in the falt Lake, and partly on the Main Land; where feveral frefh-water Pools afford ftore of Fifh, two Leagues diftant from Mexico, to which leads a broad, Way; in the middle of which ftands a Fountain, furrounded with high Trees, which produces excellent Water.

- 6. Mexicaltzingo, fituate upon the Lake Laguna, a Town confifting of four thoufand ftately Houfes.

7. Cayocan, in a fruitful plain, containing fix thoufand, being but a League and a half from 1 ztacpulapas: to which the neighboring Village Houcilopucho was not much inferior.

Thefe three Places, before they were fubdu'd by the Spaniards, boafted many brave Temples and high Towers, whofe luftre appear'd at a great diftance, but now being turn'd into Cloyfters, they are inhabited by Monks and Nuns.

The Salt made here of Earth, though not white, and onely fit to make Pickle of, is Tranfported to many Places.

About Mexico there are alfo feveral Villages, the chiêfeft of which are i. Mas ffitlan, a Town pleafantly feated upon the top of an huge Mountain, in the midft of moft delicate Groves and fhady Woods, and reckon'd to contain no lefs than thirty thoufand Inhabitants in all, dwelling either in the City, or upon the fides of the Mountain.
2. Antepecque; this is a Town belonging to the Marquefs de Valle, who is of the Pofterity of Cortez, and faid to be feated in the moft delicious place of all New. Spain.
3. Acapulco, a Town feated upon the South-Sea, or Mare del Zur, yet belonging to this Province. It is a haven-Town, and one of the moft frequented upon the South-Sea, fituate upon a large and capacious Bay of about a League broad at the Entrance, and affording many convenient Stations and Docks for Shipping. At the bottom of the Bay Weftward lieth the Town, with a ftrong Cafte very op. portunely built, both for the command and fecurity of the Port, well wall'd and fortif'd with Bulwarks, and having a conftant Garrifon of four hundred Soldiers in it, or thereabouts. The reafon whereof, I fuppofe, may be chiefly this, viz. that from this Pore there is the greateft Traffick and Entercourfe held betwixt the Eaft and West-Indies, together with the Pbilippine Illands.

The Countrey hath many rich Mynes of Silver in it, and fome of Gold ; the chief of which are by Herera reported to be thefe, viz. i. Thofe of Puchuca, fourteen Leagues diftant from Mexico. 2. Of Tafco. 3. Talpuiana. 4. Cultepeque. 5. Zache alpa. 6. Zupanguo, and divers others.

The reft of the Villages are Guatitlan, Tenyduca, Efcapufalco, Tacuba, and Suchimilco.

The neighboring Province Xilotepeck, which is exceeding fruitful, is alfo famous for two Fountains, whereof one near the Village Queretaro produces boyling Water, which when cool'd, is a wholfom Drink for Cattel : The other for four years is full of Water, and for four years after it is empty ; in great rainy Seafons it is quite dry, and in droughty Weather it overflows.

Between the Villages Queretaro and San Juan, is a Plain which extends it felf feven Leagues in breadth, and feven in length, befides two Leagues farther beyond 选artero, where a hundred thoufand Head of Cattel, anderen thoufand Horfes, find plentiful Pafture.

The Mountain Nevada, near the City Delos Angelos, deferves no fmall admiration; for it begins at thirty Leagues end to rife exceeding high, and being flat on the top, hath a wide gaping Mouth, whofe bottom is fathömlefs; from which as Sun•rifing and fetting rifes a Smoak up directly towards the Skie, but immediately after fpreading like a Plume of Feathers, it is difpers'd by the Wind, and no more feen till it appears in a dusky Cloud. With the Smoak are alfo Afhes vomited up; yet the Mountain is very pleafantly planted with lofty Cyprefs, Cedar, Oak, and Pine-Trees. The neighboring Fields abound likewife with Whear, Cotton, and Maiz. There feldom appears any Rain here.

At the Foot of this Mountain lies the Village Teperso, famouss for the Cryftal C c and Allom goteen there. The Village Ocotlan is alfo maintain'd by the fame : But Tucylala by Gold-Mines, and fruitful Lands, which are twice a year fhaken by Earthquakes; wherefore the Inhabitants live not in Stone Houfes, but in litele Straw Huts.

SoutheEaftward from Nerada is excellent Sugar to be had, and on the Mountain it felf the famous Gum Anime, which drops out of a Tree call'd Jetaiba, which is always green, with hard white Wood, a pale yellow \{peckled Bark, three long foft Leaves hanging one over another on one Stalk, and the Fruit on the middle of the Body. After the rainy Seafon is paft in October, then they cut a Hole in the Body of the Tree, out of which the Gum drops: it hath a pleafant fmell, and is exceeding good againft the Head ache occafion'd by Colds.

Not far from hence appears the Valleys Matalzingo and Atzompam, which have excellent Paftures, in which Diego Numnez de Camargo bred forty thoufand Sheep out of two in ten years time.

And thefe are the chiefeft Towns, Villages, and Countreys, which furround the

The firft Foundation of the City of Moxise. famous City Mexico.
Concerning the erecting of this City, the Indians relate thus: That the Seventh Family of the Navatlaca's, Extracted out of the Countrey Aztlan, rang'd up and down not without thoufands of Inconveniences, from one Countrey to another, according to the Information which their Sages had given their Spirit Viztliputli, till at laft fome of the Priefts ftraying from the Army, or rather Multitude, got into a Wildernefs, full of Brambles and Thorns, and came at length to a Place where was a Spring of clear Water, in which the Fifhes glitter'd like Silver; where taking up their repofe that Night, their Spirit inform'd the oldeft of them in a Dream, that they fhould find thereabouts a Tunal Tree (whofe Leaves grow out of one another) under which, on a Stone, lay the Heart of the famous Sorcerer Copil: This Tunal Tree fhould be difcover'd by a Crane on the top of it, which in one Foot fhould hold a Bird, and in the other a Bough of the Tree, near which they were to build a City: The old Prieft waking, and relating his Dream, every one endeavor'd to find out the fore-mention'd Tree; at laft they found it, by difcovering on the top a Crane, with fpread-out Wings looking up towards the Sun, and holding in his Claws a fmall Bird, invefted with curious Feathers: Whereupon they with all fpeed built a Chappel of Turf and Clods of Earth, and cover'd the fame with Canes, to keep their Idol from the Weather, refolving, fo foon as they could, to build him a better Temple.

The Lake on whofe Inles they fetled, abounded with Fifh and Fowls, which they exchang'd with the neighboring People for Stone and Mortar for the building of a Temple for Viztliputzli, and a new City; to which they made a Cawfey in the Lake Laguna, and divided it into four great Wards or Divifions, and fubdivided them again into leffer; over which they plac'd peculiar Idols, and order'd a Crane like that which they had feen on the Tunal Tree to be their City Arms. The dividing of the Wards occafion'd great dillike amongft the Grandees, judging thofe to whofe lot they fell, not to be worthy of them; wherefore deferting the fame, and travelling along the Lake Laguna, they fetled themfelves at laft in a fandy Soil, which they call'd Tlattellulco, and entertain'd a bitter hatred againft their Countrey=men who kept the four Wards of the new Tenufitan, doing them all the mifchief they could; wherefore the Affaulted were neceffitated to chufe a King, that they might be the better able to oppofe their Enemies: But that they might not raife a Difcontent amongft themfelves about electing a Governor, they judg'd it fitteft to take a Foreigner; amongft whom shey found none fo capable of fo great an Office as Acamapixtli, Grand-fon to the King of Culluacan, whereupon Sending Ambaffadors thither, they obrain'd their defires.

The new King was no fooner Crown'd, but he feteled all things in order with great Prudence, infomuch, that Mexico grew daily to be more famous and fear'd: But this fudden growth rais'd a jealoufie amongft the Neighbors, who dreaded their growing Power and Valor.

The Tapunecans who were alfo a valiant People, being the neareft to them, and having Azcapuzalco for their chief City, made it their main defign, utterly to root out the Mexicans, before they grew to be more Populous and Potent; notwith ftanding they had hitherto receiv'd Tribute from them, for delivering the Lake Laguna to them, which was a quantity of Timber and Plants; yet they demanded not only more Tribute than formerly, but alfo in fuch a manner, as was thought impoifible to have been perform'd, which was, that thofe Plants which were formerly brought to them, as growing on the Land, fhould be fet in the Water, fo as to come floating to them, as they grew, to $A$ fcapuzalco, which if they did not pay, they fhould expect to be all put to the Sword. The Mexicans much amaz'd hereat, and not knowing how to produce the demanded Plants, Viztliputzli inform'd the oldeft Prieft, that the demands might be fatisfi'd; and commanded him to throw Earth on the Water, and to Sow Seed on the fame, which at the ufual time produc'd Maiz, Azi, Chias, Tomates, and the like, with which the Tapunecans being fatisfid, demand next a Goofe, and a Hen which laid Eggs, out of which the young ones fhould appear, when on the floating Clods of Earth, the Nefts came oppofite to Azcapuzalco, which by the advice of Viztliputzli, they perform'd fifty years one after another. Mean while, Acamapixtli (who had inlarg'd Mexico with Streets, Palaces, Temples, and Markets) dying, would not name any one to fucceed him, but left the choice of the Election to the Commonalty, who Crownd his Son Vitzilovitli, and Marry'd him to the King of Tapunecans Daughter, that by that means they might gain his friendfhip, and be eas'd of their Arange Annual Tribute: Whereupon Ayaucligual, the King of Tapunecans Daughter being Marry'd to Vitzilovitli, was within twelve Moneths deliver'd of a Son, which the Grand-father call'd Chimalpopoca, which fignifies $A$ Gun vobich gives Smoke, and afterwards was fatisfíd with two Geefe, and fome Fifh yearly from the Mexicans, onely as an Acknowledgment that they inhabited his Countrey. Chimalpopoca loofing his Parents, in his tenth year was Crown'd King, with a Bowe and Arrows in his left Hand, and a Woodden Sword in the right: Soon after he oblig'd his Mothers Father to be kind to the Mexicans, for they being in great want for frefh Water, he had leave by Channels to bring the fame out of the Mountain Chapultepec, a League diftant from Mexico; to which purpofe they made a Pipe of Planks, and hollow Trees joyn'd together with Clay, quite through the Lake; but this Pipe not being teight and durable , and the frefh Water by that means mixing with the Salt, they fent Agents to $A z$, capuzalco, to requeft Stones, Mortar, and Work-men to make a fubftantial Sewer: This meffage was ill refented by the Council of $A$ zapuzalco; What, (faid they) do the Mexicans tbink, fhall a rambling company of People, whicb on Charity live in anothers Countrey, Comnand thofe that Govern tbem to be their Servants? This grudge went fo far, that at laft they took a Refolution without the King's knowledges (for he was fufpected, becaule of his Grand-chil'd (himalpopoca) to forbid all manner of Trade with the Mexicans; nay, to endeavor utterly to root them out ; yet fome judg'd, that they ought to Spare Chimalpopoca, while others on the contrary faid, That be ought to be deftroy'd, becaufe bis Fatber being a Mexican, be would to the utmoft of his Poiver defend his People; which laft being approv'd of, fo troubled the King of thẹ Tapune.
canls, that he dy'd of grief; for the Defign being foon after put into execution, and the Tapuneca's breaking in the Night into Climalpopoca's Palace, Murder'd him; which Murder made the Mexicans thirft for revenge; whereupon, fetting themfelves wholly againft the Tapunecans, they enter'd into a League with Vezcuco, and Culbuacan, and chofe İcoalt, for his great Valor, for their King; notwithftanding Acamapixtli had begotten him on a Slave.

Itcealts fuccess againf

Izcoalt was no fooner Crown'd, but he made great preparation for a War, though againft every ones Opinion, becaufe of the Populoufnefs of the Tapunecans; yee it was concluded on, that they fhould requeft Peace, and a place to inhabit on the main Continent, that fo they might remove from the Ifles: This Requeft they thought could not be deny'd them in Azcapuzalco, provided the Mexicans brought their Gods thither, and wholly conform'd themfelves to the manners of the Tapunecans, for otherwife they could expect nothing but utter Ruine: Yet though every one elfe imbrac'd the Propofal, Tlacaellel, the King's Nephew, Atiffy oppos'd it, alleging, that it did not'agree with the Mexicans quality, to make fo mean and fla. vifh a Proffer; and that they had beft confider, firt if there were no other means to be found: and that he would willingly venture his Life in going to Azcapuzalco, as a Spie, to pry into their whole Defigns and Intentions, which was perform'd accordingly; and foon after returning, he brought information, that the Tapunecans were making great preparations for War, and made no mention at all of Peace; which news ftruck a general fear into all Peoples Hearts; many defiring that they might fave themfelves by flight ; but Izcoalt putting frefh courage into them, made an agreement with the People, that if he was beaten by the Tapunecans, they fhould eat him up; but if he prov'd Conqueror, they fhould all be at his Command; to which all confenting, they boldly march'd with their King to the City Azrapuzalco. The Front of the Army confifting of the prime Nobility, was led by Tlucaellel, and the Rear Izcoalt brought up, who was alfo to give the fign on a Drum, when they fhould fall upon the Enemies; who having ten Men to the Mexicans one, fuddenly Sally'd out of the Gates, where they were fo briskly entertain'd by Tlacaellel, that in a confus'd manner they foon ran back into the City, whither the Conqueror purfuing them, got within the Gates, where he put all to the Sword which he could meet with; fome fled to a fteep neighboring Mountain, whither being allo follow'd, they threw down their Arms, and begg'd Quarter, to ferve the Mexicans as Slaves, which was granted them, whillt Izcoalt found an unvaluable Mafs of Treafure in $\mathcal{A z c a p u z a l c o , ~ a n d ~ d i f t r i b u t e d ~ t h e ~ C o n q u e r ' d ~ C o u n t r e y ~ a m o n g f t ~ t h o f e ~}$ who had behav'd themfelves beft.

This Conqueft made the neighboring People jealous of the Mexicans, whofe Suce cefs and growing Power they dreaded.

The Towns Tacuba and Cuyoacan, though they had Governors of their own, yet were fubject to the Tapunecans, whofe General advifing thofe of $A z$ capuzalco to try another Encounter, they took up Arms again ; but before it came to a Battel, the Cuyoacans play'd a fubtile trick with the Mexicans, for inviting them to an Idolatrous Feaft, after they had Eat, Drunk, and Danc'd, they forc'd them to put on Womens Apparel, to their no fmall difgrace and ignomy; which remain'd not unreveng'd, for the Mexicans made a Poyfonous Fume in the Gates of Cujoacan, which made Women with Child to Mifcarry, and many to fall dangeroufly fick; yet laftly, both Parties march'd into the Fields, where whilft Izcoalt was elfewhere ingag'd, Tlacaellel marching about, came upon the backs of the (ru)oacans with fuch eagernefs, that they fled to a ftrong Temple, which.foon after was fet on fire by Tlacaellel, who purfu'd the Enemy ten Leagues.

This Conqueft fir'd up the Suchiminicos, the firt Eamily of the Navatlaca's, to fop the proceedings of the Mexicans, that they might not, as they, had already done to others, fall upon them ; to which purpofe they thought to furprize the Conquering Army; but Tlacaellel who led the Van, march'd in good Order to meet the Suchimilcos, fell refolutely upon their whole Army; and after a flort conflict, put them to flight, and took the City Suchimilco for Izcoalt, who being Crown'd King there, Commanded the Conquer'd to make a direat Road betwixt Suchimilco and Mexico; of four Leagues long, both, that a Trade might the eafier be drove between thefe two Cities, and to keep them the better in awe: Notwithftanding thefe examples, Cuytlavacan,a City built at the Lake Laginna, trufting to the abundance of Boats; which the Citizens knew how to ufe with great dexterity, daily molefted Mexio co with them by Water, whereupon Izcoalt refolv'd to fend his Victorious Army thither, but Tlacaellel oppofing the fame, promis'd to fubdue the Rebelling City with a confiderable number of Boys, which had skill in the managing of a Canoo, which being permitted him, he accordingly made himfelf Mafter of Cujtlavacan, from whence the Boys brought a great Booty, and divers Prifoners, whom they fent as an Offering to Vitzlipultzli.

Thefe unheard of Victories being fpread far and near, mov'd Tezcuco after feveral Skirmifhes and Conflicts with Tlacaellel, to fubmit to the Mexican King, who chofe the Governor thereof for his Prime Councellor. Izcoalt Deceafing, after having Reign'd twelve years, his Son Muteczuma was chofen his Succeffor; the Eleation and Coronation being perform'd afeer the following manner.

The new King mantled in Tygers Skins, was led into the chief Temple before a Hearth, on which burnt Fire both Night and Day; not far from which ftood the Throne, where fitting down, he Offer'd Blood, which was taken from his Cheeks, Ears, and Legs; after which, an Orator Congratulated him, in the name of the Nobility ; which done, they ended the Solemnity in a great Dinner, Fire-Works, and Dancing: At the fame time it was eftablifh'd, that all Future Coronations flould be kept with an Offering of Provifions, fetch'd by the King out of the Enemies Countrey : wherefore Muteczuma going to the Countrey Cbalco, took feveral of the Natives, whofe reaking Hearts he Offer'd to Viztlipuztli: Which done, the Coronation follow'd, to which an innumerable company of People came flocking from all the neighboring Provinces: Thofe which were Tributaries, brought Prefents with them, before which the Heralds carry'd the Coats of Arms belong. ing to the Nobility of Mexico, in a good order.

Soon after the King's Coronation, he march'd and fell upon Chalco, the Inhabitants of which defended themfelves very Valiantly, took Muteczuma's Brother, among feveral other Prifoners; to whom the Conquerors proffer'd the Govern. ment; which at firft he refus'd, but at laft accepted of on this condition, that a high Maft fhould be erected with a Scaffold on the top, which made every one fuppore, that Muteczuma's Brother did in that manner aim at a high Election, but he at the appointed time, getting on the top of the Maft, call'd with a loud voice, and fpake to the taken Mexicans which were there prefent to this effect : Cbalco feeks to fer me on the Throne, the Heavens will not permit it; learn by me rather to die, than to live and be guilty of Treafon to your Countrey: which he had no fooner faid; but with fome Flowers which he held in his Hand, threw himfelf down from the Scaffold, which fo inrag'd the Cbalcoans, that they immediately flew all the other Mexicans that were there prefent; which not long after was reveng'd by Muteczuma, who not onely fubdu'd Chalco, but feveral other Provinces, leaving onely Tlafcala un, attempted, that the Mexicans might have a neighboring Enemy to fetch Prifoners from for their Offerings, and alfo by Skirmiffing with them, train up their Youth in Martial Difcipline.

Thus his Predeceffors and he, having Conquer'd divers Provinces, infomuch that he was now become abfolute Emperor over a vaft Tract of Land, he refolv'd to fettle the fame in good order; to which purpofe he erected Courts of Judicature, with good Laws; built a fately Palace and Temple; ordain'd feveral Cuftoms to be' obferv'd in Religion; which done, and having Reign'd twenty eight years, he Deceafing, left Ticocic for his Succeffor.

Defription of the Tem: ple Cw.

The foremention'd Temple was call'd $C u$, being built of Stone, in form like a Serpent, of an exceeding bignefs, in the middle thereof there was a fpacious open place, and round about it Habitations, two Stories high, the lowermof for the Inferior Priefts, and the uppermoft for the High Priefts; in this place alfo above ten thoufand People Danc'd in a Circle, on all high Feafts; four great Gates fac'd the like number of broad Streets, each two Leagues long: On the outmoft Gate ftood large Images, the Front of black Stones, Painted between each Lay with red and yellow Colours, no lefs Beautiful than Artificial: On each corner of the Teemple were plac'd two Marble Statues of Indians, fitting with their Arms freech'd out, and holding a Candle, and on their Heads Plumes of Feathers: Thirty high fteps led up to a round place, fet about with Deaths-Heads, which was a Stage appointed for the flaughter of thofe, whofe Hearts were to be Offer'd to the Diabolical gods, and whofe Heads, their Bodies being eaten, were brought back to the Priefts, who hung them under the Stage, where every Head hanging till it dropp'd off, the vacant place was immediately fupply'd with a frefh Head. At the end of the Stage ftood two Chappels, cover'd like a Cardinal's.Cap, in one of which fate the Image of Tiztlputzli, and in the other Tlaloc, to which led a hundred and twenty Stone fteps.

But befides this fately Temple $C_{u}$, Mexico boafted nine more, ftanding not far afunder in a large Plain, all adorn'd with curious Imagery, and fet out with large Pillars, each being Dedicated to a peculiar Idol, and built with magnificent Apartments, for the Priefts to lodge in ; the chiefeft of them Dedicated to an Idol call'd.Tezeatlipuca, or Lord of the Humble. This Temple was afcended to by eighty Ateps, and had before it a Spacious Court; within a low and broad Gate appear'd a high Vail, which open'd into a fpacious \{quare Hall, hung with Tapeftry, at the end whereof food large Images, and beyond which were feveral Rooms; in which Affemblies mer', Scholars were taught, Judges fare, and Priefts Refided.

But to returi again to Mateczunna, his Funeral was no fooner finifh'd, but the four Prime Councellors were attended by the Commiffioners of Tezruco and Tach$b a$, in order to the Election of a new Kirig : Tlacaellel being the chief amongtt the Dukes, was by a general Vote Saluted King, as being moft worthy thercof, for his 'pecial Services fhown in behalf of the Empire of Mexico: But he humbly refufing the fame, was defir'd to Nominate another, whereupon he making choice of Ticocic, Muteczuma's eldeft Son; the Council immediately bor'd a bole through his Nofe, and hung an Emrauld in the fame. But before he receiv'd the Crown, he was forc'd, according to the Cuftom, to fetch in Some of his Enemies for an Offering, which though he perform'd, yet he loft more Mexicans than he took Prifoners, not without fufficient teftimony of Cowardife; which being ill refented by the People, he was Poyfon'd in the fourth year of his Reign, and fucceeded by his Brother Axayaca, by the appointment of Tlaciellel; who having attain'd to a great Age, and left the Charge of his Children to the new King, departed this Life, to the great forrow and grief of the whole Empire; by the States whereof he was Bury'd with great Solemnity.

In the mean time, Axayaca went with a confiderable Army to the remote Province Teguantepek, to fetch Prifoners to be Offer'd at his Coronation; and marching before alone, Challeng'd his Antagonift, the King, to a fingle Combat, which he refus'd, and chofe rather to fall upon $A x a y a c a$ with all his Forces; whereupon, the Mexicans cunningly feign'd flight, ambufcaded themfelves till the Enemies purfuing them, gave them their defir'd advantage, for rufhing out of their Ambufcade, they fet upon the Teguantepecks, fo diforder'd, that they eafily put them to fight, and had the purfuit of them as far as Guatulco, a noted Haven upon the South-Sea; from whence Axayaca returning Victor, receiv'd a Crown for a Reward; yet notwithftanding thefe Proofs of his Valor, the Lord of Tlatellulco Challeng'd him; whereupon he lent Agents thither, with proffers, that fince the Citizens of Tla* tellulco were of one Blood with the Mexicans, whom they deferted upon the dividing of the Wards and Towns, juft before the Election of the firft King Acamapixtli, they fhould, if they pleas'd, be receiv'd anew into fellowfhip and alliance with the Mexicans, acknowledging one and the fame King for their Supreme Head and Governor: But the Ambaffadors being feorn'd and laugh'd at for their proffers, returning, related the fame to $A x a y a c a$, who immediately marching thither to take revenge, fent part of his Army to fall on the Enemy by Water; whilft himfelf falling upon them by Land, put the Lord of Tlatellulco, with his whole Army, to flight, which was fo clofely purfu'd, that they forc'd their way into the City with them, put the Governor to Death, and laid the Town in Afhes; thofe which went by Water, having had no lefs fuccels.

Axayaca, after eleven years Reign, Deceafing, bequeath'd his Crown to Autzol, whọ fought to promote his Election by ingaging with the mighty Province Qud。 xutatlan, whofe Inhabitants, though but a little before, they had been fo bold as to demand Tribute of the Mexicans, yet terrifid at the approach of Autzol's Army, fled over an Arm of the Sea, where they had been fecure, had not Autzol invented a floating Ifle of Planks, by which hegot over his whole Army; upon which the amaz'd Quaxututlans immediately fubmitted themfelves to the Mexicanis, who purfuing their Victory, extended their Dominions to Guatimala, over a Tract of three hundred Leagues.

The new King having now fubdu'd all his Enemies, and made himfelf glorious by his ViEtories, was alfo ambitious to be as much extoll'd for his Generofity and Magnificence; to which purpofe he diftributed all the Wealth which was brought unto him from the neighboring Countreys, amongft the Poor and the Nobility; to the firft he gave Clothes and Provifions; to the laft, Plumes of Feathers and Arms. Moreover he caus'd all mean Moules to be pull'd down and new ones to be built in their places. Laftly, he confulted how to bring frefh Water into Mexico, which was plac'd in a brackifh Soil: Upon this Defign he was fo bent, that when one of his Sages diffwaded him from it, alledging, That the Water would drown the City, he, in ftead of following his Advice, banifh'd him his Prefence, and upon his flying to Cuyaocun, caus'd him to be fetch'd from thence and Executed. Then profecuting his Defign, he cut the Ditch before (uyancun, by which means great ftore of frefh Water came flowing into the Lake Laguna, which the Priefts welcom'd with ftrange Ceremonies; for fome perfum'd the-Water, others Offer'd Quails Blood, whilf others play'd on feveral Mufical Inftruments, with many other Ceremonies, which are at large defcrib'd in the ancient Mexican Chronicles, kept in the Vatican Library at Rome. But the Prophecy of the Executed Sorcerer was in a manner fulfill'd; for the Water overwhelm'd 2 great part of Mexico, and divided the City into Illes: But to prevent farther Mifchief, Autzoll caus'd Banks to be rais'd, and Channels digg'd; and not iong after, in the eleventh Year of his Reign, he deceas'd : After which the Mexican Kingdom tended towards its period, as the enfuing Story will declare.

Amongft the Mexican Nobility, Mutexuma, a melancholy Man, yet very prudent, who refided in a ftately Aparment near the great Temple ( $u$, that there he might the better converfe, with Viztlipuztli, was elected King; which he no fooner heard, but fled from hence : but being found our, he was againft his will led to the Grand Affembly, and from thence to the holy Hearth, where for an Offering he drew Blood out of his Cheeks, Ears, and Legs; and, according to an ancient Cuftom, the Couns. cil of State boring a Hole in his Nofe, hung an Emerauld in the fame; after which the Lord of Tefcuco faluted him with a Speech; which (fince it is mention'd by Fofeph d' Acofta, together with feveral other Speeches of Congratulation to their Kings, which were taught to Schollars, to make them expert in their Language) it will not be amifs to be annexed here, that of many this one may ferve for a pattern of the Mexicans Eloquerice, which is as followeth :

The Lord of Tifcuco his Speech to $18teczzma.

"THe great happinefs, moft noble Muteczuma, which is befall'n this Realm by your'Election, may eafily be conjectur'd from the general joy, none be. "fides your felf being able to undergo an Office, in the management whereof fo " much Prudence is requir'd : It is a moft certain teftimony that God loves Mexico, "that he hath given its Inhabitants underftanding to make fuch a Choice. Who "can doubt, but that you who have expatiated through the Heavens, and con" vers'd with Viztlipuztli, may eafily Govern us Mortals on Earth? Who can de"Spair, but that the Vertue inclos'd within your Breaft, will extend to the Widows " and Orphans? Therefore rejoyce, O Mexico; the Heavens have granted us a "Prince without Vice; Merciful, and not a Violator of the Laws; Affable, "not defpifing common Converfation. And you, O King, let not this great Pre.
"ferment
"ferment occafion any alteration in your fo long known Vertues: The Crown "breeds care for the publick good; the troubles thereof mult extend over the " whole Realm, and every one in the Realm.

Muteczuma having heard out the Speech, would willingly have anfwer'd the fame, but could not utter a word for Tears, which gufh'd from his Eyes. Before he went out to fetch Prifoners for Offerings at his Coronation, he firft fetled his Houfhold Affairs. And whereas till this time the Kings had been ferv'd in their Palaces by ordinary Citizens, he. took Knights, and the chiefeft of the Nobility, intending thereby to make a diftinction between the Nobility and the common People, and add more Majefty to the Royal Dignity. This done, Muteczuma marching againft a certain rebellious Province, fetch'd a confiderable number of People to be Offer'd to Viztupuztli, At his Return the Coronation-Day was appointed, againft which thoufands of People came to Mexico; even their very Ene* mies of Tlafcala, Mechoacan, and Tepeaca, which were never conquer'd by the Mexin cans, flock'd thither in great numbers. All thofe Countreys which were under Tribute bringing unvaliable Treafures, came in vaft Multitudes, which fo chrong'd the City, that the very tops of the Houfes were fill'd with Spectators, no King in Dexico ever going to the Throne in fuch fplendor; nor was ever any King fo much fear'd by his Subjects, none of the common People daring to look in his Face; neither did he ever fet Foot on the Ground, but was always carried in a Chair on the Shoulders of his prime Nobility; he never wore a Suit of Clothes but once, nor ever us'd a Cup or Difh after it was once foul'd; he friolly maintain'd the Laws which he had made, and often went himfelf in a Difguife, to make a frict enquiry after all Affairs whatioever; by which means the Mexican Power was now arriv'd to the higheft top: but, as other Realms, grown top heavy with good Fortune, turn at laft topfiesturvy, juft fuch a Misfortune befell Mexica; bue not without feveral fore.running figns of its deftruction: for in the City Cholola their God Quezalcoalt inform'd them, that a ftrange People were coming to take poffeffion of the Mexican Dominions; and their Soothfayers prognofticated the fame, for which Muteczuma committed them all to Prifon, and doubtlefs had put them all to death, had not they efcap.d with the help of the Mafter of their diabolical Art; and though they efcap'd themfelves, yet their Wives and Children were all put to death upon the King's Command: Soon after which appear'd a mighty Comet, or blazing Starfor a whole year together ; the great Temple $\mathcal{C}_{w}$ was fet on Fire, and burnt to the Ground none knew how; the Water which was thrown on the fame to quench it, burnt like Brimftone; in the Skie appear'd three fiery Heads at nooneday, and out of a long Tail fhot Sparks on the Earth; the Laguna, between Mexico and Texcuco, began to fwell into a Tide, which turn'd fome Houfes topfie. turvy; a fhrill Voice was heard in the Night crying on the Water, Cbildren, your ruine is at band; whither fhall I carry jou that you may not be loft?

Nolefs ftrange is what d' Acofta relates of a Bird prefented to Muteczuma, not unlike a Crane, which the Fiffermen had taken on the Laguna; on the Thining Forehead of which there appear'd the refemblance of two Armies Engag'd, and one defeated by the other, and that whilft the Sages, call'd to interpret the meaning hereof, fat in Confultation, the Bird vanifh'd.

Moreover, there goes a Tradition, That a Countrey-man being at his Labor, Another of a was taken up by an Eagle, and carried through the Air into a gloomy Cave, where mand 2 Man lay faft afleep froaring, when on a fudden he heard a Voice afar off, faying, Do you knoid that Man? whereupon the Countrey-man taking Ípecial notice of the dormant dormant Man, knew him, by the Royal Apparel, to be Mutexuma; after which the Voice was heard again, faying, How foundly doth be feep: the time is coming iwhich provides Punifhments for many Crimes; burn the Snoarer with the Torch which be bolds in his Hands, be will feel no pain: Not long after he being inform'd hereof, and look.

ing on his Thigh, found the fame burnt, to his no fmall amazement. Flecting now poffers'd the Throne fourteen years, he receiv'd news of a ftartling therewith a Draught of the Men and Veffels painted on Cloth. This to fecure in, he immediately advis'd with his Council, who judg'd it convenient Iefs Ferdinand Cortefius Landed with five hundred Foor and fixty Horfe, levertheCity Potanchanum, march'd through the Countrey Sout and fixty Horfe, took the they had a fharp Conflict, in which the Spaniards were in great danger; and had not they had fix Field-Pieces with them, which did as much affright as hurt the Indians, they had without doube been cut off there. In Chiurutecal they were in as much danger; for certainly the Spanijh Army had been fee upon in the Nighr, had not a Woman inform'd them of it.

Mean while Muteczuma con fulted with his Sorcerers to deftroy Cortefius by Charms, who then was marching through Chälco, whereupon a confiderable number of Sorce. rers went thither to the top of a high Mountain, where, as they were beginning their Incantations and Charms, their Idol Tezcalipuca a ppear'd to them : and in an angry manner told them, That Monteczuma flould lofe his Crown and Life; and to confirm his words, he fhew'd them a dreadful Tpectacle; for looking about, they faw the City in a light flame. This being told to Muteczuma, he refolv'd to make himfelf as fecure as he could, and went to meet Cortefius with coftly Prefents, delivering him the Crown in the prefence of all his Council; to which purpofe he took one Marina, experienc'd in the Caftilian Tongue, with him for his Interpreter; all things then feeming to end in Friendfhip. But they continu'd not long in that ftate; for Cortefius, whofe whole Defign was to bring Mexico under the Spaniards Sub. jection, not long after accus'd Muteczuma, that Coalcopuca had on his Commands ftorm'd the new Spanifh City Vera (rux, which he could no way excufe; and notwithftanding Muteczuma deliver'd him Coalcopoca, with fifteen of his Nobles Prifoners, who were all burnt with green Wood; yet he was committed Prifoner, to the great difcontent of the Mexicans, who faid, "That they were now come to 2 "fine pars, to be thus fool'd by a few Strangers, who had imprifon'd their King, "trampled upon their ancient Images, endeavor'd to murther them all, and in de. "fpite of them brought their mortal Enemies, the Tafcaltecans and Grazuzingans, in. " to Mexico.

About this time there were certain Ships come to Vera Crux, which was a new Port-Town of this Countrey, that the Spaniards had buile fince their coming thither, and had Landed near upon a thoufand Men ; which was an Accident that had like to have fpoil'd the Defign of Cortefius and all his Company at Mexico, thefe Men being fent by James Velafquez, Governor of Cuba, exprefsly againtt Cortefius and his Men, upon pretencethat they had acted not conformably to the Commiffion which they had receiv'd from him, and gave him no account of their proceedings; which in a great meafure was true : for it muft be confefs'd, that Cortefius and his Men finding themfelves to have fall'n upon an Adventure that was certainly rich and good, and having got fuch footing and intereft in the Countrey already, by their Succefs and Victories, and chiefly by their Confederacy with fo many of the Natives and People of the Countrey, revolred to them, did almoft at firft, by a general confent, renounce their Commifion, and dependency upon Velafquez, and
profefs'd to act immediately from and for the King of Spain. What pretences they had for fuch a Refolution, feemingly at leaft irregular, is not fo well known. What. ever they were, they proceed in is, and the whole Company (excepting onely fome few, who yet went along with the reft) chufe Cortcfius anew for their Commander in chief, and appoint likewife by common confent, all other Officers of Juftice, both Civil and Military, among themfelves : and to give the beteer colour at Court to their Proceedings, they fend Portocorrero and Monteio, two of their Principals, into Spain, with a rich and noble Prefent to the Emperor, both to make report of the State of the Countrey, and to procure immediate Commiffion from his Majefty, to proceed; after which they advance towards Mexico, as hath been faid. Velafquez, being at Cuba, and underftanding their Proceedings, labor'd to intercept both their Meffengers and Prefent, but could not ; and therefore fent Pamplilius N Narvaez with eleven Ships, and about nine hundred or a thoufand Men to apprehend Cortefuis, and oppofe his.Proceedings. This hapned about the time that the Differences were but newly calm'd betwixt the Spaniards and the People of Mexico ; and though it ob. lig'd Cortefius to leave the City in a wavering and unfetled condition, yet he took fuch order, chat Muteczuma fill remain'd under the Guard of the Spaniards as before, affifted with thoufands of their Friends of Tlafcalla, and he himfelf taking the reft, and fome few Spaniards along with him, with undaunted courage and refolution marches againft Narvaez: and fuch was his good fortune; that not onely Narvaez became his Prifoner without much blood-fhed, but likewife all his Men joyn'd with him in his Defign, through the favour of the Chancery or fupream Court of St. Do. mingo, and by the procurement of the Licentiat $V_{\text {af }}$ quez de Ajllon, a Judge of it, who $^{\text {a }}$ was fent with Narvaez to accommodate the Differences. With this Recruit Cortefius marches back again to Mexico; but at his coming finds things in a very bad condition; for the Citizens, gather'd together under the Command of one Quicuxtemoc, had recourfe to Arms, and for three days and three Nights vex'd the Spaniards with continual Stormings, notwithftanding whateever Commands they had to the contrary from sheir imprifon'd King, who at laft, looking out of a Window, endeavoring to appeafe them, was hure with a Stone, of which he foon after died, as they, fay, who would not have the Spaniards thought to have murder'd him, as the Mexicans fay they did, with divers other Noble-men; and fome of his Children, the very Night they fled. However it were, not long after his Death, out of extream neceffity, and chiefly for want of Viituals, the Spaniards were forc'd to leave the City in the nightotime, and with the lofs of four hundred and fifty of their Men, who were either flain or taken Prifoners at the paffing of a Drawabridge, the reft making a heavy Retreat to their Friends at Tlafcalla. There is ftanding at this day in Mexico, upon the place where fo many of them were kill'd, a cerrain Hermitage, which they call Los Martyres, or The Hermitage of the Martyrs, though but improperly, if upon that occafion, as one of their own Writers confeffes, though he alledges no other reafon.

This Retreat of the Spaniards our of Mexico hapned to be upon the tenth of fuly after mid-night, in the Year 1520. which the Spaniards at Mexico call The Dolefult Night. Neverthelefs the undaunted Cortefius being gor, though with much diffculty and trouble, by reafon of the purfuit of the Mexicans for a good part of the Way, to his fure Friends of Tlafcalla, neither loft his Courage, nor gave over his Refolution of yet gaining Mexico, efpecially the way being now laid open, and fufficient occafion given by the Death of Muteczuma, and the provocations of the Mexicans themfelves, to make himfelf abfolute and fole Lord of the Place : where* fore having fent for, and procur'd'a competent Supply of frefh Soldiers from

Santo Domingo, or Hispaniola, Almeria, Cuba, and other places, being in all nine huns dred Foor, eight hundred Horfe, and feventeen Pieces of Ordnance; he joyns him. felf with the Auxiliary Forces of Tlafcalla, which were no lefs than a hundred thoufand Men, Arm'd with Bowes and Arrows: and with this Army marches again stowards Mexico, and Befieges it both by Land and Water, viz with the help of thirteen Brigantines or Galliots, which he had builc upon the Lake, and fix thoufand Canoos, or little Boats, which his Friends and Confederates had procur'd him. By which means, and by his Army on Land, in a fhort time he cut off all Provifion from the City, and after a Siege of full three Months or more, and a moft fout and obftinate refiftance made by the People within, in which they are faid to have loft above a hundred thoufand Men, befide thofe which perifh'd by Famine, Sicknefs, by the Spanis ards. or otherwife, he took it by Storm upon Tuefday the thirteenth of Auguf. 1521. Sackt it firft, and then burnt it to the Ground; yet afterwards he caus'd is to be Re-buile again, far more Beautiful than at firft it was; as in due place we fhall further fee. They fpeak not of above fifty Spaniards flain during the whole Siege, fix Horfes, and not many Tlafcaltecans.

In this manner, and with fo little Charges to the Conqueror, there fell to the Crown of Spain the richeft and goodlieft Kingdom (one of them) of the whole World, viz the Kingdom of Mexico, which the Conquerors prefently nam'd New Spain; and in reference to which name, the Catholick King hath ever fince fil'd himfelf in the plural number Hifpaniarum Rex, or King of both Spains; and all by the Valor, Prudence,admirable Refolution, and happy Conduct of Cortez; who was at firft but a private Adventurer in the American Plantations and Difcoveries, though other. wife a Gentleman of a good Family in Spain, born at Medellin in the Country of Eftramedura. The Emperor Cbarles the Fifth, who was alro then King of Spain, for his great Services; endow'd him defervedly with many great and rich Territories in the Provinces of Tlafcalla, Mechoacan, and other parts thereabouts, made him Marquefs of the Valley, viz. of Guaxata, (which is his chief Title) a rich and flourifhing Province of that Countrey, Captain General, or Commander in Chief, of all the Military Forces of New-Spain, and General Difcoverer of all the Maritime parts and Coafts of America towards the South-Sea, affigning him in propriety the twelfth part of whatfoever fhould be difcover'd, to him and his Heirs for ever; bue deny'd him the Government of Mexico out of reafon of State, though 'ris faid, he much defir'd it.

Among the famous Havens which lic along the South Sea, and Northern Ocean the chiefeft is Acapulco before-mention'd, whither all Merchandize is fent to be tranfported to (hina, which is above two thoufand Leagues diftant from thence; in which Voyage they generally fpend fourteen Months; four Sail, each of eight hundred Tun, appointed for this Trade;generally two of them fet Sail to China in March, and returning in Summer, have no fooner drop'd their Anchors, but the other two fet out from Acapulco, from whence the way by Land to Mexico, is feventy two Leagues over fteep Mountains, dangerous Rocks, and feveral Rivers; the chiefeft whereof are, firft, Del Papagayo, or De las Balfas, which runs exceeding ftrong, which the Indians crofs on bundles of Canes ty'd upon Callabafhes: Next San Francijco, which though the biggeft, yet harh many fhallow places to wade over. The Mufichoes are no fmall Plagues to thofe that travel this way, for their Poyfonous Stings are the occafions of many Ulcerated Wounds, and ofetimes Death it felf.

In this way lies allo the Councrey del Valle, from which Ferdinand Cortefius receiv'd the Title of Earl.

The Mouth of the Haven Acapulco gapes a full League North and South, and within exceeding large, hath a nook call'd Boca Grande, where the Ships Ride fafe at an Anchor: More Eafterly appears a Land Inlet, (by the Spaniards call'd Puerto del Marques) fecur'd againft all Winds; near which is the City of San Diego, to which belongs a Fort, with fix Bulwarks, lying on a Promontory; the main of the, City is one large Street, confifting of fair and ftately Houfes, and leading directly to the Haven; the Church which is of an oblong fquare, hath a high Steeple in the middle.
A Dutch Admiral, one foris Spilbergen, after he had done the Spaniards all the mifo chief he could along the South Sea, ran with five Sail under the Fort Acapulco, which fir'd ten Guns at him ; whereupon, the Dutch Admiral Manning a Boat, with a white Flag, they agreed upon a Ceffation, and the Spaniards went aboard of the Admiral, to whom Pedro Alvares, and Francijco Menendus, having been a confiderable time in Holland, and fpeaking the Language of that Countrey very perfect, promis'd that all his Demands fhould be fatisfi'd; yet Spilbergen was fufo picious that the Spaniards had a defign upon him, wherefore he came and lay clofe under the Caftle with his five Sail, and made ready his Guns: But this fufpicion was foon clear'd, when $\mathcal{A l v a r e s}$ and Menendus proffer'd to ftay as Hoftages, till the Governor of the Town fent the Admiral thirty Oxen, fifty Sheep, fome hundreds of Poultry, Coals, Oranges, Cittrons, and the like frefh Provifions; as alfo Wood and Water ; during which time, the Prifoners being fet at liberty, feveral Perfons of Quality came to vifit the Admiral, amongft whom was Captain Cafilio, one that had ferv'd twenty years in the Low-Conntrey Wars; and Melchior Hernando, Neo phew to the Vice-Roy of New-Spain, who defirous to fee the Ships that durft fet twice upon Rodrigo de Mendofe, Admiral of the King of Spain's mighty Fleet, ftood amaz'd that fuch little Frigats durf Ingage with fo many great Spanifh Ships; and carry'd the Admiral's Son to the Governor of the City, call'd Georgius Perro, who civilly entertain'd him : Eight days Spilbergen fpent here at Acapulco, admiring the courteous Entertainment of the Spaniards, and the more, becaufe that having News but eight Moneths before of the Dutch, Fleet fetting out, they had in that fhort time made all things ready for refiftance, the Fort having feventeen Brafs Guns, and four hundred Soldiers, befides many Noblemen and Reformades, whereas at other times there us'd not to be above forty Men, and four Guns in the fame.

S ECT. II.

Mechoacan.

THe next Province of New Spain is the Bifhoprick of Mechoacan, which hath on the North-Eaft, Panuco ; on the Eaft, Mexicana, properly fo call'd ; on the South part, Tlafcalla; on the Weft, the Main Ocean, or Mare del Zur ; and laft of all, more directly Northward, Xalijco, which is a Province of New Galo, licia: The Name fignifieth in the American Language, as much as $\mathcal{A}$ Fif 1 Countrey ; and fo it is, having many fair Lakes and Rivers in it, abundantly well ftor'd with Fifh. The Countrey fo exceedingly pleafant and healthful, that 'tis ufual for fick Perfons of other Provinces to come hither to recover their health, only by the benefit of a good Air. The Soil fo abundantly fertile of all forts of Grain, that of four meafures of Seed, it hath been often obferv'd, they have reap'd the next Harveff, more than fo many hundred meafures of the fame Grain. Very well Wooded; and by reafon of its many Rivers and frefh Springs, equally rich in good Pafture:
and befides great plenty of Medicinal Herbs and Plants, it affordeth good ftore of Amber nigh the Sea Coafts, Mulberry-trees, and confequently Silks; much Ho. ney, Wax, and divers other Commodities, both for neceffity and pleafure. The People of the Countrey are generally tall, of a ftrong active Body, and a good Wit, efpecially in comparifon of other Natives; not unskilful in divers curious Manufactures, the moft excellent Feather-Pictures, afore-mention'd, being faid to be found in this Province. They feem more generally inclin'd to the Humors and Cuftoms of the Spaniards, than any other Americans; and receiv'd the Preaching of Chritian Religion, when time was, with much willingness; fo that the Countrey is now entirely Cbriftian, and divided into feveral Parifies.

The Languages which are fpoken in Mechoacan are feveral, as the Otomian, Cbibsimian, and the Mexicans, which is common through all New Spain, and the Tarafcan, a neat and brief Language, which properly belongs to this Countrey.
Tygers.
nThe Lions and Wilde Dogs of this Countrey devour great numbers of Cattel yearly, yet the greateft mifchiefs happen from the Tygers, which often fetch Peo. ple out of their Houfes, notwithftanding the Doors are lock'd, for they break in thorow the Walls and Roofs, with much eagernefs and ftrength : Of the greatnef's whereof, facob Bontius tells us this fory, That the Governor Peter Carpentier fet a Trap without the Walls of Batavia, of great Timber, Pleited with Iron, Baiting it with a Goat; which taking effect, the Tyger that was caught therein, impatient of fuch clofe Imprifonment, rent the Timber, and getting out, left the Goat untouch'd.

Hugo Lin/chot relates, That the Tygers in the Weft-Indies hurt no Spaniards, exercifing their cruelty onely on Indians; and that finding a Black and a White Man fleeping together, they devour the Black and not the White: How far thefé affertions deferve to be credited, may appear by an evident contradiction of the firft, for it is well known, many Spaniards in the Wef-Indies have been eaten by the Tygers.
General Fedreman marching in this Countrey at the Head of his Army, was affaulted by a Tyger, which in defpight of them all killing a Spaniard, and three Ine dians, efcap'd from them; no Trees ferve for a refuge againft their fury, for they climb up to the top thereof, and fetch down their Prey; their Claws are fo excceding Venomous, that whoever is feratch'd with the fame, is never to be cur'd; there is no Beaft but they will venture upon, wherefore they lie in the Bufhes, from whence they rufh out upon them; but this difadvantage they have, that moft other Beafts are too nimble Footed for them, for they are a very heavy Creature, whatever hath been deliver'd by the Ancients concerning the Tygers fwifnefs.

As to the difference which they make in Humane Flefh,it is thus far true: That they find more fweetnefs in Womens Breafts than other parts, and chofe a Black Man before a White: Concerning the firft, France gives a fufficient teftimony, when two Tygers, in the time of King Lewis the Twelfth, breaking loofe, left a great number of Women lying Breaftlefs in the Road. The fecond is confirm'd by Fohn Fobnfon's Relation of a ftrange accident that happen'd in Bengale, viz. A Moor dreaming that a Tyger fetch'd him out of the Ship, hid himfelf the next Night between Decks, of which the Mafter asking the reafon, was in. form'd concerning his Dream, which prov'd prophetick, for about Mid-night a Tyger leapt into the Ship, and devouring the Moor, went away without touch: ing any one of the Hollanders, of which there were thirty: But a Sea-man walking on the fhore efcap'd more wonderfully, for 2 Tyger fetting upon him behind, and a Crocrodile before, he leaping from betwixt them, difcover'd to the Tyger the Crocodile, to whom the Tyger direatly running, and ingaging with the Crocodile, ${ }^{\text {pard }}$ d che Sea-mans life: Notwithfanding the cruelty and mifthief of thefe Tya gers, the Indians are led by their fottifh Superfticion to worfhip them; becaufe; as they fay, the Devil often appears to them in that flape.
Befides the Tygers, the Inhabitants of Mechaocan are exceedingly molefted with Squerrils, which not only carry much Fruit into their Holes, but alfo under-mine the Houfes, fo that they often fink or fall on one fide, the mifchief being the worfe, becaufe they increafe daily. Moft of them bear four young at a time, which on the third day run about for Prey, and can fcarce be taken, becaufe of their exceeding fiviftnefs, leaping a great diftance from one Tree to another ; their Tails ferve them on divers occafions; for leaping they ufe it like a Wing, and at their croffing over 2 River, for a Sail, in tempeftuous Weather, they fop their holes therewith, to keep out the Wind.

There are fix feveral forts of thefe Squerrils; the firft call'd Tlilic, cover themfelves with their Tails; the fecond Quapatchli, is as big again, and can never be made tame; the third Techallotl, with a bald Tail and great Eyes; the fourth Talmototly, hath a thick Head, and 2 Tail full of black and white ftreaks; the fifth Quimitchpatlan, bath a little Head and long Legs, and leaping from one Tree to an. other, feems to flie; the laft fort call'd $\Upsilon_{z}$ tactechalotl, is whitifh.
The Foxes do allo great mifchief here, their Urine fmells fo horribly, that forty days after, none are able to abide near the place where they have urin'd, and on whatfoever Stuff or Cloth a drop thereof chanceth to light, the ftink can never be wafh'd a way.

Here breeds alfo a fort of Birds, call'd Auras, which are not unlike MooreHens; they flie exceeding high in the Air, feed on nought but ftinking Carrion, which they fcent at a great diftance; they have a hairy Head and Neck, and ugly Face: Some of the Fowls of this Countrey ftay here all the year long, others go away, and return at certain times.

The Natives, fince the Spaniards coming thither, have gotten their Habits and Language, learn'd all forts of Trades; their Tables, Chefts, and Cupboards made of Brafile-Wood, are no way inferior to the beft that are made in Europe. Painting is alfo in great efteem amongft them : They make handfom Clothes, Shooes, and ftrange Copper Locks. They have a peculiar Art in Tilling their Ground: They teach the Spanifh Dogs feveral tricks, but not feeding them well, they caufe them to run from them, and turn wilde, whence they are call'd Cimarrones, becaufe they do much hurt to the Cattel.

The Inhabitants, when a Feaver or Ague is upon them at the higheft, leap into cold Water : againft other Sickneffes they ufe Herbs, whofe foveraign Power Expe. rience hath long fince taught them.
Since the Spaniards made Mechoacan a Bifhoprick, they have buile ninety four Schools, fifty Churches, feveral Hofpitals and Cloyfters, inhabited by Francifcan and Augufin Monks.

There are faid to be in this Bifhoprick a hundred and fifty Towns or Burroughs (befides many featter'd Villages) moft of which have FreceSchools erected in them, for the Training up of Youth in the Chriftian Religion, good Literature and Arts; and few of them without an Hofpital for the Sick: of which Towns the principal are as followeth :

1. Zinzoutza, the Seat of the ancient Kings of Mechoacan. 2. Pafcuar, a City forty feven Leagues diftant from Mexico, once a Bifhop's See. 3. Valladolid, the Metropolis or chief City of the Province, fince the Epifcopal Chair was remov'd from Pafcuar thither. It lieth upon a great Lake, equal amoft for bignefs to that of Mexico, and is about feven Leaguesdiftant from Pafcuar, towards the Eaft. 4. St. Micbaels, a good Town, forty Leagues Weftward of Mexico, and in the Way to the Zacatecas, but lying in a Road that is fomewhat dangerous, being not a little infefted with Salvages on both fides of it. 5. St. Pbilips. 6. La Conception de Salaya, feventeen Leagues diftant from Valladolid, and a convenient Stage for Travellers, being indeed, with the two laft mention'd, built chiefly for the defence and fecuring of the Countrey againft the Salvages. 7. Guaxanata, a Town on the Borders of Panuco, where there are very rich Mynes of Silver. 8. Leon, another Town likewife of very rich Mynes, twenty four Leagues diftant from Valladolid, and threefcore from Mexico. 9. Zamorra. 10. Villa de los Lagos, and others.

Towards the Sea there is I. Acatlan, but two Miles diftant from the Sea.Coaft, and a fmall Town, yet by reafon of a fafe and very good Harbor which it hath for Shipping, a Place of no little Trading. 2. Natividad, another well known and convenient Haven upon Mare del Zur, pertaining to this Province, and from whence they ufually fet Sail for the Philippine Iflands. 3. St. Fago de buena Speranza, fo call'd by the Spaniards, perhaps from the abundance of good Pearls they found upon this Coaft. 4. Colyma. 5. Zacatula, and fome others.

This Province, as we faid, was at firft a diftinct Kingdom of it felf, yet fubordi. nate and Tributary to that of Mexico; the King whereofnam'd Tamgaiva, or Bimbicha, (as Laet reporteth) at the firft coming of the Spaniards thither, after the Conqueft of Mexico, voluntarily fubmitted himfelf to them, and was Baptiz'd. Neverthelefs afterwards, upon a pretence of I know not what Treafon intended by him againft them, and which the Spanifh Writers themfelves profeffedly think to have been feigned, by command of Numnezde Gufman, Prefident of the Chancery of Mexico, be was moft inhumanely burnt alive, and his Kingdom feiz'd upon by the Spaniards.

Sect. III.

THe Bifhoprick of Tlafcalla, formerly call'd Tlafealteca, Tlaxcala, and Tlafcalan, is a Province of New Spain, which extendeth it felf entirely from one Sea to another, viz. from the Allantick to Mare del Zur, with which it is bounded on the Eaft and Weft Parts, lying otherwife, and for the moft part betwixt the Provinces of Mexicana, laft fpoken of, and that of Guaxata, which follow. eth, containing in length from one Sea to the other, not much lefs than an hundred Leagues, and in fome places fourfcore in breadth; but towards the South Sea growing much narrower. It is a Countrey exceedingly plentiful both in Corn and Cattel, full of rich Pafturage, and fo plentifully ftor'd with Maiz, Whear, and other Grain, that it is accounted as it were the Granary of America; befides Deer, all manner of Venifon, and great ftore of Fowl. There is likewife Copperefs, Allom, Silver-Mynes, Manna, Anime, and Liquid Amber, with a fweet fmelling Gum which drops out of a Tree. The Rivers feed no Fifh, becaife they fall with exceeding force from the Motintains; onely near Topoganco, is a deep Lake of frefh Water, inhabited round about by Indians, enjoying the pleafure and profit of the many Cumbeba-Trees, which yield Cocbinele, producing yearly above two bundred thoufand Duckers worth of that Commodity. In this Lake fwim black Hedgehogs, whofe Flefli is good and wholfom to eat..

The People of this Countrey, when the Spaniards came firft amongft them, liv'd in the form of a Common-wealth, or Free-State, refufing to be fubject to the King of Mexico, with whom they had almoft contirual War; and upon that aecount; as. hath been faid, affifted Cortefies in the Conqueft of the Kingdom, without whofe help 'ris moft certain he had never been able to do any thing. They enjoy therefore mas ny Ppecial Priviledges and Immunities more than other Amertans do. They pay no Tribute, but onely a handful of Wheat yearly for every Perlon, by way of acknowledgment, otherwife living, under the Protection of the Spaniards, wholly in the Form of their ancient Government. In former times they were great Maneaters, and not onely eat the Flefh of their Enemies, but alfo of one anothher, infomuch that Man'ssflefh hung in publick to befold.

The River Zabuatl, which rufhes out of the Mountain Xicoleucalt, oftentimes overflows all the Countrey near it, and wafhes away divers Houfes. Zabuatl fignifies Scabby Water, becaufe all thofe, efpecially Children, that wafh in the fame, are fure to be Scabby. On its Banks the Spaniards have built many Houfes, the fafhion whereof is now alfo imitated by the Indians of this Province, who formerly buile quite after another manner; for they made low Houfes of Earth, Wood and Stone, with large and Atrange Chambers; fome a Stones.caft one from another, others clofé together, had narrow crooked Streets that ran betwixt them.

In this Province are two forts of Languages Spoken, viz. the Mexican, and that of the Ottomons, who formerly deferting Mexica, chofe the Tlafcallans for their Protectors: They are a toilfom and painful People.

To the Northward of Tlafcalla are Mountains, which all the year long, except three Moneths, are cover'd with Mift; and the Woods on the tops of them are a great fhelter to Lyons, Tygers, Wolves, and wild Dogs, call'd Adives, and other wild Beafts, which do much hurt to the fimall Cattel. Here are allo many Serpents and Adders,

The whole Province is faid to contain two hundred good Towns and Burroughs, and more than one thoufand Villages, all of them exceedingly populous, and fuppos'd to contain in the whole above a Million and half of Natives, befides Spaniards, who have fome few Colonies in the Countrey for fecuring of it.

The chief Towns of the Province are I. Tlafcalla it-felf, which denominates the whole Countrey as the Metropolis, and where the Bifhop's See was at firt, till in the Year 1550. it was remov'd to Puebla de los Angelos. It is a fair Town, and commodioully feated in the midft of a large and fertile Champain of threefcore Miles in compals. It confiftech of four large and beautiful Streets or Quarters, and in the midft of them where they all meet, hath a Piazza, or Market-place, equal to that of Mexico, and able to receive twenty or thirty thoufand Perfons conveniently, to Buy and Sell in it; and whofe Shambles feldom fhew lefs than fifteen thoufand Sheep, four thoufand Oxen, and two thoufand Hogs.
2. Puebla de los Angelos, or The City of Angels, a Town buile by Sebaftian Ramirez, a Church-man, and he that was the firlt Prefident, or chief Governor of Mexico, un. der the Crown of Cafile. It was built in the Year 1531. almoft in the Road-way from Vera Crux to Mexico, and feated in a very delicate and fertile Councrey, and of a good Air. It is a Bifhop's See, and valu'd at twenty thoufand Ducats of yearly Rent, the City it felf fuppos'd to contain about fifteen hundred Families; where there is abundance of excellent Cloth made, and for finenefs not yielding to the beft of Spain. Its chief Edifices are, the Cathedral and four ftarely Cloyfters, belonging to the Dominicans, Francifcans, Ausuffines, and Capuchins; as allo a Free-School for five hundred Indian Children, endow'd by Ramirez with a yearly Revenue.
3. Zempoallan, feated upon a River of the fame Name.
4. Napalaca, in the Valley Ocumba, ows its original to an Indian call'd Juan, who at firft had onely one Houfe, and a Herd of Hogs there, till upon his inyitation, all the neighboring People came from the tops of the Hills; inlomuch, that in a flort time, the place was Peopled by thoufands of Families.
5. Guaxacingo, all hitherro great and ancient Towns of the Natives.
6. Segura de la Frontera, 2 Spanifl Town, buile by Cortez prefently upon the Con. queft of Mexico, for the fecuring of the Confines, as the Name importeth.
7. Vera Crux, a Town built by Cortez and his Companions, at their firf Landing, and where afterwards, by a Stratagem, and out of a refolution either to Conquer or Die in the Countrey, he caus'd all his Ships to be burnt, that his Soldiers might not fo much as think of returning back from whence they came. The Town was at firt buile five or fix Leagues up within Land; but the place being found not to be fo healthful, the Inhabitants in a fhort time deferted it, and feated themfelves upon a Bay of the Sea, right over againft St. Fobn D' Ullua.
8. Medellin, another Spanijh Town, built likewife by Cortez, in memory of his own Birth-place, which was Medellin, a fmall Town of Eftramadura, a Province of Spain, but was afterwards deftroy'd by fome Spanifh Commanders, out of malice to Cortez.

Laftly, St. Fobn D' Ullua, a noted, and the moft ufual Port to all this Province, and likewife to the City of Mexico it felf, from the North Sea : but of difficultentrance, efpecially to fuch as are not well acquainted with the Paffage, or want Guides, by reafon of certain Rocks and Quickfands, wherewith the Mouth of the Haven is faid to be bar'd; but within, the fation is more fafe. It hath likewife two Atrong Bulwarks or Forts rais'd, on cither fide of the Entrance one, to defend the Paffage; befides a ftrong Caftle, built fince Captain John Hanokins furpris'd twelve Ships richly Laden within the Haven, and thirteen others that arriv'd with a new Vice-Roy from Spain, valu'd at near fixty Tun of Gold, of which he might eafily have made Prize, had he not trufted to the Vice-Roys Promife, to give him all fa. tisfaction he fhould require, by which being deceiv'd, he loft all his Fleet but two Ships.

Between Tlafcala and Los Angelos are the Fountains, out of which the River hath its Original, which gliding by Machaocan and Zacatula, falls into the South Sea:

Great in creafe of creare of Crocodiles.

Burning - Mountain Po. This River is fo exceeding full of Crocodiles, that they have made feveral places which formerly were Inhabited on its Banks, utterly defolate; for the Females lay. ing generally Eggs as big as thofe of a Goofe, increafe prodigioully; and were it not that the Indian Mice, call'd Ichneumones, deftroy'd them, they would grow ftill to greater numbers: But this Animal creeping in at the Crocodiles Mouth, eats his way out of the Belly again; Water-Serpents, Hawks, Buffeloes, and efpecially Tygers, are alfo their mortal Enemies, for they throwing the Crocodiles.on their Backs, rend open their Bellies: They are more defirous of Mans flefh here than in any other place, becaufe the River of Tlafcala hath but fmall fore of Fifh; in the day time they lie cover'd in the Mud, from whence they rufh forth, and fet upon thofe that happen to pars by them; they purfue the Canoos in the Water, and frike down the Rowers with their Tails.

Eight Leagues beyond Tlafcala, appears the Mountain Popatepeck, which for ten years ceas'd fmoaking, till Anno 1540. it broke forth in fuch a manner, that the Countrey all about was terrifid therewith; for it vomited not onely a black Smoak, but alfo horrible Flames, which fometimes being blow'd downward, burnt the Corn in the Fields, and the Afhes thereof flying as far as Guaxocingo and Chulula, burne a great deal of the Town to the Ground; every one endeavor'd by flight to fecure themfelves, with intention never to return thither again; but the Plame and Smoak abating, Captain Diego de Ordas went up to view the place, whence the Fire was caft forth; which curiofity and prefumption of his, had like to have coft him his Life, for the fulphury Smoak breaking forth on a fudden, had almoft fiffled him.

Moreover, the Bifhoprick of Tlafcala, is on the North Coaft waff'd by the River Papoloava, fince call'd Alvarado, from a Spanifh Commander, who firft Steer'd his Courfe thither: The next Stream nam'd Banderas, is fo call'd, becaufe the Natives held white Clothes on Poles, to invite the Spaniards afhore. The third is Almeria, on which, Cortefius, a year after the taking of Mexico, built the Town Medellin, as aforemention'd.

Along the Tlafcallan fhore, wafh'd by the Northern Ocean, lie the Ifles Blanci, Verde, and Sacrificios: The firft receiv'd its denomination from White Land, the other from Green Trees; and the third, becaule Joande Greyalve, who firf Difcover'd Nero Spain, Landing on this Illand, found a Bloody Altar there, with Sacrific'd Pcople with open'd Brefts, chopt off Arms and Legs.

The River Almeria falling into the Ocean oppofite to the Sacrificios, the Spanif) Ships came often to an Anchor there; but in thefe latter times, they have forfaken the fame, becaufe the Northern Winds us'd to blow very hard againft the fhore, and fpoild many Veffels: But Henry Havks gives this reafon, That a dreadful apparition of Spirits frighted the Spaniards from thence.
In the Bifhoprick Tlafcala, is alfo compriz'd the Province Tepeaca, whofe Metropolis was built by Cortez, when with great Lofs he was fent from Almeria. The Soil thereabouts is barren and ftony; the Water which they have in the City, is brought in Pipes from a River which flows out of the Mountains into the Marker place. The plain Countrey hath many good Paftures. The Inhabitants thereof feak four forts of Languages; of which, the commoneft is the Mexican; others ufe the Popolucan or Otoman Tongues.

The Village Alyoxucan appears afar off on a high Mountain, on whofe top is a Lake of a hundred and fifty Fathom in circumference; the Water whereof is very cold, and of a bluifh Colour, and neither Ebbs nor Flows, to which the Villagers climb along a narrow Path.

Not far from thence, in the Plain, are two other very deep Lakes: The firft call'd Tlacae, is a League in circumference, and breeds delicate white Fifh, not above a Fingers length: The fecond nam'd Alcbichican, about the fame bignefs, which in formy Weather is very turbulent.
Amongtt the Fowls of this Countrey, the moft noted is a litele Summer Bird, with a long crooked Tail, fpeckled Feathers; feeds on nothing but Flowers and the Dew; about Harveft time, when the Rain ceafes, it hangs faft with its Bill on 2 Tree, and as foon as the firft Rain falls, it revives again.

In this Countrey Tepeaca are five Villages, in each of which is a Francifcan Cloyfter and convenient Hofpital.

In this Countrey they gather the Water in the time of the Rainy Moneths, in a digg'd Pool, which every Morning produces little Toads with long Tails, which in few days fall off, but thefe little ones growing to be great, make a moft dreadful noife in the Night: From Ottober till March, not one drop of Rain falls in this Countrey; during which time, the Northern Winds make a dry and wholfome Air, yet oftentimes a tempeftuous Sea, to the lofs of many Ships.

Farther up into the Countrey, between Vera Crux and Los Angelos, liés the Vils lage Rinconanda; and alfo Xalapa and Perota built of Straw Houfes in the middle of 2 Wood of Cedar and Pine. Trees, inhabited by the Spaniards, for the accommoda. ting of Travellers: To which purpofe there are likewife Inns buile near the Spring Fuente de Ot anmba, which gufhes out of a high Rock.

Not far from hence is the Populous Village Chetula, where a fmall number of Spaniards dwell amongft thoufands of Indians, who chiefly make ufe of Mules to carry their Loads.

Sect. IV.

Guaxata.

Siruation and Defcrintion of $G$ uasata.

BEtween Los Angelos and Guatemala, lies the Bifhoprick of Antiquera or Guaxata largely taken; it hath on the North, the Bay of Mexico; on the South,Mare del Zur ; on the Eaft, Jucatan and Cbiapa which is one of the Provinces of Guatimala; on the Weft, Tlaf calla.
The Countrey extendeth it felf upon the South Sea about an hundred Leagues in length, but from the Sea to the Borders of Tlafcalla, one hundred and twenty; Eaftward not above half fo much; having a good Air, and a Soil no lefs fruitful, efpecially in Mulberry.Trees, and abundance of Silks, which the Countrey affordeth, more than any orher Province of America befides; nor is it lefs rich in Mines of Gold and Silver, there being fcarce a River in the whole Countrey, but the Sands of it are faid to be Tinctur'd more or lefs with that yellow Metal; alfo Cryftal and Copperefs. It yieldeth likewife great plenty of Caßia and Cochinele, two rich Commodities; and the People generally, if they would take pains, might be the wealchieft, 'tis thought, of any other in America: But whether it be through any voluntary contempt of Riches, or through any natural floathfulnefs, as yet they feem to Pine in the midit of plenty, living, for the moft part of them, little better than from Hand to Mouth; neverthelefs, exceeding liberal of what they have, efpecially to fuch as bear the Habit of Religion, and attend the fervice of their Souls; maintaining in a plentiful and good manner, as 'tis faid, no lefs than one hundred and twenty Convents of Religious Men, of feveral Orders, in this onely Province; befides Hofpitals, Schools for the training up of Youth, and other places of publick Charity; it is faid alfo to have three hundred and fifty Vil-

Divifion.
I.anguages.

Poifonous Herb. lages, and near as many brave Countrey Houfes. It is fubedivided into many particular Provinces ; which, becaufe they are many and but fmall, in comparifon of fome other, we may call Wapentakes, or Hundreds, rather than Provinces: The principal whereof are thefe that follow, viz. 1. Miffeca. 2. Tutepecque. 3. Zapoteca. 4. Guazacoalco. 5. Gueztaxatla : and 6. the Valley of Guaxata, from whence Cortez, after the Conqueft of Mexico, had his Title given him by the Emperar, Marquefs of the Valley. It is the richeft and moft pleafant part of the whole Province, extended in a continu'd Tract together, full fixteen Leagues or more, lying about fourfcore Southward of Mexico, and wanting neither Mines of Gold and Silver, nor any other of the prime and beft Commodities of the Newoworld.

In this Countrey they feak thirteen forts of Languages, of which the Mexican is moft us'd.

Amongft the Plants which grow here, is an exceeding Poyfonous Herb, which kills thofe whofoe're pluck it, though a long time after, that is to fay, if it be of a Years growth, it kills not before the Years end; if a Moneth old, at the Monethis end; if a Day, on the fame.

This Countrey formerly fuffer'd alfo many inconveniencies by Earthquakes, but of late they are fomewhat abated, which the Spaniards afcribe to Martialis, Protector of the Cathedral as Antequera.

Miffeca is divided into Alta and Baxa, both of which have Rivers and Brooks. that afford Gold, whither the Indian Women taking Provifions, go for feveral days, and gather Gold in Troughs, which they exchange at the Spani/h Markets for Provifions.
Not far from the Village Cuertlavaca, lies a high Mountain, remarkable for a Atrange Cave, whofe Entrance is very narrow, at the end whereof appears a fquare Place of fify Foot; upon one fide whereof ftand Pits with Steps; near which begins a crooked Way of a League long; at the end of which is a Spacious Place with a Fountain of good Water; from the Foot of which flows a fmall Brook : But becaufe none have made any farther difcovery of this Cave, the other parts of it remain yet unknown.

On the top of St. Antonio, the Indians live with their Families in Caves between she Rocks.

Not far from hence appear two Mountains, whofe tops, though they lie at a great diftance from one another, at the bottom they are fo near, that a Man may ftep from one to the other.

- The fix Rocks Pennoles, formerly Garrifon'd by the Kings of Mexico, have Gold, Lead-Mynes, and a Roor which is us'd in ftead of Soap.

In the Village Totomachiapo, is a Cave of half a Mile long, at the end whereof the Water prevents a farther difcovery.

The Rocky Countrey Zapotecas formerly bred very falvage Inhabitants, Mantled in Furrs, but now Civiliz'd, clad after the common manner.

The People fpread over Guaxacualco, Iluta, and Cueztxatla, oblerve Circumcifion, according to an ancient Cuftom; from whence fome have in vain fought for a te ftimony, that thefe Americans: fhould be originally extracted from the feater'd Tribes of Ifrael; but the Tartars more immediately, who at laft croffing the Straits of Anian, furnifh'd the defolate Countrey of America with Inhabitants: But this Opinion is without any probability of truth, for it will never follow from their Circumcifion, that the Tartars, the greateft People on Earth, muft owe their original to 2 few Ifraelites, Prifoners, fince that Ceremony was never thought on by them till they embrac'd the Mabumetan Religion. And though they had been Circumcis'd before Mabomet's time, this would be no teftimony that they were extracted from the I/raelites : for how many People embrac'd Circumcifion, which were never extracted from Abraham's Seed? It is affirm'd by Diodorus Siculus, that the Cholchians; by Pbilo Judeus, the Egyptians; by Herodotus, the Moors; by Strabo, the Troglodytes; by Cyprian, the Phocricians and Arabians Circumcis'd themfelves from all Antiquity, which is to this day obferv'd by fome of them. It allo plainly ap, pears by the Prophet Jeremiah, that the Egyptians, Edomites, Ammonites, Moabites, and IIbmaelites, had the fame Cuftom anciently amongtt them.

The Towns of principal note inhabited by the Spaniards in this Province, are 1. Antequera, in the Valley aforefaid, a fately City, and beautifid with a fair Ca. thedral Church, built with Pillars of the fineft Marble, of great heighth and bignefs. The River which glides by the Walls, fpringing out of the Ground, runs to the Mountain Coatlan. Not far from thence lies the Village Herrera, which boafts four hundred Spanifh Families, though fome fay that the greateft part of them are Indians, who pay the Spaniards Cotton Cloaks and Nuts for Tribute.
2. Illephonfo delos Zapotecas, lies on a Mountain belonging to the Mixes, anciently a falvage, ftrong, and long=bearded People, who fpeak a grofs Language, and in former times went naked, onely a white Deer-skin, Tann'd in Man's Brains, about their Middle. They maintain'd continual War againft the Zapoteca's, and could never have been fubdu'd by the Spaniards, had it not been for their Dogs, which kept them in fuch awe, that thirty Spanifh Soldiers ventur'd to live in Illephonfo amongt thiry thoufand Mixes, who now drive a Trade in Cotton, Maize, and Gold.
3. San fago de Nexapa appears at a great diftance on a high Mountain, where alfo twenty Soldiers with their Dogs were wont to aive the cruel Natives.
4. The laft Place, built by Gonzales de Sandovall, Anno 1522. is Villa del Espiritu Santo, Commands fifty Indian Villages, which with great difficulty were brought to fubmit to the Spaniards.

The River Aquivicolco affords a convenient Harbor, the Mouth thereof being a hundred and ninety Paces broad.
Upon the Southern Ocean is the Haven Guatulco, where the Ships that Sail to Honduras and Peru take in their Lading. The Cuftom-houfe belonging to this Place was firft plunder'd by Sir Francis Drake, and nine years after burnt by Candifh.

The River Ometipu, which Springing out of the Mountain Cacatepec, falls into Te: poanteque, abounds with divers forts of good Fifh, efpecially Cra-Fifh. There are alo fo reckon'd of the Natives of this Province, no lefs than fifteen thoufand Perfons that pay Tribute to the Spaniards, befides Women and Children, and alfo a great number of Spaniards.

SECT. V.

Panuco.

Bounds and Dolcription of Pankce. of Раинсе.

PAnuco is the moft Northerly Province of Neer Spain, by fome call'd Guafteca, bounded on the Eaft with the Gulf of Mexico; on the Weft with Uxitipa, 2 Countrey of New Gallicia; on the North with fome undifcover'd Countreys of Florida, from which it is divided by the River of Palms; on the South with Mechoacan and Mexicma. It is call'd Panuco, from a River of that Name, which turning from the Mountains Tepecfuan in Newn Gallicia, and dividing Nerb Bifay from the Province of Zacatecas, paffeth through the midft of this Countrey alfo, and at laft empties it felf into the Gulf.

This Countrey is reckon'd to be about fifty Leagues in length, and not much lefs in breadth; of a fruifful Soil, having fome Mynes of Gold in it, and once very populous till the Spaniards, about the Year 1522. difpeopled it by their infatiable cruelty.
Before Ferdinand Cortefius, Francis de Garay attempted to Conquer this Province, but after much pains to no purpofe, he return'd with but a fmall remnant of thofe he carried with him; and though Cortefius fubdu'd the Countreys Ayotetextetlatan and Chila, yet it was not without many confiderable Loffes; for the Inhabitants being valiant and cruel, not fearing the Spanijh Bullets, ran in amongft them, and made great flaughter, and (according to an old Cuftom in New Spain) drank their Blood.

Thefe People, on their Feftival Days call'd Raeaxipo Veliztli, which fignifies $A$ Flaying of Slaves, us'd to pull off the Skins of a certain number of Slaves, with which they walkt about begging Alms from Hut to Hut, and whofoever deny'd them, was fure of a Blow in the Face with the bloody Skin; of which fo long as there was but one Lappet remaining, they went a Begging ; and whatfoever they got, was employ'd in Ufes and Neceffaries belonging to their Idolatry. On the foremention'd Days they alfo us'd other barbarous Cuftoms, amongft which this was one: The Prieft challenging the Slave which was to be Offer'd, to Fight for his Life, he had one of his Feet ty'd to 2 great round Stone, and having a Sword to offend, and a Shield to defend himfelf, Encountred with the Prieft, who was Arm'd after the fame manner, whom if he conquer'd, he not onely preferv'd his Life, but gain'd the Name of a valiant Man.

They alfo deale ftrangely with Perfons that were yearly to be Offer'd to their Idols : for after having wafh'd them, they put on them the Clothes of the Idol, and gave them the fame Name, every one honouring them as a God; were permitted to walk up and down, but guarded by twelve Men, that they might not efcape; for then the chiefeft of the Guard was to fupply the others place: Moreover, they refided in the chiefeft Apartments of the Temple, eat of the beft, were Cerv'd like Princes, and attended through the Towns by Perfons of the greateft Quality, who led them through the Streets; where they no fooner play'd on a little Pipe, but all People came running to them, fell at their Feet and worThip'd them : In the Night they lock'd them up in a Cage, fecur'd with Iron Bars, and at the appointed time flay'd them alive.

The chief Towns now remaining, and inhabited by the Spaniards, are I. St. Lewis de Tampice, a Colony of Spaniards fituate on the Northern Bank of the River Panuco, at the very Mouth of it; where it hath a very large Haven, but fo barr'd with Sands, that no Ship of any great Burden can enter or abide in it with fafety; and yet the River otherwife fo deep, that Veffels of five hundred Tun, might Sail up threefcore Leagues at leaft within Land, and thereby vifit the rich Mynes of Zatatecas on the one fide of it, and of Neim Bijcay on the other, at pleafure, and withour fear of much oppofition.
2. St. Stevan del Puerto, on the South fide of the fame River, eight Leagues diftant from the Sea, or Gulf of Mexico, at prefent the Metropolis or chief Town of the Province, builc by Cortefius in the place where ftood old Panuco, which was likewife the Metropolis, or Head Town of the Natives, before the Spaniards burnt and de. ftroy'd it.
3. St. Fago de las Valles, which is a Fronteer Place, and enjoyech cerrain fpecial Immunities, and Some fair Poffeffions allo for defence of the Countrey againft the Salvages. It is twenty five Leagues diftant from St. Stevan del Puerto, lying in an open or Champain Countrey, and is fenc'd about with a Wall of Earth.

Miles Philips

Miles Philips, an Englifhman, put afhore by Captain Gobn Hawkins, in the Bay of New Spain, Ammo 1568. fuffer'd great hardfhip before he came to Panuco, from whence returning, he made mention of a City lying along a River of the fame denomina. tion, (which is there not above two Bowe fhoots-broad,) in a pleafant Countrey, containing two hundred Spani/h Families, befide the antient Inhabitants and Negro's, which all drive a great Trade in Salt, which is made in Pans Weftward from the River : Pbilips travelling from Panuco to Mexico, faw by the way the Villages $\mathbb{N}_{0} 0-$ bete, by the Spaniards call'd Santa Maria, and a Cloyfter of white Monks: Next he view'd Mefitlan, where fome grey Monks had a Houfe, and the Town Pucbuen.

Another account of this Province is taken from a Journal kept by Fobn Cbilton, four years after Philips's Voyage; he having a Spaniard for his Convoy, left Mexico to find out Panuco; in three days time they reach'd the City Meffitlan, where he obferv'd, that twelve Spanifh Families liv'd amonget chirty thoufand Indians. The City built on a high Mountain, full of Woods, is furrounded with Villages, through which run many brave Springs; and the Air about them is no lefs wholfom than the Ground fruitful ; the Hightways are fhaded with all forts of Fruit Trees.

The Village Clanchinoltepec, four times more Populous than Meftitlan, belongs to a Spanifh Nobleman, who built a Cloyfter there for nine Augufin Monks, of which Order there alfo refide twelve in the City Guaxutla.
Moreover, they travel'd over the plain Countrey Guafecan, to the Village Tan。 cuijlabo, inhabited by a tall People, with blue Painted Bodies, and Pleited Hair, hanging down to their Knees, going ftark naked, but never without a Bowe and Arrow. They efteem nothing more than Salt, as being the onely Cure againft certain Worms that grow between their Lips. From hence they travel'd to Tampice, in which Journey they feent nine days; and coming thither, were inform'd, that of forty Cbriftians which dwelt in the fame, the Indians had flain twelve, whilf they were gathering of Salt. From hence they came to Panuco, then in a manner de ferted, becaufe of the Indians oppreffing the Spaniards, of which, at that time, there were but ten, and one Prieft. Chilton falling fick here, refolv'd neverthelefs to change that unwholfom Air and barren place for a better; to which purpofe, getting a Horfé, he took an Indian behind him for his Guide, but loofing his way in a thick Wood, happen'd amongft a Company of wild People, which dwelt in Straw Huts, twenty of them immediately furrounding him, brought him fome clear fweet Water to drink; out of a Gilt Venice Glafs, which having drunk, two naked Men led him into the highoway; which ended at the Gate of the Wall'd City Santo Jago de las Valles, inhabited by twenty five Spanifh Families, who inform'd Cbilton of the great danger which he had been in, for the People which gave him the Water were Manoeaters, who not long fince, had burnt an Auguftine Cloyfter, built on a Mountain, had taken away, and eat the People, of which they had in all likelyhood gotten the Venice Glafs; and had they not obferv'd Cbilton to be fickly, he had without doubt been eaten by them, and his Skin, with fome of his Hair, (that being a great Ornament amongft them) been hung about their middle.

During Chilton's ftay in St. Jago, Frans de Page came thither with forty Soldiers from the Vice-Roy Henry Manriques, and took five hundred Indians, good Bowe Men out of the Neighboring Villages, Tanehipa and Tameclipa, with which he defign'd to go to the Silver Mines at Zacatecas: Chilton joyning with this Company, came to the - great River De las Palmas, which feparates Nevs Spain from Florida, where they feent three days in vain, feeking to find a paffage over; wherefore they at-laftook pieces of Timber, which joyning together, and ftanding upon, they were Tow'd over by Swimming Indians; being gotten on the other fide, they March'd over fteep Mountains, and thick Wilderneffes, and came at laft to Zacatecas, on whofe Silver Mines, the richelt in all America, work'd above three hundred Spaniards daily.

Sect. Vi.

Tabafco.

THe laft Countrey belonging to $\mathcal{N e v o}$ Spain is Tabasco, bounded on the North by the Northern Ocean, and on the Eaft with Jucatan; and however fome account it a diftinct Province, yet others make no mention of it, let. ting it pafs for that part of fucatan which lies about the City Tabafco, from which it feems to be denominated: The Ground level and withour Mountains; hath many great Woods of Cedar-Trees, Brafile, and others. Here are allo many good Indian Fruits, as the Manmeyes, Zapotes, Aguacates, and Guajabos. For three Moneths they have continually dry. Weather; the reft of the year being for the moft part rainy; which vicifitude of Moifture and Heat makes the Countrey exceeding fruifful, infomuch that they have three or four Harvefts of Maiz in a year.

Vines, Figs, Lemmons, Oranges, Rice, Barley, and all forts of Garden.Herbs grow here alfo in great plenty.
'The Pools, Brooks and Lakes, abound likewife with all manner of Fifh: and for Sea.Fifh, befides the Tortugas, and $\mathrm{Y}_{\mathrm{g} u}$ anras, the Manae, or Ser-Cow, is of principal note.

This Fifh is terrible to behold, having a Head like an Ox, little Eyes, two The finizan Feet near the Head in ftead of Fins, two round Holes in ftead of Ears, round bones like Balls in its Brains, a fhort Tail, and briftly Skin: The Females have two Dugs, with which they fuckle their Young.

Peacocks, Pheafants, Parrots, Quales, Hens; Pigeons, with feveral forts of Birds Birds; altogether unknown to the Europeans, are here in great abundance.

The Woods alfo abound with Tygers and Lyons, which do no little hurt to the Beanal Inhabitants; Wild Hogs, Deer, and Rabbets, are likewife here in great plenty; and Turtles of an exceeding bigne $\int_{s}$ : Likewife Apes, Polecats, and Squerrils, which do very much hure to the Fruit-Trees, efpecially the Cacao. The Muftichoos are a great annoyance to the People, and difturb their reff at Night.

Since the Spaniards have conquer'd Tabafco, they have forc'd the Inhabitants to tangunges obferve their Laws and Cuftoms. They fpeak three forts of Languages, amongft of tives, Nas which that moft us'd, call'd (bontal, is copious of Words. The fecond, Zaques, is fpoken on the Mountains which divide Chiapa and Tabajco. The Mexican Tongue was firft brought thither by the Garrifons which Muteczuma plac'd there in the Forts Zimatlan and Xicalango, and is the moft fpoken, in regard it hath not onely its Accents, but is alfo of great ufe, partly becaufe it is underftood in moft places of 'America, and partly becaufe the Priefts have made Songs in that Tongue, with which the Tabafcans are much delighted.

The chief City $\lambda^{2}$ ofra Sennora de la Vittoria, already mention'd in fucatan, was fo call'd by Ferdinand Cortefius, from the great Victory which he obtain'd over the Indians when he march'd firft towards Mexico.

Thus far of the Defcription of the feveral Pares and Divifions of Nems Spain, dif

fering in Cuftoms and Languages, though moft of them have fome affinity with the Mexicans, who by force of Arms had made a way to the fupream Empire. All of thein acknowledge a Creator, but have no Name to exprefs the Word God. But befides the Creator of the World they have made to themfelves Gods of many other Creatures; amongft which are the Sun, Moon, Stars, and the Manes of the Deceafed, the care of whofe Burial they committed to the Priefts, which was fometimes in the Fields, fometimes in their Houfes; others carried their dead Bodies to the Mountains, fome buried thefn in Temples; and as they either burnt or bu= ried the Body, fo they buried or burnt their Clothes and Riches with them, efpecially of Perfons of Quality, whilft thofe that accompanied the Corps fung a mournful Song; after which they Feafted. The Heirs of Noble-men that had been at the Funeral put themfelves all into Mourning. A Perfon, after he is dead, is frecth ${ }^{2}$ out upon the Floor, where he lies till all his Friends come to Prefent and Com: plement him, as if living: But at the death of an eminent Perfon they not onely bring him Prefents, but proffer him his Slaves, Steward, Butlers, Dwarfs, and Houfhold Prieft, (all which a Lord mult keep) that they may ferve him in the other World. The Priefts which perform d the Funeral Ceremonies, walk'd before the Corps with the Image of the Idol which the Deceafed had appropriated to him. felf,' (for every Lord, according to the greatnefs of his Quality, bore the Name and Apparel of fome Idol or another; ) other Pricfts beat on Drums, play'd on Pipes and finging Dirges, perfum'd the Way with Myrrh, whileft the Servants and Reo lations made a doleful cry; a Herauld alfo carried the Coat of Arms and Tro. phies of the Deceafed, artificially painted on Cloth; at laft they pyl'd fweet Wood about the Corps, which being lighted, and the Body burnt to Afhes, a Prieft in a frightful Drefs, Vizarded with a gaping Mouth, long Teeth, and fiery Eyes, came on a fudden, and with a long Stick ftirr'd the Afhes about, and gathering it in an $\mathrm{U}_{\mathrm{rn}}$, buried the fame with the fore-mention'd things.

The Idols in New Spain are reprefented in terrible Figures, to which they Offer humane Sacrifices.

The Priefts, divided into higher or lower Oiders, acknowledge a fupream Head, which they call Papas. Each idol had a peculiar forr of Priefts: Thofe that ferv'd Viãtlipuzli, obtain'd their Places by Inheritance; but others. were, chofe by the Commonaley, unlefs chey laad been bred Priefts from their Infancy.

The Mexican Cloyfters in the time of Heathenifm were generally buile in the chiefeft Temples, in a great Piazza, or iquare Court, where for the moft part two Monaftical Houfes flood one againft another, the one inhabited by a Fraternity of Reclufes, and the other by a Sifterhood; which laft being Maids of twelve or thitteen years of age, call'd The. Penitential Daughters, fwept the Teniple, prepar'd Meat for the Idols and Priefts, which was plentifully fupply'd from the Alms and Offerings that were daily brought in to the Priefts, confifting of little Cakes made like Hands and Feet, befides other ftrange Meats, which being fet be. fore the Idols, was foon after taken away again, and eaten up by the Priefts: They were under a Governefs, who employ'd them in making Embroideries to adorn the Temple ; and fometimes rofe up with the Priefts at Mid-night, and play'd on Pipes, perfum'd the Temple, and frourg'd themfelves till the Blood ran down their Backs, befmearing their Faces therewith, and leaving it on a whole year ; then going into a large Chamber, where a Ciftern food for that purpofe, they wafh'd it off again; after which, if they committed the leaft uncleannefs, they were put to a moft miferable Death; which was judg'd upon fecinga Rat run through the Nuns Chamber, or a Batt flying by it, or finding any piece of Cloth gnaw'n by a Moule or Rat; for they fuppofe that the fore $=$ mention'd Creatures dare not come into a hallow'd place, unlefs defil'd. In this reclufe manner they were onely confin'd to live a year, which being expir'd, they had free leave to Marry. It 7 . -The Houfe oppofite to the Nuns in the fame fquare place of the Temple, was inhabited by Youths of eighteen and twenty years of age, whofe Heads were flhaven like Monks, and pleited Tufts hung from the Crown down to their Backs; they liv'd alfo mean and chafte, kepr the Priefts Clothes and Perfuming= Veffels, carried Wood for Offerings, and kept always burning Lamps before Viztlipuzli's Alcar. Amongit them were alfo Boys of a lefs Age, whofe Office was to gather Flowers and Herbs to ftrow the Temple with, to Charpen the Priefts Lan= ces, which they Let themfelves Blood wich every Night in the Legs, and carry them•Water. Thefe Youths, Cloth'd in Nets, Fell on their Faces on the Ground, when they met with a Woman, and went four and four, or fix and fix together to beg Alms, and by turns watch'd the fore-mention'd Fire; in the Morning they drew Blood out of their Thighs, with which they anointed their Temples down to their Ears, and when the Blood look'd black, wafh'd it off again in a confecrated Bath, which their ftrict and fevere Life endur'd a whole Year.

The particular Religion of the Mexicans, compos'd of cruel nlaughters and butcheries of Men, reign'd a long time againft the minds of the other Indians that were under their Dominion, every one beginning more to abhor the cruel flaying of living People, and cearing out the Hearts of Men for Offerings; and the rather, .becaufe they were forc'd to fetch them out of their Enemies Countrey with the hazard of their own Lives, infomuch that they were ready long before to have embrac'd another Doetrine, if any other Teacher had but appear'd a mongft them; which was the chief reafon why they fo eafily receiv'd the Roman Religion: for when. Cortefius had conquer'd the City Mexico, the Mechoacan Agents entreated him to fend them Teachers to prefcribe them Laws, according to which they might live, becaufe their Idolatry, which had long opprefs'd them, was not to be fuffer'd any longer, becaule of the Cruelties which were requir'd of them in the performance thereof.

Ee2
Their

Their Proceffions were ftately, and after this manner : The chiefeft Nuns raifing a Pafte of Bledoi-Seed and parched Maiz, kneaded it with Honcy, of which they made an Idol refembling their Deity Viztipuztli, acrofs whofe Nofe and Forehead they drew a blue Stroke; his Head they adorn'd with a Plume of Feathers, and in the left Hand plac'd a round Box, in the right a crooked Staff like a Serpent, and Wings behind on his Shoulders; at the appointed Feaft-day the Nuns meet before Sunerifing, in new white Apparel, with Garlands of Maiz about their Heads and Necks, which hung down below the left Shoulder, their Faces painted with feveral colours, about their Arms hung Parrots'Feathers from their Elbows down to their Hands: Thus adorn'd, they carried the kneaded Idol to a Court, where the Youths that inhabited a Cloyfter in the fame Temple, fetching the Idols blue Throne, withgreat Reverence fet it down at the lower Step of the Temple, at which the People threw Duft on their Heads; which was no fooner done, but the Boys ran with all fpeed to the Mountain Chapulteper; a League from Mexico, whither the Multitude following them in manner of Proceffion, made all fhort Prayers and Offerings there; from thence haftening into the Champain Fields Atlacuavaja, they perform'd the like Service as before; which done, they went to the Village Cuyoacan, a League farther; from whence they came back in all hafte with their Idol into Mexico: Wherefore this Proceffioning for its expedition was call'd Ipaina Viztliputli. The Idol being brought into the Temple, was by four Cords made faft to his Throne, hoifed up to the Cieling with the noife of Drums and Trumpets, whilf the fore-mention'd Youths ftrow'd the Temple both within and without full of Rofes; after which the Nuns gave the Boys the refemblances of Bones made of the fame Dough with the Idol, with which they were to cover the Floor of the Chappel; then appear'd the Temple-Priefts, with Scarfs about their Bodies, Garlands on their Heads, and Strings with Flowers about their Necks, each going in order according to his quality to the place where the Bones lay; which being Confecrated with Songs and Dances, were religioufly worfhipp'd for Bones of the Idol ; after which fix of the Priefts went down to the Stone Quauxicalli, on which the Prifoners lying upon their Backs, had their Hearts pull'd out; which being finifh'd, the Maids and Boys before-mention'd went to meet one another, Dancing to the found of Pipes, Drums and Songs; which their neareft Relations anfwering, Danc'd round about them, whither the whole City and Countrey People all about came flocking in great numbers.

During this high Feaft none, upon great Penalties, durft eat any other Food but the Cakes made of the fame Dough of which the Idol was made; neither were they permitted, though Children, to drink till the Afternoon.

Laftly, the Prieft climb'd up to a Chappel ftrow'd with Rofes, in which the Idol fitting, they difrob'd him, broke hisholy Arms and Legs into little pieces, which they diftributed amongft the common People, who receiv'd them with great Reverence, and with tears in their Eyes, imagining they eat the Body of their God; for which honour every one paid a tenth part of the Charge which had been fpent in this high Feaft. Then a Prieft admonifh'd them how they fhould lead their Lives, fince they were united with their God; which ended, they all went to their feveral Habitations in a wonderful good order from the Temple.

Concerning the Mexicans. Apparel, it is a fufficient teftimony, that they are no way of the fame original with the feveral barbarous Nations, that run up and down naked in News Spain: for the Inhabitants of Mexico went antiently Cloth'd in Cotton : On their Heads they wore a high Plume of red Feathers; about their Necks, over their Shoulders, Breaft and Back, a kind of large Thorax of Feathers curioufly pleited; each Arm adorn'd with Armlets, and their Middles girt with broad white Girdles full of red Streaks; in ftead of Garters they wore Laces of Feathers, as alfo a little above their Ancles. Their Priefts befmear'd all their Bodiés, efpecially the Head, with an Ointment, whofe fpecial vertue was to make their Hair grow exceeding long, which they braided with broad Cotton Strings; they alfo fmutch'd themfelves with a kind of blacking Stuff; when they went to make Offerings to their Idol in Caves, Woods, or on high Mountains, they bee dawb'd themfelves with an Ointment made of Spiders, Salamanders, Adders, Scorpions and Toads, which the Temple-Boys caught for them in great abundance. This Ointment they made with many Circumftances; for having roafted the fore-mention'd Vermine on the Hearth of the perpetual Fire before $V_{i z t l i p u z t l i ' s ~}^{\text {s }}$ Alcar, and famp'd the fame in a Mortar with Tobacco, living Scorpions, the Seed Ololuchqui, (to which they afcrib'd a power of reprefenting Vifions) hairy Worms, and Soot, they kneaded all together, put the Ointment in Pots, and plac'd it before the Idol, thenceforth reputing it a fanctifid Medicine, that would prove good againft all manner of Difeafes; wherefore the Priefts being always fent for to the Sick in ftead of Doctors, perfum'd the Patient, Thav'd his Hair, hung Snakes Bones about his Neck, and order'd him at a certain Hour to bathe himfelf, and in the Night to watch before a Firehearth, and to eat no Bread but what had been Offer'd to their Idol. Moreuver, the faid Ointment is thought to have another power, viz to make thofe that anointed themfelves with the fame, valiant and ftrong; which the common People believ'd, becaufe the Priefts would go through Woods and Wilderneffes that abounded with ravenous Beafts.

Thefe Heatbens alfo feem'd to have fomething of Circumcifion and Baptifm; for they not onely cut off a piece of the Infant's Ears and privy Members, which they Offer'd to their Idols, but allo walh'd them as foon as they came into the World, putting into their $\mathrm{H}_{2}$ ads fuch Tools as were of ufe in their Fathers Profeffion. -f
Their Marriages alfo were celebrated with great folemnity: The Prieft having Thoir Nup. tial Solcmuities. ask'd che Bride and Bridegroom, If they would joyn togecher in Matrimony? if they both confented, he ty'd the Brides Scarf, and Bridegrooms Coat together, and fo accompanying them home, led them nine times about the Fire-hearth : If the Bride had no Impediments, then the Bridegroom made Prefents to her Father and Mother, Offeringsto thic Gods, and a brave Dinner to the neareft Relations; after which an Inventory was drawn of what each of them had brought, that upon their being. Divorc'd, (which was very common amongft the Mexicans) each might have his fhare; and if they had Children, the Man was to keep the Sons, and the Woman the Daughters; nor were they permitted, on pain of death, being once parted, to joyn together again.

On the ninteenth of May they kept the Feaft Texcoalt, Confecrated to the Idol Tezratlipuca, before whom they Offer'd a Slave, which was done after this manner: Towards the Evening the Muititude coming into the Temple, the Priefts pulling off the Idois old, put on new Apparel, hung him full of Precious Stones and Arm. lets, fet Plumes of Feathers on his Head; which done, the Curtains behind which he.food, were drawn, and a Prieft Cloth'd exactly like the Idol coming forth, turn'd himfelf round, blow'd a kind of Trumper towards the four Winds, and ate Earth, which all the People imitated: whereof thofe which had committed any hainous Offence, Offer'd Incenfe to the Idol, and weeping, begg'd forgivenefs of their Sins. Thofe that were Soldiers befought him to grant them fore of Prifoners, and ftrength to conquer their Enemies; for which they, would return him thanks with Offer'd Prifoners.

This Feaft of Texcoalt lafting ten days, ended on the twenty ninth of May with peculiar Ceremonies; for in the Morning a company of Priefts, black all over, carried on their Shoulders a large Chair of State richly adorn'd; in which fat their Idol Tezcatlipuca, and Priefts with long pleited Hair, and Clad in the fame Àpparel with the Idol, which they fet down at the Foot of a pair of Stairs which led up to a Chappel; whither the attendafit Youths and Virgins came and fpread Carpets before it, and green Boughs of Manghey; after which two Priefts carried the Idol into a fpacious Court in the Temple, feveral others walking before, each with a perfuming Veffel; when they threw their Perfumes on the Confecrated Hearth, they held their Hands towards the Idol, defiring him that he would fend their Prayers to Heaven: Next follow'd the Multitude, who foourg'd themfelves till the Blood ran down from their Backs. So foon as the Proceffion was ended, the reprefented Tezcatlipuca was hoifed up to the Cieling, and abundance of Flowers ftrow'd before the Altar; which done, every one went home to Dinner, whilft the Youths and Virgins adorn'd the Idol, and plac'd Meat before him: Lafty, the Votareffes came two and two with Baskets of Bread, and Difhes of Meat: their Governefs in a white Sur-Coat over a red Veft, with Wings on her Shoulders, and broad Girts, at which hung Calabajhes fill'd with holy Reliques and Flowers: Moreover, fhe conducted the Votareffes to the Steps of the Altar on which the Idol fat; where having eaten Bread they came back, and the TempleServants went in their places, and carried the Meat which ftood on the Altar to the Priefts Cells, who by that time were to have Fafted five days: this done, the People came all to the Temple again, to be prefent at the end of the Feaft : then a Slave, who had reprefented the Idol a whole year, appear'd, to whom every one having fhew'd Reverence, the chief Prieft cutting open his Breaft, tore the Slave's Heart reaking out of his Body, and Thew'd it to the Sun ; then the Confecrated Youths and Maids made a great noife with Drumming, Singing and Dancing about the Body till Sun-fet; after which the Virgins going up to the upper Chappel, placed Bread and Fruit, made up like dead Mens Bones and Heads, before the Idol, where, after it had ftood a little while, the Servants went up and fetch'd it down, whilft the Youths and Maids went to their leveral Cloyfters.

Much after the fame manner, and with fuch like brutifh Ceremonies, not worth mentioning, was alfo celebrated the Feaft of Quetzatcoalt.
2. In the inner part of the Temple ftood a Stage, on which upon Feftival Days the People Acted Drolls; in which they fometimes feign'd themfelves deaf, blind, lame, and the like, and begg'd to be cur'd of their Idols; fometimes were drefs ${ }^{\circ} \mathrm{d}$ like Serpents, Adders, Crocodiles, or other ravenous Beafts, in which poftures they foughe one with another.

Thofe Feafts were all kept on certain times, according to the Mexican Almanack, in which the Year was divided into eight Moneths, and each Moneth into forty five Days, which together made three hundred and fixty: The five remaining Days, to compleat the Year, they kept apart, on which all Affairs whatfoever were laid afide, as Selling; Buying, Offerings, &c. nothing elfe being thought on but Feafting one a nother for the paffing away of the time. The firft Day of their Year was on the twenty fixth of February. Each Moneth had a peculiar Name and Sign. Moreover, they divided the Year into four parts by as many Reprefentations, viz.a Houle, a Rabbet, a Cane, and a Flint to Atrike Fire with; and Figur'd it out by 2 Wheel with four Spikes jutting out round about it, colour'd green, red, blue, and yellow, and in the middle thereof a Sun ; each Spike fignifid thirteen years, wherefore it had thirteen Divifions, diftinguifh'd by the four fore-mention'd Reprefentations: At each Divifion of the Wheel they fet down what remarkable things fhould happen that year by certain Characters; as, a Man in red Apparel typifid that Year when Ferdinand Cortefius, clad in Red, conquer'd Mexico. When the Wheel was fill'd with fifty two years Prognoftication, then on the laft Night they brokeall their Pots and Veffels in pieces, and blew out their Candles, becaufe they believ'd, that at the end of the faid fifty two years the World would be at an end, and therefore they had no need of Houfholdftuff, or ought elfe : But fo foon as the Day appeár'd again, they play'd on Pipes, Trumpets, and Drums,rejoycing that God had deferr'd the deftruction of the World fifty two years longer ; then they bought new Utenfils and Candles, and made folemn Proceffions.

- Concerning the Are of Writing amongft the Inhabitants of New Spain, Fofeph Acofta tells us, That fome old Books, containing ancient Paffages, the Courfe of the Heavens, nature of Beafts and Plants, were found in fucatan, according to the Re. lation of a Learned Indian, but were all burnt by Command of a Spanifh Bifhop, be. caule he fuppos'd them to be full of Matter touching the Black Art. Their Hiftories they deferib'd with the Reprefentations of the Things. Rhetorick and Poetry the Children were saught by Rote in the Schools, fo that they never forgot what they had once learnt; But at prefent they ufe Spanifh Letters or Characters.

Moreover, the Government of Mexico hath ever been kept in a good Order, the King's Power being exactly limited, that nothing might be loft of the common Priviledges. The fourth King Icoath made Earls, who next to the Lords of Tezcuce and Tacuba, had right to the Crown; which was like a Mitre curn'd up behind, and rifing before with a Point. According $2 s$ they increas'd in Power, fo they advanc'd in Royal Dignity; in which Muteczuma the Second exceeded all others: And to manifeft his fplendor, his Houfe for all forts of Creatures, and many other things, might ferve for a fufficient teftimony: for in it he kept Sea-Fifh in falt Water, River.Fifh in frefh Water, and all manner of Beafts in peculiar places: The Birds were kept in great Aviaries, furrounded with golden Rails. Next to the Kings fol. low'd four Earls call'd Atlacobecalcatl, which fignifies Princes of the Throne Launces, a Weapon much us'd amongft the Mexicans. The next in Degree were the Tlacatecatl, or Mancleavers'; Efauahuacatl; or Bloodsfhedders; Tfallancalqui, or Lords of Blacknefs, without all which the King durft not takeany Bufinefs in hand. High and leffer Courts of Judicatory, where Mateers of Life and Death were try'd, were in moft Cities; and other Courts alfo for petty Quarrels, Controverfies, and the like. The Collectors brought their Revenues to the Court every Moneth. The chief thing which preferr'd both Rich and Poor to Places of Honor, confifted in Valour and heroick Exploits. Their Arms were chiefly fharp pieces of Flint made faft to a Stick, with which they could at one Blow chop off a Horfes Head. They alfo us'd Pikes, Clubs, and Lances, and fomerimes Slings: For defenfive Armour, they had Helmets and Shields, made of Tygers, Leopards, and Lyons Skins. They always fell upon their Enemies unawates, their Defign being generally to take Prifoners rather than to kill them; for they referv'd them for Offerings to their Idols. Muteczuma made feveral Commanders over his Armies, giving them a Power one above the other, which were to be diftinguifh'd by feveral Marks; for the chiefeft ty'd the Hair on the top of their Heads with a red String, betwixt which ftuck a brave Plume of Feathers; at the end whereof hung as many Taffels as they had done noble Exploits. To this Order belong'd alfo the King, who wore one of the fame Marks, with which King Muteczuma and his Son ftand Carv'd on 2 Rock. The Ayulas, or The Order of the Eagle, confifted of valiant Men. The Grey Knights were of lefs Quality, and wore Collars which reach'd up to their Ears, the lower part of their Body being naked. Perfons of greater Dignity, when going to the War, were Arm'd from Head to Foot: Which Order was allo permitted to wear Cotton-Clothes, and Shoes richly embroider'd with Gold and Silver; they us'd painted Veffels, and had Lodgings provided for them at Court.

Their Edes:

 cation of Youth. Moreover, it is worthy of obfervation, what great care the Mexicans took in the bringing up of their Children; to which purpofe they had Schools near to their Temples, in which Youth was taught to Sing, Dance, Morality, Obedience, and alfo Martial Difcipline. Children of noble ExtraEt had Learned Men for their Tutors. Their Punifhments for Tranfgreffions were very fevere, the Mafters fore cing their Scholars to Faft and Watch, carry great Burthens of Provifions to the Army, and be in the midft of Engagements. Others, whofe Fancy led them to a holy Life, willingly embrac'd the Services of the Temple.Their manner of Dancing in New Spain was very ftrange and differing; they us'd

Their manner of Dancing. pretty Inftruments, and Songs which contain'd antique Paffages, according to the Times; they in their Motions imitated Shepherds, Fifher-men, Plowmen, Hunters, and the like : Sometimes they Danc'd in Majcarades, with a Man on their Shoulders, making the fame Motion with his Hands in the Air, as the other with his Feet on the Ground. They had alfo Tumblers and Dancers on the Ropes, which fhew'd frange Tricks on an erected Pole. But above all Dances, the Mitotes was the chief, which was generally Danc'd in the King's Palace, or inner Court of the Temple; in the middle of which they plac'd a great Drum and a hollow Tub on a large Image; round about which the mofteminent Perfons made a Ring, Sang fiweetly, and Danc'd leifurely, when on a fudden two that are more nimble, with divers Motions came into the midft of them, and Danc'd exactly after the found of the Drum and hollow Tub, which was feconded with the noife of Flutes and Pipes.

C H A P. VI,  Nèw Gallicia.

NEiv Gallicia, by fome call'd Guadalajara, from the chief City. This whole Province is the moft Northern Countrey of all America, that is inhabited to any purpofe by the Spaniards. Here, 'tis true, they are Fcatter'd up ind down in all the parts of it, but it is at a huge diftance, and for the moft part on:ly where the Mines are. It is bounded on the Eaft and to the South, with the Kingdom of Mexico or New Spain; on the Weft, with the Gulf or Bay of Californa; Northward, for fo much as is yet difcover'd, with Quivira and Cibola, lying betw:en eighteen and twenty eight Degrees of Northern Latitude, that is, from La Natyio dad, a Port fo nam'd by the Spaniards, in the Confines of Neno Spain, to the moft Northerly Borders of Cinoloa, a part of this Province, containing, as is fuppos'd, not much Jefs than three hundred Leagues in length, and in breadth much more; and whereof not a tenth part is either us'd or frequented by the Spaniards.

The Air is generally here very temperate, inclining rather to Heat than Cold, and fubject now and then to fudden Srorms of Rain, and great Claps of Thunder, which yet da not hinder, but that the Countrey is held to be reafonably healthful, and the People oblerv'd to live generally to a good old Age. The Soil, by reafon of the Climate, would be a little inclining to Drought, but that, befides the fre: quent Rains which it hath, it is conftantly moiftned with frefh Morning Dews, which make it for the moft part wonderfully fruitful, almoft beyond belief, yielding for every. Buthel of Wheat that is fown, threefore; and of Maiz, two hundred for one ; befides great plenty of Sugar-Canes and Cochinele;; both which neverthelefs the Spaniards are faid to neglect in fome fort, employing themfelves wholly about richer Commodicies :: for the Countrey affords them good ftore of Mines of Silver and Brafs, but of:Gold or Iron, not many as yet have been found. The Rivers abound plentifully with Fifh, and the Woods with Venifon, and fome other wild Beafts. The Countrey is generally more mountainous that plain, frequently thaded with Woods, and whole Forrefts of the fatelieft Pine. Trees' and Oaks that are to be feen ; amongft which breed abundance of Wolves, which do great mifchief to the People, as alfo Scorpions and Muftiectiots. The Hurts receiv'd from Scorpions, are heal'd with the Juice of the Frute call'd Queon; thofe from the Mufiecho's, by Vinegar and the Juice of Lemmon. Here is likewife a green Stone, accounted a foveraign Medicine againft the Géavel.

The Trees peculiar to this Councrey, are, the. Tunds, already fpoken of int Guatimala, and thought to be the fame we vulgarly call Indian Fig-Trees, and are dititin. guifh'd into fix forts.

The firt, by the Portugufe call'd Cardon, hath fharp Prickles, thick Eeaves, foll of flimy Juice, an odoriferous Flower, oval Fruit, cover'd with añ Oranged colour'd Rind, and fniall Roots: The Fruit within confifs of a white juice', drid well tafted Pulp, full of black Seed.

The fecond hath a round Body full of Boughs, with Star-like Prickles hang: ing downwards, the Flower? white, and the Fruit very like that of the Cardon, onely fmpller.

The third is the Caxabra, which floots up to a great Tree full of prickly Cods; at the utmoft end grows a large white Flower; the Fruit, which is as big again as an Egg, is pleafant and cooling.

The fourth fort hath a ftraight Body full of Prickles, runs leffer and leffer to the top; at the end of the fmall Boughs, each thick Leaf produces another; the Wood, if kindled, burns like a Candle.

The fifth, nam'd Cumbeba, grows out of fmall Roots, with three or four corner'd thick Leaves, full of Prickles, the Flower fomewhat lefs than the former, the Fruit oval, hard and red, having a white and juicy Pulp: The Prickles of this CumbebaTree are fo fharp, and ftick in fodeep, that they can fcarce be pull'd out. This is that fort of Tunas that produces Cocbinele, 'which is a Worm that grows under the Leaves, and is.cover'd with a Skin, which being neatly taken off and dry'd in the Sun, as formerly mention'd, becomes a rich Commodity. Fo epph de Acofta tells us, that the Spanifh Fleet, Anno 1578 . carried fo much Cochinele to Spain, as amounted to two hundred eighty three choufand feven hundred and fifty Ryals.

But the laft fort of the Tunas is the Unirumbeba, which hath a fraight Body full of Prickles, on the top whereof grow divers prickly-Leaves, not unlike thofe of the Palm.Tree : It is onely found in barren places, remote from the Sea.

Moreover, all kind of Fruits tranflanted hither from Spain thrive very well, as Apples, Pears, Granats, Figs, Peaches, A pricocks, Muskmelons, dc. - The Root Caftanuela affords a much betrer Feeding for Swine than Acorns. But a. mongft many other Roots which are found here, as the Xiquimas, Yaca, Cocbuco, Cari,
The Batatia. Totora and Mani, the chief is the Batata, which is fat, fweet, and windy; it runs over the Ground with a tough green Sprig, the new Fibres taking Root difperfedly up and down, being yellow withour, and within full of milky Juice; the Leaf refembling a Heart, is of a pale yellow colour on the top, and donuy underneath; roafted in Afhes, it ears better than a Turnip: It is divided into three forts.

The firft, call'd Omenapo yeima, when boyl'd, flews like red Betel, but Dyes of a Skye colour ; the innermoft Skin, which is of a dark Red, yields an Inklike Juice.

The fecond fort, call'd Parro, differs little from the firft, onely the Body, Root, and Veins of the Leaves, are of a Purple colour.

The third fort fetiope, being white; hath a very good rellifh, and cures the Ague.

The Pepper, which is here call'd $A x i^{\prime}$, grows in the warmeft Valleys, and the more by being offen water'd : there are of it divers kinds, differing in colour, finell, and rafte one from the other; for one fort is green, yellow, or red; another fort yields a ftrong musky feent; and one fort is fharper, another milder : the Veins and Kernels thereof are eaten with Salt.

The Herb Cevadilla cures atl manner of Sores.
This Countrey alfo breeds an innumerable company of Deer, Hogs, Goats, Banfy Sheep, Oxen, and Horfes; and of hurtful Creatures, Pifmires, which do great milchief to the Plants, and Locufts, which fall in huge fwarms on the Corn, and cannot be frighted from, the fame by any means whatfoever. The want of Water is alfo no fmall prejudice to the Fields.

The biggent River, call'd Gwedalajard, with many windings runs Northsweftward into the Southern Ocean; and four Leagues from the City of the fame, falling down from a fteep Rock, it makes fuch a horrible noife, that it deafens thofe which approach the fame.

The Lake Mechoacan opens here alfo with a wide Mouth.
The River before mentiond, produces all manner of Fifh in great abundance ; and alfo a fort of Hedge-hogs, call'd Iguana, which live both in the Water, and on the Land, and are of two forts: The firft, call'd Senembi, is four Foot long, of a deep green colour, with black and white Spots, hath a fcaly Skin, white Spots on each fide of the Head, a row of fharp Prickles from the Head to the Tail, wide Noftrils, grear black Eyes, and little Teeth. The fecond fort, call'd Tejaguacu, differs from the firft, in having white Spors on a brown Skin, a longer Tail, and a red Tongue, which is flit. Both forts are reported to faft eight Moneths together; and though often terribly wounded, and dead to all imagination, yet live a great while after; and though they fwim up and down in Rivers, yet they Lay their Eggs in the Sand : their Flefh boyl'd is both whollom; and of a good relifh. .

The Spaniards which inhabit New Gallicia, drive a confiderable Trade in Merchandizing, Husbandry; breeding of Cattel, and working in the Mines: They ufe Wayns and Carrs, drawn by Oxen, Mules, and Horfes, to carry their Loads, as alfo Spanifh Weights and Meafures. They are little troubled with any other Mifchiefs but what may happen from the treacherous Natives, who take all opportunities to run into the Woods, that there they may exercife their Pagan Religion in freedom; in which having feent fome time, they gather a confiderable number together, and ofrentimes fall unawares on the Spaniards, who ufe Leather Shields and Helmets, and furr'd Cotton Clothes, to fecure them from the Arrows which the Indians, ly. ing in Ambufcades, fhoot at them out of the Bufhes.

The Natives, though fubtile, are lazy, and will not work, unlefs for great Rewards. They wear Cotton Shirts, fquare Cloaks of the fame Stuff, made faft with two Buttons on their Breafts ; Drawers, and Coal'd Shoes: Flag=Matts ferve them for Beds, on which they lie under Cotton Clothes: About their Necks, Arms, and Legs, they wear green Stones, and Snale Shells for an Ornament. Their greateft Recreation is Dancing, their Mufick being nothing elfe but the noife or found of a piece of hollow Wood. Horfeflefh, and Bread made of Maiz, is by them accounted a great Dainty. The Drink Cacao is alfo highly efteem'd amongit them ; but much more the Wine that they make of Maquey, which is the wonderful Tree that affords many neceffary things, viz. Syrrup, Honey, Oyl, Vinegar, Yarn, Needles, Water, and Wine ; every Man making it his Bufinefs to plant and preferve the fame with great care near his Houfe, notwithftanding they grow in feveral places of the Fields; they have broad thick Leaves with fharp ends, out of which is drawn a Thorn, which ferves them for a Needle or Pin. Thefe Leaves have a hairy Filament about them, which ferves in ftead of Thred: the young Sprout being cut, produces a fweet Juice, which boyl'd, makes good Wine; when grown fowre, ferves for Vinegar ; but being twice boyl'd, becomes a Syrrup; and being hung over the Fire a third time, a perfect Honey: Alfo the Wood being fpungie, keeps Fire as well as Match. Moreover, the Inhabitants when they travel, carry Leather Bags with them full of (acao, Maiz, and Pepper, mix'd together.

Over each Village in this Countrey the Spaniards have plac'd an Indian Cafique, Alcalde, and Alguazil, where all forts of Provifions are fold at a Set-price.

The Cafiques are fucceeded by their Heirs, who refent nothing worfe than Afo fronts, and take pride in nothing more than their Valour.

The Moors or Negro's which are brought hither from Guinee, do all manner of hard Labour.

The Guachichiles and Guamares are a valiant People, and have each their peculiar Language, utterly different from the Mexican.

Divifion of Nou, Gallicia.

This Countrey comprehends thefe inferior Provinces: I. Guadalajara ; 2. Xalifco; 3.Chiametta; 4. Couliacan; 5.Cinueloa; all of them on the Weftern Shore; 6. Zacatecas, to which-fome add Nova Bifcaia and Nova Mexico, though others treat of them as diftinct Countreys apart from the reft.

SEct. II.

Guadalajara.

Bounds of Guadalajara:

GUadalajara is bounded on the Weft, with Xalijco; on the South and SouthWeft, with New Spain ; and on the North, with Zacatecas. It is a Coun. trey exceeding pleafant, and rich in all kind of Commodities, but efpecially in its Mines of Silver. It is well water'd with the River Barania, which rune neth through the midft of it, and with divers other Streams: yielding abundantly both Wheat, Maiz, and fome other Grain. In a word, there is nothing faid of the properties of New Gallicia in general, either for Soil, Climate, or People, but is peculiarly verifid of this Province.

The chief Towns are 1. Guadalajara, which gives Name to the whole Province. It is feated on the Banks of the River Barania, in a moft delectable and fweet Air, and a rich Soil, by advantage whereof it is become the Metropolis of New Gallicia, honour'd with an Epifcopal See, which was tranflated thither from Compofella in the Year 1570. with the Courts of Judicature, and the Refidence of the King's Treafurers for that Province. This City was built on the Plain Molino, by Nummez de Guzman, in the Year 1531. The neighboring Mountains afford fore of Timber. All manner of Spanifh Plants grow here likewife in great plenty. In the City is a Cathedral, Several Cloyfters, inhabited by Augufine and Francifcan Monks. The Bifhop of this City belongs to the Archsbifhop of Mexico. The Air very temperate, neither molefting the Inhabitants with too great Cold, nor excefs of Heat.
2. St. Maria de los Lagos, a Town thirty Leagues Eaftward of Guadalajara, being a Fronteer Place, and built on purpofe to fecure the Countrey againft the Chichemece, which are a barbarous and unreduc'd People of the North-Eaft parts of this Countrey, who harbouring themfelves in Caves under Ground in the thickeft of huge Woods and Forrefts, do oftentimes iffue out, and make foul fpoil in the Countrey where they come, having firft intoxicated themfelves with a Liquor made of certain Roots,' and would do much more harm, if it were not for this Garrifon.

3. Del Spiritu Santo, built by the Founder of the other two, viz. Numne $\begin{gathered}\text { de Guf- }\end{gathered}$ man aforefaid, in a part of the Countrey which they call Tepeque.

S.ect. III.

Xalifco.

XAlifco, or Galefco, as fome call it, is bounded on the North, with Couliacan; on the South, with fome parts of Ners Spain; on the Eaft, with the Province of Guadalajara; and on the Weft, with the Gulf or Bay of California The Countrey is chiefly fertile in Maiz and Mines of Silver, not altogether fo apt for Herbage and Pafture as fome other Countreys about it. 'The People were Cannibals before the Spaniards came amongft them, eating Man'sflefh; were much given to quarrelling and Contentions amongft themfelves, but by this time "tis fuppos'd they are reafonably well reclaim'd both from the one and the other.

In this Countrey, befides many other goodly Streams, is the great and famous River Barania, on the Banks whereof are feared moft of their principal Towns, 25 I. Xalifco, which gives Name to the whole Province, and to a large Promontory or Foreland on the Weftern Coafts, which fhoots it felf out into the Bay of California, right over againft certain Inands, which the Spaniards call The Three Maries. This was an ancient City or Town of the Natives, but fack'd and taken by $\mathcal{N}$ unmez de Gufman, in the Year 1530.
2. Compofella, built by the aforefaid Gufman, and fo nam'd from the City in Spain, fo famous for the Grave of fames the Apoflle, who (according to the Roman Writers) was buried there, lies near the South Sea on a barren Soil, within the Torrid Zone; yet the Ground breeds many forts of Vermine, befides other noxious Creatures; amonglt which the Capybara roots up whole Trees and other Plants in the Night. This Beaff, refembling an indifferent large Hog, hath fhore Legs and Claws, thick Head, with 2 Beard, wide Ears, and on each Jaw-bone twenty four Teeth, befides two Tusks, butno Tail; it goes flow, but fiwims exceeding faft, and dives under Water for a confiderable time rogether: they often feed together in great Herds, and make a terrible noife.
3. La Purification, a finall Town on the Sea fide, towards the Confines of Newo Spain.

SECT. IV.  Chiametla.  SECT. TV.

AGainft Xalifco juts Chiametla, along the South Sea, where the Inhabitants wear fhort Clloaks, and Deer-skin Shoes; and in the Wars ufe Shields made of ftrong T'wigs cwifted together. The Women, which are indifferent handfom, are clad down to their Feet.

The chief Town of this Province is Sant Sebaftian, fo call'd from the River upon vering many Silver Mines, hath made feveral Melting houfes, in which the Silver being melted fwims upon the Lead.

Sect. V.

Couliacan.

Bunds of Conliatan.

NExt to Cbiametla, Weftward and Southward of Cinoloa, lies Couliacan, Coafting all along the Bay of California, which it hath on the Weft; on the Eaft it hath New Bifcay; and on the South, Xalijco. The Countrey is not defective in any kind of neceffary Provifion, but more efpecially it aboundech with Fruits of all forts. But the Spaniards look onely at the Mines, of which they háve fome few in this Countrey. The People were generally Cloth'd with CottonWooll when the Spaniards came firf amongft them, but yet never a whit the more modef, being exceedingly given to Venery, and that in a more fhamelefs and beaftly manner than many other Americans who went naked.

The Spanifh Towns are thefe, 1. Hiuftula, feated on the Banks of a fair River, diftant about a days Journey from the Sea. 2. Quinola. 3. Quatrobarrios, an old Town of the Natives, but new nam'd by the Spaniards. 4. El Leon, an old Burrough. 5. Conliacan, the chief Town of the Province. 6. St. Michael, in the. Valley of Arroba, two Leagues diftant from the Sea, in a rich and plentiful Countrey, both for Corn and Fruit, whither it was remov'd from the Banks of the River Orala, where it firft food; it was built by Numnez de Gufman in the Year 1531, after he had burnt the Towns, and deftroy'd a great number of the Natives, Inhabitants of the Countrey.
This Countrey was firft difcover'd by the aforefaid Numnez de Gufman (after he had buile Guadalajara) after this manner: Marching from (biametla to Piatzala, he ruin'd this Province with Fire and 'Sword: he likewife conquer'd the Countreys of Zapuatun and Piaztla; the firft being a Plain, lay inclos'd within high Mountains, where the Spaniards met none but Women, till they came to a great River call'd De ld Sall, whofe Banks on each fide were well inhabited; the fecond juts againft the Ocean, and is water'd by a River of the fame Denomination. Here, within the Houfes, (which are built after a ftrange manner) lay thoufands of Serpents mingled together, with their Heads ficking out on the top and at the fides, and hiffing with open Mouth at thofe which approached them. The Inhabitants fhew'd great Reỹerence to thefe Serpents, becaufe (as they faid) the Devil often appear'd to them in that form. And this feems to be a Cuftome amongft them from the Tradition of Eves being tempted by the Devil in the flape of a Serpent : Nor was this Superftition peculiar onely to thefe Indians, forafmuch as divers Nations of the ancient Heatbens of other parts of the World, worfhipp'd the Likenefs of a Serpent. And even amongft the Greeks, according to Plutarch, Hefychius, Clemens Alexandrinus, andothers, it was no unufual thing in their religious Worfhip to call on Eva, and at the fame time to fhew a Serpent. Plutarchus and Elianus fay, That the Egyptians honour'd a Serpent for their God. The fame faith Erafmus Stella of the old Prußians; Sigifmund Baro, of the Liflanders; and Alexander Guaginus, of the Sarmatians and Samogethes. Moreover, fome write, that in the Province of Calecout are Serpents with exceeding great Heads, and weighing as much as a great Hog, to which the King fhews great Reverence; fo that it feems the Devil takes delight to be worfhip'd in that flape wherein he work'd the Fall of Man kind.

Gufman leaving Piaztla march'd to Dayla, where he found the great River De Mrugeres, and the Countrey full of Woods and Paftures : thence travelling upwards along Mugueres, they afcended to the top of a Mountain, where they were affaulted by the Inhabitants of the aforefaid Village Quinola, whom neverthelefs they foon put to flight; but not long after receiv'd a Chrew'd Repulfe at the Entrance into a Wood built full of Houfes; yet neverthelefs being at length Conquerors, though not without fufficient lofs, they march'd farther in amongtt the Mountains, till their Provifions beginning to grow fcarce, and they feeing no likelihood of getting to an end of this troublefom Journey, at laft their Neceffities forc'd them to retire.

The Flood which comes out of the Sea up to the City St. Michael, through the River Cignatlan; abounds with Fifh, and efpecially the Guarapucu, which is feven Foot long when it comes to its full growth; it hath no Scales, but a fmooth Skin of a Silver colour mix'd with Green : from the Head to the Tail runs a crooked Line of thin Scales on each fide; it fwims exceeding fwiff, feeds on leffer Fifhes, and P pawns in the Sea: the Flefh being wholfom and good to eat, is falted up againft Winter. At the fame Place is alfo the Piracarba, which fhines exceedingly, having Silver-colour'd Scales, a broad fit Tail, a long white Beard, four great Fins, and a little Head. Farther into the Sea are a fort of flying Fifh, call'd Pirabebes, which rife by thoufands up out of the Water, fo efcaping the Dolphins and other Fifh which prey on them ; yet fometimes they are fnatch'd up by the Birds, or elfe by the Fifhes, when they dive down into the Water to wet their own Wings, which confift of a thin Skin, diftinguifh'd in length by tough Fins. Thefe flying Fifh allo differ much one from another, for moft of them are like Herrings; others have a thick Head, round before like the Dolphins.

Moreover, the Countrey about St. Micbael was always well inhiabited. The Houfes, being artificially built, were adorn'd on the top with many obfcene Ima. ges, and venereal Reprefentations: But fince the Spaniards have conquer'd this Countrey they have deftroy'd them, and built other Houfes in their ftead, and alfo beftow'd much coft and labour on the Silver Mines De las Virgines.

Burda of CInoloa is the moft Northern part of Newb Gallicia, bounded on the Weft, with fome part of the Gulf or Bay of California; on the Eaft, with a long Ridge of Mountains, which they call Tepecfuan; on the North, with Cibola; and with Couliacan on the South. This Country, befides the general fertility of the whole Province of Nerp Gallicia, yields great ftore of Cotton-Wool, by reafon whereof both Men and Women here are better Apparell'd, for the moft part, than elfewhere the Americans are; is exceedingly well water'd with Rivers, which defcend from thofe Mountains Teperfuan, not above thirty or forty Leagues diftant from the Sea; and which, with the variety of their Streams and Meandrous glidings, do divide the Countrey into many and good Paftures, which are likewife for'd with abundance of Kine, Oxen, and other Cattel.

The chief Towns poffefs'd by the Spaniards are I. St. Pbilip and facob, feated towards the Sea fide, on the Banks of a fair River, about thirty or forty Leagues diftant from the Town of Couliacan.
2. St. Fobn de Cinoloa, an ancient Colony of Spaniards, fetled there by Francifco de Yvarra, in the Year 1554, which is all they have in this Countrey, except fome few old Forts of the Natives, which they found, after their manner, poorly furnifh'd; but have fince repair'd them for Defence againft the Natives of thofe Parts, which as yet remain unreduc'd.

This Province was alfo difcover'd by Nunnez de Gufman, who having refted fome Weeks in St. Michael; proceeding on his Way, he Ferried over the River Peo tatlan, whigh receiv'd that Denomination becaufe the Houfes were cover'd with Mats, by the Indians call'd Petat.

The People hereabouts were generally Maneeaters.
Eighteen Leagues farther runs the River Tamochala, which hath many Villages on both fides thereof.

Between Petatlan and Tamocbala lie feveral defolate Wilderneffes, and Woods of the Brafle. Tree.

- But Gufman travelling up twenty feven Leagues along the foremention'd Ri ver Tamochala, came to the Province Cinoloa, where they ftay'd fix Weeks, by rea* fon of the abundance of Rains; during which time the Villagers provided them Turtle-Doves, Hares, Rabbets, and all forts of Fowls; but at laft deferted their Habitations in the Night : after which the Spaniards croffing Tamochala went along a barren Defart, where (had they not found Water in certain Wells, and likewife ftore of Juice out of the Tunas.Trees) they had without doubt perifh'd ; at laft getting over the River Yaginu, they found a deferted Village, out of which a broad Path led along the Stream ; whither Gufman marching, he came into a Plain, where the Spy'd feveral Indians, which after fome refiftance were routed by the Spanifh Horfe.

The Villages built on the Banks of the River Yaguinu, as alfo the Language of the Inhabitants differ little from the former.

Not far from hence a Ridge of Hills runs into the Sea, and alfo extend them felves 2 hundred Leagues towards Xalifco.

Zacatecas.

THe Zacatecas, as they call them, are bounded on the South, with Guadalalajara; on the North, with New Bifcay ; on the Weft, with Conliacan and of Zasancicat fome part of Xalijco; and on the Eaft, with New Spain. The Countrey, efpecially the more Weftern part of it, is very rich in Silver Mines, no Province of this part of America richer; but not fo apt either for Wheat or-Maiz. But the Eaftern parts of it are abundantly for'd with all forts of Fruits, the Woods every where replenifh'd with Deer, the Fields no lefs with Corn, and every Tree almolt giving Entertainment to fome Bird or other. .

The Towns are I. Las Zacatecas, forty Leagues diftant from Guadalajara, and $\begin{gathered}\text { Towns and } \\ \text { villages }\end{gathered}$ fourfcore from Mexico, but neighbor'd with moft rich Mines, and therefore both Garrifon'd and well peopled by the Spaniards; for 'tis fuppos'd there are no lefs than five hundred Families of them in the Town, and about the Mines.
2. St. Dartins, twenty feven Leagues diftant from Zacatecas, and as rich a Place, having a Colony of four hundred Spaniards at leaft.
3. St. Lucas de Avinno. 4. Erena, leffer Towns, but both of them rich, and feated in the midft of excellent Mines.
5. Nombre de Dios, in the moft Northerly part of this Countrey, fixty eight Leagues diftant from Guadalajara, and founded by the a forefaid Francifoo de Yvarra; who having fubdu'd and quieted the Natives, and thereby gain'd to himfelf the Government of thefe Countreys, granted the propriety of fome Silver Mines both to the Spaniards and to the Natives, and by that means drew fo many of them thither, that in a fhort time it became the chiefeft and beft peopled town of the whole Province.
6. Durango, in the Valley of Guadiana, eight Leagues diftant from Nombre de Dios, and built by Yvarra.
7. Xeres de Frontera, a Place built on purpofe for the repreifing of the Chichemeca aforefaid, and other Salvages that infefted the Borders of Guadalajara, in the Regency of the Marquefs of Villa Manrique.
8. Laft, St. Lewis, built by Alonfo Pacheco, in that part of the Countrey which is call'd $U$ xitips, and peopled by him with a Colony of Spaniards, being diftant about twenty Leagues from Panuco in Ners Spain, to which the whole Countrey of Uxitipa once belong'd.
-The aforefaid Francifcus de Yvarra, Anno 1554. difcover'd the Mine call'd Sant Martin, and fince alfo Lucas Avinno, the Mine Del Sombrereto, lying near the City Del Erena: but the Mines De los Ranchos, Cbalchuites, De las Nieves, and Del Erifuillo,would produce much more Silver, if the Mine works were ftor'd with Quick=filver. The Vice Roy of New Spain, nam’d Lodowick de Velafoo, order'd a certain number of Sol. diers, Slaves, Horfes and Mules, for every Mine, to defend the Workmen from the Affaults of the Natives, which oftentimes Sallied out upon them. Moreover, Ve: lafco fent Priefts through all the Countrey to Preach the Gofpel: But Yvarra having the care of the Priefts, guarded them with a company of Soldiers, and in his Way difcover'd the Valley San Juan, and the River $\mathcal{D} e$ las Nacos, $^{2}$, where he conquer' $\$$ the rebelling Natives.

Near the Silver Mine Sant Martins the Monks built a Cloyfter; after which Yvarra gave free leave to all that would, to dig in the Mine at Avinno, which he had bought, on condition they fhould pay the real fifth part of what they got, to the Spanifh King : which Priviledge ftirr'd up many, infomuch that Avimno in a fhort time grew very populous. IVarra, though having brought his Bufinefs to this pals; could not reft, but fent Antonius Pacheco to a Valley in Guadiana, to build the fore: mention'd City Durango, where feveral Rivers make a convenient and delightful place for Habitation, iwhither Yvarri follow'd three Moneths after, and finifh'd the new Town. But the chiefeff Silver Mines, which borrow their Denominations from the Province Zacatecas, are continually guarded by five hundred Spaniards, and as many Slaves.

New Bifcay.

NEw Bijcay, by fome accounted a Province of Nerw Gallicia, hath on the South; Zacatecas; on the Weft, the Countrey of Cinoloa; Northward it is bounded with New Mexico ; the Eaftern Borders of it looking towards Florida, not yet well difcover'd : fo call'd by the Spaniards, onely fromits neighborhood to New Gallicia. It is, as the other Provinces, exceeding rich in Silver Mines, and hath fome allo of Lead; which ferve principally, as fome fay, for the refining or purging of the other Metal. The People generally are of a fout and refolute Difpofition, and with much difficulty fubmitting to the Yoke; yea, the Spaniards themfelves confefs, that there remain yet to this day four great Towns unreduc'd, though they lie, as it were, in the mid-way, betwixt the Zacatecas aforefaid, and the Mines and Town of St. Barbara of this Province: The Spaniards call them Las Quan tro Ceinegas, or The Four. Luagmires, as lying, perhaps, in the Marfhes, or in fome Fenny and lower parts of the Countrey.

The Towns which themfelves hold, are, 1. St. Barbara, famous for the rich Mines about it.
2. St. folms, equal to the other, and not above three or four Leagues diftant from it.
3. Ende, the mof Northerly Town which the Spaniards have in this Countrey, diftant about twenty Leagues from the other.

There be all Colonies of the Spaniards, and built on purpofe for fecuring the Minest; which when they werefirft difover'd by Yvarra, he order'd Roderigo del Rio to guard the fame, and took up his Winter Quarters at St. Juan in a ftrong Houfe, ftord with all manner of Provifions, and erected there by him, as a place of defence againft the Cbichimece, who (though the Spaniards kept the place with frong Guards) kill'd above four hundred of their Horfes and Mules; which lofs no way daunted him, fo as to change his Refolution of going to Topia : whither travelling, he found many frowy Mountains, and fuffer'd extream Cold, which kill'd moft of their Horfes; being feen fifteen days after to ftand fo ftifly frozen, as if fill alive: at laft getting within the Borders of Topia, after he had fuffer'd many inconveniences, he was oppos'd by the Inhabitants, till he pacifid them with Prefents.

THis Countrey hath many convenient Havens, viz. San Jago, Naviidad, Malacca, Chacalla, below the Promontory Corientes, the Bay Xalifco, the Road Arow Gallisiai! Maffatlan, and Cbiametla, fo call'd from a Town about eleven Leagues from the Ocean.

Here, and in feveral places of Neiv Gallicia, grow Lillies, Rofes, Violets, Jeffamins, and many other Flowers; amongft which the Floripondium deferves peculiar obfervation, becaufe it flourifhes the whole Year; and its white Bloffoms, which are bigger than Lillies, opening in the Morning, yield an exceeding fiweet fmell.

In no lefsefteem is the Murucuia, by the Spmiards call'd Granadilla, which will not grow, if bereav'd of any of its Leaves: it bears a Flower from the refemblance of our Saviour's Suffering, call'd The Paßion-Flower, which exceeds the biggeft Rofe in circumference; the uppermoft Leaves green, thofe underneath of a purple colour; on the top hangs a round Bufh of a thoufand interwoven threds of divers colours, diftinguifh'd by white and red Specks ; the pale Stalk which fticks in the middle of the Flower, is divided into five others, that bend.downwards with a yel. low Buttondike Knob; on the middlemoft Stalk ftands a pale yellow Flower, which appears three hours after Sun-rifing, and clofes again a little before Sun-fer; the Fruit, which is very round, fmooth, and of a pale Green, hath white Specks, a thick Rind, Saffron-colour'd Pulp, which is wholfom, of a good rellifh, and hath abundance of black Seeds inclos'd in little Husks.

C H A P. VIII.

New. Mexico.

NEw 'Mexico (as 'tis call'd for diftinction's fake) is bounded on the South-Weft, with Newn Bifcay; more directly Weftward, with fome parts of Quivira; the Countreys Northward of it not yet difcover'd; Eaftward it extends it felf as far as Florida.
This Province doubtlefs for largenefs may compare with New Gallicia, having been fearch'd and difcover'd by the Spaniards above a hundred, fome fay two hundred Leagues direatly Eaftward, and to the North-Eaft : and they report Wonders of it, if we may believe them, at leaft in refpect of what was generally found in thefe Northern parts of America at their firft Difcovery; as namely, That they have Towns fairly and well built of Lime and Stone, Houfes of four Stories high, and moft of them provided with Stoves for the Winter Seafon, as well as any in Europe; the Streets fair and broad, and the People as curious and expert in divers Arts and Manufactures as any of theirs. More particularly they tell us of a Town call'd Chia, of the Province of Cuames, fo big, that it is faid to contain eight feveral Mar-ket-places. Another call'd Acoma, a great Town, but feated on the top of an high Rock, without any ordinary way of accefs to it, but by a pair of Stairs hewn out of the hard Stone, or elfe by certain.Ladders, which the Inhabitants let down and take up as they pleafe. And likewife of a third, which they call Conibas, containing, as they fay, no lefs than feven Leagues in length, and about half fo much in breadth, feated upon a Lake, but featteringly built, and much of the face taken up with Mountains and many fair Gardens, in the midft of which the Town ftandeth; of all which more hereafter. This is certain, that the Countrey to which they give the Name of Nerw Mexicô, is of a vaft extent, reaching from the Mines of St. Barbara in New Bifcay Eaftward, and to the North-Eaft, above two hundred Leagues already difcover'd, but doubtlefs taking up no fmall part of thofe Countreys which are fometimes affign'd to Florida, if not of the Confines of Virginiz alfo.

Travels of and others.

This Countrey was firft, Anno 1581. difcover'd by a Francifcan Monk, nam'd Augufine Ruyz, who with two other Monks of his Order, got eight Soldiers of Conde de Coruna, Vice-Roy of New Spain, for his Companions; with whom he tra. vell'd from the Valley Sant Bartholomen, to the Province De los Tiguas, where one of the two Monks was kill'd by the Natives, which occafion'd fuch a fear amongft the Souldiers, who judg'd themfelves too weak to make any refiftance, that they refolv'd to return, notwithftanding all the arguments which Ruyz us'd to diffwade them from it; yet neverthelefs he and his Brother Francifcus Lopez, and four Indio ans, went onward of their Journey; which news the Souldiers carried back to the Francifcans in Sant Bartholomew; who fearing their Brethren would be deftroy'd, fent feveral Souldiers and a Monk, call'd Bernardyn Beltran, after them, who were alfo accompanied by Antony E及pejus, who fpent a great part of his Eftate in raifing of Men, providing Arms and Provifions, loading therewith a hundred and fifty Horles and Mules; with which he travell'd direct North from the fore-mention'd Valley, and after two days Journey found a People call'd Conchi, who went naked, and liv'd in Huts built together like a Village: They were Govern'd by Cafiques, fed on Hares, Deer, Rabbets, Maiz, Calabajhes, and Melons. Several adjacent Rivers afford them plenty of Fifh. They were amaz'd at the Croffes which the Spaniards there erected, till they were inform'd of a Crucifid Saviour. Espejus being every where kindly Entertain'd amongft them, and conducted twenty two Leagues farther, came amongft the Indians call'd Paffaguates, of the like Conftitution with the Concli's; who had skill in Minerals, and judg'd that there were many Silver Mines in that Countrey. From whence the Paffaguates travell'd with the Spaniards to the Borders of the Los Tobofos, who no fooner faw them, but they fled, becaufe a few years before they had been miferably dealt with by the Spaniards; but being inform'd by the Interpreters, that they needed not be afraid of any thing, they all appear'd,' and conducted Eßpejus to the Borders of the Patarabueyes; which People poffers a large Countrey, Stone Houfes and Villages built in good order. Great Rivers which come out of the North, and others that difembogu'd into the North Sea, afforded them all forts of Fifh; as alfo the Woods plenty of Venifon, Fowls, and whollom Plants. In fome Pools alfo the falt Water afforded Salt.

The Valour of the Inhabitants may fufficiently appear by the rough Entertain: ment which the Spaniards met withall the firf Night; for the Patarabuejes fell fo fiercely upon them, that had not the Watch given notice thereof in time, none had efcap'd with Life; neverthelefs five Horfes were kill'd, and a confiderable number of Men wounded: after which reteating, they went upon a neighboring Hill; whither Espejus fent his Interpreter, and an Indian the fame Countrey, to inform them, 'That the Spaniards came not to moleft them, and if they pleas'd to come to them, they fhould meet with none but Friends; which was the more eafily credited, becaufe the Cafiques receiv'd fome Prefents; after which being reconcild, they. conducted the Spaniards twelve days Journey up a long River, whofe Banks were inhabited in feveral places. From thence they reach'd to a Place, inhabited by a People richly Cloth'd, who alfo feem'd to have fome knowledge of God; for in their Difcourfe they pointed up to Heaven, call'd the Creator and Preferver of all things Apalito, and fignifid that they had recciv'd that Knowledge formerly from thofe that were left' of Pamphilius Naivaez's Army, who having rang'd through Florida were driven hither.

Thefe People alfo Prefented Efpejus many tann'd Skins, with which he went to a great Village, the Inhabitants whereof were very courteous, and barter'd them for brave Plumes of Feathers and Cotton Cloaks, ftreak'd with blue and white: but $E[$ pejus having no Interpreters whom they could underftand, could not learn by what Name they were known; yet by figns they exprefs'd what time of the year they had Precious Stones brought to them; and alfo what their Countrey produe ced ; and alfo that abundance of thofe Riches was to be found in a Province about five days Journey Weftward from thence, whither they freely offer'd to conduct the Spaniards, which accordingly they did, bearing them company one and twenty Leagues to the next Province, inhabited by a People whofe Name alfo they could not be inform'd of,yet flaying three days amongft them, they were Entertain'd with Prefents and Dances both Night and Day. The Countrey afforded them alfo ftore of Venifon and Fruits : Thofe that underfood Minerals, judg'd that there were likewife feveral Gold Mines.

Leaving this Province, they entred into a great Wildernefs of Pine:Trees, in which they travell'd twelve Leagues in fifteen days, without feeing either Man or Houfe; but at the end of the Wood they fpy'd a Village of Straw Huts, where there were great quantities of white Salt, and Deer Skins neatly drefs'd. The People of the Place courteounly Entertain'd the Spaniards, and conducted them along the River Del Norte, to New Mexico: The Banks of the River on each fide was plan. ted with Nut-Trees and Vines, which fpread themfelves out above three Leagues; through which they had fcarce pals'd three days together, when they faw ten po pulous Villages pleafantlyfeated on the faid River, from whence came many thoufands of the Natives to meet Efpejus, who was not fo much amaz'd at the great number of People, as at their extraordinary Civility and decent Habits; for they Entertain'd him with well drefs'd Meat, roafted Poultrey, and pleafant Fruits: Thèir Garments were Cotton Cloaks, Deer-skin Breeches, Shoes and Boots of good Leather. The Women wore their Hair neatly Comb'd and Pleited. Their Houfes were almoft four Stories high, handfomely built, and divided into fair Chambers, had Stoves or Cells under Ground againft the Cold in the Winter. Every Village was Govern'd by a Cafique, whofe Commands were publifh'd by the Alguaziles. Each Houfe had a peculiar place in which their Idol ftood, before whom they fet Meat twice a day. Near the High-ways ftood Temples very curioully painted, wherein their Deity, as they fay, diverted himfelf in his Progrefs from one Village to another. At certain Diftances near their Plough'd Lands, ftood Portico's, fupported on four Columns, under which the Husband-man us'd to eat, and take his Noon-nleep. Befides their Swords, which were ftrong enough to cut a Man through the Middle, they us'd Bowes and Arrows: Their Shields were made of Deer Skins.

Efpejus having ftay'd here four days, went to the Province De las Tiguas, which had fixteen Villages; in the chiefeft whereof, call'd Poala, Augufine Ruy and his Brother Monk Francifcus de Lopez had been flain, befides four others; wherefore the People being confcious of this Crime, and fearing that Revenge would follow, Fled to the Mountains, from whence they could not be enticed, whilf the Spaniards found their Houfes full of Provifions and fome Minerals.

Now thofe being dead whom they fought for, fome thought it convenient to return'; but Efpejus and Beltran perfwaded the contrary, alledging, That farther up;
according to the Indians information, lay feveral Provinces which were worth the difcopery, and advis'd that the chiefeft part of their Forces might fay there, whilft they and fome few refolute Men went farther upon the Difcovery, which accordingly was perform'd. Efpejus having travell'd two days, came into a fruifful Province, jutting againft Cibola, in which he found eleven. Villages, inhabited by above fourteen thoufand People, who were clad in Skins and Cotton, worfhipp'd many Idols, and receiv'd the Spaniards with great Civility.
Thelike Entertainment they met withall in the Countrey Los guires, waff'd by the River Del Norte; near which flood five Villages, inhabited by about fifteen thoufand People.

Thirteen Leagues farther they found De los Cunames, having alfo five Villages, the chiefeft of which being Cia, boafted (as above mention'd) eight Marketeplaces : The Houres, made of Lime, were neatly Painted, and compris'd in all above twenty thoufand Perfons, all civil People, who picfented EJpejus and his Company wish handfom Cloaks, fer good boyl'd Mcat before them, and fhew'd them rich Minerals, and the Mountains out of which they got the fame.

Of the like Conflitution were the Inhabitants De los Amires, which being thirty thoufand in number, refided in feven well built Villages, lying North-Weff from Cunames.
After this they march'd Weftward, and found the eminent Village Acoma, mention'd before, built on an exceeding high Rock, to which led onely a narrow Path up a pair of Stairs cut in the Rock; as alfo many Wells to receive Rain, befides what they have out of a River, led by Moats round about their Plough'd Lands. The Spaniards flaying here three days, were Entertain'd with all forts of good Meat, Dances and Drolls.
From hence travelling twenty four Leagues more Wefterly, they entred the Pro: vince of $Z_{n n y}$; where the erected Croffes which had remain'd there till that time, were fufficient teftimonies of Cornaro's having been there, after he was deferred by Andreas de Cuyocan. Cafper de Mexico, and Antonius de Guadalajara, being ferled on Zury, (otherwife call'd (ibola) and fpeaking the Indian Tongue better than their Native Language, inform'd Efpejus, that fixty days Journey farther lay a great Lake, whofe Shores were crown'd with many brave Villages, inhabited by a People which wore Golden Armlets and Ear-rings; whither Franciif cus Vafaurez had gone a fecond time, had not Death prevented him. This Information fo encourag'd Efpejus, that notwithtanding it was fogreat a Journey, yet he refolv'd to venture thither, though the Monk Beltran and moft of his Company perfwaded him to the contrary; whereupon Beltran return'd: After which Eppejus went on to the faid Lake ;-whicher he was accompanied with a hundred and fifty Indians. Having gone twenty fix Leagues, he found a populous Province, whore Borders he no fooner approach'd, but he was told, That if be was willing to lofe his Life, be and bis Party might enter into a forbidden Dominion; yet notwithftanding this threatning Meffage, he wrought fo much upon the Cafique by the Prefents which he fent him, that he was permitted to come in freely; nay, the Inhabitants of Zagnato ftrow'd Meal on the Earth for the Spaniards to go over, and prefented Eppgius at his departure with forty thoufand Cotron Cloaks, and a confiderable quancity of Plate, which he fent with five of his Soldiers, and all the Cibolan Indians, back to Cibola, keeping onely four Companions and one Guide, with whom he travell'd forty one Leagues Weftward; where he found a Mountain, to the top whereof led a broad Path; which afcend ing, he took up Silver Oar with his own Hand. The feveral forts of People that inhabited here wereall civil and courteous, living in good fafhion, in precty large Houfes, built on the Banks of a pleafant River, fhaded with Vines and Nut-Trees, and thick planted with Flax: They inform'd Efpejus, that near a River which runs eight Miles towards the North Sea, were fuch ftately Palaces, as could not be beheld without great admiration. But Ejpejus going back a plain Road to Cibola, found not onely thofe whom he had fent from Zaguato, but alfo Beltran, with the other Soldiers, who having been detained there by the Civilities and kind Entertainments of the Indians, were now upon returning home; fo that Ejpejus was left alone with eight Soldiers, who refolv'd to venture their Lives and Fortunes with him. They travell'd along the River Del Norte, through the Provinces De los Guires and Habutas, whofe Mountains, over-Spread with Pine-Trees and Cedars, have many rich Mines. The-Natives wore painted Cotton Cloaks, and dwelt in fately Houfes five Stories high. At the Borders of the Realm Los Tamos they were ftopr, and not permitted to come on farther; wherefore being but few in number, and feveral of them fick, they judg'd it convenient to crofs the River De las Vaccas (fo call'd from the abundance of Cows that were thereabouts) to the River Conchos and the Village Bartholomeiv, where E/ppjus was inform'd, that Beltran was long before his arrival gone to Guadiana.

And now that we may have the better Account of New Mexico (which Ruyz; Ejpejus, and Beltran endeavor'd to difcover) it will be neceffary to begin with the firft original thereof, according as feveral ancient Hiftories make mention.

The moft ancient Poffeffors of that part of Northern America call'd News Spain, were for their fierce and falvage Nature call'd Chichimece, who dwelling in Caves, fed on Moles, Rabbets, Hedghogs, Serpents, Roots and Herbs. Whilft the Women accompanied their Husbands in their Travels, the Children were put into Baskets, and hang'd in aeTree. No manner of Government was to be found amongtt them. They never Till'd their Ground till the Navatlacans came from New Mexico (which was anciently divided into two Countreys, Aztlan and Teuculbuacan) to Neıw Spain; after which they Sow'd their Lands.
$\therefore$ The Navatlacans (who us'd to dwell in Houfes, worfhip Images, plough their Lands, and obey their Governors) were divided into fix Tribes, each Tribe poffeffing their limited Bounds : and there goes a Tradition, That out of fix Pits that are to be Feen in New Mexico, the Navatlacans had their original. The time when they deferted New Mexico, as their moft authentick Hiftories or Records declare, was (according to our computation) Anno $9+0$. and they farther affirm, that they fpent forty years in a Journey, which might have been travell'd in a Moneth: The reafon of which tedioufnefs was, becaufe they refted in all places where they found 2 fruitful Countrey; but as they had advice from their diabolical Spirits, which (as they (ay) appear'd vifibly to them, they fill went on farther and farther, yet left behind thofe that were aged, fick, and decrepid, building convenient Houfes for them, and appointing Overfeers to look after them. The Ruins of the Houfes are yet to be feen on the Way along which they pafs'd.

The fix Tribes divided themfelves after this manner: Four of them fetled round about the great Lake of Mexico. The Sichumilans taking the South part, built, befides two other Towns, a Metropolis of their own Name, as the Chalcans on the North. The Tapunecans buile Azcapuzalco in the Weft, which fignifies $A$ Pi mires Hole, becaufe of the abundance of Inhabitants. The Eaftern part was taken up by the Cbalhuans. And all thefe Names have a peculiar fignification; the firf fignifies People of Flowry Fields'; the fecond, People of Mouthes; the third, People of Bridges; and the fourth, Crooked People. Not long after, the Tatluicans, a ftrong People, went over the Mountains on the other fide of the Mexican Lake, where they built feveral Towns on a hot, yet fruitful Soil, the chiefeft whereof they call'd Quabunachua, that is, $A$ Place: where an Eagles Voice is beard. The Tlafcaltecans went near the Snowy Moun. tains, one of which, being between Mexico and De los Angelos, vomits horrid Flames and Smoke up into the Skie. Here feattering up and down, they built feveral Villages, befides che City Tlafcalla ; the Inhabitants whereof affitted the Spaniards, as hath been related in the taking of Mexico, for which good Service they live free, without paying any Tribute.

When thefe fix Tribes came firft from Mexico thither, the Chichimecans made little or no refiftance againft them, but hid themfelves amongft the Rocks: yet fome of them not long after taking courage, flew to Arms, and had without doubt deftroy'd the. Tlafcallans, had not a fubtile Plot fav'd them : for under 2 fhew of Friendfhip they falling on the unarm'd Chichimecans, kill'd every Man of them.
fofeph de-Acofta tells us, that Anno 1586. he faw a Grave in Mexico; wherein a Chichimecan of a Gygantick fize lay buried.
After this Conqueft gotten by the Tlafcallans, the fore-mention'd fix Tribes liv'd in Peace and Quier, and ftrengthned themfelves the more by Marrying into one anothers Families.

The Chichimece keeping on the Mountains left the new People in quiet pofferfion of their Lands, nay, learnt fome of their Cuftoms, infomuch that they began to build Huts, chufe Governors, and live according to their Laws.

The Tlafcallans having poffers'd New Spain three hundred and two years, a feventh puztli's promife of having the fupream Government: wherefore he was carried in an Ark by four chief Priefts, whom he inform'd whither and when they fhould travel or reft, for where ever they ftopt, they built a Tent in the middle of their Army for their Idol, whom they fet on an Altar; which done, they Sow'd the Ground about them : yet if their Demon commanded them to march before Harveft, then they left the Product to the ancient and fick People. But at laft Mexi, from whence the Name of Mexico is deriv'd, conducted the Army into Mechaocan, where the pleafant Soil among the Lakes entic'd many to take up their Habitation. But Mexi proceeded on his Journey, yet not without great Croffes, in regard Viztlipuitli's Sifter (fome Inchancrefs probably fo call'd) did much hurt to the whole Army by her Sorceries, becaufe they would not honor her as a Goddefs, till Viztlipuztli inform'd one of them that carried the Ark, that the Army fhould march on, and banifh the Witch from them : whereupon the accordingly being driven away, built the Village Malinalco, as a Habitation for Conjurers. Mean while, the Army grew weaker and weaker by their leaving fo many People behind them in moft places; therefore they judg'd it convenient to reft a while in Tuld, where a great River water'd the Countrey; which, according to Viztlipuztli's Commands, being dry'd up, made a large Lake about the Mountain Coantepeck, whofe Banks being planted with Willow and Poplar.Trees, were exceeding pleafant, and the more, becaufe of the variety of Birds that made their Nefts in the fame; which fo delighted many of the People, that being tir'd with travelling, they refolv'd to fettle there; which Refolution was fo ill refented by Viztlipuztli,that he commanded the Bank to be broken, that the Watermight have liberty to flow its former Courfe; and threato ned them with heavy punifhments: after which in the Nighe a terrible Cry of Murder was heard in one part of the Army; which being inquir'd after the next Morning, they found divers People lying on the Ground with their Breafts cult open, and their Hearts pull'd out: whereupon thofe that remain'd went on to Chapultepee, where they fortifid themfelves in the Mountainsargainft the adjacent

People, which Copil, Son to the Malinalcon Witch, had rais'd up againft them; and foon after the Tapunecans and Cbalcans went againft their new Neighbors, with whom they began a bloody Fight, when Vitzilovitli, at that time General of the Mexican Army, preffing in amongft them, broke their Ranks, and made way for all his Army (though with his own Death) to march Conquerors to Cullouacan: The Prince of which Province gave them a Place to fettle on, near the white Water Ticaapan, whofe Shores fwarm'd with Adders and Serpents, upon Defign that the Strangers might be defiroy'd by them; but it prov'd quite otherwife : for they without regret eat the póyfonous Animals; and Dunging the unfruitful Soil, re= ceiv'd a plentiful Harveft: They would willingly have fetled here, after their fo long ranging up and down, if Viztlipuztli would have approv'd thereof; but he told them, that they muft poffefs themfelves by Arms, and make a Culbriacan Maid their Goddefs : whereupon they defir'd the Cafique's Daughter of Culhuacan, who was fent them in rich Ornaments, and with a ftately Retinue: But the was no fooner entred on the Ticapan Shore, but they flay'd her alive, and her Skin being ftuffd, and nam'd Tocci, was religioufly worfhipp'd. But not fatisfid with this cruelty, they fent for her Father to vifit his Daughter in her Dignity; who ace cordingly coming with great Attendance, was led into a dark Chappel, where by the burning Tapers he knew the Goddefs to be no other than his Daughters Skin ftuff'd full of Cotton; whereat burning with rage, he afterwards fell upor thefe Murderers with all his Forces, and drove them to the Place where they afterwards built Mexico.
We have often made mention heretofore of the Governor of this Journey; $V_{i z t l i p u z t l i, ~ i t ~ w i l l ~ t h e r e f o r e ~ b e ~ n e c e f f a r y ~ t o ~ g i v e ~ a n ~ e x a c t e r ~ D e f c r i p t i o n ~ o f ~ h i m, ~ a s ~}^{\text {a }}$ followeth :

He was a woodden Iniage likē a Man, fitting on a blue Seat in a triumphant Deffripioni Chair ; at each end of which was plac'd a Seaff with a Serpents. Head upon it, from vietipuzthe: whofe Forehead, which was Painted blue, ran a Streak of the fame colour, crofs his Nofe to both his Ears; upon his Head foood a Plume of Feathers, the ends whereof were tipp'd with a golden Varnifh; his left Hand held 2 white Shield, on which ftuck five Feathers, and on the top a Laurel Bough; next the Shield lay four Arrows, pretended to be fent from Heaven ; in his right Hand a Truncheon, full of blue crooked Sereaks like Serpents; behind on his Shoulders appear'd Wings, not unlike thofe of a Bar, his Eyes large and round, and his Mouth reaching from Ear to Ear, made him terrible to behold, alfo gaping, and full of Teeth, which ftuck out of his Belly; in his Breaft alfo were two fiery Eyes, and under them a fhrivell'd Nofe; his Feet ended in Claws, hung round about with Precious Jems, golden Boxes and Shields fer out with divers colour'd Feathers. The Currain behind which this Idol fat, was not drawn open except on a Feaft-Day.

Next Viztlipuztli ftood generally a leffer Image, call'd Tlaboc, and alfo the Goddefs Tocci, Daughter to the Prince of (ulbuacan, who (as before mention'd) was flay'd by their $\mathcal{D}$ emon's Command. Since which time they fuppos'd, that they were never more acceptable to their Gods, than when they appear'd Cloth'd in another Man's Skin ; and accounted no Offering better, than a Heart taken out of their Enemies Breaft, fince their Spirit deftroy'd fo many after that manner in the Army at Tula.

But Tocci, they fay, had alfo a Son much inclin'd to Hunting, whofe Image they focris Fenit carry, attended by a thoufand People, with the found of Horns and Trumpets, to an Arbor on a high Mountain; which being made of green Leaves pleited, had in. the middle an Altar, on which they fet the Idol, whilft the Multitude furrounded the Foot of the Mountain, and fet all the Bufles about the fame on Fire; which done, they fhouted and hollow'd, and play'd on feveral Inftruments; which fright. ing the wild Beafts that lay fhelter'd in the Woods, made them run to the top of the Mountain, where they were more and more inclos'd by the People, infomuch that many of them were flain for an Offering before Tocci's Son's Altar; which done, they carried the Idol back to his 'Temple, and the People made Merry with the flain Venifon.

As great Reverence they fhew'd to Tezcatlipuca, becaufe (as they faid) he pardon'd of Trzcailipu- their Sins. This Idol was made of a black fhining Scone, richly Apparell'd, having Golden Earerings ; in his undermoft Lip a Silver Sheath, in which fluck fometimes a green, and fometimes a blue Plume of Feathers; his Hair was ty'd with an embroider'd String, at the end of which hung a Golden Ear, whereon Smoak was Painted, fignifying the Prayers of opprefs'd Sinners; moreover, the String hung full of Pearls, and about the Neck in a String hung a Jewel ; on his Breaft, as al. fo on his Navel, a green Stone ; in his left Hand he held a Fan made of a Gold Plate, in which ftuck many colour'd Feathers : this Plate glittering like Glafs, was in ftead of a Mirrour for Tezcatlipuca, to obferve all worldly Tranfactions in the fame : and to punifh Criminals, he held four Darts in his right Hand. His Feaft they kept once in four years.

This Idol alfo had the Command of Hunger, Drought, Famine, and peftilen. tial Diftempers; wherefore he had quite another fhape, fat on a Stool behind a red Curtain embroider'd with dead Mens Bones and Sculls; his Body Coal black, his Head ftuck full of Quails Feathers, a Quiver with four Arrows in his left, and a Rod in his right Hand, which made the Image feem very terrible.
 high Temple, being fhap'd like a Man, his Face onely excepted; for that refembled a Bird's Head, with a red Bill full of Teeth, a Comb, and a long Tongue; on the hind-part of his Head flood a Mitre, and about his Legs Silk Garters befer with Pearls.

Cibola, Tontonteac, and Nova Granada.

THough the Province of $Z_{\text {uny }}$ above-mention'd in the Chapter of New Mexico, in the Voyage of E/pejus, be there otherwife call'd, and appear to be the fame with Cibola, yet we find it not treated of by any as part of Neen Mexico, but by fome as a diftinct Province, by others as a part of California largely taken; for befides that California, properly fo call'd, hath formerly been taken rather for 2 Peninfula than an Illand, and fill affords to fome an Argument of queftion, whether it be one or the other. The whole extent of the Province generally fo term'd, hath been reputed to comprehend the fuppos'd Peninfula it felf, $C_{i}$ bola, Quivira, and Nova Albion; but fince, according to the beft Maps and Difcove. ries, there feems little doubt to be made, that California, ftrictly taken, is a perfect Ifland : and fince upon that Confideration we have referved it to be deforib'd amongft the Inlands of Northern America, we alfo confequently judge it moft requifite to confider thofe Countreys apart that were included in the extended California.

Cibol.a lieth Souchward of Quivira, betwixt it and New Gallicia, to the North and Siumion, Eaft : on the Weft it hath Mar Vermiglio, or the Bay of California. The Air of the turex. and Province is indifferently temperate, efpecially if compar'd to the fharp Frofts and of cithas. Colds of Quivira. The Countrey is for the moft part level and plain, as Quivira is, having but few Trees in it, except here and there fome Woods of Cedars, which yet do abundantly fupply the Natives both with Timber and Fewel. The Ground affords plenty of Maiz, and fome fmall white Peafe, of both which they ufually make Bread. There is great ftore of Venifon, and a kind of Sheep (as they fay, and as it fhould feem by their Fleece) as big as fome little Horfes or Oxen, fome of their Horns weighing forty or fifty Pound : But perhaps by fome miftake of Authors, this Beaft may be no other than Taurus Mexicanus, elfewhere defcrib'd, whofe Hair is extreamly thick and flaggy, and of which they make Cloth as of Wool, as hath been faid. There are allio Lyons, Bears, and Tygers in this Province, in fuch numbers, that the People of the Countrey are not a little troubled with them, and would gladly deftroy them if they knew how. The People are generally well Limb'd, tall of Stature, and feem to be a little more Ingenious than their Neighbors of Quivira; yet they go naked many of them, onely cover'd with Mantles made of Skins, which are many times painted, and that with fuch Curiofity and Art, as do fufficiently argue, that neither themfelves nor their Neighbors of Quivira, from whom they have them in Traffick, do make them, but that they are the Merchandife and Commodity of fome other Nations, perhaps of Cathay or Cbina, who, by the North=Weft Seas, do Trade with the Maritime Parts, and People of Quivira.

This part of the Countrey hath been reaforably well fearch'd by the $s$ paniards, but as yee nothing difcover'd fo confiderable, as to perfwade them to ftay in it.

That which feems moft obfervable, is the great Lake Tonteac, fituate almoft in the midft of the Province; upon which, or near unto it, they found feven or eight old Towns of the Natives, fome whereof contain'd four or five hundred of their Cottages or litele Houles, and were fortifid alfo with Ramparts, and other Works of Defence, fo as the Spaniards could not become Mafters of them, but by Force and Storming : In the attempt whereof Vafquez Coronado, their Commander in chief, was twice beaten down with Stones by the Natives; yet at laft carrying the Place, he found in it good plenty of Maiz indeed, which was fome refrefhment to his Army, but nothing elfe : whereupon having nam'd the Place Granada, in memory of the Vice.Roy of New Spain, who fent him upon that Expedition, he departed. In his return homeward he fell upon a certain Countrey, which he nam'd $T_{u}$ cayan, of which his Companions report great matters; as firf, of a certain River call'd Huex, on the Banks whereof, in the fpace of twenty Leagues, or thereabouts, there ftand no lefs than fifteen good Burroughs, well built, and furnifh'd likewife with Stoves or Hot-houfes, againft the Cold, as in other Countreys of Europe; as alfo of a very fruitful and pleafant Valley, which they therefore call'd Aroba de Corazones; of another grear Town and Territory, call'd Chicbilticala; and laftly, of the Valley of Nueftra Sennora, or Our Ladies Dale, in the South parts of the faid Territory, all of them defcrib'd for fuch rich and delicious Places, that fome take them for the Campi Elifii of America, efpecially feeing the Spaniards were never known to vifit them a fecond time, the Difcoveries that have been made fince being onely of the North-Weft Parts of the Councrey, along the Coafts of Mar Vermiglio, and this no farther than onely to give Name to certain Capes or Promontories which they met with, as namely x. Porto de St. Clara, near to the Mouth of the Rive: which they call Rio del Nordt. 2. Las Playas. 3. St. Michael. 4o Lago del Ore, whịch borderech on Quivira; and laftly, El Rey Corovado, Eaftward of that:

Tomontesc.

TOntonteac is mention'd by fo few, and by thofe few fo obfcurely, that it cannot well be determin'd to be any other than that Countrey which lies about the great Lake Tonttac, above fpoken of in Cibola, and which being made Habitable by fix or feven Towns not inconfiderable for Habitations of native Indians, might haply pafs for a diftinct Province. And perhaps the reafon why this Province hath been fo oblcure, and little taken notice of, might be from the ruine of thefe Towns by War, or fome other Accident : and to this purpofe are the words of a late Writer, The Province of Tontonteac (faith he) bath five Houfes onely left, which ftand on the Shore of a falt Lake.

NOva Granada, befides that it is a generally known and defcrib'd Province of Soutbern America, is alfo nam'd amongft the Provinces of Northern America, particularly by Bertius, Cluverius, and Golnitzius, and in fome late Maps of America fo confpicuounly Specifid, that it might appear to be all that Tract of Land which contains both Nevo Mexico and the feveral Provinces adjoyning to it; but fince we find it not defcrib'd by any at large, it will with mof verifimility pafs for that part of Neid Mexico where flands the City of St. Foy; and this is moft plainly exprefs'd by Monfieur Martini, though there are who confound Cibola with New Granada. Wa. ving which Decifion, we fhall onely infert a fhort Defeription of the Place, accors ding to Cornato, who feems to have been one of the firft Difcoverers of thefe Parts, and whofe Credit is preferr'd before that of Marcus de Niza.

Nova Granada (faith he) confifts of feven Villages, built in the circumference of four Leagues, the chiefeft whereof boalts two hundred Houfes, which for the moft part are four or five Stories high, and built of Stone ; the Cellars thereto belonging, being neatly Pav'd, ferve for Stoves againft the Cold : they afcend to their upper Rooms by Ladders. The Inhabitants go naked, onely fome Covering about their Middle, and over their Shoulders Cotton Cloaks, painted with divers Co. lours. They live on Maiz, white Peare, Hares, Rabbets, and Venifon : their Sale wherewith they feafon the fame, they fetch from a neighboring Lake. The Turo kies, which they have in great numbers, are kill'd onely for their Feathers, not. withftanding their Flefh is exceeding good Meat. The Soil is for the moft part plain, yet hath fome high Mountains; and the Paftures flourifh with Grafs. The Woods abound with'Bears, Tygers, Lyons, wild Hogs, Rhinocerots, and the like ravenous Beafts, which make the IVays dangerous for Travellers. Befides large Deer, there are alfo Sheep, which in bignefs may compare with Horfes, having exceeding great Horns, and little Tails.

Concerning the abundance of Turkoifes, of which Niza makes mention, Cornato could give no certain account, becaufe a little before his Arrival the Granadians had convey'd their Children, which were under fifteen, and the aged People, who were above fixty years of age, with their chiefeft Goods, into remote places. However, it is not unknown, that this Countrey affords Turkoijes; for Cornato in his Journey. to Quivira, Befieg'd a City in thefe Parts near a great River; the Inhabitants whereof, when they were not able to defend themfelves any longer, throwing theit Cloaks, Turkoifes, and other Riches into the Fire, Sallied out upon the Spaniards, and died not altogether unreveng'd, as fhall be fpecifid more at large in the Defcription of Tignes, which being nam'd among the Towns of Quivira, will upon the comparing of Circumftances, be apparently found to be the fame with this.

Quivira.

QUivira is the next Region accounted of California, largely taken; yet appearo ing by fome Charts to lie fo vaftly remote, that all Nero Mexico, Gallicia, and other Provinces already mention'd, lie berween that and the Ifland. And whereas $\mathbb{N}$ ew Granada is by feveral made a part of New Mexico; yet moft certain it it is, that by fome it is confounded with this Countrey, or at leaft accounted a part thereof, as hereafter fhall more plainly appear, according to the Account of thofe that have moft fully and particularly defcrib'd it.

Quivira takes up the moft Northern and unknown part of Americatowards the Weft, reaching as far as the fuppofed Straight of Anian aforefaid (if there be any fuch) or elfe joyning to the Continent of Tartary. It is likewife the leaft fruitful part of all the WeftaIndies, efpecially for Corn. Cattel it hath good ftore, and Pafturage indifferent good, the Countrey being for the moft plain and level, and no. thing elfe but Pafturage. The Natives are few and falvage, living in Hoards or grear Companies together, after the manner of the Tartars, to whom they are Neighbors, and (as it is not improbably thought) of their Race. The Men Clothe themfelves moft commonly in that kind of Oxes Hide, elfewhere fpoken of under the Name of Taurus Mexicanus. The Women wear little elfe but their Hair, notwithftanding the Countrey, efpecially for one half of the year, is exceffive cold. Their Cattel, though they are much lefs than the ordinary Kine of Europe, are the chief Suftenance and Employment of the Natives; by Pafturing huge Herds whereof from place to place, the People live, and maintain a Traffick with other Parts. Yet fome of them inhabit Towns, the chief whereof, as yet difcover'd, feem to be thefe which follow :

1. Acus, or Acuco, a fmall Town, but feated in a frong defenfible place, and being a great Staple for Cotton, the Territory about it hath been taken for a diftinct Province, and by fome call'd The Kingdom of Acuco.
2. Tignes, a Town feated upon the Banks of a River bearing the fame Name; and inhabited, it feems, by a flout and refolute People, and whom the Spaniards, coming amongtt them in the Year 1540. had much ado to mafter : for they endur'd 2 Siege for the face of fix Weeks; and at laft finding themfelves fo ftrongly begire by their Enemies, that there was no means to efcape but by Death, or yielding up themfelves, rather than they would fall alive into their hands, they firft buried and fpoil'd all fuch Treafure as they had (which were chiefly Saphires, and a few other Gems, that the Countrey afforded) and after that fetting on fire their Houfholdftuff, they took their Wives and Children with them, and made a defperate Sally out upon the Spaniards; wherein although they were moft of them flain, and trod under the Horfes Feet, or drown'd in paffing the River, yet was it not without fome lofs to the Spaniards themfelves : nor would thofe few that were left behind deliver up the Town, till it was fir'd about their Ears, and that they could no longer'abide in it. This Town, by all Citcumftances, muft needs be the fame with that before mention'd in Nova Granada, which makes good what we have faid above, viz. That Nero Granada is by fome confounded with, or at leaft eaken for a part of this Region.

3. Cicnic, another fmall Town, four days Journey from Tignes. The Countrey about this place, alchough generally it be-all good Pafturage, and maintains abundance of Cattel, yet is it fo open and plain, that for almoft a hundred Miles toge: ther, the Spanniards, in their March hither from New Spain, found neither Stone nor Tree, nor any thing elfe that could ferve them for a Landsmark; fo that they were forc'd, as they march'd alohg, to raife up Heaps of Cow-dung, to ferve them for direction in their coming back, which was not long after: for not finding the Commodities they fought for, and fearing to be furpris'd by Winter in thofe cold Countreys, where they had no kind of accommodation, they made fomewhat a hafty Retreat, leaving behind them onely fome few Religious Men, of thei ofder of St. Francis, whole Endeavours to do the People good by Converting them to the true Knowledge and Worfhip of Almighty God, procur'd them not long after, the Crown of Martyrdom, being murder'd all of them, except oné; by the Natives, and he not without much difficulty efcaping their Hands.

Niva Albion.

NOva Albion was fo denominated by Sir Francis Drake, when he was there Entertain'd by the King of that Countrey; but whether it were in Quivira that he was thus Entertain'd, and left that Denomination, or in the Illand of California, appears not either from the Relation, or from the common Confent of Cofmographers, fince fome thereare, who will have Luivira and Nova Albion to be one and the fame Province; orhers reckon it to be the utmoft North-Weft part of California; orhers make it diftinct from Quivira, yet determine is not to the Ifland California, feeming rather to make it an adjoyning Countrey to Quivira: wherefore finding little elfe that concerns the Defcription of the Place, except the faid Voyage of Drake, we fhall here fee it down, and leave the farther Difquifition concerning the Situation of the Place, till we come to defcribe the Ifland of California it felf.
$\underset{\substack{\text { Sir Francis } \\ \text { Drates } \\ \text { Arr }}}{ }$ fore his coming thither taken as many rich Spanijh Ships in the Southern. Ocean as he could poffibly have wifh'd for; fo that his onely care now needed to thave been how to get fafe home; yet he put on a Refolution, not to come fhort of Ferdinandus Magellianus, who Saild about 'the World. Which brave Refolution of Drake's was approv'd of by all his Sea-men; whereupon he fet Sail along the North of California the fifth of June; being gotten into forry two Degrees, which was the fartheft that Cabrillo went, he came on a fudden out of a warm Air into fo frigid a Climate, that the Sea-men were almoft kill'd with Cold, and the farther they went, the colder it grew; wherefore falling down three Degrees more Southerly, they gor into a convenient Haven, where the Natives who liv'd along the Shore brought them Prefents; which Drake left not unrequited, by returning them others, that were to them more novel, and not unufeful.

Thefe People are exceeding hardy; for,notwithitanding the extraordinary cold. nefs of the Climate, the Men go naked ; but the Women wear Garments of pleited Flags or Rufthes, which being put about their Middle, hang down to their Ancles; on their Stomachs hang the ends of a hairy Skin ty'd together, which hanging alfo over their Shoulders, cover their hinder Parts. They fhew great Refpeet and Obedience to their Husbands. Each Houfe is furrounded with an Earthen Wall, and ali the Corners thereof being clofe fopp'd, and Fires made in the midft of them, they are very warm. Rufhes and. Flags frow'd thick on the Ground near the Walls, ferve chem in ftead of Beds.

The Indians coming a fecond time to Vifit the Englifh, brought them Plumes of Feathers, Neckbands of Net-work, and fore of Tobacco: Drake pleas'd with this their kindnefs, built Tents on the Brow of a Hill, on the top of which the Indians ftood that brought the Prefents, whil'f one of them with a loud voice maintain'd a long Difcourfe; which he had no fooner ended, but every one laid down his Bowe and Arrows, and walk'd unarm'd down to the Tents to proffer their Gifts: their Wives ftaying behind on the top, pinch'd their Cheeks, and made fad lamentation; which Drake fuppos'd was becaule they made Offerings there : whereupon he alfo caus'd all his Men to kneel down and fay their Prayers, which made the Indians to look very earnefly upon them, and to return him the Prefents which the day before they had receiv'd of him.

The rumour of thefe Strangers arrival fpreading all over the Countrey, made the Inhabitants far and near defirous to fee them; the King himelf fending Am-

The Englifh going up into the Countrey found the fame well grown with Woods, which abounded with Coneys, whofe Heads differ'd little from the European, but having Feet like Moles, long Tails like Rats, and in their Sides a Bag, wherein when they had fill'd their Bellies they put the remainder. They alfo faw numerous Herds of Deer, with whofe Flefh having been courteoully Entertain'd in feveral Villages, they return'd to the Fleet." Drake, juft before he weighed Anchor, caus'd A Monument a Pillar to be fet in the Ground with a Silver Plate on the fame, with an Infcrip| $\substack{\text { treeted by } \\ \text { Distefere tion, mentioning the Day of his Arrival, Name and Arms of Queen Elizabeth; and }}$ |

Northern America.

C H A P. XI.

Terra $\mathcal{N}$ (va, or $\mathcal{N}$ ew-found Land, with the Ifland of Afumption.

Aving treated at large of all the Ceveral Regions and Provinces of the North part of the Continent of America, we come now to thofe Illands that lie within the fame Degrees of Northern Latitude with that part of the Continent: The firft is Terre Nenve, or Nevoofound Land, difcover'd together with feveral other Parts upon the Continent before mention'd by Sir Sebafitian Cabott, by the Countenance and Charge of King Henry the Seventh of England.; whereupon a rightful Claim thereunto, and Intereft therein, hath been own'd by the fucceeding Kings of England, as hereafter fhall be more particularly related.
$N$ New-found Land is fituiated betwixt the Degrees of forty fix and fifty three of Northern Latitude, and is divided from the Continent of America by an Arm of the Sea, in like diftance as England is from France: The Inand is as large as Englaid in length, greater in breadth, and lies near the Courfe that Ships ufually hold in their Return from the Wef-Indies, and is. near the mid-way between Ireland and Virginia.

We Chall not much need to commend the wholfom temperature of this Coun- Temperature trey, feeing the greateft part thereof lieth above three Degrees nearer to the South; than any part of England doth, fo that even in the Winter it is pleafant and health. ful as Enoland is.

The natural Inhabitants of the Countrey, as they are but few in number, fo are Nanure of they fomething a rude and falvage People, having neither knowledge of God, nor thats. living under any kind of Civil Government. In their Habits, Cuftoms, and Maniners, they refemble the Indians of the Continent, from whence it is to be fuppos'd they come; they live altogether in the North and Weft part of the Countrey, which is feldoin frequented by the Englifh; but the French and $\mathcal{B} i$ fainers (who refort thither yearly for the Whale-fifining, and atio for the Cod-fifh) report them to be an ingenuous and tractable People (being well us'd) and very ready to affift them with great labour and patience, in the killing, cutting, and boyling of Whales, and making the Trayn-Oyl, without expectation of other Reward than a little Bread, or fome fuch fmall Hire.
It hath the moft commodious Harbours in the World, and the moft $\Gamma_{\text {afe }}$ Seas to Sail to it, there being not any Inlands, Rocks or Sands between the Lands-End in England and New-found Land, and for the moft part it is not above three or four Weeks Sail thither, and lefs coming back; and is the moft commodiounly fituated for the difcovering of the North-Weft Paffage, and other Inlets into the South Sea; whereby the ordinary Voyages to China, Fapan, and the Eaft-Indies, are much eas'd in the expence of Time and Charge; and the moft open to Trade to all Parts, of any Ifland of the Weft-Indies.

On the Eaft fide of the Land, are the Bays of Trinity and Conception, which ftretch themfelves towards the South-Weft.

Tor-Bay and Capelin=Bay lying allo on the Eaft, Aretch themfelves towards the Weft.

The Bays of Trefpafey, St. Mary, Borrel, and Plaifance, on the South part of the Land, extend their Arms towards the North.

The great Bay of St. Peters lying on the South Weft fide of the Land, and Southerly from the great River of Canada, being about twenty Leagues diftant, the fame ftretcheth toward the Eaft.

Trinity Harbour lies in near forty nine Degrees of North Latitude, being very commodioufly feated to receive Shipping in feafonable Weather, both to Anchor in, and from thence to Sail towards either the Eaft, Weft, or South. It hath three Arms or Rivers, long and large enough for many hundred Sail of Ships to moare faft at Anchor near a Mile from the Harbours Mouth. Clofe adjoyning to the Rivers fide, and within the Harbour, is much open Land, well ftor'd with Grafs fuffcient, Winter and Summer, to maintain great fore of ordinary Cattel, befides Hogs and Goats, if fuch Beafts were carried thither; and it ftandeth North moft of any Harbor in the Land, where our Nation practifeth Fifhing: It is near unto a great Bay lying on the North fide of it, call'd The Bay of Flowers; to which Place no Ships repair to Fifh, in regard of fundry Rocks and Ledges lying even with the Wa. ter, and full of danger.

The bottom of the Bay of Trinity lieth within four Leagues through the Land South-Weft, Southerly from Trinity, as by experience is found; and it comes near unto the Bay of Trefpafey, and the bottom of fome other Bays.
Trefpaffey in like manner is as commodions a Harbour, lying iń a more temperate Climate, almoft in forty fix Degrees of North Latitude, and is both fair and pleafant, and a wholfom Coaft free from Rocks and Shelves; fo that of all other Har-bours it lies the moft South of any in the Land, and moft conveniently to reccive our Shipping, paffing to and from Virginiu and the Bermuda Inlands; and alfo any other Shipping that fhall pafs to and from the River of Canada, and the Coaft thereof, becaufe they ufually pafs, and fo return in the fight of the Land of Trefpeffey, and alfo for fome other purpofes, as fhall be partly declard in the following Difcourfe.

The Soil of this Countrey in the Valleys and fides of the Mountains is fo fruitful, as that in divers places the Summer naturally produceth without Tillage, great plenty of green Peafe, and Fitches, fair, round, full, and as wholfom as ours in England.

Of Berries and Fruits, there grows Strawberries, red and white, and as fair Rafpice:berries and Goofe-berries as there be in England; as alfo Bilberries, which are call'd by fome Whortes, and many other delicate Berries peculiar to the Countrey, in great abundance. Likewife fmall Pears, Cherries, Filberds, orc.

There are alfo Herbs for Sallets and Broth, as Parfly, Alexander, Sorrel, wc. and alfo Flowers, as the red and white Damask Rofe, with other kinds, which are moft beautiful and delightful, both to the fight and fmell. And queftionlefs, the Coun. trey is for'd with many Phyfical Herbs, though their Vertues are not known.
When Corn was firft Sow'n here, it was obferv'd to grow very fair, the increafe was great, and the Grain very good ; and feveral forts of Kitchin Plants that have been Sec here, have prov'd very well.

In divers parts of the Countrey there is great fore of Deer, and fome Hares, many Foxes, Squerrils, Beavers, Martins and Otters, yielding excellent Furrs, Wolves and Bears, with other forts of Beafts, ferving as well for Neceffity, as for Profit and Delight.

Variety both of Land and Water, Fowl is in this Countrey infinite: The chief Land.Fowl, befides a great number of fmall Birds, that live by feraping their Food from the Earth in the hardeft Winter, are Hawks, great and fmall Partridges, Thrufh, and Thruffels abundance, very fat ; as alfo Filladies, Nightingales, and fuch like, which fing moft pleafantly. There are alfo Birds that live by prey, as Ravens, Gripes, Crows, ecc. For Water-Fowl, there is certainly fo good, and as much variety, as in any part of the World, as Geefe, Ducks, Pigeons, Gulls, Penguins, and many other forts. Thefe Penguins are as big as Geefe, but do not flye, for they have but a litele fhort Wing; and they multiply fo infinitely upon a certain flat Illand, that men drive them from thence upon a Board into their Boats by hundreds at a time, as if God had made the innocency of fo poor a Creature to become fuch an admirable Inftrument for the fuftentation of Man : And alfo Godwits, Curlews, and fuch like; which Fowl do not onely ferve thofe that Trade thither for Food, but alfo they are a great furthering to divers Ships Voyages, be caufe the abundance of them is fuch, that the Fifher-men do bait their Hooks with the quarters of Sea.Fowl on them; and therewith fome Ships do yearly take. a great part of their Fifhing Voyages with fuch Bait, before they can get others.

The frefh Waters and Springs of that Countrey are many in number, and witho all fo very pleafant, delightful and wholfom, that no Countrey in the World hath better: And Fewel for Fireing, no where more plentiful.

In like manner there is great abundance of Trees fit to be employ'd in other fer- viceable ufes: There are Fir and Spruce=Trees, found, good, and fit to Maft Ships with, and as commodious for Boaras and Buildings as thofe of Norvay ; and out of thefe come abundance of Turpentine. Moreover the Pine and Birch. Trees here are fcarce to be compar'd for heighth and greatnefs.

The Rivers alfo and Harbours are generally for'd with delicate Fiffi, as Salmons, Peals, Eels, Herrings, Mackrel, Flounders, Launce, Capelin, Cod, and Trours, the faireft, fatteft and fweeteft, that ever were feen in thefe Parts. The like for Lobfters, Cra-fifh, Mufsles, and other variety of Shell-fifh.

The Seas likewife all along the Coaft, do plentifully abound in other forts of Fifh, as Whales, Spanifh Mackrel, Dorrel, Pales, Herrings, Hogs, Porpofes, Seals, and fuch like Royal Fifh, ecc.

But the chief Commodity of New found Land yet known, and which is grown to be a fetled Trade, and that it may be much better'd by an ordinary Plantation there, (if the Traders thither will take fome better courfe than formerly they have done, as fhall be declared) is the Codffifing upon that Coaft, by, which our Nation and many other Countreys are enrich'd.

Almoft incredible is the benefit of the Fifh, which the French, Bifcainers, and Portuguefe fetch yearly from this Coaft of New- found Land, and the Bank, which lieth within twenty five Leagues from the South Cape of that Countrey, where the French ufe to Fifh Winter and Summer, ufually making two Voyages every year thither. To which Places, and to the Coaft of Canada, which lieth near unto it, are yearly fent from thofe Countreys, more than four hundred Sail of Ships.

This Illand of Terra Nova belongs properly and juftly to the Crown of England, having been under the fole Jurifdiction of the Englijh from the firf Difcovery thereof, which was by Sir Sebaffian Cabot, Employ'd by King Henry the Seventh, to find out fome other part of America, than what had been difcover'd by Columbus, as hath been above declar'd in feveral places.

Afterwards King Henry the Eighth continu'd the Engligh Intereft there, and Employ'd one Rutt into that Inland, in order to the Plantation thereof.

Queen Elizabeth no lefs careful to preferve that Plantation, fent Sir Humphrey Gilbert, a Devonflire Knight, to plant a Colony there, the better to fecure the fame, and to increafe Trading there; and accordingly the faid Sir Humplrey with two good Ships and a Pinnace in her Name, took poffeffion of that Countrey, in the Harbour of St. Fohns. He Sail'd from thence towards Virginia, and by reafon of fome unhappy direction in his Courfe, the greateft Ship he had ftruck upon Shelves on the Coaft of Canada, and was there loft, with moft part of the Company in her; and he himfelf, being then in a fmall Pinnace of twenty Tun, in the company of his Vice-Admiral (Captain Hays) returning towards England, in a great Storm, was overwhelm'd in the Sea, and fo perifh'd.

In the Year 1608. it was undertaken anew by Fohn Guy, a Merchant of Brifol, and with fo good fuccefs, that the Colony in a fhore time were well furnifh'd with Whear, Rye, Barley, and other Grain of their own Sowing, with Turnips, Coleworts, and abundance of other neceffary things, not without fome probable hopes of Metals, a certain and plentiful Trade of Sables, Musk, and orther rich Commodities.

In the Year 1620. Sir George Calvert Knight, then principal Secretary of State, The Proviree and a Privy Councellor to King James the Firf of England, &c. purchas'd a part of fovefand in New- found Land, which was afterwards in the Year 1623 . granted to him and his Heirs by Patent from the faid King, under the Great Seal of England, bearing Date the feventh of April, in the One and twentieth Year of his Reign : by which means the faid Tract of Land waserected into a Province, and at the Inftance of the faid Sir George Calvert, call'd Avalon, from Avalon in Sommerfet-ghire, where Chriftionity was firt Planted in England.

This Province lies in the forty feventh Degree of Northern Latitude, and is thus bounded bounded: It begins Southerly from the middle part of a certain Neck of Land or Promontory, fituate between the two Harbours, Fermofe and Aquafort; and from thence following the Shore towards the North unto the middle part, or half way over a little Harbour, call'd in that regard Petit Port, or Petit Harbour, which boun. deth upon the South part of the Plantation of St. Folms, including the one half of a certain frefh River, that falleth into the faid Port of Petit Harbour ; and fo tending along the South Border of the faid Colony of St. Jolns, extendeth it felf to a certain little Bay, commonly call'd Salmon Cove, lying on the South fide of the Bay of Conception, including the one half of the River that falleth into the faid Cove, as alfo one half of the Cove it felf; from whence paffing along the Shore of the faid Bay towards the South, and reaching unto the bottom thereof, where it meets with the Lands of the fore mention'd fobn Guy, nam'd Sea-Forreft, is bounded with a certain River or Brook, which there falleth into the Sea, and from the Mouth of the faid Brook afcendech unto the fartheft Spring or Head thereof; from thence paffing towards the South for fix Miles together along the Borders of the faid Jobn Guy's Plantation, and there croffing over Weftward in a right Line, reacheth unto the Bay of Placentia, and the fpace of one League within the faid Bay from the Shore thereof; whence turning again towards the South, paffeth along the Harbour of Placentia, with the like diftance from the Shore, and defcending unto Neiw Falkland towards the North and Weft part thereof, Aretcheth it felf in a right Line Eaftward, continuing the whole Southerly length upon the Bounds of the faid Neio Falkland, unto the middle part or Point of the Promontory, or Neck of Land before mention'd, between the Ports Fermofe and Aquafort; at which place is defcrib'd and finiff'd the Perambulation of the whole Precinct, whofe Extent may be thus computed, commencing from the Promontory between the Ports Fermofe and Aquafort, which is fifty or fixty Miles from South to North diftant from Petit Harbour ; from whence croffing Weftward to the Bay of Placentia, is judg'd to be fixty Miles more or upwards, from Eaft to Weft.

And thereby was alfo granted to the faid Sir George Calvert and his Heirs, all Illands and Iflets, within ren Leagues of the Eaftern Shore of the faid Region towards the Eaft, togecher with the Fifhing' of all forts of Fifh, faving unto the Englifh free liberty of Fifhing, as well in the Seas as in the Ports and Creeks of the Province aforefaid, and the Priviledges of falting and drying their Fifh upon the Shores of the faid Province, as heretofore they reafonably us'd and enjoy'd the fame, fo as they do no injury or notable lofs or detriment unto the Lord Proprietary, his Heirs and Affigns, or to the Inhabitants of the faid Province, in the Ports, Creeks, and Shores aforefaid, and efpecially in the Woods growing within the faid Province.

And by the faid Patent all Royal Jurifdictions and Prerogatives, both Military and Civil, within the faid Province and Iflands thereunto belonging, were farther granted to the faid Sir George Calvert and his Heirs, and he and they thereby created the true and abfolute Lords and Proprietaries of the faid Province, faving the Allegiance due to His Majefty, His Heirs and Succeffors, to be held of them in Capite, yielding and paying unto them therefore a white Horfe, when, and as often as any of them fhall come into the faid Province, and the fifth part of all Gold and Silver Oar which fhould be found there.

Sir George Calvert, before the obtaining of this Patent, had caus'd a fair Houre and Fort to be built in the faid Province, at a place call'd Ferryland, and in the Year 1624. having obtain'd a Difmiffion from his Employment of Secretary of State, and being then created Lord Baltemore of Baltemore in Ireland, he did in the Year 1627. Tranfport himfelf to Avalon, to infpect his Concerns there in Perfon; from whence returning the fame year, he Embarqu'd himfelf again, together with his Lady and all his Family, except his eldeft Son, for Avalon the year following; at which time (there being then War between England and France) he redeem'd above twenty Sail of Englijh Ships, which had been taken there that year by French Men of War, whereof one Monfieur De la Rade had the chief Command, and fhortly after took fix French Fifhing. Ships upon that Coaft, and fent them the fame year, with a great many French-men Prifoners, into England. Coming thence, he left a Depury there, and continu'd the Plantation till his Death, which was in April 1632. After whofe Deceare it defcended of right to his Son and Heir Cecil, now Lord Baltemore; who thereupon fent one Captain William Hill as his Deputy thither, to take poffeffor thereof, and to manage his Intereft there for him. Captain Hill, according to his Commifion, fhortly after repair'd thither, and liv'd fome years at the Lord Baltemore's Houfe at Ferryland above mention'd.

In the thirteenth Year of King Charles the Firft, of England, \&cc. about the Year of our Lord 16 38. Marquefs Hamilton, Earl of Pembroke, Sir David Kirk, and others, under pretence that the Lord Baltemore had deferted that Plantation obtaind a Patent of all New-found Land, wherein Avalon was included, and fhortly after difpoffers'd the Lord Baltemore of his Manfion Houfe in Ferryland; and other Rights there, and during the late Rebellion in England kept poffeffion; but His now Ma. jefty King Charles the Second, immediately after his moft happy Reftauration in tha Year 1660, upon the now Lord Baltemore's Petition, thought fit to refer the whole Matter to be Examin'd by Sir Orlando Bridgeman, then Lord-Chief-Juftice, now Lord-Keeper of the Great Seal of England, and others, to report the true ftate thereof to His Majefty, together with their Opinions thereupon: The Referrees accordingly, upon full hearing of Council on both fides, certifid, That they conceiv'd the faid Patent to Sir George Calvert, to be a good Patent, in force, and not avoided by the later to Sir David Kirk and others; and that the Title and Intereft to the faid Province did therefore belong to the Lord Baltemore. Whereupon His Majefty, on the twentieth of Marcb in the fame Year, Order'd the Poffeffion thereof to be re-deliver'd to his Lordfhip, which was accordingly executed: Since which time his Lordfhip has peaceably enjoy'd the poffeffion thereof, and continues the Plantation to this day, by deputing Lieutenants there from time to time, for the better Government of that Province, the reft of New found Land remaining ftill to the aforefaid Proprietors, claiming by the Patent of ${ }_{13} \mathrm{Car}$. Io

The Commodities that are either by Art or Nature produc'd there, are the fame with thofe of the remainder of Newofound Land. The Winter there is extream cold, the Summer very hot, but withal pleafant; and during that Seafon there is great. plenty of Pafture for Cattel.

The Coaft of this Province is very fafe, and as well furnifh'd with variety of bold and pleafant Harbors, as any other part of New-found Land; where the Englifh likewife Fifh for Cod, the leffer fort whereof is call'd Poor afobn, which is there caught in great abundance, efpecially at Ferryland, and in the Bay of Buils. Befides thefe two there are divers other excellent Harbors on the Eaftern Shore of Avalon, as Capling Bay, Cape Brolle, Brittus, Ifle of Spears, Barrom Cove, Whitburns Bay, and Petit Harbour above mention'd. On the Weft are the Bay of Placentia, and feveral other good Harbors.

There are no Indians in Avalon, and but few Englijh, by reafon of the exceffive Cold in Winter, though Sir David Kirk and his Lady, and alfo his Family, liv'd in the Lord Baltemore's Houfe at Ferryland for the fpace of ten years and upwards.

The Soil feems to promife great ftore of Mines, which probably may in time be difcover'd.
difcover'd. The late Lord Baltemore took accidentally a piece of Oar up that lay there upon the furface of the Earth, and brought it with him into England, which was found upon trial to yield a greater proportion of Silver, than the Oar of Potofi in the Weff-Indies, but hitherto no Mine of it hath been difcover'd there.

The Trade of Fifhing being of fo great concernment to the Nation of England, the fame (if it be well manag'd in this Ifland of Terra Nova) will employ every year above two hundred Sail of Englifh Ships, and ten thoufand Mariners, befides the great benefit which may accrue unto the Nation by Impofition upon Strangers there, which would amount to feveral thoufands of Pounds per Annum; with which thofe Coafts may be Guarded, and Ships Trading thither fecur'd : befides the great Cuftoms by the Ships call'd The Sacks (being commonly in great numbers every year) who carry Fifh from Nero.found Land into the Straights, France, Portugal, and Spain, and who bring their Returns into England, as Bullion, and all other native Commodities of thofe Countreys.

If the Ifland were well fortifi'd, we might Command all thofe of other Nations that comantyifh in New. found Land, to pay Contribution in Fifh or otherwife, for their Priviledge to Fifh there, the faid Ifland being firft Planted by Englifh, and pertaining to the Kingdom of England; or if occafion fhould require, they might be utterly debarr'd of Fifhing there.

The Trade of Fifhing is of fo great concernment to France, Spain, Portugal, the Straights, and other Parts, that they cannot well be without that yearly Supply in Fifh which comes from that Ifland: Neither can the Hollanders, Spaniards, or Portuguefe, well fer any Ships to the Weff-Indies, without New.found Land Fifh, there being none that will endure to pafs the Line found and untainted, but the Fifh of that Countrey, falted and dry'd there. And fo long as the AOt continues ftill in force, That no Fifh be Tranfported from the faid Ifland, but in Englifh Bottoms, it will contribute very much to our encreafe of Shipping there, and by confequence, of the employment of Mariners; and the Fifhing of that part of the Inand will be folely appropriated to the Englifh Nation, to whom of right it belongs, which will prove the greateft Ballance of Trade in that part of the World; and that whereas above two hundred Sail do Trade thither yearly to Fifh, if a thoufand Sail come, if there be but Fifher-men enow, they may all have Fraughtage there.

The French, if once the Inland be fortifid, will be depriv'd of their Nurfery of Mariners, this being the onely place, befides Canada, and one or two adjacent Coafts, where they come for fupply of Fifh, with which that Nation cannot be furnifh'd fo well from other Parts.

By well Planting and Fortifying Nerwo-found Land, the Trading to Virginia, Ners England, and thofe Parts, would be much encourag'd, New England having had of late great Traffick with Ners-found Land, where they vend the Growth of their Plantation. Befides, New-found Land is a Key to the Gulf of Canada, which if the Englifh had again in their poffeffion, as they had in the Years 1628. and 1632. they might give a Law to all foreign Kings and People interefted in any of the parts of America, and a Protection to all the Englifh Plantations upon that Continent, whereby great fecurity, comfort and profit would arife to the Nation and People of it : whereas on the contrary, if the French, Spanifh, or Dutch, fhould poffefs themfelves of the faid Plantation, they would not onely deprive this Nation of all the Advantages aforefaid, but would alfo derive to themfelves fo great a Power to prejudice all the Plantations of the Coafts of America belonging to this Nation, that the Inconveniences thereof are fcarce to be imagin'd or exprefs'd.

After the granting of the Patent aforefaid of 13 Car. 1. Sir David Kirk's great Pains there, and conltant Endeavours, were beyond expectation blefs'd with a cone tinuance and prefervation of Trade in that Place; in the carrying on of which, he had always a fecial regard to the real Advantage of this Kingdom, and the particular Service of His Majefty.

Before this Inand, right over againft Cape Ray, at the diftance of twenty four the wonder? Leagues or more, there lieth an huge Bank or Ridge of Land, extending it felf in Tima Nuvod. length out of the Sea, above a hundred Leagues, but in breadth not above four or five and twenty, when it is broadeft, and in other parts much lefs, Tharpning to wards each end into a Conus, or narrow Point. It is accounted one of the Wonders of the Sea, which round about, at fome diftance, is very deep, and hardly to bé founded, efpecially betwixt the Bank (for fo chey commonly call it) and Cape Ray, but drawing nearer, it grows by degrees more and more fhallow, infomuch that nigh the Land there is not much more Water than is neceffary for the Ships to Ride in. It runneth out in length, as was faid, from North to South, from forty one Degrees of Latitude to fifty two; and round about it there lie fcatter'd a multitude of leffer Illands, which Sir Sebáftian Cabot, when he firft difcover'd the Place, call'd by one commor Name Los Baccaloos, or The IJands of Cod-filh, from the great quari- Tbe Bucabit tity of that fort of Fifh he there found ; which was fuch, that they hindred the paffage of his Ships, and lay in fuch multitudes upon the Coafts, that the very Bears would come and catch them in their Claws, and draw them to Land.

IN the Gulf of St. Laurence, towards the Mouth of the River Canada, is another The Ine of lefs confiderable Ifland, faid to have been firft difcover'd by Quartier, and by him call'dive Ifland of Afjumption; by fobn Alphonfo, The Ifland of Afcenfion; by the Natives, Natifcotec: It extends it felf from the forty eighth to the fiftieth Degree, between the South-Eaft and NorthsWeft.

Quartier makes mention of a ftrange kinde of Fifh, found in the River of Canada, like unto a Sea-Hog, but having the Head of a Hare, it is call'd by the Natives Adbothuys.-

Not far from this is a little Inland, call'd by the French, Ifle de Sable, or The Sandy Ifland; and another on the Weft of Terra Nova, call'd Ifle de Bretons, or The I/land of St. Laurence, beffdes feveral little fcatter'd Iflands in the Gulf of St. Laurence, as Menego, and The Three IJands of Birds; in which are found a kind of amphibious Animal, call'd by the French, Cualrus, and by the Rußians, Morfh; fomewhat like a Sea-Calf, but more monftrous.

The Bermudas, or Summer-Iflands,

THe Bermudas, or Summer-Ilands (probably fo term'd as to thie firft Appellati- Sination of on from certain black Hogs, by the Spaniards call'd Bermudas, which from a ${ }^{\text {dice. }}$ Ship bound with them to fome other parts of the Weff-Indies, and caft away upon that Coaft, fwam afhore, and there increafed; or, as others fay, from folin Bermudes; a Spaniard, who is faid to have been the firf Difcoverer; or, as to the fecond, from one George Summers, an Englijh-man, who there fuffer'd fhipwrack) are fituared in thirty two Degrees and twenty five Minutes of Northern Latitude, about fixteen hundred Leagues from Enoland, twelve hundred from Madera; four hundred from Hijpaniola, and three hundred from the neareft Coaft of Virginia. The firft that endeavour'd to fertle Plantations here was a Spaniard nam'd Hernando Camelo, being defign'd Conductor in this Expedition : And this Undertaking was fo much the more eagerly profecuted, upon confideration that the Plate.Fleet Sailing from Havana through the Straights of Babama, might here have a conveni. ent Harbour; but thofe who were invited to become Adventurers, with proffers of great Advantage, fhewing themfelves very flack in the Bufinefs, and Charles the Fifth being at that time intangled in War ánd other troublefom Affairs, the Defign came to nothing, and for above fixty years after no farther Actempt was made by any for the Planting of thefe Illands, till at laft the French made a Voyage thither under Captain Barboriere, but by Shipwrack were fruftrated of their hopes; nor made they any more Preparations in this Defign. In which neverthelefs the Englifh were not fo eafily difcoura'g'd; for firf Captain Gofnol and Smith fer forth, at the Charges of Mr. Edward Wing field; next, Captain Nelfon; then fuccefively Weft, Gates, Arigal, and Wyat, but all with little or no fuccefs, till at length in the Year 1612.2 Company was eftablifh'd in London by the King's Letters Patents, who fent one Mr. Richard. Moor with fixty Men to the Bermudas, where he §pent three years in fortifying thofe Illands : but that which put a little ftop to this good beginning, was a kind of Misfortune that hapned ; for the Rats which were gotren athore from 2 Shipwrack increas'd fo exceedingly, that they devour'd all the Plants in the Field, and the Provifion in the Houfes, infomuch that a great Famine proceeded from thence, all means to deftroy the Vermine being in vain; till at laft Providence fent 2. Difeale amongft them, which kill'd them all in a very fhort time. Mean while Moor went on in the fortification of the Inland, and was ere long fupply'd with frefh People. Mr. Barlet was fent over with fixty Men, and carried from thence with him eighty Pound of Ambergreece. And foon after three Ships more, viz. the Bleßing, the Star, and the Margaret, convey'd thither four hundred and ten, Men and Women. As foon as Moor was call'd away, Daniel Tuckard coming from Virginis to fucceed him, beftirr'd himfelf very much, Planting all places full of Trees fetch'd from the WefteIndian Inlands; as allo Tobacco, with which he fraighted a Ship to London. Moreover, the Countrey was divided into Acres, that every Planter might have an equal Thare, and know his own Lands. Anno 16ig. Tuckard was fucceeded by Nathaniel Butler, who in four Ships brought thither five hundred Men and Wo. men, to fupply the firf Plantation, which was much decay'd fince the Rats had devour'd their Provifions, fo that it was little look'd after by the Company in London: But now they built a Church and crected a Court of Judicature, and all things were order'd conveniently for the publick good. After which many Noble Perfons fet Sail thither in the Magazine Frigat; and the Planters being now fifteen hundred in number, inhabited twenty Leagues of Land in length.

On the longeft Ifland, call'd St. George; (for the Bermudas confifts of feveral tions and Towers, which had their Denominations from thofe Noble-men and Gentlemen that were Undertakers in this Plantation, as Cavendif, Paget, Herbert, &c. from the Earl of Devonfhire, the Lord Paget, the Earl of Pembroke, and others.
Amongtt the Havens the eminenteft are, Southampton, the Inlec Harvington, and the Great Sound.

All thefe Illands lying together refemble a Half-Moon, and are furrounded with Rocks, which appear at Low water, and at High lie but flallow; for it feldom Ebbs or Flows above five Foot. The Shore, for the moft part Rocky, and hardned by the Sun and Wind, receives no damage by the Waves which continually beat againft the fame.

The Ground it felf differs; for in fome places it is fandy or clayie, and in Nanure of others partly black, and partly white, or Afhocolour'd Earth; which laft is accounted the worft, and the black the beft. Three Foot deep under the Afhscolour'd Earth lie great Slates, and under the black, a white fpungie Stone, like the Pumice, in whofe moift Crevifes Trees take roor.

The Pits or Wells, though they Ebb and Flow with the Sea, yet produce a wholfom and fweet Water.

The Skie is generally ferene, but when over.caft with Clouds, is fubject to Lighto Temperas ning and Thunder; yet the Air is of a good temper, being neither exceeding cold, Air, nor exceffive hot : for which reafon the European Fruits grow better there than in their natural Soil.

Their Harveft is twice a year ; for that which they Sowe in March, is ripe and gather'd in 7 une; then what they Sowe again in $\mathcal{A} w g u f$, they gather in fanuary.

Thefe Iflands breed no hurtful Creatures; nay, the yellow Spider which Spins of of the Cociong filken Cobwebs, is free from Poyfon.

The Plant Nuchtly, which bears Speckled Pears, grows betwixt the Rocks which are drench'd with Sea-water.

The Hogs which above a hundred and fifty years fince fwam afhore out of the Spanifh Wrack, are exceedingly increas'd there, but becaufe of their poornels are fcarce eatable, they feeding onely on the fweet Berries which fall from the Palmito. Trees.

About the white and red Mulberries, which grow plentifully there, breed thoufands of Silk-worms, which Spin Silk according to the colour of the Mul. berries.

The Sea produces fome quantity of Pearls and Ambergreece.
From the beginning of the year till May, the Whales are feen to [wim not far from the Shore.

A ftrange fort of Sea-Fowl breed in Holes like Rabbets; and amongft other Birds, here are alfo ftore of Cranes.

The Tobacco which the Englifh have planted here grows very well.
Here are likewife great Tortoifes, which Lay their Eggs in the Sand on the Tortoifes Shore, where they are Hatch'd by the Beams of the Sun, and are taken after this Eggs. manner: In the Night fome are fet to watch where they Land, and whileft they are digging a deep Hole in the Ground, are thrown on their Backs, and not being able to get upon their Legs agair, they lie and groan very pitifully: fome of them having above two Bafons full of Eggs in their Bellies; which being about the bignefs of a Tennis-Ball, have a thin Shell, which inclofeth a Yolk and White. If thefe Eggs lie buried fix years, then the young Tortoifes breaking the Shell, come out of the Sand, and inftantly creep into the Sea. Their Flefh is not onely wholfom but toothfom. The Oyl made of them is not inferior to Butter.

Moréover, the Bermudas produce Cedars, the like of which are not to be found in Cedirs of an the whole World: The Leaves are douny and prickly at the ends, almof like thofe kind. of the Juniper 'Tree: The Wood hath a fweet fmell, and the Berries, which are like the Myrtle, of a pale.Red, inclofe four white Kernels; the outermoft Skin whereof is Sweee ; the innermof, which covers the Kernel, fharp, and the Pulp tartifh : $_{\text {the }}$ The Trees are always flourifhing, being at the fame time full of Bloffoms, green, and ripe Fruit: The Berries, when grown ripe, begin to gape, and fall off in rainy Weather, leaving a round Stalk on the Boughs, which lofes not its Rind till two years after; half which time the Berry requires, before it attains to its perfect ripe. nefs, which generally happens in the Winter: The Boughs fhoot ftraight upwards, and become in time fo heavy, that they caule the Body of the Tree to bend. This moft excellent Wood grows in divers places of the Bermudas.

We fhall conclude with the refolute Exploit of five Searmen, Anno 1616. who, to the great admiration of all People, fet Sail from thence in an open Veffel of three Tun through the main Ocean, and after having fuffer'd terrible Tempefts, arriv'd in the fpace of feven Weeks $f_{a}$ fe in Ireland.

Thefe Iflands are remarkable for divers forts of Plants, unknown in other Parts, as the Prickle Pear, Poyfon Weed, Red Weed, Purging Bean, Coftive Tree, Red Pepper, and the Sea Feather. Alfo feveral ftrange Birds, as the Egg Bird, Cabow, Tropick Bird, and the Pemlico, which prefageth Storms.

Hifpaniola.

THe Illands call'd De Barlovento, by which are underftood Hifpaniola, Cube, Jamaica, and Boriquen, as alfo the Lucaies, with the Caribes, and laftly the Ifles call'd De Sotavento, viz. Margareta, Cabagua, and Tabago, are by fome comprehended all under the general Name of The Ifles Antilles; though others reckon the Antilles to be the fame with the Caribes onely. But leaving this Controverfie undecided, we fhall begin with the Illes De Barlovento; the chief whereof is Hi= Spaniola.

Bounds and

Hijpaniola, or Little Spain (as Columbus nam'd it) is, though not the largeft, yet the faireft and goodlieft of all the American Inlands, call'd by the Natives anciently Hayti and QuiSqueia: It lieth about fifteen Leagues Weftward of Porto Rico, and diftant from the main Land of America about one hnndred and twenty; 'tis of a triangular form, the Tharpeft Point whereof is that towards Porto Rico, which they call Cabo de Enganno: that towards the Weft inclines to a Semiecircle, containing a good and convenient Bay betwixt the two Points, viz. St. Nicholas to the North, and Cabo de Doma Maria towards the South. It is not thought to be lefs than a hundred and fifty Leagues in length, and in breadth from threefcore to thirty, and to contain in the compals of the whole, four hundred Leagues at leaft, lying be. twixt eighteen and twenty Degrees of Northern Latitude, having an Air fomewhat infefted with the Morning Heats, but well cool'd again in the Afternoon, by a conftant Wind from the Sea, which they call there $V_{\text {iraf on. }}$ It is, for the fertility of the Soil, one of the richeft and moft flourifhing Countreys in the World; the Trees and all things elfe there continually clad, as it were, in their Summer Livery, the Meadows and Paftures always green, and of fuch an excellent Herbage, that Cattel both breed and thrive there beyond belief; both great Cattel and fmall, as Kine, Sheep, Hogs, wr. brought thither out of Spain, having multiply'd to fuch numbers, that they live wild now in Herds in feveral places, and are both hunted and kill'd, like Stags or other Venifon, onely for their Hides, which they fend yearly into Spain and other parts of Europe, as a great Merchandize and Commodity of huge profit to them.

Wild Hogs alfo have been formerly feen to feed in the Woods in great multitudes, but the Dogs fince they were brought over hither, have made great havock amongft them.

The Animals peculiar to this Illand are r. A little Beaft call'd Hutias, not much saifts peraie unlike our Coneys. 2. Chemi, almoft of the fame form, but a little bigger. 3. Mobui, nieht A Beaft fomewhat lefs than the Hutias. 4. A Beaft call'd Coxi.

Likewife amonglt other ftrange forts of Creatures here, the Cuyero is very obfer- The Fly $\begin{gathered}\text { my } \\ \text { : }\end{gathered}$ vable, being about an Inch big, and having four Wings, of which two are larger than the other : when they flie they fhine after fuch a manner, that in the Night they make a Room as light as day, infomuch that fome have made ufe of them in ftead of Candles to Read by.

No lefs wonderful is the Fifh Manate, whofe fhape hath been deferib'd elfe- Therin san: where : It breeds for the moft part in the Sea, yet fometimes fwimming up the Rivers, comes afhore and eats Grafs. The Cafique Caramatexi kept one in the Lake Guaynato, which was fo tame, that when call'd by the Name Maton, it us'd to come out of the Water, and go directly to the Cafique's Houfe, where being fed, it return'd to the Lake, accompanied with Men and Boys, who with their Singing feem'd to delight the Fifh, which fometimes carried ten Children on its Back over the Water; but at laft a Spaniard ftriking at it with a Pike, it would never come forth again when it efpy'd a Cloth'd Man : It liv'd ewenty fix years in the fore-mention'd Lake, till by accident the River Hayboaic over-flowing into the faid Lake, the Fifh return'd to the Sea.

Befides this great Fifh, here is alfo a fort of fmall Fifh, call'd Abacatuaia, with a the Find b : little Mouth, black Ey.es encompafs'd with Silver-colour'd Circles, four black Fins, two long ones under its Belly, one on the Back, and one on each fide of the Head, the Tail nit and cover'd with a glittering Skin : It is as big as a Flounder, and not ill Meat, but thick and round.

When the Spaniards firft fetled on Hifpaniola, they were exceedingly tormented $\begin{gathered}\text { The Incaa. } \\ \text { Nignan }\end{gathered}$ with a fort of leaping Infects call'd Nigua, which us'd to eat through thẹir Skininto the Flefh in fuch a nature, that many of them loft their Arms and Legs; but at laft they found out a Remedy againft this Evil, ruiz the fearing the Wounds with hot Irons.

Fruits.

The Provinces of this lfand.

Befides the aforefaid plenty of Flefh, they have many excellent Fruits all the year long, as Banana's, Pine.Apples, Cuftud-Apples, Plantens, Papans, Musk. melons, Water-melons, and many other peculiar Plants, as I. the Auzuba, a fair large Tree, the Fruit whereof is call'd Pinnas, refembling a Malecotoon: Of this Tree there are three forts, Jaima, Boniama, and Jaiqua; 2. . &uauconex; 3.Axi; of which there are alfo feveral forts, as Carive, Huarabuac, Axiblanco, Acafran-Axi, and Axi-Coral; 4. Yuca, the Root of which ferves in ftead of Corn; 5. Certain Trees call'd Guaibes, befides plenty of Mint and Potato's.
The Ifland of Hijpaniola was formerly divided into feveral Provinces, amongft which the Mountainous Countrey Hyguey lies towards the Ifle of Porto Rico. On the Mountains, which are flat on the top; are great variety of fharp-pointed Stones. The Soil is a fort of colour'd Earth, which produces all forts of Fruit, efpecially the Root $C_{a} j_{a b i}$, and Melons.

Hygury alfo conterminates with Ycayaguı; Northward lies Samana; Southward, Yaquimo, where there is ftore of Brafile Wood: And between the City Domingo and Yaquimo, is the Countrey Baoruco, which with its Mountains extends fixty Leagues in length, and above twenty in breadth, without any Water, Pafture, or Food for Cattel or Mankind.

Next follows the Countrey Xardgua, lying at the great Inlet which divides Hio Jpaniola; for one fide extends to the Promontory of St. Nicbolas, and the other to the Point Tiburon. This Countrey produces abundance of Cotton.

Laftly, the Provinces Guababa, Haniguagya and Cabay, are very eminent; as alfo Cibao, which is full of Gold-Mines; and Lavega Real, with Magnana, which lie between the two great-Rivers Neyba and Yajui; the fony Countrey Ciguayos, and the low Coaft Darica, where Chrifopher Columbus built the City Navidad, which he after. wards deferted.

Ginger was formerly brought hither from the Eaftindies, but now grows here in fuch great abundance, that above two and twenty thoufand Kintalls are yearly Tranfported from thence to Spain.
With as good fuccefs grow here alfo the Sugar-Canes and Maiz.

- Peter Martyr, a Councellor to the Emperor Charles the Fifth, relates, That Hifpao niola produc'd in his time, befides Silver, Copper, and Iron, five hundred thoufand Ducats in Gold: Neverthelefs the rich Mines lay undifturb'd, becaufe they wanted People to work in them, infomuch that had they not planted their Royal Seat in Domingo, the Ifland had long fince been deferted, notwithflanding the ex. ceeding fruitfulnefs of the Soil, becaufe the Spaniards exercis'd their Cruelty in fuch a nature, that of fixty thoufand Inhabitants from the Year 1508. to Anno 15 14. Fcarce fourteen thoufand of them were left alive ; all which is affirm'd by the Bifhop De las Cafas. Nay, the fore-mention'd Peter Martyr relates, That the Men wearied with working in the Mines, kill'd themfelves, defpairing of ever being releas'd from their Slavery; and Women with Child deftroy'd the Infants in their Wombs, that they might not bear Slaves for the Spaniards. He adds hereunto, That of a hundred and twenty thoufand Perfons, few were left in a flort time.

Thefe Provinces in former times had each of them their Cafique, whofe fplendor confifted chiefly in Dancing to his Devotion, with a Girdle full of Bells about his Middle, a String of Pearls about his Arms, a Covering over his Priyities, and a

Plume

Plume of Feathers on his Head, with a Drummer before him, and a fmall Train of Arm'd Men after him.

On the Coaft are firft the Point of $\mathrm{Ni}_{\mathrm{a}}^{\mathrm{a}}$, ten Leagues to the Weft of Santo Do- Pruse and mingo.

Eighteen Leagues farther is the Port Ocoa, which is a Bay where the Fleets of Nova Hijpania take refrefhing, when they do not Anchor in the Nook of Sepefepin, which is near unto it, or in another call'd The Fair Haven, two Leagues before you come to Ocoa.

- Twenty Leagues beyond $O c o a$ is the Port of Afua.

Thirty Leagues more Weftwardly is a large Point right againft the Ifland of Bola, which lieth five Leagues from the Coaft.

The moft Wefterly Point is call'd Cape Tiburon: It hath an Inland three Leagues from it Weft ward, call'd Caprio; and Sailing along the Coalt, you will fee an Ifland call'd Camito; and farther in the Nook of Yaguana another call'd Granabo of eight Leagues long.

On the North fide of the Ifland, the moft Wefterly Cape and Port is Se. Nicholas; from whence North-Eaft and by Eaft, lieth the Ifland of Tortuga, near the Coaft of $\mathrm{Hi}_{\mathrm{i}}$ paniola: It is of five Leagues length.
Farther along the Coaft is Monte Chrifo, the Weft Cape of Natividad; to the Eaft of which there is a great Bay call'd Port Real.

This Ifland is fo full of Harbours, that he that will Coaft it, cannot urell mifs of one where he plealeth, moft of which afford frefh Meat and good Water.

Moreover, Hifpaniola hath many brave Rivers, the chiefeft of which are Haynd; Niza0, along whofe Shore the firft Sugar-Canes were planted; Neyba, a great Ri= ver; Yaquimo; Yaqui, which Columbus call'd Rio de Oro, becaufe the Ground thereof glitter'd like Gold; and laftly; the Rivers Nicayagua, amongft whofe Sands is Gold ; Nigua, which borrowṣ its Denomination from the fore-mention'd leaping Infect ; the fwift Stream funo, whole Banks are crown'd with handfom Houfes; and Jaquin, which hath many Salt-pans:

The Rivers Itabo, Ocoa, Cepi, Bia, Cazui, Sanate de Plata, and Cbiabon, have fome one, others more Sugar-Mills upon them.

But the chiefeft River is Ozama, broad, and fo deep, that the biggeft Veffel may lie clofe by the Shore; and allo wafhes $$$ t. Domingo.

This City, the Metropolis of all the Ifles round about, was built by Bartholomens Columbus, and was peopled Anno 1494. after which it flourifh'd eight years, when, a terrible Storm blowing the fame down to the Ground, Nicholas Olanda remov'd it to the Weftern Shore of Ozama, that the Spaniards, who had for the moft part fetled towards the Weft, might not be neceffitated to Ferry over : but the firft place ftood much more conveniently, being not onely provided of a Fountain of fweet Water, butallo freed of thofe unwholfom Vapours which daily rife with the Sun at this new-built City. To prevent the inconvenience of croifing to the fore= mention'd Fountain, of which the Inhabitants found themfelves oftentimes in great want, Olanda went about to lead the neighboring River Hayna into the Ozama, but the Defign not being profecuted, bereav'd Domingo of the onely thing which would have made it able to ftand in competition with any City in the World; for it lies on a Plain, the South fide whereof is wafh'd by the Sea; the Eaft fide, by the River; on the North and Weft are many delightful Fields.

The City, which in a manner is built fquare, is divided into long fraight Streets, full of fair Houfes after the Spanijh manner: in the middle thereof is a fquare Market=place, with a handfom Church, the Yard whereof is encompals'd with a high Wall, which upon occafion would ferve for a place of great Defence.

The Collectors of the King of Spain's Revenue dwell in ftately Palaces; and the Dominicans, Francifcans, and Monks De la OMerced, have brave Cloyfters, befides two more for the Nuns.

The Latine School and Hofpital belonging to the City, are Endow'd with great yearly Revenues.

The Arch-bifhop of St. Domingo hath Command over the Bifhoprick of Concep-: tion, La Vega, Cuba, Venezuela, and Porto Rico.

The City is furrounded with a Stone Wall, and fortifid with a Caftle, which with two Bulwarks reaches to the River Ozama, and within them two HalfMoons.

On the utmoft Shore ftands a round Tower near the Southern Bulwark.
Before the new difcover'd Countreys entic'd away many People from St. Domingo, and the Silver Fleet put into Havana, the Inhabitants drove a great Trade in Hides, Tallow, Sugar, Caßia, Horfes, and Hogs.

Anno 1586. Sir Francis Drake Landed here with ewelve hundred Englifhomen, took the City by Storm, ftaid a whole Moneth in the fame, and upon Compofition with the Spaniard, left it undeftroy'd.
Other shief Towns of Rififaniola
Other chief Towns in Hispaniola are 1. Salvaleon, twenty eight Leagues diftant from St. Domingo, towards the Eaft.
2. Zeybo. 3. Cotny, formerly inhabited by thofe that work'd in the Gold. Mines; the laft efpecially was once a rich Town, and much frequented, but now in a manner deferted.
4. Azua, or New Compoftella, eight Leagues diftant from St. Domingo, famous for the Sugar-Mills not far from it, and one of the Ports beforemention'd.
5. Yaguana, for its brave Harbour allo call'd Maria del Puerto, in the more Weftern parts of the Ifland; a fmall Town not above a League diftant from the Sea; It was burnt by Captain Cbrifoopher Neipport.

6. Conception de la Vega, adorn'd with a Cathedral and Cloyfters of Fryers, and lying twenty or thirty Leagues Northward of St. Domingo: It was built by Columbus, and from thence he had his Tiele of Duke de la Vega.
7. Sant Jago de los Cavalleros, a very pleafant Place, ten Leagues Northward of St. Domingo.
8. Puerto de Plata, or The Silver Haven, four Leagues diftant from St. Domingo towards the North : It hath been counted the fecond Place of Trading and Wealth in the whole Illand, being commodioully feated on an Arm of the Sea; and fortifid with a Caftle.
9. Monte Chrifto, one of the Ports alfo above-mention'd : It lies fourteen Leagues Weftward of Plata, and extends it felf along the Northern Coaft: it is wafh'd by the River $Y_{a g u i}$, on whofe Banks are many Salt-pans.

All thofe Cities are much decay'd, and thinly inhabited, the Spaniards being moft of them drawn by the temptation of new difcover'd Gold and Silver Mines in other places, and the firft Inhabitants having been miferably deftroy' d . The $\mathrm{Bi}-$ fhop Delas Cafas, an Eye=witnefs, relates, That the King Gauccanarillo fecur'd the Goods of a franded Ship, of which Columbus was Commander, and receiv'd the Spa niards very courteoufly; but not being able to continue fupplying them with that quantity of Gold they requir'd, wanting Men to gather fo much out of the Streams and Mines, and feeing no way to rid himfelf from the Spaniards Oppreffions, fled to the Province of Ciguayos; the Cafique of which was his Deputy; whereat the Spae niards were fo enrag'd, that they burnt all that they could meet with, neither fparing young nor old; and at length taking Guaccanarillo, put him in Irons, and thought to have carried him to Madrid; but the Ship in which fe went fuffering Shipwrack, he with many others was caft away, being before almoft dead with grief for his Confort, who had been Ravifh'd by a Spanifh Commander. Likewife Anacoana, Sifter to the Cafique, or Governor of the Province Xarana, and Partner with him in the Government, feeing three hundred of her Councellors burning in a great Houfe, fet on fire by the Spaniards, and her Subjects torn by Dogs, or cut in pieces, hung her felf out of defpair. The fame Death died Hignanama, Queen of Huguey. Others fay that Anacoana was put to death together with her Brother in a moft barbarous and cruel manner, by Nicholas de Olanda, who fucceeded Diego de Arana in the Government of this Illand. Many Women and Children were kept alive onely to Manure the Ground. The Men dying of their hard Labour in the Gold-Mines, and thofe which endur'd ftoutly the cruel Labour under Ground, were never fuffer'd to go to their Wives; from whence proceeded a great decreafe of People, the Spaniards feeming purpofely to defign the deftruction of the Natives of $H_{i}$ pagniola, though they receiv'd great benefit by their Service; for Gold in former times was found between the Cracks and Split Srones of the Mountains, whofe Veins the Mine-workers digg'd for not without great and dangerous Labour.

The firft Planters of Hijpaniola are, according to the common opinion, deriv'd from Matinio, a high and Mountainous Ine, from whence the moft eminent Inhabitants were driven by certain Rebels, as formerly the Syrians under the Government of Dido, weredriven from Tyre to Lybia, and the Batavians from Heffen to the Coun. trey between Rbyne and Wall, at prefent inhabited by the Gelders and Hollanders. Thefe Matininoenfians thus expell'd from their native Countrey, fecled themfelves on Cabonao, near the River Bababoni: The firft Houfe they call'd Canoteia, and aftere wards turn'd it into a Temple, to which they fhew'd Reverence, and made great Prefents: In like manner the Tyema, which food on a high Rock belonging to one of the Candy Inlands, was by the antient Inhabitants of the Place had in great vene. ration, infomuch that many leap'd down from the fame, being perfwaded by the Priefts, That the Souls of thofe which threw themfelves off this facred Break-neck, fhould immediately be tranflated into a place of everlafting happinefs.

The antient

This Ifland was, as we faid before, firft call'd Haity, which fignifies Wild, bee caufe in many places it fwells with wondrous high Mountains, and in other places is over.grown with great Woods: it was afterwards by the antient Inhabitants nam'd $X u$ queia, that is, Unmeafurably great, becaufe they fuppos'd it to be the whole World, and that the Sun fhin'd in no other place.
Indian Songs or Ballads
The Natives of this Ifland, though wholly rude of acquir'd Knowledge or Liteor Ballads sature, like the generality of the Americans, yet they took care to inftruct their Chile dren in the Original and Antiquities of their Countrey, and the Wars and Exploits of their Predeceffors, both which they contain'd in Songs call'd Areitos, which they us'd to Sing to the found of Drums and Trumpets; but efpecially their Perfons of chiefeft Quality ftudy'd moft thefe Areitos, and exercis'd themfelves in Dancing.
Surarge Pree. phefie of things to come, which if of fad confequence, were Sung very mournfully and with many. Sighs ; nor were they always, however infpir'd, without effect, as appear'd at laft by woful event : for long before the Spaniards Landed on Hijpanioola, it was foretold by one of them, that Magiudicochios, fignifying Clothed People, fiould Land on Hijpaniola, who with Charp Weapons fhould cut off Heads and Arms, and under whofe infupportable Yoke their Succeffors muft fend their days without hope of ever being releas'd.

It might be difputed whether thefe Predictions were dicated by good or evil Spirits.; but it is generally believ'd, that all their Oracles, whether hapning true or falle, were fuggefted by diabolical Spirits to the Priefts, who commonly convers'd with them; and that thefe Spirits knew the Defign of feveral People to difcover new Countreys.

Their Images Zemes, ftuffd full of Cotton, were fafhion'd into very frightful Shapes, and might pafs for thofe things which we call Terricula, or Bugbears; of which fome were made very fmall, and thofe they ty'd on their Foreheads when they went to the Wars. Every Governor had a peculiar Zemes, to whom he fhew'd Reverence, in return whereof he expected Rain, fair Weather, and to conquer his Enemies, fuppofing him to be a Meffenger of a perpetual and endlefs Being, by them call'd focauna Guamaonocon; whom neverthelefs they fuppos'd to have a Mother, to whom they gave five Names, viz. Attbeir, Mamona, Guacarapita, Liella, and Guimazod.
The Inanders
Opinion of oprof

Their opinion of Man's Creation was thus: They fay, that out from a Moun: tain in the Province Cuanana, out of certain fmall and great Caverns therein, came little and great People: The biggeft Hole, call'd Cazibaragud, and the little one, nam'd Amaiauna, were faid to be lock'd up every Night, that none might pals the Sentinel Macbebael, who out of curiofity leaving the Mountain Cuata, and going up into the Countrey, was difcover'd by the Sun, whofe Beams he not being able to endure, was turn'd into a Rock. The like Mifchance hapned to many others, who in the dark Night going to Fifh, in the Morning at their Return were cliang'd into Oaken Trees, onely one of the Fifhermen was fent away by the chief Coinmander Vaguoniana, who moved at the Complaint of a Nightingale's Singing, fuffer'd all the Men to go into the Hole, and the Women and Children he I'ran fported to Matinino. But to make fliort of thefe non-fenfical Stories, in conclafion, the Men being let out of their Caves, faw many ftrange Beafts arriong fethe Woods, which being turn'd into Women, were encertain'd by them, and brought forch a numerous Progehy, which fpread over all Hispaniota.

No lefs ridiculous an Account do the Priefts give concerning the Original of Thiri foolifh Pumpion, which fome Moneths after, out of meer affection tothe Deceafed, he cut. ting open, abundance of Whales fprung out of it. This Woonder being every where known, amongft others, entic'd four Brothers born at one Birth (whofe Mother died in Childbedj to get the Pumpion into their poffeffion; which their Defign prov'd fuccefsful : but afterwards ftruck with a pännick féar of faia's coming thid thither (who oftentimes came to mourn over the Bones of his dead Son) they fled, and threw away the Pumpion, which breaking with the fall, the Sea gufh'd out of all places thereof, and cover'd the Plains in fuch a manner, that nothing of them was feen, onely, the tops of the higheft Mountains appear'd; at which the four Brothers terribly afrighted, rang'd through barren Defarts, in which they had died of Hunger, had they not come to a Baker's Houife, which one of them entring, ask'd for Cazabi; but the Baker denying them Bread, Spit on them, which caus'd a mortal Dropfie, which the Brothers upon confultation found no way to cure, but by cutting a hole in the Skin with a flarp Stone, and to let out the Water; but out of each running Wound fprung a Woman, who bare them four Sons and four Daughters.

There is a certain Cave call'd fovana-beira, which is adorn'd with a thoufand $\begin{gathered}\text { The Care } \\ 7 \text { urunase }\end{gathered}$ Pictures, in great efteem amonght them; at the Entrance on each fide whereof firinad ftands a Zemes; that on the right fide is call'd Binthaitelles, the other Marobur, to which they come from all places to pay their Devotions, becaufe (they fay) the Sun and Moon came out of the faid Cave to lighten the World.

Much after the fame abfurd rate is their Opinion of the Deceafed; for they fup- ${ }^{-}$Their atard Opind $^{2}$ pofe that they range through Woods and Forrefts in the Night, eat of a Fruit call'd Guannabd, and fteal to the Embraces of Women in Moon-fhiny Nights. A Tra. veller, fay they, if he be frighted at the appearance of a deceafed Perfon; great in. conveniences will certainly attend him, but if he goes ftoutly towardsit, then the Goblin vanifhes.

Thefe Delufions are made great Myfteries amongft them, and contain'd in Songs, which their Priefts Boiti Sing to a kind of Tabor made of a piece of hollow Wood, pretending that they have familiar Converfation with the Zemes concerning future things.

Their Ceremonies about their fick, efpecially if Perfons of Quality, are like wife very remarkably odd and conceited: Firft they chew a ftrong kind of Herb, call'd Cohobba, with which having fufficiently intoxicated their Brains, they foam at the Mouth, and run with a Stone and a piece of Flefly in their Mouths to the fick Perfon, whofe Family they drive all out of Doors, except one or two, whofe preo fence the Patient requires ; then the Boiti walks four times about the fick Perfon's Bed, making Atrange Geftures, pinching his Lips and Nofe, blowing upon his Forehead, Throat and Temples, and fucking feveral parts of his Body, alledging, that thereby he draws the Diftemper out of the Veins; after: that he chafes and rubs his Shoulders, Thighs and Legs, and ties his Hands and Feet. together, then running to the Door, proclaims, That the Sick in a fhort time fhall bereftor'd to his former Health; which faid, he returns with his Arms ftretch'd out towards the fick Perfon, takes the piece of Flefh out of his Mouth, which he gives him backwards, faying, You fhall rife and go fortb in Health, for I bave taken away your Sicknefs: But if he judges the Diftemper not curable, he makes the Sick believe, that $Z$ :mes is difpleas'd with him, becaufe he did not build a Houfe for him, or confecrate a Garden to him, or in fome refpect or other did not worfhip him as he ought to have done. When the Soul departs out of the Body, they conjure the Body with many Adjurations, to reveal whether it died according to God's decree, or through negleat of the Boiti, as not having fanctifid himfelf enough by Fafting when he went firft to the Sick, or not prefcrib'd fufficient Medicines: wherêfore if (as chey fay) the Devil anfwers them from the Mouth of the Deceafed, that the Boiti did not perform his due Office, then the neareft Friends revenge themfelves on the Boiti, but if otherwife, then they are highly efteem'd amongft them. The Women taking the Stones which the Boiti kept in his Mouth, wrap them up in a fine Cloth as a holy Relique, fuppofing that they will much facilitate their Child birth.

Manner of Succeflion.

The Cafiques defirous to know future Events of War, or whether the approaching Years will be fruitful, go into a Chappel confecrated to the Zemes, and fnuff the intoxicating Herb Cobobba up their Noftrils; whereupon they break out into loud Exclamations, and fome kind of frange extravagant Actions, till the power of the Cobobba begins to decay, and the Frenzie ceafe ; then coming again to their Senfes, they bow their Heads, and lay their Elbows on their Knees, in which pofture they fit for a confiderable time, then lifting up their Eyes they yawn as if they they came from fleep; then they mutter to themfelves whileft their Retinue which ftand about them (for no common Perfon is fuffer'd to be there) thank them with 2 loud Voice, for the pains they have been at in difcourfing with the Zemes; then the Cafiques begin to declare what hath been reveal'd to them, viz. whether they Chall be fortunate in the Wars or not; whether it will be a fruitful or unfruitful, healthy or fickly Year.

Moreover, at the Birth of the Cafique's Children, the neighboring Governors vifit the Women in Child-bed, and every one gives the Child a peculiar Name, from whence it happens that one Man hath oftentimes forty Names, and is highly in. cens'd if any one of them chances to be forgot in any Writing directed to him.
Their manner of Succeffion in Government is not unremarkable; for not the eldeft Heir-male of the Family, but firft the King of Cafique's Brother; if he have any, and after his Deceafe the eldeft of the Sifters Inherits the Realm or Séigniorie: if the Sifters have no Male-iffue, then the Brothers Sons Inherit; and in cafe they have no Male-heir, then the next of Blood, whether Male or Female : but if the Prince or Cafique dies without Children, Nephews, or other near Relations, the next in Power in the Countrey Inherits, and Marries as many Wives as he pleafes; of which the that he loves beft is burn'd alive in her beft Apparel with her Husband when he dies, and near the Corps ftands a Cup of Water and fome of the Bread Cazabi.

There are feveral Languages in Hipaniiola, but differing from each other: for in the Province Bainoa they have a different, both Pronunciation and Dialect from that in Caizimu.

In the faid Province of Caizimu is a very remarkable Rock, or vaft Stone to be feen, at the Foot of a high Mountain ; and underneath the faid Stone is a great Cave, into which they go through'a large Paffage, not unlike a Temple Door; near which conjoyn many deep Rivers, with fuch a Noife and Foam, that they lofe both their Sight and Hearing, whoever approach the fame.
An Example of the Beinhe-
On Of the Language of the Province Bainoa, Peter Martyr gives us this Specimen: on tung angange. "The Wife of a Cafique (fayshe) went to Prayers in a Chappel which was buile by "the Spaniards; at her Return from whence her Husband defiring to enjoy her, "fhe refufing, faid, Teitocd, teitoca, techeta Cynato guammechina, that is to fay, Be co:ro

Since the Spaniards had firft poffeffion of this Ifland, it hath been twice Invaded by the Englijh, the firft time under the Condict of Sir Francis Drake, who took the mingoby Sir $\begin{gathered}\text { Erae. Drre. }\end{gathered}$ Town of San Domingo, ftaid in it a good while, and could if he had pleas'd, have totally difpoffefs'd the Spaniards; the fecond time under Colonel Venables, fent thither by Oliver Cromvell during his ufurp'd Dominion; at which time it might as eafily have been taken as at firf, had not the Bufinefs been rafhly and indifcreetly manag'd, as fhall prefently be declar'd more at large. The firft Expedition of Sir Francis Drake hath been already hinted, but for the memorablenefs of that bold Exploit, we fhall give a particular Account of it from a late Writer, who hath fet forth the Life of that brave Englijh Heroe. In the Year of our Lord 1580. about the end of February fetting Sail from St. Chrifoopbers for Hispaniola, by the Way they met with a fmall Frigat bound for San Domingo, and the Men of her being Examin'd, one affur'd them that the Haven of it was a barr'd Haven, and the Shore well fortifi'd, fo that there was no convenient Landing within ten Englifh Miles of the City, whither this Man undertook to conduct them. January the firfthey Landed ten Miles from the City, and marching thither under the Command of the Lieutenant General, arriv'd about one a Clock in the Afternoon; when they came near, about a hundred and fifty Gentlemen well Mounted, prefented themfelves againft them; but the fmall Shot playing upon them, they departed, and the Englifh pro. ceeded towards the two Gates of the City that lay towards the Sea, both which the Spaniards had Mann'd, and planted their Ordnance without the Gates, and fome fmall Shot in an Ambufh by the Way-fide : The Englijh being about twelve hun= dred Men, divided themfelves; the Lieutenant-Generalleading the one half to one Gate, and Captain Powel the other half to the other Gate, vowing that with God's affiftance they would not reft till they met in the Market-place: No fooner had the Spaniards difcharg'd their Ordnance, doing fome little Execution, but the Lieute. nant-General hafted, or rather ran upon them, to prevent their Charging again, and notwithftanding their Ambufh, entred Pell Mell with them into the Gate, not ftaying till he came into the Market-place, unto whom fhortly after came Captain Powel with his Companies. This Place they frengthned with Barricado's, the City being too large to be guarded by fo fmall and weary an Army. And afeer Mid-night they in the Caftle, hearing fome of the Englijh bufie about the Gate, quitted it, fome being taken Prifoners, and others efcaping by Boats. The next day the Enclifh enlarg'd their Quarters, and fortifid themfelves, and held the Town for a Moneths fpace. During this time the General fent a Negro Boy with a Flag of Truce to the Spaniards, who by the Way was met by fome Officers of the Galley which the Englifh had taken, together with the City, who furioufly thruft the poor Boy through the Body; who returning to the General, and having declar'd how barbarounly they had us'd him, fell down and died in his Prefence. The General being much mov'd herewith, commanded the Provoft-Martial to take two Fryers, and to carry them to the fame place with a fufficient Guard, and there to hang them; and withal he fent one of the Prifoners to inform the Spaniards why he did it, and to tell them, that till the Party who had thus murder'd his Meffenger were deliver'd to him, there fhould no day pafs wherein he would not hang two Prifoners, till all were confum'd. Hereupon the day following the Murtherer was brought, and an Offer made to deliver him to the General, who yet thought it more honorable to make them perform the Execution themfelves in the fight of the Englijh, which was done accordingly.

During their abode here, Commiffioners oft pafs'd between the Spaniards and them about the Ranfom of the City, but not agreeing, the Englifh fpent every Morning till the heat of the Day in firing and deftroying the Houfes in the outward part of the City, two hundred Mariners being employ'd therein for divers days; yet were the Houfes built fo magnificently and ftrongly of Stone, that they could not confume one third part of the Town all that time; whereupon the Ge neral was contented to accept of twenty five thoufand Ducats of 5 s .6 d , apiece to Spare the reft.

Here his Soldiers met with good Pillage, efpecially of rich Apparel, but Treafure they found none; for the Spaniards by their Cruelties had fo deftroy'd the Natives, who us'd to work in the Mines of Gold and Silver, that they were wholly given over; and in that Ifland they were forc'd to ufe Copper Money : yet they found fore of Wine, Oyl, Vinegar, Wheat, Woollen and Linnen Cloth, fome Silks, occ. which much reliev'd them : there was but little Plate found, but good ftore of Porcelane, or China Difhes; yet fome they found, and very coftly Houfs hold-ftuff.

Venables his Expedition was in the Year 1654: when Cromwell having gain'd the fupream Power under the Title of Protector, and having us'd fo many Engines for the getting of Money to maintain his Greatnefs and ufurp'd Authority, that he was almoft brought to his laft Shifts, bethought himfelf of this Project, (or; as fome fuppofe, had it put into his Head by Cardinal Mazarine, the then great Minifter of State in France, with whom he had intimate Correfpondence) thinking thereby to kill two Birds with one Stone: for on the one fide, he thought by this notable Exploit to advance his Fame abroad, and gain Credit and Applaufe with the People at home, by enlarging his Empire, and Spreading the Renown of the Englifh Nation, and fo confequently to eftablifh himfelf the more firmly in his new gotten Power; and at the fame time by the great Riches he promis'd to himfelf from this Adventure, to recruit his Stock, which all his griping Exactions, efpecially from the King's Party, could fcarce fupply for the keeping up of his Army, maintaining Intelligence,and other vaft Expences: To this end he fets forth a confiderable Fleet with extraordinary fpeed and fecrecy, it not being known whither this Fleet was defign'd till they were almoft upon the very Place, that the Spaniard might not be forewarn'd to provide againft them; onely in general terms it was given out, that the Defign was both advantageous to the Nation, and would prove a great enrichmentto all that went upon it; fothat it is no great wonder, if within 2 fhort fpace a good competent Army was got together of fuch as having neither Eftates nor Employments, willingly offer'd themfelves, as Men that went from the fear of Iron Grates, to the hopes of Golden Ingots; and many of them were fuch as having been in the late King's Army, and difdaining to take any Employment at home under that Government, were eafily induc'd to Lift themfelves in this Armada: nor was Oliver a little glad of this occafion of fending out of the Land, and employ. ing upon a defperate Adventure thofe Men, who he had reafon to fufpeet would, upon any opportunity offer'd, be the firft Oppofers of his ufurp'd Power. This Army being fent to Port/mouth for Embarquation, and there making fuch Preparations as was convenient, which a Moneths time or thereabouts was thought would accomplifh, a Meffenger came from Desborough (who was there to fet them going) to the General, that he fhould prepare to Embarque on Chriftmas-day; which at the firft the General receiv'd with great impatience, alledging, That it was not poffible fo to do, and that he would not fet Sail without hris Arms and other Neceffaries, which were not yet come from London: however, at his going to Desborongh he was prevail'd upon to fet Sail, with a promife that the Ships with the Arms fhould immediately follow him to the Barbado's, where he was to ftay till their arrival; fo on Cbriftmas day they fer Sail, and about the fourteenth of February arriv'd at Barbado's with three thoufand Men, and a Company of Reformado's, which there. were doubled, and then, and not till then, it was told them, That the reafon of their fo fudden going away, was becaufe there was a Plot forming in England for refos ring the King, and that they were not thought fit to be left there at the Head of their Regiments, to be tempted with the advantage of joyning with any fuch Party. At Barbado's they ftaid till they had almoft undone that Place by cating up their Pro* vifions, the Planters there feldom preparing morethan they have occafion to fpend in their Houfes, and for their Servants (having better and more profitable Employa ments upon their Hands) and the Soldiers not being content with fuch Provifions as their Servants would be well pleas'd with, fo that they were in danger of ftarving the Ifland and themfelves too: Thereupon a Council of Wat was call'd, and the neceffity of leaving that Ifland declar'd, and Orders iffu'd out to fet Sail for Hijpaniola, where they might make fuch Attempt as their Condition would allow; wanting Arms and other Neceffaries; when they came within five or fix Leagues of Hijpaniola the Fleet lay by, and a Council of War was call'd by the Commiffioners (for fuch they had who were never Soldiers) with fome few Officers of the Army, where it was refolv'd to attempt San Domingo, and an Order made, That in cafe it be taken, no Soldier fhould offer to Plunder, but that fatisfaction in lieu thercof flould be given by the Commiffioners; the Officers of the Army in vain oppofing and protefting againft it, which occafion'd the Soldiers to fay, That the Commiffioners fhould take the Town themfelves, for they would not; Lots were there drawn by the feveral Colonels who fhould firf Land, which fell upon the Black Regiment, who had no Arms but Half-pikes of eight Foot long, made of Cabbage-Tree in the Barbado's; And Orders were then given out to the feveral Colonels to Land at the River Hind, within two Leagues of San Domingo ; fo they. fteer'd their Courfe thither, as was thought, by Night, but the next Morning found themfelves twenty Leagues at leaft from the place of Rendezvouz, though one Regiment Landed there, who durf not attempt the Town for want of Orders, though doubtlefs they might have taken it, had they not ftaid in expectation of the General and the reft of the Flect; but when they were thus caft Leeward of the Town, they muft Land their Men, who no fooner went on Shore, but the Order againft Plundering was read, and the Soldiers in a Mutiny to whom it was sead, which made the reft forbear to read it, judging it notime now to difoblige them, who liad in their Officers opinion too juft a caufe of difcontent: However this was made known to the reft, and difcours'd as they march'd, That they had not thought to be under a Committee here, but they would make them weary of their Employment ere they had done: And this indeed was enough, befides the faintnefs and unufual Heat of the Countrey, to difanimate Men of good Refolutions, efpecially the ordinary Soldiers, whofe hopes of Plunder is the chiefeft prop to their Courage, and exected Gain the Spurr to their Valour. After they had Landed their Men, next Morning early they march'd towards San Domingo; but before Noon the Heat and Drouight which they felt made them fenfible of their firf Errour and Inadvertency, in coming from England without their Neceffaries; for through want of Bottles; which were left behind, and came not till three Moneths afterwaids, the Men fell down dead in the High-ways, every one fainting and languifhing, and crying out for Water: fhortly after they met with a Field of Oranges, which was no unwelcome fight, with which they Atpr'd themfelyes; but ere they fiad marcth'd four or five Miles thought they had quench'd their prefent Thirf, and their Drought began to increale however, they march'd on, leaving fome of their Men dead on the place, others fainting, were fet upon the Troopers Horfes till they came that Night to fome Water, which gave them neiv life, and the Morrow early march'd again till they came within fome Miles of the appointed Rendezvouz, where they heard of the other Regiment that Landed at the right place: And now having refrefh'd themfelves with Reft, Water, and Provifion, they march'd to the taking of the Town; the General himfelf, with a fmall Party and a Guide, went towards the Town to find out fome Water, which he knew the Soldiers would want, (not having Bottles to carry any) but as they were on their March, which was very leifurely by reafon of the Heat, they heard a firing of Mufquets, then making more fpeed in their March, fuppofing an Engagement, in the Highway, about a Mile from the Town, was found one of the General's Secretaries, with others, dead; and not long after fome came back to the General, and told him, That looking for Water with the Guide, an Ambufcade iffu'd out, and had kill'd the Guide that fhould have fhew'd them the place of Water, and fome others; and although fome which Commanded the foremoft Regiments were very forward and willing to affaule the Town, yet it was not thought-fit fo to do till the Army came up, by which time it was Night ; and though they were then within half a Mile of the Town, yet the Soldiers were fo impatient for Water, that they could not ftay till the next Morning to affault the Town, but were forc'd to march back to the River Hind about eight Miles; (and this Relater did at that time drink his own Water) there they faid till they had again refrefh'd themfelves, and then prepar'd for their Return to attaque the Town; and notwithftanding the March ir felf in a hot Countrey was irkfom enough, yet they were forc'd to make the Soldiers to draw the Ordnancee and other Carriages for want of Harnefs and other Neceffaries, which were left behind; however, they willingly underwent it by Turns: And now a Forlorn was drawn out, and other Orders given for a March, efpecially it being taken notice of, that the Enemies manner of Fight was and would be by Ambufcades, a File in every Company were order'd to ftand till the other came up, and to face to the Right and Left to the Woods, which were all along as they went, for fear of a Surprize ; and the Forlorn marching near an old Fort, call'd feronymo, which we had been poffefs'd of before, but thought not worth the keeping, and fearing they might meet with fome fmall oppofition there, began to fortifie themfelves, and took a Dram of the Bottle, which as they were drinking, and others eating a bit, fuddenly rufh'd forth an Ambufh of about a hundred and twenty Blacks, with a Spanifh Commander in the Head of them, which fo amaz'd and furpriz'd them, that fome few onely Difcharging, the reft immediately fled; the Blacks quickly falling in with their Lances, and doing fuch Execution as the time would allow them; for prefently the Alarm being taken, and Supplies marching out for their relief, the Enemy, who had done more than they could poffibly expect to have done, retreated into their Fort, which they had better fortifid than before, and had planted fome fmall Drakes there upon it; the Execution was fo fhort, that they had not time either to frip or pick a Pocker, left they had paid too dear for it. After this Defeat a Council of war was call'd, and there it was agreed the next Morning early to fall on upon that little Fort, and fo proceed to the taking of the Town; but very early, as they were in that expectation, Orders came from the General to the Army to march back to the River Hind, for what reafon this Relator (though a confiderable Perfon) never yet knew ; where after they tiad flaid fome ${ }^{\text {time, that }}$ Mifcarriage was queftion'd at a Council of War, and one of the chief officers of the Forlorn order'd to have his Sword broke over his Head, with other difgraceful Impofitions, and two Colonels of the Army were order'd to draw up the Caufes of this Mifcarriage to fend to England; which, becaufe 'twas thought would too much reflect on them in Power that were to fupply them, was by thofe Colonels judg'd inconvenient, and fo 'twas never done. The number of Men loft by Stragling, Sicknefs, and this unhappy Engagement, amounted in the whole to about two hundred and thirty. In a fhort time after this, it was order'd to Ship the Men; which done, after fome Debates amongtt the Commiffioners what was beft to be done, Provifions nor Utenfils yet coming fit for the Defign intended, which was to poffers fome confiderable Place in the Main, it was agreed, That they fhould fteer their Courfe for the Illand offamaica; which they did accordingly, and on the tenth day of May 1654, with little oppofition poffefs'd it : where the fame Soldiers have fhew'd not onely fuch Courage and Refolution upon all occafions, (in many and frequent Encounters and Invafions made by the Spaniards, not onely with Soldiers of thofe Parts, but fuch as have been fent from Spain, Naples, Catalonia, and other Places) as might fpeak them Englifh-men, but fuch hath been their Patience and Sufferance, as none of this Nation in the memory of Man have ever been put to, the Effects whereof their King and Countrey, 'ris hop'd, will have occafion to remember, to their immortal Honor and Renown.

Hijpaniola is furrounded with feveral other Inles, as I. Eaftward appears Saona, full of pleafant Woods and Paftures, with Cattel feeding on them : in former times it produc'd much Cazabi for the City Domingo; but fince the Spaniards murder'd all the Inhabitants Anno 1502. it hath never been inhabited. 2. The Rocky Shelf St. Catalina. 3. Abaque. 4. Navaza. 5. Guanabo. 6. Tortuga, abounding in Hogs. and 7. Beata, famous for the excellent fpeckled Wood which grows there, and a fwift River, which oftentimes detains the Ships there whole Moneths.

Porto Rico, and Monico.

ANother of thofe call'd The Ifles of Barlovento, is Boriquen, anciently fo nam'd, Bounds and but now more generally Porto Rico, from St. Juan de Porto Rico, Its chief Town, Perto Riso is an Iland fifteen Leagues diftant from Santa Crux, to the North-Weft, and about as many from Hippaniola to the South-Eaft, but from the Continent or main Land of Paria (which feems to be the neareft) a hundred and thirty, or a hun. dred thirty fix, as fome reckon. It lieth almoft in a quadrangular Form, being fuppos'd to contain about thirty Leagues in length, and not lefs than twenty in breadth, in eighteen and nineteen Degrees of Northern Latitude.

The Ifland on the North, which is lefs fruitful than the South part, produces -Gold, and is generally water'd with many Rivers. There is alfo Silver, Tin, Lead, Quickfilver, and Azure, us'd by Painters. The Rain generally falls there between May and Auguft. A little before, or in the begisning of Harveft, the Hurricanes breaking forth from the Clouds, rage in fuch a manner, that is is impolfible for any Ships to endure the Sea, and a Northern Blaft generally doth great damage to the Plants here.
Ten Leagues towards the Southe Eaff beyond Porto Rico, appears Sierrad del Lo- Siurra dut

quillo, being a continu'd Ridge of Mountains which runs through the whole Illand from Eaft to Weft, extending both ways to the very Sea-fhore.

Twenty three Rivers difcharge their Waters alfo into the Ocean ; amongf which the chiefeft is Cairabon, particularly noted for ten Sugar-Mills which are erected upon its Banks.

The Hills, Plains, and Valleys, 'are invefted with variety of Trees peculiar to this place, as Tabunuco, which affords a medicinal Gum, good againft Lamenefs, and green Wounds : it is alfo of great ufe to preferve a Ship's Keel from the Worms.

Another Tree call'd Maga, is everlafting Wood, and bears a great Flower like a Rofe.

The Leaves of the Higillo. Pintado-Tree cures all manner of Bruifes.
The fame power is alfo in the little Tree Sancta Maria; as likewife in another by the Spaniards call'd Balfamo.

The Body of the Tree Zoyla is fo thick, that fifteen Men holding Hands together, cannot encompars the fame.

The feeckled Wood, and Caßia Fiftula grow alfo here in great abundance.

The poifon ous Apple:

The Tre Guiaba.

Here is likewife Apple.Trees, which grow by Rivers fides, or on the Sea-fhore, whofe Fruit is rank Poyfon, and who-everfleeps under the fhadow of them, will certainly be Lame : The Fruit eaten generally caufes Death; or if Nature be fo ftrong in him that eats of it, to overcome the fame, yet he is certain to lofe his Hair.
As hurtful is the prickly Herb Quibey, which bears white Flowers like Violets. But this Inland receives the greateft prejudice by the Tree Guaiaba, becaufe it grows in moft place's, and over-runs Plains and Hills, fo fpoiling all the Grafs, be tween which and the fore-mention'd Tree there is fuch an antipathy, that none will grow near it. The Tree bears a brown Apple full of Kernels, which are eaten by Beafts and Fowls, and from which falling on the Ground when ripe, grow up in new Trees, which makes the Countrey a meer Wildernefs: The Body of it is fmooth and of a pale colour, the Leaves hard, and glittering, and grow two and two two over one another; the Flowers have alfo five Leaves, in the middle of which rifes a Crown like that on a Peacock's Head: The Fruit, which is cover'd with a foft Doun, and Comewhat longer than the European Apple, when cut through, harh a pale red Pulp, full of eatable Kernels : before it is ripe, it is of a fharp tafte; yer good boyl'd, but when ripe, of a mof delicious and plealant rellifh; neverthe. lefs too much of it caules a Lask: The Roots, which are red without, and white within, are juicy, fivect, and very long, the Leaves fallow and fowre of tafte.

Amongft the ftrange Beafts the favaris, Opafum, and Tatow are the moft remark- The pain able. The favaris are taken for a fort of wild Hogs, and have fhort Ears and a Navel on their Backs; litele Tails, fome black, and fome fpotted white.

The Opaffum is as big as a Cat, hath a fharp Mouth; the upper Jaw-bone hanging Tbe opadpum over the lower, long, traight, and broad Ears, and a very long Tail, bald at the end, which winds in a Circle; on its Back black Hair fprinkled with grey Spots, and with its fliarp Claws climibs up the Trees, where it feeds on Fruir, and fometimes preys on Fowls. Nature harh furnifh'd this Beaft with a ftrange Bag under its Belly, whereof the in-fide hath a far fofter Doun than the out-fide, in which the young ones lie and fuck, after which the Bag opening, they creep out upon the Ground. The Males have allo a Bag, which ferves onely to carry their Young in, for they and the Females carry them by turns.

The Tatoon, which is arm'd with, fharp Scales, hath the Mouth of a Hog, and at The Xatom. each Foot five fharp Nails : when it is Hunted, or goes to neep in the Night, it draws its Head, Legs and Tail under its fcaly Coat of Mail, like a Tortoife, and in that manner lies fecure againft all manner of danger.

The Venifon taken here is very delicate, but difficult to be got; for this Beaft having a breathing.place in its Back, never tires with running, and when encompals'd by the Dogs, falls valiantly on thofe that are neareft to it, and often tears them in pieces.

The chief Towns in this Inand, are I. Porto Rico it felf, commonly call'd $\begin{gathered}\text { chif fonns } \\ \text { and citios }\end{gathered}$ St. Foln de Porto Rico (fo term'd by Chrifopher Columbis, as being the firft Land difover'd by him in the Year I493. at that time when he could not perfwade his Sea. men, wearied out with continual hardfhip, from returning, if they difcover'd not Land in two days) a ftrong and neat Town, built by the Command of Pbilip the Second, King of Spain: It was attempted by Sir Francis Drake in the Year 1595: without fuccefs, but a few years after taken by the Earl of Cumberland:
2. St. Germans, in the Weft part of the Inand, three or four Leagues diftant from the Sea.
3. Arrecibo, Weftward from Porto Rico, where the moft rooted Haven is of thofe Parts, for all the ochers are full of Rocks and Sands:

The antient Inhabitants of this Ifland maintain'd continual Wats with the Cannibals (probably the Natives of the Iflands lo call'd) who us'd every year to come thither: thofe that were conquer'd, as well of the one fide as of the other, were eaten by the Conquerors, fo that in effect, both fides were but a different fort of Cannibals.

Columbus Landing here, found a great Houfe furrounded with twelve others, bue all of them empty and defolate.

This ifland (which formerly is faid to have been under the abfolute Power of one fole King) the Spaniards not much regarded at firft, having enough to do with Hijpaniola, where they found more Gold than on Porto Rico.

Anno 1510. Fohn Ponce de Leon obtain'd a Commiffion from the Court of Spain, to of of suiding be chief Governor of this Ifland, and built Cdparra; which Place was inhabited mant.
twelve years, notwithfanding it ftood behind a feraggy Mountain, in a defart place far up in the Countrey ; but their thirft after Gold, of which fome Veins were difcover'd there, made them difpence with all other inconveniences: yet at laft beginning to be weary of this defolate and barren place of Settlement, they remov'd 'to Guanica, water'd by many Rivers, whofe Sands had great quantities of Goldduft. Not faying long there, they went four Leagues farcher, and call'd their new Plantation Soto Major. Laftly, returning again, they fetled themfelves in the former Valley Guanica, and built the foreomention'd Town St. Germans by the River Guaorabo, which makes an inconvenient Haven.

The Siruation, Deicripation. and Inan de Por$t$ R Rice.

The Cafique rugnarn's Experiment.

Fuan de. Porto Rico ftands Eaft ward at the beginning of the North Coaft, on a fmall Peninfula, joyn'd to the Ifland by an high Ifthmus call'd Puente de Aguilar. Near the Mouth of the Haven lies on a rifing Hill the Fort Morro Empinado, built triangular by Joln de Texila and Baptifa Antonelli (who alfo planted there forty Guns), and furrounded with the Sea, which renders it a well fortifid place. The Governor Diego Mendez de Valdez had in it fifteen hundred Men and eighty Horfes, when the fore. mention'd valiant Duke of Cumberland with a far lefs number fell upon him in the Year 1597. and not onely took the City Porto Rico, but feveral other Fortifications; and befides an invaluable mafs of Treafure he carried away eighty Guns. Sometime before this Defeat the Spaniards under the Government of Chrifopher, Son to the Portuo guefe Duke of Camigna, were Invaded by the Cannibals, and all that were then upon the place utterly deftroy'd, none of them efcaping but the Bifhop and his Ser. vants, who betimes fled away with the Church Ornamenss; fo that the Inanders from that time were put out of doubt that the Spaniards were mortal, for they fup. pos'd them immortal when firft they faw their great Ships, and heard the noife of their thundering Cannon.

Hugb Linfchot relates, That the Cafique Yaguara threw a Spaniard into the Water,' to try whether he would drown or not, and feeing him wholly depriv'd of Life, he concluded by confequence that the reft of them were mortal, and thereupon he fet upon them when they were feeking for Gold, and kill'd above a hundred and fifty, of them.

Peter Martyr relates farther, That thefe People, though very expert in Arms, yet were oftentimes beaten by the Cannibals, who at one time carried above five thoufand People out of Parto Rico for their Winter Provifions.
The Avarice and Cruelty of the Spaniards.

Ceremonies
of the old Natives. Nōr was their Condition better'd after the Spaniards conquer'd the Ifland, for thofe that could not furnifh them with Gold, were certain of Death : Nor were their Cruelties in other places undivulg'd to this People before their Arrival; whereupon (as is related by Peter Ordonnez de (arellos) the Cafique 'Hatvey being inform'd of the Spaniards Approach, took an Oath from his Subjects, That they fhould never difcover where the Gold lay, though they fhould be put to death for it; For (faid he) Gold is their God, for which they make fo many curfed Blood-baths where-ever they come; therefore throw the Gold into fome very deep Waters, for when the Spanifh God is funk, the Spaniards will lofe tbeir Courage, and not plague us fo much for it.

Many were the Idolatrous Ceremonies of the old Natives of this Place, which would be too tedious to relate ; but amongft the reft, they annually kept a great Feaft, at which the Cafiques fummon'd all their Subjects to a Temple appointed for that purpofe, where the Priefts had prepar'd an Idol ready fet forth in all its Pageantry ; near which the Cafique plac'd himfelf, when upon the beating of a Drum all the Commonalty camealfo into the Temple ; the Men painted with divers Colours, having on their Heads Plumes of Feathers, about their Necks, Legs, and Arms, Strings of Sea-fhells. The Married Women had a light Covering abous their Middle, but the Maids went ftark naked, all of them Dancing and Singing Songs in praife of the Idol; after which having faluted the Cafique, they thruft little Sticks down their Throats, fo to bring upall they had upon their Stomachs; which done, and fitting down with their Legs under them, they began to Sing anew, often bowing and Chewing Reverence to the Cafique; whileft fome Womer carried Baskets of Bread amongft thofe that Sang, and utter'd certain Prayers, whicli were anfwer'd by fome of the Men; the Bread being blefs'd by the Priefts, they gave every one a piece, with which they return'd home very merry and jocund.
But the God of this Inland, whoever he was, hath been a long time left without Worfhippers; for thofe that were left by the Invading Cannibals, were cruelly maffacred by the Spaniards, infomuch that they have been thereby neceffio tated to furnifh themfelves with Negro's to work in their Mines and SugareMills; and thefe alfo not able to endure fuch hard Entertainment, ran moft of them away; for when a $\mathcal{N e g r o}$ did not bring Gold enough homeat Night, his Mafter tying him naked to a Stake or Poft, and beat him with Rods or Switches fo long, till the Blood ran down his Back, then pour'd boyling Oyl into the Wounds, and then threw Pepper and Salt into them, and fo let him lie, or elfe put hini into a Pit, out of which his Head appear'd onely. But thofe that fled gathering together, fometimes met with the Spaniards, and paid them in their own Coin.

EAftward of Porto Rico, and betwixt it and Hifpaniola, there lieth a litele, but The Inands fruitful Illand call'd Mona; and Weftward of that, another call'd Monico, or Asenice. Monetta; which laft the Englifh; when time was, found fo admirably for'd with a fort of wild Fowl, that the huge Flights of them feem'd to darken the Air over their Heads, and upon their Landing found fuch plenty of their Eggs upon the Shore and Ground thereabouts, that they prefently laded two of their Boats with them. But how peopled or poffefs'd, not fo well known.

Cuba.

VVEftward, or rather to the North-Weft of Hifpaniola, lietli Cuba, ac- The Eereral counted one of the four Illes of Barlovento, and by Columbus, upon his cubte. firft Difcovery, call'd foanna, afterwards Fernandina, then Atpha and Omega, till at laft the prefent Name prevail'd; it is parted from the other by a Frith, or natrow Channel, which runneth betwixt the Capes of St. Nicholas, be= longing to Hijpaniola, and that call'd Mayzi, belonging to Cuba: On the North it tis Boundso hath a Frie of little Iflands call'd The Leucaye Iflands, of which more in their propet place, fo many and fo thick fcatter'd, that they ferve for no fmall Security and Defence of the Ifland on that fide; befides, a part of the Peninfula of Floridd, which Coafteth it likewife Northward; on the Weft it hath the Countrey of fucatan, which is part of the Continent, but at a diftance of forty or fifty Leagues; and on the South, Jamaica. It is reckon'd to be in length from Cape Mayzi, which looks towards Hijpaniola to the Cape of St. Anthony, which is upon the Bay of Mexico, two hundred and thirty Leagues; but in breadth in forme places not above fifteen or fix. teen Leagues over; in the broadeft place from fardines to Lucanaca, not above forty, in others fixty five. But for fertility of Soil, contending with Hifpaniola it felf, and for temperature and healthinefs of Air, much exceeding it; nor lefs rich formerly in good Mines both of Gold and Silver, and plentifully for'd at prefent, not onely with Sugar-Canes of the beft Growth, but likewife with abundance of GingerRoots, Cafia-Fiftula, Maftick, Aloes, Cinamon, Long-Pepper of America, as they call it, and divers other forts of Spices. The Paftures no lefs abounding with Cattel of all forts, efpecially of European Breed; the Rivers and Coafts of the Sea with good Fifh; no fcarcity of Fowl, whether wild or tame; good Brafs and Iron ftill found, with fome Gold in the Rivers, efpecially thofe, which fall into the Bay Xagud on the South fide of the Illand; the chiefeft thereof are Arimio, La Luna, De Mares, and Cauto; the biggeft of them falls Southward into the Sea; all of them breed ftore of Crocodiles, which have ofrentimes feiz'd both upon Men and Beafts, and carrying them into the Water, devour'd them there.

The Cedars breathe forth a moft excellent fweet fmell; and grow fo large, that out of the fingle Trunks of fome of them Boats are faid to have been made, capable to hold forty, fometimes fixty Men.

There are alfo many other very odoriferous Trees, yielding a certain Rozen or Gum, no lefs precious than the Storax.

But nothing grows here more plentifully than Vines, the Bodies or Stocks of which are as thick as a Man's Middle, and bear excellent Grapes.

Befides Partridges, Turtle-Doves, and other Fowl, the Sea.fhore breeds tholl. fands of Cranes, which when young; are white, but when old, become of feveral Colours; they fand commonly with their Legs in fale Water, which they drink.

The Parrots which breed here us'd to be taken by the Natives afer a frange manner: A Boy having a Bundle of Herbs about his Head, climbs iip to the top of a Tree, holding a Parrot over his Head, which by griping he fortes to make a noife, and thereby draws others to come flying about him; upon which, being expert in this Art, he throws a String with a Noofe made faft to a Stick about them, and pulls them to him.

There are a fort of four-footed Serpents, by the Natives call'd $Y$ guanas, of which they us'd to eat.

The Flefh of Tortoifes or Turtles, was accounted a great Dainty amongft them, efpecially thofe of the biggeft fize, of which fome have been known to weigh a hun. dred and thirty Pound : The Feet of them are faid to cure the Leprofie and Scabs.

Amiongt the peculiar Trees of this Countrey, are the Zagua and the Caninga.
The Cotton, which is of the natural Growth of this Place, is exceeding fine.
Here is alfo the Bird Flamingo, and another fort of Bird call'd Bambayas.
In former times $C_{u b a}$ was Govern'd by Ceveral Lords, each Commanding over his own Province.

Chief Provinces ofThe chiefeft of thefe Provinces are Mayzi, Bayamo, Cueyba, Camguey, Mâcaca, Xagua, Habana, and Uhima; fome of them are plain, others mountainous, and being more or lefs fruitful, were very populous, before the Spaniards came thither, but fince their cruel Maffacres, fearce any of the antient Natives are left: Nor are the Spanisrds here at prefent very populous, confidering the largenefs of the Ifland.

In the Province of Camaguey is a Valley three Leagues in bignefs, where Nature produces a great nuinber of large Stones fo exactly round, that no Man with a Compars can make a more exact Circle.

Though the Gold, which is digg'd out of the Mines, and found in Rivers, is none of the pureft, yet the Copper which this Countrey affords is accounted ex. cellent.

The Serpents here are about the bignefs of a Hare, having Heads like Weezles; superats they prey on liecte Beafts call'd Guabiiliquinazes, and have been accounted delicious and wholfom Meat.

The antient Natives went formerly naked. The Men made it a Cuftom to for- Anient $\mathrm{Cu}-$ Take their Wives when they pleas'd; yet the Women were fill oblig'd to be faith- Naurve. ful to them, though from the very firft day of their Marriage they were taught to Cuckold them, by a certain wicked Ceremony in ufe amongft them; for the Bridegroom lay not with his Bride the firft Night, but fuffer'd her to be enjoy'd by one of his Friends of equal Quality with himfelf, whether he were Lord; Mer. chane, Laboring•man, or what Eftate foever.

This Illand was reduc'd under the Spanifh Government not without great effu- The Sparifion of Blood; for the Natives having had continual Wars with the Cannibals, as beaten by yhe hath been faid, were not ignorant in the Exercife of Arms. The firft Spanih Commander fent againft them was Valdivia, whom they flew with all his Men, and hew'd his Ship in pieces. Little better efcap'd Fogeda, whofe Men were all cut off, and he himfelf efcaping very miraculoufly, died not long after of his Wounds in St. Domingo.

Within, two years after, viz. Anmo.1514. Diego Valafquez with better fuccefs fet s.f.7ag buite forth for Cuba, where the firft thing he did was to build a City, which he call'd St. Jago, lying near a Southern Bay, full of Fifh, and defended with feveral fmall Inles, behind which the Ships in the greateft Storm may Ride very fecure; by rea. fon whereof the new City increas'd fo much, that in a fhore time it could fhew two thoufand Inhabitants, a brave Church, a Cloyfter, and was made a Bifhop's See, but fubordinate to that of St. Domingo.

Three or four Leagues from the City are thofe famous Mountains, by the Spa- The Copped niards call'd Sierra de Cobre, or 'The Copper Mountains, from the abundance of that Metal which the Mines in them afforded, and do yet afford; but the City was aftero wards almoft left defolate, (divers Houfes in the fame ftanding empty) having in it fearce two hundred Inhabitants; which made it the eafier to be taken by a hun- s. Fage tadred and fixty Englifhemen, led by Captain Cliff, Anno 1601. who carried from thence Eng ${ }^{2}$ 2 hundred choufand Pieces of Eight, and a Ships Lading of Hides and Sugar.
2. Befides St. Jago, Vala $q u e z$ built the Town Baracoa, on the Eaftern Shore of Cuba, Baraoos. wafh'd by the River Mares, which falls into the Ocean between two Mountains on one fide, and a flat Point on the other, and is a moft excellent Harbor: Not far from which grows the beft Ebony Wood.
3. He alfo buile the Town St. Salvador, one of the moft healthful Promontories s.t Saluador. of all Cuba, near the River Bayamo, which produces round Stones, us'd there in Itead of Bullers.
4. He likewife buile Trinidad, before which hardly acceffible Harbor many a Ship Trimides. hath been caft away: But this Fort was by a mighty Storm levell'd even with the Ground.
5. Near the Haven before the Town Puerto del Principe is a Fountain, out of Purrod det which at certain times flows liquid Pitch.
6. The Town call'd Villa Sancli Spiritus, fix Leagues from the Ocean, boafts spinitus. fify brave Houfes, and is wafh'd by the River Saaz.
7. The chiefeft City which the Spaniards poffefs in the Weft-Indies, and the pre- Hevana. fent Seat of their Governor, is Chriftovall de Havana; which ftood firft on the South fide of Cuba, but was afterwards built on the North, oppofite to Florida: The Harbor before it is large and fafe, for it is able to contain a thoufand Ships, without the leaft endangering of one ąnother, and yet the Entrance fo narrow, between a Promontory and a fquare Fort, that two Ships cannot Sail in together: the fhalloweft part thereof hath fix Fathom Water. On each fide the Mouth of the Harbor is a Fort, the one call'd Mefa de Maria, which ftands built on a Champain Ground; the other call'd Morro, which lies at the Foot of two Hills, on whofe tops feveral Guns are planted, which Command the Town and Haven.

Betwixt thefe two Forts is a Tower cover'd, on the top whereof is a round Lan. tern, wherein ftands continually a Watch-man, who puts forth as many Flags as he difcovers Ships at Sea, to give notice thereof to the City, which is a Mile from thence.

Before Havana ftands a thirdeaftle, well for'd with Guns, as likewife the reft are, in all to the number of two hundred and forty, and ftrongly Garrifon'd; of which great care was taken by the General fean de Texeda, and Baptifta Antonelli, an Architect, fent thither by $P$ bilip the Second, King of Spain, to fecure the Place from all foreign Affaults, becaufe the Plate=Fleet, and other Ships that come out of the Weft-Indies, have their place of Rendezvouz here, and from hence fet Sail altoge. ther for Spain. The City ftands along the Haven, and hath two Churches with fpiry Steeples. The Houfes are now built after the Spanifh manner. by Storm, and conquering Havana, had burnt the fame, confifting at that time of woodden Houles cover'd with Thatch, had not the Spaniards redeem'd them from the Fire for feven hundred Ducats; with which Money the French fet Sail, when the day following three Ships arriv'd from New Spain before Havana, and baving unladed their Goods, and preparing themfelves for Battel, purfu'd the Pyrate; whom getting fight of, the Admiral, who Sail'd before, durft not venture to Engage him alone, but ftaid for the other two Ships: from which cowardly Action the French Pyrate taking Courage, fell on the Spanifh Admiral, who without firing a Gun ran his Ship afhore, and deferted the fame : the next Ship thereby difcourag'd, Tacking about, made away from the Enemy; on which the third alfo follow'd, infomuch that at laft they were all three taken by the French; who encourag'd with this unexpected Vietory, fteer'd their Courfe a fecond time to Havana, where they got as much more Money from the Inhabitants as before. After this the Spaniards built all their Houfes of Stone, and a Fort at the Mouth of the Harbor, yet neverthelefs the City lay open on the Land fide'; of which the Englifh Fleer, Cruifing about in thofe Seas, being inform'd, Landed not far from Havana, and en. ter'd the City before Day-break : the Spaniards thus fuddenly furpriz'd, fled into the Woods, whileft the Englifh plunder'd and ranfack'd the City without any refiftance. But this was not the laft Blow which Havana receiv'd, for during the Wars between the Emperor Charles the Fifth, and the French King Henry the Second, a Ship fet Sail with ninety Soldiers from Diep to Cuba, where they made themfelves Mafters of St. Fago, and carried great Treafure away with them : Thusenrich'd, they fet in the Night on Havana, but found their Expectations fruftrated, for all the Houfes were empty, the Spaniards (being fo often Plunder'd) having remov'd all their Goods, to their Countrey Houfes, which lay fcattering about the Ifland. Whileft the French were fearching the Houfes, two Spaniards came under pretence of agreeing with them, but their Defign was chiefly to take an Account of their Enemies Forces. The French demanded fix thoufand Ducats of them : to which the two Spaniards reply'd, That all their Goods would not raife fo much : then going to their Party, inform'd them of the number of the Enemies, and their Demands; whereupon Confulting, fome judg'd it beft to comply with a forc'd Neceffity, and if they could not get any thing abated, to pay the demanded Sum : but moft of them were of another opinion, alledging, That the number of the French was not equivalent to their Demands, and that it would not be for their Credit, to yield up their Eftates fo tamely, without trying their Title by the Sword: This being judg'd fitteft, they march'd to Engage them with a hundred and fifty Men, which about Midnight fell on the French, and at the firft Onfer flew four of them; but upon the firing of the Gun they were all alarm'd, and after a fmall Skirmifh, put the Spaniards to flight. The Conquerors enrag'd at this treacherous Plot of the Spaniards, fet fire on Havana, in which at that time was a good quantity of Pitch and Tarr ; with which the Gates, Windows, Roofs, and Pent-houles being all bedaub'd over, were in few hours all in a light Flame; after which the Churches in order for their firing, wereallo going to be over-laid with the fame combuftible Matter; at which a Spaniard boldly deffr'd, that the Temples erected for Gods Service might be fpar'd: to which he was anfwer'd, That People who keep not their Promife, nor had any Faith, had no need of Churches to profefs their Faith in. The Frencb not fatisfi'd with burning, pull'd down the Walls, and utterly demolifh'd the Fort.

The Haven Xagua alfo is not inferior to any, the Mouth thereof being a Bowe- The Waven fhot wide, and within, ten Leagues : The Ships are fecurely fhelter'd behind three Iflands, and allo the Mountains, which rife along the Shore.

Moreover, the Inlet Matanca is not onely eminent, by reafon of the round Moun. tain Elan de Matancas, which rifes from a low Ground; but chiefly for the Expediti, The suerefs ons of Admiral Peter Peterfon Hein, who being fent out by the Wef-India Com- $\begin{gathered}\text { ofadminal }\end{gathered}$ pany, to Crufe up and down before Havana with one and thirty Sail, was from thence by a ftrong Current driven down to Matanca; where he food from the Shore, when ten Ships came juft running amidft his Fleet, and were all taken but one : About Noon they difcover'd nine Ships more, which Sailing along the Shore, got into the Inlet Matanca, where they ran aground ; whither Hein following, came up to them the next Morning by Breakoofoday, and after a fmall Refio ftance took them, being valu'd to be worth above a hundred and fifteen Tun of Gold, befides the Musk, Ambergreece, and Bezoar with which two other Ships were laden, and another rich Prize.

This large Illand Cuba (as we have before obferv'd) formerly divided into fo many populous Territories, is now in a manner defolate; for according to the Spaniards Relation to the Admiral Henry facobfon Lucifer, when he was before Havana, Cuba had upon it not above fixty thoufand Perfons in all, in Anno 1627. But whorever Reads that which Bifhop Bartholomeo de las Cafas hath written in his Book, (Printed firft in Sivill in the Spanish Tongue, and afterwards, with the King of Spain's leave, in French at Antwerp) will eafily find the reafon, why Cuba and many other Indian Countreyslie fo defolate; and how fenfible the Indians were of the Spaniards ufage, appears by this following Story, related by the faid Bifhop, of a Cafique call'd Hatbuey, who before the Spaniards approach'd his Countrey, Anno ISII. fled from Hijpaniola to Cuba; where afterwards he was taken by the Spaniards, and ${ }^{\prime}$ condemn'd to be burnt alive with green Wood: whileft he was tying to a Stake, a Francijcan Monk Preach'd to him the Myfteries of the Cbriftian Religion, of which he had never heard; and likewife that he fhould afcend up to Heaven if he dy'd in that Belief; but if not, burn perpetually in Hell: Whereupon Hatbuey asking the Francijcan, If there were any Spaniards in Heaven? and being told there were, anfwer'd, I will rather converfe amongst the Devils in Hell, than amongft the Spaniards, whoofe Cruelty is $\int u c h$, tbat none can be more miferable than where Spaniards are.

Before we conclude the Defcription of Cuba, it will be material to add fome Paffages of a Letter from Major Smith, Governor of the Ifle of Providence, who was taken there in the Year 1665. which will give light to the knowledge of the prefent State, not onely of Cuba, but of fome other parts of America, belonging to the Spaniards ; which is as followeth :

Maj, Smith' Leter concerning Cuba and other Parts.

CYUba is a very good Inland, and in it is generally the beft Land, for fo large a Countrey, as I have feen in America, although I have travell'd the main Continent in feveral places, and have crofs'd from the North Sea to the Solith Sea, as alfo the North fide of Hifpaniola, and moft parrs of Jamaica.

This great Ifland is eafie to be conquer'd, and would make the beft Plantation, befides the prejudice it would be to the Spaniard, and the great advantage to our Nation; for inftance, Had we the Port and City of Havana, which might in all. probability be reduc'd with two Regiments of good Soldiers from famiaica, carrying with them two or three Sloops or Shallops for Landing Men, fitted with good Arms and other Neceffaries for an Affaule, prefently after their Armado hath pals'd out of the Indies, which is once in two years, towards the latter part of the Summer. There is good Landing on the Weft fide of the City, where it lies open; and you need fear-no Ambulcado's: but not on the Ealt fide on the Harbor, for there you will be gawl'd by the frong Caftle of the Moare, until the City be fecur'd; but when that is once taken, you may eafily reduce that Cafte alfo, there being no danger of their restaking it, until the next Armado arrives there, which will be almoft two years, againft which time you will have Planters enough from other of our Iflands, to Manure the Land, and affift the Soldiers in defence thereof: This. once effected, would utterly ruine the Spaniards, for thefe Reafons: Our Ships lying both here and at famaica, would be at all times ready to gather up their ftragling Fleet, which it is difficult to keep imbodied without the help of that Port of Ha* vana, it being impoffible for their great unruly Ships to turn up to Windward from the Bay of Mexico, or Puerto Bello, without feparation; and on the other fide, to pafs the Gulf of Florida, is for them as impoffible, where they always Rendezvouz, Victual, Water, and provide all things neceffary for their Return into Spain; after all which they diligently wait for a convenient Seafon of Winds and Weather (being much obferv'd from the Changes of the Moon) when to pafs that dangerous Straight : for to fay truly, the Spaniards are neither very fit for Sea nor Land-Service, excepting fome Officers and Soldiers bred in Flanders for Land-Service, and a few $\mathcal{B} i f$ cainers for Sea-Affairs. They are fo fenfible of their Weaknefs, and jealous of their Riches in thofe Parts, that it is very difficult for any ingenious Man to get his Liberty, being once taken, fearing he might give fuch Intelligence, as to be thereby the caufe of their ruine, witnefs their blind-folding of all Strangers, when they pafs their Cities and Caftles; for they much dread an old Prophecy amongft them, vizu. That withinn a Ghort time the Englifh will as freely woalk the Streets of Havana, as the Spa. niards now do; which indeed had been eafily perform'd with a third part of the Englifh Army fent to Famaica, and a far geater advantage to the Nation: for I effeem that Port and Harbor of Havana in the Weft.Indies, equivalent (againft that Nation) to Tangier in the Straights of Gibraltar ; and if we were at once Mafters of both, it would without doubt fo Atraiten the Spaniards, as abfolutely to admit us a free Trade into their Ports of America, where they impart our Commodities, and fell them for ten times more than they firft coft in Spain, by reafon of the great plenty of Silver : which Trade would not onely be of infinite advantage to us, but allo prevent them of their future enflaving of our Nation in Chains as now they do; for being employ'd about their Fortifications, they are worfe us'd, all things confider'd, than if they were taken by the Iarks.

I have feen other parts of the Weft-Indies, where the Spaniards might be fleec'd of confiderable quantities of Riches, as at Panama, where their Silver Bars lie pyl'd up in Heaps in the open Streets Day and Night without Guard for five or fix Moneths together, waiting the arrival of the Armado; which when arriv'd in Prierto Bello, they Tranfport it thither with fo flender a Guard, for fogreat a Treafure, as would be an eafie Prey to a thoufand refolv'd Men (alchough of extraordinary value for fo fmall a Charge; ) but here is no refting, nor long remaining, they being fo numerous (as in all other places of the main Land) though of great $\mathbb{W}$ ealth, and eafily gotten with a Catch and a tway: But to my purpofe,
This Ifland of Cuba hath adjacent to it great Conveniences of Salt and Fifling ; and in it are very great plenty of Horfes, Neat, Sheep, and Hogs, both wild and tame, of a far larger and better breed than any other parts of America: It hath alfo many very rich Mines of Copper already open, and is the onely Place that fup. plies all the Weft-Indies with Metal for the infinite number of Ordnance they have in all their Ports and Caftes, both in the North and Sourth Seas; but whether: it hath any Mines of Silver or Gold, I know not ; but if there were any fuch, they would not adventure their opening and difcovery, fearing the Invafion of that Illand, whereunto is fo eafie accefs by Sea, and of fo great import to their whole Intereft in America: for which reafon alfo they refufe to work any Mines in Flo. rida, that are nigh the North Sea, (although they have there very many) but do rather eniploy themfelves about others farther up in the Countrey, although with greater Labor and Coft, for conveyance of the Product by Land to Mexico. And laftly, (for its full praife this Inand hath many very good Ports and Harbors of great advantage to Ships, for fafe paffing the Gulf; and fhould the Spaniards keep three or four Frigats always plying between the Weftern end of Cuba and that of Havana, off and on, it were impoffible for any Ships of ours that came from Jamaica to efcape them ; the Scales turn'd would be their Cafe to all America. Neither wants it great Sugar-works, which have Water-mills and Horfe-mills, and very many large Cocoo Walks, the moft and beft Tobacco: and in fhort, it produceth all other Commodities, that any of our American Illands have knowledge of.

C H A. P. XVI.

Jamaica.

THe Illand of famaica liech North from the Southern Continent of America, Siruzition and in the Sea call'd Mare del Nort; and South from the Ifle of Cuba about fimmiea. twelve Leagues; and Weft from $H_{i}$ paniola twenty, in eighteen Degrees of Northern Latitude; and beareth from Rio de Hacha North. Weft, a hundred and fifty Leagues; from Santa Martha North Norths Weft, a hundred and chirty five; from Rio Grande North.Weft, a hundred and thirty ; from Carthagena North, four. teen; from Porto Bello North-Eaft and by North, a hundred and ninety; from the Bay of Darien, North and by Eaft, a hundred and feventy; from the Bay of Mexico, a hundred and fifty. It is of Form fomething nearly refembling oval, being in length from Eaft to Weft, about fifty four Leagues, or a hundred and feventy Miles; from
from North to South in the broadeft and middlemoft part, about three and twenty Leagues, or feventy Miles over, and fo groweth narrower and narrower towards each Extream ; in circumference about one hundred and fifty Leagues, or four hundred and fifty Englifh Miles.

This Illand is well water'd with Springs and Rivers, and is all over, efpecially in the Weftern parts, full of high Hills and Mountains: It is alfo well Wooded; for the North and South parts chiefly abound with tall and large Woods: Norare there wanting every where Savanas, or Paftures, which are thought to have been Fields of Indian Maiz, till the Spaniards arriving here, brought in Horfes, Cows, Hogs, and Afinego's to feed.
Temperaure of the itr.

The Air in this Place is more temperate, and the Heat more tolerable, than in any of the reft of the Barloventi, by reafon of the cool Breezes which conftantly blow from the Eaft, and the frequency of Showers of Rain, and reftefhing Dews which fall in the Night.

This is alfo the onely Ifland of the Barloventi, which is not fubject to violent Storms and Hurricanes; and the Difeafes which are predominant here, are onely bred by Intemperance, as Surfets, Feavers, and Agues, or occafion'd by ill Diet or Slothfulne's.

The Commodities of this Inland are very many ; and firf for Vegetables, the Sugars are fo good, that they now out-fell thofe of Barbado's 5 s. per Cent.
Cocoa, of which there are many large Walks; and greater plenty by improvement may eafily be produc'd.

Tobacco, fo good, that the Merchants give Six pence a Pound for it, and buy it fafter than the Planters can make it.
Indigo is producible in great abundance, if there were Hands fufficient employ dabout it.

The Cotton of this Place is accounted very firm and fubftantial, and preferr'd before any that grows in the neighboring Inands.

Of. Tortoife-fhell there is alfo good ftore, by reafon that much of that fort of Tortoife is taken on this Coaft.

Here are alfo great variety of Dye-woods, as Brafletto, Fuftioick, Red-wood, a kind of Log:wood, and feveral others, befides divers of thofe that are accounted the moft curious and rich forts of Woods, as Cedar, Mobogeney, Lignum-vita, Ebony, Granadilla, and others, which are frequently Exported.

Moreover, there are very probable ceftimonies, that there are Mines of Copper here, fince both there have been thofe who affirm to have feen the "Oar wrought out of one of them, and the Spaniards report the Bells that hang in the great Church, to have been Caft out of this Ifland Copper. As for Silver, the Englifh are faid to have been Thew'd a Silver=Mine behind the Mountains, Weft of Cagrobay.

Ambergreece the Spaniards report to have been often found on this Coaft.
Salt might be made here in great abundance, there being three good Salt-pans; and Saltepetre hath been found in many Parts.

Ginger is reported to grow better here than in mof of the Caribbee Iflands; and Cod-pepper very plentifully; and alfo a certain kind of Spice call'd Piemete, being in the form of Eaft-India Pepper, of a very aromatical and curious tafte, partaking as it were of divers fpecies together: it grows wild in the Mountains, and is very highly valưd amongft the Spaniards.

Of Drugs and medicinal Plants there is here a very great abundance, as. Guaizo csm, China-Root, Caßia Fijfula, Venillard, Achiotes, Tamarinds, Contrayerva, Ciperas, Adiantum Nigrum, Aloes, Cucumis Agreftis, Sumach, Acacia, Miffelto, with feveral others, both Drugs, Balfoms and Gums.

Cocbinele is produc'd by a Plant that grows in this Countrey, but it is not made without much care and curiofity, and the Englifhare not yet well experienc'd in the Husbanding thereof, befides that the Growth of the Plant is much obftrueted by Eafterly Winds.

There is here greater ftore of Cattel than in any of the reft of the Englifh Plan-E:afo tations in America, as Horfes, which by reafon of the great number of them, are bought very cheap.

Cow's, of a large fize, and of which vaft numbers are yearlykill'd.
Afinego's and Mules, both wild and tame, being a very ferviceable fort of Cattel in thofe Countreys.

Sheep, large and tall; and whofe Flefh is counted exceeding good, but the Fleece worth little.

Goats in great abundance, being a fort of Cattel very peculiar to that Countrey.
But of all other Cattel, Hogsare here in the greateft plenty, both wild in the Mountains, and tame in the Plantations; and they are more in requeft for Food than any of the reft, their Flefh being counted both of a better fellifh, and more eafily digeftible than the Hogs-flefh of our Parts.

The Fifh that is very plentifully caught in thefe Coafts is of infinite variety, and Fint. quite of another kind from what we have in this part of the World, the principal whereof is the Tortoife, which is taken in great abundance both on thefe Coafts, and in the Iflands Camavas.

The tame Fowl in this Place, are chiefly Hens, Turkies, and Ducks; but of Birds. wild Fowl infinite ftore, as of Guinee Hens, Flamingo's, Teal, Ducks, Wigeon, Geefe, Pigeons, Snipes, Plovers, Parrots, Turtles, Parachites, Machaw's, with divers others.

Choice and excellent forts of Fruits are here in great abundance, as Cocao-Nuts, Fnit-Tree Mannes, Maumees, Supatas, Suppotillias, Avocatas, fafhuds, Prickle=Apples, Prickle. Phatinser Pears, Sower-Sops, Cuftud-Applés, and many others.

For Timber-Trees, Platanes and Pines.
And for Garden-Herbs, Radifh, Lettice, Parfley, Cucumbers; Melons, ioc.
The antient Inhabitants us'd two forts of Bread, the one made of ftamp'd Roots, and the other of Corn, which is Reap'd thrice every year, and grows with fuch fuccefs, that one Pint fow'n yields two hundred.

They had a Atrange way to make their Cazari Cakes of the Root fuca, which keep good a year: They firft prefs'd out the Juice with great Weights, which if drunk raw, occafions fudden Death; but boyl'd, is pallatable and good.

Potato's are here in great abundance, and grow like Artichokes in a moift Soil, and fhoot forth Leaves of a dark-green Colour, likeSpinage; they fpread upon the Earth by Stalks, and bear a Flowerlike a Bell, at the end of which grows the Seed : the Rootsare generally White, but fometimes Red, Marbleccolour'd, Yel. low, and Violet; they are not onely pleafing to the Pallat, but accounted very wholfom when ftew'd in a clofe cover'd Pot, with a little Water.

But much daintier are the Ananas, which grow on a Stalk of a Foot long, fure rounded with fixteen large fharp Leaves, between which grows a Fruit like a PineApple, but much bigger, with an uneven Rind, of a pale Green, and inclining to a Carnation on a yellow Ground; on the top fhoots out a red Bunch of Leaves and Flowers; the innermoft Pulp melts on the Tongue, and is of fodelicious a tafte, that it exceeds all other Dainties; the Seed produces Fruit once.

Of this Fruit there are feveral forts, the chief whereof is accounted a fpecial Remedy againft a bad Stomach, Gravel, Poyfon, and Melancholy.

The Drink made of Ananas is no way inferior to Malvafia Wine.

Plane you may obferve a remarkable Secret of Nature in a certain ever-green Woods; the Stalk whereof furrounded with Leaves, full of dark red Spots, bears a fweet-fmelling Violet-colour'd Flower, the Leaves whereof as foon as touch'd, clofe up together and die, and according as they are held in the Hand a fhorter or longer time, this ftrange alteration continues.

Since the Spaniards planted Ginger on famaica, it hath grown there in great abundance; the Male Plant (for it is divided into Male and Female) hath generally bigger Leaves than the Female; the Stalks, which are without Knots, have more Leaves upwards than downwards, and fpreads along the Earth, fill take Root anew ; when the Leaves wither, then the Ginger is commonly ripe, but it hath not that poinancy whileft green as when dry'd.保 with moft P ar long ength, and at equal diftance; between the Leaves, wich are narrow and Cotton, and a Seed like Pepper.
Defripion - Of hurtful Creatures here, befides the Manchonele, and a fort of Snakes call'd Graann's, wherein 'tis thought there is little or nothing of a poyfonous quality; the moft obfervable is the Alligator, with which many Rivers and Ponds abound; it is a very voracious Creature, but is feldom known to prey upon a Man ; it moves fwiftly and ftrongly forward, but turns flow; the biggeft of them are abous twenty Foot long, their Backs fcaly and impenetrable, fo that they are hardly kill'd but in the Belly or Eye; they have four Feet or Fins, with which they go or fwim indifo ferently; are obferv'd to make no kind of noife; their ufual courfe for getting their Prey, is to lie on their Backs as dead, then with a fudden onfet to furprize what-ever Fowl or Beaft comes fearlefly near them ; the beft caution other Creatures have of them is from the frong fmell that flows from their Bodies : to requite the harm done by them, they have fomething of vertue, for the. Fat or Oyl of their Bodies hath been experienc'd to be an admirable Ointment for all kinds of Pains and Aches; they Lay Eggs no bigger than a Turkies by the Water fide, fill covering them with Sand, which heated by the Sun-beams, hatcheth the young ones, who naturally creep into the Water.

In fome parts of the Countrey there are alfo a fort of ftinging Flies, call'd Mufo cbilli and Merrywings, but the Englifh Quarters are little infefted by them.

Hugh Linfchot writes, That the antient Natives of this Place were a fubtile and Tharpowitted People, skilful in Handicrafts, and expert in warlike Affairs, above all the Americans befides.
'The Ifland was difcover'd by the Spaniards under the Conduet of Colmmbus, who

Fira Difco. very of the IAand. Ifand. firft built there the Town of Mellilla; which difliking, he remov'd a gain to Oriftana ; and finding that an incommodious and unhealthy Situation, he remov'd again to another Plantation, where he built a very fair Town, firft call'd Sevilla, afterwards St. Fago de la Vega, confifting of about feventeen hundred Houfes, two Churches, two Chappels, and an Abbey, being the chief, if not the onely Seat of the Spaniards before the arrival of the Englijh, for their Eftanchas, or fmall Plantations, were committed wholly to the cuftody of their Slaves.

Diego, the Son of Cbriftopher Colonus, (or, as he is vulgarly call'd, Columbus) was the firf that was conftituted Governor of this Inland, and fent Juan de Squibello

Commander, who upon their firf arrival here committed fuch horrid Cruelties and Maffacres, that (as the fore-mention'd Bartholomeo de las Cafas writes) five thoufand Inhabitants were in a fhore time reduc'd to lefs than three hundred, multitudes being put to death in a moft inhumane and barbarous manner, fome roafted alive, others torn in pieces by the Spanifh Dogs, befides many other fudied ways of But. chery, too dreadful to be read with patience; nor were they free from Civil War amongft themfelves, which firft began in this Illand.

The firft and onely Attempters upon this Illand fince the Spaniards made them. Atempes of felves Mafters thereof, have been the Englifh, who in the Year 1592. under the Con. ihe Eny won this duct of Sir Anthony Shirley Landed upon it, \& got clear poffeffion thereof, none of the Spaniards that were then upon the Place daring to make the leaft refiftance; but not thinking it worth the keeping, they foon deferted it, and made Sail back again for England : after which they remain'd unmolefted for a long time, till in the Year 1654. a Fleet of Englifh was fet out for Hifpaniola by Cromwell, under the Command of Colonel Venables, with a Defign for the taking of St. Domingo ; but meeting with ill fuccefs in the Enterprize, and being forc'd to quit that Ifland with lofs of Men, and fruftration of their hopes, they fteer'd their Courfe for famaica, and on the tenth of May in the Year abovefaid, with little oppofition poffefs'd themfelves of it. u pon their approach to St. Jago the Inhabitants thereof deferted it, and betook them to the Mountains, gaining time by a pretence of Treaty, to fecure their Wo. men and Goods; and oftentimes making Incurfions upon the ftragling Parties of the Englifh, flew and took many Prifoners by furprize: but being weary of this wild and irregular kind of living, they betake themfelves at laft to the Ine of $C_{u b a}$, where many of them, the Grandees efpecially, were permitted by favour to con. tinue, the reft being by the Vicesoy commanded back, with promife of fpeedy and confiderable Supplies; by that time this remnant of the Spaniards was near tir'd out with hardfhip and neceffity, fome being very much difoourag'd and driven to utter defpondence of Mind, others deftroy'd out-right, part of the long promis'd and expected Supply arrives, the greateft part being to follow foon after; but finding finding the Illanders fo few in number, and in fo fickly and necefficous an Eftare, they would not joyn with them, but maugre all the Governor's Perfwafions or Commands, retreat to the North part of the Illand, and chere fortifie at. a place call'd Chireras, expecting every day frefh Recruits; which not coming time enough, and their Quarters being difcover'd, they were fet upon by the English, and moft of them either $\mathrm{fl}_{2}$ in or taken Prifoners : not many Moneths'after the reft of the Spanish Forces Land, being in all about thirty Companies, with Ordnance and good fore of Ammunition; who falling prefently to make Strong Fortifica. tions at Rio Novo, are neverthelefs in a fhort time utterly defeated by the English: Upon which, and feveral other ill Succeffes, defpairing to reagain the Inand, they Ship off their Women and the richeft of their Goods; and the Negro Slaves grown Mafterlefs, by the general either flaughter or departure of their Pa trons, Thake off their Obedience to the Spaniards, and conftitute a Governor of their own, a Black, yet fubmit themfelves, and own Subjection to the English Govern. ment, the Spaniards from Cuba, both by their Perfwafions and monethly Contributions, in vain endeavoring to reduce them; onely fome few there were that food out, whom the reft not onely made it their bufinefs to difcover, but help'd the Eng. lish to take them, infomuch that at laft the Spanish General not having above fifty Men left him; was forc'd to feek for Peace, and offer'd Terms of Accommodation; which the Englisb General would not be drawn to accept of, unlefs upon Condition that he fhould deliver up to Juftice as many as were left of thofe that had barbaroully murder'd any of our Men, either in time of Treaty, or after Quarter given.

Cbisf Toms. Their chief Towns are I. St. Fago, (built by the Spaniards, as afore mention'd) which lieth fix Miles within the Land, North-Weft from the Harbor of Cagway. Here the English have built a fmall Fort.
2. Paffage, a fmall Town, built alfo by the English fix Miles from St . $\begin{aligned} & \text { fago, for }\end{aligned}$ the convenience of going to Cagway, confifting of about fifty Houles and \& Fort, whence crofs this Harbor, about three Leagues diftant is the Town of 3. Cagway, feated on the Extream end of the Point, containing in it above fix hundred Hopules, all built by the English, befides the Governor's Palace, and the Houfes where the Stores for the Army are kept.

This is counted the moft healthful Place in all the Illand, and the very Scalc of Trade, where all Merchants, Strangers, and Sailors refide.

Here, upon the utmoft Angle of the Point towards the Sea, is a round Tower, built of Lime and Stone; about which is rais'd a ftrong and regular Fort, containing fixty pieces of Ordnance.
por Roplal. This Town is now call'd Port Royal, and is thought to contain about fixte en thoufand Inhabitants.
Lunimerrd. A Mile from hence is another Fort, call'd Landpard, which runs from the $\mathrm{H}_{2}$ rbor to the Sea, to defend the Town from any Attempt by Land.

Off the Mouth of the Harbor towards the Sea, lie divers fmall Iflands, the mo it Weftern of which being within half 2 League of the Fort, and between which and the Fort every Ship that comes into the Harbor is neceffitated to pafs: It , is Litht ryand. call'd Little I/land ; where a Fort is likewife rais'd, to defend the Mouth of the $\mathrm{H}_{\mathrm{a}}$ ) bor, containing eight pieces of Ordnance.

Another Fortification is at Portmorant, which we fhall make mention of among it the Harbors.

The chief Harbors of this Ifland, are 1. Port Antbony, on the North, a very $\mathrm{F}_{\mathrm{afe}} \mathrm{Chief}^{\text {P Ports }}$ Landslock'd Harbor, onely the coming in is fomewhat difficult, the Channel being narrow'd by a little Ifland that lies off the Mouth of the Port.
2. On the Eaft of the Inland is Portmorant, a very capacious Harbor, where Ships do conveniently Wood and Water, and Ride fafe from all Winds.
3. On the South is Port Cagmay, a Harbor wonderfully convenient, Secure and capacious, being five Leagues over in fome places, in others four, and at the nar. roweft, three; it is Land-lock'd by a Point of Land that runs twelve Miles SouthWeft from the Main of the Ifland, having the great River that comes by Los Angelos, and St. Fago running into it, and divers Springs about it, where Ships do conveni. ently Wood and Water. Here is every where good Anchorage, the Road being fo deep, that a Ship of a thoufand Tun may lay his fides to the Shore of the Point, and load and unload with Planks afloat.
4. On the Weft is Point Megrill, a Port very convenient and fecure; to Windward from which, a little North-Weft, is the Seat of the old Town of Mellilla, founded by Columbus, as afore mention'd.

The chief Plantations of this Ifland, are I. Portmorant, above the Harbor before mention'd, and by the two Rivers that run into it. Here are good Plantatio ons of Sugars, Cottons, Tobacco's, ecc.
2. Hence about ten Miles lieth Morant, where a thoufand Acres of Land have been taken up for my Lord Willoughby, and a Company of Merchants.
3. Hence farther Leeward lieth Yallow, having good Plantations of Cotton, Tobacco, and other Provifions, excellent Savana's, and fome fore of tame Cattel.
4. Thirty Miles hence, on the North fide of Cagway is Ligonce, where are excellent Plantations of Sugar, Cotton, and Tobacco, very pleafant Savana's, and forme ftore of wild Cattel.
5. Twenty Miles farther Weft, nines Miles from the Harbor of Cagway, is Los Angelos, having fome Plantations of Sugar, Cacao, and Tobacco, all which were old Spanish Plantations, and are lefs confiderable than thofe made by the English in other places.
6. Eight Miles from hence, North-Weft, is Guanaboa, where likewife were fome Spanisb Plantations, fince improv'd by the English, who have very many excellent Plantations of Sugar, Cacao, &c.
7. Hence Weft South-Weft lieth Guatabacoa, a moft pleafant rich and fertile part of the Countrey, abounding with Cattel, and excellent Savann's. Here the Negro's fetled that revolted from the Spaniards, who are endeavouring to make fome Plan. tations of Tobacco's and Provifions, and with them are fetled fome few English, who have divers Walks of Cacao.

The feveral Governors of this Ifland fince the taking of it by the Englifh, are as $\underset{G}{\text { The fererors }}$, followeth : General Robert Venables faid upon the Place about three Moneths af $\frac{\text { the Enyith in }}{\text { Jamaich }}$ ter the taking of it, and at his coming away for England he left the chief Command to Major General Richard Fortefcue, who liv'd Governor about three Moneths; after which Lieutenant General Edward Dogly was by the Army elected Prefident; but upon his coming away foon after for England; Lieutenant General William Brain was fent over Governor in his room; who living in the Government about three quarters of a year, did as it were bequeathe it again to Doyly, for he was chofen by vertue of a Blank Commiffion, wherein Brain had inferted his Name whom he would have fucceed, and remain'd Commander in Chief both by Land and. Sea till His Majefty's Reftauration, and then by His Majefty's Letters Patents was confirm'd in the Government, and fo was the firft that was Governor there for His Majefty:

The next that fucceeded was the Lord Windfor, upon whofe coming away Sir Tboo mas Middiford was fent Governor, and after him Sir Thomas Lincl), who remains Governor at prefent.

The Inlands call'd the Lucaies.

Situation and

HAving done with the four Inlands of Barlovento, as they are term'd, viz. HiSpaniola, Cuba, Porto Rico, and famaica, we come next to the Lucaies, fo call'd, as fome think, from Lucaioneque, one of the biggeft of them; they lie over againft Florida, Weftward from the Bermudas, South.Weft and North of Hispaniola, and the reft of the Barloventi; and becaufe they are but fmall ones, and lie fo near the Coptinent, Geographers fometimes defcribe them as a part, or appertaining to the Continent. The chiefeft of thefe Iflands are Lucaioneque afore-mention'd, Babama, and Guanalani; Lucaioneque is accounted the biggeft of them all, and lieth in twenty feven Degrees between Babama and Guanabani. Babama lies neareft to the Coaft of Florida, and gives. Name to the Straights fo call'd, which run between the Cape of Florida and it, with fuch a violent Courfe and Torrent, that although it be above fixteen Miles broad, yet many times neither Wind nor Oars, can prevail againft it ; that though the Winds be profperous, Ships cannot enter it; and if it be crofs, they go with the Current ; yet thofe Straights the Spanifl Fleet muft pals in their Return from the Havana towards Spain. Guanabani was the firft piece of American Ground difcover'd by Chriftopher Coliumbus, and therefore by him call'd San Salvador, or St. Saviour, becaufe that thereby he was deliver'd from the mutinous rage of the Seamen, who threatned to throw him over-board, if they difcover'd not Land in fuch a time. There are befides a number of fmall Ifles fcatter'd up and down, which are generally comprehended in the number of the Lucaies; one is Little Ifland, encompafs'd with a company of Shelves call'd the Bimini, fo that it is hardly acceffible : there goes a Tradition, that it hath been inhabited by very beautiful Women, the fame of whom drew many to attempt to Land there and take up their Habitation; in which Attempt many were caft away: There is faid to be a Fountain in the midft of it, of fuch a Vertue, that whofoever drank of the Waters of it, had their Youth renew'd. Alfo three Iflands, or rather Rocks, call'd Los Martyres, lying to the South:Eaft of Cape Florida, and cover'd for the moft part with a whitifh Sand and a few Bufhes growing on them : they feem at a diffance to bear a refemblance of Men, impal'd, or bound to Stakes, as the Martyrs in the primitive Times ufually were, which occafion'd the Spaniards fo to Name them ; 'tis very dangerous to come too near them, but to have fight of them is of great ufe to Men at Sea; for by paffing thefe Rocks, and leaving them on the South-Eaft, they certainly know, that they are now entred the Straights of Bahama, that is, that they have left the Ocean, and. are fall'n in amongft thofe many Inands, which do, as it were, Barracado and Block up the Eaftern Coafts of America, towards Nombre de Dios and Terra Firma, as they call it, through which the Continent is fometimes dangerous, by reafon of con. trary Winds; and always fuch, that it requires the skill and care of an experienc'd Pilot to conduct the Ships well thither. The reft are Abacoa, twelve Leagues long; ruma, twenty Leagues in length, and eight in breadth, between twenty four and twenty five Degrees; Yumeata, fifteen Leagues in length, between twenty three and twenty four Degrees; Jamana, feven Leagues every way; Yabague, ren Leagues likewife, and lying between twenty two and twenty three Degrees; Magaguana, twenty Leagues long, and ten broad; Quagua, ten Léagues every way, and lying between twenty and one and twenty Degrees; (a)cos, five Leagues in length, and in the one and twentieth Degree; Mackre, in the twentieth Degree, encompals'd with Shelves; Abreo, environ'd alfo with Shelves, and fifteen Leagues long; alfo Gua* tao, Cigateo, Guanima, Jabaka, Triangulo, and feveral others.

On thefe Illands are no Inhabitants; thofe that did live there were a harmlefs the tucaise fimple People, and therefore the eafier taken and carried away by the Spaniards that ${ }^{\text {by }}$ the the spat have made them fo defolate: Many of them feem of a good Mold, and the Latio tude promifeth much fertility. The Air is certainly good and wholfom, and not fo extream hot as other Parts of that heighth. There is fearce any Beaft on them, fave a Coney that hath a Tail like 2 Rat, but Pigeons and other Birds in great numbers.

There is the Gum Benjoin, of the beft and worft fort ; Guaiacum, Safaparilla, and Sajfafras ; and on fome of them Red-wood and Ambergreece.

Our Englijh Sea-men are little acquainted with thele Inands, though they Sail round them yearly.

In the time of the Rebellion one Captain Sail and others, obtain'd a Patent, ma- Engilj Lane king thither on the Coalt of an Ifland, which was call'd Illutheria; his Ship was them. wrackt, but the People recover'd the Shore with a few Neceffaries.

The Coafts of moft of them are dangerous, and bad to make, and that Ship that fhall be near or amongft them, muft keep the Lead always going; but with a wary Pilor, and care in giving the Illands a fair Birth, they are eafily recover'd.

The Spaniards know this Place well, and have a yearly Trade thither for the aforefaid Commodities, and amongft the Iflands are Wracks of divers of their Ships.

The Caribby Inands.

THe Caribbee Iflands, as they are generally call'd, are a Row or Ridge, as it situation and were, of leffer Illands, which extend themfelves almoft in falhion of a Namen inf Bowe, from the Coaft of Paria as far as St. Fobn de Porto Rico; they are Inand. otherwife call'd The-Caraibes, fometimes The Camercanes, and by fome The Iflands of Cannibals, or Man-eaters, (though this Appellation cannot in reality be more appropriated to thefe Iflands, than to many other, either Iflands, or Parts of the Contio nent of America; ). lafly, whereas all the Illands between Florida and New Spain, and Soutbern America, are by fome comprehended all under the Name of The Antilles; yet the Caribbees and the Antilles are moft generally, and, we conceive, moft properly accounted the fame; and they are fo call'd, either as lying like a Bar before the greater Illands, or Qua $\sqrt{2}$ AnteIfles, i. e. Oppofites Ifles; they lie all under the Torrid Zone, between the eleventh and nineteenth Degrees of Northern Latitude, and are twenty eight in number : but before we come to treat of each of them in particu. lar, we fhall take notice of the moft obfervable of thofe things which are common to them all in general.

The Air of all thefe Iflands is of a good temperature and healchy, and the Heat not fo excefive in them at any time of the year, as might be conjectur'd from their Situation under the Torrid Zone, by reafon of a gentle Eaft Wind, which rifing in the Morning, continues moft commonly till towards the Evening, allaying the forching heat of the Sun, and refrefhing the Air ; but the Nights are commonly very cold; and it is obfervable, that by how much the hotter any Day hath been, fo much the colder the Night following happens to be; whereof this realon is given, That the Vapors rais'd in the Day*time by the Sun, and falling down condens'd at Night, do very much cool the Air; but it is never fo cold as to Freeze.
For half a year together Day and Night are equal in thefe Parts, and the reft of the Year the Day fourteen hours long, and the Night ten.
From April to December there commonly fall here great Rains, and all that Seafon is accounted Winter, and the Drought and Heat of the other Moneths is taken for Summer; but the Woods of thefe Parts looking ever green, make as it were continual Summer.

The Soil is generally as fertile as in moft places of Europe, and each Inland furnifh'd with fair Rivers, Brooks, Lakes, Springs, Wells, and other Sources of frefh Water, befides in many places Mineral Waters, which are us'd with good fuccefs in the cure of feveral Difeafes; allo out of fome Mountains ftore of Brimftone is digg'd and it is conjectur'd that there are not wanting Mines of Gold and Silver, if they were well look'd after; and there hath been often found Cryftal upon the Sands by Rivers fides.
Vines growing naturally
The Vine, though wild, and naturally growing in the Woods, yet yields a very large fair Grape; and thofe which are cultivated in their Gardens or Vineyards, bear excellent Grapes twice a year, but very little Wine is made of them, in regard they find it will keep but very few days.
Wheat not judg'd to be, becaufe through the ranknefs of the Soil, and for want of Winter, this Grain fprings up faft, and hath not fubftance enough left in the Root to fupply it up to maturity; but no doubt but Barley, Rye, and thofe other Grains, to the ripe. ning of which more Heat is requir'd, would thrive there very well.

Befides Lemmon-Trees, Orange-Trees, Citrons, and Pomegranates, and other Fruit. Trees growing in Europe, there are very many forts of Trees, Herbs, Pulfe, and other Plants, of a different kind from thofe amongft us, and peculiar for the moft part to thefe Inlands.

Of Fruit-Trees; the moft obfervable are the Goyavier, fomewhat refembling the Laurel, onely having a fofter Leaf, and of a brighter Green; its Fruit about the bignefs of a Pearmain, but full of little Kernels like a Pomegranate.

The $P_{\text {apayer, }}$ which is of two kinds, one generally growing in all the Illands, the other proper to Santa Crux; the firt hath a Leaf not much unlike that of the FigTree, and the other bears a Fruit about the bignefs of a Melon, which by the Portuguefe is call'd Mamao, from its refemblance of a Womans Breaft: the Tree is hollow and Spungy within, and grows up fomecimes to the heighth of twenty Foot.
-The Monick, call'd by the Mnanders Corfor, from the Name of an Inland from whence the Seeds were firft brought by the Dutch, and bearing a Fruit like a fmall Cucumber not perfeatly ripe.
-The Funipa, or Fenipa, by the Portuguefe call'd Fenipapo; and by the Brafilians, Jenio paba; having Leaves like thofe of the Walnut. Tree, Flowers like the Narciffus, and a Fruit like a bak'd Apple, which when it falls from the Tree makes a noife like the Report of a Gun difcharg'd, which is faid to proceed from the burfing forth forth of the Seed out of the thin Skin enclofing it, and breaking with 2 violence ; the Juice of it Dyes of a Violet-colour, and the Swine and Birds that feed upon it, are faid to have their Flefh and Fat of the fame colour.

A Cort of Vine commonly call'd The Raifin-Tree, and by the Caribbeeans, Ouliem; whofe Fruit being like a large Violet=colour'd Grape, hath in fead of the feveral frall Grain-ftones which are inclos'd in the Husks of common Grapes, one hard Stone, like that of a Plumb.

The Acajou, bearing for Fruit a kind of Chefnur, in form of a Hares Kidney, which ferves for a Creft to a very fair Apple that by degrees grows under it, of which the Iflanders make a Drink, very much in efteem amonglt them, being of an excellent taife.

The Icaco, a kind of fmail Plumb. Tree, fo much coveced, and held for a Delio cacy by fome People that live near the Gulf of Hondures, that they are from thence call'd Icacos.

The Monbain, which Fruit being a kind of yellowifh Plumb, is chiefly made ufe of to mix in the Drinks of Onicon and Maby, to make them tafte the better.

The Courbury is by fome reckon'd to be but a feecies of the Monbain, onely more full of Leaves, and growing higher and bigger; but the Fruit of the Courbury is fufo, ficiently different from that of the Monbain:

The Indian Fig-Tree, differing in Leaf from the common Fig-Tree, but whofe Fruit both in figure and tafte is not much unlike the Fig growing in thefe Parts: This Tree is commonly of fuch a valt Bulk, that the Branches of fome of them have been feen to afford fhelter to two hundred Men.

A kind of Service-Tree, differing from ours, by its exceeding heighth, fair Leaves, and pleafant Fruit.

The Prickly or Thorny Palm, fo call'd from its being atm'd all over with Prickles, both Trunk and Leaves; by incifion into its Branches a fort of Wine is made, and it is conjectur'd to be the fame Tree which the Brafilians call Ayry.

The Franc-Palm, an exceeding high and ftreight Tree, bearing on the top of its Trunk a whitifh marrowy fubftance, by the Frencl call'd Choude Palmifte, or Palm-Cabbage; for being boyl'd with the thin Leaves that incircle it, and well leas. fon'd, it is reckon'd a mongft the Delicacies of the Caribbees.

Latanier, another kind of Palm; and Cocoa, which is alfo reckon'd amongt the feveral forts of Palms; this laft is a Fruit-Tree famous all over America, and hath been at large defcrib'd elfewhere.

There are alfo many other Trees fit for Dying, Joyners Work, and Building, (befides the Acajou before mention'd, of the fingle Trunks whereof are made thofe long Shallops call'd Pyrages, which are able to carry fifty Men) as

The Acomar, of the fame bulk and heighth with the Acajon, and equally efteem'd by Joyners and Carpenters, and of the Fruit whereof the Woodquifts grow fat at a certain time of the year.
The Rofecwood, to be rank'd amongt the chiefeft of thofe Trees that are made ufe of by Work:men.

Indian Wood, a very precious and ufeful Tree for feveral forts of Materials, and of a very fine fcent.

The Iron-Wood, fo call'd from its hardnefs, weight and folidity, above all that have hitherto been fpoken of, and beyond either Cyprefs or Cedar for incorruptibility.

Brafile-Wood, fo call'd as growing moft plentifully in Brafile.
Yellow-Wood, denominated from its Colour, and much efteem'd for its ufefulners in Dying green Ebony, eafily taking the luftre of the true Ebony, and being very ufeful for the making of Cabinets and other curious Pieces of Work; It alfo Dyes of a very fair Grafs-green.

The Roncon, by the Brafilians call'd Urnex, in the Husks, fucceeding the Flowers whereof, which grow in little Buthes atthe end of the Branches, is enclos'd a mort rich Vermilion Dye, of a very foft and vifcous Matter.
Hereare alfo many other Trees, either ufeful in Medietne, or other ways ad. vantageous, as the Caßia.Tree, of the bignefs and figure of a Peach. Tree; the long Pipes or Cods whereof, containing the Medicinal Fruit, are well known among tt us by the Name of Caßia-Fiftula, and to be had at every Apothecaries.
Medicinal Nuts, each Nut containing three or four Stones in fo many Cells, every one of which is inclos'd within a thin white Pellicle, pleafant enough to the tafte, and out of which is extracted an Oyl, us'd by the Portuguefe in feveral both Culina. rie and Phyfical occafions.

The Cinamon-Tree, fo noted for its aromatick Bark; alfo Sandal-Wood, Guaiacum, and Safafros.

Cotton-Tree and Soap-Tree, whofe Ufes the very Names imply, and which Trees have been touch'd upon elfewhere.

The arch'd Indian Fig-Tree, the Bodies of which Trees have been antiently the fculking Holes and Retreats of the Inhabitants from cheir Enemies; the Bark is ufeful for Tanners.

The Gourd-Tree, of the bignefs and heighth of a great Apple.Tree, and of which are made moft of the Houfhold Veffels and Utenfils, which are in common ufe at prefent amongtt the Inhabitants.

The Mabot-Tree, of the Bark of which are made Laces and Points.

The Manyoc, or Mandioque, of whofe Root the Caffava Bread is made, and which growing in feveral places of America, hath been already taken notice of; as likewife the Banana-Tree, and that call'd The Apple-Tree of Paradice, otherwife Adam's Fige:Tree, the Fruit being reported to be of a very delicious tafte.

Other Trees nor known in Europe, are the Mapofu, divers kinds of Thorny Wood, the Milky Tree, being of a venomous quality, the Mancenilier, and that whofe Root beaten to Powder, and thrown into Rivers, intoxicates the Fifh, with feveral others of lefs note.

Innumerable forts of Shrubs might here in like manner be reckon'd up, but the chiefeft are, That remarkable Plant, anciently known by the Name of Ricinus, and commended for its Vertues by Galen and Diof corides.

Coral-Wood, fo call'd from its little Seeds, which being as red as any Coral, are us'd for Bracelets.

- The $\mathrm{Fa}_{\mathrm{f}}^{\mathrm{min}, \text {, bearing a Flower of an admirable fweet fcent. }}$

The Candle-Wood, fo call'd from its combultiblenefs, by reafon of an aromatick Gum which is within.

The Herbs, Flowers, Roots, and Pulfe which grow here, are fome of them common in all parts of Europe, as Cabbages, Onions, Chibols, Melons, all forts of Millets, Cucumbers, Citruls, Parfnips, occ.

Others, if not peculiar to this Ifland, yet growing chiefly'there, and in fome few parts of America befides, as the Raquettes, fo call'd from the refemblance its Leaves have with a Racker, a thorny-fpreading Bufh, whofe Fruit being of a Vermilion colour, makes the Urine of thofe that eat of it as red as Blood. Some liken this Plant to the Tunas, already defcrib'd, which yields that rich Scarlet Dye call'd Cochinele.

The Torch, fo call'd by the European Inhabitants; by the Native Illanders, Akoulerou; a great Thifte, or thorny Bufh, putting forth from the middle of it long ftreight Stalks like Torches, and bearing Fruit like a great Fig, not unpleafing to the tafte.
The Lienes, creeping upon the Earth, and fpreading up and down like Ropes, and bearing brown Husks of a Foot long, wherein are enclos'd a Fruit call'd SeaCheftnuts, of which are made Boxes to keep Snufh, Tobacco, or the like.

A fort of Sempervivum, which runs twifting upon Rocks, Trunks of old Trees; like Miffeltoe, and fometimes on the Ground.

A fort of fenfitive Plant, call'd by the Inhabitants Haeffiel, or The Living Herb; of which kind of Plant fomething hath been already touch'd upon, and which be: ing tranfplanted, is kept in feveral Gardens of the Curiofias a Rarity.

The Sweet-Ru/h, whofe fmall Root dry'd, and reduc'd to Powder, helps Women in Travail.

The Balifer, whofe Leaf apply'd, mollifies and cools inflammations of Wounds.'
The Dari-Herb, whofe Root bruis'd and apply'd, draws away the Venom of empoyfon'd Darts; befides Scolopendria, a fort of Aloes, feveral kinds of Maiden. hair, and other medicinal Herbs.

- The Granadilla, or PaßionsFlower, growing in feveral other parts of America, and defrrib'd elfewhere.

There is alfo a fort of Peafe in fome of thefe Iflands, differing from ours, and call'd The Peafe of Angola, as firft brought from thence. Likewife a Cort of Beans call'd The Seven-years Beans, by reafon the fame Stalk bears feven years one after another.
The Herb call'd The Musk-Herb, from the dusky colour of its Flower, and the fweet feent of the Seed, grows alfo in thefe Parts very frequent.
The Pyman, or American Pepper, is the fame with that before defcrib'd under the Name of $A x i$.

Their Potatoo is a Root not unlike the Topinambous, or ferufalem.Artichokes, otherwife call'd Saligots, growing plentifully in our Gardens, but more wholfome, and of a better taife.

The Anana's, or Pine-Apple, accounted a moft delicious Fruit, of an admirable fweet fcent, and very "pleafant to behold, grow not onely plentifully in thefe Illands, but in moft places of America; befides the Sugar.Canes here, and in many other places, but not fo generally.

The Plant from which is got the Dying Material call'd Indico, is very different from that which grows in Madagafcar, which bears fmall odoriferous Flowers, of a white and purple Colour mix'd together.
*5 Of thefe Trees, Herbs, and other Plants, which are produc'd in thefe Caribbee Iflands, fome are more peculiarly of the Growth of one Ifland, fome of another; fo that we fhall have oćcafion to fpeak more largely of fome of them, when we come to fpeak of each Ifland in particular.
The four-footed Beafts found in thefe Iflands, are chiefly the Opaffum, the favaris, the Tatan, the Agouty, and the Musk=Rat, which being all of them no lefs known in other Parts of the Neiw World, have been already taken notice of, and of which we may have alfo occafion to treat more at large in the particular Illands, we fhall therefore onely name the other Animals, whether Birds, Reptiles, Infects, or Fiffes, as partly having been heretofore treated of, and partly to be defcrib'd hereafter.

The Birds are, the Fregates, Faives, Craw-fowd, or Grandgawfiers; Flammans, Sivallows of America, Arras, Canides, Parrots, Parroquito's, Tremblo's, Sparroovs of Amerita, Eagles of Orinoca, Manfenys, Colibrys, befides what are common amongtt us, as Herons, Coots, or Moor-hens, Black-birds, Feldivars, Thrufies, Turtles, Woodquifts, Pintadu's, &ec.
Reppiles. The Reptiles are, Anotis, Zoquets, and Maboujats (of which farther mention will occur in the. Ille of St. (hrijfopher) Globemouches, nam'd by the Caribbeeans, Oulleouma, Scorpions, and feveral forts of Lizards, call'd by the Caribbeeans, Ouamayaca; by the Brafilians, Senembi; and by other Indians, Jaquanas.

The Infects are, befides thefe common with us, as Glow-nvorms, Palmer, woorms, Spiders, Bees, &c. the Cucuyos, mention'd in. Hifpaniola, and the Flying Tyger.

Defcription
of the SeaUnscorn.

The Fifhes are, Sea.Parrots, the Dorada, by Come call'd The Sea-Eream', by others, The Amber-fifh; the Bonite, the Needle-fijh, the Epadon, or Sword-fifh, the Marfovin, the Requiem, the Remora, the Lainantin, the Becune, the Sea-Urcbin, the Sea-Woodcock, befides Whales, and a certan Fifh call'd, for its hideous fhape, The Sea-Devil, and laftly, the Searunicorn, with a particular Defcription of which we fhall conclude, as having it from Monfieur du Montel, who was an Eyeawitnefs theroof.
"This Unicorn (faith he) was purfuing a Carangue, or fome other leffer Fifh, with "fuch earneftnefs and impetuofity, that not confidering that it needed a greater "depth of Water than the other, it fuck with half the Body dry on a Sandsbank, "whence it could not recover the deeper Waters ere it was deftroy"d by the Inha. "bitants: It was about eighteen Foot in length, being at the largeft part of its "Body about the bignefs of a Barrel : It had fix great Fins like the ends of Galley. "Oars, whereof two were plac'd near the Gills, and the other four on the fides of "the Belly at equal diftances; they were of a Vermilion red colour: All the up"per part of the Body was cover'd with great Scales, about the bignefs of a "Crown-Piece, which were of a blue colour, intermix'd with feveral Spangles of "Silver; near the Neck the Scales were clofer, and of a dark colour, feeming as "it were a Collar; the Scales under the Belly were yellow, the Tail forked, the "Head fomewhat bigger than that of a Horfe, and near the fame figure: It was "cover'd with a hard and dark-colour'd Skin; and as the Land-Unicorn hath one "Horn in his Foreohead, fo this Sear-Unicorn had a very fair one iffuing out of the "fore-part of his Head, about nine Foot and a half in length; it was as Atreight "as could be, and from the place whence it came out it grew fmaller and fmaller "to the very Point, which was fo fharp, that being thruft hard, it would enter in"to Wood or Stone, or fome more folid Subftance; it was at the place where is "came out of the Head, about fixteen Inches about, and from thence to two thirds "of the length it was like a Screw, or, to fay better, made waving like a wreath'd "Pillar, fave thiat the Channels grew finaller and fmaller, till they gently ended in " 2 Point, which was two Inches beyond the fourth Foot: All the lower part had "over it an Afh-colour'd Skin, which was all over cover'd with a fmall foft Hair, "fhort as Plufh, and of the colour of a wither'd Leaf; but under that it was as "white as Ivory: As to the other part, which feem'd naked, it was naturally po" lifh'd, of a fhining Black, mark'd with certajn fmall white and yellow Strokes, "and of fuch folidity, that a fharp File could hardly get alittle fmall Powder from "it: It had no Ears ftanding up, but two fpacious Gills, as the other Fifhes; the "Eyes were about the bignefs of a Hens Egg; the Ball, which was of a Skye-colour "Enamell'd with Yellow, was encompafs'd with a certain Vermilion, which had "beyond it another as clear as Cryftal: The Mouth was wide enough, and fure "nifh'd with feveral Teeth, whereof thofe before were extreamly fharp, and thole "rowards the Throat in both Jaws were broad, and a little knobbed: The "Tongue was of a length and thicknefs proportionable, and coyer'd with a rough "Skin of a Vermilion colour. What was furcher remarkable, is, that this Fift
"had upon the Head a kind of Crown, rifing above the Skin about two Inches, " and made oval-wife, the Extremities whereof ended in a Point. Above three "hundred Perfons of that Inland did eat of the Meat of ir, and that plentifully, and "thought it extreamly delicate ; It was interlårded with Fat, and being boyl'd it "came up in flakes like frefh Cod, but it had a much more excellent tafte.
"Thofe who had feen this rare Fifh alive, and had with great Levers broken "the Back of it, affirm'd, That he had made prodigious Attempts to thruft them "with his Horn, which he turn'd with an inexpreffible dexterity and nimblencfs, " and that if he had had as much Water under him as would have born him up, he "would have been too hard for them all. $\therefore$ The Natives call themfelves Cubao-bonon, that is, Inbabitants of the Iflands, and Ca- The Natires ribbeears ; which laft Denomination was not onely receiv'd amongft the American Ines, but alfo on the Main Continent of the Northern and Sonthern America, long before the Spaniards coming thither.

Concerning the original of thefe People, there are feveral Opinions; for thofe their orgivi who make them to be Extraeted from the Jews, have no other teftimony, but that they abftain from Swines-flefh : Thofe that take them for a People fled from the great Illands, Hipaniola, Jamaica, Cuba, and Porto Rico, to fave themfelves from the Spaniards Cruelty, difpute againft a known Truth; for who knows not, that the $I_{n}$. dians who efcap'd the, Spanifh Slaughter, have not the leaft refemblance cither in Language or Cuftoms with the Cannibals? nay more, they are morral Enemies to them; befides that, the Cannibals at that time when Columbus firft arriv'd, poffefs'd thofe Places which they now inhabit. The Cannibals feem ignorant themfelves in this Point : for they affirm their Extraction to be from Guyana, where the Calibites fpeak the fame Language, and alfo oblerve the fame Cuftoms and Religion: The occafion of their removal they afcribe to the King of the Arovagis, who made all the adjacent People about his Court, Slaves to him; which to prevent, they firft went to Tabago, where being ftrengthned by new Comers, they refolv'd to take revenge on him; and Engaging with him in a Field-Battel, utterly defeated him, and Cpar'd none of his Party alive, except the Women ; whence it proceeds, that the Arovage Women have the fame Cuftoms and Language with the Caribbeans. But Briftock, an Englifh Knight, by long Converfation experienc'd in the feverall Amerisan Tongues, faith, That the Caribbeeains have their Original from the Apalachites in Florida, who being a valiant People, deftroy'd many of the Natives that inhabited Mexico, that fothey might Settle themfelves there; to which purpofe they built a City like that of Apalache. The Cofachites inhabiting Northerly, and fpred over 2 barren and Rocky Countrey, made ufe of this opportunity to conquer their deferted Habitation : for on a fetatime they fet fire to all the Villages, and fpoyl'd all things which they could not carry away with them, that not the leaft hopes of returning might be left them; therefore they muft either Conquer or Die ; which re, folv'd upon, they fell unawares on the Apalachites, whofe King had neverthelefs fo much time, that he Guarded the ufual Paths which directed to the inhabited Vil. lages: But the Apalachites leaving the common Roads, climb'd over almoft inacceffible Mountains, and fo got into the heart of the Countrey, which exceedingly amaz'd Paracoufis (for fo that-King was call'd) who lay Encamp'd at the Foot of a Mountain, whether the Van of the Apalachites were marching : whereupon he fending his Army to meet them, they began a moft fierce Combat ; when at laft both Parties,wanting Arrows, they fell upon one another with Clubs till the Night The cofatio- parted them ; and neither could boaft of the Victory. At laft this War was turn'd

 . But thele two forts of People did not long agree; for the Caribbeeans fleighted the Cuftoms of the Apalachites in the Countrey Bemarin, and at the fame time threw off their Obedience to the King, chofe one Ragazin for their Governor, fubdu'd the neighboring Province Matika, and at laft defid the Apalachires; who infe-* $^{\circ}$ fior to them in Strength, and making ufe of fubtilty, fuppos'd it the beft way to make a Difference amongtt the Caribbeeans themfelves; to which the Priefts freely proffer'd their Affiftance, and their Defign prov'd alfo fucceffful; for the Caribbee. ans regarding no Religion (onely dreading the angry Deity Mabouya) the Apalachite ping of the Sun; which fo prevail'd, that a confiderable number of them alcending the Mountain Olaimi, fell down and fhew'd Reverence to that celeftial Luminary; which Opportunity Paracoufis taking notice of, caus'd the faova's to publifh amongft the Caribbeeans, That in the beginning of the Mairims, or Marcl,, a great Fealt Thould be held in Reverence to the Sun on the ufual place; where the King would Entertain, and give Prefents to all the Worfhippers thereof.The Sunge. weraily wore

How great a Religion this Sun-worfhip was antiently amongtt the Gentiles; ap. pears from the Writings of feveral authentick Authors.
The Syrians, whofe Idolatry the Ifraelites learn'd, honor the Sun by the Name of Babal, which fignifies Lord.

The Phenicians call'd the Sun Beel.famen, Lord of the Heavens; and the Citizens of Accaron, Baal-zebahim, Lord of the Offerings; but God chang'd the Name to Baalo zebub, or The God of Flyes.

Moloch; or Milcom alfo fignifid the Sun amongit the Ammonites; in honor of which Children were carried by their Parents, and fet between two great Fires, or elfe by the Priefts, upon pretence of cleanfing them; and fometimes parch'd to death in an Image of Moloch, which had feven Cavities heated like Ovens.

Macrobius tells us, That the Affyrians afcrib'd the fupream Command to the Sun, under the Name of Adad, and to the Goddefs Adargati, reprefenting the Image of Adad with Beams darting downwards, and Adargatis with thofe that fhot upwards : by the firft they exprefs'd, that the celeftial Power confifted in Sun.beams, which flooting downwards warm the Earth; and by the fecond, that all things by thofe Beams were cherifh'd and'enliven'd.

The moft magnificent Temple which Syria Apamena boafted, was Confecrated to the Sun.

The Arabians Offer'd Myrrhe on the tops of their Houfes at the Rifing of the Sun; who allo was the Cbamos and Baal-Peor of the Moabites and Medians.

Near the Red-Sea, lay the City Baifamfa, which fignifies Tbe Houfe of the Sun, famous for the many Feafts which were kept there in honor of this Planet. The

The Perfians accounted this Luminary for the greatef God, and Confecrated to him three feveral Feafts, looking upon him as the Author of Wifdom, Goodnefs, and Power, and is exprefs'd by three feveral Operations, viz. Warmeh, Light, and Diftinction of Time.

The Egyptians honor'd the Name of Ofiris, whom fome will have to be the fame with Mifraim, or Chamizoon, the firft Founder of the Egyptian Monarchy.

In Egypt alfo was famous amongft many other Cities that of Heliopolis, which fignifid The City of the Sun; where the Ox Mnevis or Menapis being Confecrated to the Sun, was religioufly worfhipp'd. This Image is deferib'd by Macrobius.

The Moors made likewife great Offerings to their Affabin, for fo they call'd the Sun; and allow'd their Priefts onely the priviledge to gather Cinamon, and that with this Provifo, That they fhould firft Offer forty four Oxen, befides. Goats and Rams, to AJfabin, nor fhould fetch the leaft Stick of Cinamon either immediately before or after Sun-fet: The Cinamon brought altogether, was to be divided by the Chief Prieft, and the reft having each their Portion affign'd, that which remain'd was fold to the Merchants, to Trade with into Foreign Parts; but if the Sun chanc'd to fet the Cinamon on fire, then they concluded they had not dealt juftly.

The Greeks, according to Proclus, hung a long Pole full of Laurel and Flowers on every feventh day of the Moneth; on the top thereof was a great Copper Ball, from which hung others ftill leffer and leffer; about the middle of the Pole hung three hundred and fixty five Garlands; and the bottom thereof was cover'd with a Womans Garment of a yellow colour: The uppermoft Ball reprefented the Sun, the leffer the Stars, and the Garlands the Days of the Year; in which manner they worfhipp'd the Sun.

The fame Luminary the Maffagetes and old Germanis ador'd in antient times; and to this day the People in the utmoft North, fapanners, Chinefes, Tartars, and the Eaft and Weff-Indians, pay their chief Devotions to the Sun; the reafon of which may eafily be made out : for it is the common Opinion of all Men, as Arijfotle, Simplicius, The miftius, and other Heathens witnefs, to place the Omnipotent Godhead in the up- ${ }^{\text {sum}}$ permoft Orb, which furrounds the Earth; wherefore thofe that Pray, lift up their Hands to Heaven : but becaufe the reft of the Heavens appear not fo refplendent as the Sun, therefore they take the Sun for the onely chief God, whether for its ex. ceeding luftre and glory, or for its being a hundred and fixty times bigger than the Earth; or for its fwift Courfe, in running ten hundred thoufand Leagues in fo fhort a time, or for its nourifhing and genial Warmth, which gives Life to all things, or for its neceffary Light, by which all worldly Affairs are manag'd, or for its meafuring the Days by its moving from Eaft to Weft, and the Seafons of the Year, by a Courfe from the South to the North; for all thefe excellent qualities being well confider'd by the moft Learned Heathens, or oblerv'd by thofe of leffer Judgment, have made them fhew that Honor to a vifible Creature, which is onely due to the invifible Creator.

Thefe and fuch like Arguments induc'd the Caribbeeans to go to Bemarin, where the Feaft of the Sun was to be kept.

The Apalachite King alfo Entertain'd the neighboring People exceeding courte. The Mopatatioufly in the chief City Melilot; from whence he was carried in a Chair on the Shoul ders of four Men, with found of Pipes and Drums, and an innumerable compa ny $\begin{gathered}\text { an ofacring } \\ \text { tothen sum on }\end{gathered}$ of People, to the top of the Mountain Olaimi, where he made a fately Offering to tociminit the Sun, and afterwards Feafting and Careffing the Caribbeeans with Gifss, he fent them home all well contented and fatisfid with their Entertainment. This Cuftom was yearly obferv'd, when at laft they began to neglect their Duty, wherefore Toltlabin refolv'd to proclaim War againft the Caribbeeans, if they did not continue paying their Devotions to the Sun : which Injunction was differently receiv'd; fome judg'd it to be inconfiftent with their purchas'd Freedom, to receive Laws for Religion from a neighboring King, alledging, That if any Reverence was due to the Sun, it might as well be given on the Mountains of Amand as within Toltlabin's Realm : others, who lov'd Peace, and had a zeal to the Olaimi Religion, would not be againft the Propofals, which occafion'd a Contention amongft themfelves; and every one a pply'd himfelf to thofe that were of his Opinion; neverthelefs thofe that flood upon their Freedom, were of the greateft Party; wherefore the Worfhippers of the Sun clos'd with the Apalacbites, who going out with their Forces, routed the other Party, and receiv'd thofe Caribbecans that joyn'd with them in Religion into Co- partnerfhip alfo in the Government, fo that they united into orie People: But thofe that were routed rally'd again, and not without thoufands of Inconveniences made towards the Sea, where Embarquing, they Landed firft on the Ifle Ayay, now and growpowerful.保 cannot certainly determine the time when they firf Secled here: however, they report that they have peopled the Provinces Bemarin, Amana, and Matika, many Ages ago. That they are Extracted from the Tartars, appears not obfcurely, by their Cuftoms, Idolatry, and Language. Amongft other things, they have learn'd from the Tartars religioully to remember thofe Kings which perform'd any grand Ex* ploits in the Service of their Countrey. Amongt others, the Apalachites make men. tion in their Areitos, or Songs, of a King call'd Maydo, eminent for his noble At chievements, and prudent Governing of his People.

They believe that the Sun many Ages fince was Darken'd or Ecclips'd twenty four Hours together, during which time the Waters over flow'd the higheft Moun- tains, except that of Olarmi, where there ftood a ftately Temple, built in honor of the Sun; in which all thofe that fled thither were preferv'd, and difpers'd afterwards into feveral parts to re-people the World as foon as the Waters were abated, and the Sun appear'd in his full luftre again : whereupon they imagine, that to this day their Bird Tonatzuli, at the Rifing of the Sun congratulates his appearance with great joy, and at his Setting, requefts his Speedy return from under the Horizon.

Defcription of the Moun-

 !ain olaimi.The Tonatzuli is a Bird like a Bull-Finch, onely its Belly and Wings are of a Golden colour, the Back and Tail blue, its Head adorn'd with divers colour'd Feathers, its Claws and Bill like Ivory, and it Sings like a Nightingale.

As for Olaimi, is is a perfect round Mountain; the Way which leads to the top thereof runs winding two Leagues long, and is planted on each fide with Cedar, Pine-Trees, Caßine, and Saffafras; the top of which is a fair Plain a League in circumference; Eaftward from it is a Cavern, to which Nature hath afforded more Con. venience and Ornament than could be given to the fame by Art and Charges: The firt Beams of the Rifing Sun dart into the Cavern, which being oval, a ppears like a white Vault, which on the top hath a great Hole for the Air to go in at: The bottom is like the pureft Marble ; on the Floor ftands a Stone Ciftern to receive the Moifture which drops out of the Rocks. Whileft the People Danc'd on the fore-mention'd Plain, Feafted and Sung, the Priefts Offer'd Myrrhe, and all manner of Perfumes.

The Clothes which the Rich gave to the Sun, were diftributed amongft the Poor, according to a Lift which was taken of them.

But in procefs of time the Apalachites have moft of them embrac'd the (briftian The oceafon Religion; the firft occafion thereof was this: When Jobn Ribauld had brought a of thite Apathe mbrat French Colony to Florida, and gain'd a Fort, (which from King Cbarles the Ninth he ${ }^{\text {cing }}$ mis. nam'd Charles-Fort) the Spanifh Commander Peter Melendez fell unawares upon him, and fo far impower'd his Men, who had of themfelves a natural hatred againft the French, that they fpar'd neither Man, Woman, nor Child; onely ten Men efcaping the bloody Banquet, fled to the Floridan King Zaturiona, where they were kindly rea ceiv'd, and hearing of the Civility and Power of the King of Apalache, defir'd that they might go thither; which Zaturiona not onely granted, but alfo furniff'd the feven French-men (for the other three were dead) with good Guides, who vifited Zaturiona's Relations, living in feveral Villages along the pleafant Stream Selay, over which they pars'd on large Boughs artificially joyn'd together, and travell'd through Woods, Marfhes, and Mountains full of ravenous Beafts, and fometimes Engag'd with the ftragling Floridans which lurk'd in the moft defolate Wilder. neffes : having travell'd two days Journey, by an Ambufcade of King Timago's People, they loft two of their Guides, the reft being dangeroufly wounded, and through many Difficulties came at laft to Avooka, and from thence to the King of Apalache's Court, who receiv'd them all with great kindnefs: Whereupon they re= folv'd, being induc'd thereto by their courteous Reception, fruitfulnefs of the Soil, and good Cuftoms of the Inhabitants, to Settle themfelves, all but two of them, who returnid with the Guides to Zaturiona : the reft that ftay'd there, endeavor'd by promulgating the Cbriftian Religion, to reduce the Pagans to the belief thereof; which many embrac'd, and alfo learn'd the French Tongue, notwithftanding their Priefts faova's oppos'd the fame. After the death of the French (which the Apalachites much bemoan'd) their Idolatry had like to have gotten the upper hand again, had not fome Englijh Families, fleeing from Virginia from the Cruelties of the Indians, and not able to reach Nens England, Landed at Elorida, with intention at firft onely to get frefh Provifions, but Rowing up the River Selay, and taken with the plea. fantnefs, they chofe the Province Bemarin for their Habitation, where accordingly they Setled Anno 1621. Amongft them were feveral Learned Men, which fo effeo ctually perfwaded the Heathens to embrace the Chrifian Faith, that in twenty eight years time the King and moft of his Nobles were Converted and Baptiz'd by them in the chief City Melilot.

But fince our Defign is onely to give you an exact Account of thofe People which inhabit the Iflands lying before America, it is fufficient that we have fhew'd you how they are Extracted from the Cofachites and the Apalachites.

As to the Cuftoms of the Caribbeeans, fince they are very much alter'd by their long Converfation with che Europeans, we cannor better inform our felves of their antient Cuftoms, than from thofe which to this day are obferv'd on St. Vincent, and fome parts of the Main Continent, where the Caribbeeans have learn'd nothing from any Strangers.

Defcription
of the Carib. biesws.

Thieir Lantuage.

The Caribbecans are a well proportion'd People with broad Shoulders and Hips; round Faces, withour Beards, wide Mouthes, white Teeth, litele Eyes like the Tar. tars, Feet fo hard, that they are almoft Dart-proof, flat Nofes, fo made by fqueezing them down in their Infancy, and long black Hair. There are few or no deformed People amongft them ; all of them go fark naked, and paint their Bodies Red with a Plant call'd Rocou, and Oyl; about their Eyes they draw a black Circle with the Juice of the Apple Junipa. This their Painting ferves them both as an Ornament, and to make them ftrong. Others anoint their Bodies all over with a glewy Stuff,on which they ftick all forts of Feathers. Others ufe Gum and Flowers. Moreover, they adorn their Head with Plumes, their Ears with Fifh bones, or Scales of the Caret, or pieces of Cryftal, which they alfo hang in their Lips and Nofes. The Men wear Armlets near their Shoulders, and the Women about their Wrifts; about their Legs they tie for Garters Strings of Seeds: others take a pride in wearingthe Bones of their flain Enemies, and the Teeth of the Agouty, Tygers, wild Cats, or Cockle fhells. When they appear in greateft luftre, then they wear Armlets under their Arm-pits, and alfo Scarfs of Feathers, which either hang over their Shoulders, or are girt about their Middle, fo that one end thereof toulches their Thighs. They fet an exceeding value on certain pieces of Copper call'd Caracolis, the leaft of which they hang in their Ears, and the biggeft before their Breafts: and becaufe they are ferch'd out of the Province of the Arovages their Ene. mies, they are efteem'd as Marks of true Valor, and he is highly efteem'd that wears them.

The Caribbeeans which Converfe with the Eurupeans, fpeak two forts of Languages, the oldeft of which is fmooth, acceptable, fluent, and for the moft part fpoke between the Lips. According to the feveral pronunciations one word hath divers -fignifications: but the Myftery of their oldeft Language they will difcover to none. It is very obfervable, that the Caribbeean Men Speak Ceveral words, which though the Women underftand, yet are never fooken by them : and alfo the antient People ufe feveral Sayings which the younger never mention, and the Youths fuch likewife as are never fpoken by the Antient, which being fooken apart by each in the time of War, are underfood by none but their Soldiers, that fo their Defigns "may the better be kept fecret. But their mix'd Language hath many of the European words, efpecially of the Spanifh, which they fpeak whenfoe're they converfe with the Europeans. Moreover, though the Caribbeeans on the leaft occafion laugh aloud, yer they are of a dull Spirit, Aubborn, and nothing to be got out of them but by fair means.

Their Manners.

Their Employment is Hunting, Fifhing, Tilling, Building of Houfes, and the like. Theft is not known amongft them, fo that no Man is fufpicious of his Neighbor; wherefore they leave their Huts open both Night and Day. They are alfo feldom at Variance one with another, but generally Love fways amonglt them; yet if a Quarrel doth happen, then the injur'd Perfon revenges himfelf to the heighth. Perfons that profefs Chaftity are much honor'd amongft them ; and here Youth bears great refpect to Age.

They are alfo very ignorant in natural Knowledge, infomuch that when the Moon is Eclips'd, they fuppofe that it is devour'd by Maboya; and wherefoe're they fmell any ill fcent, they believe the Devil to be not far from thence. Gunpowder they fuppofe to be a Grain, and are very fearful of Fire-Arms: Though they have many brave Salt pits, yet they ufe no Salt, nor eat any Swines: flefh, though all thofe Iflands abound in that fort of Animal, fearing that if they fhould eat the fame, it would caufe them to have little Eyes, which they account very homely, though it is a property generally incident to them; neither will they eat any Tortoife, becaufe they would not be fo grofs as that Creature. Laftly, they know now no greater Number than they reckon on their Fingers and Toes, for what exceeds twenty is to them innumerable: They hold that good Spirits, whom they call Akamoue, refiding in Heaven, never trouble themfelves with Earthly Affairs.

Their Offerings confift in Caffave and the firft of their Fruits, which are fet at the end of their Huts in Veffels on fmall Tables, cover'd with Leaves or Rufhes, without uttering any Prayers; for they never Pray but in publick in company of the Boyez or Priefts, and that either for revenge againft Injuries, or for recovery from Sicknefs; or that they may know the Events of War, or for Protection againft the Maboya.

Each Boye hath his peculiar God; which, Șinging with a conjuring Verfe, he calls to him in the Night whillt he Smoaks a Pipe of Tobacco.

Some have been of Opinion, that this Conceit of the Maboya proceeds from the phlegmatick Nature of the Caribbeeans; who in their melancholy Dreams imagine themfelves to be grievoully beaten by the faid Maboya. But there are fufficient teftimonies to prove, that thefe Heathens have often really fuffer'd much by this Maboya, often appearing to them in fuch horrid fhapes, that the poor Caribbeeanswould fweat and quake at the fight thereof, and inflicting fuch fad Pinches and bloody Stripes all over their Bodies, that they liv'd in perpetual fear of this evil Spirit : and yet notwithttanding thefe cruel Sufferings, they fhew'd no manner of Worfhip to Maboya, onely they believ'd that they had fome eafe, when they wore little Pictures about their Necks, made refembling the Shapes in which Maboya appear'd to them; but their beft Remedy was to flye to the CIriftians.

They believe their Boyezable to refolve any Queftion they ask of them ; particularly, when any one dies, the neareft ally'd to him asks the Boye this Queftion, Whon butions they ha way of living, they give to the other World. Concerning their original brutifh

The moft antient Caribbeeains, living under no other Roof than the Cafect :
 Life an old Man much beamoan'd, when a certain Deity clad in white Apparel defcending down on the Earth, faid, That be would bave come fooner to bave frew'in theen the way of a civil Life, bad they requefted it before. Moreover, the Angel-fhew'd them a place along the Shore where there lay fharpecuteing Stones, with which he told them they might cut down Trees, and with the Timber build themfelves Houfes, and cover them with the Leaves of the Palm-Tree to keep out the Rain; which faid, he broke his Staff into three pieces, which being Planted, foon after produc'd the Root Manioe, which ftamp'd and dry'd, made good Bread.

The Caribbeeans have allo a frange Opinion concerning the Soul, that is to fay, Thrir opiniThat every one hath as many Souls as he hath Pulfes, but the chiefeft is the Heart ing th: soul. it felf, which after Death removes with Jeheizi, (that is every ones peculiar God or Genius) to the Company of the other Deities, where they live after the fame manner as fiere on Earch; wherefore thofe that are Perfons of Quality give Charge at their Deaths, that their Servants may be kill'd and buried with them, that fo they may ferve them in the other World; That the other Souls, which are the Pulfes, are of two forts, whereof the firft call'd Maboya's, range through Woods and Wil. derneffes; and the other call'd The Oumekous, refide along the Sea, and overoturn the Ships that Sail by ; That the Souls of Heroes remove to pleafant and delightful Inands, where they are ferv'd by the Arovages; That Cowards at their Death go behind a high Mountain, where they become perpetual Slaves to the Arovages.

So foon as they hear a clap of Thunder they run into their Huts, and place themfelves on little Stools round the Fire, cover their Faces, and laying their Heads on their Knees, make a doleful noife, as fuppofing that Maboya is exceedingly enrag'd againft them.

Their mamner of Dwelling.

Their Huts, for the moft part buile near Rivers and Streams, are of an oval fafhion, their Roofs made of Palm-Tree Leaves or Sugar.Canes, the Walls nothing but Boughs fet in the Ground and pleited together, and the Floor of fifted Earth or Sand, ramm'd in and kept very even and fmooth; befides a Room wherein they Sleep and Entertain their Friends, they have alfo a Kitchin to drefs their Meat, and a place to lay their Bowes, Arrows, Clubs, and the like, in ; they ufe Mats in ftead of Walls, to feparate one Apartment from the other. Their Houf-hold-ftuff is little; the richeft of them have Hammocks in ftead of Beds; the meaner fort ufe Sticks laid crofs one another, and cover'd thick with the Leaves of the Banana-Tree, made faft at the four corners with Cords. Hollow Calabafhes, and Earthen Ware call'd Canaris, ferve them for their Kitchin Utenfils. In the little Canaris they prepare their Tumalis, or Pepper-pottage, and in the biggeft their Liquor Ovicou.

Their Cleanlinefs may appear by this, that when they go to eafe Nature, they make a Hole in the Ground with a Stick, and after they have done, ftop it up again, burying their Excrement that it may not be feen.

Round about their Huts feed many Hens and Turkies, which they breed not fo much for their own ufe, as to exchange for Iron.

They remove their Habitations very often, either out of fear of being haunted by the Ghoft of fome deceafed Perfón, or to àvoid fome Smell which they find noifom and offenfive, or becaufe their Hut hath been fet on fire by Lightning.
Their Huwfhold Affairs and Diet.

The Women are always employ'd to keep their Families in good order, to prepare Venifon and Fifh for the Mens Tables, to fpin Cotton, Comb their Husbands, and paint them Red. The Men fpend their time in the Wars, Hunting or, Fifhing. They have alfo learn'd of the Europeans to burn Train-Oyl in Lamps in the Night, when as before they burnt Twigs of a gummy Shrub before mention'd, which for that reafon the Hollanders call'd Candle, Wood. Each hath a little Stool, and a Table call'd Mantoutou, on which he eats his Meat when he pleafes, having no fet-Meals. The broad Banana-Leaves ferve, them for Napkins and Tableoclothes. Their chiefeft Dainty is Crabs roafted in the Shell with the Juice of Lemmon and Pyman. At great Feaftsthey drefs their Meat with the Fat of their Enemies, being the Arovages. Their ufual Drink is Mabby, made of Potato's, which refrefhes, and is good againft the Phlegm; allo another Liquor call'd Oko, made of fteep'd Cajfadar, and is like Beer in tafte, ftrength, and colour. They alro by making an incifion into the Palm. Trees, tap a Liquor from the fame in Calabafhes, like White-wine. They ufe little of the Drink Coufcou, becaufe it fivells the Body, notwithftanding it is pleafing to the Palate; But the Liquor which is moft efteem'd a mongtt them, is the Wine made of the Sugar-Canes, which are fqueez'd in Mills made for that purpofe, and then boyl'd in great Kettles. During the dreffing of their Meat swhich being done leifurely, is fometimes half a day before it is ready), théy Sing, and Dance to the Time, which one keeps with a Calabagh fill'd full of litfle Stones, in which chey believe the greateft happinefs they fhall enjoy in the other World confifts: But the Caribbeeans never Dance more antique than when they meet in the Carbet, which is a publick Houfe of Entertainment; whether the Women carry a Drink made of Caffave, which makes Drunk as foon as Wine: The Men bring Fifh and Hedge-hogs; all of them painted with Roncon, and adorn'd with Plumes of Feathers, commit all manner of Debaucheries. At other times they alfo keep Feaftedays, which is either when they are preferr'd to fome Office, or Place of Ho: nor, or when they have defeated their Enemies, or when they mourn for the Death of one of their neareft Relations.

Their Boat's, which they call Periaquo's, are made of fingle hollow Trees, full Their Deans: of Benches, and painted with feveral ftrange Shapes, and are able each to carry fifty or fixty Men.

Their Mufical Inftruments in which they take moft delight, are Drums, Strings Ther Murif of Silk-grafs ftretcht upon Calabafhes, and Flutes miade of the Bones of their Enemies. mens.
in They keep Watches on high Hills, to defcry the Ships off at Sea, and no fooner Their warchhave they efpy'd one, but they immediately give notice to one another; whereupon thofe that are moft valiant put off to Sea in their Canoos, and know by the Languages to diftinguifh between a Spaniard, French-man, Englifh-man, and Hollander. If they find that 'tis an Enemy who Lands on their Coafts, they guard all their Avenues, 1 le in Ambufcades, and gather together in by-ways, and where they fee any advantage they fhoot thoufands of Arrows; which done, they fall in amongft them with great Clubs : but if they chance to be defeated, then they lurk behind Bramble-bufhes, or climb up inacceffible Mountains, or elfe, if near the Sea, they fave themfelves by Diving and Swimming under Water above two hundred Paces before they appear again; and if a Party of them chance to meet together after. wards, they venture a fecond Engagement: But if thofe that come on their Coafts Their Enterare Friends, they Swim, or go in their Boats to meet them, climb up their Ships, tainent and carry the Sea-men on their Shoulders afhore, where the Cafique in the Name of the whole Mland bids them welcome, and conducts them to the Carbet, where an antient Man falutes the old Men, and a Youth the young Men ; after which asking their Names, the Couban calls himfelf by that Name ever after; and defires the Strangers to accept of his Name; during which their changing of Names they ufe many Ceremonies of Friendfhip: this done, they proffer them Cotton Hame mocks to reft themfelves in, and pleafant Fruit to eat, till they have prepar'd other Meat ; which is no fooner Ready, but a little Table is fet before every one of them, and a Difh of Meat confifting of boyl'd Hedge=hogs, boyl'd Crabs, and Potherbs; which if the Guefts do not eat heartily, or drink up all the Liquor which they give them, they take it as a great Affront; but if they eat and drink heartily, they take it kindly, and fhew great forrow at their departure.

Their Offices of Government have been ufually three; the meaneft belong'd to the Tiouboulibauthe, whofe Place was to Govern over the Carbet, a Houfe where Stran. gers were Entertain'd, Matters of War difputed of, and publick Feafts kept. Tioubou. tonti Commanded the Canoos in the time of War, that is, under the Nabalene, who Commanded the whole Fleet: But the chiefeft Officer of all was the Ouboutoz; to which degree of Honor none attain'd, unlefs he had kill'd feveral Aroviages, or at leaft a Governor.

When the Caribbeeans drew all their Forces out of the Iflands to a Battel, then they chofe one out of the Oubouton, who during their March Commanded the Army as General, which his Office ended with the War, and extended no farther than his own Illand.

Their warlike Confultations were no lefs obfervable, for the Ouboutou ap. pointed a Day, on which the Iflanders met at a Feaft in the Carbet, whither they accordingly came all at the time appointed, and having Eat and Drunk, and Danc'd a confiderable time, an antient Woman with tears in her Eyes, and mourn. ful Countenance, enter'd the Carbet, and defir'd Audience; which being granted her, and every one filent, The began to relate the Damages which from antient times the Arovages did to the Caribbeeans; and that in the laft Engagement fo many va. liant Men were fain, and afterwards devour'd by them; therefore it would be a Shame not to take Revenge; which being feconded by the oubouth, put Valor into the Hearts of all that were prefent: Whereupon the following day Meffengers were fent to the other Iflands to acquaint them with their Intentions, that they might prepare their Clubs, maks Charp and poyfon their Arrows, String their Bowes, prepare Provifions, and fit out their Canoos: They poyfon'd their Arrows with the Juice of Manchenillo's, which made the leaft Wound mortal. Their Provifions and Arms chey laid up in their Canoos, fo to preferve their Periaguo's (which are Boats that can carry fifty Men), if they fhould chance to over-fet, which often happen'd, though they were foon turn'd up again. They went from one Illand to another, where they not onely for'd themfelves with frefh Provifions, but increas'd their Fleet with new Affiftants; with which approaching the Main, they hal'd their Boats afhore in the Evening, and driving four Stakes into the Ground under the Trees, made faft their Hammocks to the fame, in which they flept till Mid-night, and then fell on their Enemies, but if difcover'd by them, they retreated to their Boats and return'd home; but if they were not difcover'd, they fell upon the Huts of the Arovages; who refifting, they fhot Arrows with burning Cotton into them, and fo fetting them on fire, forc'd the Arovages to venture a Battel in the open Field; where having fpent all their Arrows, they Engag'd one another with great Clubs, with which at one Blow they broke either Arms or Legs, or knock'd out their Brains. If the Caribbeeans chanc'd to be defeated, then thofe that remain'd of their Party made a lamentable noife, howling for thofe that were kill'd, and mix'd their Tears with the Blood of their flain Friends, whom not without the greateft danger they fetch'd from amongtt their Enemies, and carried them aboard of their Boats : But returning Victors, they were wont to infult over their Prifoners with all the bitter Taunts imaginable, and then taking advantage of thofe fharp $U_{\text {pbraidings }}$ which their cruel ufage extorted from them, to put them to death with moft inhumane Tortures, and then to Feaft themfelves upon their mangled Bodies, all claiming a Right to their feveral Prifoners, as to fo many Beafts appointed to the Slaughter; But of late Ages they have contented themfelves to difpatch them fpee-

As the Arovages had been formerly, fo the Spaniards at length became the Object of the Caribbeeans irreconcileable Hatred, infomuch that oftetimes being Invaded by them, they gave them fuch rough Entertainment, that they were glad to fave them. felves by fight; for the Caribbeeans not regarding their Guns, prefs'd upon them, and many times took Veffels richly laden from them, till of late years that a Peace hath been concluded between them; wherein neverthelefs thofe of the Caribbeeans refufe to be concern'd, that inhabit St. Dominico and St. Vincent, who cannot to this day forget the cruel Outrages committed by the Spaniards.
. To come to their Marriages, they were allow'd as many Wives as they pleas'd to have, infomuch that their Governors were in efteem according to the number of their Wives; nor were degrees of Confanguinity fo regarded, but that an Uncle might take his Neece; whom he no fooner had carried to his Houfe, but the Mar. riage was finifli'd. They feldom Divorc'd their Wives after they had bore them Children, but ocherwife the Man would break the Bond of Marrimony when he pleas'd. A young Man that had no Relation might court a Stranger, and if her Parents allow'd of it, the Match was made. One that had behav'd himfelf valiantly againft the Arovages was fure of feveral good Matches, for he was refus'd by none whom he Courted; and the abundance of Wives was the greateft teftimony of their Valor. Each Wife had a peculiar Dwelling, fo to prevent all Diffentions: So foon as one of them was with Child, her Husband Lay not with her till after Delivery. If any Woman committed Adultery, her Husband was permitted to knock out her Brains, or rip open her Belly; which done, he acquainted her Father with the Deed, who return'd him thanks for the fame. Murderers were either burnt or cut in pieces. Children were born here with litele trouble, for the Women were no fooner Deliver'd, but they carried the Infant to wafh at the next Brook; which done they return'd home to their Houfhold Labor, whileft the Man on the contrary kept his Bed, and ate nothing but a piece of Caffava Bread, which he hollow'd out in the middle, and left the edges till the Feaft, which was kept at the Naming of the Child: Moreover, he fed on all manner of Dainties for a whole year after. But this Cuftom was obferv'd onely at the Birth of the firt Sonn, at which time they fcratch'd the Father's Shoulder with a fharp Curry-combe, at which if he finch'd not, it was accounted a good Omen of the Childs future Valor. At fifteen days old they made Holes in the Childs Ears, Lips, and Noftrils, through which they put a String for the tying on of what-ever Ornamentals. With the like Ceremonies the Child receiv'd a Name, taken from his Predeceffors, Trees, Fifhes, or fome remarkable Paffages during the Mothers bearing of the Infant in her Womb, or of the Father's Lying-in: But this Name was chang'd fo foon as they went to War, or kill'd a Commander of the Arovages, whofe Name they exchang'd for their own : After which the Mothers took feccial care in bringing them up, and at fix Moneths the Children were able to run alone : When they attain'd to the age of two years, they cut off their Hair, at a great Feaft made for that purpofe; from which time forward they exercis'd them in Shooting with Bowes and Ar. sows; to which purpofe they hung up pieces of Meat for them to fhoot at, which they muft either hit down, or Faft.

Their Ceremonies to make Soldiers were very ftrange, viz. The Father con- Initition of ducted his Son to the Carbet, where he told him the Duties of a Soldier, beat him with a Bird of prey, call'd.Mans.fenis, till he had bruis'd the Head of the Bird, and feratch'd his whole Body all over with a Curry-combe till the Blood came, and then put Lemmon Juice into the Wounds, afterwards put him in a Hammock, and hung him up for feveral days without giving him any Meat ; all which Torments and Trials if he endur'd with patience, then he was accounted a good and approved Soldier.

Few bred up their Children to be Boyez, or Priefts; yet thofe that were brought of their up to it, abftain'd from certain Food from their Infancy, and before they could be receiv'd into the Order of Priefthood, they were forc'd to draw Blood from every part of their Bodies.

The Caribbeeans attain to an exceeding great Age : Charles de Rotcl)fort witneffeth, Great 2ef of That in his time there liv'd Men who remembred the firft Arrival of the Spaniards anif under the Command of Chriftopher Columbus, which confider'd, they could not be lefs than each of them a hundred and fixty years old. Many Women alfo were found there, who bare Children after they were eighty years of age : yet neverthelefs they are not free from Sickneffes and Diftempers, which cannot jufly beattributed to the Climate, that being extraordinary healthful, but to their ill Diet. Befides the troublefom Difeafe call'd Pyans, which makes their Bodies fivell full of great Knobs, they have been much troubled with peftilential Sores, occafion'd by the eating of Crabs, and poyfonous Tortoifes, Lamantins, and Hedg-hogs. Againft which Evils they wanted not Medicines, confifting of Herbs, Roots, Gums, and Oyl. The bit. ter Bark of the Chipiou.Tree, fteep'd in Water, and mix'd with Lanbys, hath a fove. raign operation. The like vertue is in the Juyce of the Myby:Tree, which they us'd to take in wardly : and for outward Means, they us'd a Salve made of burnt Caneafhes, temper'd with a Water prefs'd out of a certain Tree. To draw the Matter out of the Sores, they us'd the Juice of Junipa. Letting Blood was never cuftomary. amongft them, but to cut and fcratch the fore part was to them in ftead of Phlebotomy. But if all the fore-mention'd Medicines would not help them, they fled for aid to the Boyez, who immediately order'd the Hut wherein the Patient lay to be made clean, the Table call'd Matoutou to be over-Spread with CafJave, Ouycou, and Garden Fruits, for an Offering to the evil Spirit Maboya, and as many Stools to be plac'd about the fame as there were People to be prefent at the Ceremony; and after that all the Fire and Candles were put out, the Boye enter'd into the Hut about Midnight with a Lighted Roll of Tobacco, then muttering fome words to himfelf, ftamp'd with his left Foot, and blew the Smoak of the Tobacco up into the Air, which done, and tearing the Tobacco in pieces, he threw the fame over the Hut, and call'd up his Spirit, who fhaking the Roof of the Houfe, made a terrible noife; then the Boye drew near to the Patient, fuck'd his Sores, and anointed them with the Juice of funipa ; after which if the fick Perfon recover'd, he made a great Feaft, and an Offering to the aforefaid Spirit : But if the Diftemper were mortal, then the Boye inform'd the Patient's Relations, That his Spirit had compaffion upon the Sick, and was refolv'd to carry him above the Stars, to accompany the other Gods which refide there.

Thus much in general of the Inhabitants of the Ines that lie before Northern -America; it will next be requifite to give you an Account of them in particular.
The number of the Carib= bee Inlands. there fcure re many more in number; for befides that there are a multitude of fmall ob. or thands that are not nam'd, there are of the more confiderable fometimes two Their fevéeral Names. nbrero, Las Virgines, Anguilla, Saba, St.Crux, St. Martin, St. Bartholomenb, Barbouthos or Barboude, Rotonda, Nevis, Euffathius, Antego, Monterrat, Guadalupe, Defeado, Marigalanta, Todos Sanctos, De Aves, Dominico, Martinego, St. Lucia,Barbados, St. Vincent, Bekia, Granada, Tabago, St. Cbriftopher.

Anegada and Sombrero.

Situation of Aisegada and sombreros.

The Colition.

Towards the North-Eaft of Porto Rico, at eighteen Degrees and thirteen Minutes, lies Anegada, feven Leagues long, furrounded with Shoals and Banks, as alfo the neighboring Sombrero, being in the fame Latitude with the other, and fo call'd by the Spaniard, becaufe it appears like a Hat: Both of them being uninhabited, harbor abundance of Birds, amongt which is the Mansfeny, a little Eagle, and the remarkable Colibry, whole Body being a little bigger than a Wren, is adorn'd with divers colour'd Feathers, refembling a Rainebowe; about irs Neck is a Carbuncle red Circle ; the Belly and ends of the Feathers are of a Golden

Chap. XVIII.

Golden colour, the Sides of an Emerauld green, the Bill and Legs black like po: lifh'd Ebony, the Eyes glitering like Diamonds, on the Head a curious green tuft of Feathers: the Cocks far exceed the Hen's in beauty, - they flie fwifter than any Bird whatfoever, and the fluttering of their Wings makes a noife like a Whirl. wind : they live upon the Juice of Flowers, and efpecially of Cotton-Flowers; they fmell like Amber, and build their, Nefts amongtt the thick Leaves of a little Bough, where they cannot eafily be found ; the Neft it felf open towards the South; is curioully made of the fine Fibres of the Plant Pite, furrounded with pieces of Bark, and within fill'd with Cótton, douny Feathers, and Silk; the Eggs oval, are fomewhat bigger than an ordinary Pearl.

In the Moneth of May that fort of Crabs call'd Painted Crabs (for fome have Painede Crabs Violet-colour'd Shells,others yellow, full of purple Specks, and others tawny, with red Streaks) come creeping down the Hills in good order, eat up all the Herbs and Plants, and go four times one after another into the Water to wafh themfelves, which done they return to the Woods; but the Females at a fetotime betake themfelves to the Sea, in which they Lay their Eggs, which afterwards being caft on the fandy Shore, and warm'd by the Beams of the Sun, produce young Crabs in a fhort time, which no fooner come out of the Shell, but creep towards the Woods, when grown fomewhat bigger they climb up the Rocks, where the old ones keep in vaft multitudes, and fop up the Entrance of their Holes in fuch a manner, that they cannot be found ouit, whileft they caft off their Shell, creeping out backward through an opening at the Tail fcarce difcernable; thus for a certain time they lie bare, and ftript of their Shells, being onely cover'd with a thin Skin, which growing harder and harder, becomes at laft a firm Shell like the former.

Thefe Crabs are a wholfom Meat, unlefs they feed under the Mancheneel. Trees, which commonly are poyfonous.

Sect. III.

Las Virgines.

NEar Sombrero, at eighteen Degrees, lie alfo the two Ines Las Virgimes, fure Siuation of $L$ Lurimb. rounded by ten others (and flat Shelves), without Trees or frefh Water; but the' Sea thereabouts abounds with Fifh, and chiefly with the Perroket, which hath Scales like a Carp, but greenifh ; the Eyes furrounded with Silver Circles fhine very bright; in fead of Teeth they have ftrong Jaw-bones, wherewith they Grind all manner of Shell-fifh, which are their Prey. Thefe Fifh have an ex. cellent Rellifh, and weigh generally twenty Pound.

Here is likewife great plenty of the Dorade, which is a very large Fifh, and about five Foot long, full of little Scales, with a prickly Back, two Fins at the parting of the Head, and as many under the Belly. This Fifh fwimming very fwift, often. times follows the Ships that Sail that way.

Sect. IV.

Anguilla.

'upon the fame, whofe Boughs bend towards the Ground; the Leaves are not un. like thofe of an Oak; the Flowers both in fmell and Thape come near the Narciffus; the Wood firm and grey, may be neatly Plan'd ; the Tree bears frefh Leaves every Moneth, anda Fruit like Apples, which generally crack in their fall from the Tree, becaufe of their thin Shell, as hath been already defcrib'd.

The Oculiem, or Vine, makes the Shore alfo very pleafant; the Leaf round and thick, hath a mixture of Red and Green ; the Bark inclofeth a Violet-colour'd Wood ; the Boughs whereof are loaded with Violet Grapes, which in ftead of Kernels contain hard Stones.

SEct. V.
Saba.

Situation of
Saba.

vVEftward from Anguilla, at feventeen Degrees and thirty five Minutes, lies Saba, which fhews at a great diftance like a Rock. The Inhabi. tants of St. Eufathius going thither, found a pleafant Valley, able to maintain many Families.

The Sea about this Ifland is fo clear, that a Stone may be feen lying on the bottom of it.
The Fifh
Boxito.
Amongit many other forts of Fifh, the Bonito is the moft remarkable, which is thick and flefhy, two Foot long, with a dark green Back, and white Belly without Scales; Ir devours greedily all manner of Carrion.

Sect. VI.

St. Crux.

Situation and firit Plantation of St. crux.

NOrth of St. Cbriftophers, in eighteen Degrees and fome Minutes, lies St. Crux, which the Caribbeeans who were beaten by the Apalachites, firft inhabiting, call'd Ayay, where Columbus found great oppofition, for the Women them. felves thot poyfonous Arrows at the Spaniards; and before the Iflanders fubmitted to them, they took many Spanijh Ships, burnt their Villages, and flay'd many of the Spaniards alive. The Soil, though Hilly, is rich and fruitful.

The Englifh Landing here Amo 1587. found a ftanding Pool, whofe Water made fwell the Faces of thofe who wafh'd themfelves with the fame before Sun-rifing, in fuch a manner, that they were not able to fee for feveral days after; but they at laft found a Fountain of wholfom Water.
The feveral
Changes of $\quad$ Since the Spaniards deftroy'd the Inhabitants of this Ifland, it lay defolate for a confiderable time, notwithftanding it hath fourteen Leagues in length, and litcle lefs in breadth, till at laft the Engligh and Hollanders took poffeffion of the fame, each in a peculiar place; but not agreeing together, the Englifh fell upon the Hollanders, and made themfelves Mafters of the Ifland in 1649. and not long after they were ferv'd in the fame kind; for the Spaniard judging them to be weakned by the Hollan. ders removing from the Ifland, fet Sail thither from Porto Rico, burnt all the Houfes, nlew the Inhabitants, and brought St. Crux again under the Spanifh Government. Mean while the Lord Poincy fitted out two Sail of French Ships, to drive the Spaniards from St. Crux, and fucceeded in his Enterprize; for the Spaniards immediately fled to their Ships, left at liberty fome Holland Prifoners whom they had taken, and the Illand in poffeffion of the French; who ftraightway fent Captain Auger thither as Governor, who defign'd to build a Fort to fecure the Harbor, But died before the fame was finifh'd. Poincy fucceeding him, made an end of the Fort, and for'd the Ifland with Ammunition and Provifion. The Crofs-Church built there by the Or der, and at the Coft of a Company of Flufhing in Holland, was deliver'd allo to the Erench.

The Trees which grow here are of four beneficial kinds, ferving for four feve- Fruit-Tress. ral ufes; fome yield Fruits of a pleafant tafte, and wholfom to eat ; fome excellent Medicines ; others Timber for Building; and others Stuff to Dye with.
Granates, Oranges, Lemmons, and Citrons, grow better here than in any place of the World.

But the $P_{\text {apaye-Tree is particularly worthy of our Defcription; It grows twenty The Papery: }}$ Foot high, without Boughs, thick and ftreight, hollow and §pungy within, bears three.corner'd Leaves hanging on long Stalks, hollow in the middle, and of a Fin. gers thicknefs; on the top round about the Body of the Tree, grow a fort of Fruic like Quinces.

This fort of Papaye-Tree grows on moft of the Caribbee Iflands; but the fecond fort call'd Mamoa, is to be found no where but on St. Crux; it hath more Leaves than the firf, and a yellow Bark with green Streaks, within full of round and fharp biting Grains; the Bloffoms thereof yield a fweet fmell; every Moneth the Tree produces new Fruit, not unlike a Womans Brealt (whence it hath its Deno. mination as before obferv'd, and rellifhing incomparably well.

SEG安. VII.

St. Martin.

NOt far from St. Crux, at eighteen Degrees and fixteen Minutes, lies St. Martin, siturion of which hath feven Leagues in length and five in breadth; and is famous for many excellent Salt-Mines'; to preferve which, the Spaniards built a City and Fort there.

Adrian Peter and Martyn Tby/zoon, fent with eleven Sail of Ships from the Texel The Ducth by the Wef-India Company, to Crufe for the Spanifh Plate.Fleet before the Flemmigh Ines, finding their labor loft, Steer'd to the Inlet of Todos los Sanitos; where finding no Enemies Ships, they Sail'd along the Coaft of Pernamback, and from thence (meeting with no Prize) to the Caribbee Iflands; and Landing on Granada, receiv'd fome damage from the Inhabitants : thence going to Blanca, they got above a thoufand Goats, and ten thoufand Lemmons from Hifpaniola; - near Cuba. they were furd pris'd with continual Thunder, Showers, and Storms, which forc'd them to ftand to and again off the Ifland a confiderable time, where they thought to wait for the Spanifh Ships that came from Nombre de Dios; but being lefeated of their aim; by reafon that Fleet was re-inforc'd with a confiderable Supply, they fet Sail Hino 1629. towards the City and Fort of St. Martin, where coming to an Anchor they found the Place in this condition : On the right fide of the City glides a freft. Water River, with many meandring Streams from the Mountains; on the left fide the Ocean makes a great Opening or Bay, which for a little fpace growing narrower, becomes at laft an Inland Lake; from the Countrey oppofite to the City on the other fide of the fore-mention'd Inlet, runs a Ridge of Hills toward the Sea; on the utmof Point thereoffands a fquare Fort, defended from the force of the Water with great Soonos, pyl'd up at the Foot thereof, cover'd like a Houff, having on the top of it a Watchotower, and not far from' it a Chappel; moreöver, the Mountain

Calvaria, rifes on each fide and behind the City, with high Precipices; not far from the Mouth of the River appears a ftrong Caftle with feveral Bulwarks, and thereon great Guns; along the Inlet is a fair Market-place ; in the middle of the City ftands a Church Confecrated to Dominicus, near which there is a large Hofpital, which fronts the Sea; the Cathedral ftands at the farther end of the City, and on the declivity of a Mountain a fair Chappel; near the great Fort the Gover. nor hath a pretty Palace; nor are the Francifcan Cloyfters much inferior to any of the other Structures of this City, which taken altogether bears a good Form, by reafon of the uniformity of the Streets.

The Ifland polfefs'd by the Dusch. Ruiter hearing of,brought feveral People from St.EuStathius, and took poffeffion of it in the Name of the States of the United Netherlands: Yet they enjoy'd not long the entire Propriety, for the Spaniards again went and claim'd thofe Places which were theirs upon the firf gaining of the Ifland; which the Hollanders allowing them, they liv'd peaceably and quietly together, each having their own Churches, Storehoufes, Land, and Negro's. The Dutch Plantation was maintain'd by the Zealand Lords, Lamfen, and Van Ree.

There are divers Pools of falt Water in this Ifland, which afford the Inhabitants fore of Fifh, and efpecially Tortoifes.

The Woods produce wild Hogs, Pigeons, Turtle-Doves, and Parraquito's re. fembling a Parrot, and which though much fmaller, are more ape to be taught.
Near the Saltopools alfo breed Birds call'd Flammans, not unlike a Jack-daw, onely differing in Feathers, for they are firft whice, next afh-colour'd, and at laft turn red ; they feldom flye or fit alone, but for the moft part in great Flocks in open places, and Moorifh Grounds; when fome of them feek for their. Food under Water, one of them ftands Centinel, and on the leaft noife or appearance of a Man, gives notice by Chirping to the reft, who hereupon immediately flee away; thofe that fhoot them lie commonly hid under an Ox Hide.

About the fame Pools breed likewife the American Swallows, with crooked Bills, Feet like Ducks, black Bodies, white Bellies, and long Tails.

Sect. Vili,

St. Bartholomew:

NEar St. Martin, at fixteen Degrees, lies the Ifland St. Bartholomerb, which be- Situarion and ing about five Leagues in circumference, is furrounded with Rocks, and of Str. Barr. was firft Planted by De Poincy: It makes a delightful Profpect, becaufe of tholemme. the many Trecs which grow on the fame; amongft which the moft noted are the Soap-Trees, whofe Wood makes the Water Lather, and wafhes as well as Soap; but they are of two forts, for in fome this foapy Quality is contain'd in a round yellow Fruit, not unlike a Plumb; in othersa white foft Root fupplies the office.

The little Tree Canopia, out of whofe Bark drops a Gum, grows alfo very plea= $\begin{gathered}\text { The Campia. } \\ \text { Tree. }\end{gathered}$ fant, the Body being divided into feveral Branches; the Leaves are difcolour'd, being underneath of a dark Green, and of a brighter at the top; the Flower confifts of five Leaves, and clofes at laft into a kind of Cherry, full of yellow Juice, and white Pulp; it bloffoms generally in October and December, and bear ripes Berries the two following Moneths: a Fire being made about the Tree caufeth the Bark to crack, whereby it yields abundance of Gum, chiefly us'd in Medicine for its opening and loofening Quality.

Likewife the Paretuive. Tree, which grows along by the Sea-fide and by Pools, is The Farrfufficiently remarkable, for the Boughs thereof grow downwards, twin'd and pleited together fo thick, that in time of War they ferve for Bulwarks, and are the Receffes of wild Swine.

Moreover, on this Ifland, as on all the other hereabouts, grow Calabafh-Trees, The Calubajbs. which have thick Boughs and oval Leaves joyn'd one to another, and bear every Moneth frefh Flowers and Fruit, grey Flowers, mark'd with green Streaks and black Spors, and Fruit with hard Shells, full of juicy Meat and flat Seeds, which being taken out ferve for Boxes, Cups, or little Diffes.

Along the Shore is alfo found a fort of Fifh call'd the Sea-Star, which is a yellowifh Fifh, whofe hard Skin full of little Knobs fhoot forth five Darts or Beams; in formy Weather they faften themfelves to the Rocks.

No lefs wonderful is the Fifh call'd the SeaoApple, whofe brown Skin is full of Prickles, which when the Fifh dies fall off, nothing remaining but a white Shell, curioully embroider'd with little Holes.

On the Banks, and near the Rocks, growalfo Sea-Trees, whofe thickeft Boughs putting forth fill leffer and leffer Branches, are pleited together very wonderfully, and being all glaz'd as it were with Salt-petre, feem greyifh.

THe Ifle Rotonda, which is much leffer, hath receiv'd that Denomination from its round Form, for it rifes in the middle into a Hill, whith at a diftance appears like a Steeple; It lies at feventeen Degrees and ten Minutes. The Sea about the fame being very deep, makes a good coming to the Ifland with Ships.

Nevis.

IN fight of Rotonda, at feventeen Degrees ând nineteen Minutes, lies Nevis, which hath fix Leagues in circumference. Out of the middle of the Ifland rifes a, Mountain all over wooddy; round about which the Englifh, who Setled there Anno 1628. have their Plantations, and have increafed from a fmall number to above three thoufand, and make a good Advantage of their Sugar, Ginger, Cotton, and Tobacco, which they Plant there.

There are allo three Churches, which on the Sabbath-Day are all throng'd with People, who refort thither for the Worfhip and Service of God.

The Harbor call'd Bath-Bay, and the Store-houfe built about the fame, are fecured by 2 great Fort full of great Guns.

Several Springs on this Illand afford the Inhabitants good Water. Here is alfo a Mineral Spring, a place to Bathe in, which hath been found to cure the fame Di* ftempers which the Waters at Bourbon have done.

Chap. XVIII.

Moreover, this Inland abounds with the Pijtacie or Piffick-Nuts, which grow on Tha pefickfinall Trees, with foft long Leaves, round at bottom, and ending in three Points: Thefe Trees being commonly full of thick Boughs, ferve commodioufly for Hedges; the Wood and Leaves fweat a milky Juice, dropping out of the fame with the Rain ; the yellow Flowers which grow on the fame are like glittering Stars, and the tafte of the Nuts like a Hazle; but if the Skin which covers che Kernel be not pull'd off before they are eaten, they purge to Death.

But the great Profit which Nevis receives by Nature is attended with fome In, The 2 musfi: conveniences, which trouble this and all the other Iflands: amongt many may be reckon'd the Mufticho's; a fort of little Bugs, whofe poyfonous Sting caufes fuç initolerable Itching, that thofe who are ftung by them cannot forbear to fcratch themfelves till the Blood comes, by which their Sores feftering, prove offen very dangerous.

Alfo the Muringoins, who are fo much the lefs darigerous, becaufe they make al- The suribo ways a great noife before they fing.

Walps likewife are here very troublefom, but their Stings are cur'd with Rue, 2s the Stings of Scorpions are with the Juice prefs'd out of the fame Animal.

The Wood-Lice, which are here in great abundance, have a foft and white Bo- Wood-Lit: dy, onely the Head, which is mark'd with a black Speck; their Mouthes are fo very hard, that in two hours time they eat through thick Chefts. And no lefs damage do the Bapettos.
But the Chigos are a kind of fmall Fleas, that breed in Duft, Afhes, and the like, and cligor: are of all the moft pernicious; they firft get in under the Nails of the Toes, and from thence run over all the Body, but efpecially the bottoms of the Feet, where they firft occafion an Itching, and then eat Holes through the Skin; they make Blifters as big as Peafe in the Flefh, wherein a fwarm of young ones breeding, caufe Ulcers and rotten Flefh, which muft be eaten away with Aqua-fortis and burnt Allom.

Sect. XII.

Euftathius.

EUfathius, which is rather a Mountain, rifing out of the Ocean like a sugaro simaion of Loaf, than an Ifland, lies at feventeen Degrees and forty Minutes: It hath fcarce five Leagues in circumference, yet receiv'd fome while fince a Colo. ny of above fixteen hundred People, fent thither from the States of the United Nes therlands, under the Command of the Lords Lampfen and Ree. Befides the natural Strength of the Place, whereby a few are able to keep off a great number, it is fortifid with a ftrong Fort, which Commands the Harbor. The Inhabitants are very induftrious, and make great profit of the Tobacco which they Plant.

In the midft of this Ifland is a Mountain over-grown with Trees, which feems to end in a Point, and hath about it a pleafant Plain.

The abundance of Fowls, Hogs and Goats, afford the Inhabitants ftore of Provifions; for their Store-houfes are never fo empty, but that they can fupply their Neighbors Wants.

The want of frefh=water Brooks they fupply with Rain-water, which they preferve in Cifterns.

Though the Air of the Ifland be wholfom, and the Soil fruitful, yet it is fubject to many great Inconveniences; for befides the cerrible Thunder-claps and Earth-

[^6] happen but once in feven years, but of late every two years, and fometimes twice in a year. What damage thefe Winds caufe is fcarce to be exprefs'd; the Sea raifing its turbulent Waves up to the Skyes, cafts the Ships on the Shore, which though in Harbor, are certain to be wrack'd, whileft the Land feems to labor under a general Ruine, whole Woods being rooted up by the fame, or at leaft bereav'd of Boughs and Leaves; the Corn is beaten down, the Plants blafted, Houfes turn'd topfie-turvy, Mountains rent afunder, and fometimes pieces of Rocks blown into the Sea. Before the Hurricanes there are feveral fore-runners, which give notice of their fudden approach, viz. the Sea on a fudden is fo calm, that the leaft motion is not perceiv'd; the Birds flye from the Mountains into the Valleys, where they lay themfelves flat on the Ground; and the Rain which falls is bitter and falt.

Charles de Rochfort obferv'd, that in his time fome Ships laden with Tobacco being loft in a Hurricane before St. Chriftophers, foon after the Tempeft ceafed, thou* fands of Fifhes were feen fwimming with their Bellies upwards, intoxicated no doubt with the Tobacco.

Sect. XIII.

Antego.

Situation of Antrgo.

BEtween Nevis and Monterrat, at fixteen Degrees and eleven Minutes, lies Antego, being feven Leagues long, and about fix broad; It is dangerous to come at with great Ships, becaufe of the many Rocks which lie before it, and remain'd the longer uninhabited, becaufe of the want of frefh Water; yet at laft the Enolifh taking poffeffion of it, digg'd Pits, and made Troughs to catch and preferve Rain-water in, fo that it is now inhabited by at leaft eight hundred Peo. ple, who live on Plants, Venifon, and Fifh.

Upon the Sea-fhore appears often-times the Sword-fifh, which hath no Scales, but a grey Skin, and white Belly, rough like a Fyle, a flat Head, two Fins on each fide, two on the Back, and one in ftead of a Tail, with which it makes a fwift mo. tion : the Sword of it is a long Bone, arm'd on each fide with twenty feven whice and ftrong Teeth. This Fifh Atriving to be Chief of the Sea, Encounters with all other Fifhes whatfoever, even with the Whale himfelf, whofe Belly he often rends open ; near his Eyes aretwo Noftrils, out of which he blows the Water he drinks into the Air.

SECT. XIV.

Montferrat.

Defcription of Monterertat.

MOntferrat, lying juft at the feventeenth Degree, is fo call'd from a Spanifh Hill beyond Barcellona, whofe fhape this Illand reprefents off at Sea; It is about three Leagues in length, and almoft as much in breadth, and is very Mountainous, except a little towards the Eaft, and as much Weftward.

The Englifh have a Church here, iln'd in the in-fide with Cedar, which this Illand produces in great abundance.

Alfo the Acajou-Tree, which grows an exceeding heighth, with mighty Boughs, The ixajouunder which many judge it very wholfọm to fleep: But there are two forts of the Acajou-Tree, the one differing from the other in tallnels of Body and Colour; of which the moft efteem'd is the red and fweet-fmelling, which is not fubject to any decay; for that which is white, and yields Gum when cut, is of a lefs value.

The Acomas is alfo no way inferior in bignefs to the Acajou, which bears long Tre itemenfwarthy Leaves, and yellow Fruit not unlike a Plumb; but becaufe of their extra. ordinary bitternefs they are not eatable, onely the wild Pigeons at a certain time of the year feed on them, after which their Flefh becomes bitter alfo; from the Bark when cut, runs a milky Juice.

The Cyprefs-Trees when plan'd, yield a pleafant Marble colour to the Eye, and $\frac{\text { The Cyprefs. }}{\text { Tres. }}$ a delightful fragrance to the Scent.

The Iron-Tree, with fharp-pointed Leaves, crack'd near the Stalk, bloffoms in ${\underset{T}{\text { Tree }} \text { Trons }}_{\text {Tre }}$ Marcla and September; after the Violet Bloffoms follow a black kind of Fruit like a Cherry, being an excellent Food for Birds; the Wood whilft flourifhing is red, but cut down changes its colour, yet is fo hard that it never decays.
Moreover the Musk-Herb yields a fweet fmell, and grows like. Brambles with- The Muk: out Thorns, between long dusky Leaves hang yellow Flowers, which afrerwards Herb. become Cods full of Seeds, that fmell exactly like Musk.

SECT. XV.

Guadalupe.

GUadalupe, or Gardelupe, formerly call'd Carricueira, lying at about fixteen Dc- siruarion of. grees, and containing fixty Leagues in circumference (for it is the biggeft and nobleft of the (aribbee Intands,) is divided in two by a narrow Chan. nel; wherefore one part is call'd Grand-Terre, and the other properly Guadalupe; whofe Eaftern Point, nam'd Cabes-Terre, and its Weftern, call'd Bafe.Terre, are both inhabited by the French.

Several high Mountains, efpecially towards the Center, fart up from very low Mountains. Grounds, with their barren Crowns towards the Skye, Jome whereof are over. grown with Trees:

At the Feet of fome of the Mountains are large Plains, water'd by fweet Streams which formerly invited the Spanijh Fleets thither to water.

There is alfo a fulphurous Mountain, which fmoaking continually gives the tafte of Sulphur to the Streams which flow about the fame.

This Inand boants likewife feveral boyling Springs which cure the Dropfie, and all other Diftempers proceeding from Colds.

Towards each of the two fore-mention'd Points, are large Gulphs that produce strange Eini abundance of Tortoifes, and all manner of Fifh, and amonglt others one fort not known by Name, which is generally about four Foot long, having a fharp and big Head, with glittering Eyes, a Back Areak'd with blue and green, and a Belly half white and half red, eight yellow Fins, and a broad Tail, with which it fwims exceeding fwifr.

Near the Shore fwim the Sharks, an ugly Sea Monfter, which bites a Man afun. The Shark. der in the Middle at once; their Head is hard and prickly, their flat Mouthes open. ing difcover three rows of Teeth.

After this Fifh fwims generally the Pilot-Fifh, or Rambos, which is $\{0$ curioufly The Piofe. fecekled, that Nature feems herein to excell what-ever can be reprefented by the artificial Pencil) and move either (wifter or flower, according as the Shark leads. The Brain of this Fifh is judg'd exceeding good againft the Gravel and Stone.

Itradievar

Guadalupe was firt difcover'd in the Year of our Lord 1635 . by the French, under the Command of the Lords $\operatorname{Du}$ Ple ßis and De Olive, and after them one of the Captains of St. Chrifophers : Since which the Champain Ground being Till'd and Manur'd, brings forth in great plenty, Rice, Maiz, Manicock, and Potato's.

Father Raymond Breton got poffeffion of the fruitfulleft part of the Ifland for the Reformed Jacobines, or White-Fryers, and fince the prefent Governor Monfieur $D_{e}$ Howell fent alfo for the Fefuits and Carmelites, oo build Cloyfters in a new City, which lies in Baffe Terre, and which is alfo built full of Storehoufes and Dwelling-houfes two Stories high.

The Cafte, which lies near the City, hath four Bulwarks, with great Guns. The next neighboring Mountain is alfo crown'd with a Garrifon'd Fort.

bann-1 iree.
The Countrey hereabouts bears Moubane-Trees, which produce yellow oval Plumbs with great Stones, wherewith the Hogs are exceedingly fatned.
The corbary. The Corbary', which grows higher than the Moubane, hath a hard fhelly Fruit, in which lies a douny Pulp of a Saffron colour: The Gum which drops out of the Tree is hardned by the Sun, and becomes very clear, wherefore the Caribbeeans make ufe of it for Arm.rings, and other Ornaments.

SECt. XVI.

Defeado.

Situation of Defoado.

TEn Leagues to the North.Weft of Guadalupe, and at fixteen Degrees and ten Minutes, appears Defeado, or Defirado, like a Galley, of which the NorthEaft end hath a low Point; to the Northward lie Sand-Hills full of red Veins: It was fo call'd by Cbriftopher Columbus in his fecond Voyage, from obtaining of his Defire, it being the firft of the Caribbees which he difcover'd, as St. Salvador the firft Land in all America.
2he Ganon: The Soil is wholly barren, and deftitute of Trees, and breeds the amphibious Creatures call'd Guano's, which in ftead of Fins to fwim withal, have four Feet; the biggeft of them are fifteen Inches long; their Skin full of little Scales fhines like Silver, and in the Night they make a loud and fhrill noife from the Holes in the Rocks.
The frigness: On this defolate Illand are an innumerable company of Fowls, call'd Frigates, which have a Body like a Duck, but larger Wings, and flye fwifter; fo foon as they perceive a Fifh in the Water, they falling upon the fame, catch them in their Claws, and efpecially dèvour abundance of fyying Fifh.
The Fanvos: But the Fauves, which are much leaner, are no way fo fwift; they refemble a Moor-Hen, have Feet like Ducks, Bills like a Snipe, and in rainy Nights reft on the Ships in ftead of Rocks, fo that many times they become an eafic prey to the Mariners.

Sect. XVII.  Marigalante.

Situation of AEarigalante. Ot far from hence, at fifteen Degrees and forty Minutes, appears Marigalante, like a Wood in the Water.

On the South.Eaft fide, about half a League from the Shore, lie black full of white Specks. Wefterly the Shore is very plain, whither the Governor Monfieur De Howell fent fome People from that Ifland, of which twenty were kill'd by the Caribbeeans, who had Gardens and Fifh-ponds thereon: Not long afs. ter which Howell built a Fort here, and Garrifon'd the fame with French-men.

The Woods afford a delightful fight to the Eye, as allo the Cinamion=Trees, whofe Leaves never wither, a fweet fmell to the Nofe.

The Ocean hereabouts produces plenty of Lamantins, which are dry'd like Ha. The Finh laberdine. This Fifh grows eighteen Foot long and feven thick; the Head thereof is like a Cows, with little Eyes, and a thick brown Skin, rough and fpeckled in fome places, and hath two little Feet in ftead of Fins; it feeds on Weeds, which grow on the Rocks and Banks; the Females bring two young ones at a time, which fuck for fome days; their Flefh palatable and whollom, is Itreak'd with Fat, which when melted never putrifies; they are oftner taken in the Mouthes of Rivers than in the Ocean.

Abour this Ifle, as well as the reft of the Caribbees, are Fifhes call'd Sea-Devils, The sun-Dtfour Foot long, and proportionably thick, their Skins rough, their Heads flat, their Backs arm'd with Prickles, little black Eyes, wide Mouthes full of Teeth, and two Tusks that ftick out of the fame, four Fins, a long flit Tail, with which they fwim exceeding fwift, above their Eyes ftick broad fharp Horns turn'd towards the Back; the Flefh is deadly poyfon.

The Becune, which is eight Foot long, falls upon a Fifh like a mad Dog, biting The sismm: great pieces of the Flefh out of the Body, which occafions prefent Death; its Flefh is likewife poyfon.

Sect. XVIII.

Todos Sanctos.

SOuthward from Guadalupe, and at the fame Latitude with Marigalante, lie four Siruaino of defolate Ifles, call'd Todos Sanclos, and on their Shores a fort of Shell-fifh call'd soder Sanian Lambis, from the refemblance of a Tongue; the Shells whereof the Indians carious form Sound in ftead of Horns when they give an Alarm; as alfo another fort call'd Por ${ }^{\text {of sterlles }}$ celenes, of which the moft efteem'd are without of a Carnation, and within of a Silver, or Skye-colour mix'd with Golden Beams. The next are the Black, mix'd with a pale Blue, and little Veins. But the moft remarkable Shells are thofe, whofe Back Nature hath mark'd in fuch a manner with Mufical Notes, that one might almoft exprefs a Tune by them.

Moreover, it would amaze the Beholder, to fee the Mother-of.Pearl Oyfter mos $\begin{aligned} & \text { Mather-of. } \\ & \text { Pearl } \mathrm{Oy} \text { : }\end{aligned}$ ving at the Foot of a Rock; for at the Rifing of the Sun they appear above the Wa, fers. ter, and gape for the Dew, of which they have no fooner receiv'd a Drop, but they clofe their Shells, and fall to the Ground again.

SECT. XIX.

De Aves.

 lies the Ine De Aves.Befides Ducks, Pluvers, Moor-hens, Geefe, and the like Fowls (that fuffer themfelves to be catch'd by she Hands of Men, which are very ftrange Aigrotios. Aigrettos, which are fomewhat bigger than Crows, with red Bills and Feer, and curious Plumes on their Heads; they often llye a great way off at Sea.

Craw.fowl. long flat Bill, hollow Eyes, and a fhort Neck; under which hangs the Maw, big enough to contain a Pail full of Water: On the Trees along the Searfide they watch for Fifh which fwim near the top of the Water, and by their attentivenefs on their Prey, are eafily fhot themfelves.

Here is likewife the Bird Arras, of the bignefs of a Pheafant, but more refembling a Parraquito: their long Tail confifts of divers colour'd Feathers, fome have fhining skye=colour'd Heads, Backs, and Necks, their Bellies and Wings of a pale Yellow; they are fo ftout, or rather fo fimple, that if they are not hit with the firft Shot, they will ftay for a fecond: They alfo learn to talk, but not fo diftinctly as the Canides, which are no way inferior in beauty to the Arras, nay exceed them very much: Monfieur $d u$ Montell above mention'd, Teeing one at Coraffap, deferibes it after this manner :
"It deferves to be numbred (faith he) amongीt the moft beautiful Birds in the "World : I took fo particular notice of it, having had of them in my Hands ma- "ny times, that I have the Idea's of it fill frefh in my Memory. Under the Belly, "Wings, and Neck, it was of a waving Aurora-colour, the Back, and one half of "the Wings, of a very bright Skye-colour, the Tail and greater Feathers of the "Wings were mix'd with a fparkling Carnation, diverfifid with a Skye-colour, "as upon the Back a Grafs-green and fhining Black, which very much added to "t the Gold and Azure of the other Plumage: But the moft beautiful part was the "Head, cover'd with a Murrey Doun, checquer'd with Green, Yellow, and a pale "Blue, which reach'd down wavingly to the Back: The Eye-lids were white, " and the Apple of the Eye yellow and red as a Ruby Set in Gold: It had upon "the Head a certain Tuft or Cap of Feathers of a Vermilion Red, Parkling like a " lighted Coal, which was encompafs'd by feveral other leffer Feathers of a Pearl. " colour.
"If it were recommendable for all thefe extraordinary Ornaments, it was much ".more for its Familiarity and Innocency; for though it had a crooked Beak, and "that the Claws with which it held its Meat and brought it to its Beak, were fo " fharp as to take away whatfoever it faftned upon, yet was it fo tame as to play "with little Children and never hurt them;and when one took him into his Hand, "he fo contracted his Claws, that the fharpnefs of them could not be felt: He had "this Quality of a Dog, That he would Lick with his fhort and thick Tongue "thofe who made much of him and gave him fomething he lik'd, put his Head to "their Cheeks to Kifs'and Carefs them, and expreffing his Acknowledgments by "a thoufand pretty Infinuations, he would fuffer himfelf to be put into what po"fture one would, and took a certain pleafure in diverting thofe he thought his "Friends: But as he was mild and tractable to thofe who were kind to him, fo "was he mifchievous and irreconcileable to fuch as had injur'd him, and he could "diftinguifh them from others, and make them feel the fharpnefs of his Beak " and Claws.
"He pratled in the Duich, Spanifh, ànd Indian Languages, and in the laft he fung Airs " as a natural Indian: He alfo imitated the Cries of all forts of Poultrey and other " Creatures about the Houfe; he call'd all his Friends by their Names and Sir" names, flew to them as foon as he faw them, efpecially when he was hungry; if "they had been abfent, and that he had not feen them a long time, he exprefs'd

Chap. XVIII.

"his joy at their return by certain merry Notes; when he had fported himfelf till " chey were weary of him, he went away, and perch'd himfelf on the top of the "Houfe, and there he talk'd, fung, and play'd a thoufand tricks, laying his Fea"thers in order, and dreffing and cleaning himfelf with his Beak. He was eafily "kept; for not onely the Bread commonly us'd in that Ifland, but all the Fruits "i and Roors growing there, were his ordinary Food; and when he had more gi"ven him than he needed, he carefully laid up the remainder under the Leaves " wherewith the Houle was cover'd, and took it when he had need. In a word, I " never faw a more loving or more amiable Bird; 'rwas a Prefent for any Prince, "if he could have been brought over the Sea. This Bird had been brought from " the Caribbee Illands to Monfieur Rodenborck, then Governor of the Fort and Dutch "Colony; which is in the Ifland of Coraf $\mathrm{a}_{\mathrm{a}}$.

Dominico.

AT. fifteen Degrees and thirteen Minutes, lies the Ifland Dominico, fo call'd be. caufe it was difcover'd on a Sunday, about thirty Leagues long, and not much lefs in breadth, and diverfifid with high Mountains, and exceeding deep Valleys; of which the Caribbeeans that dwell there relate, That formerly in one of the deepeft of them, a huge and monftrous Serpent had an Army of Serpents to defend an invaluable Carbuncle which he had in his Head; which being cover'd with a thin Skin, was onely difcernable when he drank or play'd, for then the luftre thereof lightned the whole Valley.

When firft the French approach'd this Coaft with their Ships, the Iffanders go. ing Aboard in their Canoos, barter'd Provifions for Coral, Cryftal, and other Trifles.

On this Ine allo grows the famous Manchenile-Tree, which bears long Leaves, The Manchs: and fweet fmelling Fruit, ftreak'd red, and tafting like a Hazle. Nut, but bringing 2 deadly Sleep upon thofe that eat of it ; it feldom rots though it fall into the Sea, or any frefh Rivers, but is crufted over with a Shell refembling Salt-petre, and poyfons the Water in fuch a manner, that all the Fifh dying, are feen floating upon it; in the Trunk and Boughs thereof is a milky Juice, which dropping upon the Body, caufes it to break out in Scabs, and if it chances to touch the Eyes; it takes away the Sight for nine days: and not lefs hurtful is the Moifture which drops from the Tree.

The Caribbeeans dip their Arrows in this poyfonous Juice, againft which Nature hath provided an excellent Medicine, being as followeth:

There are amongft the other Reptiles of America a fort of Snails, which creep A medidne into the Legs of dead Crabs, to keep themfelves from the Weather; when taken $\begin{aligned} & \text { paininf the } \\ & \text { porfo the }\end{aligned}$ they make a noife, and being laid before the Fire they come forth; the Water ${ }^{\text {Hamburito. }}$ fqueez'd out of them, or the Oyl drawn from them by the Sun, cures the Parrs poyfon'd by the ManchenilesTree.

Martinico.

Sinution of Shertinico.

OPpofite to Dominico lies Martinico, by the Indians nam'd Matunina, which lying at fourteen Degrees and thirty Scruples, is forty five Leagues in circumference; It appears at a diftance like chree Mountains, the higheft whereof refembles a Hat, and is feen in all parts of the Illand, which, on the North where three Rocks deny accefs for Landing, feems to be divided into three Illes.

The Caribbeeans have been forc'd, after many bloody Battels, to furrender up this Ifland to the French: But before they were well fetled, the Caribbeeans marching over exceeding high Mountains, deep Concavities, and thick Woods, fell upon them with all the Rage imaginable : the Reafons of which fome attribute to $\mathcal{D u}$ Parquet, who in prejudice of the Martinican Caribbeeans, fent Frencb=men over to Granada and Alouzia: others fuppofe, that they took up Arms to revenge the Death of their Countrey-men on St. Vincent, who were deftroy'd by the French with poyfon'd Brandy. But the Frencb furnifh'd with new Supplies, took fufficient Revenge; for they-drove the Caribbeeans out of their Houfes, and chac'd them into Woods and Deferts.

The Hills that are over-grown with Trees, are Receptacles for wild Beafts, efpecially Hogs and Serpents. The other Hills are Till'd and Sow'n, though not without great trouble.
2. The Tobacco which grows on the fteep Afcents much exceeds that which grows in the Valleys, or in the Tracts of Land fhaded with Trees.

The Inand divided into Give Wards.

Since the French, Amo 1635 . (being fent from St. Chrifophers by the Lord Defo nambuc) Setled themfelves on this Intand, under the Command of his Deputy Du Pont, they divided it into five Wards, feparated from that part of the Ine which was inhabited by the antient Natives: Each Ward hath a Church, or at leaft a Chappel, Armory, Store-houfes, and Dwelling-houfes, like an intire Village.

The firft Ward is call'd Pyloot, from a Caribbeean Captain, who was very familiar with $\mathcal{D} u$ Parquet, and inform'd him of his Peoples Defigns.

The fecond, nam'd Capot, is wafl'd by a River of the fame Denomination, and hath many fruitful Plains.

The third retains the Caribbeean Name, being Carbet, fignifying a Publick StruCture, to which they us'd to refort to Feaft, or hold Councils of War ; not far from which the Governor dwelt in a Stone Houfe: Near the Harbor ftood alfo an Are mory in a Valley, water'd by a frefh River which falls out of the Mountains, fhaded with Trees and Gardens full of Rarities: But fince the Governor gave this and many other fair Buildings to the Jefuits; he remov'd to the fourth Ward, call'd St. Peter, where he built a Caftle, and furnifh'd the fame with Brafs and Iron Guns to defend the Harbor.

A Stones throw from the Governor's Houfe lies the fefuits Cloyfter, on the Banks of a pleafant Stream, built very artificially of Marble and Free-fone, and having a pleafant Profpect over the River, and adjacent Gardens, beautifid with the choiceft of Flowers, Fruits, and Trees; and allo a Vineyard, out of which they prefs a confiderable quantity of Wine.

The laft Ward, call'd Preacheur, extends Eaft and Weft, fome parts whereof fwell into high Mountains, at the Feer whereof ftand fair Structures; others fink into low Valleys or Sevannas.

Between the French Settlements and the Caribbeeans, runs an Arm of the Sea, along The Mataborwhofe Shores grows abundance of the Mabot:Tree, which is full of Boughs from the top down to the Ground. The Bark of this Tree ferves in fead of Ropes, and is alfo us'd to tie up Tobacco; the Wood it felf is durable, and good for Building, wherefore moft of the Houfes built on Hills are of this Timber.

The beft Harbor for Ships is between the Wards Carbet and St. Peter, defended from the Winds by high Hills.

Not far from the Inlet of the Salt-pits, appears about half a League off at Sea, a The Dis: Rock call'd The Diamond, being a Receptacle for an innumerable multitude of Birds, and efpecially wild Pigeons.

Befides the Streams that in the rainy Seafons run through the Dales and $S_{a}$ Vana's, there are ten Rivers, which falling from the Mountains, glide through the Valleys into the Sea. Sometimes they fwell in fuch a manner, that over-flowing their Banks, they wafh down the Trees and Houfes; which Inconvenience hath taught the French to build their Houfes on Hills or rifing Grounds.

The good Situation of this Ifland hath invited many Families thither.
SECt. XXII.
St. Lucia.

ST. Lucia (by the French, Alouzie) is fo call'd becaufe it was difcover'd on the situationof thirteenth of December, Dedicated in the Kalendar to the Virgin Martyr Lucia, who was burnt at Syracufe: It lies Southerly from Dominico at thirteen De grees and forty Minutes, and is ken'd at a great diftance by two fiery Mountains; the moft Eafterly of which is higher than the other.

At the Feet of thefe two Mountains lie pleafant Valleys, fhadow'd by clofe Woods, and moiftned by clear Springs; near which heretofore a fmall number of Caribbeeans dwelling, maintain'd themfelves with Fifhing; they went fark naked; and painted their Bodies with red Oker, and drew a Vermilion Stroke from their Ears to their Nofes.

An Englifh Ship fent to Grinee to fupply the Plantations there, Landed fixty fix mutinous Perfons here, who were all kill'd by the Inhabitants; but when Henry Facobfon Iucifer putting into the Bay of Lucia to Water there, Anno 1627. Landed to difcover the Ifland, he found neither Man nor Houfe, nor any thing but a barren Soil; yet notwithftanding $\mathcal{D u}$ Parquet fent his Deputy Roffelan with a Colony to Plant in this Ifland.

SECT. XXIII.

Barbados.

THe Ifland Barbados, which was Planted by the Englijh, Anno 1627. lies beo simation of tween thirteen and fourteen Degrees, and hath twenty five Leagues in ${ }^{\text {Batarabor, }}$ circumference, and fomewhat more in length than breadth, and is fupply'd with a frefh=Water River, and feveral Pools. The Ground being fruitful in the producing of Tobacco, Cotton, Ginger, and efpecially Sugar, invited many Pęo, ple to Settle there, infomuch that in a fhort time it could fhew twenty thoufand Inhabitants befides Negro Slaves.

The Trees which grow on this Illand, are not onely delightful, but profitable; amongft a mongft which the Rencou is one, with fharp Leaves, white Carnation Flowers like Stars, which hang by Clufters at the end of the Boughs, and after 2 white turn to a Cod full of vermilion Kernels: The Juice dry'd in the Sun and kneaded into Balls, is of a great value. Of the Bark of this Tree they make ftrong Ropes; and the Root is very wholfom, and of a pleafant tafte.

Moreover, amongft the Infects that breed here, there are a fort of Flyes worthy jouyox. of 2 fhort Defcription; the Caribbeeans call them Cayoujou, being about the bignefs of a Beetle; they have two ftrong Wings, and under them thinner, which they never fpread abroad but when they flye, and then they carry fuch a luftre in them, that they give as much Light in the Night as a lighted Candle, (their Eyes alfo at the fanie time glitering like Fire) making no noife when they flye; they feed on the Juice of Flowers, and are fo fmooth, that they are very apt to flip through ones Fingers, and when they find themfelves to be taken, they hide their glittering Wings under the other.

The Indians'tie thefe Flies to their Hands and Feet, fo to have the benefit of their Light in the Night; and anoint their Bodies all over (at certain Solemnities where. in Candles are forbidden, with the Juice fqueez'd our of them, which caufes them to fline like a Flame of Fife: They catch them with a piece of Wond which they move in the Air, whereupon the Flyes going to fit, are taken with a Hat ; but their Light vanifhes if they are kill'd.

But as to what may farther be added concerning this Illand, being one of the chief of our Plantations, we cannot better fatisfie the curiofity of thofe who defire a true Information of all things that concern that Place, than by inferting verbatim a Letter from an intelligent Perfon who hath been long refident there, viz. Colonel Robert Rich, of no older Date than May 31. 1670. by which the prefent State and Condition of the Ifland, the Buildings and other Improvements made there by the Planters fince they firft poffefs'd it, in what Commodities of the Growth of the Countrey their chief Trade confifts, their Strength, Militia, Government, and flouo rifhing Commerce, and what-ever elfe is material to be imparted, may be clearly underftood.

SIR,

Have lately feen your Propofal concerning an Englifh Atlas, and having read Dr. Heylin's Book of the Chorography and Hifory of the wobole World, his third Edition Corrected and Enlarged, Printed Anno 1666. I find him very hort and erroneous in bis Defcription of the Caribbee Iflands, efpecially of this Ifland of Barbados, wherein I bave been an Inkabi tant more than eleven years. He faith,

1. The Illand is feventeen or eighteen Miles in compafs.
2. On the South 'tis furnifh'd with a large and commodious Harbor.
3. The chief Commoditics are Tobacco, and a kind of courfe Sugar, call'd Barbados Sigar, which muft be quickly [pent, or'twill melt to norhing.
4. That this Ifland is worth all the Plantations made by the Englifh, and yet that we hold it at the Courtefic of the Spaniard, without whofe Leave and Liking, not of Force to hold it.
This Defrription of $\operatorname{Dr}$. Heylin's, in it felf very falfe, is alfo much to the Difhonor of the Englifh Nation, which makes me prefume to trouble jon with my own Obfervations, wherein baving onely aim'd at the Truth, you ghall not bave caufe to doubt of being mifguided.

This I/and of Barbados is Jeated in thirteen Degrees and twenty Minutes, in length swenty two Miles, and in breadth fourteen and an balf; It is naturally fortifid with) Rocks and Shoals on the North and East file of it, where no Slip may Safely Anchor, onely in two or three places fmall boats may go out and in to Fijh. On the South-Eaft and Wefferly part, it is all along a Road ivhere Ships may Ride at Anchor, but more efpecially in four chief Places, Roads and Bays thereof.

The principal Road or Bay is call'd Cariifle Bay, and lieth on the South-Weft part of the Ifland near its Center, and is a good Road, obbere five bundred Ships of any Burthen may Ride fafely from all but South and Wefterly Winds, wbbich feldom in thefe Parts bappen, they generally blowing Eafterly, whence it is that we call the Eaft parts Windward, and the Weft parts Leeward, Here lies alfo the chief Tomon for Trade, call'd formerly the Bridge-Town, but.now St. Michaels, and baving two Forts, anfwering cach other, and a Platform between, wbich Commands the Road, and Defends the Town; the firft and cbiefeft Fort is call'd Charles Fort, ftanding on Nedhams Point, lying out in the Sea to Windward of the Bay and Town, So that an Enemy keeping out of Command of this Fort, camnot (probably) come to do the Ships or the Town injury, for that they muft come full in or againgt the Wind. This Fort is built ftrong with Stone and Lime; the Platform joyns to the Windward part of the Town; alfo the other Fort joyns to the Leeparard part of the Town, all which are well fortifi'd and for'd with great Guns. The Town confifts of feveral Streets and Lanes, being about thirty Chain in length, and fif. teen in breadeh, and bath many fair and large Buildings, wobereof the moft are of Stone and Lime.

The fecond Road and Town is lately call'd Charles-Town, fituate on Oyfters-Bay, and lies about tivo Leagues to Windward of St. Michaels, baving allo two Forts and one Platform; the tyoo Forts fand the one to Windward, and the otber to Leeward of the Torona.and. Road, and the Platform in the middle, all well furnijh'd with great Guns. And altbough this Town be not a Place of much Refort for Shipping, yet bere are many confiderable Store-boufes for. Trade, whereing. Monethly are kept the Court of Common-Pleas for that Precinct, and Weekly Markets.

The third Road and Town is lately call'd St. James's, formerly the Hall, and is about two Leagues to the Leeward of St. Michaels, hath one very large Platform, and is otherwife well for a tif'd witb Breaff. works; and although few Ships come to Ride bere, yet in this Town is mains tain'd a great Trade noiththe Inhabitants adjacent; bere alfo is kept Monetbly the Court of Com-mon-Pleas for this Precinct.

The fourth Road and Town is lately call'd Little. Briftol, but formerly Sprights.Bay; wbhich lieth about four Leagues to Leexiard of St. Michaels, and batb two Forts well built, and ferongly fortifi'd. To this Place come many Ships, efpecially from the City of Briftol, the vobich bere Ride, unload and reload, it being the next greateft Place of Repute to St. Michaels in the wobole Ifland.

This Iland is divided into eleven Parifhes, and bath in it fourteen Churches and Chappels, and being fubdivided into divers Plantations, fmall and great, bath Sugaromorks accordingly, with fair and large Buildings.made of Stone and Brick, the which generally are pleafant Habie tations, and delightfully fituated, mof baving pleafant Profpects to the Sea and Land.

The Inhabitants of this IJland are Englifh, Scotch; and Irifh, and fome, but very few of the Dutch and French Nation, woho formerly liv'd here a time of Servitude, and now dwell as Free-men, fome by their. Trades, and others on Plantations; alfo fome few Jews live bere and Trade as Merchants, they having obtain'd Licence from His Majefty $\int 0$ to do; befides Mulatto's'and Negro's which are here kept, and accounted for Slaves, the number of which fome years fince, upon fearch, mere found to be fixty thoufand Perfons, viz. forty thoufand Whites, and twenty thoufand Blacks.

The ftanding Militia of this IJand that are in readine $\beta$ to meet together on all occafions, and which at other times are often and well Difciplin'd, confift of two Regiments of Hor $\rho$ e, and five Regiments of Foot, whereinfeveral Companies bave near two hundred in a Company, and in fome Troops more than a bundred Forfe in a Troop; by all whlich you may eafily apprebeend bovo little of truth there is in that Saying, That we hold this Ifland at the Courtelie of the Spaniards, when thofe feew Englinh in Jamaica give the Spaniards fucb work to defend thentfelves.

The Growth and Manufaiture of this I/land and parts adjacent, is Suigars of all Jorts, viz. Mufcovado, Clay'd, and Refin'd ; (I fuppofe I have feen bere as good Sngar made as any is in the World) Gingers, Indico, and Cotton wpool; alfo Tobacco, Log wood, Fuftick, green and yellow, and Lignum-vitix: Of the ef four laft beretofore much, but nowo no quantities to be bad in this Ifland, onely to the Leevard great fore. The firft four mention'd Commodities receive prejudice to their Product by abundance of Rains or Droughts not happening in their proper Seafons: alfo violent Winds lodge the Sugar-Canes, mbereby the quantity and goodne $\beta$ is lefsned. The chief time for Expectation is from January to September, when comes in the wet Seafon, that makes the Roads not Cartable, and ufually puts an end to Making and Tranfportation of them. We bave two Crops of Corn in a year, Planted ufually when the Rains firft come in, in May and November, which is gatber'd in about October, and in March and April following. Hines of all forts are bere Imported, but of Portuguefe and French the greateft quantities, viz. of Madera, upwards of fifteen bundred Tun yearly; of Spanifh, uppward of troo bundred Tun; of French-Wines, uppoard of feven bundred Tinn; befides Brandy and Englifh Spirits; but of the fe latter now no great quantities Imported or fpent, by reafon of the general ufe of the Spirit of Sugar-Cane, call'd Rum, which the meaner fort, as Servants and Slaves, do not onely drink in great abundance, but muchalfo is bence Tranfported into Virginia, Bermudas, and NewEngland. Here is alfo Imported great fore of Provifions of all forts, viz. Bref, Pork, Fith, scc. from Ireland, New-England, Virginia, Bermudas, New-found Land, ecc. alfo. Peafe, Elour, Butter, Cheefe, and Bisquet; likewife Timber, Boards, Pipe and Hoghead, Staves, \&c. alfo Negro-Slaves from Guinee, and live Cattel, as Bulls, Cows, Afinego's, and Horfes, from the Cape de Verd Ifland, New.England; and from England, Servants, and all other Commodities for Plantations, and for Apparel; of all wobich great quantitics are bither brought and Sold.

The Shipping that comes to Trade to this Ifland belonigs generally to England ; fome feto Veffels are bere built, and paß to and fro to the Leeward IJands; and fome belong to NewEngland, Bermudas, occ. The number of Veffels which come bither to Trade in one year is found upon Search to be about two bundred of aill forts, ( (Jome years more, fome le $\beta$ ) as Ketches, Sloops, Barques, evc. containing in Burtben fifteen thoufand five bundred and five Tun, according as they were here Entred, which is at the leaft a third part. le $\beta$ than their true Burthen, by reafon every Ship pays one pound of Ponder per Tun, the means ordain'd by this Country for ftoring the Magazine; the greateft part of which Ships re-load ioith Sugars for England, and many go for New.England, Bermudas, Virginia, Tangier, crc. not alvays. full loaden with this Countreys Gromotb. The ufual Rate for Tunnage from hense to London, is from 41. to 5 1. per Tun; fometine when Ships are very plentiful, it is at 3 1. and le $\beta$, and at other times when farce, from 61. to $>1$. in the late War with the Dutch, it was at IO. II. and 121 . per Tiun.

The Government is Confituted by the Laws of England, and Lawis not repugnant to them, onely fome particular Laws are here made, proper for this Place, by the Governor (or Deputy) and bis Council, (which iufually are from feven to troelve in number) and an Afembly tbat conffits of twenty two Perfons, chofen by the Free-holders, two out of every Parijh.

Sect. XXIV.

St. Vincent.

Situation of Sl. Vincouss.

THe Ifland of St. Vincent, South-Weft from St. Lucia, and having fixteen Degrees of North-Latitude, was fo call'd by the Spaniards, as having difcover'd it on that Saint's Day, being the fifth of April: It is accounted eight Leagues long and fix broad, and rifes round about with high Grounds and feveral Mountains; which are feen at a great diftance.

This

This Ifland hath a very fruitful Soil, and for the bigne's of it hath been long fince well peopled with Caribbeeans before the arrival of the Spaniards, poffeffing here feveral Villages, to, whom they are fill fworn Enemies, but Truck'd with the Hollanders for Provifions, Horns, Axes, Knives, and other Trifles. At the Weft and South fides are convenient Bays to lie at Anchor and take Water in.

The Inhabitants highly efteem the Momen, growing to the bignefs of an AppleTree; the Fruit which it bears refembles a green Cucumber, and is of a pleafant Juice, the Skin always green and prickly; the Seed which is in the fame about the bignefs of a French Bean, is generally black, and freak'd with Golden-colour'd Veins.

Here is alfo that Plant mention'd elfewhere, by the Spaniard call'd Granadilla, by The dilarand the Dutch Rbang=Apple, and La Fleur de la Paßion by the French; and it is fo call'd, as being fancied to reprefent the thorny Crown of our Saviour, together with the Crofs, Nails, Hammer and Pillar ; the Plant runs along the Ground, unlefs it mees with a Pole by which it runsup.

Sect. XXV.

Bekia,

NOt far from St. Vinceitt lies the Inland Bekia, which reckons twelves Leagués Siruaion of in circumference, and lies at twèlve Degrees and twelve Scruples of Northern Latitude: It hath a fecure Harbor againft all Winds; but becaufe it is without frefh Water, is is orely frequented by the Caribbeeans that dwell on St. Vincent, who come hither to Fifh, and vifit certain little Gardens which they have there for their pleafure.

The Soil produces ftore of Water-melons, whofe red juicy Pulp yields; when fqueez'd, a great quantity of fweet Liquor, which is very refrefling, and good to create an Appetite ; their white Flowers, notch'd at the end of the Leaves, afford a delightful fmell.

Anno 1633 . Captain fobn fobnfon Van Hoorn putting in to Bekia to catch Tortoifes,' found a fine Inlet on the Weft, and Eaftward a Ridge of Rocks, Cotton growing wild in the Fields, and upon the Shore a kind of Snails call'd Burgun, under whofe firft Shell appear'd another of a Silver colour with black Specks.

Sect. XXVI.

Granada.

GRanada, lying at twelve Degrees and fixteen Scruples, like a Half-moon, from siration of the North to the South, is full of Woods. Towards the South-Weft runs a frefh River into the Sea. The Shore very low affords good Anchorage at twelve Leagues diftance. The Current grows exceeding ftrong here, and the Water alfo ebbs and flows in a few hours. Dirick Simonfzoon Witgeeft Sailing from Tabago, was amaz'd to fee with what force the Current drove him to Granada.

Hither $\mathcal{D} u$ Parquet at his own Charge fent three hundred Men from Martinico, The fofish ith who fcuffled with the Inhabitants fix Moneths before they could poffefs the fame in Peace; and fcarce had they obtain'd it at laft, but by telling them that the French Affiftance would be very advantageous unto them againft the Arovages.

The Duke Seryllac in Paris inform'd of the Fertility of this Ifland, bought it of $\mathcal{D} u$ Parquet for a confiderable Sum of Money : And inded Granada is none of the meaneft of the Caribbees, the Soil producing very good both Fruit and Timber. Trees, amongft which is the Latine: Tree, of a tall Body, but ordinary thicknefs, and in ftead of Boughs, hang Leaves like Fans in long Stalks, which being ty'd toge. ther, ferve for Roofs of Houles.

There is alfo the Tree Cocoa, which yet grows not fo high here as in other parts of the Weftrondies.

SECT. XXVII.

Tabago.

Situation of Tabagg.

THe next which comes in view is Tabago, (fo call'd, as fome think, from the quantity of that Drug there Planted) eight Leagues long and four broad, lying in the eleventh Degree and fixteen Minutes of Northern Latitude, and hath many high Mountains full of Wood, out of which glide eighteen Streams, which watering the Plains fall into the Sea.

Captain Vitgeeft coming to an Archor here, found a convenient Inlet on the Eaft, and frefh Water to fill his Casks. Half a League from the Shore rife five Rocks, through which he Sail'd with his Ships. Within the Cliffopens a Bay, in to which runs a River well ftor'd with Fifh. More Wefterly lies a larger Inlet, which receives two delightful Streams. From the Weftern Promontory runs alfo a Cliff North ward into the Sea.

This Inand is eafily known by high Coafts which rife on the Eaft fide, and fo grows lower by degrees. It is likewife made pleafant by many Walks of Trees.

The Sea produces abundance of thofe forts of Fifh which are common amongtt us, befides Tortoifes, that lay their Eggs in the Sand.
$\mathrm{Cra}_{2}$ filh. The Cra-fifh thereabouts are not much unlike Lobfters, have white and well tafted Flefh, but hard to digeft ; they catch them in the Night on fandy Shelves with lighted Turches.

The Crabs get their Food very wonderfully here; for when they obferve the Musfles or Oyfters to Gape for frefh Air, they put Stones between their Shells, fo that they not being able to Thut them, they pull out the Fifh with their Claws.

The Woods feed an innumerable company of Beafts fomewhat refembling Hogs, (whofe Navels are on their Backs) Opaffums, favaris's, and Taterws, as allo the Aooutys's and Musk=Rats.
agoug.: The Agoutys's are of a dark brown colour, and have little Tails, two Teeth in their upper, and as many in their lower Jaw; they make a noife as if they fpoke, crying Couye; if hunted by Dogs, they run into hollow Trees, out of which they are routed by Smoak.
Musk-Rats.
The great Musk-Rats are as big as a Rabbet, and like them live in Holes made in the Ground, but refemble an European Rat, onely their Skins are black, except one part of their Bellies which are white; they fmell fo ftrong of Musk, that it overcomes thofe that carry them.

Amongtt the Brambles breed alfo Serpents of a green colour, two yards long, and an Inch thick, feeding on Locufts and Birds, which they take in their Nefts, but do no hurt to Mankind.
The safjfras But Tobago boafts chiefly of the Saffafras. Tree, which refembles the Pine. Tree, hath a firm and ftreight Body, and on the top Boughs fpread like a Crown, the Bark of a dark colour and fmooth, and fmelling very fweet; the Leaves thin, notch'd, and of a deep Green, have alfo a delicate fmell ; the thinneft Roots appear above the Ground, and are exceeding good to cure green Wounds, ftoppings and fhortnels of Breath occafion'd by Colds.

The Tobacco, by the Caribbeeans call'd $\mathrm{Y}_{\text {-ouli, Planted among the Fruit-Trees; }}$ grows very plentifully here; it fhoots up from a ftringy Root, bitter of tafte, with a thick Stalk, which fhoots out Boughs with great Leaves, woolly underneath, and bears a kind of Violet Flower, which when dry'd, are fucceeded by little Cods full of black Seed; and to prevent the over-growing of it, they cut off the top of the main Stalk.

The Bird Colibry, which is exceeding beautiful, makes his Neft under the To, The Bird bacco-Leaves.

A company of Townfmen of Walcheren, having a Grant from the States of the United Provinces, fent a Colony to Tabago ; but they being fcarce two hundred in all, were for the moft part deftroy'd by the Caribbeeans; the reft weak or fickly, fearing the fame Entertainment, fought to fave themfelves; fo that the Inland has not for. merly been frequented but by the Erench from Martinico, and Guadalupe, who for fome time came over onely to catch Turtles and Lamantins there.

The Caribbeeans anfo either in their March againft, or Return from the Arovages; Landed here for neceffary Provifions; But of late the Lord Lampfen hath Setled a Plantation in this defolate Ifland.

Sect. XXII.

St. Chriftophers.

SI. Cbrifophers, a pretty diftance from Tobago, receiv'd its Denomination from siruation of Chriftopher Columbus, invired thereto by the fhape of a great Mountain, having phtrs Ifland. as it were another leffer on one of its Shoulders, being fancy'd to reprefent the Figure of the fuppos'd Giant Chrifopher, who is reported to have carry'd our Saviour in the appearance of a little Child on his Shoulders through a deep Sea.

This Ifland lying feventeen Degrees and twenty five Minutes Northward of the Equinotial Line, hath twenty five Leagues in circumference.

The Soil light and fandy, refufes not the production of divers forts of Fruits common amongft us.

In the middle of the Intand rifes a high Mountain, out of which run frefh Streams, that fometimes fwell fo high with fudden Rains, that they drown all the Countrey near them.

The Divifion
of the Inland into feveral Wardo.。

Baffe-Terre the chief Town belonging to the French.

This Illand being jointly the Plantation of both Englifhand French, was divided into four Wards, two whereof have been long fince in poffeffion of the French, and the other two in poffeffion of the Englijh, ftrangely divided one from another; for the Englifh in one Ward cannot go to the other without troubling the French; and fo on the contrary : the Englifh have more Rivers and People, the French more plain Land, fitter for Cultivation, and Forts furnifh'd with Guns and Soldiers. At the Entrances of the Paths which lead into the feveral Wards fland Watch-houfes, where Sentinels, or Watchomen ftand daily in their turns.

In a Bay of the Sea they found a brave Salt-pit, from whence a fandy Cliff runs fo far into the Ocean, a that fome have fwum from the end thereof over to the Inland Nevis.

A Silver Mine hath been long fince difcover'd on this Inand, in which the Enga lish and French claim equal Intereft, but neither Party make any benefit of it for want of Miners.

The high Mountains, the Springs of boyling fulphurous Water, and brambly Woods, hinder all paffage through the middle of the Inand: The Ground runs more and more floaping to the Sea-fide, and is divided into reveral High-ways, along which ftand convenient Houfes, cover'd with red or glaz'd Slate, Thaded with Trees, and environ'd with pleafant Gardens, to which there is a delightful Profpect from the Fields, of the green Tobacco.Leaves, the yellow Sugar-Canes, Ginger, and Potato's.

Befides the fcatter'd Buildings, the French have built a compleat Town near the convenienteft Harbor of their Quarter, call'd Baffe-Terre, where the Merchants dwell in fair Houfes built of Brick and Free-ftone; whither all forts of People bring their Commodities, and Truck their European Goods for fuch as St. Chrifopheirs produceth. All manner of Trades and Handicrafts live alfo in this Town, and a Court of Judicature is kept every Week. Tde Church built of Free-ftone, is cover'd with the aforefaid red Slate, and was formerly Govern'd by the Capuchins; but they being difmifs'd Anno 1646. the Government was given to the Jefuits and Carmelites; who alfo built themfelves other ftately Edifices: bit: the Jefuit Henrick du Vivier was the firft whobore the chieffef Command over all.

The Sick that have not fufficient Means to maintain them, have an Hofpital appointed, where all Neceffaries are provided for them; and to which is added a School for the bringing up of poor Children.
Defcription
But the chiefeft Structure is the Caftle, on the building whereof the Lord Poincy fpar'd no Coft; it is built half a French Mile from the Sea at the Foot of a high Mountain, fhadowed with great Trees. In the Way thither ftand the Houfes of the prime Officers; and a long Walk of Orange and Lemmon-Trees leads to a large Court before the Front of the Caftle it felf, which is built fquare with Bricks and Free ftone three Stories high; and the Entrance into it is afcended by a large pair of Stairs ; near the Gate which opens to the Weft, ftand great Stone Cifterns, into which they receive the Water tbrough Pipes laid under Ground; the Chambers Halls are very lightfom and high, and the Walls of them adorn'd with Cedar; a flat Terrace on the top yields a pleafant Profpect all over the Countrey; the Windows in the Front look open not onely upon the Orange Walk, but alfo upon feveralde. lightful Plantations of Sugar=Canes and Ginger.

Weftward appear feveral Mountains, whofe high Heads are invefted with ever. flourifhing Trees; and between the Palace and thofe Mountains a very large and ftately Garden, full of all manner of Flowers and other delightful Plants, as well thofe commonly known amongft us, as thofe peculiar to that part of the World; in the middle thereof ftands a Fountain, deriving its Source from the Foot of a neighboring Hill.

The Winds which blow from the Hills, and efpecially thofe cool Blafts daily coming out of the Eaft, fo tempers the hot Climate, that it becomes very to. lerable.

When any News arrives here of the French Conquefts in Europe, they found the Trumpets on the top of the Caftle, and the Standards and Enfigns formerly taken by the Governor in the Field, are hung out of the Windows.

On one fide of the Caftle ftands a Chappel, and fomewhat farther on a rifing Plain, a row of Houfes, inhabited by certain Retainers to the Governor, and is call'd Angola. The Offices and Lodgings for the Governor's Servants are built of Brick, about the Caftle, which is fortifid with five Sconces, whereon are planted feverai Guns.

The Governor keeps nine hundred Slaves, and a hundred Frenchmen, to work in his three Sugar-Mills, to till his Ground, and for his Houfhold-Service.

Several French Gentlemen have alfo built many fair Houfes here; amongft which the chiefeft are chofe on which Poucy, Treval, Benevent, Girand, Auber, de la Roziere, de St. Andant, de l' E/perance, and de la Locbe fpent great fums of Money.

The Englifhalfo are not much inferior to them in their Counties.
Their Churches are five in all; firft on the Point of the Palm-Tree ftands a fait The Engtij Church; a fecond near the great Road, below the English Governor's Houfe; a third isthii Inand at the Sandy Point; which are all well built, and large enough for a confiderable Congregation ; the other two at the Inlet Cayoune are Chort of the three firft. The Minifters thereof receiv'd formerly their Benefices from the Bifliop of Canterbury, in Crommell's time from the Tryers, as they were call'd; but of late, fince the King's Reftauration, from the Bifhop of Canterbury again.

The beft Houfes belonging to the English were buile by Mr. Warner, Mr. Rich, Mr. Evrard, and Col. Geffrey fon all fucceffively Governors of the Place.

It was in the Year 1625 . that the Enolish and French jointly (Defnambuc Comman Theif furiff ding the French, and Thomas Warner the English) Landed on this Illand of St. (brifto. Tand ing. phers, at a certain time when the Caribbeeans, perfwaded by their Boyez to deftroy all Strangers, were ready up in Arms, but they met with fuch Entertainment, that they foon loft their Courage, and yielded poffeffion to the Affailants: Not long afo ter which Defnambuc and Warner went (the one to Paris, and the other to London) to inform their Kings of the Condition of St. (briftophers, and to raife a Company which might promote the Planting of it: Both attain'd their Defires, and had frefh Affiftance given them; for both Kings favor'd the Defign, in regard of the good Conditions that were propos'd to thofe that fhould go Undertakers thither : And to prevent all Contentions between the Englishand French, they made Boundaries on each fide ; but Hunting, Harbors, Fifhing, Mine's; Trees for Wainfcoting, and the like, were to remain in common; and each was to'affift the other. The Englishb Plantation increafed daily more than the Freneh; haviving conftant Supplies from the Company in London; when as on the contrary, the Merchants at Paris grew weary, being defirous firft to have a Return for what they had already fent, though the Countrey was not yet Manur'd : wherefore Defnambuc going thither himfelf, made the Company underftand that they could not poffibly expect to receive a Return, unlefs the Countrey were Planted with Tobacco, Indigo, Ginger, and Sugar, which requir'd both Time and People. But whilft the Bufinefs feem'd to go on profperoully, a great Accident hapned which threw down the Work to nothing: for the Spanish King fet out a Fleet within the foremention'd Year, of one and thirty Gallions, three Galeaffes, and four Pinnaces, with feventy five hundred Men, under the Command of Frederick de Toledo, Emanuel de Minefes, and Fobn Fajardo, from Cadiz, when before the Illand St. Jago there lay at the fame time twenty ewo Portuguefe Galleys, fourteen Carvils, carrying four thoufand Men, Commanded by Antonio Numnez Barreio, and Francifco de Almeida, who joyning with the Spaniards, took the City St. Salvador, and went about wholly to chafe out of the Caribbee Inles all the English and French: in which Attempt nine English Ships lying before Nevis, were all taken by Toledo, who Sail'd within Cannon:thot of St. Chrifophers, Commanded at that time by the French Captain Roffey, the Forts caft up by the Englif $h$ and French not being for'd with Provifions nor Ammunition, and confequently no way able to endure a Siege, and the lefs, becaufe the Works were not quite finifh'd; neverthelefs Defnambuc immediately drew up his Soldiers to the Low-land, where he lay Intrench'd along the Coaft, to prevent the Enemies Landing; but Roffey fuffer'd the Spaniards to Land without the leaft Refiftance: whereupon young $\mathcal{D} u$ Parquet Sallying out of the Sconces, fell valiantly upon the firf Company, but being forfaken by his Men, was run down by the Multitude and kill'd : In the mean time all their Sloops full of Men Landed, infomuch that Roffey fearing to be fur. rounded, left his Trench and went up into the High-lands, whereby the Spaniards became Mafters of the Fort, but did not purfue their Victory, as fufpecting that the French might lie in Ambufcade in the next Wood; and indeed they fufpected not in vain, for the Erench having undermin'd their Forts, had laid Gun-powder in fome of the Cellars, which firing, blew up very many of the Spaniards, whilf Defnambuc Embarquing himfelf, fav'd thofe which were not flain by the Enemy's Sword. Mean while the Englijh relying on the League between the King of England and the Spaniard, made no Refiftance, (notwithftanding they were inform'd that Erederick Toledo had quite ruin'd the French Plantation, and put them all to the Sword) but fent Agents to Toledo, to put him in mind of the League between Spain and England, which he not taking notice of, alledg'd, That Pope Alexander the Sixth, when a Controverfie arofe concerning the new Difcoveries in the Eaft and Weft, between the Crowns of Caftile and Portugal, had determin'd that Cafile had fole Right to the Weftern World, and therefore that St. Chrijfopbers, being a part of the Weftern World, according to the Pope's Gift, belong'd to his Mafter Prilip; and infifting up. on that Allegation, he commanded them to quit their Right to the Place; to which purpofe he reftor'd them fix of the nine Ships taken at ANevis, on Condition that they fhould immediately fet Sail for England, onely thofe whom the fix Veffels were not able to carry, were permitted to ftay on the Ifland till the next opportunity : After which Toledo weighing Anchor, was fcarce out of fight, when the English began to take new Courage, and gathering together to repair their ruin'd Works as well as poffibly they could with what Forces they had left; for befides thofe who went for England in the fix Ships, being near two thoufand, the Spanish Admiral took fix hundred choice English, which he diftributed amongft his Fleet; whileft Defambuc fufo fer'd a great deal of hardfhip, not onely through ill Weather at Sea, but alfo for want of Provifions; Having during this time been on the Iflands St. Martin, Montferrat, and Antego, thinking to have poffefs'd himfelf of fome or other of them in ftead of St. Chrifophers, but not finding fuch a fruifful Soil, and convenient Situation, as what he had been forc'd to forfake, he was not forward to fix there, but rather judg'd it convenient to enquire concerning the Condition of St. Chrifophers, and at laft being inform'd by a Ketch, that the Enemy was gone to Havana, and the English were bufie in Tilling their Lands, he return'd to his old Station; where neverthelefs their Endeavors to repair what was ruin'd, had been in vain, by reafon of the fcarcity of Provifions, and want of other Neceffaries, had not in their greateft extremity fome Netherland Veffels arriving there, furnifh'd them with Provifions, Clothes, and other Neceffaries, on bare promifes of payment: But not long after growing rich with Tobacco, Sugars, Ginger, and Indigo, they made Satisfaction to all their Creditors, and at laft attain'd to the Condition before mention'd.

In the late War between Us and the Dutch, the French taking advantage of our Engagement, endeavor'd to deftroy our Plantations there, and to make themfelves Mafters of the whole Ifland ; but the Matter being at laft brought to fome Agree. ment, Sir Charles Wheeler hath been very lately fent over thither by His Majefty to re-fettle Affairs there, and order the Capitulations between the French and Engligh.

The Iflands Sotavento, and the Ife Trinidado.

IN the Divifion we found to be made of the Iflands that lie between Florida and Nern Spain, and Southern America, the laft are the Ines of Sotavento, which are reckon'd to be thefe three,' Margareta, Cubagua, and Tabago, but the laft is by moft accounted, and hath been mention'd amongft the Caribbees.

Margareta, fo call'd from the abundance of Pearls (of which the Spanish Appel- Siruxion of Maragrta. lation comes near the Latine Margarite) found there by the Spaniards at their firt Difcovery, lies about the twelfth Degree of Northern Latitude over againft the Main Land of Cumana, from which it is diftant about feven Leagues: It is accounted fixteen Leagues long, and half as much in breadth, and was difcover'd by Columbus in his third Voyage in the Year of our Lord 1498. and was at firft in great reputation, in regard of the rich Pearl-fifhing upon its Coafts, wherein the Spaniards (more favorable it feems to the Natives of this Place than ufual, becaufe of their readinefs to difcover their Treafures) employ'd Negro's, brought from the Coaft of Guine, whom by fevere Punifhments inflicted, they forc'd to fuch exceffive Labor, that many of them, though excellent Divers, were drown'd, others either devour'd, or lam'd by the ravenous great Fifh thereabouts, and by deftroying the very Seed through their infatiable greedinefs after Pearl, brought the Trade of Pearl-fifhing in a fhort time to a very fmall Account, in refpect of what it might have been, had it been well husbanded. Nor hath this Illand oflate Years been much frequented, only in the Year 1601. Captain Parker with a Fleet of English put on Shore here, and took as many Prifoners as he had fivehundred pounds of Pearl for the Ranfom of, and at his coming away took a Ship he met from off the Coaft of Angola, with three hundred and feventy Negro's aboard her, who were going to be fold for Slaves.

The Soil is not unfruitful, bringing forth feveral forts of Fruit, and fore of Maĩ,

Maiz, and probably if improv'd, would as well bear Wheat, and other ufual kinds of Grain ; but there is great want of Water, which the Inhabitants are troubled to fetch from the neighboring Continent.

Towns and Places of Places of chief note.

The Places of chief note, are 1. Monpater, a Fort built by the Spaniards in a Nook of the Ifland, lying Eaftward to fecure the Pearl-fifhing Trade, and to defend the Town where the Governor refides, as allo the Treafurer of the King of Spain's Cuftoms of Pearl, which have been formerly valu'd at 50000 l. yearly.
2. El valle de Santa Lucia, two Leagues from this Town, and as much from the Sea, a Spanifh Colony.
3. Macanao, the onely noted Place belonging to the Natives,

Sect. II.

Cubagua.

CHaggualies South. Weft of Margarita, about the eleventh Degree of NorthLatitude, a League or thereabouts diftant from Margarita, and fix Leagues from the neareft Continent, and about three Leagues in circumference. This is alfo a very great Place for Pearlefifhing, the benefit whereof hath been fo confiderable, that the King of Spain's Fifths are faid to have amounted fome years to fifteen thoufand Ducats; but otherwife of a poor and barren Soil, not onely deftitute of Water, but of Fruit, Grain, Herbage, and all manner of Cattel and eatable Beafts, except a few lean Coneys; neverthelefs, in refpect of the Pearl-fifhing Trade, the Spaniards have Planted here a Colony, which they call'd New Cadiz, having plenty of Provifions brought them from the adjoining Coafts, and foon after their firft Planting grew in a fhort time fo powerful, that they became Mafters of one of the beft Ports of thofe Seas, call'd Maracapana Venezuela; but upon an Alarm of the Salvages of Cumana, for a while deferted the Ifland, and betook themfelves to Hijpaniold ; from whence neverthele's being remanded back with frefh Supplies, under the Command of fames de Cafellon, they foon re.inftated themfelves in their former Plantation, and made it more ftrong and flourifhing than before; in which ftate they remain'd as long as the Pearl-fifhing Trade continu'd, but that decaying, the fplendor alfo of this Colony declin'd : fo that at prefent the onely thing which makes.the Place remarkable, is a Fountain on the Eaft part of the Inland, not far from the Sea, yielding a liquid bituminous Water, of fingular ufe in Medicine, and fometimes found floating on the Sea at two or three Leagues diftance.

About four Leagues diftant from Cubagua there is an Inland call'd Coche, about three Miles in compars; It was difcover'd in the Year 1529. and was formerly little lefs confiderable for Pearl-fifing than the other two.

Sect. ili.

Trinidado.

Situation of Trinidado.

THe Illand of Trinidado was firt difcover'd by Columbus, Anno 1447. in his third Voyage, and by him fo call'd, as fome guefs, from its three Points or Promontories; but that feems not fo probable, in regard it is otherwife call'd La Trinidad, or Infula Sanite Trinitatis, and therefore is likely to have been denominated upon a religious Account: It lieth nine Degrees or thereabouts diftant from the Line, at the Mouth of the River Orenoque, and is feparared from the Coaft of Paria, over againft which it lies by a Straight that is three Miles over, and which for the dangeroufnefs of palfing it, Columbus, the firft Difcoverer of it, call'd 'Bocca del Draco ; the length thereof from the moft Southern Angle call'd Punca del Andrada, to the North-Eaft, call'd Punta del Galera, is reckon'd twenty five Leagues, (thofe that reckon fifty, may be fuppos'd to miftake Leagues for Miles) and the breadth about eighteen.

The Air of this Place is fo impure, that it is accounted the unwholfomeft Inand Chiecomas of all the Indies; neverthelefs the Soil is not unfertile, as bringing forth Sugar-Canes, the thanas. Cotton, Maize, Tobacco of the beft kind, with other Commodities of the general growth of the Weft-Indies, befides ftore of good Fruit and Cattel; and one part of the Ifland call'd Terra de Bea, produceth great plenty of Pitch, but not of the beft kind; and there have been difcover'd feveral Veins of Gold and other Metals.

The Natives, fome fay, were antiently call'd Cairi, or Carai, and were diftinguifh'd into feveral Clans or Tribes, each under the Government of a Cafique, or petty Prince; but moft of them dreading the Spaniards Cruelty, deferted the Ifland, and Setled themfelves in Guiana; and at prefent both this Place, Guiana, and El Dorado, have of Cuftom one and the fame Governor, whofe Place of Refidence here is St. Fofephs, the chief, if not onely Town of the Inand; it ftands Southward upon the Carone. Here moft of that Tobacco is made, which is fold amongtt us for Spanijh. In the Year 1595. Sir Walter Raleigh poffefs'd himfelf of it, being then but a petty Village of about forty Houles; and took Prifoner the then Governor Antonio Berreo, who, in all probability, to ingratiate himfelf with him, gave him fome light towards the difcovery of Guiana.

On the North.Eaft of Trinidado, and not above eight Miles diftant from it, lies zabag. the Illand of Tabago, which hath been alneady treated of, as one of the Caribbees, though fome will have it one of the Sotavento; it is otherwife call'd Neww. Walcheren, from a Town of that Name in Zealand, from whence a Colony of Netherlanders was fent to Plant it.

Amongft others of the fmall obfcure Iflands hereabouts, is Virgin Gorda, which is Virgins Gord: fometimes reckon'd amongft the Caribbee Iflands; but fince there is nothing confiderable to be fpoken of it, it is fufficient that it hath been mention'd, though not punctually in its proper place.

California:

HAving before made mention of California, as it is by fome taken for that chifognia large portion of Northern America which lies moft Southward, and alfo ut- guifidi. moft Weft of all that is known of the Nero World, and having treated of thofe feveral Provinces which are generally reckon'd to be comprehended in it, (excepting California ftrictly taken, as it is generally granted to be an Ifland) viz. Quivira, Cibola, and Nova Albion, lying on the Continent (though there wane not thofe who make Nova Albion onely the North part of California) we fhall clofe up our Difcourfe of thefe Illands that lie Northward of the Equinoctial Lime with the aforefaid California, Specially fo call'd, which was by many thought and defcrib'd to be but: a Peninfula, or half Ifland, by seafon that the Bay which divides it from Quivira and New Gallicia, towards the North runneth much narrower than it doth Sou. therly, which made them think, that fomewhere or other at the North it was joyn'd to the Main Land of America; But later Difcoveries, as hath been faid, have found it to be a perfect Ifland, and altogether feparate. from the Continent: for about the Year 1620 . Fome Adventurers beating upon thofe Coafts Northward, accidentally, and before they were aware, fell upon a Straight, the Waters whereof ran with fuch a Torrent and violent Courfe, that they brought them into Mar Vermiglio, whether they would or no, and before they knew it, and by that means difcover'd that California was an Ifland, and that the Waters which were obferv'd to fall fo violently into that Sea towards the North, were not the Waters of any River emp. tying it felf into the Bay from the Main Land, as was formerly thought, but the Waters of the North Weft Sea it felf, violently breaking into the Bay, and dividing it wholly from the Continent: It lieth North and South, extending it felf in a vaft length, full twenty Degrees of Latitude, viz. from twenty two to forty two ; but the breadth nothing anfwerable: The moft Northern Point of it is call'd Cape Blanche; that to the South, Cape St. Lucas, memorable for' that rich and gallant Prize which Captain Cavendifh, in the Year 1587. being then in his Voyage about the World, took from the Spaniards near to this Place. As for the Ifland it felf, it is at prefent little, if at all inhabited by the Spaniards; whether it be that they want Men to furnifl new Plantations, or that they find no matter of invitation and encouragement from the Countrey, or perhaps that the accefs thither be not fo cafie : for 'tis reported to be wonderfully well peopled by the Natives, and that there were found onely upon the Coafts and along the Shore of Mar Vermiglio,twenty or twenty three Nations, all of different Languages; though from the particular Narrations that have been made of the Voyages of feveral eminent Perfons into thefe Parts, it appears that the Spaniards have taken great pains in the difcovery thereof, and alfo from the feveral Spanijh Names of Places, that they have had Plantations here fore. merly, however neglected at prefent.
The Cuftoms and Manner of the $\mathrm{N}_{2}$ tives.

The Countrey is abundantly well for'd with Fifh and Fowl, as appears partly by the Natives, who take a huge pride in making themfelves gay with the Bones of the one, with which they load their Ears, and fometimes their Nofes alfo; and with the Feathers of the other, which ordinary People wear onely fticking about their Waftes; but Great Perfons, and fuch as will be fine indeed, befet their Heads ftrangely with them, and have commonly one Bunch of them bigger than ordinary hanging down behind them like 2 Tail.

Having no knowledge of the true God, they worfhip what the Devil will have them, that is, the Sun, attributing to it onely the increafe of their Plants, healthful Seafon's, and moft of the other good things they enjoy, or are fenfible of.

Their Government is faid to be onely Oeconomical, each Father ordering the Affairs of his Family aparr, without fubjection to any other Superior; yet fo well manag'd, that they live in good Peace one with another; not without many good Laws and Cuftoms, viz. That they allow but one Wife to one Man; That they punifh Adultery with Death; That they fuffer not Maids to talk or converfe with Men till they be Married; That Widows may not Marry till they have Mourn'd ac leaft one half year for their Husbands deceafed; and divers others of like nature, which perhaps, if the cruth were known, do more properly belong to the Natives of Utopia, or New Atlantis, than to thefe of California.

The Places therein, as yet oblerv'd, are onely upon the Seazcoafts, r. The Cafes of St. Clara and St. Lucas, the one at the South, Eaft end of the Ifland, looking towards New Gallicia, the other at the South Weft, looking into the Sea, and towards $A f$ fia.
2. St.

2. St. Cruce, fo nam'd from irs being firft difcover'd on Holys Rood-Day, being a large and convenient Haven, not far from Cape St. Clara.
3. Cabo de las Playds, fo call'd from a company of little bare. Hillocks appearing from the Sea, and is more within the Bay.
4. Cabo Baxo, fo term'd, as lyingsowards the bottom of the Gulf. ine filaw)
5. St. Andrews, another convenient Haven upon an Illand of the fame Name.
6. St. Thomas, an Illand at the Mouth of the Gulf or Bay, of about twenty five Leagues in compafs, rifing Southerly with an high mountainous Point, under which is a convenient Road for Shipping, and twenty five Fathoms of Wáter.

On the other fide of the Ifland, towards the Main Sea, there is I. St. Abad, a good Haven, and almoft furrounded with a pleafant ind fruitful Countrey.
2. Cape Trinidado, a noted Promontory.
3. Cape de Cedras, fo call'd (togecher with a friall Illand near it) from the fore of Cedars growing thereabouts.
4. Enganno. 5. Puebla de las Canoas, fo nam'd from the abundance of thofe litthe Boats which the Americans generally ufe, and do call Canoos, whereof perhaps fome fore are made there.
6. Cabo de Galera, from its refemblance to a Rat.

It is believ'd there are many more Promontories and Bays on both fides of this Inand, befides Rivers and Iflets, yet not nam'd, and altogether unknown. Moreover Dr. Heylin hath well obferv'd, that thofe abovesmention'd are the Names onely of Places, and not of Towns and Villages, though doubtlefs there mut needs have been fome fcatter'd Houfes, buils formerly by the Spaniards in fo many Expeditions.

The firf Difcoverer of thefe Parts was Ferdinando Cortez, who having in the Year $\begin{gathered}\text { Girraz Diforeve- }\end{gathered}$ 1534. fet out two Ships to that purpofe from St. Jago, a Haven of New Spain, and $\underset{\substack{\text { rer of } \\ \text { Pars }}}{ }$ befle not finding the Succefs anfwerable to his Expectation, went next Year himfelf in Perfon, and pafs'd a good way up the Gulf, but for want of Provifions was forc'd to return without having done any thing to the purpofe.

In 1539: one Francifco, a Companion of Cortez in the former Expedition, Set out upon his own Charges, and having Coafted all abour, both upon the Eaftern and Weftern Shores, he at laft Landed, but not without notable oppofition from the Natives, who with much clamour, and many antique Geftures fet upon his Men $\mathrm{f}_{0}$ furiounly with Stones and Arrows, that they had met with a flrew'd Repulfe, had it not been for the Valor of their Auxiliaries, the Maftiff. Dogs, which it feems they us'd to carry along with them in thofe kind of Voyages ; but at laft he got footing fo far, that he took poffeffion in the Name of the King of Spain with the ufual Formalities; and following the Example of Columbus, fet up a Crofs in the Place for a Memorial and Teftimony of his having been there.
Much about the fame time Marco de Nifa a Francijcan, undertaking a Voyage in Marco de NTifos his Relation of thefe Parts. to thefe Parts, reported Wonders at his Return, of the plenty of golden Mines, ftately Cities, fet out with magnificent Buildings, the very Gates whereof were enrich'd with Turquoifes, and other Precious Stones, and whofe meaneft Inhabitants went glittering in Gold and Mother of Pearl, and of the flourifhing Condition of the Kingdoms of $A c u$, Tonteac, and Marata; whereupon the Governor of New Gallicia was fent by the then Vice-Roy of Mexico, with great hopes of bringing back a, Confirmation of thefe Reports; but whether out of fpite to be deceiv'd in his Expectation, or having real caufe fo to do, he reprefented all things as mean and defpicable, as the Fryer had proclaim'd them rich and glorious.

The next that went upon this Defign was Ferdinando de Alarcon, who is reported to have Sail'd many Leagues up a River call'd Buena Guia, and there to have receiv'd Homage of Naguacatus, one of the Heads of the Californian Tribes.

One more Attempt was made in the Year 1642. by Rederico Cabrillo, who difco. ver'd the Ifland of St. Luke, and another call'd The Ifland of Poffeßion; and this was the latt we hear of that thought it worth while to go an Undertaker to thefe Coafts, and ever fince all Undertakings hither have been fo wholly laid afide, that what-ever was once difcover'd in thefe Parts, feems rather to be loft and forgotten, than any way improv'd.

As for Nova Albion, whereas many determine it to be onely the utmof Northern part of California, though it doth not abfolutely appear to be fo from the Relation of Sir Francis Drake's Difcovery of it, we judge it agreeable to Method and Deco. rum not wholly to omit the mention of it in this place,though it hath been already fpoken of, and the aforefaid Relation deliver'd at large amonglt the reft of thofe Provinces of largely-taken California, which were taken for granted to be upon the Continent.
Drake's Account of the Countrey.

Drake and his Company brought home this Defcription of the Countrey and its Inhabitants, viz. That the Countrey was exceedingly well for'd with Deer, Grazing up and down the Hills by thoufands in a company ; That the Men generally went naked all over, the Women ufing onely a piece of a Mat, or fome fuch thing in fiead of an Apron; That their Houfes were built onely of Turf and Ofier, yet fo worought together, that they ferv'd very well io. keep out the Cold; in the midft of it was their Hearth where they made their Fire, and lay all round about it together upon feveral Beds of Bull-Ru/hes. What their Towns were, or whither they bad any, is altogether unknown.

The Third Book,

A DESCRIPTION PERUANA.

Southern America.

C H A P. I.

Aving compleated our Defcription of Mexicana, or Nor thern America, being that great Peninfula which lies North= ward of the I/thmus, or Straight of Darien, together with all the Inlands on the North fide of the Equinoctial Line, we come now to the Southern Part, otherwife call'd Peruana, from Peru the chief Kingdom thereof, being the other great Peninfula, which lies Southward of the aforefaid Straight: It is generally refembled to the form of a Pyramid revers'd; the Bafis whereof, that is to fay, the more Southerly parts of it towards Magellanica and the Straights, extend themfelves largely both Eaft and Weft, becoming more fharp and ftreight towards the North, and thofe parts by which it is joyn'd to Mexicana: in the whole it is fuppos'd to contain a Circuit of feventeen thoufand Miles at leaft, and is water'd with four of the greateft Rivers of the World, befides abundance of leffer Streams, which iffuing from the Andes and other Mountains of the Countrey, do run from all Parts both into the North and South Sea, much fertilizing the Countreys through which they pafs; the four principal are thefe following :

1. Orellana, fo call'd from the firf Difcovery thereof by Francifcus de Orelland, The chief Riotherwife the River of Amazons, from a Generation of warlike Women, who (as the Tradition goes) inhabited certain Countreyslying upor the Banks thereof. This riferh in the Province of Peru, and runneth a Courfe of little lefs than five thou. fand Miles, difcharging it felf at laft into the North Sea, through a Channel, as fome fay, of threefcore Leagues broad, and yet with fuch a violent Current or Stream, that it is faid to keep its natural colour and tafte almoft thirty Miles in the Sea.
2. Orenoque, by fome call'd Raliana, from Sir Walter Raleigh, who endeavor'd to difcover it, a River of the Province of Guiana, whofe Head or Spring is not yet difcover'd : It is faid to be Navigable a thoufand Miles together by the talleft Ships, and no lefs than two thoufand by Pinnaces and fmaller Veffels, and difchargeth it felf likewife into the North Sea by fixteen fevetal Channels or Mouths, making thereby feveral Illands; fome whereof are faid to be of good bignefs, and to lie at a diftance of a hundred Miles or more one from the other.
3. Maragnon, a River of a yet larger Courfe than any of the former, being, as 'tis faid, no lefs than fix thoufand Miles from its Head, which is out of the Andes in Peru, to its Fall, which is likewife into the North Sea about Cape Blanco, by a Channel of feventy Leagues in breadth.
4. Rio de la Plata, otherwife call'd Paraguay, a River of two thoufand Miles Courfe, and falling as the reft into the North Sea, by a Channel of threefcore Miles over, and about thirty Degrees Southward of the Line, towards the Straights of Magellane.

The Andes, or Mountains before mention'd being the moft noted, and biggeft of all America, and indeed of the whole World, and thought by Cortefus to be the fame with Sephar, fpoken of in the tenth Chapter of Genefis, run above a thoufand Leagues in length from Timama, a Town of New Granada in the Province of Puo payan, and are in the narroweft place about twenty Leaguesbroad; and alfo of equal heighth with, if not higher than Caucafus it felf: the Afcent to them is unpaifable, except in very few places, by reafon of craggy Precipices, and wild overgrown pathlefs Woods, ferving onely for a fhelter to Serpents and other poyfonous Animals, which are there fo numerous, that a whole Army of one of the Kings of Peru is reported to have been deftroy'd by them; and whateever People there are inhabiting in any of thefe Woods and Faftneffes, muft needs be in the very utmoft degree of rude and brutifh falvagenefs.

Some divide Southern America into Perwviana and Brafliana: Perwviana they fubdivide into TerraFirma and Peru; Brafliana into Brafle and Paraguay: But the mof receiv'd and commodious Divifion is into thefe particular Provinces following, all of them wealthy and large, viz. 1. Castella Aurea, or Golden Cafile. 2. Nova Granada, or The New Kingdom, as they call it. 3. Peru, Specially fo call'd. 4. Cbile. 5. Para gauy. 6. Brafile. 7. Guiana. 8. Laftly Paria, with fome leffer Iflands adjoyning to all or moft of thefe Provinces, and commonly reckon'd as part of them.

Caltella Aurea, otherwife call'd Terra Firma.

 on the Weft with Mare del Zur, and fome part of Veragua; Southward it hath thenew Kingdom of Granad.. - It is call'd fometimes Terra Firma, becaufe it was one of the firft parts of firm Land which the Spmiards touch'd upon, after they had pals'd fo many Inands, as feem'd for fome time to block up, and bar them from the Continent of America : It is fubdivided into thefe inferior Provinces or Coun= treys, viz. 1. Panama. 2. Darien. 3. Nova Andaluzia. 4. St. Martlia. 5. Laftly, the little Province De la Hacha.

The chief Rivers of the Province of Panama are I: Chagre, as it was antiently call'd, Rirerì but afterwards from the great number of Crocodiles that harbor in it, Rio de Lagartos, falling into the North Sea between Nombre de Dios and Porto Bellann. 2. Sardinilla. 3. Sardina. 4. Rio de Colubros, fo call'd from the abundance of Snakes breeding thereabouts. 5: Rio de Comagre, which falls into the fame Sea. 6. Chepo, famous in times paft for its GoldsSands. 7: Rio de Balfas, whofe Banks are fhaded with good Timber-Trees. 8. Rio de Congo, which falls into St. Miclaels Bay.

SEct. II.

Panama.

PAnama, commonly call'd The Diffrizt, or Circle of Panama, is bounded Eaftward with the Gulf, or Bay of Urraba, by which it is feparated from the reft of the Continent of this Southern part of America; on the Weft it hath Veragua, one of the Provinces of Guatimald ; being on both the other fides wafh'd with the Sea : It is fuppos'd to contain in length from Carthagena and Popayan, to the Confines of Veragua, about eighty or ninety Leagues, in breadth not above threefcore in any part; and where it is narroweft, viz. betwixt the City of Panama and Nombre de Dios, if meafur'd by a right Line, not above fix or feven over from Sea to Sea. It lieth almoft under the Equinoetial Line, but a few Degrees Northward of it, and therefore fomewhat hot, and by the neighborhood of both Seas fubject to a foggy and grofs Air, in comparifon of fome other parts; fo that it is not counted generally fo healthful a Countrey, efpecially for Strangers, and in Summeratime.

The antient Divifion of Panama, according to the Lordfhips of the Cafiques that The antiene then Govern'd, were thefe following: Careta, Aila, Comagre, Cliam, Coyba, Chame, Panammo. Chiru, Nata, Tobre, Trota, Haylia, Burica, and Efcotia, where the South Sea with the Spring-Tides flowing over the Plains, at its return being hardned by the Sea, is turn'd into Salt ; but as it hath always hapned in all other Countreys of the World, that with the alteration of Government, the Divifion of the Countrey, and the Names of Places have totally chang'd, fo allo here the artient Divifion of Regions and Territories muft give place to the Modern.

The antient Inhabitants of thefe Parts were a very warlike People; the Women The Nazure always accompanying their Husbands in the Wars. They us'd to hang on the tops and chenamems of their Standards the Bones of their greateft Heroes, thereby to animate their Sol. diers. Their Arms confifted of poyfonous Arrows, Stone Swords, and Pikes made of the Palm. Trees. They alfo carried with them the Idol Chiapa, to whom they Offer'd living Children at the beginning of their Wars, and afterwards making Merry with the Flefh, anointed the Image with the Blood : Moreover, if they return'd home Conquerors, they fent feveral days in all manner of Debaucheries, as Drinking, Singing, Dancing, Cutting their Prifoners Throats, with their Blood alfo anointing their Image. But if they were conquer'd, then they invented new Qfferings to reconcile themfelves with their Idol.

The chief Towns and Places which the Spaniards inhabit here, are 1. Panama, Tocmes, and the chief City of the Province, being alfo a Bifhop's See, which is Suffragan to the Arch-bifhop of Lima, and the ordinary Refidence of the Governor and Courts of Juftice for thefe Parts : It is feated likewife upon the South Sea, and fo near, that at. High-water the Ships are faid to Ride even under the Walls. Through this Town the Wealth both of Peru and Spain paffeth once every Year ; from Spain by Nombre de Dios and Porto Bello, from whence whatfoever Merchandife or other Commodities come from Spain, are Tranfported to Panama by Land, and from thence by Sea to all the Parts of Peru; and by Panama whatfoever comes from Peru, is fent into Spain: It hath commonly a frong Garrifon of Soldiers in it, and is doubtlefs a Place otherwife well fortifi'd, being of fo great importance. From the Haven Pericos three Ways lead to Panama, the firt along a Bridge over a River, whofe Banks are great Fortifications to the City, the rather becaufe the River is deep, and next it a Pool over-grown with Weeds. The Way from Nombre de Dios plain and without Woods, is wafh'd by the Brook Levendero. The third runs along over a Stone Bridge and Champain Grounds, that extend from the Haven Pericos to the City. Eaftward from Panama appear feven Royal Houfes on a Rock, wherein the Courts of Judicature are kept. Five hundred Rods into the Sea lies an Inland re= fembling a Half=Moon, and the Haven wherein the Ships when they unlade caft Anchor, there being elfe not Water enough for laden Barques, and all lie dry, the Tide being out : At the Mouth thereof ftands a woodden Sconce. The Places Venta de Cruze, Chagre, Quebrada, and Ballano, are alfo fortifid againft any Invafion, where elfe an Enemy might eafily Land: But the ftricteft Watch is kept at the River Chagre, which Weftward below Nombre de Dios falling into the Northern Ocean, brings the Ships up to Venta de Cruze, from whence a Way fcarce five Leagues long leads to Panama. The Spanih Commodities confifting moft in Meal, Oyl, Biskets, Cloth and Silk, are all brought from Nombre de Dios along the fame Way ; or elfe in Winter when they cannot ftem the Current of the River Cbagre, then they bring their Goods by Land, not without great danger of being taken by the run-away Negro's, who fet upon them out of the Woods with poyfon'd Darts and Arrows; and as many Spaniards as they take, fo many feveral ways they put them to death, becaufe they formerly in the time of their Servitude were us'd with all imaginable Cruelties. The Provifions fold here at a reafonable Rate are Maiz, Peruan-Meal, Poultrey, Honey, Cattel, Swine, Oranges, Lemmons, Cabbage, and all manner of Garden Herbs or Plants. Round about the fore-mention'd Royal Houfes lie Bulwarks, with a ftrong Caftle on one fide. A fair Cathedral denotes the Place to be a Bifhop's See: And the Francifcans, Dominicans, and Monks of the Order De la Merced, inhabit feveral fair Cloyfters here. Two Leagues Weftward is the Haven Péricos, which being fecur'd from all Winds by three high Ifles that lie before it, is the chief Harbor in which the Peruan Plate.Fleet (confifting moft in fmall Barques) comes to an Anchor before they touch at Panama. The Countrey is for the moft part Mountainous', and in many places fends forth ftinking Damps out of muddy Pools; yet in fome places are Savanna Grouṇds for Cattel to Graze in. The Air would alfo be more unhealthful, if it were not clear'd by the Winds which blow from the Sea. From fuly to 0 0 tober there fall continual Rains, mix'd with terrible claps of Thunder. The Inhabitants often recreate themfelves in Hunting wild Hogs, with Nets made of the Brambles call'd Nequen or Henachen, and that after a ftrange manner: for they fet on fire the Bufhes all about the place where shey fuppofe the Game to lie, which to Thun the Fire runs into their Nets; fo that the fame Bufhes are both their Thelter and deftruction, as affording Material to make the Nets wherein they are taken. Befides other Birds the Woods alfo abound with Pheafants and Turtle Doves; and amongt Beafts, thofe that carry their Young about them in a Bag, as alfo wild Cats. The Sea abounds with Fifh, and produces Crocodiles of a large fize, by the Spaniards call'd Lagartos. The Trees are feldori without Leaves, but bear little or no Fruit.

2. Nombre de Dios, which hath broad Streets, high woodden Houfes, and a fair Church: It extends from Eaft to Weft along the Northern Ocean, in the middle of a great Wood on Moorifh Ground, having a great Fen on the Weft; being fituate under an unwholfom Climate, it hath occafion'd the death of many People. The Merchants which diwelt here had alfo Habitations in Panama, (the reft of the Houles being moft of them Inns for Strangers) from whence as foon as they had gotten an Eftate they went to Spain. The Countrey round about lies under Water in many places. The Oranges, Cafada-Roots, and the like, which grow here, occafion many Diftempers to thofe that eat of them. In the Harbor, which hath on each fide a Ridge of Rocks, on which lies decay'd Forts, the Sea is often-times fo turbulent, that the Ships are forc'd to Ride at fix Anchors apiece. Eaftward from the City a frefh-Water River falls into the Haven, on whofe Banks ftand feve. ral Garden.Houfes and Orchards. Anno 1595. Sir Francis Drake arriving here, found a Mill beyond the City; not far from which on a Hill food a Watch houfe, of which having made himfelf Mafter, he fet fire on the Town Nombre de Dios, as alfo on all the Veffels that were in the Harbor. The original of the Name Nombre de Dios was on this occafion, viz. Diego Niquefa fetting Sail with three Ships out of the Haven Carthagena to the Golden Countrey Veragua, was furpris'd by a violent Storm, in which two Ketches, Commanded by Lupus de Olano and Peter Umbria were driven out of fight, whileft he fuffer'd Chipwrack, and getting afhore, rang'd up and down in a defolate Countrey, where he found no other Food but Roots, till at laft he met with Olano; when the Famine began to increafe amongft them in fuch a nature, that being fearce able to carry their Arms, many of them were kill'd by the Inhabitants with poyfon'd Arrows, infomuch that of feven hundred there remain'd fcarce ninety: Niquefa fhipp'd as many of them in a new Veffel which they had made as it could poffibly carry, and promis'd to fetch the reft off from Veragua as foon as he had difcover'd a Place fit to be inhabited: The firft Place he Landed as was Puerto Bello; from whence being neceffitated by the Indians who gather'd together to Retreat Aboard, not without the lofs of feveral Men, he fet Sail to the Promontory Mormor, beyond which he Anchor'd in a fecure Haven; where, as he was going afhore he call'd to his Men, 「aying, Saltiamo in tierra al Nombre de Dios, that is, Let us Land in the Name of God, and cafting up 2 Fort againft the Affaylts of the Na. tives, call'd it Nombre de Dios.

3. St. Philip, or Puerto Bello, fo denominated by Cbriftopher Columbus from its Haven lying along the North Sea, wonderful convenient and fecure, by reafon of the good Ground for Anchoring, and a Creek in the fame, defended from all forts of Winds; and which being furrounded with Woods, hath much oversflow'd Land about it, as alfo abundance of good Gravel for Ballaft; for which and feveral other Reafons, the famous Architect Baptifta Antonelli advis'd the Spanifh King, to build this City for a Staple of Trade (in ftead of Nombre de, Dios, which was found unhealthy) having pitch'd upon an excellent Situation for it, viz on a Plain at the Foot of a Hill, where there are shree frefh Rivulets, meeting with a fruifful and hot Countrey : wherefore his Advice being taken, they firft built a Fort at the Mouth of the Haven, put five Guns into the fame to defend the new City, and on the Shore a ftrong Tower with eight Drakes : Moreover, the Rocks along the Shore, and clofe Woods about the Haven prevent the Landing of an Enemy: But at the very time that this City was juft begun to be buile, Sir Francis Drake having burnt Nombre de Dios, ran into the Haven Puerto Bello, where he found ten Houfes, befides the Governors Palace, and a Caftle whofe Breaft-works which the Spaniards had lately rais'd of Timber,Stone, and Earth, were all demolifh'd by the Englifh: But the Spaniards have fince re-buile the fame, and fortifid the Haven, with two ftrong Caftes, notwithftanding in the Year 1661. it was furpriz'd and taken by the Englijh under the Command of Captain Parker, and the Governor Petro Melendez taken Prifoner.
4. Nata, commonly call'd St. Jago de Nata, fituated on the Weft fide of this Province, upon Mare del Zur, or The South Sea; about thirty Leagues diftant from Panama, towards the Borders of Veragua.
5. Aclu, a Town upon the fame Coaft, but lying South-Eaft of Nombre de Dios: It was at firft onely a Fort built by Peter de Arias, but afterwards grew up into a fmall City, of which at prefent there is nothing remaining but the remembrance of the famous Vafquez Numnez, Beheaded by his Father-in-law Arias.
6. Laftly, La Crux Real, a few Leagues diftant from Panama, for the moft part intrabited by a fort of Negro's call'd Simmerones.

Along the North Coaft of Panama are two fmall woody In ands call'd Cattiva and Comagre, lying low in the Water; alfo the Ifle De Pines, which rifes high out of the Sea near the Main Land.

On the Southern Coaft are Ifole de las Perlas, or The IJes of Pearls, about twenty five in number, but indeed rather Rocks than Inands, excepting two, viz. Taroreque and Del Rios where in former times the Indians took great fore of Pearls, by diving for them to the bottom of the Sea; and they were efteem'd of greater value and excellence than thofe of Cubagua, and great profit was made of them by the Spaniards, till by their Cruelties exercis'd upon the Natives through exceffive greedinefs, they depopulated the Iflands, and loft that altogether of which before they were fo in. fatiable : they are now onely inhabited by a few Moors and other Slaves, who keep Cattel there for their Mafters.
Ciprain ox: $\underset{\substack{\text { manhamis } \\ \text { pedtrion. } \\ \text { R. }}}{ }$ pedition. It will not feem amifs to conclude our Defcription of Panama with a Chort Account of the Englifh Captain Jobn Oxenham's Exploits in thefe Parts: He being in. cited by the Trealure which Sir Francis Drake fetch'd from hence, refolv'd to Steer for the Northern Coaft of Panama, where he hal'd his Ship of a hundred and twenty Tun on Shore, and cover'd the fame with Trees, buried his Guns, and march'd with two Field-Pieces and feven Men up into the Countrey, and was by the Indians conducted to a River which falls into the South Sea, where he built a Pinnace of forty five Foot long, and Sailing into the South Sea, Landed on Tararequi, one of the Illands of Pearls; where he foon after took a Pervan Barque with fixty thoufand pieces of Gold, fore of Wine and Bread, and the day following another which came from Lima, loaden with a hundred thoufand Pound in Silver Bars,and fome Pearls; with which being enrich'd he return'd to the Main: The Governor of Panama being inform'd of it, put a hundred Soldiers into four Barques, befides a confiderable number of Aegro Slaves; over which Juan de Ortego having the chief Command, was inform'd at Tararequi what Courfe the Englifh had feer'd; whereupon he purfu'd them to the River whither they were gone, which falling with three Arms into the Sea, they could not have known which way the Englifh went, uniefs they had feen fome Feathers of Fowls driving in the Mouth of the leaft Branch, by which they judg'd that they were not far off; therefore Rowing up they found after four days Journey the Pinnace hal'd on Shore, and watch'd by fix Men, who were order'd to ftand Sentinel, whereof one being fhot by the Spaniards, the other five fled; whom Orteg a purfuing, found half a League from the Shore a Hut made of Boughs, wherein the Booty lay, which he fpeedily carried to his Barques; but Captain Oxenham inform'd hereof, fell with two hundred Indians upon the Spaniards, who having a Wood on their Backs made fuch advantage thereof, that eleven Englifh were flain, and feven taken, and had not the teft fled, they had all been either kill'd or taken Prifoners: Thofe that were taken inform'd Ortegs that they had been at difference amongtt themfelves about dividing the Booty, which was the reafon of their flaying fo long : moreover, they difcover'd where and how their Ship lay ; all which the Governor of Panama writ to Nombre de Dios; from whence four Sail were immediately fent to find out the Ship and the buried Guns, as alfo to take all fuch Engligh as they fhould find preparing of Boats or Barques, and bring them to Panama; whereupon very many were taken, who were all miferably flain, except a few Youths.

Darien.

DArien, which by fome Authors not being thought confiderable enough to Defripion make a diftinct Province, is reckon'd one and the fame with, or at leaft part of, Panama, hath on the North the Diftrict or Circle of Panama; on the South, the new Kingdom of Granada; Eaftward it is bounded with the Gulf of Urraba abovefaid, and fome part of the River Darien, which giverh Name to the Province ; and to the Weft, with the South Sea ; of a more temperate Air by far than that of Parama, and a Soil fo admirably fruitful and lufty, that they fay Melons, Cucumbers, and generally all other Fruits of the Garden, are ripe and fit to gather within twenty days or lefs, after their firft fowing, but very much infefted by noxious Creatures, as Lyons, Leopards, wild Cats, Crocodiles, Serpents, and Bats, after whofe Bitings a Man bleeds to death, unlefs he wafhes the Wound well with Sea-water, or ftop it with hot Afhes; and no lefs by the unwholfomnefs of the Air, which is infefted by the many ftinking Damps that arife from the muddy Pools. The Inhabitants are fickly, and feeming generally to be troubled with the Yellow Jaundice, never attain to a grear Age : they go naked, the Mer onely covering their Privities with a Shell or Cotton-Cloth: The Women wear a Cloth which reaches from the Middle down to their Knees, but if Women of Quality, to their Feet.

The Spaniards have many years ago made themfelves Mafters of this Province of

So likewife doth 3. Rio de la Trepadera. 4. Corobaci. 5. Beru, chiefly remarkable upon this Confideration, that fome curious'Etymologifts have endeavor'd to derive the Name of Peru from this River, by the alteration onely of the initial Letter.

The chief, and indeed the onely Town of this Tract is Darien, built as aforefaid by Encijus, a Spanijh Adventurer, and by him call'd St. Maria Antiquia, and by others The Antique of Darien, being one of the firft Towns that were buile by the Spaniards on the firm Land; though there are who make mention of two other fmall Towns or Villages, the one nam'd at leaft, if not buile by the Spaniards, viz. Los Angelos, fearce inhabited at prefent by any but the Salvages; the other an antient Town of the Natives, call'd Bizu.

New Andaluzia.

Defription of New la

EAftward of Darien and the Gulf of Urraba, lieth the Countrey of Nem Andalue zia, otherwife call'd Carthagena, from the Name of its principal City: On the Eaft it hath the Countrey call'd St. Martha; on the North, the Main Ocean ; and Neio Granada towards the South. It is for the moft part a Mountain. ous Countrey, and full of Woods, which they fay yield abundance of Rozen, Gums, and fome very good Balfams; alfo a fort of Long-pepper, much fharper than that of Eaft-India. But the Plains, by reafon of much Rain, to which the Countrey is fubject, efpecially for fome times of the year, of but a fpewy and cold Soil. The Spaniards at their firft coming found it a rich Countrey, not fo much from the $\mathrm{N} a-$ ture and Profits of the Soil (though it be faid to have fome Mines in it, and thofe of Gold). but by reafon of a certain Opinion and Refpect, which the Americans of thefe Parts are generally faid to have born towards this Countrey, infomuch that they would be brought and buried there from other Places very remote ; and accord= ding to the Cuftom of the Countrey, not without good ftore of Gold and other Jewels, according to the Quality and Condition of the Perfon that was buried; of which the Spaniards foon gain'd Intelligence, and in ranfacking the Graves and Monuments of the Dead, are fuppos'd to have found an infinite Mals of Treafure : but thofe Mines are long fince exhautted.

The Inhabitants of old fuffer'd great prejudice by Tygers and Serpents; yet Natives wore Cotton Aprons before, and Golden Rings about their Arms and Legs, as alfo Strings of Pearl, and the like. The Women here, as in the reft of thele Parts, went with their Husbands into the Wars, and behav'd themfelves valiantly, fhooting poyfon'd Arrows, infomuch that Martin Ambefus took a Maid, Anno $1509^{\circ}$ who had kill'd twenty eight Spaniards.

To the Province Carthagena belongs alfo the Countrey Urraba, which is fo fruitful, that all kind of Spanif Trees and Seeds grow better here than in Spain: Befides which it hath its own Fruit, as alfo abundance of Pine and Palm-Trees, whofe Leaves ferve for Brooms. The Guaiana, Tree bears a fharp kind of Fruit like a Lemmon, the Guaravana a kind of Cittrons, the Mameifa a Fruit not unlike an Orange, but tafting like a Melon, and the Hovos a great Plum.

Their Gardens abound with the Root Batata, whofe Leaves fend forth feveral Strings, which over-fpreading the Ground faften in the Earth, and take new Roots; it is yellow without, and whitifh within, and bears pale green Flowers, which at laft turn to a Cod full of Seed. Thefe Roots roafted in hot Afhes, exceed our Ello ropean Turnip; and beaten and put in Water till it works over, makes a Driink; with which the Indians Drink and Caroufe till they are Drunk.

Moreover, Urraba abounds in Venifon, Fifh, and all forts of ravenous Creatures, A Animet as Tygers, Lyons, and a particular ftrange Beaft as big as an Ox, having an Elephants Nofe, Horfes Feet, and hanging Ears.
The Trees likewife fwarm with Birds; and efpecially near Lakes or Pools breed Pheafants and Parrots, of which fome are bigger than Capons, others no bigger than Chickens.
Again@ Urraba juts the Mountain Abibe, whofe lengch Weftward remains un- The Main. known; the breadth thereof in fome places is about twenty Leagues; it hath many Ways which cannot be travell'd with Horfes. The top of this Mountain is uninhabited; but along the Valleys, which are many and large, dwelt formerly a People that poffeff'd great Riches in Gold, which they gather'd out of Rivulets that fell Weftward from the tops of the Mountains. It Rains here almoft all the year long, which makes the Ways yery bad for Travellers to pa/s.

At the Foot of this Mountain, towards the South, lie two fmall antient Cafiquedoms, if we may fo call them, formerly inhabited by a valiant People, call'd Tarabe de Zenu, whether chiefly the dead Bodies were brought from all the adjacent Countreys, to be buried in great State, as hath been before intimated.

The principal Towns and Places of note are 1. Cbartbagena, (fo call'd either from the refemblance of its Situation with the City Cartbagena in the Kingdom of Murcia belonging to Old Spain, or becaufe the firt Inhabitants were Citizens of the faid City) which was begun to be built Anno 1532. by Peter de Heredia, but fully fini. fhed by Georgio Robledo, cight years after the firft Foundation thereof was laid. This Epifcopal Metropolis is on the North wafh'd by the North Sea over a plain fhallow Ground; on the Land fide the Sea flows through a narrow Bay by the City towards the Lake. Canupote, which ebbs and flows equal with the Ocean, and receives and difcharges its Water through two Pipes which lie under along Bridge, The Difcijoyning Cartbagena to the Main Coaft. This City boafted long fince above five phangone, hundred Stone Houfes, being divided into twenty fix large Streets, whereof four are fix hundred and twenty Paces long : behind each Houfe is a Garden; and the Church appears above all the other Buildings: The Dominicans Cloyfter is alfo fairly built, neither is the Erancicans inferior to it, who alfo poffefs a fecond Edifice on the Main Continent over the Bridge. The Cuftom-houfe and Court where the Courts for the whole Province of Carthagena are kepr, are alfo ftately Structures. The Haven bath two Entrances, the chiefeft whereof lies half a League Eaftward from the City, and the Weftern, call'd La Boca, is as far again ; both very dangerous, becaufe of the many blind Rocks that lie before them. Anno 1585. when Sir Francis Drake took Carthagena by Storm, the whole was fortifi'd with Sconces, be. fides two Forts for the better fecurity thereof, whereof one lock'd up the narrow Mouth of the Haven with a ftrong Chain; not far from which ftood an Abbey, Dedicated to the Francijcans, and Wall'd round about; fince which they have feveral Out-works, Forts and Towers, to prevent all foreign Invafions. The City grows wealthy daily by the Peruan Plate-Fleet putting in there before they go to Spain, and efpecially by the Trade from New Granada along the River Magdalena. The Ifland before the Haven, antiently call'd Codega, now Carex, inhabited by Fifher-men when the Spanisrds Landed there, is now defolate, the remainder of thofe that were deftroy'd by them being fled to wild places from the Spaniards Cruelties; notwithftanding the People hereabouts were valiant enough to Engage with them. But fince the Devaftation made by Sir Francis Drake, Carthagena hath recciv'd a more fatal Blow ; for it was fearce fully repair'd, when five French Privateers burnt the City to Afhes: which Mifchief was occafion'd by a Spanifh Seaman, who being whipt by Command of the Governor, refolving for Revenge, went from Spain to France, and conducted the fore=mention'd Ships to Carthagena, where he reveng'd himfelf on the Governor; for finding him affeep, he firft wak'd him, and after having told him of his caufing him to be Whipt, he kill'd him. The Booty which the Spaniards carried from thence at that time amounted to above a hundred and fifty thoufand Ducats.

The Balfam of Tolu very fatmous.
2. Tolu, by the Spaniards now call'd St. Fago, twelve Leagues diftant from Caro thagenia, a Place memorable for the excellent Balfam which is brought from thence, and commonly call'd The Balfam of Tolu; it is gather'd in a Spoonful of black Wax, fuck under the Hole cut in the Bark of a low Pine. Tree, out of which. in hot Weather runs a Golden colour'd Gum, very foveraign, and of an excellent fmell.
3. St. Crux de Mopox, a neat Town, feated a little above the confluence of the two Rivers, St. Martba and Magdalena, which waters this Province.
4. Baranca de Nolambo, a Place of great Traffick, efpecially for all Commodities of the new Kingdom of Granada; it ftandeth upon the Banks of the River Magda. lena, and about fix Leagues diftant from the Sea.
5. Buena Vifta, otherwife call'd St. Sebaftian de Buena Vifta, a Town commodioufly feated upon a rifing Ground not far from the Gulf of Urraba, or the Sound of Darien, abous a League and a half from the Sea.
6. Villa de St. Maria, thirty Leagues Southward of Carthagena.

Rivers of Carthagesa.

The Province of Carthagena is for'd with many Brooks and great Rivers, amongtt which the Stream Cauca falls into the River Magdalena, beyond Popayan near Mopox.

The River Zenu, which gives Denomination to the above-mention'd Territory, makes a very convenient Harbor with its Mouth, where much Sale is to be had.

The Darid, which runs between Panama and Carthagena into the Inlet Urraba, gives its Denomination to the foregoing Province, through which it alforuns, as hath been already mention'd.

The River which for its greatnefs is call'd Rio Grande, or Magdalena, (becaufe it was difcover'd on the Day Confecrated to that Saint) falls with fuch force into the Northern Ocean, about twenty three Leagues Eaftward from Cartbagena, that run. ning two Leagues broad and ten long into the Sea, it retains its frefhnefs of Water; in which there lying many Rocks, makes the fame very dangerous for Ships. In the Mouth of the Haven lies an Illand, which is divided by the River, the wideft and moft frequented Channel of which refpects St. Martha, where thofe that carry the Merchandife up this Stream to New Granada, fpend two Moneths in Toeing, wheno as they come from thence in three Weeks.

Thunder and Lightning rages here many times after a terrible manner from Midnight till Morning. In fanuary there falls alfo abundance of Rain, which gliding from the Mountains fwells the River exceedingly.

St. Martha.

ST. Martba, fo call'd from the chief City of the Province, is border'd on the Defrepipion Weft with New Andaluzia; on the Eaft, with Rio de la Hacha; on the North, tha with the Ocean; and on the South, with New Granada; It is about threefcore and ten Leagues in length, and not much lefs in breadth: It was antiently diffributed into feveral little Seignories, Govern'd by Cafiques, or petty Princes, viz. Pozigueica, Betoma, Buritaca, Chimola, inhabited by valiant Men and beautiful Wo. men, and above all the reft, Tairona, (whofe People for a long time maintain'd War againft the Spaniards) lying at the Foot of the high Mountains Sierras Nevadas, whofe fnowy Crowns are feen thirty Leagues off at Sea, and run along in a continu'd Ridge through 'Peru and Chili to the Straights of Magellan.

This Countrey was Difcover'd, and part of it Planted, Amo 1524. by Roderic de Baftredas, who afterwards was murder'd in his Sleep by his own People.

The Sun fhines fo exceeding hot near the Sea-coalt, that there is no enduring of the fame; but upin the Countrey the fnowy Mountains occafion great Cold, and in Harveft and 0ctober it Rains exceedingly, whereas at othertimes it is very dry Weather, and the Winds blow generally out of the Eaft or North-Eaft, yet the Land= Breezes coming out of the Weft bring fometimes Rains with them. From the Mountains, which are ftony and barren, fall many Brooks and Rivers, which water divers Plains, the Grafs and other Plants of which are often blafted by violent Storms; neverthelefs Oranges, Lemmons, Granates, and all forts of Spanifh Garden Fruits grow here in great plenty. The Woods afford likewife Pigeons, Partridges, Venifon, and the like; the Rivers all manner of Fifh, which are feen to fwim in great numbers twenty Yards under the Water, efpecially in the Haven St. Martha, near which formerly liv'd many Fifher-men, who with Nets made of tough Twigs pleited together, caught fuch plenty of Fifh, that they furnifh'd all their Neighbors. The Highoways are made dangerous by Lyons, Tygers, and Bears.

The Countrey Buritaca affords the Inhabitants Gold; Tairona, excellent Stones of orat preneny againft Bleeding and the Gravel, Jafper, Porphyr, and Gold; the Valley Tunia, frones in many rich Emeraulds, which Stones us'd to be in great efteem before America produc'd fuch great numbers of them. Acofta relates, That a Spaniard defiring to know the Price of an Emerauld, Thew'd two to an Italian Jeweller, who valu'd the one at a hundred, the other at three hundred Ducats; but foon after fecing a Chefl full of them, faid they were fcare worth 2 Ducat apiece; and that the Sute which the Roman Lady wore, being befer with Emeraulds, and valu'd at four hundred thoufand Du: cats, would not fell now for half fo much. This Stone or Jewel exceedingly fortifies the Sight, wherefore the Emperor Nero reprefented the bloody Encounters of Fencers in an Emerauld. It is alfo judg'd to be good againft the Falling-ficknefs, wherefore the Indians hang them in their Nofes to this day, and adorn their Idols with them ; they grow in ftony Rocks along Veins, not unlike Cryftal, and in time obtain a glittering Greentefs; the biggeft of them that are found in this Age are moft efteem'd of in Geinta. The Emerauld Pillar, which as a wonderful Orna. ment ftood in Hercules's Temple in the City of Tyrus, being very famous amongft the Antients, was without doube no more than a green Stone; and perhaps of the fame Material, was the Pillar erected by the Arabian King Miramamolines, in the Cathedral at Corduba. But the great fame of thele Emeraulds incired Gonzalvez Zimenes,

Gover:

Governor of St. Martha, to leave his Place and Feek for them; to which end he Sail'd up the Rivulet Gayra with two Ketches and forty five Spaniards, who meeting with the Cafique Bagotta, got much Gold of him, and afterwards went to the Valley Teffuca; of which Simandoca being Governor, conducted Ximenez twenty three Leagues farther to an Emerauld Rock, from whence he recurn'd exceedingly enriched; the rumor of which fpreading up and down, made feveral travel thither; amongh whom was Peter di Lugo, Governor of Terra Firma, who fending for Aid from Carthagena, fought his way to Bagotta, who refifted him for fome time, till at laft being defeated he made Peace with them for a confiderable quantity of der'd which when Peter di Lugo had receiv, not regardies on the tives, return'd home with an invaluable Mals of Gold and Emeraulds to St. Martha. Not long after the Welfares, German Knights, came from Venezuela, (which City the Emperor Charles the Fifth Morgag'd to them Anno 1518.) and travell'd through the fnowy Mountains of St. Martha with Indian Guides, whofe Inftrue atons following, they digg'd many Emeraulds out of the Valley Funia; the Inhabitants of which affrighted at the fight of the Strangers, hang'd themfelves out of defpair, though naturally valiant, and ingenious in working in Tapeftry the flapes of Tygers, Lyons, and other Beafts, and painting on the Walls of their Houfes variety of Figures of divers colours, covering their Floors with Mats neatly pleited of Ruftes." They fed on Fifh, Venifon, and Manseflefh, and alfo on the Roots Agies, tafting like Chefnuts, Yuca, Maiz, Batata, and Caffada.

The chief Cities and Places of principal note in this Province are I. St. Martba; which gives Denomination to the whole Province, it ftands built at the North Sea, which makes a large and convenient Harbor, being defended from the Winds by high Mountains and two Ifles, is a Bifhop's See, and hath a large Cathedral. The Houfes built of Canes are cover'd with Palmito. Trees, and fome with woodden Shingles. The Haven hath neither Fort nor Caftle to defend it, becaufe there is no Trade but with the Indians, which bring Earthen Ware and Cotton Clothes to fell; and becaufe the Spanijh Ships feldom come hither, the Place is much gone to decay, and the more, becaufe it is no way defended againft any Affault of an Enemy, which the French, and afterwards the Engli h , under the Command of Sir Francis Drake, and the following Year under Captain Anthony Shirley took advantage of, and plunder'd and burnt the City.
2. Tenrriff, built on the Banks of the River Magdalena, forty Leagues from St. Martha.
3. Tamalameque, otherwife call'd Villa de las Palmas, twenty Leagues South of $T_{e}$ neriff, lying on a high fony Ground, between which are plain Paftures for Cattel, furrounded with high Woods, as alfo Pools made by the over-flowing of the Ri vers, whofe Banks are inhabited by the Indians, who are much addicted to Sleep and Drinking. The Pools before mention'd produce abundance of Fifh, as alfo Crocodiles, and the terrible Manati before defcrib'd.
4. Ocamna, which hath an Inland Haven.
5. Ramada, formerly call'd New Salamanca, ftanding at the Foot of the Mountain call'd Sierras Nevadas. This Town is famous for its Copper and Brafs Mines.
6. Cividad de los Reyes, which built in the Valley Upari, flands on the Shore of the mighty River Guataporeya, where from the beginning of fanuary till May the Eaftern Breezes moderate the Heat, otherwife intolerable : But the continual Rains thereabout occafions the 0 uartan Ague, and many fuch like Diftempers. The Natives hereabouts, falvage and valiant, would never fubmit to the Spaniards. The peculiar

The peculiar Plants of this Place are the Tree Xagua, which bears a Fruit like $\begin{gathered}\text { The Tresua. }\end{gathered}$ ${ }_{2}$ Raifin, which dry'd and ground yields exceeding good Meal for Bread:

The Root Scorzonera, which cures the Bitings of Serpents. The Indians alfo ufe She Root the Tail of a Serpent for a Remedy againft the fame Evil, as they take Tobacco againft the Falling-ficknefs, and fnuff the Powder in at their Noftrils, and drink the Juice thereof to caufe Loofriefs:

The chief Rivers of this Province, are i. Polomino, fo call'd from a Spanifh Cap- chief Rivets tain, that was drown'd there with his Horfe, falling from the Sietras Nevadas.
2. Guatupori, whofe Water caufes the Bloody=flux and Loofnefs, which again is cur'd by the fame Water drunk with beaten Cinamon. Guatupori reckons many Rivulets, amonglt which the Cefar and Budillo are both large, deep, and abounding with Fifh.

Near the City Los Reyes are three great Waterepits, triangular between fony Cliffs; nigh which a Tradition goes, That of old there lurk'd a terrible Serpent, which at times devour'd a thoufand People; infomuch that none durft dwell thereabouts, till certain Spaniards having the hardinefs and curiofity to go feek out this Serperit, heard a great noife in the Pits, but faw nothing like the fore-mention'd Animal.

Here are likewife feveral Fountains of Pitch and Tär.

Rio de la Hachá.

RIo de la Hacha is the Namé of a little Province lying on the North. Eaft of Rodela $\mathrm{A} A$, St. Martha, wafh'd on all other parts with the Waters of the Main Ocean, or with the Gulf or Bay of Venezuela.
The chief Towns of this Province, are 1. A fmall Town call'd De la Hacha, chicf of tows of this proo which gives Denomination to the faid Province, having no convenient Haven, vince. but otherwife feated in a Soil-very rich and fertile, not onely of all forts of Fruits and Plants, efpecially fuch as are brought from Spain, but likewife in many Mines of Gold, Gems of a large fize and great value, and many excellent Salt=Wiches, as they call them; It is eight Leagues diftant from Salamanca aforefaid, and eighteen frome Cape Villa, the moft Wefterly Point or Foreland of the Bay of Venezuela; and with the reft had the hap to be furpris'd and pillag'd by the Englijh with Sir Francis Drake in the Year 1595. who refus'd twenty four thoufand Ducats, which the Governor proffer'd'him for the Pearls he had taken.
2. Rancheria, fix Leagues Eaftward of La Hacha, inhabited chiefly by PearlFifhers, or fuch as get their Living for the mof part by Fifhing for Pearl, which was wont to be good on thefe Coafts.
3. Tapia, five Leagues from La Hacha, and confiderable, for that the adjacent Parts were laid wafte by the Englifl, to revenge the perfidioufnefs of the Governor of Salamanca, refufing to pay the four thoufand Ducats he had promis'd, upon Condition of their fparing the Town.

The laft King of thofe that Govern'd in any of thefe Provinces of Terra Firma, Atibeca the was Abibeca, who could not be won to come down from his Palace, which he had dinis s rovorine on the top of a Tree, till a Spanijh Officer, one Francifco de Vanquez began to lay an Ax to the Root thereof.

After Didaco Niquefa, Alphonjo Oreda, and Ancifo, had made very large Difcoveries in thefe Provinces, Valboa was the firft that difcover'd the Way to the South-Sea،

New Granada.

Firlt Difco. very of Now Granads.

THe new Kingdom of Granada, as 'tis commonly call'd, was for the moft part both difcover'd and conquer'd by Gonfalvo Ximenes, about the Year 1536 . and with fo good fuccefs, that in lefs than a years fpace, the whole Countrey was quietly ferled under the Spaniards Government, and the Captain with his fmall Company had made fhift to gather together fuch a Mafs of Treafure as may feem almoft incredible, viz from the Reguli, or petry Princes of thofe Countreys, whom he had either deftroy'd or made Tributary. But a more particular Relation of Ximenes his Journey take as followeth:
$\substack{\text { comfatoo xi- } \\ \text { munseshi Ex- }}$ Being fent out by Peter Ferdinando de Lugo, to difcover the Countreys that lay peditioil. along the River Magdalena, he travell'd upon the right fide of it with great trouble; for not onely the brambly Woods, Moors, and deep Brooks, made the Way exceeding bad to be travell'd, but alfo the Inhabitants, who fell upon him from their Ambufcades: yet at laft he reach'd Tora, which Name he chang'd into Pueblo de los Bracos, becaufe four Rivers unite their Waters there. Here ordering his Brigantines which were come up the River to caft their Anchors, he judg'd it convenient to flay all the Winter, becaufe the fwoln Rivers had drown'd the adjacent Countrey. Ximenes obferving that the Indians fetch'd Salt from the Sea-fide, judg'd that the Countrey was inhabited, and therefore in fair Weather march'd up to the Mountain Opou, behind which he found a Countrey full of Salt-pools, which pro. duc'd Cakes of Salt. And fomewhat farther the Province Govern'd by the Cafique Bogata, who at firft refifting the Spaniards, was foon put to flight, when he heard the noife of the Guns. The Pancles divided from Bogata's Countrey by a fmall Mountain, alfo maintaining continual Wars with him, fuffer'd the Spaniards unmolefted to cravel through their Countrey, and the Valley La Trompetta, to a high barren Mountain, on the top of which Ximenes found Several Emeraulds; and going from thence fell upon the Cafique Tunia, and three days Journey farther, upon the Governors Sagamofa and Diutama; from which three Countreys he carried above a hundred and ninety thoufand pieces of fine Gold, fifty five thoufand pieces of indifferent Gold, and eighteen hundred Emeraulds; all which the Spaniards left behind with Guards whileft they went back to Bogata, whom they found lying dead of his Wounds on a high Hill : But Sagipa, Bogata's Succeffor, receiv'd Ximenes with great Civility, to engage his Affftance againft his Neighbors the Panches; which he did not refure him : but afterwards he fell moft perfidioufly upon the faid Sagipa, whom he caus'd to be Executed, becaufe he either could not, or would not difcover where thofe Riches were which Bogata had left behind him. After he had pillag'd the little Region Neyba, and brought into fubjection the whole Countrey, he gave it the Name of New Granada, from Granada the place of his Nativity, being the chief City of the Kingdom of Granada in Spain, and buile the City Santa Fe ; which done, he quitted the Place, upon information that Sebaftian de Bevalcazar coming from Popajan, was feeking a Way Northward ; and not long after him Nicbolas Federnana follow'd, each claiming Nero Granada as their Right, whereas Ximenes alledg'd, That the firft Difcovery thereof was to be afcribed to him onely : at laft Agreeing, they refolv'd that it fhould be at the King of Spain's difpofal.

The antient Inhabitants, nam'd Moxas, divided their Countrey into two chief The Natur, Principalities, viz. Bogota and Tunica, which béfore che Spanhurds Arrival were each of ofted Alorene under their particular Cafique or Prince. The Men were of a good proportion; the Women alfo handfomer, and of a fairer Complexion than their Neighbors: Their Habit alfo confifted of black, white, and divers colour'd Cotton Cloaks, and fome alfo had Bonnets of the farme. The temperatenefs of the Climate makes little difference between Winter and Summer. Their Houfes were of Planks, and cover'd with long Rufhes. Their chiefeft Food was Maiz and Caffave, which firft grows on Stalks as large as Canes, containing very large and weighty Spikes of Ears, each Ear generally yielding feven hundred Grains, which are Planted in hot and moift Ground; one Bufhel Sow'n, generally produces three hundred. But the Maiz is diftinguifh'd into a courfer or finer fort, which laft is call'd Moroche, the Leaves and Canes whereof afford a wholfom Provender for Horfes, and the Corn, Bread for the Inhabitants, who make it feveral ways; for fometimes they boyl it in Water,and at other times parch it in Afhes, or grind it to Meal, which kneading into Dough, they make into Cakes, Biskets, and the like : Moreover, Maiz fleep'd in Water, and after being boyl'd and fet a working, makes a very ftrong Liquor. They alfo ufe Caffada, which they make of the Root Yuca, which being large and thick, is cut in pieces, grated, and all its Juice, which is deadly poyfon, being prets'd out, is Bak'd in thin Cakes. There is likewife another forr of Yuca, which hath not fo poyfonous a Juice, keeping good a long time, and is both wholfom, and of a good tafte. The Natives of old liv'd much upon the Roors Yomius, and Cubids, all forts of Venifon, Fowls, and Fifh, which the Rivers and Lakes afford in gieat abundance. Thofe that are left of the Natives, are a deceitful, crafty, and ingenious fort of People, very apt to learn Art, and to Trade with Salt to Rio Grande, and the Mountain Opou.

Befides Copper and Steel-Mines, this Countrey hath alfo feveral of Gold; and the Fields produce all manner of Plants.

The Panchas which remain are yet a falvage People, but their Countrey is an in. The Nature $\begin{gathered}\text { of the } 2 \text { anm }\end{gathered}$ different fertile Soil, though not in all places alike; for thofe which border upon of thasi I unia fed much heretofore on Pifmires, of which fome being long, have double Wings, others leffer and without Wings; which laft fort being roafted, are ato counted a great Dainty, and a Speedy Remedy againft the Diftemper of the Gravel. There are alfo a fort of venomous Pifmires, which ftinging a Man, caufe a fwelle ing and great itching, and thefe are call'd Tayoques, whofe Stings ate cur'd by a Plaifter of bruis'd Pifmires.

The Countrey is bounded on the North with Cafella Aurea aforefaid; on the $\begin{gathered}\text { The Burds } \\ \text { and } D \text { Dinenfi. }\end{gathered}$ being not well difcover'd, by reafon of certain huge and unpaffable Mountains, which block it up wholly on that fide, fave onely where a Paffage is kept open into the Province of Peru, 位cially fo call'd : It containeth in length about a huns dred and thirty Leagues, and not much lefs in breadth, being for the moft part a very healthful Countrey, and abounding in Mines of the beft fort of Metal, befides others of Brafs and Iron. It is fubdivided into thefe two Provinces, viz. Graradd and Popayana.

Granada.

Dcrríption of Gramada.

GRanada, ( $p e c i a l l y$ fo call'd, is a Countrey of a very temperate and good Air, as hath been before obferv'd, neither fubject to over-much Cold, nor to extremity of Heat ; which is the more to be admir'd by reafon of its near. nefs to the Line, from which it is diftant Northward but a very few Degrees.

The Towns and Places of chief importance are, i. St. Foy, commonly call'd St. Foy de Bagota, which was the old Name of this Province, and to diftinguifh it from another St. Foy, in the Countrey of Newo Mexico above mention'd. It is the Metropolis and Capital City of this Province, an Arch-bifhop's See, and the ordinary Refidence of the Governor, built by the above-mention'd Gonfalvo Ximenes upon the Lake call'd Guatavita, and hath been long fince inhabited by above fix hundred Families of Spaniards.
2. St. Michael, twelve Leagues Northward of St. Foy, and a well Traded Town. The Indians that dwell about this Place being above five thoufand, pay great Tribute yearly. Not far from hence lies the Lake Guatavita, where the Inhabitants in former times Offer'd much Gold to their Idols.
3. Tocaima, fourteen Leagues Weftward from St. Foy, within a Territory which antiently belong'd to the Panches, who yet poffefs the worft part of it, lying ftill wild and unreduc'd : It is fituate on the Banks of the great River Pati, which falls into Commadicics the Rivulet Magdalena. This City, which enjoys the benefit of a wholfom $\mathrm{Cl}_{\mathrm{i}}$ - ofter cours the Fruits of the Countrey, all Spanijh Plants thrive exceedingly after once Planted; and though Sheep will not breed here, yet Kine, Hogs, and Goats increafe daily, but are often devour'd by Tygers, Lyons, and Bears. The Woods produce Nut= Trees, Cedars, Guaiacum, or Pock-Wood, and the wonderful Tree Zeyba, whofe Leaves fall off every twelve hours, and grow again. The Fowls of this Countrey are mas ny and feveral. Near the City are fulphurous Fountains, whofe Waters cure Scabs and Leprofie. In the Valleys alfo flow Springs of falt Water, which thrown on Herbs, turns to Rozen and Pitch, and is good to make Boats tight. The tops of the Mountains are continually cover'd with Snow, notwithftanding fome of them vomit forth horrible Flames and Afhes, which are blown feveral Leagues over the Countrey. The vicifitude of the Weather occafions two Summers and two Winters'; the firlt Summer begins in December, and the fecond in fune; the firft Winter accordingly begins in March, and the other in October. This alteration of Seafons is not diftinguifh'd by any change of Heat or Cold, but the continuance of fair Weather during the Summer, and in the Winter, of fuch terrible Hurricanes, that blow from North to South, or from South to North, with fuch Thundering and Lightning, as if the end of the World were at hand. The chiefeft Trees that grow here are Cedars, and one that bears exceeding great Almonds. The Quaque alfo bears a pleafant Fruit about the bignefs of a Goofe-Egg; and the Fig-Tree, Figs as large as Oranges. The Agnapa which grows here is of fuch a nature, that an Euroo pean fleeping under it, fwells exceedingly, but an Indian burfts. The Bark and Sprigs of the Hobo, which grows high and round, ferve againft Swellings and ulcers, and occafion alfo Loofnefs. Sugar-Canes grow alfo here in great abundance, amongtt which feed certain Beafts like Hogs, whofe Navels grow on their Backs; and large Stags. The Fountains in moft places of this Countrey run with fale

Water; and foniecimes Salt is found betwen frefh-Water Brooks. The Natives, whoare valiant, fubtile, and well proportion'd, are fince their giving over eating of Mans-flefh much increas'd, and many of them forfaking their Heathenifh Idola. try, have embrac'd the RomansCatbolick Religion.
4. La Palma, built Anno 1572. in a certain Territory, the People whereof werè antiently call'd Muji and Colyme.
5. Trinidad, which is indeed the antient Trdela renew'd, or a City'Sprung out of the Ruines thereof. This Tudela ftood on the Shore of the River Zarbi, which running between high Mountains, makes the Rivulet Turatena, and in the fame Terri* tory as $L_{a}$ Palma above mention'd, vize of the $M u / i & C o l y m e$, by whom the Spaniards, who had here a Colony, were fo exceedingly molefted, that they deferted the fame, together with their Governor Peter de Orfua: yet not long after the forfaken Place was again re-built by the Name of Trinidad; but that Place proving incommodious, was again abandon'd, and a new Trinidad built, where now it is to be feen on a convenient place Eaftward from the high and cold Mountain Paramo. From feve ral rich Gemmaries thereabouts are digg'd fore of Emeraulds, Cryftal like Dia= monds, white Marble, and the Beryl, efpecially on the Mountains Ytoco and Abipi.
6. Tunia, having a Territory about it, to which it gives Denomination; It lies on a high Hill, from whence the Church and two Cloyfters of the Dominican Fryo ers are feen at a great diftance. Here alfo is kept the greateft Market in Neiv Granada.
7. Pampelona, fixty Leagues diftant from St. Foy to the North-Eaft, abounding with Cattel and Gold.
8. Merida, furrounded with Corn-Fields, the fartheft Town of this Province North-Eaftward towards Venezuela:
9. Belez, which though it fuffers great prejudice by a burning a Mountain that vomits Fire and Stones, and alfo Thunder and Lightning, is the greatef Refidence of feveral Orders of Fryers.
10. Marequita, otherwife call'd St. Sebaftian del Oro, which lies under a hot Climate, and hath much Pafture.
II. Ybague, the Habitation chiefly of Dominicans.
12. La Vittoria de los.Remedios; and 13. Juan de los Lanos, or St. Jobn of the Plains, feated in a rich Nook of the Countrey, where there are, good Silver and GoldMines.

The Merchandife that come to thefe Towns,are brought up the River Magdalend in Canoos of fixty Foot long.

SECT. Hí。

Popayana.

POpayana, the other part of this new Kingdom, is border'd on the Weft with sination, part of Granada laft fooken offfrom which the River St. Martha divides it for pion of po. the moft part: On the North it hath Nova Andaluzia, or Carthagena; on the pazas. Weft, Mare del Zur ; and on the South, Quito, or rather forne unreduc'd Countreys lying betwixt them both; It extends in length above a hundred Leagues from North to South, but in breadth, betwixt the River and the South Sea, not much above forty or fifty. The Countrey is faid to be a little too much fubject to Rain, yet not fo, but that the fertility of the Soil anfwers the induftry of the Inhabitants in moft places very well.

Sebaftian de Bevalcazar, Governor of Quito, marching Anno 1536. with a Company of Spaniards to Otabalo, where the Countrey Papayan begins, was ofen Cet upon by the Natives from their Ambufcades, and the many Inconveniences which he fuffer'd for want of Provifions, and trouble of travelling over the high Mountains, had neceffitated him to return, had he not been refolutely bent to difcover the Councrey; to which purpofe marching on leifurely, he came into the heart of Popajan, where his wearied People fufficiently refting themfelves amidtt a fruitful Councrey, where they found pleafant Fruit-Trees, Houfes full of Provifions, and frefh Rivers, which glided from the Mountain Andes, and fome of the Rivulets allo affording Gold, were encourag'd to build feveral Villages; in which neverthelefs they made no Settiement, either becaufe they could not get Gold enough, or elfe being driven from thence by the valiant Natives.

The Places of chief note in it, are I. Popayan, fituate on the Banks of a fair River, but not nam'd, and in the midft of a Plain in a place of great Wealth, and enjoying a good Air. The original of the Name Popayan is from the Cafique who Go vern'd there at the time of the Spaniards firft Arrival. It is a Bifhop's See, and the ordinary Refidence of the Governor of the Province. The chief Buildings are the Cathedral, and a Monaftery of the Fryers De la Merced. The Savanna Grounds towards the North feed many fat Cattel. The Fields produce the beft American Maiz. Some of the adjacent Mountain's either vomit Smoak, Flames, great Stones, or fcald ing Water, leaving a Salt behind it. Beyond the City Popayan the great River Mag. dalena takes its original in the Valley Cali, where feveral Brooks gliding from the Mountain Andes, inhabited by the Cocunocos, unite their Waters.
2. Antiochia, otherwife call'd St. Fides de Antiochia, on the Borders of News Andaluzia, and about a hundred Leagues from Popayan. In the midft of a fmall Territory to which it gives Name, in the Valley Nore, between the River Magdalena and Daria, wafh'd by Rivulets, whofe Sands are Golden, and whofe Banks are fladed with all forts of Fruit-Trees. The Inhabitants white and very rational, neep in the Night under the open Skye: Their Houfes are buile a good diftance from the Highways; near which the Paftures feed abundance of Sheep. The Pools breed plenty of Fifh, and the Mines ftore of Gold, efpecially in the Mountain Buritica.
3. Caramanta, feated likewife on the Banks of the River St. Martha, within a little Province alfo of the fame Name; the Inhabitants whereof being valiant and ftrong go naked, and dwell in little Huts, make white Salt out of a Fountain and a little Lake: they generally go to Antiochia in fix hours, which is forty five Leagues, fo fwift runs the Stream.
4. St. Anne, in the Cantred or Hundred of Anzerma, a Town neatly fituate upon the fide of an Hill betwixt two Rivers, and in the midf of Plain no lefs pleafant than fertile: It was fo call'd by Bevalcazar, becaufe the Indians of this Place name the Salt Anzer ; it is furrounded with Villages and Woods on a high Plain between two Rivers. The Air being exceeding hot, lightens generally every day.
5. The Village Pueblo Llana, which is inhabited by little People, who Trade in Salt, and have allo Golden Rivulets. Near this Place is the Valley Aburra, confifts ing of many fruitful Plains, moiftned by feveral Rivers; the Inhabitants whereof at the Spaniards firlt coming thither, hang'd themfelves, with their Wives and Children.
6. St. Fagode Arma, buile in a Wood of Palm-Trees, fo nam'd from the Territory in which it ftandeth, rich and famous for its Mines of Gold, which it is faid to have many and very good: The Ground round about being Mountainous, hath feveral Rivers, the chiefeft whereof call'd Di Arma, is dangerous to crofs, efpecially in Winter. The unwholfom Air hereabouts occafions many Sickneffes. Amongft orher Fruits that grow in this County, is the Pytalaya, which whoe're eats, voids Urine as red as Blood. Adjacent to it are the litele Provinces Paucuran, Pozo, and Picara, which poffefs. Golden Mines: alfo the Territory Carrapa, which hath high and rugged Land, and many Rivulets: likewife the County Quimbaya, which abounds with thick and long Canes, wherewith the Natives build their Houfes; in the hollow Bodies of thele Canes the wild Bees gather ftore of Honey; and amongft them breed alfo exceeding great Lyons, the four-footed Beaft Cbuca, which carries its. Young in a Bag,Stags, Rabbets and Guadaquinajes, which being bigger than Hares, are exceeding good Meat. The Mountain Nevada, wonderful high, and fmoaking continually, produces the golden Rivers Tacurumbi & De la Cequo. Twenty Leagues or more diftant from St. Jago is, 7. Cartbago, the chief City of Quimbayaes, and by which the aforefaid Rivers run. The temperate Climate here gives Health and long Life to the Inhabitants, who have feveral Fountains of falt Water, and the Fruit Caymito, not unlike a Peach, black within, having little Kernels, and a Juice which Dyes fo deep, that it can fcarce be wafh'd off. Horfes and Cows they have likewife very plentiful. Carthago it felf ftands in a pleafant Plain between two Rivulets; the Ways that lead to the fame are very dirty, becaufe of the continual Rain which falls there, with Lightning and Thunder. A League beyond the City flows the Scream Confota; near which lies a Lake, out of which Salt is made.
8. The City Cali, the Refidence for the Governor and Collector, lying under a hot Climaté in a plain Valley at a River, which falling from the Mountain, glides to the Stream Magdalena. Round about the fame dwelt antiently feveral People, viz. the Gorrones, fo call'd, becaufe they nam'd a Fifh Gorron, the Cbancos, Giants, with long Faces and broad Foreheads, the Aarbacoas, Agnales, and Los Timbas, inhabiting among barren Mountains; but moft of them were flain by the Spaniards, or deftroy'd by one another, few onely efcaping to the tops of the Mountains. The Countrey alfo fwarms with wild Beafts, which have alfo devour'd many of the Inhabitants, both Indians and Spaniards.
9. The Haven Bonaventure; fituate in a deep Inlet, about which live fome Fa: milies which fend the Commodities that come from New Spain to Popayan, Cali, and other Places ; and though there be a Way along by the River Dagua, convenient for Mules and Horfes to travel, yet it is feldom us'd, becaufe the Cattel are fo wea. ried out with the long Journey, that they cannot go through with their Loads; wherefore they employ the Indians to carry their heavy Burthens over the Mountains, which they do for a fmall Reward.
10. St. Juan de Pafto, giving Denomination to the Countrey about it, and being built on the pleafant Plains of the Valley Atris, is fituate in a wholfom Climate, and is moiftned by feveral Fountains and the River Angafmayo, the Boundary of Peru. The Spaniards have feveral Houfes here, and breed fore of Cattel, and efpecially Hogs. They have likewife Sugar-Mills, with which they make abundance of Sugar. The antient Inhabitants were falvage, deform'd, and of little Reafon.
11. Timana, giving Denomination to the Countrey about, is plac'd under a hot Climate, yer the Inhabitants live long; they drive a great Trade with Thred fpun out of the Herb Pita; and alfo with Sweet-meats, Fruits Preferv'd with Honey and Sugar, and efpecially a Kernel not unlike an Almond. In their Gardens they Plant the Herb Cocoa, which they chew conftantly for the ftrengthning of their Hearts. Near Pita is a Mountain with Loadeftones; and fomewhat farther the Habitations of the valiant Yalcones in the Valley Aquirya, the Paezes, Pixaos, and Manipos, which fo molefted the Spaniards, that they forc'd them to forfake the Towns Neyra, St. Vincent, and Ville de los Angelos.
12. Guada-
12. Guadalajara de Duga; and 13. Sebaftiande la Plata, built on a Plain near the River Guali; the Countrey about which is exceedingly troubled with Earthquakes, and the Inhabitants with their Neighbors the Nineres, who bring the Flefh of their Prifoners to Sale in the publick Shambles.
14. Almague, built on a high Mountain, and lying under a cool Climate, is furrounded with fruitful Fields, which feed fore of Cattel, and enrich'd with feveral Gold=Mines.
15. Juan de Truxillo, which the Indians call $Y$ france.
16. Madrigall ; 17. Chapanchipa; 18. Malaga ; and 19. Agreda; the Mountains about which inclofe ftore of Gold.

Between the Promontory $\operatorname{De}$ Corrientes and the Inland Palmas, are the Rivers Salinass and Balfas, which fall into the Southern Ocean; St. Juan, whofe Banks are in= habited by a falvage People which dwell in the tops of the Trees, becaufe the River oftentimes overflows the Countrey. They fowe Peafe and Beans', and catch Fifh, but buy other Provifions, with Gold.
TheIne Gor- Againft the Mouth of this River St. Juan lies the Inte Gorgona, three Leagues in gona. circumference, which is compar'd to Hell, becaufe of the difmal Woods which are upon it, barren Mountains, Millions of Mufticho's, whofe Stings are intolerable, and never-ceafing Rain, infomuch that the Sun never fhines upon it.

Weft-South Weft from Gorgona lies the round Ifland Del Gallo, about a League in circumference; it is divided by feveral Rivers, and round about Planted with Frees, on which the Indians dwell as at the River St. Fuan.

Peru.

The Defeription and Divifion of perth.

PEru, fo call'd, as fome think, from the River Beru afore mention'd, in the Southern part of America, was antiently a great and mighty Kingdom, as Mexico in the Northern, and fell under the Power of the Spaniards much after the fame manner that the Kingdom of Mexico did, viz. through the Diffentions and Differences amongtt the People themfelves, as in the Hiftory of this confiderable part of the. New World will be related at large hereafter.

The Kingdom of the Kings of $\mathcal{C} u f_{c o}$, which in fome fence, and by fome Writers upon occafion, is call'd The Kingdom of Peru, was extended by the laft Inca or King, Huayna Capac, from North to South above a thoufand Leagues together, compre hending not only a great part of the Province of Chile towards the South, but alfo the new Kingdom of Granada, and divers other Provinces to the North; but Peru, properly fo call'd, containeth little more than half fo much, viz. fix hundred Leagues in length, and about fifty or threefcore in breadth, except onely in fome places, as in the Countrey of Chacopoyas, where 'tis thought it may be a hundred Leagues from the Andes to the South Sea: It lieth between the firft and fifth Degrees of Southern Latitude, and is bounded on the Eaft and North-Eaft with that vaft Ridge of Mountains which they call the Andes; on the Weft it is wafh'd with Mare del Zur ; on the North it hath the Countrey of Popayan; and on the South, Chile: It is commonly divided into three parts, which they call The Plains, The Hill-Countrey, and The Andes; the Plains are that part of the Countrey which lie along upon the Sea-Coaft, being for the moft part a meer Level without any Hills at all. The Sierra, as they call it, or Hill-Countrey, is that part of Peru which is part. ly mountainous and partly plain, fertile and well inhabited in both. The Andes are fo high, rocky, and inacceffible, that they are fcarce inhabited at all but by Salvages, fave onely upon the skirts of them. The Plains from the Sea-fhore to the Hill Countrey, are for the moft part about ten Leagues over or broad, upon which it fcarce raineth all the year long. The Hill-Countrey is commonly twenty Leagues in breadth where narroweft ; and from September to Jípril hath Rain, the reft of the Year generally being fair Weather; but on the Andes, which take up all the reft of the Countrey of Peru, it raineth almoft continually all the year long. In the Hill. Countrey their Summer begins in April, as is faid, and ends in September; but in the Plains it begins in Oitober, and ends in May; fo that in the fpace of a day a Man may feell both Summer and Winter ; be fcorch'd with exceffive Heat in the Morn* ing, and yet well nipt with Cold before Night. The Andes generally are cover'd with thick Woods and wild Forrefts. The Hill-Countrey is for a great fpace naked and open; the Plains in many places fandy and dry, and would be much more fcorch'd with Heat than they are, but for the neighborhood of the Sea, which affords them many cooling Gales from the South and South-Weft Winds, whofe property, although it be natural in other parts to be tempeftuous, to bring Rain and foul Weather, yet here there is nothing but Serenity and fair Sun-fhine days all the yearlong, although thefe Winds blow almoft without ceafing upon the Countrey, and no other at any time, whereas the Sierra, or Hill.Countreys have Wind from every Coaft, and fuch as bringeth all forts of Weather with it, Rain, Hail, Froft, Snow, great claps of Thunder, ©c. The Countrey affordeth not fo much Cattel of the breed of commodiEurope as fome other Provinces of America; but in ftead of Kine and Sheep, the Woods Councrey and Paftures are replenifh'd with multitudes of the Ticugnes and Pacos, which are of no lefs Profit and Service. The Pacos here are faid to be as big as fome young Hei. fers of twoyears old, bearing a Fleece like Sheep, and their Flefh no lefs pleafant than the Mutton of Europe. But the great Wealth of this Countrey lies out of fight in the bowels of the Earth, viz in thofe rich and (asthey may feem) inexhauftible Mines both of Gold and Silver, which, as 'tis well known, the Countrey of Peru affordeth more than any other Province of America befides. The Sierra opens into large Valleys, amongft the chiefeft whereof are Xauxa, Andaguailas, and $\Upsilon_{u c a y}$, all of them well inhabited and fruitful. Below $\mathcal{C}_{u}$ co the Mountains Andes and thofe of Sierra run a greater diftance than elfewhere one from the other, leaving the great Plain Callao in the middle. Moreover, feveral fandy Wilds, without Water, Herbs, Trees, or any living Creature, except Birds, extend from Tumbez to Taparaca. From the Valleys flow feveral Rivers into the Southern Ocean. On the Mountain Pira is a Fountain call'd Puchio, which fprings in the Night, but is quite dry in the Day. The, Fountime. Alfo near the chief City luito in the Valley Chilo, is a Founta in whofe Wa- Another ters boyl fafter or flower according as any one fpeaks fofter or louder ; and when traing not a word is fpoken, it ftirs not at all. If any thing exceed this for ftrangenefs, A mof wonit is a Rock in the Province Concuchoos, which is all compos'd of black and white derful Rock. Stones, which are fo neatly plac'd by Nature, as if Art had done a Mafter-piece, in the exact placing of them one between another : but the chiefeft thing belonging to it worthy of admiration, is a wonderful power either to heal or hurt; for if the black Stones in this Rock be touch'd by any, they caufe immediate Death; whenas the white ones cure all manner of Sickneffes, and being digg'd out, leave a Seed behind them, out of which grow new Stones to fill up the empty place.

he faw a Raddifh which 2 Man with both Arms could fcarce embrace, and that. under the fhade of their Leaves, Horfes might ftand. But of all the Peruan Fruit the Cocoa is the crown, which grows on Trees of a Fathom long in hot and moift Grounds of the Valleys between Andes and Sierra; from whence it is carried to the Sea-Coaft in long Baskets by Companies of three or four thoufand at a time on the Backs of the Sheep Pacos. Before the Spaniards coming hither none might chew Cocoa without the Governor's leave : 'A handful thereof chew'd and fuck'd in the Mouth, enables a Man to travel two days without any other Suftenance, and mix'd with burnt Bones or Chalk, it is accounted an excellent Difh; there is fuch extraordinary plenty of them, that the Inhabitants feend yearly 90000 Baskets of the Leaves in Pottage. The Peruans allo efteem Mamayes, a Fruit which grows round, not unlike a Peach, with two Stones, hard Rinds, and a well-rellifh'd Pulp within, which dipt in Sugar is a great Dainty; they grow for the moft part in the Iflands. The Guaiyavas bears a wholfom and delicious Fruit like a large Plumb. The Palto, a Tree with many Boughs, bears a Fruit refembling a Pear, having a hard Rind, and within the Pulp a great Stone. The Fruit which grows on the Annona hath outwardly the fame fhape, but white within, and hath many black Kernels, which tafte very deliciounly. The Fruit Andas, fo call'd from the defolate Peruan Mountains on which they grow, refemble the foresmention'd Cocoa, but differ from the Eaft-Indian, becaufe they are full of hard fhell'd Almonds, the like whereof grows on the Tree Cachapoyas, which are not inferior to any European Fruits that grow on Trees; in that part of Peru which hath its Name from that Fruit is the beft fort, being ex ceedingly devour'd by Monkies, who plucking the Cachapoya Almonds from their Stalks, throw them on the Ground to break their prickly Shells, that fo they may eat the Kernels without hurt. The Mille-Tree, being a fort of Grapes, furnifies with Wine. But the greateft benefit the Inhabitants receive is by their Sheep Pacos and Moromoros, which carry great Loads, and feed on what they find by the Way; their Flefh is good and whollom, and being either Smoak'd or Salced, keeps good a confiderable time; their Wool drefs'd affords Cumbi, of which they make fine Table-

Table-clothes and Tapettry, which on both fides is alike. The chiefeit Weavers liv'd formerly at Copachica, near the grear Lake Titicacu: They Dye their Wool with the Juice of boyl'd Herbs. It feemsalfo ftrange to confider what Loads the foremention'd Sheep carried, for befides all forts of Merchandife, they convey'd the Silver from Potofi to Arice, a Way of fixty three Leagues; but in former times they brought it as far again to Arequipa; and though they carried two thoufand Bars at a time, amounting to above thirty thoufand Ducats, yet they had no other Guard but a few Herdfmen, who driving them flept with them in the Nights under the bare Skie, yet loft none of their Riches, but when the bald Sheep call'd Moromoros, being wearied with their Loads, ftanding ftill, ftretch'd out their Necks, and looking on their Drivers, on a fudden ran up into the Mountains, by which means the Silver was off-times loft, if they were not fuddenly fhot. The woolly Sheep Pacos have alfo Atrange Tricks, for they often fall down under their Loads, and cannot be got up again, but muft be let alone till they rife of themfelves. So foon as orie of the Sheep hath gotten the Mange (which the Perwvians call T'ecarache, ) they bury them alive to prevent farther Infection.

The antient Natives, though differing in Language and Cuftoms, yet went all The Cunfoms Apparell'd after the fame fafhion, the Men cover'd themfelves with a Shirt, which of ofte antiens came down below their Knees, and over that a Cotton Cloak; the Women wore woollen Coats down to their Ancles: Their Head-Ornaments were different according to an inviolable Compact between the Natives of feveral Provinces; for fome were wrought, fome plain, fome divers colour'd Caps, with two, three, or no Feathers, according to the Cuftom of the Place: They were generally of a middle Stature ; but thofe that were near the Equinoctial Line leffer. Their Hiftories make mention alfo of Gyants, who formerly inhabited the Promontory ${ }^{\frac{c}{\text { entringa }} \text {, }}$ St. Helena, were each four times bigger than an ordinary Man, and fed not onely. on the greateft Sea-Monfters, but devour'd each of them thirty Perwvians at a Meal. The Stone Images of thefe Gyants are at this day to be feen not far from Puerto Viejo. They likewife kept for a long time Annual Feaft-Days, on which they lamented the lofs of the Gyants, which (as they fay) was as followeth :

A Youth glittering in glory like the Sun defeended from Heaven, and breath'd Fire, which rending the Rocks fo terrifid the Giants, that they fled into a deep Cave, where they were all kill'd.

Cornelius Whiteffleet relates, That Helvius, Governor of Puerto Viejo, being firr'd thrium fivds up by the Report of the fore-mention'd Images, caus'd all the Graves to be broke the Giams. open, in fome of which he found Bones, which they fuppos'd to be Whale-Bones, had not the Sculls manifefted the contrary.

Concerning the original of the Kingdom of Peru the Natives give this Account the eriginl of the kina. of it : That the moft antient Inhabitants flock'd together like wild Beafts, withe dom of Renu. out conftant Abodes, Cuftoms, Laws, or Governors, which falvagenefs is ftill re. tain'd in many Parts, amongtt the Brafilians, Chunches, Chiruguanes, Yfcayungus, Piloconens, moft of the Floridans, Chinchemeco's, and others, which degenerate from all Hu: manity. In time when fome kind of Government began to be obferv'd, it was rav ther Popular than Monarchical; yet generally thole that were moft powerful, vas liant and fubtile, bore the greatelt fway: Amongft whom the firft that five Ages fince Commanded over the Inhabitants of the Valley $C u f(c o$, was Ingaroca, a fubtile and politick Perfon, who buile the Fort Pucora, Eaftward near the Foot of the Mountain Andes, that fo he might bridle the People which inhabited in thofe Parts between the Rivers, Moors, and Lakes, where the remainders of the Eort are to be feen at this day : Moreover, he conquer'd all the Countrey along the Sout thern Ocean towards the North and South, giving out that he was extrafted from one of the feven Ingas (by which Name the Peruan Kings have been ftyl'd ever fince) which came out of the Cave Pacaritambo, where they were preferv'd againft the Deluge (of which the Heathens in America had long fince an obfcure knowledge,) and reftor'd the drowned Families; wherefore every one not onely obey'd, but paid him Tribute, and bound themfelves to receive of him the true Religion, which they defir'd he would teach them, as none knowing the fame better than he, whom they look'd upon as Extracted from the Ingas. Amongft thefe Ingas the chie feft was faid to be Mangocapa, who, according to their fabulous Tradition, climb'd through the Window Tambo out of the Cave Pacaritambo, and produc'd two Families, viz. Hunan $C_{u} \int_{C O}$, and Urin Cusco; from the firft whereof Ingaroca affirm'd himfelf Defcended, and having firft made himfelf Mafter of all the Countreys about Cufco, rais'd the Family Vicaquiquirao, and laid out a great part of his Revenues upon Gold and Silver Utenfils, and Ornaments for his Perfon and Houfe, which he in bis laft Will'charg'd that none of his Succeffors fhould inherit, nor dwell in his Palace, but that every one fhould build a new Habitation for themfelves: He alfo erected divers Golden Idols.

Some Authors begin this Dynafie of the Kings of Peru in a very different maniner, making Mango Capa to be the firft thereof, and to have been Succeeded by his Son Chincaroca, which cannot but be the fame with this Ingaroca here mention'd. Yaguare foner, out of vexation and exceeding grief he cried Blood) Succeeding him after his Death, rais'd the Family Aocaillipanaca, and was Succeeded by his eldeft Son, the Viratabobs we. wealthy Viracocha Inga, of whom, when the Spaniards conquer'd Peru, went a Report, that great Riches lay buried in the Earth with him; wherefore Gonzalus Pizarrus tortur'd the Natives after an inhumane manner, to know of them where the Grave of the faid Inga was; at laft obtaining his Defire, he digg'd for the Body, which he found fo well Embalm'd, that it feem'd to live, but no Gold with it; wherefore Pizarrus deceiv'd in his expectation, burnt the Corps; the Afhes whereof the Indians gathering in Ulrns, worfhipp'd, though when he liv'd the Vulgar were much incens'd at him, for taking upor him the Name of-Viracoclia, who was their fupream God and Creator of all things; but he pacifid them, faying, That Viracocha appearing to him in a Dream, had commanded him to take that Name up. on him.

The fourth Inga; call'd Pachacuto Yupangui fucceeded in the Throne after the Death of his eldeft Brother, who was flain in a Field-Battel againft the Changas, inhabiting the Valley Anduguailas, where the Peruan Army was utterly defeated, few of them onely efcaping by flight; among whom was Yupangui, who perfwaded the reft to a fubtile Defign, by alledging, That the Almighty Creator, angry at their DeftruEtion, had reveal'd many Secrets to him, viz. That the Creator in Heaven was call'd Viracocba Pachayachachie; That he refented it very ill; That whereas he formerly made Heaven, Sun, Moon, Stars, and Men, none worfhipp'd him for ir, but in ftead of him they reverenc'd the Sun, Thụnder, and the Earth, who had their Beings from him; That he would fhew his Power againft the viftorious Changas by an unexpected Affiftance of an invifible Army. This being believ'd of every one, ftirr'd up the Peruans far and near, infomuch that in a fhort time a vaft Army being rais'd, prefented themfelves to Yupangui, who made good ufe thereof; and alfo told them that Viracocha had decreed in Heaven, that he Yupangui fhould be his Vicegerent on Earth ; which the Army believing, fet the Peruan Crown which they had taken from his Father, on his Head: Thus promoted, he march'd againft the Changas, whom in a bloody Battel he conquer'd, and brought them all under his Obedience: Moreover, he made his Soldiers believe; that they were not the Conquerors, but invifible Men, whom Viracocha had fent, and who could be feen by none but himfelf; and that after the Battel they were turn'd into Stones, which they muft feek for. Whereupon they gathering a great number of Stones on the Mountains, Yupungui call'd them Pururancas, and order'd that they fhould be worfhipp'd, and carried with them into the Field whenfoe're they" fought another Battel, hoping thereby to ftir up his Soldiers to be couragious, who firmly believ'd, that with the vifible Stones walk'd invifible Heroes that would certainly affift them. This Imagination wrotight fo much, that Yupanoui's Army affur'd of Victory with the help of the Stones, went on undauntedly on all Defigns, infomuch that being fear'd by all the adjacent People, he forc'd them all to fubmifion. This Yupangui rais'd the Family Yraupococa, and plac'd a great Golden Image call'd Indyllapa on a Golden Chariot, which fince was religioufly worfhipp'd ${ }^{\prime}$ and afterwards carried to Caxamalca, for a Ranfom of the Peruvian King Attabaliba, whom the Spanifh General Pizaro rus kept Prifoner, and at laft Strangled. The Councellor Polus opening rupangui's Grave, found the Body Embalm'd, and no way defaced, but the Eyes cover'd with thin Golden Plates, and on his Head appear'd the Scar of a Stone which had been thrown at him ; and though the Body had lain eighty years in the Grave, yee it feem'd rather living than dead, being onely a little grey. This Corps, as alfo feve. ral other Inga's, the Marquefs Camette brought from Cufco to Lima, fo to prevent the Peruvians worfhipping of them.

1. Yupangui after his Deceafe was fucceeded by Sopa Inga, and he by his Son of the fame Name, who rais'd the Family Ajoac Aillo: The laft (for nothing worthy of memory was done by either of them) was fucceeded by Guaynacava, a wealthy and mesc and entvaliant youns Man, who was no fooner fetled on the Throne, but he manag'd all Riches of things with great prudence, maintain'd War with féveral People, and conquer'd the Kingdom of Quito, four hundred Leagues beyond Cuco, whither after his Death his Body was carried, and buried in the famous Temple of the Sun, but his Entrails were buried in Quito not without many bloody Offerings, thoufands of his Servants Sacrificing themfelves at his Grave willingly, that fo they might ferve their Prince in the other World. The invaluable Treafures which he left.behind him were carefully hid by the Peruvians till the Spaniards conquer'd that Countrey: The pav'd Ways, magnificent Buildings, and Atrong Caftes, teftifie as yet the Power of this Inga; wherefore in his life-time he was honor'd as a God. His Mother Mamaoclo liv'd to fee above three hundred of her Children's Children, all Extracted from her Son Guaynacava.

The chief of the Family Tanebamba were Hwafcar and Attabaliba, Sons to Guaynaca= va, (both by the Coya, or lawful Queen, however fome have deliver'd to the contrary) who falling at variance betwixt themfelves, refolv'd to decide the Quarrel by a Field-Battel, in which Attabaliba, being the youngeft, was Conqueror. This Civil War was at the heighth when the Spaniards invaded Peru, which they could never have conquer'd, had not the Realm been fo divided. During Attabaliba's Imprifonment by Pizarrus, histwo Generals, Quizaniz and Cbilicuchima, took the İngd Huafcar (formerly call'd Tito Cufi Gualpa, Attabaliba's Brother) in $C u f C 0$, and carrying thajarar him to the Valley Sacfabuana, burnt him alive.' It is fet down as remarkable, that Huafcar after his being vanquifh'd, made great Offerings to Viracochd, thereby to gain his affiftance in his extremity againft Attabaliba; when he was inform'd, that aftrange People which came from a remote Place over the Seas, had defeated Attas baliba's Army, and taken him Prifoner : From which News Huafour taking courage; call'd the Spaniards Viracocbas, and judg'd that they were come from Heaven to his Delivery, and the more, becaufe his Brother had fpilt fo much Blood already : for Attabaliba had not onely flain the Prince Atoco, which led Huafcar's Army, with three thoufand two hundred Men, and drank our of Atoco's Skull tipt with Gold, but had allo pluck'd out the Harts of above a thoufand Children, which the Cammas rites fent with Palm-Boughs to him, to defire Peace.

After Attabaliba's and Huafcar's Deceale, Mango Inga their Brother drove all the Spaniards out of $\mathrm{C}_{\mathrm{u}} \mathrm{flo}$, whither they not long after coming with new Forces, neceffitated Manigo, not without the lofs of many Men, to take his flight up into the Mountain Vilcabamba, where he Setling, his Succeffors Reign to this day, fecur'd from any Invafion by the natural ftrength of the Place. But the Inga Saritopa coming from the fore-mention'd Mountain, fubmitted himfelf to the Spaniards, who allow'd him the Valley Yucay to dwell peaceably in ; but the reft of the Family of the Inga's that fell into the Hands of the Spaniards, were all of them kill'd in Cufco, not without great grief of the old Inhabitants, to fee fo antient and noble a Family, by which they had been Govern'd in great State for three hundred years together, put to death by common Executioners.

The City $C_{u} f(0$, which was the Royal Seat of all the Peruvian Kings, was made more fplendid than ever before, by Guayanacava, of whom Auguftine de Tarrate, defcribing his Magnificence, relates, That when his Queen was Deliver'd of a Son, who was to fucceed in the Throne, Guayanacava kept a great Feaft for twenty days together, and on that day when the Child was to be Nam'd, a Golden Chain, each Link of which was as big as a Hand, and contain'd in all feven hundred Foot in length, was carried by ewenty Peruvians to the Temple.
The Succeffion of the Inga's was after this manner: The Inga's keeping many Concubines had many Children by them, none of which could lay claim to the Perwivian Crown, but onely the Son begotten on the Coya, or Queen, being generally the Kings own Sifter, (whom they accounted law ful for them to Marry, as in antient times did the Egyptian Kings) Inherited the Realm, unlefs the Inga had a law ful Brother, who Inherited before the Son, though born of a Coya; or if the faid Brother had a Son, he obtain'd the deceafed Uncles Crown before him, who in apparence was the elder Heir.

The fame Succeffion was alfo obferv'd by other Governors, which the Perwvians call Curacas.
The Burials of their Kings were perform'd with great folemnity; and the Treafures which they left behind were' beftow'd in building of magnificent Guaba's, which were Temples or religious Houfes, where a kind of folemn Worfhip was to be perform'd, to celebrate the Memory of the Deceafed. Some part of the Trea. fure was alfo diftributed amongft the Inga's Servants; but the Succeffor inherited not the leaft Mite of what his Predeceffor had gotten, but was forc'd, according to an antient Law, to build himfelf a new Palace, and purchas'd anew every thing elfe belonging to it.

Their Crown or Diadem was onely a fine red woollen Coif with a Taffel, that hung down over their Foreheads, which other meaner Princes wore hanging on their right Ear.
Their Coronations were alfo kept in great Pomp and State, the Nobility and nations.Priefts coming from all parts of the Countrey to $\mathrm{Cu} / \mathrm{CO}$, befides an innumerable multitude of common People.

The Noblemens Prefents to the Inga's confifted chiefly of Gold and Silver Veffels, fine Cloth call'd Cumbi, all forts of Sea-fhells, and ftately Plumes of Feathers of ineftimable value.

Thoufands

Thoufands of Sheep differing in colour ferv'd for Offerings: moreover, the Chief Prieft facrific'd a Child before the Image of Viracocka, on whom with great Reverence he cry'd, 0 great God Viracocha, we Offer you this Cbild, that jou may keep our Realm in Peace, aid us in time of War, proßer our Inga in all his Undertakings, make bim more powerful and greater than any of bis Predeceffors, and grant him vifdom to Govern this vaft Conutrey.
No People in the World can be more refpective, and fhew greater Reverence to Their cere their Kings, than the Peruvians : for there were never any heard of in this Countrey vermumath that ever Rebell'd againft their Prince; the reafon of which was chiefly, becaufe they always Govern'd with great Juftice and Mildnefs, placing Governors over the refpective Countreys and Provinces, according to their feveral Divifions, greater or leffer, with fubordinate Power one under another, fo that they Rul'd with great frictnefs, punifhing with Death both Drunkennefs and Theft. Moreover, the Ingas obferv'd a prudent way in Government, viz. They kept their Subjects continually employ'd : The ordinary fort of Perfons of fubdu'd Provinces were fent to remote Countreys, and the Governors thereof kept at the Court in $\mathrm{Cu} / \mathrm{CO}$; and Princes Defeended of the Royal Blood fent in their Places to Govern the new gotten Dominions: they divided the Inhabitants into Companies, plac'd one to Commandover ten, another over a hundred, and a greater Officer over a thoufand, and at laft a Prefect or Major-General, over ten thoufand; every one of which Officers were to bring in an Account every Week to the fupream Governor, who was always of the Inga's Family, what Men dy'd of their number, or how many were born, a prefent Eftimate of every ones Stock, in Cattel or otherwife, and all remarkable Tranfactions that hapned. On the high Feafteday they were all to appear at Court, and to bring in the Revenues gather'd out of their Subftitute Countreys. The main Divifion of the Countrey was into four grand Provinces, call'd Tabucantinfuyos, according to the four Ways that went from Cufco through the whole Realm, viz. Chinchafuyo towards the North, Coclafujo towards the South, Andefuyo towards the Eaft, and Condefuyo towards the Weft. The Collectors were divided into Hananfayos, Upper-Collectors, and Urinfayos, or Under. Colleators. The Quipocomayos, or Accomptants, could caft up exactly with Buttons, not onely what every Province, but alfo what each Man was to pay, and that according to the ability of the Countrey and Perfon.

Many were the fately Temples, invincible Caftles, magnificent Palaces, and Their ately other wonderful Structures built by the Ingas, the chiefeft whereof ftood in $C_{u} / \mathrm{co}$, Tiaguanaco, and Tambo; the Builders whereof were fent for by turns out of the ad. jacent Countreys, from which they brought exceeding great Stones, moft of them thirty eight Foot long, eighteen broad, and fix thick, which were fo neatly joyn'd ton gether with Mortar or Iron-work, that a whole Edifice feem'd to be one entire Stone. Their Bridges that led crofs the Rivers were made of Flags and Rufhes, faftned to each Shore with great Ropes. The like Bridge lay crofs the deep Mouth of the Lake Chicuito, on which great Bundles of the Rufhes Toto being ty'd together, and cover'd with Straw, fo ftrengthen'd the Bridge, that great Loads were fafely carried over the fame.

No Prince ever poffefs'd fo much Riches and Splendor as an Inga of Peru, each The great Countrey prefenting him with what was moftefteem'd amongft them; the Cliches Risgente of the bringing Sweet-woods; the Lucanas, ftrong Sedan=Carriers; the Cbumbibilcas, brave Dancers; and fo accordingly every Countrey provided him with what they beft efteem'd, befides the ufual Tributes which they paid.

Thofe which digg'd the Gold and Silver out of the Mines, had Meat, Drink, and Clothing from the Inga, though at other times he enjoy'd the Labors of his Subjects for nothing.
$\underset{\substack{\text { Thuir fereral } \\ \text { futus of Trii }}}{ }$. When at any time he conquer'd a Countrey by force of Arms, he made them pay their Thunderer Chuquilla, and to the Souls of the Deceafed, and for Food for the . Priefts. The Religion through the whole Realm agreed with that which was ob* ferv'd in Cufco. But the fecond Tribute fell to the Inga's Family, or Relation and Soldiers. Thofe who Till'd the Inga's Ground, Sung before him in Feftival Clothes. That which could not be fpent in the Court was laid up in Store-houfes for ten years together, againft a fcarcity fhould happen. Aged People, Widows, and fuch as were decrepid, paid no Tribute. The third part was for the Poor, which had every Year a piece of Ground allow'd them to make ufe of as they pleas'd. In unfruitful Years they receiv'd an Allowance out of the Store-houfes before mention'd.

So likewife the Pafture, Meadows, and Arable Land was order'd for three feveral Ufes, one third for religious Ufes, a fecond for the Inga's, and the laft for the Poor. The Sheep being fhorn on a certain Day, yielded the Poor a certain quantity of Wooll to make them Clothes. As foon as any Beaft grew Mangy (which the Perwians call'd Carache) they burnt them alive, fo to prevent the fpreading of it farther. Thofe that belong'd to the Inga's Family, wore all Clothes made of the fineft Wooll, and the courfeft, call'd Tabafca, was diftributed among the Vulgar.

Their Indū firy. Befides this good Order of Government, it is wonderful to obferve the Peruvians manner of Living, each learning from their Infancy not onely a Trade, but all things which they accounted neceffary in Houle-keeping, as Weaving, Tilling of Land, building of Houles, and making of Tools requifite for both; fo that they never made ufe of one another on any Account. Moreover, Mafter Artifts, who work'd more for Pleafure than Gain, dwelt apart, being Silver-fmiths; Painters, Muficians, and Dancers.
Their ! Pabits:
Their Habits were heretofore of one fafhion through the whole Realm, onely the Covering of their Heads were feveral, by which the People of one Countrey were diftinguifh'd from the other, according to an inviolable Law made many Ages fince; fome therefore wore thin Caps, others broad Pleits, others little Hats, others round Bonnets, others woven Caps, and the like.
Their PoftStages.

Their Poft-Stages, call'd Cbafquis, were little Houfes, each ftanding a League and a half from one another, wherein dwele certain Officers, who with extraordinary fpeed convey'd the Inga's Letters from one Chafquis to the other; after which manner in two days time they convey'd a Letter a hundred Leagues. But fince the Spa, niards conquer'd this Countrey, that Convenience was loft, till the tenth Perwvian Vice-Roy Martin Enriques re-eftablifh'd the fame; for he allow'd a Sallary to thofe Pofts, that they might with fpeed convey all Letters and Packets from one to the other, being diftant, according to his Eftablifhment, four Leagues.
Their fevere Laws againft Malefactors.

Lafly, the Ingas maintain'd ftrict Laws in criminal Affairs; for as they did not neglect to encourage noble Atchievements (for whoe're had done a valiant Act in the Wars, was made Governor of a Countrey, or had a certain quantity of Land given him, or Married one of the Inga's Family;) fo likewife they feverely punifh'd all Malefactors: for Murderers, Thieves, and Adulterers fuffer'd Death without Mercy ; yet they allow'd fore of Concubines, and it was free for any one to Lie with his Neighbor's Concubine, but Death to have to do with any Man's lawful Wife, who were ferv'd by the Concubines.

When a Bridegroom Betrothed himfelf to his Bride, he gave her (and put them 7 his Marion himfelf) a pair of Shoes call'd Ajota, not unlike thofe of a grey Fryer, which ${ }^{\text {ages. }}$ were lin'd with Cotton if fhe were a Maid, but with Leaves if a Widow, who ne: verthelefs being generally younger than the Man; was to Mourn a whole year in Black for her deceafed Husband; till the expiration of which time fhe was nor to Marry another. Governors of Provinces and other Officers of State, receiv'd their Wives from the Ingas, who enquiring out the beautifulleft and moft accomplifh'd Virgins they could hear of, put the djota on their Feet, and gave them to fuch Per. fons as they moft fancied; after which if they committed Adultery they were cer. tainly put to death. The Marrying of Brothers and Sifters wasalfo forbid, till the Inga Topa Yupangui, Father to Guaynacava broke that Law, by Marrying his own Sifter Mamoello, and made an Order that the Ingas onely fhould have that liberty; nay, when he lay on his Death-bed, he ftrietly charg'd his Son Guaynacava to take his own Sifter Goya Cuißilmay to Wife; and this inceftuous Marriage produc'd Huafcar and Attabaliba, (though fome fay Attabaliba was begotten on a Concubine) in whofe time the Peruvian Kingdom went to ruine. Guaynacava alfo permitted the common People to Marry their Sifters of the Fathers fide, but not of the Mothers.

The Peruvian Houfes were antiently for the moft part light and fmall ; and for $\begin{aligned} \text { Tbeir man. } \\ \text { ref of livig. }\end{aligned}$ their Table they made but little preparation, fatisfying themfelves with a little Beer made of Rice, Bread bak'd of Maiz, dry'd Flefh, Fifh, and Roots.

In their Wars they us'd Slings, Darts, Arrows, Lances, Pikes, Halberds, Pole. Axes, and Shields.

Their Funerals were alfo folemnly kepr, efpecially thofe of Perfons of Quality, Thair Fune: the Corps was carried out on a brave Chair, from which he was put into the Ground, with two of his Concubines whom he beft affected, and alfo three Servants, Gold and Silver Veffels, Maiz, and the Liquor Cbicd, which the neareft Relation Spurred into his Mouth through a Cane ; all which chey did that the Decea. fed might make ufe thereof in the other World. But before the Funeral the Relations Mourn'd over the Corps feveral days, and after the Body was Interr'd, they plac'd the Picture of the Deceafed upon the Grave : but the meaner fort of Peo: ple had the 'Tools belonging to their Trade; and Soldiers their Arms plac'd on the fame.

In their Religion they had various Fancies; their prime God Viracocha bore Ces Their Reit: veral Denominations, and amongft others he was call'd Pacachame, or Pachayacha- ${ }^{\text {gion }}$. chick, by which he was fignifi'd to be the Creator of Heaven and Earth; as alfo $M$ apu, that is, Wonderful. In honor to this Pacachama food formerly a magnificent Temple about four Leagues from Lima, where the Ruines fill manifeft its former glory, it being the Place where the Devil anfwer'd the Priefts, who ftood with their Backs toward's the Image of Pacoobame, bowing their Heads to the Ground, and fhowing many antick Tricks. The fecond Temple flood near Cufco, in which the Inga's had placd the Images of all the Gods and Goddeffes that were worflhip p'd in Peru; and before each Image ftood an Altar : the chiefeft of them, call'd Puachao, confifting of maffie Gold, was Dedicated tothe Sun, on whofe Forehead the Sun was Engraven on a Plate, which afterwards fell into the Hands of the Spanifh Captain Mancius Sierra de Lequizamo; but becaufe he loft the fame one Night at Gaming, this Proverb was rais'd upon it, Lequizamo loft the' San before it rofe, becaufe he got the Plate on which the Sun was Engraven in thè Afternoon, and lof the fame in the Night : The Temple it felf, built of great Stones, curioufly joyn'd together in Mofaick Work, and within link'd with Golden Plates of a Finger thick, flood full of Golden Chappels and Altars; round about it were feveral Galleries, into which the Priefts and Priefteffes Chambers open'd. Near the River Ticiquaque a third Temple, Confecrated to the Sun.

The various Idolatry of the Poruvithe Poruvi ans.

This kind of Idolatry was common to the Peruvians, with feveral other Nations of the antient Henthens, as hath been beforc obferv'd, which made them mock at the Spaniards when they told them of a Crucif'd Saviour, faying they had a fplendid God, who appear'd to them in glory every Morning. In the third Temple near the River Taciquaque in Peru, which exceeded the other two, they worfhipp'd Thunder by the Name of Cbuquilla, Catuilla, and Intillapa, which the Peruvians believ'd to be a Man that Commanded the Air, and who being Arm'd with a Club and Sling, throws down Rain, Hail, and Snow from the Clouds, and fhooting Bullets through the lower Region, caufes Thunder and Lightning: They worfhipp'd him after the fame manner as they did Viracocha and the Sun, with holding up of a thing like a Glove, and fometimes Offering, efpecially in $\mathrm{Cu} / \mathrm{co}$, living Children: Alfo they ador'd the Earth of which they made the Goddefs Bathamama; alfo Mamacocha, the God of the Sea. The Rainbowe, which the Ingas carried between two Serpents for their Arms, was alfo religioully worfhipp'd. Amongft the Stars they imagin'd Colca, by us call'd Aries, or the Ram, as chief; yet held feveral others of peculiar Denomination, in veneration, of which they crav'd fuch things as they wanted. The Shepherds ador'd the Star Nerenchilla, or Capricorn, whom they judge to Rule over the Beafts. Others worfhipp'd Machactay, which the European Aftrono. mers call the Serpent, as commanding Serpents and Dragons, that they might receive no hurt from them. Tygers, Lyons, and Bears, were Rul'd by the Star Chuquiclinclag; wherefore thofe who would walk free from thole ravenous Beafts, lifted up folded Hands to the Conftellations reprefenting the fame. They believ'd that there was no Creature living on Earth, whofe Likenefs the Heavens could not afford; and that thofe which were on Earth were under the influence of thofe in Heaven : from hence proceeded the Names of the Stars Chacana, Topatatca, Ma. mana, Mirma, and others. They likewife attributed a kind of Divinity to Fountains, Rivers, Rocks; Mountains, fome kinds of Herbs, Roots, and efpecially the Papas, of a frange fhape, and had a veneration for all manner of Creatures that were of an unufual form. Wheri they travell'd they frew'd Shoes, Plumes of Feathers, and Cocoa in all crofs Ways and tops of Hills, by them call'd Apachitas; and if they want the fore-mention'd things, then they throw a Stone for an Offering, from whence it proceeds, that in all crofs Ways, and on the tops of Hills, lie heaps of Stones, which are accounted holy.

The like fond veneration of Stones the Saracens are faid antiently to have had, upon a Tradition, That Abrabam had enjoy'd Agar upon a Stone, and that accord. ing to Eutlymius and Libanius, he ty'd his Cammel to a Stone when he went to Offer his Son Ifaca.

The Images of their decealed Ingas, which they call'd Guaoidui, were had in great honor, and carried with them to the Wars, and up and down in Proceffionings, and call'd upon for fruitful Seafons.

The Immortality of the Soul, the giving of Punifhments to the Wicked, and of the prewpif Rewards to thofe that do well, was generally believ'd amongtt the Perivians, but the cinerornot the Refurrection of the Dead. Many fuffer'd themfelves to be buried with their soul. Friends, that they might accompany them to the other World. When the Inga Guaynacava was buried, above a thoufand of his Courtiers Sung feveral Songs, kept a great Feaif, and went with great joy to be buried with him, that fo whey might ferve their King on the other fide of the Mountains. They Offer'd likewife a great number of Children, and with their Blood crofs'd their Faces from one Ear to another: But this barbarous Offering was never us'd but at the Death of prime Per= fons of Quality ; for the meaner fort of People fet onely Meat on the Graves, and gave the Dead two Sutes of Apparel, put Money in their Mouthes and Hands; for they believ'd that the Souls ranging up and down from place to place, fuffer'd many inconveniences.

The Peruvian Images confifted generally of Gold, Silver, Stone, or Wood, all of Ther Orax them ftrangely deform'd: Some of them were faid to give Refponces like the Oracle at Delphos and Dodona, chiefly in the Temple Pacachama, whofe greatnefs is fufo ficiently manifeft by the Ruines of its Walls beyond Lima, where Francifcus Pizarrus got an invaluable Treafure. Each Peruvian Province had a Temple, befides which, in the Cities, Villages, and Hamlets, were Chappels of Eafe, into which the Priefts went at Night with their Backs towards the Idol, bended Heads and Bodies; in which pofture they requefted to know future Events, and were many times anfwer'd (if we may believe their Reports) in a terrible Voice. The great Temple at $C_{u} \int c o$, wherein the Ingas had plac'd all the Peravian Idols, is now turn'd into a Dominican Cloyfter.In each Province of Peru was alfo a Nunnery (if we may fo term it)or Habitation of devoted Virgins, call'd $\mathcal{A l l a g u a u}, \mathrm{i}$. e. $\mathcal{A}$ Houje of the Cheiceft, over which was neress. plac'd a Governor nam'd Appopanaca, to whom none durft deny their Daughters; fome of which were ftyl'd Wives of the Sun, and others ServanteMaids to the fame: The Wives Cloth'd in Embroyder'd Coats, adorn'd the Temple, whileft the Maids kepe clean the Walls and Floor. When they attain'd to fourteen Years of Age, fome were chofen out from the reft, and oblig'd to perpetual Virginity and folitude of Life in their Chappels; which facred Obligation if they broke by fuffering any to Lie with them, they were buried alive after the manner of the Veftal Virgins, the Ceremony whereof is related by Plutarch: Others were oblig'd to make daily Offerings; others to make peculiar Sacrifices for the Inga's Health, and happy Events in War; many alfo were employ'd in the Court-Service to wait upon the Inga's Wife or Concubines; and thofe being abfolv'd from their Vow, were oft. times Married to Courtiers. Thefe Nunneries were Endow'd with great Revenues

Thirir Ofir-
Incs trgs. Offer'd to their Idols the highly efteem'd Herb Cocoa, Maiz.feveral colour'd Plumes, Sea-Monfters, Gold and Silver Images of Beafts, fine Clothes call'd Cumbi, Sweetwood, and Tallow to burn) either to have fuccefs in their' Journeys, Trades, or for the prefervation of Health, or to obtain a plentifui Harveft. But their ufual Offere ings were Cuces, a fort of Toads, which were caten by the Peruvians. When they were to do any Bufinefs of confequence, then Perfons of Quality kill'd their Sheep Pacos, not without frange obfervation of the colour and number of them, as alfo of the time; all which things well confider'd, they took the Sheep and laid it crofs their right Arm, turn'd the Face thereof towards the Sun, and mutter'd feveral words to themfelves according to the colour, for if it was fpotted grey, they fooke to Chuquilla, or Thunder; if white and Thore Fleec'd, to the Sun; if well Fleec'd, to Viracocha. In Cufco they Offer'd daily a fhort-fleec'd Sheep to the Sun in this manner : Making a great Fire call'd Vilbacaronca, the Priefts threw the Sheep and four Baskets of Cocoa into it. Their Sacrifices Cozocovica and Sapovicea, to obtain Conquefts, were alfo very ftrange: for they gather'd out of Puna (which is a defolate place) Feveral forts of Brambles and Bufhes nam'd Ganilli, which being all fet on fire, they went about the Fire with round Stones in their Hands, on which wetf painted Serpents, Lyons, Toads, and Tygers, crying, $\mathcal{U}$ fachum, grant us Conqueft, togecher with this Prayer, Deftroy, 0 Creator, the power of our Enemies Gods; which faid, Ceveral ftary'd Sheep were brought out, which for that reafon they call'd Urca; whofe Hearts having torn out they began their Prayers afrefh, faying, Mighty Viracocha, thus do thou pull out the Hearts of our Enemies. For the profperity of the Ingas they kill'd in an open Field black Dogs, by them call'd Apparucos, whofe Flefh was eaten with many Ceremonies by People appointed for that purpofe. They made Offerings alfo to the Fountains, Rivers, Brooks, and Sea-fhells, under pretence that thofe Shells were Daughrers of the Ocean, and the Ocean the Father of Streams and Springs; when they bad Sow'n their Fields, their Priefts, chofe to that Office, went from Houfe to Houfe to gather fuch Offerings as every one was pleas'd to give; which they laid at the Banks of feveral Sluces, at the time when the Water began to rife there, thinking by thatOblation to keep them from over-flowing their Lands, and wafhing a way their Seed.In all places where two Rivers joyn'd together they wafh'd themfelves, having firf bedaub'd themfelves all over with ftamp'd Maiz, and afterwards look'd upon themfelves as well purg'd from Sin; which power they afcrib'd to their Baths. To ftrangle Children between four and ten years of Age was never us'd, unlefs upon the Inga's being fick, or when he receiv'd the Royal Taffel, that from the death of the Children he might receive Health, or Reign prof peroully. The fore-mention'd Nuns that were chofe to attend on the King's, were alfo ftrangled when the Inga was fick; nay, fometimes a Father would Offer his Son to Viracocha, on the Sun.Prieft's fuggeftion, That by his Son's death he would recover from his Sicknefs, Praying to the foremention'd Deio ty, that they would be pleas'd to fave the fick Father, becaufe the Son had with his Death paid for his Fathers.

This kind of Cruelty the Devil feem'd to prompt the Heathens to, by making ufe of Abraban's Example, who prepar'd his Son IJaac for a Sacrifice on Mount Moria; and that it was a Practice amongft the antient Ammonites and Moabites, and other Heathens (by which even the Children of Ifrael were apt to be feduc'd) appears from the Scripture it felf: the Ceremonies of which bruitifh Cuftoms, with the feven Brazen Chambers of Molocl, may be feen defcrib'd by Rabbi Solomon.

The high Feaft Capacrayne, which the Perwvians kept in the firft-Moneth Rajme, agreeing with our December, deferves ferious obfervation: for as long as the Feaft lafted, no Stranger was fuffer'd to Lodge in $C_{u} \int_{c o}$, whither they all flock'd again after the Feaft was over, to receive Cakes made by the Mamaconas (an Order of Nuns) of Maiz and the warm Blood of a white Ram, and were diftributed by cero tain Priefts (Extracted from the Royal Family Iluqui Yupangui) who carrying them up and down in Golden Difhes, gave every one of a Company one, faying at the delivery of it, If you do not Reverence the Sun and Inga, this Food will witnefs againft yous to your Ruine; but if you worfhip them, then their Bodies will by this Pledge be united to yours: after which thofe that had eaten of the Cakes promis'd Obedience, and thank'd the Sun and Inga for their Food.

At the foresmention'd Chafquis a courfe was taken to carry all that defir ${ }^{\circ} \mathrm{d}$, to eve. ry Temple through the whole Kingdom of Peru, where the Inhabitants receiv'd them with great Reverence, having before confefs'd all their fins to their Yaburies, or Father:Confeffors, who being chofen to that Office with a great deal of Ceremo- Their manier ny, impos'd greater or leffer Penances, according to the fins of the Penitent : thofe of ons. that were fufpected to have conceal'd any of their fins, were put to caft Lots, or had the Entrails of the Beafts which they had kill'd to that purpofe confulted about them; and thereby were difcover'd if they had conceal'd any of their fins; which whenever it hapned, the Priefts falling upon the falfe Penitents, thump'd them with a Stone on their Backs fo long, till they had' confefs'd all their Faults, which the Prieft was not to reveal on pain of Death, but to make Expiatory Offerings. The fins about which they were Examin'd, were chiefly Theft, Murder, Adultery, preparing of Poyfon, or fleighting their Inga or Gods; for each of which Tranfgreffions they had feveral kinds of Punifhments. When the Inga fell fick, all People in geo neral were forc'd to come and make Confeffion of their fins; alfo every one went to his Confeffor when he was in trouble; or expected fome Misfortune to befall him : The Inga himfelf Confefs'd his fins to none but the Sun, which he defir'd to relate to Viracocha, and to beg pardon of him for the fame; which done, he bath'd him: felf in a running Stream, and cry'd; I bave made my fins known to thee, O Sun; do thon,

0 River, wafh abay mine Iniquities, and difcharge them into the Sea, that they may never be more laid to my charge : which cuftom of Bathing, call'd Opacuna, was alfo us'd by all Tiei. Perax:- other Penitents. A Father lofing his Son by Death, was cenfur'd for a great Sinner, wherefore he could not be permitted to be Confels'd before he had been whipp'd with Nettles by a cetain ill-look'd Officer appointed for that end; after which their Fathers Ychuris enjoyn'd fuch Penances as they thought fit; fome were order'd to faft feveral days; gthers to pay rich Garments, Silver, Gold, or the like; others receiv'd a certain number of Blows; fome were condemn'd to live on the Moun. tains, excluded from the fociety of all Men. If their Sorcerers at any time fore told a Fathers Death, then he immediately Sacrifis'd his Son, that with his Death
ers, as Men that could difcover private Thefts, Accidents that hapred in remote Countreys, and alfo future Events, and fo far their Credit amongft the Vulgar carried them, that they undertook to tell the Spaniards when their Countreyomen fhould be Conquerors, and when defeated in the War they maintain'd againft the Netberlanders. There were alfo cunning Women, who making themfelves dead Drunk with Chica, with which they mix'd the Herb Viloa, and afterwards coming to themfelves again, anfwer'd all the Queftions that were propofed to them.
Theirmonth. The Perwivians kept two forts of Feafts, the firft at certain times, the others on ly Feats. fpecial occ̀afions; the fet-Feafts were kept Monethly ; on the firf Moneth Rayme, agreeing with our laft Moneth December, as aforefaid, they kept the great Feaft $\mathrm{Ca}_{-}$ pacrayme, on which they brought Multitudes of Sheep añd Lambs for Burntooffer. ings, befides Silver and Gold. Not far from the Fire food three Carv'd Images of the Sun, and three others reprefenting Thunder; and this was generally the Day of the Inftallation of the young Inga's, which was after this manner: The chief Prieft boring a Hole through his Ear, cover'd the upper part of his Body with the holy Cloth Guaras, whileft the inferior Priefts whipt him with knotted Cords, and painted his Face with the Blood. During thefe Ceremonies no Stranger was fuffer'd to remain in $C_{u} \int_{c o}$, but after the Feaft was ended they all return'd, and as be. fore, receiv'd Cakes bak'd of Maiz and Blood; as a teftimony that they lov'd and honor'd the Inga.

The three Images of the Sun beforemention'd they call'd Apointi, Churiunti, and Intiquaoqui, that is, Father-Sun, Son-Sun, and Brother=Sun. In like manner they nam'd the three Images of Thunder, Chuquilla, Catuilla, and Intillapa; from which Acofta judges that the Devil had obfcurely taught the Peruvians the Myfteries of the holy Sacrament and Trinity, (that their glory might be eclips'd by Idolatrous Errors) efpe-. cially the laft, which feems plainly to be fignifid by the Perivian Deity Tangatanga, whotn they affirm'd to be One in Three, and Three in One. And that other Nations alfo had a glimple of the fame may be collected from Pbilip Cluverius, who endea. vors to demonftrate, that the antient Germans and Gauls obfcurely ador'd the Trinity in the mid!t of their Heatbeni $m$, under the notion of Sun, Moon, and Fire, the Sun fignifying the Father, the Moon the Son, and the Fire the Holy-Ghoft; to confirm which he makes ufe of Cafar's Teftimony, viz. Thpy onely efteem thofe Gods whom they fee, and thofe that aßije them, viz. the Sun, Vulcan, and the Moon; for they bave never beard any thing concerning any other Gods. Diodorus Siculus feems alfo to afcribe a glimple of this Myftery to the Egyptians, when he fays, That the antienteft People in Egypt, when they view'd the World, and were amaz'd at all things on the Earth, they judg'd that two Gods Govern'd them all, viz.the Sun and Moon, by whom all things flourifh'd and encreas'd; to whom they added a third, namely Fire, to which they attributed a Divinity, as conducing much to the increafe and growth of all things. The Moon, which was allo call'd funo, they judg'd to be the Offspring of God, (for Son and Daughter were promifcuoufly taken) who, according to Homer, Marrying with fupiter, brought forth Vulcan, which might haply be to them a Type or Figure of the Holy-Gboft, proceeding from the Father and Son: Vulcan was by her plac'd a Prefident over the Fire, by which the Heathens feem'd to imitate the fiery Power of the Holy.Gooft, purifying and cleanfing all things : and this cleanfing Power was aim'd at by Romulus, when, according to Dionyfus Halicarnafenfis, he commanded his Soldiers to leap through a Fire made before his Tent, that fo they might be purifid from all their Crimes. ,But it may be thought ftrange, that the Peruvians, Germans, or Egyptians, loft in a Wood of grofs Idolatry, could have any apprehenfion, though never fo obfcure, of the holy Trinity, when as the moft nice and curious Greek and Roman Wits have made fuch grofs miftakes concerning God. But to return again to the Perwvians: They kept their fecond Feaft in the fecond Moneth Camay, on which they threw the Afhes of their Offerings into the River, and follow'd them on the Shore for the fpace of five Leagues, praying the River to carry the Afhes to the Sea, where Viracocha.would receive chem. In the third and fourth Moneths they kill'd a hundred and ten black fpotted and grey Sheep. In the be- Thatr Harginning of May (by the Peruvians call'd Hatuncuzqui) they gather'd in their Maiz, and nitis. kept the Feaft Aymorai; after which they return'd home Singing. from their Fields, call'd Chacrd, and carried a great heap of Maiz with them, nam'd Perua, wrapping it up in rich Garments; three Nights they continu'd their Ceremgnies, imploring the Perua to preferve their Harveft of Maiz from any damage that might chance to come to it, and alfo to let that grow profperoufly which chey fhould Plane next. Laftly, their Sorcerers confulted whether the Perua could laft till the next year? to which if they were anfwer'd $\mathcal{N} 0$, they carried it into the Fields, and burno ing it, made a new Perua, which when they knew to be fufficient to laft good a year, they carried it to the Granary in great triumph. In the feventh Moneth dicayacuzqui, they kept the Feafe call'd Intraymi, wioh a hundred Sheep, in honor of the Sun. They alfo made feveral Images of the Wood Quimia, which they put in rich Habits, ftrew'd the Ways with Flowers, Danc'd a ftrange Dance nam'd $\dot{C}_{\text {ayo }}$, Singing feveral Songs. Perfons of Quality put Golden Plates about their Knces, as the common People painted them with divers Colours. In the eighth Moneth Cbabua they kept the high Feaft Huarqui, on which they Offer'd a hundred grey Sheep; the like number, but of a Chefnut colour, they Offer'd the following Moneth Yupaquis, befides a thoufand Cuies, that the Air, Water, or Sun, might not fpoil their Plants. Their Feaft Situa they kept on the tenth Moneth Cojaraymi after this manaer: They gather'd all together on the firft day before the Moon rofe, which no fooner appear'd, but they made a terrible noife, beat one another with lighted Torches, then wafh'd the Dirt from their Bodies, and made themfelves Drunk for four Days together. The eleventh Moneth Armaraimi, was nam'd Punchaiquis, from the Feaft they kept therein, on which (befides the ufual Offerings of eight hundred Sheep) they ty'd a black Sheep to a Poft without Mear, till fuch time as there fell ftore of Dew. Their Feaft call'd Raymicantara Raiquis, was kept in the laft Moneth Ayamara, on which their Youth were bor'd through the Ears. Amongft the high Feafts which were kept on great occafions, the chiefeft was Ytri, againft which they all made new Clothes after a peculiar fafhion, wearing their Cloaks muffled about their Heads; in which manner they walked leifurely a whole Day and a Night; during which time none durft either Eat or Drink, or open his Eyes: But after this ferious Proceffioning follow'd four days of extravagancy, as Drinking, Dancing, and the like. In their Dances, which were to the found of Drums, Pipes, and Horns, they imitated all manner of Trades by ftrange motions of their Bodies, befides divers other Frolicks and May-games which they us'd at fuch times of Mirth and Feftivity: But fince the Spaniards conquer'd Perri, all thefe Heatbenifh Cuftoms have been laid afide.

As to the Prognoftications and Fore-runners of the deftruction of the old Empire of eprut foretold. of Peru, it is reported, that Guaynacava, Father of the laft King Attabaliba, lying on his Deathobed in Quito, faid to his Princes, This Realm, at prefent rais'd to the higheft top of Eninency, is baftning towards its Ruine; and thougb our Kingdom remain as yet freee froms foreign Invafion, the Countreys round about are already conquer'd and in Slavery: The Gods have call'd ftrange People from unknown Regions, who by degrees will react wis alfo. With me, who am the twelfth Inga, dies the Dominion of the mighty Peru. A Peopte of other Fafhions and Religion will Jubvert our Religion, Laws and Govermment, and bring wis winder ytubjection to tbem. There were alfo Signs and Prodigies that portended the Diffolution of this Empire; amongft the reft a greatEruption in the Province of Tacinga, which rendjag the Earth afunder vomited up Flames of Fire; nor was it long ejre they were ful. filld, for whileft the Pervvians were making of Offerings to Viracoicba for the delivery of their imprifon'd King Huafcar, News was brought to Cufco of Attabaliba's being ta. ken; the Particulars whereof, with other Matters touching the Conqueft of this Kingo dom by the Spaniards, and how they pillag'd the Countrey, murder'd the Inhabitants, and enrich'd themfelves with their ineftimable Treafures, fhall in order be related.

Not long after which Pizare pizarro made ro was by an Order from the Spanijh Court made Governor of Peru, to the great Perre ${ }_{4}$ difcontent of Almagro; which Difference being decided, Pizarro fet out again with two hundred and fifty Foor, befides Horfe, with which he Landed a hundred Leagues lower than before, where he got a great Ma fs of Gold and fome Emeraulds of the Cafique, all which he fent to Panama, thereby to Atir up the People to come to Periu to his affiftance; where thofe that were at prefent on the Place, befides other great Hardfhips which they fuffer'd, were miferably plagued with Ulcers in their Faces; yet they profecured their Conqueft as well as they could with what fmall Power was left them, and had newly taken Buerto Viejo when Captain Bevalcazar and fuan Florez brought frêfh Supplies of Men and Horfe; with which Recruit Pizarro conquer'd the Valley of Tumbez; from whence they Sail'd over to the Ifland Punas, where the friendly Entertainment they met with at firft,turn'd foon after in. to a bloody Battel : for the Spaniards not forbearing to prie into every Houfe, and committing many Outrages, were fet upon by the Natives, whom having at laft fubdu'd, and being again fupply'd with new Forces by Ferdinando Sotto from Nicaragua, they return'd to Tumbez, where the Countrey was all in Arms upon the Report of the Spaniards Cruelties committed on the Ifland Puna, infomuch that they Offerd all thofe whom they took alive to their Gods, and flew as many as they could conveniently meet with. Pizarro having ftay'd about twenty days, went with his Bro* thers Juan and Gonfalves, the Captains Sotto and Bevalcazar, and fify Horfe over the River Ambato about Midenight, through a thorny Way betwixt Mountains, and about Break-of-day fell upon the Tumbezan Army, and having fetled things pretty well in thofe Parts, he built the City St. Michael in the Countrey Tangazara, along the River De la Chira, where he was Complemented by two Agents from Cufco, who defiring Aid in Huafcar's Name againft his Brother Attabaliba, receiv'd for Anfwer, That he was going to Caxamalca, as indeed he was, to find Attabaliba there; whole Commands that he fhould not approach prov'd all in vain : for Pizarro, under pretence of Complementing him in his Catholick Majefty's Name, was no fooner admitted to his Prefence, but he took him Prifoner, and fet for a Ranfom upon

Gold coming nlower than was expeeted, Pizarro was much incens'd thereat, whom Attabaliba endeavoring to pacifie, alledg'd, That it could not poffibly come fooner, becaufe the Way between Caxamalca and $C u f c o$, from whence the Gold was to be fetch'd, was at a great diftance : The truth whereof Pizarro refolving to try, fene Sotto and Peter del Bara to Cufco in Chairs, carried by Perwians exceeding fwift of Foot, and who if they tir'd were fucceffively reliev'd by others that attended, with out fo much as fetting down the Chair; being got about half way, they met with Attabaliba's Captain Cilucucbuma, he having taken Huafcar Prifoner, who requefted Sotto and Baro that they would be pleas'd to deliver him out of the Hands of his blood-thirfy Brother, for which kindnefs he would pay three times as much Gold as Attabaliba had promis'd, who was not able to give any thing elfe but the Golden Plates which were in the Temple of the Sun in Cufco; whereas $H_{u a f}$ car had all the Treafure that was left by Guaynacava; which indeed was true, for Huafcar had caus'd it privately to be buried, and put to death thofe that did it, that fo he might keep the place conceal'd where it lay; infomuch that none could ever find it out to this day, though the Spaniards have tortur'd the Indians. with all imaginable cruelty, to make them difoover the place. But Attabaliba inform'd by Pizar. ro of Huafcar's Imprifonment, feem'd to be exceeding forry, and faid, I am much troubled at the Nevos of my Captain's laying violent Hands on my Brother Hualcar, wobom I acknoivledge my eldeft Brother, and both of the fame Fatber and Motber; but I. fuppofe be bas no defign to kill him, but onely keeps himPrifoner, to bring bim to grant me peaceably to enjoy the Kingdom of Quito, of late brought under Subjection of the Peruvian Crown. Pizairo not obferving Attabaliba's fubtilty (who defign'd nothing but Fuafcar's Death, out of fear that the Spaniards upon his liberal promifes to them, might promote him to the Throne) comforted him as well as he could : whereupon Attabaliba fuppofing that Pizarro would be little concern'd at the killing of his Brother Huafcar, gave

During which time Almagro came with frefh Supplies from Panama, eager to have a fhare of the fore-mention'd Ranfom, which at laft was paid with overplus; for by daily bringing in of Baskets of Gold, the Chamber was fill'd up to the very top ; but though Attabaliba had more than perform'd his Promife, yet Sentence of Death was pronounc'd againft him prefently after he had been Baptiz'd: the Reafons of which wicked and rafh Condemnation were two ; firft the falfe Accufation of a Peruvian Interpreter call'd Pbilippillo, who defir'd his Death, that then he might with the more freedom enjoy one of his Wives; for Attabaliba miftrufting the fame, had complain'd thereof to Pizarro, faying, That his Imprifonment was not So grievous to bim, as the thoughts of the Adultery, acted againft the friet Laws of bis Coune trey; the Defiler of an Inga's Bed being not onely to be-burnt with the Adulterers, but alfo the whole Families of them, to the leaft Infant, their Houfes to be rac'd to the Ground, and their Land fow'n with Salt, as for ever curs'd. The fecond caule of Attabaliba's Death is laid on Almagro, who came to Perre with new Forces, and who fearing that none of the Gold which Attabaliba had the delivery of, would fall to his fhare, as not having been in the Battel where Attabaliba was taken, therefore order'd him to be fuddenly Strangled, that fo the Booty might be equally divided. Not long after Pizarro conquering $C_{u} \int_{c o}$, got no lefs Treafure than at $C_{a x a z}$ malca. Here the Reign of the Perwvian Inga's ceafed, with which before no Kings that ever Govern'd in the World were able to compare in Riches and Glory. Their The antient Palaces were round about adorn'd with Golden Images; and they never ate but the Prrucian out of Golden Veffels, Spitting in the Hands of beautiful young Women of Noble Extract, were worfhipp'd like Gods both whileft living and when dead, all their Subjects being their Slaves, and they the fole Lords of the whole Realm. In the interim Bevalcazar march'd from the new City St. Michael, with a hundred and twenty Foot and eighty Horfe, to affit the Cannares againft one of Attabaliba's Generals, who having Spoil'd the Ways by digging Pits, and covering them over with Bufhes, refifted them in feveral places : then marching to Quito he burnt the City, after having kill'd a hundred of the Natives, becaufe they laughed at the Spaniards Arrival. Afterwards joyning with. Almadro, he went back to $\left(u /{ }_{\mathrm{coO}}\right.$, whither on the Way he had News of Quifauis, Attabaliba's General, and of his Brother Guay? palcon, who making ufe of a Rock, threw down great Stones, by the Peruvians call'd Galyas, which in their Fall hitting others, brought down a great number with them, by which means he not onely defended the Place for the prefent, but kill'd fourteen Spaniards; neverthelefs diftrufting his ability to keep it, he retreated to a fteep Mountain about Midnight, at the Foot whereof a Palfage led over a deep River, where he burntall his Luggage that he could not carry with him;allo above fifteen thoufand Sheep and four thoufand Priloners, became wholly at the Difcretion of Alinagro, wholeaving there Captain Martin Afete, order'd him to build the Town Truxillo: In the mean time Quifquis was put to flight by Pizarro, and went to Quito, where he loft many People, that were kill'd by Bevalcazar's Guard ; yet thofe that were remaining chofe rather to Fight to the laft, than flye through Wilderneffes, and there be ftarv'd to death; which Quilquis contradicting, was Stabb'd by his Ruifquit, at; Captain Guappalau, and immediately after, cut to pieces. As foon as thefe Stirs Gentral, were quieted, Pizarro began to build the City Los Reyos, near a convenient Haven nutin pieces, of the Southern Ocean, whileft Almagro marching to Cbili with two Troops of Horfe, and five hundred Foot, return'd without doing any thing remarkable, es. cept his taking the Interpreter Pbilippillo, (whom he caus'd to be cut into four pieces) and his maintaining feveral Battels againft the Cbilefes, clad in Sea-Wolves Skins. In this Journey he loft feveral of his Men on the Snowy Mountains, About this time a Ship fitted out by Gabriel Carvajal, Bifhop of Placentia, Sailing through the Straights of Magellan, ran into the Haven Los Reyos, out of which the firft Rats fwam afhore that ever were in Perru, by which the Countrey fince fuffering much damage, the Inhabitants call'd them Ococha, that is, Sinful Creatures. Now all things on the Spaniards fide were tending to a quiet poffeffion, when a new Accident arofe, which had like to have fpoil'd all, for Mango Inga, Attabaliba's Brother, being reicas'd out Mango nngi of Prifor by Juan Pizarro, obtain'd leave to go to Yucaya, to fetch the famous Golden zarro and Al narro and vians began to rebel againft the Spaniards in moft places, flew divers Companies of them ; amongft whom Diego Pizarro was fet upon in a narrow Path call'd Lau, cefta Parcos, and amongft the Mountains loft feventy Horfemen; and Gonfalvo de Tapico fav'd not one of eighty Horfe. Alfo the Peruvians fet upon three hundred Troopers, Commanded by the Generals of the Horfe, Morgoveio and Gaeti, in a narrow Path, and rowl'd down great Stones from the tops of the Mountains both be fore and behind them, fo killing both Horfe and Man before they could put themFelves into a pofture of Defence, infomuch that none efcap'd with Life but two Troopers. Francifco de Godoy, fent out of Los Reyos with forty five Horfe, upon Difcoveries, return'd alfo with great lofs, being purfu'd ewenty Leagues by the $\mathbb{P}_{e}=$ ruvians; againft whom Peter de Lerma being fent out with fixty Horfe ${ }_{3}$ fought a whole day with them, and though few of his Men were kill'd, yet many were wounded, and feveral taken : The victorious Peruvians retreating to the top of a fandy Mountain in the Night, Offer'd the Spaniards they had taken Prifoners, as a teftimony of thanks, to Viracocha, and afterwards ftood drawn up near the City Los Reyos by the General Tyzopangui. The Marquefs thus befet round, fent for Aid from New Spain and Truxillo, and alfo for Alphonfo Alvarado to come back, who had been fent to difcover the Countrey Cbachepoyos, and being gotten into a Defart, would without doubt have perifh'd for want of Water, had not fome Horfemen riding fomewhat out of the Way, found Pits with frefh Water : notwithftanding which, five hundred Inacona's (for fo the Spaniards call'd the Peruvian Slaves) died for Thirft. He was afterwards 'fupply'd by Gomez Toriloya with two hundred Men, by the help of whom, though encompa/s'd by the Inhabitants near the Bridge Lamucacha, where began a fierce Battel, Alvarado was in the end Conqueror.

Whileft the Spaniards found fo much to do with the Peravians, yet they could not forbear more and more Clafhing amongft themfelves, the Marquefs commanding that $\mathcal{A l m a g r o}$ Thould furrender and leave the City $\mathrm{Cu} / \mathrm{Co}$; but he refufing to obey, fortifid himfelf on the top of the Mountain Gaytara, ftopt the Ways by cutting down the Trees : but Ferdinando Pizarro getting up to the top along a private Way, made fuch a confufion amongtt them with Bolt-fhot, that Almagro, who was fick at that time, was forc'd to llye; which being told Pizarro, he purfu'd him, and had doubelefs utterly defeated him at that bout, had not his Men, benumm'd with marching in the deep Snow, been taken with a Diftemper which made them as if they had been all Sea-fick, (for fuch is the property of the Mountain Guaytara) infomuch that they could fearce carry their Arms: Whereupon Almagro was advis'd to oppofe his Purfuers, and that he need not doubt of the Vietory ; but hie either following his own Dictates, or being counter-advis'd, fortifid himfelf in Cufco, whither Ferdinand and Gonfalvo Pizarro march'd againft him. Rodrigo de Orgomes Commanded Almagro's Army, who being fick, lay on the Walls of the City to fee the Battel fought. The Pervivians, who on each fide were in the Spanijh Service, march'd in the Front : on the twenty fixth of April, Anno 1538. the Fight began, in which the Almagrians did much milchief with Crofs-bar flot amongft the Pizarrians; yet Almagro's Horfe retreated firft, being under the Command of Peter Valdivia; foon after which the reft of his Army, their Courage alfo failing, fled to the City; into which, as foon as Orgones being thot in the Head and flain, the Conqueror rufl'd after them, and took Almagro Prifoner: yet notwiftanding this profperous beginning, he foon found himfelf in a great ftrait, fince thofe which remain'd a live of Almagro's Party refus'd to ferve Pizarro, and murmur'd againft him in all places, refolving to take Almagro from him by force, befides that Pizrro's Soldiers grume bled that they were not paid fufficiently for the many hazards which they had run: wherefore to compofe thefe Troubles as well as poffibly he could, he baniflid all whom he thought to be of the oppofite Party, fent away the chief of his own mutinous Soldiers with Captain Peter de Candia, to difcover new Countreys, put Almas. gro to death, and march'd to Callao; where being ftraitned for want of Provifion, he made no ftay, but got his Army with much ado to Cujco. Gonfalves Pizarroowas likewife fo fet upon by the Natives, that he loft a confiderable number of Men: In fhorr, the Pizarrans were defeated in all places, and at length the Marquefs, , tremarizene in the City of Lima, otherwife call'd De los Reyos, by a Baftard-Son of Almagro, nam'd derch. Diego, in the Year 1541 ; his Body dragg'd to the Church-yard, lay there to every ones view and derifion, till Fobn de Barbara buried the fame. His Father Gomfalvo His Oitinal Pizarro, fir-nam'd The tall Citizen of Truxillo, Commanding a Compary of Foot in and hhemana Navarre, had two lawful Sons, viz. Ferdinand, who was murder'd in the Spanigh firg. Caftle Motta, and fobn that was flain in $C_{u}$ fo, when Mango Inga conquer'd the City, the other two, Gonfalvo and Francifco, being both Baftards; the laft of which is $f_{\text {aid }}$ to have been expos'd by his Mother in the Church Porch, and kept alive for feveral days by fucking of a Sow, till his Father afore-mention'd finding him, and acknowledging him for his Son, put him out to Nurfe, and when he was grown up fet him to keep Swine; which courfe of Life he foon left, and following Alphono fus de Ojeda, Balbod, and Pedro de Avita in their Expeditions, he quickly grew rich, and at laft came to that heighth of Honor and Command we have heard. Francifo Martino de Alcantara was alfo his Brocher by the Mothers fide onely. He was a Man who defpis'd all Dangers and Hardfhips, was fo well experienc'd in Martial Afo fairs, that he might well fand in competition with many of the antient Heroes. In Los Reyos he builetwo very artificial Water-Mills, a Dominican Cloyfter, and another for the Monks De la Merced, and likewife a fately Palace for himfelf: He, was both meek and affable ; and though he bore the greateft Command in the Emperor's Name over the mighty Kingdom of Peru, and got more Riches than ever any of the Roman, Perfian, Grecian, or Affyrian Monarchs poffers'd, yet he went in the fame plain kind of Apparel in the heighth of his Grandeur, as when he was but in a low Condition; about his Neck he commonly ty'd a Linnen Hankerchiff, with which he us'd to wipe the Sweat from his Face: in peaceable Intervals be feent whole days in playing at Bowls, without any diftinction of Perfons, chufing often to play rather with a Sea-man or common Soldier, than a phantaftick Gallant: He vifited the meaneft Citizens, and many times us'd to eat with poor People, to whom he was upon all occafions very noble and liberal; All his Defigns he carried on by the ftrength of meer natural Parts : for he was fo very illiterate, that he could neither Write nor Read; his Edicts were Sign'd with his two Marks, betwixt which his Secretary writ Francifco Pizarro; he is faid to have had a Son which died young by Attabaliba's Sifter, who came afterwards to be call'd Donna Angelina; he died in a very unfortunate time, for upon his good fuccefs the Spanifh Power had grounded their whole Defigns, thinking with the Peruvian Treafures, as the Sinews of War, to have erected a fifth Monarchy to fucceed the fourth of the Romans.

Pizarro's Murderer, though aiming at the Supream Power, he had a confiderable

Party to countenance and aid him, yet he found refiftance in many places, not with. out the lofs of many Men on both fides. In which Juncture the Learned Vacca de. Cafro Landed in Peru, with a Commifion from the Emperor to fettle the divided Kingdom of Peru in Peace and Quiet; but the young Almagro mad to ree his Ambition thus crofs'd, gave Battel to Caftro in the Plain of Cbapas; the Difpute was long and refolute on both fides, and the Night coming on made the Fight the more terrible, in which the Victory inclin'd to Caftro; however the Almagrians ftood to it ftoutly for a great while, and that chiefly through the valor of the Captains Balboa and Clrijfopher' Lofa, who breaking in amongtt the Caftreans, hack'd and hew'd down all they came near, till at laft they were forc'd to betake themfelves to fight, and thad not many of them exchang'd their white Scarfs with the red of the flain Cafteans, fcarce any of them had efcap'd from being kill'd in the purfuit, and moft Setreated. zar, Almagro's, Deputy, deliver'd up his Lord to Caftro, who condemn'd him to death, whereupon he was immediately Beheaded with a Sword. This Battel hapned on the twenty fixth of September Ammo 15.42. when it Froze fo hard the following Night, that moft of thofe that were left wounded upon the place, were frozen to death. Thus Caftro began his Government with Bloood, and made it his firf Bufinefs to make a Difcovery by feveral of his Captains, whom he fent for that purpofe, of the Countreys lying Eaftward from Peru, lying upon the great River Dela Plata, and the River Marannon, where in moft places they met onely with falvage People, and for the moft part Mane eaters; and in one place where they Landed, a great Fifh refembling a Dog came afhore and kill'd feveral Arm'd Soldiers. A year and a half Caftro had liv'd in Cufco, when at the arrival of the Vice-Roy Blafcus $\mathcal{N}$ unmez Vela, all things were turn'd topfie-turvy, he being fent thither by the Emperor Charles the Fifth, accompanied by four Councellors, Diego Sepada, Lifon Tejada, Juan Alvarez, and Peter Ortiz, to curb the Spaniards Villanies and Outrages committed againft the Peruvians, entred Tumbez Anno i 544 • where he immediately publifh'd the Emperor's Ediets, which were to this effect :
The Emperor's Proclamation in bc Indians.
III. refented by the speradibytibe

All Peruvians are to be releas'd from Slavery; no Spaniard Jhall in the leaft oppre $\beta$ them, nor make ufe of their Service without rewarding them for the fame, nor take any Provifions of them without paying for it.

This Proclamation was like to put the Spaniards into an uproar: for at that time a Peruvian Lord was forc'd to allow every Foot=Soldier three Slaves, and a Horfeman five, befides Hens; Rabbets, Eggs, the Wine $A z u n$, and other Provifions, for nothing. The general Complaints were, Is this the Reward for our Service wblich

- we have Sheivn to the Emperor? Is not this mighty Kingdom of Peru by our Blood and Labor joyn'd to the Imperial Crown? Our Shoulders are grown fore under our Arms, our Bodies made ufeleß vith Wounds, and our Limbs. lame'd with. Bruifes. Who fhall maintain our Wives and Cbildren, if the Peruvians, whoo according to the Law of Arms are become our Slaves, frould not be forc'd to fifh for Pearls in the Sea, and dig us Silver out of the Mines, and do us other Service for to maintain us? But Vela being deaf to thefe Complaints, refolv'd that the Emperor's Commands Thould be fulfill'd, and that thofe that fpake againft them thould lofe their Lives: and that he might terrifie the generality with the punifhment of a few, he caus'd Fryer Peter of the Order of the Virgin Mary to be Executed in Truxillo, Caftro to be committed to Prifon at Lima, becaufe he had put Almagro to death without Examination, and flut the Gates of $C_{u} \int_{C O}$ when his Agent came before the fame. But do what he could, the Spaniards generally making Head, utterly refus'd to obey the Emperor's Edicts, and chofe Gonfalvo Pizarro for their General, who rais'd five hundred Men in compleat Arms in $C_{u} \int(0$, from whence he march'd direaty with them to Los Reyos, under precence to deliver a Petition there to the Vice-Roy's Council, about deferring to put the new Ediets in force the vegand till the Emperor was better inform'd of the prefent Candition of the Perwian State; iwenty great Field-pieces being alfo order'd to follow Pizarro's Army, were car= ried by the Perwians over craggy Mountains; to each Gun without'the Carriage were order'd three hundred Men, of whom twelve at a time carried it in their turns a hundred Paces a piese; though feveral eminent Perfons confidering the weightinefs of the Affair, forfook Pizarro's Party, and went privately to the ViceRoy, as on the other fide, many deferting the Vice-Roy joyn'd with Pizarro, who being not a little fupply'd by Peter Puelles Governor of Gianaca, took feveral of thofe that had deferted him Prifoners, and put them all to death, whileft the Vice-Roy made what Preparations poffibly he could, Hanging many innocent Perfons onely on fufpicion of holding Correfpondency with Pizarro, infomuch that there was no end of Murdering on both fides. But Vela clafhing with his Councellors, becaufe they would not confent that he fhould ruine Los Rejos, refolv'd to do it without them; and to that end to remove the Emperor's Seal, Staple of Trade, and Courts of Judicature to. Truxillo, and to Spoil the Countrey all abour; which as he was about to put in Execution, they privately got Captain Martin Robles, and Vela's Lifeguard, confifting of a hundred Men, on their fide, whileft the common People mutinying broke into the Palace, took Vela and carried him to the chief Church in Los Reyos, where the four Councellors wereaffembled, who order'd that the Prio foner thould be Shipt and fent away to Spain, when Alvares Cueto lying in the Harbor with ten Sail, threatned to fall upon the Inhabitants if they would not releafe the Vice-Roy : whereupon the Councellors well provided with Guns, rais'd fe. veral Batteries againft his Ships, fo thai Cueto finding himfelf too weak, fet four of his Veffels on fire, and Sail'd with the reft to the Haven Guavara; where being - fet upon by Diego Garzias, he was forc'd to deliver the remaining part of his Fleet up to the Councellors, who fent Vela away with the fame, under the Command of Didaco Alvaradez. But Pizarro, who till this time had pretended that he fought nothing elfe but Vela's Departure, march'd clofe to the Walls of Los Reyos with twelve hundred Men, Hang'd three Citizens upon a Tree, requir'd the Councel. lors to grant him Letters Patents, by which he might be acknowledg'd for the Supream Governor of $\mathbb{P e r r u}^{\prime}$, which if they refus'd, he threatned to put all that were in the City to the Sword; and upon Confulcation it was judg'd convenient to grant his Demands, the rather, becaufe they had not above fifty fighting Men in the City. Mean while Didaco Alvaradez making an Agreement with the Vice-Roy, Bing Stipe they return'd back with their Ships, and Landed in the Haven Mouth of the Ri - brouphant back ver. Tumbez, rais'd what Forces they could poffibly thereabours, but were forc'd to dre. retire from thence to Quito, (at the fame time that the Councellor Tejada, being fent by Pizarro to the Emperor, came to an Anchor there) where they were courteounly Entertain'd ; as alfo in St. Michael, where they got daily more and more Affiftants; of which Pizarro being inform'd, went thither with five hundred Men, and forcing the Vice-Roy to flye from thence, purfu'd him above thirty Leagues, $\frac{\text { rip out to }}{\text { dight }}$ and Hanging up all thofe whom he could take of his Party. After many Rencoumters prifid by and Hardfhips fuffer'd by both Parties, Pizarro exceedingly wearied, return'd to Quito, where he minded nothing but all manner of Debaucheries, not in the leaft regarding the Vice.Roy's Defigns, which it concern'd him to have narrowly look'd into, for he having got five hundred Men on his fide, refolv'd to venture a Battel. It was towards Evening when the two Parties had fight of one another: Pizarro having not onely more Men, but alfo better Exercis'd in Arms than the Vice-Roy, who being fenfible thereof, went filently about Midnight from his Station along a narrow by-Path, fo to fall behind upon the Rere of the Enemy, who miftrufted nothing, by reafon the Vice-Roy's Dogs kept a continual Barking in his old Station, and the Perwian Sentinels were heard calling to one another, and making great Fires all the Night long; but becaufe the Way was overegrown, and farther about than it was fuppos'd, the Vice-Roy finding the Night too far Spent, went back to Quito, out of which he Sallied as foon as he had fight of Pizario's Forces; againft whom, being clad in a white Riding Coat, through the Slits of which aps pear'd a Cloth of Tiffue Doublet, he came Riding on a Bay Gelding in the Head of his Party; with which breaking in amongft the Enemies Ranks, he made a confider. ablé flaughter amongft them, till Hernand Tores coming near him, gave him a Blow

The ViceRoy fain by Carvayales on the Had with a Battel-Ax, that fell'd him to the Ground, which the Lawyer Carvayales feeing, ran immediately; out of defire to revenge his Brother's Death, whom the VicesRoy had murder'd, and chopp'd off his Head. Thus Pizarro being abfolute Mafter of the Field, began to fhew his tyranny upon the Prifoners, fome he took away by Poyfon, others he Executed with the Sword and Halter, others he banifh'd to the remote Countrey Chili, and fpent his time in all manner of Vice in Quito; where, amongft other leud Actions,-making Love to another Man's Wife, he hir'd one Vincent Paulto murder her Husband, which faid Vincent was afterwards Hang'd at Valladolid in Spain. The Adulterefs alfo was afterwards Got with Child by her own Father, and both of them put to death for Inceft and murdering of their Child. Pizarro being receiv'd as King in Los Reyos, grew every day more proud than other, infomuch that his Friends themfelves began to hate and envy him, and wanted onely a convenient opportunity to rid themfelves of this high-minded Tyrant. A ftrange Accident, among others, had done him great hurt, had it not been timely difcover'd, viz. Foan de la Torre, a Soldier formerly belonging to the ViceRoy, found accidentally a Grave in the Valley Hica (which by the Peruviains had been worfhipp'd above two Ages before) and in it fo much Offer'd Gold and Silver as amounted to above eighty thoufand Crowns in Gold, befides many Eme. raulds and Turcoijes, all which Treafure he was puzled how to carry away and pof. fefs fecurely, partly fearing the Emperor's Difpleafure, if he fhould arrive thus rich in Spain, the rather becaufe he had fided with Pizarro, and alfo knowing it was impoffible to convey it on Ship-board without one or others.knowledge; at laft, after many Contrivances, he judg'd it convenient to put the Money in a fmall Veffel, and Sail with the fame to Nicaragua, there to raife. Men to oppofe Pizarro in thofe Parts, that fo he might re-gain the Emperor's Favor. This Undertaking feem'd to be threatned by many Dangers, he not having a fufficient Spirit to Comvela Numer mand, or at leaft Experience to officiate the Place of a Captain. In the mean time difcover'd the Secret of his difcover'd Treafure, took an Oath of him that he would be faithful to himi, and take Revenge of Pizarro for all the Injuries receiv'd from him; but before, according to their Agreement, they could fet Sail from thence, their Plot being difcover'd, both Nunnez and Torre were Executed, and their Riches fell into the Hands of Pizarro.

Whileft the Perwivian Affairs were in this confufion and diforder, Peter $G_{a} f_{c a}$, impower'd by the Emperor Charles the Fifth, arriving there, endeavor'd to fertle all things in Peace and Quiet, and fent by Peter Fermandes, befides the Emperor's Letter, another which he writ himfelf to Pizarro, the Contents of which were to this purpofe:

THe Peruvian Soyl hath drunk up the Spanifh Blood long enough, and the ruin'd Realm gafast Letes gapesfor Reft : The Emperor proffers Pardon for all paft (rimes, Repeals the nevz zario. Laws which the Vice.Roy Vela, during bis Government, enjoyn'd the Spaniards to obferve. If Pizarro aims at the general Welfare, be may eafily fee that Arms muft firft be laid afide, which be now depends on in vain, all bis Afociates being ready to for Sike bim, becaufe no Soldier can take up Arms againft the Emperor, Doithout being guilty of bigh Treafon.

Pizarro confounded with this Letter, call'd a Council of War, whodiffer'd very pizarr's DCo much from one another in their Votes, fome judging that it would be beft pri- $\mathrm{h}_{\mathrm{m} .}$ vately to deftroy Gafca, others were for an open Engagement, but moft thought of another way, vizi to get his Perfon into their cuftody, and keep him under a frong Guard on the Ifland Puna, under pretence that the Peruvian Princes were fent for to come and acknowledge him as fupream Governor, which becaufe the Cities lay fo remote one from another, could not be done in lefs than two years. Mean while an Embaffy was to be fent to the Court at Madrid, which fhould enjoyn Gafca to remain in Panama, and not offer to come to Peru till fuch time as the Emperor commanded the fame a fecond time at the return of the Agents. But Hieronimus His Party Loaifa, chief Bifhop of Los Reyos, Thomas Martin, Provincial of the Dominicans, Gomes of to $\operatorname{cosfa}$ and Solis, Pizarro's Steward, Laurence Aldana, who were defign'd for this Embaffy to the Emperor Charles, never went their Journey, but ftaid in Panaima with Gafca, who had alfo gain'd to his Party Peter Alphonfo Ainoiofa, who Commanded Pizarro's Fleet: Aldana likewife inform'd him of all Pizarro's private Councels; where= upon Gafca fent privately for Aid to Mexico, Guatimala, Nicaragua, and St. Domingo, and difpatch'd four Ships with three hundred Men, Commanded by Aldana, from the Haven Panama, with Order to Land about Midnight againft the City Los Reyos, and fo fall unawares on Pizarro. Aldana accordingly falling into the Bay of Mala. brige, was reliev'd and fupply'd with Provifions by Diego Mora, Governor of Truxillo: On the other fide, the Field-Marfhal Carvayales being fent for by Pizarro, made a pompous Entrance, with the firing of Guns and Bonfires, into LosReyos, where all Perfons that feem'd to have the leaft inclination for Gafca, were either ftabb'd or poyfon'd. In the room of Mora, Pizarro fent the Lawyer Garcias Leon to be Governor of Iruxillo, but he being taken by Aldana's Fleet, joyn'd with Gafca; and thus all things began to confpire the ruine of $\mathfrak{P i z a r r o ,}$ yet he defpair'd not, but being inform'd of the approach of the Ships, caus'd the Drums to be beaten in Los Reyos, forc'd every one that was able to bear Arms, on pain of death to ferve him, made feveral experienc'd Soldiers, Commanders over his Horfe and Foot, to whom he gave as much Money as they requir'd, to maintain thofe whom they had rais'd, and who were to be rais'd, by which means he got a choufand Men in Arms; to which number, according to an Order fent to Cufco, Plata, Arequipa, Lima, Guanuco, and other neighboring Places, new Forces were expected to joyn ; but Savedra, Governor of Guanuco, deferting the City, left Pizarro and joyn'd with Mora, who fecur'd the Province of Caxamalca for Gafca. Thus Pizarro began to be daily more and more forfaken. Since the deftruction of the Vice-Roy Vela, Captain Diego Centeni had hid himfelf out of fear of Pizarro a whole year, in a Cave under Ground, but now inform'd of Gafca's Arrival, came forth, and getting forty Men and fome Horfes together, whichallo belong'd formerly to the Vice-Roy, refolv'd, though meanly Arm'd, to go upon a bold Defign, viz, to take the City $\mathrm{Cu}_{\mathrm{H}} \mathrm{CO}_{\mathrm{O}}$; of which Antonio de Robles, a Man hated and defpis'd for his mean Extract and little Wit, had the chief Command, there being therein a Garrifon of five hundred Soldiers, befides the Citizens, who were likewife in Arms: Being inform'd of Centeno's approach, he fent out Francifco Aguierre as a Spye to difcover the Enemy; but he joyning with Centeno, advis'd him to march along a By-way, and towards Night to draw up about $C_{u} \iint_{0}$, which accordingly he did, and forcing open the Gates, rufh'd in with his Horfe againft the Enemy, who were drawn up in the Market-place, and break. ing through their Ranks trampled whole Companies under foor; after which he fell in upon Robles, who having forgotten to give his Men the Word, caus'd a great diftraction; for the Men blinded by the darknefs of the Night, knew not Friend from Foe, infomuch that Robles's Party did one another more mifchief than Centeno did; who being thus become Mafter of the City, caus'd Robles to be Beheaded the next day, and diftributed a hundred thoufand Ducats amongft his Soldiers, and then march'd with a hundred Men to the City Plata, to bring Mendoza, Governor of the fame, under the Emperor's fubjection ; in which his Defign he likewife prov'd fucceffful, being fupply'd with a hundred and thirty Foot, which Lucas Martin, had fetch'd from Arequipa for the Service of Pizarro, whom fince he had deferted and joyn'd with Gafca's Party. Mean while the Fleet under the Command of Aldana arriv'd in the Haven before Los Reyos, to the great terror and amazement of the whole City; from whence Pizarro marching, Encamp'd himfelf with five hundred and fifty Men, fo to prevent their Landing, fwearing that he would fpare none whoe're fell into his Hands, and fent Order to Peter Martin, whom he had left in the City, immediately to Hang up thofe which would not follow the Army, or who return'd from thence home; to which purpofe Martin went from place to place with an Executioner, and thinking him not quick enough in his Work, ftabb'd many Citizens himfelf: And ftrict Order was given by Pizarro, that all Runaways Mould be punifh'd with Death; notwithftanding all which many of his neareft Friends daily forfook him, taking advantage of the darknefs of the Night; nay, the Soldiers themfelves would at Noonsday ride away from him, crying aloud, Long live the Emperor, and let the Tyrant Pizarro die: Wherefore he judg'd is moft convenient to remove to the Countrey $\mathrm{N}_{\mathrm{a}} \mathrm{fca}^{\text {: }}$ During his Journey thither, whole Troops left him, infomuch that he fearce kept a hundred and fifry Men, and thofe he fear'd every Minute would fall upon him and Murder him.

With Pizarro's departure, the whole Scene of Affairs was chang'd in Los Reyos; for there the Imperial Standard was erected, the City Cryer read the Letters of Pardon which Gafca had brought with him from Spain in the corner of every Street. Fuan Palimino Landing with fifty Men, receiv'd all thofe that had deferted Pizarro, whileft Gafca fet Sail from Panama with five hundred Men, with whom Landing at Truxillo, he Encamp'd himfelf in the Valley Xauxa, whither great multitudes flock'd from all places out of malice to Pizarro, who in a fhore time had deftroy'd above five hundred Gentlemen. But Pizarro having quitted Los Reyos, he poffefs'd the City Arequipa, which he found quite defolate, but meeting afcerwards with the Forces Commanded by Juan Acofta, of which one half were alfo run away, joyn'd with them, and march'd againft Centeno, wholay along the Lake Titicaca, with whom he Engag'd in the Plain Guarina:Ludovico Ribera Landing, Centeno's Party fir'd their Guns before the Pizarrians were within fhot of him, of which Carvayales making fpeedy ufe, drew up his Pieces clofe before the Enemy, and made an exceeding flaughter amongft them, killing above a hundred and fifty Men in the firft Onfet; the Horfe amaz'd at the fudden deftruction of the Foot, fled, leaving the remaining Foot-Soldiers open to the Enemy, who was gotten behind them with his Mufo quetteers, and with his Horfe before, whileft fix Peruvians carried away Centeno out of the Fight, he lying fick on a Chair. Pizarro thus become Vi¿tor, kill'd all he met with; of which Gafcabeing inform'd, refolving upon a privace and fudden Revenge,caus'd all Neceffaries for War to be made ready, and march'd with a thoufand and nine hundred Men out of the Valley of Xauxa to $C u f(0$, where by che Way he was fupply'd with the Forces, which the experienc'd Colonel Peter Valdivia had brought from Chili; with which coming to Andagha, he took up his Quarters there for fome time, becaufe the mild Winter had with continual Rains made the Ways fo dirty, that there was no travelling, and had rotted their Tents and-Maiz, and alfo occafion'd the Bloody-flux amongft the Soldiers. In March, Gafca broke up with his Camp to crofs the River Apurima, which he found very troublefom, becaufe $\mathbb{P}_{i-}$ zarro had broke down all the Bridges: But $G_{a} f c a c a u s ' d ~ W o o d ~ a n d ~ o t h e r ~ M a t e r i-~$ als to be carried to feveral places, that the Enemy fhould not certainly know his Intentions, and at laft march'd over deep. fnowy Mountains to Cotabamba, where fuddenly he made a Bridge, over which march'd four hundred Foor, but the Horle fuffer'd moft damage; for fixty Horfes loaden with Arms going to wade over, were carried down by the Stream againft fharp Rocks, by which they were defperately gor'd in their fides, and many of them kill'd outright. Pizarro inform'd of the Enemies whole Proceedings by his Spyes, fent Acofta thither with two hundred Mufquetteers, to fall upon thofe that were come over, whom he finding too many, durft not venture to Engage with them. Mean while Gafca's whole Army getting over on the other fide of the River Apurima, march'd up a high Hill, whileft Pizarro Encamp'd himfelf five Leagues from $C_{u} f_{c o \text {, in a Plain call'd Sagni } \text { agrana, the }}$ Entrance into his Camp being fortifid with fix Field-Pieces, each fide by a Ri. ver and feveral Mountains, and the Rere by a deep dry Moat: Gafca ftood upon a Hill and view'd the Enemy's whole Forces lying in the Valley, and being op'prefs'd with exceifive Heat, whileft his Men were fo exceedingly pinch'd with Cold in the Night, that they were fcarce able to hold their Arms, according to the frange property of the Peruvian Climate; for the tops of Hills generally Freeze, whileft the Valleys about a League from thence are parch'd with Heat: At Break-of-day Gafca defcended the Hill; his Horfe being divided into two Wings, were Com. manded, the left by Juan Savedra, and the right by Balthazar Caftro; Mendoza led fome Dragoons, Valdivia guarded the Guns, and Gafca himfelf march'd in the Front of the Mufquetteers. On the other fide, Pizarro plac'd the Peruvians on his right Wing, Cepeda and Acofta Commanded the Horfe, Carvayales and La Torre the Foot, Sebaftian Vergara Ind Peter Soria guarded the Field-Pieces: But the Batcel was fcarce begun, when Cepedo and a great part of the Horfe deferting Pizarro went to joyn with Gafca, and immediately after the right Wing of the Mufquetteers; at the fame time Centeno and Mendoza fir'd amongft Pizarro's main Body, of which fome ran a. way to $C_{U} /$ co, others with their Colours to $G a f c a$ 's Army. Pizarro feeing himfelf ierly defertthus forfaken, cry'd out, Since all are fled to the Imperial Standard, I will alfo betake my felf dedrr himmels thitber, where perbaps I may find Mercy: Whereupon Acofta anfwer'd, Let us rather fall Poucr. in amongfl the thickeft of the Enenyy, and die valiantly: To which Pizarro reply'd, No, now I bave loft Honor and Goods, I muft take care for my Soul, that that may not be loft allo; which faid, he lighted from his Horfe, Caparifon'd in Silver, and deliver'd himfelf and his Sword into the Hands of the Serjeant Villavicenzo, who found him Habited in curious Armor, a Golden Helmet with a ftately Plume of Feathers, and a Corflet. incircl'd with Emeraulds about his Neck: Gafca feeing him brought before him in this manner, faid thus unto him, Have you not order'd your Buffine $\beta$ woell, to wafte fo much of the Emperor's Treafure, and Jhed fo much Blood, and all to confirm your Self in your unlawf ful

Hfurpation of Peru: To which Pizarro anfwer'd, faying, I bave Jpent my obon Efate in the Service of the Spanifh Crowon, and might lawofully take upen me the Government of Peru, baving with the lo $\beta$ of $m y$ Brother's Life, and the hazard of my own, difcover'd the fame. Carvayales efcaping out of the Fight, had hid himfelf in a Thicket of Canes, but being difcover'd by his own People, was by them brought before Gafca, who the

and pizaro both put $\begin{aligned} & \text { death by } \\ & \text { d }\end{aligned}$ Gifis. next day after the Battel caus'd him to be Quarter'd alive, and Pizarro's Head to be cut off in Prifon; the other Prifoners were moft of them kill'd in cold Blood. Gafca thus become abfolute Mafter of Peru, found an incredible Treafure left by Pizarro, of which he gave to every common Soldier above fix thoufand Ducats; and with this his victorious Army march'd to Cufco, where he employ'd his Executioners afrefh, in Hanging, Drawing, and the like; fome that were ftigmatiz'd and condemn'd to the Galleys, accounted themfelves happy that they had efcap'd fo. Gafca, though Victor, perceiv'd no fmall Troubles to threaten him, having twenty five hundred Men in Arms, of which every one for their faithful Service judg'd that they deferv'd fome Office or other, there being then above a hundred and fifty to difpofe of, Pizarro having Executed the chiefeft Officers, and thofe that bore any Command under him being either fled or kill'd in the laft Fight : but the fmall number of Officers that were wanting, was not to be compard to all thofe that 'gap'd for Commiffions. The Revenues', which yearly amounted to cleven hundred thoufand Ducats, went moft of it away amongit the Officers, the conmmon Soldiers getting onely a fmall Snip out of it; wherefore many began to murmur, and were upon the point of Mutinying, if Cianca, the Judge of criminal Caufes, taking the chief of them, had not punifh'd them in fuch a manner, that all the reft being terrifid, gave over their Complaints. After Gafca had fpent above nine hundred thoufand Ducats in the War againft Pizarro; all which Money he took up upon Intereft, which, after having fetled the Kingdom in Quietnefs, he paid for the moft part with the Goods taken from the Rebels. Next he made a Law concerning the Peruvians paying of Tribute, which before the Spaniards forc'd from them whenfoe're and howfoe're they pleas'd, with the greateft Tortures imaginable.

Gif ca having again erected in Los Reyos the high Court of Judicature, in which Roy. fat the Imperial Judges, return'd home with an unvaluable Mafs of Treafure for Cbarles the Fifth, and left the Peruvian Government to the Juidge Cianca; fince which time Perwh hath been Govern'd by Vice-Roys, the firft whereof, who fucceeded Cianca, was Antonio Mendoza, and after him fucceffively Andreas Hurtado Mendoza, Diego Valafico, Lopez Garcias de Caftro, Francijco de Toledo, Martin Enriques, Garcias Mendoza, Ludovico Velafio, and Juan Pacheco, under whom the Peruvian Kingdom hath enjoy'd Peace and Quiet, to the confiderable enriching of the Spani/h Inhabitants.

Thus much of the antient Tranfactions in Peru, it will now be requifite to give you a brief Account of the feveral Provinces in this mighty Kingdom.
 or Courts of Appeal, which are Quito, Lima, and Charcas ; but the particular Provinces, as they are commonly obferv'd by Geographers, are faid to be fix, viz. 1. Quito. 2. Los Quixos. 3. Lima. 4. Cufco. s. Charcas. and 6. Collao.

THe firft Province of Peru towards the North is Quito, or the new Kingdom Situationand of Granada, with which on that fide it is bounded, having on the Weft, of qefripition Mare del Zur ; on the South, Lima; and on the Eaft, Los Quixos. It lieth in a manner right under the Line, and is faid to be feventy two Leagues in length, and in fome places about twenty five in breadth.

The Winter begins here in October, and continues till Marcb, in which fall mighty Showers, and on the Mountains abundance of Snow, but all the Summer long the Sun is feldom darkned with a Cloud. Many of the Inhabitants dic of a Giddinefs in the Head about the beginning and end of Summer. The $\mathbb{P} O X$ alfo deftroys many of the Natives; with which Difeafe they are often born, and give it to the Spaniards, who are not able to abftain from the Indian Women; they ufe Saffaparilla and the Wood Guaiacum to cure themfelves with.

Here grow alfo many poyfonous Herbs, which the Peruvians make ufe of to poyfon one another.

In the fartheft parts of Quito grows the falt and cooling Fruit Quaba, two Hand- The Fruit fuls long, cover'd with a grey Rind, and within full of white Pulp and hard Kernels.

The Tree Gudiaba hath a pale fmooth Bark, thick Boughs, hard and glittering $\begin{gathered}\text { The Tree } \\ \text { Graiahe }\end{gathered}$ Leaves, Flowers confifting of five Leaves, not unlike a Peacock's Plume, long Ap= ples, woolly without, and within full of a pale red Pulp and eatable Stones; the Root, which fpreads it felf very much, is fweet; and when boyl'd cures the Bloody= flux. This Tree grows in moft places, efpecially in low Grounds, the more becaufe the Kernels which the Birds picking out let fall on the Ground, fpring up in new Trees.

The Spanifh Fruits, as Peaches, Cittrons, Figs, Pomegranates, Pears, Quinces, and Oranges, grow alfo here in great abundance, but when ripe are fubject to rot.

Moreover, the Fields abound with Wheat, Barley, and Whaiz; $^{\text {; the Paftures af- }}$ ford plenty of Grafs for Oxen, Horfes and Sheep, which bring forth Lambs twice in fourteen Moneths.

The Ocean and Rivers ftore of Fifh; the Stream Barbara us'd formerly to pro: duce Gold alfo.

In moift Grounds the Inhabitants find abundance of Salt-petre, the beft that is for the making of Gunspowder.

For the Accommodation of Travellers, Inns call'd Tambos, are buile near the The rns Hightways, exactly five Leagues diftant one from another, where all forts of Provifions are fold at a fet Price.

The Natives antiently went Cloth'd in a Frock without Sleeves, as wide on the The Nazure top as at the bottom, and pleited their long Hair. They are Arong, well proportio pict. on'd in Body, and fubtile enough to learn any Art, but treacherous, inconftant, and inclin'd to Drunkennels : They were very hard allo to be brought to receive the Roman Religion, fo that moft of them would not fuffer themfelves to be Baptiz'd till they lay a dying : They alfo drove a great Trade in Cotton, Wooll, and Cloth.

Between Pafoo and Quito are feveral Villages, and the famous High-way, by the Ingas cut through the Wilderneffes and Mountains, the Wall of an old Cafte, and the wonderful Stone-Bridge Lumichaca, which Nature hath made over the fwift

River

Towns and Places of chief notc.

River Guaca; it confifts of a hard Cliff, at the Foot whereof is a great Arch, through which the Water runs with exceeding force.

This Traet of Land produces Maiz, and abundance of Mortuanos, a Fruit refembling Damask Prunes, which eaten in excefs caufe Drunkennefs and Faintnefs.

The Lake Yaguarcocha, fignifying Bloody-Water, becaufe the Inga Guayanacava kill'd and drown'd twenty thoufand there.

The chief Towns and Places of Note are, I. Caranguez, antiently a Royal City, where ftood a fumptuous and ftately Palace of the Kings of Peru, now almoft deferted. The Palace, built of Stone in a little Plain, without either Mortar or Iron. work; manifefts its former glory by its Ruines.
2. The Royal Caftle of Atabalo, or Ottavallis, in the building of which the Ingas Spar'd no Coft nor Charges; and indeed it is a Structure no way inferior to any of the antient Roman Edifices. Between this Caftle and Cochequi, a ftately Houre, lies a cold fnowy Mountain. Moreover, the Spaniards have feveral Habitations along the Way to Quito, and efpecially in the Valley Annaquito, where the Vice-Roy Vela loft the Battel fought againft Gonfalvo Pizarro.
3. Quito, commonly call'd St. Francifco de Quito. There ftood formerly here cero tain Palaces, built by the Ingas, but the City was re-built by the Spaniards at the Foot of a certain Ridge of Mountains, which it hath on the North and North Weft fide of it, and are faid by Laet, to crofs the whole Countrey of Pera quite over from the South to the North Sea : It was foon after the Building inhabited by five hundred Families of Spaniards at leaft, befides Natives, and well fortifid, and might be thought a Town very well feated in all refpects, but for the neighborhood of a Vulcan, which at times annoyeth it very much, as namely in the Year 1560. when it vomited out fuch abundance of flaming Cinders and other fulphureous Matter, that had it not been for a Shower of Rain unexpectedly falling, would have much damnif'd, if not deftroy'd the Place. The Natives about Quito are more Moraliz'd than other Peruvians. The Valleys which are warm'd by the Sun produce all man. ner of Fruit-Trees and large Vineyards; and the Root Papas, not unlike Apples.

The Quimla, which is of a Mans heighth, hath little Sceds, of which a pleafant Liquor is boyl'd. From Quito the High-way leads to Cufco, along which at every four Leagues diftance ftands a brave Palace; and from $C_{u f} f o$ to Cbili, being in all above a thoufand Leagues long. The City, built on a fandy Soyl, is divided in the mid. dle by a Moat, over which lead feveral Bridges : the Streets are large and Areight, and full of handfom Houfes, and at the ends of the four chief Streets four Market. places. Befides the Cathedral, are two other Churches, Dedicated to the Saints Scbaftian and Blafius, The Cloyfters of the Francijcans and Dominicans are alfo no-fmall Ornament to the City. Befides other ftately Structures, are the Refidences of the Re= ceivers of the Kings Revenues, to which the Permians that live about the City, being computed no lefs than fifty thoufand in number, pay Tribute; and to keep them in fubjection, the City $\ell$ nito is always well for'd with all manner of Ammunition and Inftuments of War. The chiefeft Trade here confifts in Sheep, Goats, and other Cattel, Cotton-Clothes, Cloth, Flax, Hats, Cordage, Sugar and Salt; which Sale, being grey and bitter, fprings out of a Fountain in the Countrey Mira. The Oyl, Wine, and Drugs which are us'd here, are fetch'd from the South Sea up the River Ambato, and from thence with Carts into the City.
4. Thomebamba, famous for a Royal Palace, built there by fome of the Ingas; It lies Southward from Quito in the Province of Canares, where two Rivers com. mixtheir Waters, near a Plain abounding with Venifon. There yet remain confiderable Ruines of this Palace, in which one may difcern the vaft Dimenfions of divers Rooms, in fome of which Arms were kept, and in others Provifions and Clothes; of which kind of Buildings or Magazines the Ingas had erected above a thoufand in Peru, efpecially along the High-way, that they might have their Ammunition ready in all places if need Thould require. On the left fide of Thomebamba appear'd the famous Temple of the Sun, whofe Gates were not onely curioully Painted, but alfo Inlay'd with Emeraulds. Both the Palace and Temple, adorn'd with Gold and coflly Images of great Toucheftone and Jafper, contain'd within their Walls an unvaluable Treafure. Thefe magnificent Structures are at this day fall'n quite to decay. The People of this Countrey, who wear long Hair, pleited on the top of their Heads like a Coronet, go Cloth'd in Cotton Coats and Buskins of Hair=cloth. The Women, indifferent fair, and great admirers of the Spaniards, Plough, Sowe, and gather in the Harveft, whileft the Men ftay at home, Spinning, Weaving, and doing of other Female-Offices. Anno 1544. they difcover'd Mines here, which produc'd as much Gold as Earth.
5. Tacunga, where was formerly another ftately Palace, about fifteen Leagues from $C u V_{C O}$, not far from the Mountain which fome years fince vomited Afhes and Stones into the adjacent Fields. Hereabouts was formerly a Cloyfter, inhabited by the Nuns call'd Namaconas, the Ruines whereof are yet to be feen, with feveral Houfes of Stone, but cover'd with Thatch. The Natives in this Place are of a brown Complexion, and of a very affable Nature.
5. Mulambato ; 7. Mocha ; 8. Rbiobamba, three fmall Villages, but each of them credited with a ftately Palace. Oppofite to Rbiobamba lies the Province Cbumbo, from which a troublefom Way leads to Guaynacapa over the River Choigo.
9. St. Jago de Puerto Viejo, giving Denomination to the Territory about it, which produces abundance of Potatoe Roots, Maiz, Juca, three forts of Guayavas, Cerezillas, and the Tree Tunas, which bears wild Figs. The Spanifh Fruits grow here likewife in great plenty. The fore-mention'd Beafts like Hogs, whofe Navels grow on their Backs, are allo very common here. The Woods abound with Deer and all forts of Fowls, amongft which one refembling a Goofe, and call'd Xuta; and anö.
ther nam'd Maca, fomewhat leffer than a Cock, and which feeding about the Houfe, may be reckon'd amongtt the Poultrey of this Countrey. The Sea along the Coaft affords them abundance of Bonito's, which eaten in fome Sea fons caule Agues. The Peoplealong the Sea-Coaft are generally troubled with Pimples and Sores in their Faces, efpecially on their Foreheads and Nofes, few of them living long, by reafon of the unhealthfulnefs of the Place through exceffive Moifture, for the Rain continues eight Moneths together.
10. Mantu, lying upon the Southern Ocean, the chief of the Villages, formerly poffefs'd by the Caranes, betwixt the Promontory Paffao and the River Dable. Thefe People are faid to this day to carve and cut their Faces from their Ears to their Chins; about their Necks and Arms they wear Chains of Gold and little red Coxals, call'd Chaquina, highly efteem'd by the Periuvians. This Town was formerly famous for a great Emerauld, which was religioully worfluipp'd there.
11. Guajaquil, otherwife call'd Crlata, built at a deep Inlet of the Sea, near the River Anebato, which with great fwifnels falls down from the Mountains Quito, is furrounded with a fertile Soyl; and in the hollow Trees is found plenty of Honey. The Water of the fore-mention'd River, being of great vertue in curing the Morbus Gallicus, hath great refort of People from all places; who likewife gather the Sar $f_{a}$ parilla that grows along the Banks. The Bridge which the Inga Gunynacava began to lay crofs this River, is alfo very remarkable, but he dying, it was left unfinifh'd. The Guancabilcas were heretofore under the Jurifdiction of this City Guayaquil.
12. Caffro, fo call'd from a ftrong Fort buile there by a Spanifh Captain, and fituate in the Valley Vili, not far from Guayaquil.
13. The City Loxa, built in the Countrey of the Paltas, a People that went na. ked, between two Arms of the River Catamayo under a wholfom Climate, near the High-way that leads to Cufco in the Valley Curibamba, where no poyfonous Beaft was ever found. The Soil bears abundance of Oaks, Hazles, Afh, Willow, and Cedar-Trees; Maiz, Barley, and Wheat. Not far from the City 〔prings a hor and fulphurous Fountain, which cures all forts of Sores and Wounds. The Countrey hereabouts is likewife ftor'd with Fowls, Venifon, Cattel, and Fifh. Moreover, the City receives no fmall luftre from two Dommican, and one Francifcan Cloyfter: Eaftward from which lie defolate Mountains, whofe tops are continually cover'd with Snow. Not far from hence were formerly two noble Palaces, Piedras and Tamboblanco, befides feveral Villages.
14. Cuenca, wherein are alfo large Seructures for the Monks and Priefts: The Countrey about the fame hath rich Mines of Gold, Silver, Quickfilver, Copper, Iron, and Sulphur.
15. Zamora, Eaft ward from the cold Mountains Andes, built in a Marfhy Soyl, where the Inhabitants are never vifited with Peftilential Diftempers, and ufe no other Phyfick for fuch Sickneffes as they are troubled with, than Tobacco, and the Herb Aquacolla. But there is a certain Nut that grows hereabouts, which occafions fudden death, if eaten raw, but being boyl'd, is a wholfom Food. The Mines afford great pieces of Gold, of which one weiging eighteen Pound, was prefented to Pbilip the Second, King of Spain. The briny Springs produce good Salt. Three Rivers falling from the Mountains, are noted for their Golden Sands, and alfo afford delicious Fifh. The Bees being here void of Stings, furnifh the Inhabitants with plenty of Honey. The Tygers and little Lyons devour many of the Sheep Pacos, Goats, Hogs, and other Cattel, and fometimes the Natives themfelves. The City it felf is neatly built with Woodden and Stone Houfes, and adorn'd with a Church and Dominican Cloyfter, befides a ftately Palace, the Refidence for the King's Receiver.

Receiver. The Natives about this Place are a flupid and barbarous People, which before the Spaniards coming thither, would for a fmall trifle kill one another.
16. The City $\Upsilon_{\text {aen, }}$, fituate in the councrey Chwiquimayo; it is fo call'd from a fwift River, crofs which the Perwvian Women and Children fwim, to the great amazement of the Spaniards. They paint their Bodies black with the Juice of the Root Yaguas, $^{\text {and }}$ feed for the moft part on the ftamp'd Plant Yaca. On the other fide of the Mountain, which rifes on the Banks of Chuquimayo, lies the Countrey Perico, fruitful and well inhabited, againft which juts the Golden Countrey Cherinos. Peru hath alfo feveral delightful Valleys, amonglt which on the North the chiefef are the Tumber, Solana, Poechos, and Piura, all of them very fertile, full of fately Buildings, and water'd by feveral Rivers.
17. San Miguel, the firf City that was built by the Spaniards in Pern, fituate in a fandy and dry Soyl, being extraordinary dufty in Summer, and very flabby in the Winter, becaufe the hard Ground cannot foak up the Rain. The Ingas made a Way through this Valley fifteen Foot broad, between two Walls, and Planted Trees on each fide.
18. Weftward from Miguel appears Payta, near a convenient Haven in the SouthSea, which Anno 1547. was burnt by Thomas Candifh; fince which it bad been rebuile twenty eight years, when foris Spilbergen, after a hard Engagement with the $\begin{gathered}\text { spilterger is } \\ \text { Atemprop op- }\end{gathered}$ Spanifh Admiral Rodrigo Mendoza, arriving in the large Haven before Payta, fent eight on Pafta. Sail with three hundred Armed Men up to the City, where finding the Enemy Encamp'd along the Shore, he return'd without any effect ; but two of his Frigats, the Eolus and the Morning-Star, running clofe to Payta, fir'd whole Broadofides at the fame, whileft Captain De Wit took a Perwvian Fifher-man, who had been two Moneths out at Sea, and taken abundance of Fifh. The Guns which the Ships fir'd upon the Town ftruck fuch a terror into the Citizens, that they fled with Bag and Baggage into the Mountains, and left the City for a Prize to Spilbergen, who ferting fire on the famé, in few hours burnt down two Churches, a Dominican Cloyfter, and feveral Alms-houfes : But had not the Citizens been cowardly, they might eafily have kept off the Hollanders ; for the Vice-Roy Luidovico Velafco inform'd of Spilbergen's Arrival, had ftor'd the Place with Ammunition and Men, whofe Cou. rage failing, prov'd fucceffful for the Hollanders, who whileft they Rid here at an Anchor, took a very frange Bird on the Illand Lobos, lying before Payta, being two Yards high and three thick, in its Bill, Wings, and Claws refembling an Eagle, and having a large Creft on its Head. Not long after Donna Paula being Governefs of Payta, a Lady famous in Peru for her Beauty and obliging Nature, fent Cabbages, Oranges, Cittrons, and other Provifions to the Hollanders, and requefted the Releafement of fome of the Spaniards taken in the Engagement againft Mendoza, but could not obtain her Requeft from the uncourtly Dutchmen.

Sect. III.

Los Quixos.

Defcription
of Los Rxises

THe Province of Los Quixos lieth South, and to the South.Eaft of Quito, being border'd more directly Eaftward with a part of the Province of Guiana, call'd by fome El Dorada, or The Golden Countrey ; on the South it hath Lima and $C u f c o$.

This Province is fubdivided into feveral leffer Territories, viz. Canela, Pacomores, and St. Juan de Salinas. Canela is fo call'd, becaufe it hath many great Woods, which produce the Fruit Canela in great abundance, the Owriers whereof were moft inhumanely dealt with by the Spaniards; for Gonfalvo Pizarro fuppofing to get fore of Gold there, found nothing but Trees, bearing a Fruit like Olives, by the Natives call'd Canela, with which they us'd to drive a great Trade, being otherwife poor and fimple People, living in Huts, which Pizarro pulling down, caus'd the Inhabitants to be torn in pieces by his Dogs, becaufe they could not furnifh him with Gold, nor direct him where it was to be had.

The Granas: ditatapple.

Towas and Places of sbief pote.

Befides the Canela-Tree, this Countrey alfo produceth in great plenty the Tree which beareth the Apples Granadilla, exceeding good againft burning Feavers; the Leaves are like Ivy, the Bloffom refembling the Sun, and the long Leaves fpeckled with Red and White, open three hours after Sun-rifing, and clofe again before the Evening, juft as if Nature took care to preferve the beauty of the Flower.
In this part of the Province the chief are, 1. Baeza, otherwife call'd Quixos, built in the Year 1559. by Ramires de Avild, eighteen Leagues from Cufco.
2. Arclidona, twenty Leagues to the South-Eaft of Baeza. 3.Avila. 4. Sevilla del Oro, all of them Spanifh Colonies.

The Territories Pacomores and Yguanfongo, otherwife call'd The Countrey of fuan de Salinas, are faid both to extend above a hundred Leagues in length, and little lefs in breadth. The Fields afford fore of Pafture for Cattel, the Plough'd Lands produce Wheat and all forts of wholfom Herbs; and in fome places are alfo rich GoldMines.

The Governor Layola buiilt four Townshere, viz. 1. Valladolid; 2. Lojola; 3. San. fago de los Montanas; and 4. Carama.

The Jefuit Acejfa relates, That not far from Carama hie found great Stones, fome of which were full of Golden Veins, but were hard to be cut from the Rock. Moft of the Gold is found in the Sand of feveral Rivers, the chiefeft whereof flow through Quito, New Granada, Valdivia in Cbili, and Caravaya in Peru.

On the Point of Quito, the River San Jago falls into the Southern Ocean; the Ground in the Mouth of the River being very uneven, for oftentimes the Ships.are falt aground at the Stern, and on Head they have above eighty Fathom Water; yet neverchelefs the Shoals are no ways dangerous.

South. Weft from St. Jago lies the fpacious Inlet Mattheo, and the Promontory Francifce, known by its Banks and high Grounds, which fhew red and white at a great diftance.

Not far from hence, exactly under the Equinox, appears Cape Paffao, flat and lowi between which and Mattheo, the great Rivers Los Quiximes fall into the Sea.

Behind Paffao rifes the high Mountain Quaque ; and more Wefterly the Bay Caraques affords a fecure Harbor for all manner of Veffels.

Next you come to the Town Puerto Vrejo before mention'd, lying behind the Ifland Laurenfo.

Five Leagues off at Sea, before Laurenoz, lies the Ifland Plata, formerly famous for a Perwvian Temple, in which the Natives Sacrifis'd Sheep, and fometimes Children, and painted the Figures of divers Perfons with the Blood; to which they alfo Offer'd Jewels, Gold, Silver, Wooll, Cotton Shirts, and Cloaks. Francijco Pizarro arriving here, got an invaluable Mafs of Treafure ; but at prefent it ly. ing defolate, affords nothing but Brambles and wild Trees.

The next which come in view are the Havens Callo and Zalango, where there are fafe Harbors, good Wood and Water.

The Cape of St. Helena makes alfo a fecure Road on the North, and on its Shore hath a Spring, on the top of whofe Waters fwims a certain Gum, by the Natives call'd Copey, exceeding good to make Ships tight.

The River Tumbez falls into a large Bay, which on its North-Eaft Point near the Main Land, hath the Ifland Puna, ten Leagues in circumference: The Soyl whereof produces abundance of Maiz, fuca, and other good Roots, befides great Woods full of fruitful Trees, and Sarfaparilla. The Inhabitants of a brown Complexion, and middle Stature, wear Cotton Cloaks, and Chains of Cbaquira and Precious Stones: They drive a great Trade, and formerly maintain'd Wars with the Peo. ple inhabiting upon the River Tumbez; their great want is frefh Water in the Summer. Thomas Candifh Landing here Anno 1587. found a Ship hal'd athore, and three Villages, in one of which ftood a Palace belonging to a Cafique, furrounded with Stone Galleries; and near it a large Storeshoufe full of Tarapots and Hemp to make Cables of: The Village confifted of two hundred Houfes; and a fair Church with a Steeple, in which hung feveral Bells. The Cafique Married to a Spae nijh Woman being fled with the Villagers, Candifh took many Oxen, fat Sheep, Pigeons and Ducks, the Bells; and what elfe was not convey'd aboard, with him, and afterwards burnt the whole Town; but whileft he was bufie in making havock, a thoufand Spaniards, and a confiderable number of Perwvians fell upon the Englifh on fuch a fudden, that they kill'd fome, and took others Prifoners.

Somewhat farther off at Sea appears the Ifle Clara, where thole of Puna formerly buried their Deąd.

The Inlet into which falls, the River Tumber, whofe Shores are well inhabited, ends Weftward at the Promontory Blanco; Southward from which lies the Ifle Los bos, where there are feveral Springs full of the fame Gum, or Bitamen, a little above mention'd.

Beyond the Point Agua lie the two Ifles Lobos Marinos, oppofite to a low Coaft; they are defolate, and barren of Grals, Trees, and all kind of Herbs, and deftiture of frefh Water; but many Pelicans, Penguins, and other ftrange Birds.

The difcovering of thefe Coafts belonging to the Jurifdiction of Quito, deferves a fhort Relation :

Bevaliazar overcoming Ruminagua sakes Ruro.

Whileft Pizarro kept the Inga Attabaliba Prifoner, he fent Captain Bevalcazar to , the new Fort St. Miruel, where eighty Horfe and a hundred Foor being arriv'd from Panama and Nicaragua, and he being inform'd that there lay a great Treafure in Quito, and that the Canares, the Spaniards Friends, were exceedingly opprefs'd by $\mathbb{R}_{\mu}$. minagua, Attabaliba's General; immediately march'd thither with the new arriv'd Forces before mention'd, to fetch the Booty, and to affift the Canares; but feveral things oppos'd him in his Defign : for Ruminagua guarded the Way with twelve hundred Indians, digg'd Pits in the fame, and filling them with Tharp Poles, cover'd them flightly over with Canes and Earth; all which Bevalcazar fhunning, went about, fell in upon the Rere of the Enemy, and after a fmall Refiftance conquer'd the City Quito. Mean while Ferdinand Cortefio Cent Petro Alvarado from Nerb Spain, who taking Guatimala, receiv'd a Commiffion from the Spanifh Court, to fubdue the Northern parts of Peru. Soon after which Garcias Holgua being fent with two Ships to enquire concerning the State of Perw, brought News back, That Francifco Pizarro had gotten an unvaluable Treafure at Caxamalca; which fo firr'd up Alva. rado, that he Landed five hundred Men at Puerto Viejo, march'd in great want of Provifions over the Mountains Acabucos, and had he not accidentally found a Pond of fweet Water in a Thicket of Canes, both Men and Horfes had all perifh'd; at laft upon his approaching Quito, the Governor thereof, being Bevalcazar, not enduring to fuffer an Equal, drew up all his Men in Battel array; but fome Perfons in. Hecomes to terceding between them, they were foon reconcil'd, and Alvarado being bought

From thence marching to the County Zimaque, he got plenty of Provifion and Cinamon, which grows on great Trees in the Woods; the Leaves thercof refemble the Laurel; the Fruit grows in little Bere ries; the Root and Bark have a ftrong odoriferous fmell. Thence travelling to the Town Coca, he found a mighty Cataract of Water, falling from a Rock above fifteen hundred Ells high; infomuch that the noife in calm Weather was heard fix Ieagues off. Pizarro leaving his fick People in Zumaque, went onely with a few Eaftward from Coca to the Plain Countrey Guema, full of Moorifh Grounds, the Inhabitants whereof went naked : at laft he came to the great River Maranon, which falls from the Mountains near $\ell$ uito, and extends with feveral windings above eight hundred Leagues in length, and at the Mouth thereof is fifteen Leagues broad, which at that time overflowing all the Countrey, he judg'd it convenient to build a Brigantine, making the Shoes of the dead Horles ferve for Iron=work, his Mens Shirts for Sails, and a Gum, which was to be had there, for Tar, and having Lanch'd their Veffel, and put all their Baggage and fick People into the fame, they Sail'd clofe along the Shore, on which Pizarro made his Way through Brambles and Canes, or went over in the Brigantine whenfoe're he efpy'd a better Path on the otherfide; in which manner they were gone two hundred Leagues down the River, with no other Food but wild Fruit and Roots; when Captain Francifcus Orellana, was order'd to Sail away before with five Men, and feek out for Provifions, and at every Stream which fell crols ways out of the Countrey into the great River, he was to leave a Mann'd Boat: but Orellana in few days drove down fo far with the fwift River, Defigu, dis that he faw no likelihood of getting up again in a whole year, neither could he find any Provifions, but fought daily with the Indians, who came ftoutly to Board him in little Boats : amongft whom he was inform'd alfo, that thereabouts liv'd the Amazon Women, that Warr'd continually againft their Neighbors; and at laft he came into the Northern Ocean. But Orellana Sailing to Spain, obtain'd a Commiffion to be Governor of the Amaznns Countrey, whither he fleer'd his Courfe with five hundred Men in three Ships ; but Landing at the Canaries they all ran ao way from him, which fo incens'd Orellana, that he foon after dy'd with Grief. Mean while Pizarro inform'd by a Spaniard whom Orellana had put affore, that the Brigantine was by the ftrong Current carried into the Ocean, knew not what to do, his People fince their departure from Quito having travell'd above four hun. dred Leagues, had eaten moft of their Horfes: Many dy'd by feeding on unwholfom Herbs; others fell down dead for Hunger, or tir'd out with toilfom Travel; their Clothes, rotred by the Rain, hung upon them like Rags, their Shoes were worn out, their Feet full of Blifters, their Bodies fadly mangled with Brambles and Thorns, for no place afforded them a Boat. Pizarro leaving the River Maranon, The miferzwent another Way, no lefs troublefom for fteep Rocks and inacceffible Mountains, tion or fizarThe Valleys through which they went, began now to be ftrew'd with dead and fick Bodies, who were not able to follow the Army, which march'd very faft, every one judging to be for much nearer his prefervation the farther he could get: Thofe that fainted call'd continually on their Friends for help, but the Horfes were grown too weak to carry them : Every one faw nothing but Death before his Eyes; wherefore, though call'd by their deareft and moft intimate Friends that lay a dying, they never look'd back, their compaffion towards others being turn'd into fear and care of themfelves. The Forfaken implor'd their Saints, and befought Pizarro for aid, but finding their Complaints to be in vain, and raging through de. fpair, they wifh'd all the reft the fame fuccefs, and the like Friends, whenever they fhould be in the like Condition. Pizarro extreamly griev'd and troubled, that he had brought the People into this Mifery, fent a few Horlemen before to Quito, to carry the fad News of his deplorable Condition, that they might immediately fend Provifion to him ; which he receiving when he was within fifty Leagues from the faid City Quito, diftributed amongtt thofe that were left alive, who being alfo al. moft ftarv'd, eat fo greedily, that feveral of them were chok'd; the remainder were kept a confiderable time in Garrifon under the Command of Pizarro in Quito. Which City, built in a pleafant place, grew very populous in the Year 1544. there being feveral Gold=Mines found about the fame in that time. But this lafted not long, for Quito fiding with the Vice:Roy Blafoo Numez Vela againft Gonfalvo Pi'zarro, moft of the Citizens were deftroy'd by him, and their Houfes burnt to Afhes. The like Deftruction, and upon the fame occafion, befel the three Villages in the Province Bracomoros, difcover'd by fuan Parzel and Captain Vergara, together with the Countrey Chichiapoios, where Alphonfo Alvarado built the Town Levanto, furrounded with deep Caverns, through which, to the great ftrengthning of the City, flow feveral Rivers.

Round about Puerto Viejo the Natives dwelt in Trees, whom the Spaniards had much ado to bring under their fubjection; for their Countrey being barren and mountainous, was not onely wanting in Provifions to feed an Army, but the Peruvians alfo threw great Stones out of their Huts built in Trees, and likewife Javelins and Pots full of boyling Water, with which they did much mifchief to their Ene. mies that Storm'd them, who at laft covering themfelves with Boards, cut down the Trees, with which they falling were torn in pieces by the Spanifh Dogs.

Sect. IV.

Lima.

Situation and Defrription of the Province of Lima.

LIma, call'd alfo Los Reyos, hath on the Eaft, Collao, and fome part of $C_{u} f_{c o}$; on the North, Los Quixos; and on the South, Charcas. The Countrey ex. tendeth it felf in length upon the Coafts of the South Sea two hundred and fifty, fome fay, full three hundred Leagues in length, viz. from Cape del Aguia Northward, on the Borders of Quito as far as Arequipa towards the South, and runs Eaft, ward to Brafile and Rio de la Palma.
The feveral
Valleys of this Provinc

In this Province are feveral very pleafant Valleys, the firft whereof is Motupe, to which 2 fandy Way leads from St. Miguel de Valverde, between barren Wilds, from whence feveral Streams falling are immediately drunk up by the Sand; wherefore all Travellers that go that way carry Water and Wine with them in Calabafhes for twenty Leagues together, which they Walk or Ride by Night, becaufe of the ex. ceffive heat of the Sun.

In the Valley Motupe grow abundance of Trees, which receive nourifhment from a River that fprings up near the fame. Here is alfo much Cotton.

Not far from hence are the Valleys Xayanca, formerly very populous and full of Palaces: The River which flows through the middle is led in Trenches amongft the neighboring Fields.

The Valley Tuqueme is alfo very pleafant, and the decay'd Palaces, fufficiently teftifie its former fplendor.

The next being Cinto, is no way inferior to Tuqueme; and between both lie fandy Hills and barren Rocks; on which grow neither Trees nor Herbs, nor is any living Creature to be found upon them : the Way through which being a whole days Journey, cannot be travell'd without fure Guides.

The Valley Collique, water'd by a River of the fame Denomination, and very thick fet with Trees, was formerly very populous, but fince the Spani/h Wars it is become quite defolate; for not onely a confiderable number of them were flain by the Spaniards, but alfo many deftroy'd themfelves, Wives and Children; of which Peter Martyr, Councellor to the Emperor Cbarlesthe Fifth, fets down feveral terrible Examples, of which two were remarkable above the reft ; the firft was after this manner :
 ftion'd when the grew big with Child, Whether the was with Child by him? and that he might know the real truth by Torture, he caus'd her to be ty'd naked to a woodden Spit, and laid to roaft againft a Fire made of green Wood, fo that fhe died in a moft miferable manner; upon which her Father ran in a rage with thirty of his Companions to Olandus's Houfe, where tie kill'd his whole Family, and locking all the Doors about the Houfe, fet fire on the fame, into which when it was at its greatelt heighth, he and his Affociates leap'd into the middle thereof.

The fecond Accident is alfo very terrible, viz. An Indian Maid being Got with Child by a Spanifh Afs-driver, acquainted her Father and Mother with it, withal telling them that the was ready to fuffer Death for her Offence; and notwithftanding they freely pardoning, and perfwading her to the contrary, fhe eat raw. Juca, which when boyl'd is a wholfom Food, but if eaten raw, certain though languifting Death; which fhe perceiving, ran to the next River, where after having wafh'd her felf, fhe broke off from a large Tree a Bough of five Foot long, and making the end thereof very fharp, fell upon the fame, and fo kill'd her felf. Several other Ravifh'd Maids taking example hereby, hang'd themfelves upon the Boughs of the fame Tree.

But to proceed in our Defcription, next to Collique lies the Valley Zana, of the like bignefs, and famous for the City Mirafores.

The next is Pafcayamo, which exceeds all the former in fruitfulnefs, and populoufnefs of Inhabitants, who before they were deftroy'd by the Ingas were much fear'd by their Neighbors. This Valley allo was adorn'd with feveral fair Tem. ples, which are now turn'd into CloyRers. Cattel, Hogs, and Goats breed here in very great numbers. The chief Trade of this Place confilts in Cotton and Linnen.

The Valley Chacama, in which the Dominican Monks inhabit a brave Cloyfter, produces abundance of Sugar.

Four Leagues farther lies the fpacious Valley Chimo, fo call'd from an old Peruvian Heroe, which affords a pleafant Profpect, by reafon of the many Banquettinghoufes buile there by the Ingas. No place in Perv is able to ftand in competition with this for plenty of Provifions, the Ocean and Rivers producing ftore of Fiff, the Countrey affording Cattel and all manner of Fruit. The Cotton which grows here is Shipp'd to the South Sea.

Chanca is a Valley chiefly confiderable for the Town Arnedo, which is fituate therein, of which more hereafter.

But the Valley Guanape, not far from Chanca, yields the beft Peruvian Liquor Chica, and hath a convenient Harbor for Ships.

The Plain Santa being overflow'd in the Winter; is all overgrown for want of Inhabitants, who were all deftroy'd by the Spaniards. The Woods hereabouts fwarm with a fort of venomous Bug, which exceedingly torments the Traveller.

Next follow in order the Valleys Guambaico, very fruifful, and Guarney, abound ing with Horfes, Hogs, and other Cattel. Foris Spilbergen Landing here Ammo 1615 . Sillbergen's found the Haven fecure againft all Winds, and between the Shore and the Village Guarmey a Creek, and fomewhat farther a frefh.Water Pool; on one fide of which ftood a decay'd Caftle built of fquare Stone, whereon the Hollanders fet the States Flag, and Garrifon'd the fame to fecure thofe that fetch'd Water out of the fore. mention'd Pool. In the aforefaid Village ftood a Church with a firy Steeple; behind which rofe high Mountains, and at the Foot thereof a great Wood, into which the Inhabitants fled with all their Goods, fo that Spilbergen found nothing but a little Meal, a few Hens, Hogs, and Oranges in their Houfes, which whileft he was fending Aboard, a fmall Body of Horfe appear'd, but immediately fled into the Woods. The Hollanders ftaying here feven days, were inform'd, that the Galley Fefw Maria, Commanded by the Admiral Rodrigo Mendoza, and the Santa Aima, by the Vice-Admiral Peter Alvares Piger, were both loft, not one Man being fav'd.

Not far from thence lies the Valley Parmonga, which though it be fruifful and pleafant, yet it is quite defolate; the Walls of a large Cafle fill appear, as teftimonies of its being formerly inhabited; and within the faid Walls allo are fill to be feen the Ruines of fpacious Halls and fair Chambers, whofe Walls are painted with wild Beafts and Birds: The Spaniards have digg'd all about, and undermin'd the fame, in hopes to find, together with the feveral dead Bodies, a Treafure buried. Two Leagues Southward from this Valley Parmonga flows the River, Gway man, by the Spaniards call'd Rio del Falcon, from a Hawk which was feen there. When any fore of Rain falls here, a great part of the Dale Barrana lies under Water.

Not far from hence lie the Valleys Gaura and Lima; which laft exceeds all others in bignefs, and was formerly exceeding populous; but fince the Marquefs Pizarro built the City Los Reyos here, the Citizens have taken the Lands from the Peruvians. The Mines hereabouts produce Gold and Silver. Amonglt other things the Inhabitants highly efteem an Herb bearing yellow Flowers, which in a fhort time cures a putrifid Wound, whereas if laid on found Flefh it eats the fame to the Bone.

Strange manner of Hunting. The Natives heretofore us'd to fpend their time in Hunting, and caught their Game after this manner, viz. three or four thoufand of them would meet together, and by taking Hands make a Ring of three or four Miles in circumference, and at a certain Note or Tune Sung, or loudly Exclaim'd, they drew nearer and nearer, till at laft they were within Shot of the inclofed Game, whatfoever it were.

The Countrey of Collao hath a low Point, from which a long Cliff runs into the Sea, towards the fmall Ifland call'd Ifla de Collao: On each fide of the Point the Coaft runs floaping in, the one fide extending North-Weft from Collao, to the Cliffs Pijcadores; the other South-Eaft to the fecond Promontory; behind which is a large Bay, where the Valley Pachacama appears, famous for its exceeding fruitfulnefs, and a ftately Temple built by the Ingas, where Ferdinando Pizarro found above

A valt Treafrue found by Fertinanado Ferdizarand.
Pizal nine hundred thoufand Ducats, befides what the Soldiers and Commanders took, and what the Priefts had hid, which none, though miferably tortur'd, would confefs.

Oppofite to Pachacama lies the Valley Chilca, where it never Rains, nor any Brook or Spring moiftens the dry Soil, which neverthelefs produces Maiz and FruitTrees. The Natives us'd to dig large and deep Pits, in which they Sow'd and Planted and at every Root laid the Head of a Fifh call'd a Sardin, which they caught in Nets on the Seaflhore; wherein neverchelefs norhing would have grown, but for the Morning Dews which fell. The Ingas alfo had curious Banquettingahoufes here. In thefe Parts there grows a fort of Tree call'd Mala, of which Acofta relates a ftrange Wonder of Nature, very remarkable, viz. Thar it flourifhes and bears Fruis on that fide which beholds the South, in that Seafon when it is Summer on the Mountains ; the other which views the Sea, Bloffoming and bearing Fruit when it is Summer on the Plains.

The Valley Guarco, fpacious and full of Trees, produces efpecially the pleafant Fruit Guayzes and Guavas, as alfo the beft Whear in Peru; wherefore it is vended all over the Countrey. Here are alfo the Ruines of another ftately Cafte, buile by the Ingas, the former luftre whereof is teftifid by its remaining Walls, which confift of exceeding great Stones, fo neatly joyn'd cogether without Mortar; that it appears like one entire Stone ${ }_{3}$, and by the decay'd Structures of feveral Halls, much of the curious Painting whereof is yet to be feen; from the Caftle a large pair of Stairs led down to the Seafhore. Tivo Leagues farther the River Lunagun runs through the fertile Valley of the fame Denomination. The fatnefs of this Soil is chiefly afcrib'd to the Dung of a Fowl call'd Guana, which the Natives ferch in great abundarice from the Ifles near the Main.

Next follows the Valley Cbinca, one of the biggeft in all Peru, and before the Spas niards Arrival very populous. In the time of the Ingas it alfo fhew'd a magnificent Temple Dedicated to the Sun, built by Tepaja fupangue; yet the Inhabitants ftill remain'd conftant in the worfhipping of their old Idol Cinciapema. Hither the Ingas fent their conquer'd Princes, who on a certain time were to appear in $C_{u}$ fo. The Dominicans at prefent poffefs here a neat Cloyfter, from whence leads a plain Road to the Dale Ica, water'd by the River Pifco, which isdry in Summer; wherefore the Natives brought a Ditch from the Mountains, which fince the Spaniards deftroying the Inhabitants, is choak'd up with Sand.

Next the Valley Nafca comes in view, famous for the Caftle Caxamalca, where the Ingas kept all manner of Ammunition for War, befides feveral Tombs, out of which the Spaniards took great Riches. This Valley is divided into feveral others, which for the moft part produce Sugar-Canes; and through them all runs the Royal High way, which is Wall'd in on both fides.
Beyond Nafca lie one behind another the Valleys Hacari, Oconna, Camana, and Quilca, all of them affording good Pafture for Cattel, and Fruit, yet are moft of them defolate.

The County Los Motilonos, thinly inhabited for want of Provifions, and divided by two Rivers, Ceparates Moyobamba from the Countrey Charafmal.

Southward beyond Caxamalca appear the Countreys Guamachuco, and a little fare ther Concbucos and Pijcobamba, all fruifful and pleafant, and adornd with feveral Structures buile by the Ingas.

On the fide of Pifcobamba the County Guaraz extends it felf over barren Mountains, through which the Ingas cut a Royal High-way, and built a Atrong Caftle at the Entrance into the Countrey; the Inhabitants whereof being very laborious, work very diligently in the Gold-Mines.

The Territory Pincos, water'd by a River, and famous for one of the fatelieft of the Peruvian Structures, is furrounded by the Countreys Guayalcas, Turama, Bomba, and Conchucos. The Mountains, though dangerous to Travellers by Lyons, great Bears, and other ravenous Beafts, afford abundance of Silver; and the fruitful Soil produces Wheat, Maiz, Grapes, Figs, Oranges, Quinces, Cittrons, Cedars; and likewife feeds Goats, Horfes, and other Cattel. V v The

The Countrey Viticos, being within the Jurifdiction of Guanuco, lies amongft the Mountains Andes, whether Inga Mango fled, when the Spaniards made themfelves Mafters of Peru.

The Towns and Places moft oblervable and important in it belonging to the Spaniards, are I. Mirafores, as the Spaniards call it, a well feated and wealthy Town in the Valley of Zanu, as above mention'd, five Leagues diftant from the Sea, where it hath likewife a good Haven or Port.
2. Truxillo,two or three Leagues diftant from the Sea; the Haven whereof is faid to be large, but not fafe. The Town it felf is feated in the Valley Chinco, upon the Banks of a pleafant River, whofe Water doth not onely run through feveral Chans nels to moiften the Fields, but alfo to accommodate every Houfe in the City : It hath broad Streets, a great Market-place, four Cloyfters, two for the Dominicans, one for the Augufines, and the other for the Francijcans; one great Church, five hundred Houfes, and a Palace, inhabited by the King's Collectors, and many Ban-quecting-houles about it. The good fituation and fruitfulnefs of the Soil, mov'd the Marquefs Francifco Pizarro to build this City here Anmo 1533. but the Haven belonging to the fame lies open to all manner of Winds, fo that the Ships Ride here in great danger.
3. La Parilla, otherwife call'd Santa, fourteen Leagues beyond Truxillo Southward, wafh'd by the Southern Ocean, and one fide by a frefh-water Scream, which being inclos'd between fony Cliffs, makes a fecure Harbor.
4. Arnedo, feated ten Leagues Northward from Lima, amongft the Vineyards of the Valley Chancas; otherwife having no great matter in it remarkable, but a fair Dominican Cloyfter.
5. Lima, by the Spaniards commonly call'd La Cividad de los Reyes, or The City of Kings, fo nam'd becaufe Pizarro, who built it, laid the firft Stone on Twelfth-day, Anno 1553. which they call The Feaft of the Kings: It is feated in the Valley of Lima, (from whence the City is alfo fo denominated) one of the fruitfulleft Parts of all Peru, and fo neatly built, that all the chief Streets of the City open upon a fair Market-place, or Piazza, of fuch a large Square, that upon the fides thereof are built, in a ftately and convenient manner, the Cathedral, the Palace of the Archbifhop, the Vice-Roy's Palace and Courts of Juftice, with the Exchequer or Publick Treafury, the Townchoufes or place where the City Magiftrates meet and hold their Courts, the Publick Armory or Magazine, and a Free-School, wherein are taught by the fefuits all Arts and Sciences, and alro the Indian Language, and divers other fair Buildings of the Nobility and better fort of Citizens. No. Countrey un. der the Heavens affords a more fruitful or pleafanter Place than this; the tempe. rate Climate neither troubling the Inhabitants with exceffive Heats or great Colds, nor terrifying them with Thunder or Lightning, but having almoft perpetual Sun-fhine and fair Weather; onely the three Winter Moneths, wherein there falls a fweet-fmelling Dew, which cures the Head-ache; and there die but very few of peftilential Diftempers. The Countrey about the City is pleafant without exception. The Pigeons which are kept here in curious Houfes built on purpofe, flie a thoufand in a Flight. The Fields abound alfo with Cattel. The Orchards and Gardens flourifh with all forts of Trees and Plants, whereof thofe that are brought hither from Spaingow better than in their narural Countrey. The Weft fide of the City is wafh'd by a pure & clear Stream, which fores the Market with great plenty of good Fifh, it being diftant but a Mufquet fhot, efpecially when the Water rifes. This River is of great confequence, for it not onely waters the whole Valley of Lima with its feveral Branches, but alfo runs under every Houfe in the City, being

[^7]built on Stone Arches ; they are onely one Story high, becatufe there is no Wood to be had in the Valley of Lima but what in three years becomes all Woorm-eaten; neverthelefs the Houfes are very beautiful both within and without; the Walls being very thick and frong, have curious Arbors of green Boughs on the top, in which the Owners fhade themfelves from the Sun. Moft of the Houles built in the high Streets liave pleafant Turrets, which face the Market-place, where all forts of Provifions are brought to Sale, as Oxen, Sheep, Venifon, Sugar, Oranges, Cittrons, Grapes, and Whear, which is ground in Water-Mills built near the River. This City is inhabited by many able Merchants, which often load Ships to Panama, that are valu'd at above two hundred thoufand Ducats. To the Arch-bifhop's See of this Place belongsthe Bifhopricks of Chili, Charcas, Quito, Ciffo, Truxillo, Guanuco, Popaian, San Francifco, Panima, Nicaragua, and Rio de la Plata. The City is alfo adorn'd with two fair Churches, befides the Cathedral, and alfo other leffer Churches, four ftately Cloyfters, two Nunneries, and the fefuits Palace, which is very magnificent. The Haven two Leagues diftant from it, and call'd Callaode Lima, is large and Ce. cure for Ships. Amno 1579. Sir Francis Drake took twelve Ships from hence, one prizs taken whereof was laden with Linnen and Silk, befides a great Cheft full of Silver : hraneby Drake: Which Inconvenience to prevent for the future, the Spaniards have built two ftrong Forts, and fortifid them with Brafs Guns. Thirty years after Sir Francis Drake's Exploit, Foris Spilbergen coming to Anchor here, found the Place all inhabited, 2 spilitrgnsat: Fort well ftor'd with Guns, and a ftrong Caftle before thie Mouth of the Harbor, Place invain. from whence they fhot Bullets of thirty fix Pound weight at the Hollanders, and fí fhatter'd their Frigat, call'd The Hunter, that fhe could fcarce keep above Water : Fourteen Spanifh Merchantemen lying near the Shore, receiv'd little damage, Spilbergen not being able for Shelves to get to them, neither did he judge it convenient to Land, the Vice-Roy having at that time above four thoufand Men in Arms, befides feveral Troops of Horfe; wherefore after having fir'd feveral Guns on the Fort, and againft the Church, he fet Sail to Guarmey.
6. Cannete, otherwife call'd Guarco, from the Valley wherein it is fituate: It was built by the Spaniards out of the Treafure which they found in the Caftle afore fpoken of in the fame Valley.
7. Valverde, fituate in a Valley of the fame Name, where excellent Fruit may be had for a fmall Price; it is a well Traded and rich Town, about fixteen Leagues diftant from the Sea.
8. Pachacama, fituate in a Territory of the fame Name, four Leagues Southward of Lima, memorable chiefly for Pizarro's good fortune here, who is reported to have found in one onely old Temple of the Natives, the quantity of nine hundred thoufand Ducats of Gold and Silver, befides what his Soldiers are fuppos'd to have feiz'd on, and convey'd a way before he came.
9. Cafro Verreina, threefcore Leagues diftant from Lima to the South Eaft: It liech in the Valley of Chooolocha, and is a rich Place, by reafon of the good Mines of Silver which are about it, and abundance of the beft forr of Tobacco.
10. Miguel de la Ribera, in the Valley of Camana. The Inhabitants whereof drive a great Trade in Wine, Figs, and Raifins.
II. The City Arequipa, which extends up towards the Mountains, is built in the Dale Quilca, which runs eleven Leagues from the Sea, under a healthful Climate; but in the Year 1582. it was wholly ruin'd by an Earthquake; the reafon whereof is afcrib'd to the wet fulphurous Mountains, which burns continually, and fometimes vomits out Flames and Afhes. The Marquefs Pizarro built this City forty fix years before the fore-mention'd Earthquake, fince which being re-built again, foon attain'd to three hundred Houfes, befides a Church and Cloyfter; and though it be but a fmall Town, yet it is of a great refort, becaufe the Gold and Silver is brought hither from the Mines Chancos, Porco, and Potofi, and from thence fent down the River Quilca, which wafhing the City Walls runs into the South Sea to Los Reyos, and from thence to Panama, Nombre de Dios, and New Spain. The Jurifdiction of this City Arequipa extends it felf a vaft way, viz. over the fpacious Valleys be. tween Hacari and Tampaca, and up in the Countrey beyond the County Condefuyo, full of Hamlets and Villages; the Inhabitants whereof hererofore worlhipp'd the Sun. By the Way from Arequipa to Collao lie two great Lakes, out of one of which the River Aparima takes its original.
12. Caxamalca, rather a Fort than a Town, in a Territory of the fame Denomination, built at the Foot of a Mountain wafh'd with two Rivulets, over which lead feveral Bridges; near which alfo were formerly a ftately Temple Confecrated to the Sun, wonderful Palaces and Baths for the Ingas, befides other magnificent Striutures of Noble-men, which were the more famous for Attabaliba's Imprifonment and Death: The Soil round about may compare with any part of the World for fertility. The Inhabitants are a peaceable ingenious People, and make curious woollen Hangings.
13. St. Juan de la Frontera, built by the Spaniards North-Eaftand by Eaft from Caxamalca in the County Cbiachinpoyas, full of Gold-Mines and Cattel ; to which belongs not onely Chiachinpoyas, but alfo the Countreys Guiancas and Cafcainga, out of which above twenty thoufand Perwvians pay Tribute to the Spanifh King. Thefe People efpecially the Women, are very comely and beautiful; for which realon the Ingas fetch'd their Wives and Concubines from thence. Eaftward from Frontera rife the high Mountains Andes, behind which flows the great River Mayobamba by feveral poor Villages inhabited by a fottifh kind of People.
14. San Jago de las Valles, built in an ill place amongtt the Shrubs and overflowing Rivers. In this Countrey grows a Tree which bears a juicy Fruit, not unlike an Almond in prickly Rinds, but refembling thofe which cover a Chefnut, concerning which Phyficians have deliver'd their Opinions, That there is not a wholfomer Fruit in the whole World.
15. Leon de Guanuco, which receiv'd that Denomination from its Builder Vacca de Caftro, who call'd it Leon, becaufe he was born in the Spanifh City Leon, and Granuco from the fately Palace of the Ingas which was buile here: The Houfes are built of Free-ftone, and cover'd with Thatch. The Citizens of Los Reyos were much againft the building of this Town, becaufe feveral Lands belonging to them were taken away and given to Guanuco, where the temperate Air grants long Life and Health to the Inhabitants. The High-way, in which ftand feveral Store-houfes, formerly full of Ammunition, runs through the middle of this Countrey, where in the time of the Ingas dwelt Aftronomers, who by looking on the Stars pretended to tell future Events. Here the Women alfo us'd to be burnt alive with their Husbands.

Cufco.

CM/co is the far greater part of the Province of Peru, containing generally all the Sierra, or Hill-Countreys, and thple parts of the Andes likewife which lie Southward of the little Province or Cantred of Guanuco, being Coafted Weftward and to the North-Weft with Lima; Eaftward, with Los Quixos, and fome part of Guiana ; and on the Sourth, with (barcas; enjoying for the moft part a temperate and good Air, neither over-heated with the fcorching Sun in the day, nor damp'd with any cold Mifts or Dews in the Evening, as fome parts of the Plains of Peru are, but well water'd with many frefh Rivers, which make the Valleys and lower Grounds of it good Pafturage, able to maintain great Herds of Cattel. The Woods are efpecially for'd with the Coca, whofe Leaf is accounted reftorative, and with much excellent Venifon.

In this Province alfo there are fome leffer Divifions of Countreys. neceffary to $\begin{gathered}\text { The feveral } \\ \text { Valless and }\end{gathered}$ be defrrib'd, viz. the cold and barren Countrey Bambon, jutting againft Guanuco, other Terriinhabited antiently by a valiant People, efpecially near the Lake Chincacocha, which onging to解 is ten Leagues in circumference; in the middle of it are feveral Cliffs and little Ifles: And out of this Lake alfo the famous River De la Plata hath its original, and runs through the Valley Xauxa, receiving by the way the Streams Parcos, Bilcas, Abancay, Apurima, Yucay, and others.

The next Countreys in order towards the South are Tarana, abounding with Wheat, and the eminent Valley Xauxa, furrounded with fnowy Mountains. The Inhabitants by a general Name call'd Guancas, were antiently divided into three forts, viz the Maracabilca, Laxapalanga, and Xauxa. Here were alfo feveral ftately Houles built by the Ingas.

Upon this Valley borders the Village Acos near a Moorifh place full of Canes; but before you approach the Village you come near a high Plain, where the Ruines of an antient Structure appear; and fomewhat farcher the Palace Pico: from whence the Highoway directs to the Bridge Angoyaca, which leads crofs the River Xauxa; near which the Ingas had feveral magnificent Structures, and Baths of warm Springs. Not far from hence is the Village Picoy ; between which and Ans goyaca the Arm of the River Xauxa is cut with a Bridge, becaufe in the Winter it glides fo fwift that they cannot Ferry over it.

From Picoy you go to the Wild, in whofe Center ftands the antient Cafte Pucara, (which in the Pervivian Tongue fignifies Invincible Fort) where the Ingas receiv'd their Tribute from the neighboring People that live amongt the fnowy Mountains.

The Banks of the great River Vinaque are crown'd with the Ruines of antient Structures, which (as the Natives relate) were built by foreign People; which Afo fertion of theirs feems to be confirm'd by the form and manner of Building, differing from the Ingas Structures, which us'd to be long and narrow. Moreover, Ceveral fweet Streams, abounding with Fifh, efpecially Crabs, glide through the Plain. Countrey out of the Mountains Andes.

Not far from hence appears the Plain Cbapas, and the Palaces Pilcas, of which now nothing remains but a heap of Rubbifh, which lies in the Center of Peru. A frefh-water River, which gives the foremention'd Palaces their Denomination, glides out of Soras, and wafthes the High-way and ftately Temple of the Sun.

The Countrey Soras, exceeding fertile, and fock'd with Gold and Silver Mines, is inhabited by a People which go Cloth'd in woollen Cloth, and for their Valor formerly much efteem'd by the Ingas.

Thofe that inhabit the Countrey Uramar are call'd Cbancas, whofe Neighbors poffers a long Tract of Land abounding with Cattel and Fruit, but of late are moft of them deftroy'd by the Spaniards.

The River Abanca, which takes its original in the Mountainous County Parinacocha, wathes feveral Royal Buildings, and at laft difcharges its Waters into the River Xauxa.

On each fide of the great River Apurima are erected two wonderful Stone Pillars, over which lies 2 moft artificial Bridge buile by the Ingas; from whence the High way, being cut through hard Rocks, leads up into the Countrey; where the ftately Buildings of Limatambo fhew themfelves; and beyond the Mountain Bilcaconga the Valley Xaquixaguana, inclos'd berween high Rocks, comes in view, where the Ingas us'd to recreate themfelves in their Banquetting-houfes; from whence the Highway, which is Wall'd in on both fides, runs directly through deep Moorifh Grounds to Cusco.

Eaftward from Cufco, behind the Andes, are many large Countreys, which to difcover the Spaniards Spard neither trouble, danger, nor charge : berween both they found vaft Wilderneffes, inacceffible Mountains, and overgrown Countreys; yet at laft they opened four ways thither : the firft whereof runs through the Valley Paquil to Tono, a Village in the middle of the Mountains; from thence to the River Opotazi, along which it is very troublefom travelling, becaufe of the thick Woods and fteep Rocks : laftly to the hot and fruitful Valley $A b i j c a$, and fo to vaft Wilderneffes, overgrown with Brambles and Bufhes, which prevented any farther Difco. very. The fecond Way runs thirty Leagues farther to the Southward, through the Countreys Sandia, Camata and Caravaya, to Zama. Through this Way, Anno $153^{8 .}$

Towns and llaces of note.

Peter Anzurez travell'd ; fetting out from Zama, he found many defolate Mountains, barren Wilds, and clofe Woods, through which he entred into the County Tacana, and from thence to the River Omapalchas, inhabited on both fides by the Cheriabones and Marquires, who oppos'd him in his croffing over the River; but meeting with no. thing but barren Commons, he travell'd up along the River, and view'd the Countreys Moios, Cochabaniba, and Chuguiabo, from whence he return'd to Collao, having loft moft of his People by Hunger and Hardfhip. But not long after others went over the Andes to the Countreys which extend themfelves Eaft and Weft, fome whereof travell'd through Camata, and others through Cochabamba.

The principal Towns and Places of Trade in it are, r. Bombon, fituate upon the Lake Chinchacocha, faid to be ten Leagues in compafs, begirt round about almoft with Hills, and having neighborhood with many other leffer, but plea fant Villages.
2. Parcos, once a Palace Royal of the Ingas, feated on the top of a little Hill, encompafs'd with other Rocky and higher Mountains on all fides.
3. San fuan de Vittoria, which the Marquefs Pizarro buile Anno 1539. to fecure the Way between Lima and Cufco, from the Affaults of the Pervvians, before he abfolutely conquer'd this Kingdom : the Walls are wafh'd by a foseet Stream, to the great convenience of the Citizens.
4. Guamanga, a City lying in 2 pleafant Plain under a healthful Climate, built with Stone-houfes cover'd with Tyles; the Owners whereof have great fore of Land, which they Sowe with Wheat, and alfo breed plenty of Cattel. To this City, which is adorn'd with three Churches, five Cloyfters, and a large Almshoufe, above thirty thoufand Peruvians bring annual Tribuce. The Mines produce Gold, Silver, Copper, Iron, Lead, Sulphur, and Load-ftones; near which grows the poyfonous Herb Mio, which kills the Cattel that chance to eat thereof. In the Woods alfo hereabouts feeds a Beaft, whofe Pifs ftinks at a Miles diftance. This City is by fome deliver'd to be the fame with San fuan de la Vittoria above mention'd.
5. Bilcas, another Palace of the Ingas, now a good Town of the Natives, and fis tuate, as is fuppos'd, in the very midft of the Countrey of Peru.
6. Guancavelica, a new Town, rais'd from the condition of a very poor Village, to a Place of very great Importance and Traffick, onely by the Mines of Quickfil. ver, which were firt difcover'd there in the Year 1566. by Amador Cabrera, through the affiftance of a Perwian nam'd Mavimcopa: This Cabrera felling his Intereft for a hundred and fifty thoufand Ducats, Su'd the Buyer, upon pretence that he had fold it above one half under the value : whileft this was depeniding, Peter Ferdinando de Valafco came from Mexico to Guamanga, to make trial of the cleanfing of Silver by Quickfilver, and finding it to fucceed according to his expectation, he fent great quancities of it to Arica, and from thence by Land to Potofo. The King of Spain is faid to receive from this Mine of Guancavelica,all his Charges defray'd, above a thou: fand Pound per Annum for his ufual fifth part: But the antient Natives regarded not thefe Mines fo much for the Quickfilver as for the Vermilion which is found mix'd with it, wherewith they delighted very much to paint their Bodies: There is great Art now us'd in the feparating of the Quickfilver from the Vermilion.

This Town was long fince inhabited by two thoufand Spaniards at leaft, and twice as many Natives.
7. Cufco, which is the Metropolis of the Kingdom of Peru, built on a hard Ground, furrounded with Mountains, under a cold, yet wholfom Climate, and wafl'd by two Rivers, which on the Eaft fide of Cufco parting, one runs dirėt Weft, and the other Southward. One part of the City anciently bore the Denomination of Haran-Cu/co, and the fecond, Oren-CuSco, where the chief Nobility and of the ciry moft antient Families dwelt. Concerning the original of this Place, the Peruvians fay, That feveral Ages paft there appear'd three Men, call'd Ayrache, Aranca, and Ajarmanoo, and with them three Women,' nam'd Mamacola, Mamacona, and Mamaragua, all of them very richly Cloth'd; that Ayrache had a Precious Stone at the end of a Truncheon, which by holding up he rais'd the Mountains to the Skies, and when he let it fall, levell'd them with the loweft Valleys: Aranca and Ajarmango concluded to build a fately City, and fent for People from remote Countries to iahabit it ; with which Defign the Natives thereabouts feem'd to be well pleas'd : but before they went to work they judg'd it convenient to deftroy Ayrache, whofe great Power they envy'd: This being refolv'd upon, they invited him to a deep narrow-mouth'd Cave, that there they might worfhip the Sun his Father (for fo Defcended he took upon him to be), he was no fooner entred but the reft fhut the Mouth of the Cave with great Stones, hoping fo to ftarve him to death ; which Ayrache obferving, ftood amaz'd a while, till ar laft he threw offall the Stones, and flew with great and divers colour'd Wings up into the Air, crying aloud, Fear not, Aranca and Ajarmango, though you bave defign'nd to take apay my Life, but build a City in this place, and call it Cufco; for in it fhall fand the Seat of the Ingas, under: Tobofe furifdititio on extending far and near, many great Nations ghall bow. The Temple which the Gods bave there defign'd fhall not onely exceed all otber Structures in the World, in Art and Coflline $\beta$, but be famous for ftrange Offerings to the Sun. If the Citizens build Altars for me, burn Myrrh, and make Offer. ings to me, they may certainly expert to vanquigh all their Enemies, and increafe their Power. According to my Example bore Holes through your Ears, as a jign of Obedience. All which Aranca, Ajarmango, and the fore=mention'd Women promis'd to perform. Whereupon Ayrache gave them a rich Diadem with a Taffel, which was to be the HeadOrnament of the fucceeding Ingas; which they had no fooner receiv'd, but Ayrache and Aranca were turn'd into Stones, yet retaining their former fhape; which Ajarmango obferving, fell ftraight, together with the three Women, upon building the City Cufco. After the Deluge breaking out of the Hole Tambo, he chang'd his Name of Ajarmango for Mangocapa, that is, Miohty Lord, and made himfelf, as they fay, the firft Peruvian King. The City Cufco was divided into four Wards, the Eaft call'd Andofajo, the South Callafayo the North, Cbinchafuyo, and the Weft Condefayo, every one one fo call'd from'the Countreys, to which the Gates of the four Wards are oppos'd.
If any one coming out of another Countrey, fetled himfelf in $\mathrm{Cu} \mathrm{CO}_{2}$ as it hapned daily, daily, he was permitted to dwell no where but in that Ward which fronted his na. tive Countrey. The four high Streets, which through thefe Wards one way fall in to the Marketoplace, being in the middle of the City, are the other way anfwerable to the four principal High-ways, viz. that which leads to Quito and Paffo, through Chinchafuyo; to Areluripa, through Condefuyo; to the Mountains Andes, through Andefuyo ; and to Cbrli, through Collafuyo. The two Rivers before mention'd, which part at the Eaft end of the City, are pafs'd over with divers Bridges. The narrow Streets are full of Stone Houfes, built in good Order. In feveral places are Vaulted Cellars under Ground, in fome of which are buried great Treafures: they had been formerly the Habitations for Necromancers and Soothfayers; for this fort of People were once in great efteem amongft the Inhabitants, who coming from Chili, Pafto, Bocamores, Topona, Bombon, Charcas, Collao, Cbiachiapoias, Conchucos, and other Peruvian Countreys, receive great benefit from the frefh Water, and from the Corn-Mills built on the Streets through the City.

The antient Palaces and other fately
Structures in Structures
Cufco. The ftately Palaces which the Perwvian Nobility have at feveral times buile in Oren$C_{u} /(0$, being one part of the City, are very wonderful, the Owners whereof were forc'd by the Ingas to appear at Court at Set-times, that fo he might prevent all Infurrections: Alfohe caus'd the Children of the prime Lords to be brought up in $C_{u} \int_{C o}$, under pretence that they might learn the $C_{u} \int_{\text {coan }}$ Tongue perfectly, in which the Ingas would always be fpoken to; whenas their Defign was to keep them as Hoftages in their own Jurifdictions, that their Fathers might not rebel; by which means it hapned, that in moft places of Peru, which amongt the feveral Tribes and Principalities had feveral Languages, the Cufcoan Tongue was underfood and $\varsigma_{\text {po- }}$ ken. But the Spaniards, who are the prefent Poffeffors thereof, have alter'd and repair'd moft of the ordinary Houfes, which are now neatly built of Stone.Above all the old Structures, the Palace of the Ingas, and the Temple of the Sun, are the moft magnificent; the Palace lies inclos'd within a fquare quadruple Wall, each corner whereof is adorn'd and ftrengthned with a Tower : The Palace it felf is built round, and with Arches; but that which chiefly amazes the Beholder, is to fee how the Stones, which are fo big that forty Horfes are not able to flir one of them out of its place, were brought thither by the Labor of the Builders from the neighboring Mountains; for the Peruvians never made ufe of any laboring Beaft, except their Sheep Pacos, not knowing the ufe of Horfes, Camels, Oxen, Elephants, or the like, before the Spaniards coming thither. The Halls within the Pas lace were Wainfcoted with Golden Plates: yet the Inga's Apparel was not anfwerable to the reft of his Pomp; for in ftead of a Crown they bound their Heads about with a red woollen Saff, with which they almoft cover'd their Eyes; at the end of the Safh hung certain Ribbands, which they gave the Governor as occafion offer'd, that by this Sign, as by a Commiffion, they might exercife their Offices; the fight of which String caus'd fuch Obedience, that if the Inga had commanded the Inhabitants of a Town or Countrey to murder themfelves, none durft deny. The Inga was generally, carried by a hundred of his Noble-men, of whom if any one had accidentally chanc'd to ftumble, he was immediately put to death. No man durft prefume to look him in the Face, or fpeak to him without a Prefent.
The Temple Curicanche.

The Temple Curicanche, Dedicated to the Sun, was certainly the moft rich and fumptuous that ever the World boafted, it being Govern'd by the Chief Prieft Villanoor. The Inga Guainacava fent an invaluable Treafure in the building of this Structure, for hie cover'd the Roof and Walls with thick Plates of maffie Gold and Silver. At his return home from the Conqueft of the Province of Quito, from whence the Inhabitants, according to an antient Cuftom of the Ingas, were carried to one of the remoteft Countreys in. Peru. But Guainacava enamor'd of a Quitoan Maid, ftaid a confiderable time in the City Quito, and kept a fplendid Wedding at the Marriage of his Bride, who bare unto him the famous Attabaliba, whom he lov'd beyond all his other Children, and a lietle before his death made him King of Quito. But Huafcar after Guainacava's Deceafe would not fuffer his Brother to live in the late conquer'd Kingdom of Quito, but gave him Battel in the Plain of Tomeo A crel Bate: bamba, which lafted three days and three Nights, and after much Blood-fhed, Atta- Evo Broperers, baliba being defeated was taken Prifoner, and not long after making his Efcape by the help' of an antient Woman (whileft Huafcar's Commanders and Soldiers rejoyc'd with Cups full of (hica for their gotten Victory) he made bis Subjects in Quito believe, that he being transform'd into a Serpent, crept through a little Hole out of the Prifon; and that he had a Promife from Heaven to obtain Conqueft over Huafcar ; which being believ'd, Atirr'd up all his Subjects to take up Arms, and valiantly to go and meet the Enemy, whom they not onely defeated, but took Huafcar Prifoner.

Hufcar being deftroy'd by Attabaliba, and Attabaliba by Pizarro, Mango Tuga their youngeft Brother took the Government upon him, made continual Sallies upon the Spaniards from inacceffible Mountains, and at his Deceafe left the remaining part of Perl to his Son Zaires Topa; who feeing no good to be done by force of Arms, fubmitted himfelf freely to the King of Spain's Juriddiction in the Year $1557^{\circ}$ fince which the Spaniards have been fole Mafters.

There are at this day four great Churches in $C_{u} f_{c o}$ : Alfo the Dominicans, Frans cifcans, Augufines, and the Monks De la Merced, have each of them ftately Cloyfters here: but the fefuits Structure exceeds all the other.

Above forty thoufand Perivians pay annual Tribute to this City. In the Valley about the City feed abundance of Cattel ; alfo Wheat, and all manner of Herbs grow here in great plenty. The Gold and Silver-Mines have not that refort which they had formerly, moft of the Workmen being remov'd to Potofi.

Concerning the Service which they perform'd in the fore-mention'd Temple of the Sun, and their fuperftitious Opinions about their Idol Con, they are much of the fame ridiculous nature with what hath been already Difcours'd of in other pla. ces. Five Leagues Southwardly from Cufco lies the Valley Yucay between high fnowy Mountains, under a temperate Climate and pleafant Soil. Not far from hence the Ingas built a moft invincible Caftle on a Rock, which was furrounded with many cliffy Walls one above another; thefe Walls were alfo Carv'd with Images of Lyons, Tygers; and other wild Beafts, which held Lances in their Paws; the top of the Rock was crown'd with a Royal Structure built of Stone, through which ran Golden Veins, joyn'd together with a certain Gum, by fome call'd ferns-Lime. To the Province of Condefuyo belong the valiant People Cbumbibalcas and Ubinas. In the County Pomatambo they make Carpets of fine Wooll, curioully Painted.
8. The City Francijco de Vittoria, which lies in the rough Valley Vilcabamba, and is inclos'd by the Mountains Andes, belonging to the Jurifdiction of the Province Andéfuyo.
9. The Village fuan del Oro, which is the chief Place of the Countrey Caravaya, and fo call'd by the Spaniards from the fine Gold which is found there in great abun. dance.

Along the Sea-Coaft of Peru belonging to the Jurifdiction of Los Rejos, lie the Haven,finets following Havens, Ifles and Points.

South-Eaft from the Promontory Aguya, rifes the Inte St. Roque out of the South*

Sea, furrounded with Rocks, and abounds with Birds of prey ; through the mid!t of it runs a River which divides the Ifland.

The Haven Malabrigo, ill defended againft the Winds, cannot be entred by great Veffels, unlefs in calm Weather.

Next follow the Harbors Guanape and Santa; where the Ships us'd to furnifh themfelves with Water out of a frefh River; Cafuya and Guarmay, both inhabited by Perivians.

Near the Mouth of the Road Guara ftands a large Salt-pan, the Salt about which is found in great hard Pieces. The Illand Collao fecures the Haven before Lima.

Behind Cape Guarcolies the Lobos; and not far from hence the Harbor Sangallan, being fo commodious that the Spaniards confider'd a long time whether they fhould build the City Los Reyos here.

The Promontory Nafca affords alfo good Thelter for Ships; and the Haven Hacari yields fore of Refrefhments. Moreover, the Streams Oconna, Camana, and Quilca difcharge their Waters into the Sea.

The Haven Arequipa appears at its Mouth like a little Pool, furrounded with Mountains.

Between Quilca and the River Tamboyalla lies the Int Nuli; and a little more Southward the Haven Paracca and Pifca; and up in the Countrey the Village $Y_{c a}$, where the molt and beft Peruvian Wine is to be had.

Los Charcas.

The Mountains hereabouts are inhabited by the Cavinas, who dwell in Stone Houfes. Their Neighbors the Canches are a fubtile, good natur'd, and painful Peo ple, breed many Sheep, fowe Corn, and catch plenty of Fifh out of the Rivers. Next comes in view the cold Countrey Conas. On the right fide towards the Southern Ocean, the great Wildernefs Parinacocha extends it felf a vaft way; the Moun. tains round about are continually cover'd with Snow, and the Dales have many deep Moors.

Chief Towns and Places of note in this part of Pera are; I. Plata, otherwife call'd Cbuquifaca, from the Countrey whofe Metropolis it is, fituate under a temperate Climate, in a fruitful Soil for the production of all manner of Plants, and efpecially Wheat, Barley, and Grapes. In this City the High Court of Judicature of Los Charcas is kept, being a principal part of Peru, and inhabited by the richeft Spaniards in the whole Kingdom, having gotten an incredible deal of Treafure out of the neighboring SilveroMines, which from the time of the Ingas, or Kings of Peru, to its Difcovery by the Spaniards, held out and continu'd fo rich, that 'tis thought Pizarro, if Reafon could have rul'd him, might here onely have rais'd him. felf a Rent of two hundred thoufand Ducats per Annum; but his defire and hopes, firft to find more at Potofi, and afterwards his-ambition and greedinefs to have and command all, carried him to violent Courfes, which prov'd his Ruine, as hath been faid. The Town is conveniently feated in a fruitful Soil, honor'd with the Refidence of the Governor of the Province, and with a Bifhops See, faid to be the richeft of Peru, viz. of fourfcore thoufand Ducats per Annum. The Cathedral and divers Cloyfters give allo a great luftre to the City. The antient Inhabitants of this Countrey, efpecially about thofe parts where now this City ftands, were the Charcas and Cbaranques, boch valiant People, who by Command of the Ingas fetch'd invaluable Treafures out of the neighboring Mines of Porco, where a thoufand Men were continually kept at work. In La Plata were reckon'd long fince, befides Spaniards, above fixty thoufand Peruvians which pay annuial Tribute.

2. Oropefa, a place of good Metal, as 2 man may perceive by the Name; It lieth in the rich and pleafant Valley Cochobamba, twenty Leagues diftant from La Plata.
3. Potofi, eighteen Leagues Weftward from La Plata, by the Spaniards call'd The Imperial City, buile at the Foot of a Mountain bearing the fame Denomination, on a barren Soil under a cold Climate, though but twenty one Degrees to the South ward of the Equinoctial Line : the Cold proceeds from the high Lands, which lie bare to the bleak and fharp Winds call'd Tomobavi, which blow every year vèry fiercely from May till September. But though the barren Countrey produces no Fruit, yet no place in Peru hath greater plenty of all Provifions and Dainties than this, the Markets being always full of Fruit, Salt-Meat, Maiz, Papas, Wheat, Sugar, Sweet-meats, and all things that are requifite for the fubfiftence of Man-kind, which are brought thither from all parts for the Silver, which is there in fuch plenty. As to what concerns the famous Mountain Potofit in the Countrey of Charcas, it is of an Afh colour, and rifes above the adjacent Mountains in the form of a Sugar-Loaf; on the top of it ftands a Chappel, to which leads a craggy Path, which with a little care may be rid up with a Horfe; the heighth thereof is a thou. . fand fix hundred and twenty four Rods, or a quarter of a League : at the Foot thereof appears the Mine call'd Guaina Potofi, that is, The young Potofi; near which the City Potofiftands, being two Leagues in circumference, and is adorn'd with a Church and Cloyfter for the Dominicans, and exceedingly reforted to by Traders.

In the time when the Ingas Govern'd Peru, the Silver-Mines at Porco were very famous ; but it was not till after the arrival of the Spaniards that Silver was found in Guaina Potofi, and by degrees the Silver Veins which lay hid in the great Potofic; the manner of which Difcovery was as followeth :

A Peruvian call'd Gualpa, who work'd in the Mines at Porco, going a Hunting, it the ccafifon chanc'd that the Game ran up the fteep Mountain of Potofi, which prevented his Diff ifovery of purfuing of it any farther; but the Mountain being overgrown with Trees, he the ditics in got hold from one Bough to another to help himfelf up; and at laft taking hold of the Bramble call'd Quinua, he pull'd the fame out of the Ground, and finding it heavy, look'd upon it, and efpy'd a great lump of Silver hanging at the Root of it; whereupon viewing the Hole, he difcover'd a rich Silver Vein; of which taking fome pieces home, and melting them, he found that it was the beft Silver that ever he had known; wherefore he privately got a greater quantity, and by degrees grew extraordinary rich : but though he carried his Defign never fo clofe, yet he was at laft fufpected, and efpecially by his Neighbor Guanca, born in the Valley Xauxa, who was the more jealous of him, becaufe he fold greater Bars of Silver than any were caft at Porco; whersupon he refolv'd to Speak to him, and getting out the Secret, it came to this Agreement between them, That they fhould both be Partners and flare the Booty; Gualpa was to keep the Vein, fince call'd The Ricl) Vein, and Guanca was to have another, at prefent nam'd Diego Centeno: but they agreed not long; for Guanca finding much labor upon his Vein, by reafon of the hardnefs, and that he could got no flate in what Gualpa got, acquainted his Spanifh Mafter Vilaroel with it, who refted not till he had found out the truth thereof; for which Vilaroel obtain'd (according to the Cuftom of Porco) feveral Rods to work for himfelf, onely paying the King one fifth part of what he got, and fo remain'd Owner of the Mine Centeno.
The Mine dilcuver d.

This Difcovery of the rich Mine Potofi is faid to have hapned on the twenty fourth of April, Amno 1545. Soon after which they found the Silver Vein Del Eftanno, which though it was very rich, was difficult to be digg'd, becaule of its hardnefs. The firft Vein which Gualpa fearch'd after ftood upright from the bottom of the Mine, and contain'd above three hundred Foot in length, and thirteen in breadth, and continuing good for two hundred Foot in depth, after which the Silver begins to leffen.

The Peruvians relate, That the Ingas firft began to dig in Potofi, but gave it over becaule the Workmen heard a terrible Voice, faying, Leave off doing what you are about, the Treafures which lie hid here, are referv'd for a People out of foreign Countreys.

Thefe Mines produce yearly for the King's fifth part, forty thoufand Pieces of Silver, each valu'd at thirteen Ryals, each Ryal being four Shillings, befides what he is defrauded of, which is perhaps half as much more.

The Mines of Potofi exceed all other, becaufe the Diggers never meet with any Water, notwithfanding they work above two hundred Fathom under Ground, whereas the other Silver Mines fuffer great damage by the Water; which was alfo the reafon why the Spaniards left off digging of Silver in Porco, becaufe they were not onely forc'd to cut through hard Rocks, but ran greater danger, or at leaft befow'd extraordinary labor to get out the Water which broke in upon them.

The four Silver Veins of Potofi, viz. The Rich, Centeno, Del Eftanno, and Mendieta, Four Silver Veins, with their feveral

Divifions. lie on the Ealt-fide of the Mountain, and extend North and South. The great Veins produce leffer, not unlike the Body of a Tree, from which fhoot forth feveral degrees of Boughs. Each Vein is divided into feveral parts, poffefs'd by feveral Owners; the leaft part is open'd four Rods, and the biggeft eighty; for none are permitted by the Law to open a bigger Hole. In the time of the Jefuit fofeph de Acofta, an Eye-witnefs, who Anno 1587. went from Peru to Spain, the Rich Vein was reckon'd to contain eighty feven Mines, of which fome were digg'd two hundred Fathom deep. The Spaniards judge that at the Root of the Ricb Vein is an incredible Treafure, though Experience hath hitherto taught us, that the Silver leffens in price and quantity the deeper they dig in the Ground.

For the more eafie working in the Mines, the Spaniards have digg'd Trenches (which they call Socabonos) at the Foot of the Mountain towards the Weft, crofs through the Mountain to the Mine, each of them being eight Foot broad and a Fathom deep, and lock'd up with Gates, through which the Silver is carried our, whereof the Owner of the Socabon receives a fifth part. The Socabon which leads to the Rich Vein, was begun Anno 1556. and finifh'd in twenty nine years, extends it felf two hundred and fifty Rods in length. The Miners work by Candle-light both Day and Night by turns; thofe that work in the Day, fleep in the Night, and thofe that work in the Night, fleep in the Day. The Oar, which is as hard as a Stone, is cut out with Pick-axes, beaten in pieces with an Iron Crow, and carried upon their Backs on Ladders made of Leather: Each Ladder háth three Faftnings about the thicknefs of a Cable, ftretch'd out by Sticks, fo that one goes up on one fide, whileft another comes down on the other. Each Ladder being ten Fathom long, is pitch'd upon its feveral Floor on which the Laborers reft before they go up higher, for they make divers Floors according to the depth of the Mine. The Laborers carry the Oar in Bags fafted before on their Breafts, and falling back over their Shoulders three and three together, the foremoft whereof ties a lighted Candle to his Thumb, and thus they help themfelves with both Hands. It is a wonderful thing to confider, how the Pervivians are able to fcramble up and down continually a hundred and fifty Fathom : But befides many other Inconveniences, the Mines often fall in, or at leaft great pieces, which bury all the Diggers. The Mines alfo, being exceffive cold, occafion to thofe that are not us'd to them, a Vertigo in the Head, and Vomiting. The Silver runs for the moft part betweén two Rocks, as it were, in a long Channel, of which one fide is as hard as Flint, and the other much fofter. This Silver is of different value ; the beft, call'd Cacilla or Tacana, refembles Amber in colour; the worferfort is blackifh, and fometimes of an Afli-colour. The pieces of Oar are carry'd on the Backs of the Sheep Pacos to the Mill, where being ground to Powder, they are put into Furnaces to melt; of which there were once above fix thoufand on the top of Potofit but fince the Quickfilver was found to cleanfe the fame, not a third part remains pure.
In former times the Mines at Porico, two Leagues from the little Lake Aulagas; produc'd thofe vaft Treafures gather'd by the Ingas, which afterwards for the moft part fell into the Spaniards Hands.

As concerning the Sea-Coaft of Los Charcas, it lies as followeth: Southerly $\underset{\substack{\text { Prar- }- \text { Tomme } \\ \text { River, and }}}{\text { and }}$ from the River Tambopalla puts forth a threepointed Rock into the Ocean, and $\begin{gathered}\text { Rivern, and } \\ \text { toccharcas }\end{gathered}$ makes the Haven $\operatorname{De~Y~Yo,~into~which~falls~a~frefh~River.~Next~follow~the~round~}$ Hill Morro de los Diabolos, and the Inlet before the Town Arica, fecur'd from all ex̀ cept a Wefterly Wind, where the Silver that comes from Potofi is Shipp'd for Lima. Since the Englijh Admiral Sir Francis Drake took three Barks out of this Inler it is. fortifid with a Caftle, which is ftor'd with Brafs Guns.

Nine Leagues Southward the Piffaquafalls into the Ocean ; and next you come to the little Village Hicabic, fituate on a high and barren Tract of Land; as alfo the Haven Terrapaca, which by an Inland is made very fecure.

Not far from hence appears the Foot of Piqua, where the Coaft begins to rife very high; the Head of Tacama, the Stream Lottoya, otherwife call'd De Loa, whofe Banks are inhabited by poor People; the River Montelo, the Promontory Morro Moreno, befond whofe utmoft Point opens a Bay, fecur'd from all Winds by an Ifland. The Inhabitants here feed on raw Fifh.

Next the River Claru comes in view, which is taken for a Boundary between Peru and Eaftward up into the Countrey you come to Santa (ruiz, built at the Foot of a Mountain in a Plain near a Brook, which rufhing forth from a Rock glidesthrough the City to a Lake full of delicious Fifh. |The Houfes of Stone, are cover'd with Palm. Tree Leaves; and befides the Church there is alfo a Cloyfter, inhabited by, the Monks De la Merced. In former times the Peruvian Houfes were built of Clay, and were often deftroy'd by their Neighbors the Cheriguanacs and Titanes, who made Feafts with as many as they took of them. The People about this Place are meek and poor fpirited, and fpeak befides four Languages, the Diagnitdn Tongue, common amongft all of them. Before the Arrival of the Spaniards they went Cloth'd in Oftritches Feathers, but fince taught to weave Cotton, they now make their Apparel of ahe fame, and upon the account of Barter, drive a great Trade in it:

They Dye their Cotton with the boyl'd Roots and Leaves of a little Tree.
Eaftward beyond Santa Cruiz lies the Countrey Paicanos, eminent for the great Calabafles which grow there, exceeding good to keep both wet and dry Meats in.

The Countrey receives a viciffitude of exceffive Cold and intolerable Heat; the hard Winterstaking beginning in May, and continuing till the beginning of Auguft. In the middle of our Summer a South-wind blows feven Weeks together here, to the great prejudice of all Plants, which are during that time often wafh'd away by continual Rains. About Chriftmas they Sowe, and gather in their Harveft in March. During the rainy Seafon the Ways cannot be travell'd, being all overflow'd by the Rivers; neither doth the Palm-Wood, which is four days Journey in length, permit any accefs to the faid City Santa Cruiz, becaufe the conflux of Waters makes it a Moorall over; befides which, the Tygers Bears, and Serpents, make the Ways dangerous, efpecially at that time.

Through this Countrey the Spanifh Captain Nufco de Chavas travell'd, when he difcover'd the Taguamacis, a numerous People, which dwell along the great River De la Plata.

The Countrey about Santa Cruiz produces all manner of Fruit, but few Trees, becaufe of the want of Rain; but Corn, Maiz, Wine, Granadillas, Luiumas, and Tu. cumay, as alfo the Plant Hachalindi, in the Latine Tongue call'd Mirabile Peruanum, grow here in great abundance; which laft fhoots up to the bignefs of a pretty large Body, full of Juice, and of a yellowifh colour, out of which thoot knotty Boughs, and about each Knot two Leaves refembling the Herb Night/bade; the Flowers which hang at the ends of the Boughs are long, and pleafant to the Eye, by reafon of their mixture of Purple, White, and Yellow, and alfo of a fweet fmell. It is a ftrange Secret in Nature, that this Flower opens at Midnight, if any Light come near the fame : The Root alfo is accounted an effectual Medicine againft the Dropfie.

Collao.

Situation and Defrription of Collao.

CYollao lieth Southward of thofe Countries, which go under the general Name of the Province of $C u / c o$, having on the Weft, Lima ; on the South, Cbarcas; but Eaftward, and to the North-Eaft, it is Shut up by a Ridge of Mountains, running in one Body or continu'd Tract from the Confines of olllao, as far as the City of $C_{U} \int_{c o}$, where they divide. The Countrey is generally plain, commodioully water'd in all Parts with frefh Rivers, and confequently affording rich Pa fturage and good Herds of Cattel.
$\substack{\text { Chife } \\ \text { and Plowns } \\ \text { Ples of }}$ The chief Towns and Places of note are, I. Cbuquinga, a great Town, and held and Phices of noter to be naturally almoft impregnable, as being environ'd round about either with deep unfordable Waters, or with Mountains unpaffable, and having one onely Cawfey leading to it, reported to be for two or three Leagues together no broader than to permit one fingle Perfon to march conveniently upon it.
2. The City Pucara, which was formerly well inhabited, but at prefent nothing remains of it, except the ruin'd Walls of great Houfes, and large Images of Stone.
3. Ayavire, by the Spaniards call'd Las Sepulturas, being a Place efpecially enobled by the ftately Monuments of the Peravian Nobility which were found there.
4. Hatuncolla, the Merropolis or chief Town of this Province, feated upon the Banks of the River Caravaya, whofe Streams are very much fam'd for Gold.

The River Caravaya, which glides from the Andes Eaft ward to the City. Juan del Oro, produces much fine Gold, but not without the lofs of many People, which are kill'd by the unwhollom Air and Damps that arife here.

The Lake Titicaca, which wafhes the Countrey Collao on the North, the Province The Iake it: of Omafuy on the Eaft, Chaquito on the Weft, and Chuquiabo on the South, is one of the greateft Lakes of America, being eighty Leagues in circumference, and in feve. ral places as many Farhom deep; wherefore it is exceeding rough in windy Wea. ther. Into this Lake ten great Rivers diCcharge their Waters, which run away again through a narrow, but very deep Channel, in which the Stream runs fo ftrong, that no Boats are able to abide in it.
5. Chinquita, a Colony of Spaniards upon the Banks of Titicaca, having many fmall Intands in it of a good and fruifful Soil, abounding in Fifh and varicty of Sea=Fowl ; it is fuppos'd to be fourfcore Leagues diftant likewife from the South Sea, having onely one Eftuary or Mouth, which is fomething ftrait, but of fuch a deep Water and violent Stream, that (as Acofta teftifieth of it) it is not poffible to build a Bridge of Stone or Timber over it ; but the Natives in ftead thereof have laid a Bridge of Straw upon it, which ferves as well, viz, fo many great Buindles of Straw, Sedge, or fuch like matter, well and furely made up and faftned together, as will reach from one fide or Bank of the Eftuary to another; at which likewife ha. ving made them fure, they caft fome good quantity of more Straw and Sedge upon them, and have a Bridge very convenient, upon which they both fecurely pafs themfelves, and alfo drive Cattel, and do other neceffary Bufinefs. The Water is neither bitter nor brackifh, yet is not drinkable becaufe of its muddinefs. Several Iflands that lie in the Lake ferv'd formerly for Storeshoufes of the chiefeft Goods, which the People thereabouts living near the Highoway would not truft in their Villages.

Here grows a certain Broom-Plant call'd Totara, good for many ufes, and is alfo $\frac{\text { The Parane }}{\text { Thant }}$ wholfom Food both for Man and Bealt; moreover, they cover their Houfes with the fame, burn it on their Hearths, and make Boats. The Mros, a falvage People, made Floats of Totara, which they ty'd together, and built Villages on the fame, which drove to and again, according as the Wind blew.

The Lake alfo breeds abundance of Fifh, and efpecially two forts, viz. Suches," which are very pleafing to the Palate, but unwholfom; and the Bogas, which though lefs, and full of Bones, are a much better Food. There likewife breed plenty of Fowls about the fame, efpecially wild Geefe and Ducks.

When the Perwvians intend to Entertain any Perfon, they go to catching of Fowls (by them call'd Chaco) after this manner: They make a Circle with the Floats nam'd Balfas, and Rowing clofe to one another, take up the inclos'd Fowl with their Hands.

Moreover, the foremention'd Channel, through which the Lake Titicaca dif. charges its Water, ends in a little Lake call'd Aulagas, likewife full of defolate Ines, but hath no vifible place into which to empty its Water, therefore it muft needs, according to the courfe of Nature, fall under Ground, where it commixes with a Stream whofe original is unknown, though it be feen to fall into the South Sea.

The Town is a Place of exttaordinary Wealth and Trading, and fo confiders able, that the Governor thereof is always nam'd by the King of Spain himfelf, and his Place eftimated at fifty thoufand Ducats per Aninum.
6. Tiaguanaco, at the Eftuary, or Mouth of the Lake, memorable onely for the Ruines of certain great and ftupendious Buildings which antiently have ftood there, fome of the Stones whereof are faid to have been of thirty Foot length apiece, fifteen Foot broad, and fix or feven Foot thick. There were likewife found the Statues of certain Men excellently Carv'd and Wrought, of a Gigantick fature or bignefs, and likewife vefted in foreign and ftrange Habits, not at all us'd, nor ever known to have been us'd by the Perruvians themfelves, or by any other of the Natives of America.
7. Nuefra Sernora de la Paz, or Our Lady of Peace, otherwife calld Pueblo Nuevo: It is but a fmall Town, yee pleafantly feated upon the Banks of a River in a fair and fruifful Plain, full of Springs, Fruit-Trees, Savanas, and Fields of Maiz, having Mountains on either fide : It lieth almof in the middle of the Proviñce Cbuquinabo, fourteen Leagues diftant from Cufco, and as many from Potofi. The Province Chuquinabo it felf (which in the Pervvian Tongue fignifies Inberitance of Gold) hath many rich Gold-Mines, good Salt-pits, and a temperate Climate, except from the beginning of December till March, in which time the continual Rains caufe Feavers and Agues. The Inhabitants being very poor People, us'd to go naked in the Sume. mer Seafon.
8. Copavana, two and twenty Leagues beyond Lopoz: It is onely inhabited by Perrvians; ; amongft whom an Image of the Virgin Mary, long fince erected there, hath been ever in great veneration, efpecially by reafon of a Tradition of a great Miracle there perform'd : for the Spaniards affirm, That fobannes Anachoreta going a Journey of feveral Weeks from home, plac'd a lighted Candle before the Image, which during the time of his abfence did not at all diminifh.

A firange Earthquake 2t Angeanga.

The like in Hereford/bire in England.

An Accident which fell out in this Countrey is very remarkable, viz. The Ground of an old Village call'd Angoanga, then inhabited by eminent Necromancers, began on a fudden to fwell, and the Earth to run like a broken Wave two Leagues, overwhelming the Houfes in Sand, and filling up a neighboring Lake.

Eight years before this terrible Earchquake here, there hapned in the County of Hereford in England almof the fame kind of prodigious Motion : for not far from the Town Ledborough, arofe Marcely Hill to an exceeding heighth, and moving along bury'd all whate're it met with, after which manner it continu'd for the fpace of three days, to the great terror of all that beheld it.
9. Chilane ; 10.Acos; 11. Pomata, and fome others, all of them good Towns, but not fo confiderable as thole other.

Concerning the Roads or High-ways, it may well be faid, That none of the feven | Roads ${ }^{\text {and }}$ | $\operatorname{trg}_{3}$.3. Wonders of the World can compare with any one of them; neither was the Way that Appius Claudius made from Rome to Brundufium, upon the repairing of which the Em. perors fulius and Auguftus Spent great fums of Money, fit to ftand in competition with the Roads made by the Ingas in Peru: for who cannot but admire at the confio deration of fo many Valleys fill'd with Mountains, the hardeft Rocks cut afunder, Moors damm'd up, great Stone Bridges laid over fwift gliding Streams, and through vaft Wilderneffes a Way made of twenty Foot broad, inclos'd in high Walls, extending from Quito to Chilo, a thoufand Leagues, and at the end of every ten Leagues brave Houfes or Magazines, for'd with Bowes, Arrows, Halberds, Axes, Clubs, Clothes, and Provifion for twenty or thirty thoufand Men. Some relate, that Guainacava, when he return'd Victor from the conquer'd Countrey Quito, fuffer'd great Inconveniences on the pathlefs Mountains, and thereupon commanded his Subjects to make the fore=mention'd Way. But it is more probable, that this Mafter-piece was not the work of one Inga, efpecially fince befides the Way from Chili to Quito there leads another through the Mountains over the Plains from Cufco to Quito, forty Foot broad, and five hundred Leagues long, inclos'd within two Walls.

The Peravians relate from the teftimony of the Quipos, much more concerning $\begin{gathered}\text { The maner } \\ \text { of ine } P \text { Puat }\end{gathered}$ thefe High-Ways, and other Buildings on them, made by Guainacava. Thefe $Q$ mipos timers. are Rowls of divers colour'd Strings, full of all manner of Knots, which Cerve in ftead of Characters to keep their Chronicles; in which were employ'd the Quipo. Camayos, who being in the nature of our Secretaries, Regiftred all Tranfactions; performing the fame with the feveral Strings and Buttons, with which they gave Obligations, Difcharges, and the like : but befides the Quipos they alfo us'd Rings full of little Stones for the fame purpofe; and knew with Maiz. Seed how to caft up an Account as well as the beft Arithmetician with Figures,

Their Account of Time hung on the twelve Pillars Succanga, erected on a Mountain beyond $\mathcal{C}_{u} \mathrm{co}_{\mathrm{co}}$ by the Inga Pachacuma, that is, The Regulator of the Year, to hew the Courfe of the Sun, and according to that their appointed Feaft-days, times of Sowing and Harveft: Their Year begins in December.

The Spanifh Government in the Kingdom of Peru is fetled at prefent in great The prefnt tranquility and fplendor. The Vice.Roy, who keeps a fplendid Court in Lima, sinerer fore otherwife call'd Los Reyos, Commands over Cbili and Terra Firma, and never comes vernment. abroad without a Guard of forty Halberdeers: when he travels by Land he is accompanied by the Arch-bifhop, and guarded by his forty Halberdeers, a hundred Pike-men, and fifty Mufquetteers. His Reign is generally not above fix or eighe years, during which time he receives forty thoufand Ducats per Annum out of the King's Exchequer.

The City Los Reyos hath been of late years very much enlarg'd and brought to a fher prefne mof flourifhing Condition, being exceeding populous, and extending four cond chition of Miles in length, and half as much in breadth: In the biggeft Market-place is the $\begin{gathered}\text { Regor. }\end{gathered}$ City Hall and the Exchange, where all things are brought to be fold. Of the other three Markets, two have their Denominations from St. Amne and St. Facob; the fourth is call'd El Santo de los Cavallos, becaufe nothing but Mules, Affes, and Horfes are fold there. The chief Church is Confecrated to St. Foln the Evangelift ; the other Three to Marcellus, Sebaftian, and Ama. The Francifcans inhabit three Cloyfters; the Dominicans, Auguftines, and Monks De la Merced, each of them two, befides two coftly Structures for the Jefuits. Other Orders have alfo five Cloyfters here, viz the Creation, Conception, the Holy Trinity, St. Folepl, and St. Clara; the three firft have each of them a Church built hard by the Ceveral Cloyfters, Dedicated to the Santas Virgines del Montferratto, Del Prado, and De Loretto. Each Cloyfter contains abové two hundred and fifty either Monks or Nuns. Here are alfo four large Hofpitals, the chiefeft whereof call'd Andrias, hath feldom lefs than four hundred Sick, which are kept and cur'd on Charity. The fecond is for Pervivians onely, call'd The Hoppital of St. Anna. The third, built in honor of the Apofle St. Peter, is for poor old Clergy-men. The fourth, nam'd The Houfe of Love, is for fick Women. Befides thefe there ftands another Structure near the Walls of the City, Confecrated to Lazarus, where thofe that have the Leprofie are cur'd. The Houfe call'd The HolyGboft, receives all fick and wounded Sea-men. The King maintains twenty four Students at his own Charge in the Royal Colledge, and the Arch-bifhop as many in the Colledge call'd St. Toronius; but in the Colledge of St. Martin refide above fix hundred, which are brought up in all manner of Arts and Sciences. Two hundred Students are alfo taught in the high School, where they chufe a neis Gover. nor every year. Here alfo is kept the. King's Treafure, and the Court of Inquifition. The River which wafhes the City Walls runs fo exceeding fwift, that not long fince it carried away a new Stone Bridge with nine great Arches.

The Dominican Monks were the firft that Landed on Peru, the firft which came thither with Francifco Pizarro being Vincent de Valle Verde, who was follow'd by Sancio Martino, Martino de Efquivele, Dominico de Sancto Thoma, Pedro Ulloa, Alphonfo de Montenegro, Reynaldo Pedraza, and many others, who were ftirr'd up by the report of the Peruvian Riches; amongtt whom were four Francifcans, viz. Pedro Portuguefe, Fodoco de los Angelos, De la Cruiz, and De Sant Anna, who were foon after follow'd by twelve Monks of the Auguffine Order. Anno 1552. Landed alfo at Las Reyos, Colonel Andreas Salazar, accompanied with Antonio Lozano, Juan de Sancto Petro, Hieo ronymo Melendez, Didaco Palamino, Pedro de Ejpeda, Andreas Ortega, Juan Canto, Juan

ported to have been done by Ra done by Chamorro, Francifco de Treyas, Juan Ramirez, and Balthazar Melgarego. Salazar foon after his Arrival fent the Prieft fuan Ramirez, and Baltbazar Melganego to Guamachuco, where he Baptiz'd and Inftructed the Inhabitants in great numbers. Afterwards travelling to Moyabamba, he got a great efteem amongft thofe Idolaters, and (as it goes for currant amongft them) wrought many Miracles, amongft which this is reported for one : He being inform'd by an old Perwivian, that his Daughter nam'd Curi had hid feveral Idols; enquiring after it, he tax'd her with what her Father had told him; which The denying, and being rebuk'd by Ramirez, is faid to have become immediately dumb, to have foam'd at the Mouth, at laft falling down dead like a fecond Saphira in the prefence of many, which caus'd many to forfake their Idolatry. But the Necromancers endeavor'd by all means poffible to raife a difefteem on Ramirez, and with the affiftance of their Mafter the Devil, fo wrought their Inchantments, that the Tygers came in great Herds out of the Wilderneffes to Moyabamba, and devour'd nor onely Men, Women and Children in the High ways, but alfo tore them out of their Houfes, yet did not the leaft hurt to any Spao niard; whereupon Ramirez valiantly went with a Company of his Profelytes to a Herd of Tygers, which when he approactied held the Crofs to them, which it feems fo affrighted the Devil-Tygers, that they climb'd up the Trees. They farther relate (if you will believe them) to make the Miracle the greater, That Ramirez call'd to the Multitude, faying, Go and revenge the Deaths of your devour'd $\Phi_{\text {a- }}$ rents, Cbildren and Relations; whereupon he throwing a Stone, and all the reft following his Example, the Tygers leap'd out of the Trees, ftood fill, and fuffer'd themfelves to be kill'd like Lambs. Six years after the fore-mention'd twelve $A u$, gufine Monks follow'd eleven others, who fet Sail out of the Spanifh Haven St. Lucar, and arriving at Peru went to the Village Tauca, where they broke the Image of the Goddefs Huarella, being as it were the Peravian Venus, or Patronefs of amorous Delights, reported to have given Refponfes from the Wood in which the was wora. fhipp'd. They alfo deftroy'd the Idol Chanca in the Countrey Conchucos, which being worfhipp'd by the Indians in the fhape of a Man, had yearly a fair Maid, aged fourteen years, given to him in Marriage, a folemn Wedding being kept, and feve. ral Sheep kill'd.

The Miracle of an Ausume

 Aine MonkeThe Augufine Monks are believ'd to have wrought alfo another Miracle in the Province Conchucos, upon this occafion: A Conjurer call'd Chaumango, boafted him. felf to be God, deny'd our Saviour, in teftimony whereof he gave out that he would kick a Mountain to pieces, with his Foot; which Report fpreading all over the Countrey, all the adjacent People flock'd to fee this Atrange Wonder on an appointed Day, on which Charimango being, it feems, as good as his word, and kicking the Mountain, caus'd it to rent from the top to the bottom, and the pieces to flie all abouk the People, who were exceedingly amaz'd; but the Sorcerer upon the Augno fine Monk's rebukinghim was (as they affirm) immediately eaten up with Worms.

Many other Stories of Miracles go currant amongtt them, as of Marco Garcia and Didaco Ortez driving the Devil from a white Stone which hung over a Fountain in Chiquipalpa, and feveral others, but it would be very impertinent to dwell too long upon Difcourfes of this nature, efpecially fince we are notoblig'd to make them a part of our Creed.

To conclude our Defcription of this famous Kingdom of Peru, the People thereof at the Spaniards firft Arrival viewing their Shipping, their Guns, and other Accoutrements, unknown to them before, had them in great admiration, as Men des fcended from Heaven; but when they began to be opprefs'd by their Tyranny, and to be tortur'd by them, they look'd upon them as the Spawn of Hell, and curs'd the Sea that had brought fo wicked a People to them.

Chile.

FOllowing the Coaft of Mare del Zur, or the South Sea, the next great Province Siumaton and pertaining formerly to the Kingdom of Peru, is that of Chile. This is the of chite. moft Southerly Province of the whole Countrey of America, reaching up as far as the Magellane Straights, with which to the Southward it is bounded; North. ward it hath a Defart, and an undifcover'd Countrey lying betwixt it and the Confines of Peru, call'd Atacama; on the Weft, it hath Mare del Zur ; and on the Eaft, up to Rio de la Plata, the Atlantick, or North Sea, with fome Countreys undifcover'd, which interpofe betwixt it and Paraguay to the North=Eaft: It lieth all of it be. yond the Tropick of Capricorn, in a temperate Zone, and extendeth it felf in length from the Borders of Peru, to the Mouth of the Straights five hundred Leagues or more; but the breadth of it neither equal nor certain: They fay 'tis call'd Chile from the word Chil, which fignifies Cold it feems in their Language as well as ours, it being generally a cold and bleak Countrey, the Air in many parts of it fo extreamly fharp and piercing, that both Horfe and Rider fometimes in travelling are frozen to death, as the Spaniards found by experience in their firf Search and Difco. very of the Countrey, under the Conduct of Diego Almagro, who is faid to have left the greateft part of his Men dead behind him: But this is chiefly towards the Andes, and on the Sez-Coaft, the more Inland parts of it, though mountainous alfo in fome parts, yet are more temperate, and being alfo well water'd with Rivers, are much more fruitfull than the other, affording both Wheat and Maiz, and likewife other Grain, excellent Pafturage in many places, and great fore of Cattel, Wine, Honey, and not without many and rich Mines both of Gold and Silver.

The Natives of this Countrey were found to be the moft ftout and warlike of all the Americans that the Spaniards had hitherto met withal, fighting with them, and oftentimes defeating them in the open Field, furprizing and facking their Towns, and laft of all taking their Captain and Commander in Chief Prifoner: This was Pedro Baldivit, one of thofe good Men that confented to the death of Atta. baliba, the laft King of Peru, after a greater Ranfom accepted and paid, then per. haps the King of Spain could well raife on a fudden, if he had occafion to ufe it for himfelf. The Arucans (for fo are the People call'd that had him Prifoner) are faid patro aulicito have Entertain'd him for a while with great Jollity and Feafting, but for his laft prifone and Draught gave him a Cup of melted Gold, which the poor Man was forc'd to take $\begin{gathered}\text { put the derutu } \\ \text { brut }\end{gathered}$ down, and fo died a cruel, though cofly Death. fecondly Magellanica, or that part which lieth more Southward down to the Straights of Magellan.

Chile, properly fo calld.

The Bounds of Chile fipecially fo cially $f_{0}$
calld

CHile, fecially fo call'd, is border'd Northward with the Defart and barren Countrey of Acatama above mentiond ; on the South, with Magellanica; on the Weft, with Mare del Zur, Eaftward, and to the North Eaft, with fome parts of Paragriay, or rather with fome undifcover'd Countreys lying betwixt them both : The length of it from North to South is reckon'd to be little lefs than three hundred Leagues, and generally of a fruitful Soil, affording befides abundance of Gold and Silver, both Corn, Cattel, Vineyards, and divers forts of Fruits, equal both for kind and plenty to Spain it felf, and fundry other parts of Europe. The-Air likewife temperate, and the People in their Manners and Conditions come much nearer to the Civility, and likewife fubtilty of the Europeans, than other Americans did ; which doubtlefs may be attributed to the conformity of the Climates under which they lie, agreeable to thofe of Europe; though otherwife in refpect of the Sphere and Seafons of the Year, there be a diametrical difference betwixt us; As for Example, their Spring beginning in September, which is our Autumn, and their Autumn in Marcl,, which is our Spring; their longeft Day being that of St. Lucy, on the eleventh of December, which is our fhorteft; and their fhorteft being St. Darnabas, viz. the eleventh of June, which is our longeft, toc.
Towns and
The Towns of chiefeft note and importance in this Province, are 1. Gopiapo, an old Town in the moft Northerly parts of this Province towards the Sea, where it hath a very commodious Haven belonging to it.
2. La Serena, a Town fituate on the Banks of Coquimbo, a pleafant River a little above its Influx into the Sea, built by Baldivia in the Year 1544. the Countrey about very rich in Mines of Gold, and the Town it felf fo well Garrifon'd for fear of the Natives, that when the Englifh under Sir Erancis Drake, about fourfore years fince, attempted the gaining of the Place, they found hot Service of it, being ftoutly refifted and beaten back again to their Ships, by a Sally of no lefs than three hundred good Horfe and two hundred Foot.
3. St. Jago, the principal Town of the Province, a Bifhop's See, and the ordinary Refidence of the Governor, lying on the Banks of the River Tapocalma, in the thirty fourth Degree of Southern Latitude, fifteen Leagues diftant from the South Sea, at which it hath a very commodious and much frequented Haven, which they, call Valparay $\int 0$, and where the Englifh met with better fortune, as hath been faid al. ready in the report of Sir Francis Drake's Voyage.
4. La Conception, a ftrong Town, feared on the Bay call'd Penco, fixty or feventy Leagues diftant from St. Fago towards the South, a Place not a little fortifid both by Nature and Arr, having the Bay and a certain Ridge of high Mountains begirting it almoft round about; and where it is otherwife acceffible, a Caftle, and cero tain Bulwarks with Ordnance, befides a Garrifon of five hundred Soldiers at leaft continually in it, and all little enough to defend it againft the Araucanes, their deadly Enemies, wholive thereabouts, and are ever and anon making Incurfions almoft up to the Walls of it. Over againft this Place in Mare del Zur, but very near the Shore, there lieth a certain Ifland call'd St. Maries, exceeding plentiful in Swine

5. Los Confines, a Fronteer Town, built by the aforefaid Baldivia, for defence of the rich Mines of Gold at Angol, a Place near adjoyning.
6. La Imperiale, another ftrong Garrifon of this Place on the Banks of the River Cauten, near to which that great Battel was fought, where Baldivia, with divers other Soldiers, were taken Prifoners, who were no otherwife overcome, but by being over-wearied with killing of their Enemies, and by that means not able to make their Retreat.
7. Villarica, another Colony of the Spaniards in thefe Parts, fixteen Leagues diftant from Imperiale, and twenty five from the Sea.
8. Baldivia, fo nam'd from the Commander Pedro Baldivia, who built it in the Valley of Giradallanquen, two or three Leagues diftant from the Sea, where it hath a good and capacious Port ; but nearer to it the beft Mines of Peru, fo rich, that'tis faid they yielded Baldivia every day fo long as he could enjoy them, twenty five thoufand Crowns.
9. Oforno, a Town lying in the Bay of Cbilue in a barren Soil, but otherwife neither lefs rich, nor lefs populous than Baldivia it felf.

Thefe three laft mention'd Towns, viz. Baldivia, Imperiale, and Oforno, were in the Years 1596, 1699, and 1604, furpriz'd by the Araucanes, and other Salvages confederate with them, fack'd and burnt ; and though the Spaniards be faid to have recover'd and Garrifon'd fome of them with frefh Soldiers, yet how long they were able to hold them, or whether they be Mafters of them at this day, we cannot fay.
10. Caftro, the moft Southerly Town of the whole Province, built on a certain Inland within the Bay of Cbilue.
11. Mendoza; and 12. St. Fuan de la Frontera, both which lie towards Paraguay and Riode la Plata, but on the other fide of the Andes, forry T.eagues diftant from any of thofe we have fooken of, and perhaps more, not above a hundred from Buenos Ayres, and the ßitlantick Ocean.

Sect. III.

Magellanica.

MAgellanica, the other part of this Province, is bounded Northward, with Simaxion and Cbile abovefaid, and fome parts of the Countrey De la Plata; on the South, of of aip shisllay with the narrow Sea call'd Magellans Straights; having Mare del $Z_{u r}$ on the Weft, and on the Eaft the Atlantick Ocean. It contains in length from the Borders of Chile to the Mouth of the Straights, a hundred Leagues, and in breadth from the North to the South Sea, fomewhat more, viz. towards Cbile and the North-Weft parts of it, for towards the South and South-Weft it ftraitens ftill more and more, infomuch that they who refemble the Southern part of America to the form of a $\mathrm{Py}=$ ramid revers'd, make this part of the Countrey to be the Spire or top thereof.. It beareth the Name from Ferdinand Magellan, a Portuguefe, who firft difcover'd that narrow Sea, fo famoufly known by the Name of Magellans Straights. It is a large Countrey, and fuppos'd not to be altogether barren of Metals; but as yet no great Difcovery hath been made of it, partly by reafon of the exceifive Cold to which 'tis thought to be fubject, and partly perhaps by reafon of the difficulty of the Enterprize, it being fo far remote, and very hardly paffable in many places, by reafon of the huge Mountains the Andes, which bar it as it were againft all Adventurers; but chiefly by reafon of the ftoutnefs and untameablenefs of the Araucanes

Sar. Port Tammins and Straighes and ocher Natives of Cbile, through whofe Countrey the March lieth, and who muft firt be conquer'd, fo that very little can be faid more of this Countrey, than onely to name the Ports and Places upon the Sea-Coafts, at which the Spaniards, and likewife fome other Nations at feveral times have touched, the chief whereof upon the South Sea are, 1. Cabo de las I/las, a Promontory or Foreland, twenty fix. Leagues diftant from that of St. Felix on the Confines of Cbile.
2. Puerto de San Stephano, fifty Leagues from that, towards the South.
3. La Villa de Nueftra Sennora, or Our Ladies Dale, a large and fecure Bay, eighteen Leagues Southward of St. Stephens.
4. La Punta Deglada; 5. Puerto de los Reyos ; and 6. Ancona' Sin Salida, all of them opening towards the Straights. There is, alfo at the opening of the Straights, $\mathcal{C}_{a} b_{o}$ de la Vittoria, Cubo Deffeado, and fome others:

Upon the North Sea, and up towards Rio de la Plata, the chief Places oblervable, are 1. Rio de la Crux, and the Cape which they call De las Rameras, about thirty, Leagues diftant from the Straights Mouth.
2. The Bay of St. Fulian, forty Leagues Northward of the former.
3. Et Puerto Deffeado; 4. Puerto de los Leones; 5. The Bay of Anegada, all of them good and capacious Havens for the fecurity of Shipping upon thefe Coafts, and lying at a diftance of thirty or forty Leagues one from another, up towards Rio de la Plata, and the Countrey of Paraguay, of which we are next to §peak.

As for the Straights themfelves, fo much fpoken of, and likewife fo neceffary to be known by thofe who frequent thefe parts of the World, they are a narrow Sea or Frith, by which the Atlantick Ocean, or rather fome parts of it, doth fall into Mare del $Z_{u r}$, or the South Sea : the Paffage is long, running, as'tis commonly fuppos'd, well nigh a hundred Leagues together, almoft in a paralel Line, or in the fame Degree of Latitude from one end to the nther; and likewife extreamly difficult by reafon of the many windings and turnings of the Sea, which force them to be ever and anon altering of their Courfe, and a mountainous high Countrey on both fides of it , from whence it is almoft continually beaten with Storms, both dangerous and terrible: They werefirft difcover'd by Ferdinand Magellan, by Nation a Porthg$^{u r e} f_{e}$, but in the Service of the King of Spain, and by him nan'd Magellan's Straights; who although himfelf liv'd not to return into Spain, being flain in the Conqueft of the Molucca Illands, yet his Companions did, in the Ship call'd Vittoria, from whence the Cape De la Vittoria abovefaid took its Name. The Mouth or Entrance of them, by the Atlantick Ocean, lies in fifty two Degrees of Southern Latitude, and hath not above fifty three and fome Minutes at the Exit, or opening into the South Sea.
 ther Straight difcover'd by the Dutch, and call'd from the Difcoverer Fretum Mairi, or The Straights of le Maire, four or five Degrees more to the Southward than thofe of Marellan, and fuppos'd to be a much eafier and fafer Paffage.
The Intention by the difcovery of thefe Straights, was to have found a fhorter Way to the Eafte Indies, and the Kingdoms of Cathay and China, than that which was then onely us'd, viz, by the Cape de Buena Speranza, and the Coaft of Africk, but by reafon of the great difficulty, as 'tis to be fuppos'd, and uncertainty of the Paffage, neither the one nor the ocher is much frequented, the Spaniards for the moft part ferving themfelves of their American Ports upon the South Sea, from whence they make their Voyages and Recurns to and from the other Indies, and from thence home to Spain; and the Englijh, with other Nations of Europe, Trading fill by the Coaft of Africk and Cape of Good Hope, or elfe by the way of Alexandria and the Perfian Gulf, as heretofore.

Paraguay, or Rio de la Plata.

VVE have feen in Magellanica the farthef, that is, the moft Southerly part of the New World, and before it in order all the Weftern Coafts of America that lie either upon or towards Mare del Zur, viz, from Panama, the firf Province of this Southern part dowh as far as the Straights. We are now to return and take a view of the Eaftern Coafts, and thofe Countreys which lie upon the Atlantick Ocean, fteering our Courfe henceforth Northward, not directly, but as the Coaft leads us for a while Eaftward and by North, forafmuch as the Land of America, from the Straights of Magellan up as far as Brafile, and almoft to the Equator, runnech out with a long Point, little lefs than three thoufand Leagues together.

The firf Province we-meet with on this fide next to Magellanica, is the Countrey Sirution and of Paraguay, oftentimes call'd Rio de la Plata, from the Name of an huge River, of of prapiongry, which runneth for the mof part through the midft of it: It is border'd, as we prlata, faid, to the South and towards the Straights with Magellanica; on the Eaft, with the Atlantick Ocean ; more Northward, or to the North-Eaft, it hath Brafile; and on the Weft thofe undifcover'd Countreys of the Province of Chile, of which we have Spoken:

The Countrey on both fides the River is reported to be a very lufty and fruitful Soil, bearing befides thofe which are proper and native, all Corts of European Fruits and Grain in great abundance, with Sugar=Canes, both large and good, as any other Province of the New World. Nor is it excell'd by any other for good Pafturage and great Herds of Cattel, Sheep, and Swine ; in particular, Horfes are faid to have multiply'd fohere, that of thirty Mares, and about fix or feven Stallions, which the Spaniards left there, in forty years the whole Countrey thereabouts was fill'd with the Breed of them, running wild in great Companies together, through all the Woods and Forrefts of the Countrey, and being of excellent Mctthe and Service if they could be tam'd. It affordeth likewife great fore of wild Deer and Stags, fome Lyons, Tygers, tc. nor is it without good Mines, fome both of Gold and Silver ; but chiefly, as to what is yet difcover'd, of Brafs, and Iron; and the People altogether falvage.

The River De la Plata, which (as we faid before) divides this Countrey, is one TheRiver De of the largeft of the whole World, rifing, as 'tis fuppos'd, out of the Lake call'd De los Xarayes, three hundred Leagues or more within Land, and falling into the Atlantick Ocean, or North Sea, in thiry four Degrees of Southern Latitude, with an Eftuary or Mouth of thirty, or two and thirty Leagues over.

The whole Countrey is ufually fubdivided into three inferior Provinces, which are 1. Rio de la Plata properly fo call'd. 2. Tucuman. 3. La Crux de Sierra.

Sect. II.

Rio de la Plata, properly fo call'd.

Situation of kio de la Plata, properly focalld

RIo de la Plata, properly fo call'd, is that part of the Countrey which extend. eth it feif on both fides the River, in length many Leagues together, but not anfwerable in breadth.
Towns and Places of Places of note.

The chiefeft Towns of note in this Province, are r. Buenos Ayres, by fome call'd La Trinidad, on the Southern Banks of the River De la Plata, fixty four Leagues, as they fay, from the Mouth of it : It is feated commodioufly at the foot of a little Mountain, and fortifid with a Mud-Wall, a little Caftle, and fome Pieces of Ordnance.
2. San $F e$, in Englifh St. Faiths, fifty Leagues above Buenos Ayres, upon the fame River, and a richer Place, chiefly by reafon of their Cloth, of which there is here one of the greateft Manufactures of all thefe parts of Peru.
3. Nueftra Sernora de la Afumption, commonly call'd Affumption onely, lying yet higher up the River almoft a hundred Leagues, a. well built and well frequented Town, long fince inhabited by two hundred Families at leaft of natural Spaniards,' befides Meftizos, as they call them, which are the Breed of Spaniards by the American People, Men or Women, and Muldttos, which are likewife their Race, but begotten upon Negro's, of both which there are reckon'd to be here fome thoufands.
4. La Cividad Real, or more commonly call'd Ontiveros, fourfcore Leagues Northe ward from AJfumption, feated on the Banks of the River Parana in a fruitful Soil, as the Countrey generally is about all thefe Places; but the Air hereabouts is not fo healthful.
5. St. Anne, upon the fame River; and 6. St. Salvador.

Sect. III.

Tucuman.

Situation of Tuскman.

VVEftward of La Plata lieth the Countrey of Tucuman, extending it felf as far as the Borders of Chile, a Countrey not yet well difcover'd either to the North or the South. That part of it which lieth towards Cbile is well Manur'd and Husbanded, and likewife very fruitful; but that towards Magellanica, neither the one, nor the other, remaining altogether untill'd and barren.

The chief Towns and Places of note, are 1. St. Fago de Effeco, the principal Town of the Province, and a Bifhop's See, Feated upon the River Effeco, a hundred and fourfcore Leagues diftant from Buenos Ayres.
2. St. Michael de Tucuman, feated at the foot of a huge rocky Mountain, but otherwife in a Soil the fruiffulleft and beft, both for Corn and Pafturage, in all this Countrey, twenty eight Leagues diftant from St. Fago.
3. Talavera, or Nueftra Sennora de Talavera, as the Spaniards call it, fituate upon the Banks of Salado, in a good Soil, and inhabited by an induftrious People, grown exceeding rich and wealthy, chiefly by their Manufactures of Cotton=Wooll, whereof they have great plenty, and by which they drive a Trade as far as the Mines at Potofi, and ocher parts of Peru.
4. Corduba, another rich Town of this Province, and of great 'Trade, as lying at an equal diftance, viz. of fify Leagues, both from $S_{a n} \mathrm{Fe}$, as they call it, or St. Faiths in the Province of La Plata abovefaid, and from St. Juan de la Frontera in the Country of Chile, and almoft in the Road-way from Potofi and thofe parts of Peru, to Buenos Ayres and the North Sea.

5. Chocinoca; 6. Sococha ; 7. Calebinda; 8. Morata, and others, but belonging for the moft part to the reduced Natives.

SEct. IV.

La Crux de Sierra:

L$A$ Crux de Sierra is a little Territory (at leaft in comparifon to fome others) situation of lying towards Peru, and reckon'd by fome for one of the Provinces of Peru: Siarra. It lieth betwixt the two great Rivers Paraguay and Guapay, a hundred Leagues diftant, as 'tis faid, from Charcas, to which yet in fome Caufes it is fubordinate.

The Soil of this Countrey is abundantly fertile in all forts of American Fruits, befides good plenty both of Wheat and Maiz, and fcarfity of nothing ufeful for Man's Life, unlefs it be frefh Water in fome places.

The chief Towns of this Province, are 1. San Crux, fituate at the foot of a great chio fil onns Mountain or Hill, but opeing upon a large Plain, whofe thirfty drinefs is well res vine. frefh'd by a certain Brook or Torrent, which iffueth out of a neighboring Mountain, and a few Leagues diftant from the Town maketh a pretty Lake, which fup: plieth the Countrey thereabouts, both with frefh Water and Fifin good plenty. 2. Barranea, a Town fuppos'd to be not above threefcore Leagues diftant from Potofi.
3. Nova Rioia, once a Colony of Spaniards, but fack'd and fpoil'd by the Salvages of thefe Parts about the Year 1548. and the firf Difcoveror of the Countrey, namely Nunno de 夭lbaves, treacheroufly murder'd by a Native, fince which time 'tis faid to have been deferted.

BRafile by Capralis call'd San Cruz, becaule it was difcover'd on the Day dedi= Sixianion ind cated to the holy Crofs, but generally Brafle, from the red. Wood, which it of cripitith produces in great abundance, extends, according to the Account of the Portuguefe, between the Rivers'Maranon and Dela Plata: But according to the Dio vifion which Pope Alexander the Sixth made upon the Approbation of the Kings of Caftile and Portucuefe, Brafile extends not fo far; for it begins in the North along the Stream Para, and ends at the River Capybora, two Leagues beyond the Town St. Vincent: Eaftward it is wafh'd by the Northern Ocêan, and on the Wêt feparated from Peru by defolate Mountains: It lies between 4 and 22 Degrees of Southern Latitude. Hiftoriographers differ much concerning the firft Difcoverer; but without contradiction the firft honor belongs juftly to Americus Vefputius, who being fent out by Ferdiaand, King of Cafile, in the Year 1497. arriv"d firf with four Sail at Brafle; whither he was follow'd two years after by Vincent Aynez Pinzon, Affocio ate to Chrifoopher Columbis; but with ill fuccefs, for two of the Ships were caft away in a Storm, and the other two return'd fadly weather-beaten into the Spanifh Haven Palos, yet not before he had made a farther Difcovery of Brafile than Americus Vefpu-

Patio Alvaz:
 his Expedition to
orffile. tius; which fo ftirr'd up Emanuel, King of Portugal, that he fent Pedro Alvarez Capralis thither with five hundred Men in thirteen Ships, that fo he might get fure footing on Brafile; where Landing he erected a Stone Crofs, and inform'd the King of his whole Proceedings by Gafper Lemnius, with whom he fent over two Brafiliass, a Man and a Woman, the ftrangenefs of whofe Garb caus'd great admiration in Poirtugal amongft the Spectators: the Man, having a flat Nofe, went fark naked, and in his nether Lip hung a Stone call'd Matara; through each Cheek there was fuck a piece of Brafile Wood, on his Shoulders he carry'd three long Darts, and on his Head he wore divers colour'd Feathers; the Hair about his Privities was all pluckt out, and his Membrum Virile ty'd about with a String call'd Tacoaynha, which he unty'd when he Urin'd ; his Body was ftrong and well proportion'd, and painted with feveral Colours. The Woman wore a Lappet girt about her Middle, in which Girdle ftuck a Cane Tobaccoapipe ; the Lappet reach'd juft to the top of her Knees, the reft of her Body was alfo naked;; on her Head fhe wore a broad Het made of Feathers, on the top of which ftuck two Plumes; in her Ears hung Bells; and about her Neck three Strings of Pearl; and her Body was allo painted with red and yellow Colours. Lemnius allo gave fo much Information concerning the fruitfulnefs of Brafle, that. Ceveral Portuguefe Families went thither, accompanied with fome Italian Fryers, which fcattering up and down, began to build feveral Villages, but were foon after moft of them kill'd and eaten up by the Indians.

Anno 1549. King John the Third fitted out a great Fleet, which fet Sail from Lisbon under the Command of Thomas de Sofa: rico, and Emanuel Robrega, were fent thither by Pope Paulus the Third, and Ignatius Lojola, whofe Fleet came to an Anchor in the Bay afterwards call'd Babia de Todos Sanctos, where Sofa, built the City Salvador; fince which the Portuguefe have fpread themfelves farther and farther over Brafile.

The United Netherlands alfo fent Colonies thither with good fuccefs, for they took. feveral vaft Countreys from the Portuguefe, by force of Arms, and buile new Forts and Towns in feveral places. But we will firft give you a general Defeription of it, that fo we may the better render a Relation in particular of every. Province of the clifer thereof, it being a confiderable pare of the Nerw World, and both pleafant and fruite mate. ful, and the Sea-Coafts refrefh'd by Eafterly Winds, which begin before Daybreak, when the North Sea ebbs or flows, for then the Wind rifes with the Sun, and continues till Mid-night: Towards the Weft, where the Mountains divide Brafile from Peru, it is made temperate by Wefterly Winds, which though judg'd unwholfom, becaufe they feem to arife out of the Moorifh Grounds, yee they hurt not the Inhabitants along that Coaft, becaufe they either break againft the high Mountains, or are driven by the ftrong Wind which blows from the Sea..

The difference between Summer and Winter, fhorter and longer Days, in the main part of Brafile, is fcarce difcernable, warm Weather lafting all the year round ; and for the length of the Day and Night, the Sun being hid under the Horizon twelve hours, fhines for the moft part juft as long, the greatelt difference never being above an hour. Three hours before Day-break the Dew makes it exceeding cold till Sun-rifing; wherefore the ©rafilians make Fires in the Night near their Hammocks, not onely to keep wild Beafts from them, but alfo againft the Cold. After the coldeft Nights follow the faireft Days, and the contrary after fultry Nights; neverthelefs (except in the rainy Seafon, which begins with March and ends about Auguft) the Skye is generally clear, yet it Lightens much towards the Evening. Rainbowes often appear in the Skye, and bout the Mooon Halos. The Rain generally falls in great Drops, and with a mighty noife; before which it is generally very fultry hot, or elfe foon after. The Dew, which is fruitfuller than in Europe, is faltifh, which makes it oft to rot things that lie in the open Air. During the rainy Moneths, a South-Eaft Winds blows from a cloudy Skye, much ftronger than the Northern in Summer. The South-Eaft Wind drives the Stream to the North, as the North Wind drives it to the South : And more than this, there is little to be difcern'd of the Seas ebbing and flowing hereabouts : At the higheft Tides the Brafilians ga feveral Leagues from the Shore to Fifh, upon Planks made of the fpungy Wood call'd fangada faftned together. The Sea, which feems to burn in the Night, is fo clear in the Day, that the Fifh may be feen to fwim above twenty Fathom deep. A calm Ocean when the Days and Nights are of an exact length, and efpecially when dark Clouds appear, is a certain fign of a dreadful Storm. At Full or New=Moon the Sea rifes twelve Foot, and continues either a longer or fforter time, according as it is more or lefs turbulent, and the Rivers fall ftronger or more gently into the fame.

Beforemoft part of the Coaft of Brafile lies a Stone Cliff of above twenty or thirty Paces broad, which is never cover'd with Water, though in the time of Spring-floods. In this Cliff Nature in feveral places hath made a Gap, through which the Ships fail near the Shore, and ride fafe at an Anchor.

The whole Countrey of Brafile is divided into thirteen Prafectures, or Lordfhips; and hath about as many Rivers, which more or lefs empty themfelves into every one of thefe Countreys. The Eaftern part hath feveral Brooks and Fountains, which afford good Water both for Man and Beaft. In fome parts the Water is fo ftrong, that the wild Beafts making themfelves Drunk therewith, are eafily taken. During the Winter Seafon the Rivers glide with great force, and fwell on a fudden, overflowing all the neighboring Countrey, onely the River San Francifio runs ftrongeft and.rifes higheft in the Summer Seafon, whenas in the Winter it flows low, and poures bue little Water into the Ocean. The original of this Ri ver is as yet unknown, yet is by moft believ'd to come out of a great Lake lying near the Perwvian Mountains: The Hollanders, who fail'd forty Leagues up the fame, found it every where broad and deep, and featter'd full of Illes and Rocks. The Portuguefe failing ten Leagues farther, difoover'd the great Rocks Cocoeras, from which the faid River falls down with great violence, and extends it felf North's Weft. In the other Brafilian Streams, though wide at the Mouthes, which generally are not above two or three hours walking from their Fountains or Springs; no Barque is able to Row up, they being exceeding fhallow, although much Rain falls into them ; the reafon whereof is becaufe the barren Mountains lying be. tween Brafile and Peru, difcharge abundance of Water through the Rivers of Ama zones, Maranon, Erancifco, La Plata, and the fuaciro, with fuch force into the Ocean, that they keep their fweetnefs for thirty Leagues. Near the Sea fide are feveral Lakes and Pits which are drinkable, and others up in the Councrey that are brackifh.

The Countrey differs exceedingly, for where it extends in Plains the Soil is fat and clayie, and produces all forts of Fruit, but efpecially Sugar-Canes. During the rainy Seafons the Trees flourifh moft; after which the heat of the Sun, and fertility of the Soil fpeedily ripen the Fruit : wherefore they Dung not their Land, but on the contrary endeavor to make it lean with Sand, that the Plants might not have too many Leaves, and wither before the Fruit can be ripened. They Sowe in the beginning of the rainy Monechs, and efpecially take care that the Seed lie not too deep in the Ground, becaufe then the Sun-beams being not able to come at it, fuffer it to perifh in the cold Ground.

The high Cocoa and Palmito-Trees, are tranfplanted all the year round, the Roots being onely cover'd with a little Earth, becaufe they can endure no cold.

Several Trees here bear a cooling Fruit, as if kind Nature took care to provide againft exceffive heat.

All manner of Plants and Herbs brought hither from Angola, Portugal, the Nether: lands, and the Eafo.Indies, grow here very plentifully. But the Countrey generally would be much better, if fome way could be found out to deftroy the innumerable company of Pifmires, which though three times bigger than the European, refemble them very much, and cover the Paths in Woods and Fields for three or four Miles together; and raifing Hillocks, make them hollow, and fill them with Corn : in the Full of the Moon they gather an incredible quantity of Grain, which they bite at each end, becaufe it fhould not fprout : againft the rainy Moneths they ftop up their Holes, that the Water may not damnifie their Store. But thefe Animals have a mortal Enemy of the Tamanda, of which there are two forts, the bigger call'd Guaca; the leffer Miri ; the Guaca, notwithftanding it is no bigger than an ordinary Dog, yet it deftroys Tygers, and other wild Beafts, with fuch a raging fury, that it never lets go what once it hath gor hold of, but holds it faft fo long till fome. times it dies of Hunger. The Guaca differing from the Miri onely in bignefs, hath a broad Tail full of grey and black Briftles, which fticks up when he is vex'd, but when he goes to fleep, covers himfelf with the fame. The Miri winds his long fmooth Tail about the Boughs, by which hanging he fearches the Holes in the Trees with his Tongue, which being thin and round, hath a Gutter in the middle, in which when it feels any Pifmires, it fuddenly fwallows them down: If he perceives them to have their Nefts under Ground, then he feratches up the Earth, and puts his Tongue in at the Holes. Both the Guacu and Miri have a thick Skin, and a broad black Streak from their Breafts on each fide up half way their Bodies, and through the black runs alfo a white Streak. No Beaft in the World is hardier than this, for thiough it fafts twelve days, and is afterwards flay'd alive, yet it will live feveral hours after.

The Lakes in Brafile are for the moft part overgrown with Weeds juft like a Field, yet are exceeding full of Fifh and Fowl. Where the Sea runs into the Lakes, great multitudes of Crabs are feen crawling along the Ground, and the Oyfters hang in Clufters on the Boughs of a Plant call'd Manyle or Mangues, which grow The plant with their Roots either near or in the Water, in fuch a manner, that new Bodies ftill fhoot from the old Roots, which prevents eafie accefs to the chief Plant, on whofe uppermoft Leaves after Sun-rifing fticks very white Salt, which in the Night, or in a cloudy Day turns to a brackifh Dew. Moreover, thofe places where Brafile rifes with Hills and Mountains, are likewife very fruifful, except the barren tops of forme, which feem to kifs the Skyes; and though the fruitful Mountains flourifh in the time of the rainy Months, yet many of the Trees which grow on them die in Summer, and their Afhes being burnt by the Inhabitants; are us'd in ftead of Dung. Some Woods extend themfelves three hundred Leagues in length, and are full of Trees, fo tall, that an Arrow fhot upwards falls fhort of the top of them, and a Boat may be made out of the Body, which can carry a hundred and fifty Men. On the great Boughs of thefe mighty Trees grow other excrefent Shrubs after the manner of Miffeltoe, which proceed from the Kernels fwallow'd and muted upon them by the Birds that light there. In fome places allo grow alfo Sweet=wood Trees, which afford either excellent Gums or Wood to Dye with; amongtt which the chief is the Ibiripitanga, which yields the Brafte Wood, that gives Denomination of Brafile to this vaft Tract of Land. The Tree Ibripitanga is Deffripion: tall and fpreading, hath fad colour'd Bark full of fhort Thorns; the Leaves are $\begin{gathered}\text { of inipitangen } \\ \text { Iree }\end{gathered}$ green, and differ in form butt little from the Box-Tree Leaf; the Boughs fhoot forth other leffer, full of yellow and fiveet-fmelling Flowers, which falling off are fucceeded by a flat long Cod, of a dark grey colour, full of little red Pulfe; the upper part of the Tree is not good to Dye with, but onely the lower part of the Body, which becaufe the Tree grows far up in the Countrey, is not tranfportable without much trouble. But the Tatai-iba grows in the Woods along the Shore; the Bark being of an Afh=colour, invefts a yellow Wood; the Leaves are Charp and notch'd, the Fruit not unlike Mulberries, pale, juicy, and full of white Seed; the Wood boyl'd Dyes a pure Yellow. It is obfervable not onely of this Tree, but generally of the Trees of this Countrey, that they neither flourifh, nor flied their Leaves all over at once, nor do feveral Trees of the fame kind, and growing here germinate or fade together; for whileft one is fulleft of Blofforms, the other is without Leaves; and whileft the fame Tree fheds its Leaves on one fide; the other. fide is newly Budded.

The European Plants and Herbs with foft Roots, being once Planted in Brafile; come to be hard and lignifid. There is alfo great difference, according to the Ground in which they are Planted; for fuch Plants and Trees as in the Plains are but fmall and tender, grow ten times higher if Planted in the Woods.

All forts of Indian Pulfe grow higher than the talleft Trees, like high Arbors; under which both Men and Beafts may thelter therifelves from the Sun or Rain.

We find not upon Record or Tradition, that Brafile was ever troubled with an Earthquake, which is the reafon that it hath neither Silver nor Gold-Mines, becaufe fulphurous Fires are found under Ground, which are a caule of the production of Gold and Silver, fo likewife they occafion Earthquakes : yet in that part of Brafile call'd Ceara, there are fome Mines of Silver, out of which the Hollanders would have got greater Riches, had not they been employ'd in the Wars againft the Portuguefe.

Far up into the Countrey amongft the Mountains, inhabit Canibals, or Maneeaters: The Europeans that firft travell'd that way, found the Countrey very fertile and full of People, efpecially in the Valleys, but fomewhat incommoded by the want of Water, and the exceffivenefs of the Heat in the Day, and of the Cold in the Night. In fome places the Countrey is fo over-grown with Brambles, that they are forc'd to cut their way through the fame. But there are a fort of Thifles, which having concave Leaves, receive the Dew and Rain for the accommodation of the Natives.

Befides Serpents and Dragons, the Tygers are moft of all to be fear'd when hungry, but once fatisfid are eafily taken.

Dogs, Oxen, Sheep, and Horfes thrive alfo exceedingly in moft parts of Brafile.

The Nature of the Brafili. ans.

The Brafilians live to be very old without being Bald or Grey: There are fel. dom or never to be feen fquinteey'd, lame, decrepid, or any deformed People, not withftanding the Children are never Swath'd but thrown into cold Water as foon as born. The Men generally have a very near refemblance one with another, as alfo the Women, fo that there is not fuch a difference betwixt Man and Man there, as amongt other People. There is fcarce any Sicknefs heard of in thefe Parts; for befides a long Life, they enjoy the benefit of Health fo long as they live. They trouble not themfelves with much Bufinefs; and in one Hut, whofe Covering confifts of Palm-Leaves, dwell feveral Families together. they alfo eat all manner of Fruit and Plants, and many times Fleff, which they either eat boyl'd, broyl'd, or ftew'd; their Boyling is after this manner: Firft they kindle their Fire with two Sticks, the one of hard, and the other of foft Wood; the hard they make fharp at the end, and fix the fame into the foft, which fetting on fire they immediately lay Cotton thereupon, or elfe dry Leaves, and fo boyl the Flefh in round Earthen Pots call'd Camu: but they account that better which is ftew'd in a Pot, the bottom whereof is cover'd with Leaves, on which they lay the Flefh, then ftopping the fame clofe on the top with Earth and Leaves, they make Fire over it fo long till they think the Fleflh to be fufficiently ftew'd. Their Broyling they perform by fixing forked Sticks into the Ground, over which they lay feveral others like a Gridiron; and upon them the raw Elen, cut in long Slices, and Pepper'd and Salted, then mako a Fire under the fame till ic is enough; and their Mear fo drefs'd keeps good fourteen days. Their Fifh either boyl'd or broyl'd is eaten with the Sawce fuquitinga. The little Fifh Piaba and Piquitinga they make up in Rolls, and lay them under hot Afhes. Both with their Flefh and Fifh they eat for Bread, as hath been faid, the Meal of the Root Mandiboka, which they taking up with three Fingers throw into their Mouthes, fo dexterounfy, that not the leaft fcrap falls befides. They never obferve any fee hours to ear, for they make feveral Meals in the Day, and fometimes in the middle of the Night, if their Appetite ferves, and neither drink nor feak whileft they are at their Mean. They fleep in fpread Hammocks made faft between two Poles, near which burns a conftant Fire with which in the Dayotime they drefs their Meat, and at Night keep themfelves.warm, the Nights being there fomewhat cold, becaule of their equal lengch with the Days. Their ufual Liquor is cold Water, taken out of the Fountains, Rivers, or Brooks; Their Ferera! but to Caroufe they make the Drink Caoi, of the Fruit of the Ocaiibas Tree, which Dribest. being ftamp'd-in a woodden Mortar, is ftrain'd, and at firt looks like Milk, but after a few days ftanding turns to a darker colour, and is ftrong enough to make Aftronomers of thofe that drink largely of it, but if long kept, it turns to be exce!. lent Vinegar.

They have another Drink call'd Aipw, which is made two feveral ways; the firt is thus : An old Toothlefs Woman chews the little cut Root Aipimacaxera to a a Pap call'd Caracu, which fpitting in a Pot they pour Water on the fame, and after wards boyling it leifurely, ftirring it all the time it fands over the Fire. The other way of making this $A$ ipu, which is much the more cleanly, is to boyl the faid Root fo long, till it comes to be like Butter-milk, and then letting it fand till it hath done working, it will be no unpleafant Drink.

Another fort of Drink amongtt them is their Pacobi, made of the Fruit of the Tree Pacobebe and Pacobucu; befides others made of the Tree Abatu, of Indian Barley and Maiz. Alfo their Liquor call'd Jetici is prefs'd out of Potato-Roots.

In like manner the Plant Nana, by the Portuguefe call'd Ananas, makes the Drink Nanai, which is exceeding ftrong and heady, but good againft Faintnefs, Vomit. ing, Gravel, and ftoppage of Urine, as allo againft Poyfon.

The Tapaiyans, fur-named Cariri, meet at a certain time to make the Liquor Their Debo. Aipu, whereof each takes as much to his Hut as falls to his fhare, and when it hath ${ }^{\text {ches. }}$ done working, they begin in the Morning very early at the firft Houfe in the Village, and drink out every drop which they find there, and fo from Houfe to Houfe till they have drunk one another drie ; and he is look'd upon to be the beft Man that hath drunk and evacuated moft.

The Braflians take generally very ftrong Tobacco, which they firft drie in the $\begin{gathered}\text { Their man- } \\ \text { neror Taking }\end{gathered}$ Sun, and afterwards before the Fire, the better to rub it in pieces: Their Tobacco= $\begin{gathered}\text { notarcco. }\end{gathered}$ pipe is a Cane and a hollow Nut cut off at the top, and a round Hole bor'd in the middle, into which they put the Cane. They forbear not to take Tobacco even in the midft of their religious Ceremonies, which are perform'd with Singing and Dancing in this manner :

The Tapuaiyans making a round Ring at an equal diftance one from another, all Thir reigigof them being ftark naked, tie divers colour'd Plumes of Feathers on their back.fides nies.

with a String made faft on their left Shoulders and about their Waftes; about their Legs' they have Cotton Garters; each in his turn bowing to the Left; ftretches down his left Hand to the Ground, and puts his right Hand in between the Strings, which tie the Plume of Feathers, and ftamps continually with his right Foot, whileft all the reft begin to Sing a doleful Song, which by degrees they change into a merry one, not without fome appearance of underftanding the Art of Mufick. Their Songs contain firft a mournful Relation of a general Deluge, which drowned their Predeceffors, all but fome few, who efcap'd by climbing up high Trees and Mountains; next the Acts of thofe old Heroes from whom they boaft themfelves Extracted, who loft their Lives, or valiantly fought for the publick good, and were rewarded with the enjoyment of all pleafures and Delights, of Singing, Playing, Dancing, and the like, in a remote Countrey, whither after their Deaths they hope to be cranflated: Whileft they thus Sing over all their Songs, three Priefts ftand in the middle of the Ring, each holding the Idol Maraka (in their left Hand) refembling an old Ofritch's Egg ftuck full of Feathers on the top: about their Waftes they wear a Girdle of rich Plumes, on their Heads alfo a Crown of Feathers; the middle Prieft looks with a ftern Countenance, and holds up his left Leg from the Ground, whileft the other two ftanding on each fide of him, hold in their right Hands a Pipe, out of which blowing Tobacco-fmoak in one anothers Faces, they utter thefe words, Receive the Spirit of beroick Strengtb: The Dance ended, they Entertain their Priefts with Meat and Drink eight days together, and allo put Meat before their Idol Maraka, who is the chief Deity they adore.
Their Arms.
Their Arms confift of Bowes made of hard Wood, Strung with twifted Cotton Thred; their Arrows they make of the Cane Tacaara, made very fharp at the end, or headed with fome Beafts fharp Tooth, or pointed with the Bones of the Fifh Iperru. Some of the Tapuijans ufe great Darts, and long Clubs of black Wood, broad before, and full of fharp Spikes; the Handles being wound about with Cotton Strings call'd fatirana, under which hangs a Tuft of the Bird Araara's Feathers, as allo about the middle. Their Trumpets, call'd Canguerica, are the Shin-bones of Men, though they have others alfo made of great Shells and Canes. They us'd to be continually at War one with another, which they wag'd neither for Lands nor Riches, buteither to make themfelves eminent, and to be accounted valiant Soldiers, or moft efpecially for the fake of Man'ssflefh to feed upon, which they love beyond all things in the World,wherefore they fatten all their Prifoners for the flaughter. Their Battels are always cruel, for they fight very defperately. Emanuel de Moraes relates, That he faw a Braflian fight with three Armed Portuguefes, who flew him not till after he had wounded them all three.

The Languages of the Brajilians are feveral, each Countrey fpeaking a peculiar ghe fanguz; Tongue, but To different that they cannot underfand one another. The Tabrijans ${ }^{\text {Erffitinns }}$ are divided into above eighty. Tribes; each fpeaking a peculiar Language, which have no refemblance one with another; neverthelefs they have a general Language which is underftood by moft of them. The Jefuit $f 0$ ofeph Anchieta publifhing a Brafilian Dictionary in Conimbrica, Anmo 159.5. Fhewed that the fore-mention'd Language wants the Letters $f, l, f, z, r$, and hath no double Confonants in any word, except $m b, n d, n g$, fo that the found of the word falls generally on the laft Vowel. The fore-mention'd Moraes well experienc'd in the Brafilian Tongue, writ an Alphaber of all the moft familiar words thereof us'd in common Difcourfe, of which it will not be unneceffary to give this following Extract:

There are of the moft ufual words of the general Language in Brafile, befides which every diftinct Tribe or Divifion of People hath its peculiar Tongue, as hath been. raid, of which the chiefeft and mofteminent are the Tupinambu, Tabaiaras, Potigiviguaras, Marbuites, Waimoores, Tomonimenos, Waitaquazes, Wainafes, Topinaques, Po. dies, Molopaques, Motaias, Biberos, Wainawafons, Tamoies, Tocomans, and the Cariogs; of all which the Tupinambu are the moot comely, especially their Women, which (according to the teftimony of the aforefaid Emanuel Morals, an Eye-witnefs) may flan in competition with the European Beauties. Thee Women accompany their Husbands when they go into the Wars, and carry their Provifions, especially fore of Tobacco. In the Lips both of the Men and Women hang little Stones. The Men take as many Wives as they pleare ; and amongst the generality of the foremention'd Nations, there is farce any fign of Religion to be difcern'd.

The Tobaras are accounted the belt Horfemen ; but in Singing and Difcourfe, , and forizizat the Potigiaiguaras exceed all the other Brafilians: They place twenty or thirty iguaraje Singers in a Row, which obferving Time, Sing the Tranfactions of their Prese, ceffors with good Voices.

The Waimoores are a flong People that inhabit the large Tract of Land between The WaimooBahia and Ifleos, and having well timber'd Bodies, can keep pace with a Horde runming full feed. Five or fix of them often fee upon a Sugar-Mill, though a hun e died Men be at work in the fame: They are all over bedaubed with Dirt, because they lie like Beats on the Ground: They wear long Hair, and have no certain Abodes.

The Tomonimenos, living abour Spirito Santo, are more civilis'd ; they make Walls of Stone abour thcir Huts; and thefe Walls ane full of Holes, through which they fhoot Arrows at thole that Invade them; their Bodies are Painted red and black, and cover'd with Feathers. The Portuguefe taking fixteen thoufand of them Prifo. ners at once, kill'd moft of them, and deftroy'd the Countrey all along the River Paraiva.
The Waitaquates.

At the South and North Point of Cape Frio dwell the Waitaquazes, bigger and ftronger than the Waimoores; and they alfo fleep like Hogs on the Ground about a Fire, hold all People for their Enemies, and their Flefh for the greateft Dainty. The Women Arm'd with Bowes and Arrows ftand by their Huisbands in Battel.

The 'Wainaf. jes.

On Ifla Grande refide the Wainaffes, a little People, which have very long Bellies; go fark naked, Shave the Crown of their Heads, and let the other part of their Hair hang down long on their Shoulders. The Women, which are of grofs BoThe Defrir dies, colour themfelves Red with Vruca, which is a wild Plant, but much us'd afuion of the mongft them : the Kernels are inclos'd in Husks full of red Fibres. Thefe Kernels are not onely mix'd with the other Ingredients of the Chocaletia Drink, but alfo us'd to Dye of a red Colour : The Wood of this Plant is very white, and the Bark grey, like the Hazle; the Leaves being of 2 deep Green, refemble a Heart; at the end of the Boughs grow feveral Bloffoms, each as big as a Rofe, confifting of five Leaves, parly red and partly white, in the middle whereof are yellowifh Threds with pure ple Points, which give little or no fmell : after the Flower follows the Fruit, two Fingers long; when it begins to be ripe it grows fill redder and redder, each Cod containing thirty or forty round Kernels, which being touch'd leave a red tincture upon the Fingers; the Cod when ripe opens of it felf, and Shews the Kernels fpeckled white, which dry'd, pounded, and mix'd with Pifs, Dye fo ftrong a Red, that Linnen dipt into the fame will never receive any other Colour. This Root allo boyl'd in Broth, makes it not onely red, but gives it a pleafant tafte.

The Topina ques.

The Topinaques, which dwell about St. Vincent, are a ftrong and grofs People, go ftark naked both Men and Women : when they kill any of their Enemies they Paint themfelves with the Fruit fanipano, put a great Plume of Feathers on their Head, and two Sticks in their Mouths, Dancing with ftrange motions of the Body, inclining fometimes towards the right, and fometimes towards the left fide, for three day together; during which time they drink a filthy kind of Liquor. The Women, who have well proportion'd Bodies, onely covering their Heads with a Cap, a bout which they tie a bread of Hair, to which a fquare Basket being faftned, hangs below their Backs when they travel.
The' Prits.
The Mountains along the Ocean, which inclofe much Gold, are inhabited by the Pories, a peaceable People, molefting nore of their Neighbors; they fleep in Nets of Flags, and have no other Houfes than three Poles plac'd triangular, and cover'd with Palm-Leaves; they feed on Pine $=$ Nuts and Eyrires, Apples that have Shells like a Walnut, and have alfo the precious Balfam O Ol in great abundance.

Along the River Paradiva inhabit the Molopaques; the Men ftrong and well timber'd, have Beards lorg enough to cover their Privities. The Women alfo fair, modeft, prudent, and never laughing, tie their Hair, painted with feveral colours, round about their Middle with a Cord, fo that it ferves in ftead of an Apron. They obferve a fet-hour for Dinner and Supper, which is not us'd by any other Brafilians. The Mountains in thefe Parts confifting of a black Mold, have plenty of Gold, but it is of no efteem or regard amongt them, onely that which is waflid, down by the Rain they gather up, but put to no other ufe than to make Hooks to hang their Nets on.

The Motayas, being of a low Stature and brown Complexion, thave off the Hair Tbe sctige of their Heads, or elfe pluck it up by the Roots; they are eaters of Man's fleff.

Not far from whofe Dominions appear the Mountains Pinos up in the Countrey, which abounding with Gold and Precious Stones, are inhabited by the Biberos, otherwife call'd Lopos, which live under the Trees like Beafts.

The Waianawafons have little Villages, built along a namelefs River; they are a Thirteen Portuguefe undertaking fome years ago to trayel through this Countrey to the South Sea, found on fome Mountains abundance of Gold and Precious Stones ; and amongt many ftrange things they faw a Cryftal Mountain ten days before they came near it, over which they could not travel becaule of its fteepnefs; at the foot thereof fprung a broad Stream, making a great noife. From thence travelling forward, they came to the Tamoyes The Tmyose. Countrey, the Men whereof, being well proportion'd, wore great Bunches of Feathers on their Heads: The Women, exceeding fair, had carv'd Breafts. The faid Portuguefe being taken here, were put into Prifon, and all flain and eaten, excepting one, who efcap'd after this manner:- Thirty thoufand Tamoyes falling into the Countrey of the Amazons, by the Americans call'd Mandiocuy Jyans, made a great Feaft with three hundred of them, whileft the reft fled to the River La Plata, where they got help from the Portuguefe, who kill'd ten thoufand of the Tamoyes, made the reft Slaves, and releas'd their imprifon'd Countreyman.

The Tocomans, a little People, dwell between La Plata and St: Vincent.

The Maraquites, by the Weftern Indians fursnamed Tapuijers, that is, Wild People, are divided into feventy fix forts, all differing in their Languages; amongt which the chiefeft are, the Arodera, Cajau, Maquaru, and Poyme, which all live without Law, Religion, fetled Abodes, or Friendfhip with any Neighbors; and the Women Fight as well as the Men. Jacob Rabbi, who dwelt a confiderable time, and convers'd amongft thefe People, defcribes their Cuftoms thus :
"Their King Fandui, firsnamed Otficayayna, from the River which flows through fleien rue
" the Counrroy of the Fapuyans, caules (it he thinks fit) to be publifh'd through the " the whole Camp of the Enemy, whither he will go the next Morning, and what "he will do all the Day following, having firft confulted with his Council of "Sorcerers. Before they march they wafh their Bodies in the River; rub them" "felves all over with Sand, and afterwards wafh it off again, then fretch them" felves till ail their Joynts crack, run to the Fire, and when throughly warm, " Fcratch their Bodies with certain Fifh-Teeth, infomuch that the Blood gufhes "out of feveral places, all which they judge to be good againft wearifomnefs. "About a Stones-caft from the King's Tent lie two thick Logs, a large Stride one " from the other, againft which the whole Multitude ftand divided into two Par" ties, each of whom chufe the ftrongeft Man accounted amongft them to carry "the Log for a Wager, and when thefe two are tir'd, they are releas'd by others, " and he that comes laft to the appointed place with the Log, is laugh'd at by the "Party to which he belong"d that was there firf, where they all fay for the Youths "that bring their Arms, which when they have deliver'd, they all fall to work, "cutting down Trees, breaking off the Boughs, fticking them in the Ground, and "tying them together on the top for Tents, which are built in rows one againft "another, leaving a broad Path between. Mean while the Women and Children "coming with their Baggage, the Men run to Fifh and Hunt, or to feek Honey. "The old Women dig up Roots, which ftamp'd ferve them for-Bread, whileft the "young Women help one another to prepare the Meat in the Huts. Moreover the "Men fpend their time in feveral Exercifes, as Wreftling and Ruining, of which "two Women, appointed for that purpofe, are the Judges. When the Evening "draws on upon them, then the Youths dividing themfelves into Companies, go "Singing from one Tent to another, and are follow'd by the Maids Dancing and "Leaping, every one ftanding behind him whom The loves beft; and this is look'd "upon as a fingular fign of affection, When a young Man is inclin'd to Marry, "he carries Honey and Venifon to his Miftreffes Father, who if he hath more than "one Daughter acquaints the Soothfayers with it, who inform the King concerne "ing it; he then caufes all the young Men and Maids to be call'd together out of "the Camp, fends them into the Woods to Hunt out 2 wild Beaft, which they no "f fooner fee, but they return and acquaint the Multitude therewith, who immedi"ately furrounding the Place, foon catch the Beaft, whofe Entrails they pull out
"r and throw to the Dogs, and give the Flefh to the Women to roaft, which
" when ready they make merry with, Singing and Dancing äfter they have "eaten; then if the Youth hath behav'd himfelf well in purfuing of the wild "Beaft, the King grants him the Maid which he defires for his Wife: Four days "before the Wedding they bore a Hole through each of the Bridegrooms Cheeks " with a fharp piece of Wood, which done they folemnize the Marriage; at which "the King himfelf diftributes the Meat to every Gueft as he thinks fir; after Din" nerthey extol the Mothers Care, in preferving her Daughters Virginity for the "Bridegroom in ftrange Songs. If a Maid be Marriageable, and no Suitor comes " to her, then the Mother draws red Strokes under her Eyes, and conducts her to "the King, who fets the Maid down by him on a Mat, warms his Hands againft "the Fire, then ftroaks himfelf and the Maid, and alfo blows Tobacco-Smoak on " her and himfelf, which done, he performs the pare of a Husband with her. But "their making Holes through their Ears and Lips is done whileft they are Chil"dren, after this manner: The Boys who undergo this Ceremony, come to the "Place appointed, where the whole Multitude Dance and Sing, and the Conju-. "ther; one of them farting up, takes a Boy by the Head, ties him Hand and Foot "that he cannot fir at all; which done, a fecond Sorcerer comes to his alfiftance, " and" with a flarp-pointed Stick bores Holes through his Ears and Lips, whileft "the Mother of the Boy makes a fad Lamentation. Women refufe to have any " familiarity with their Husbands as foon as they perceive themfelves to be with "Child; and as foon as any Woman is Deliver'd, the runs into a neighboring "Wood, where with a Shell the cuts off the Childs Navel, which boyling fhe eats " with the After-birth ; then wafhes her felf and the Child every Morning and "Evening in cold Water; as long as fhe gives Suck her Husband lies not with " her, unlefs it be a Man that hath but one Wife. If a Woman commit Adultery, "her Husband beats her out of his Houle, but if he takes her in the Act, it is law" ful for him to kill both. In the middle of the King's Tent ftands a great Calabafh " full of Stones call'd Kehnturah, cover'd with the corner of a Mat, which none "dares approach without the King's leave, unlefs it be to frook the fame with "Tobacco, or to lay Venifon or Honey before it.

It is alfo remarkable how the Sorcerers deal with their Sick; the aforefaid facob Rabbi, an Eye-witnefs relates, That the 'King Drarugh being extreamly troubled Rabbi, an Eye-witnefs relates, That the King Diarugb being extreamly' troubled the Sick a-with pains in his Sides and Legs, and finding no help amongftis Sorcerers, who rapuam. pretended to be Phyficians, went to the neighboring King of the Tapuyans, where three undertook to cure him, which they did after this manner: One of them blew To-bacco-fmoak on his Body, fuck'd his Knees, roar'd like a Lyon, and after much ado vomited a little Eel into his Hand, which he pretended had put the King to fo much pain; whileft the fecond fuck'd his Belly, and allo roar'd exceedingly, and vomited forth at laft a Stone, on which appear'd a Rofe; the third fuck'd his left Side, till he vomited fomething like a Roor ; after which the King is faid immediately to have recover'd.

It deferves feecial obfervation what the Learned Gerard Voßius relates of them from the Mouth of Chrijtopher Arcijfeusky, a Polifl, Nobleman, famous for his heroick Exploits for the United Netherlands in Brafile.
"The Tapuyans (faith he) are a People that range up and down, never ftaying " long in one place, between Siara and Meranthon, a vaft Tract of Land, and go al. "nor dying a natural Death; by which they pretend to exprefs their exceeding love "to the Deceafed, who elfe would, fay they, be eaten by the Worms and ror, "wherefore they rather chufe to eat them, that they may receive the nourifhment "themfelves.
The fame Author relates allo, That he faw a Tapayan yield up the Ghof not far from the Caftle Rio Grande, after which his neareft Relations taking the Body, wath'd the fame, together with the Entrails, and cutting the Corps into feveral pieces, roafted the fame on a Spit, preferving the Fat that dropt from it in Pans, and eat the Flefh with a greedy Appetite. None were admitted to this Fealt but his chief Relations; and that which they could not eat, as the Hair, Teeth, Nails, and Bones, they burne to A fhes, which gathering up they mix'd with their Liquor till it was all drunk up.
The Tapuyans acknowledge two Deities, the one good and the other bad; to the good they fhew no Reverence, becaufe, fay they, he is bountiful of himfelf, and doth them no hurt; whereas on the contrary they zealoufly call upon their DevilDeity, becaufe they think he deftroys all thofe who worfhip him not.
They never Travel nor go to War before they have confulted with their angry God, and that not without great Ceremonies; whereupon they afcribe to them. felves the knowledge of future things; and indeed they often foretel future things which are beyond humane apprehenfion; as a teftimony whereof that may ferve which Sapo Amama, a Friezland Gentleman, found by experience: for he keeping Guard before Conjalu with a Troop of Horfe againft the Portugriefe, had feveral Tapryans in his Service, who foretold, That the following day the Lieutenant Amama and a Trooper fhould be kill'd by a Shot from a great Gun ; which,though flighted, was confirm'd by the exaet fulfilling of the Prediction. The like Paffages hapned daily, and amongft many Arcifeusky relates one very remarkable Accident, viz. He remov'd a confiderable number of Men out of the Garrifon Rio Grande, to furprize the Spanifh Fort Barra-Conium, and nothing could more promote the Defign than fecrecy; but fifty Tapuyans having joyn'd with the Hollanders, Arciffewky fear'd they might difcover his Plot, wherefore he charg'd them that they fhould not ftir a foot from his Company, which they accordingly promis'd, and having march'd three days through By-ways, they daily perform'd their Devotion in open view, and Arciffeusky defir'd that they would call him when their Devil appear'd, which they granted, on promife that he fhould not do him any hurt: On the third day the Army being fufficiently refrefh'd, he being call'd, found the Tapuyans fitting in a Semi-Circle, with their Feet fpread afunder ; oppofite so them fat their Prieft on the Ground, whom they ask'd concerning all manner of Affairs, and he queftion'd them again, on which they gave their Several Anfwers, but could not be un. derftood for want of Interpreters, for thofe whom the Hollanders us'd Spake only two Languages, one of which is us'd commonly by the Brafilians along the Sea-Coaft, and the other by the Portuguefe, in which they Interpreted to the Hollanders as much as poffibly they could underftand of what the Tapuyans faid; whofe Language difo fers very much from the vulgar Brafile. Tongue, becaufe they live up in the Inland; and are divided into divers Tribes, fo that the, Interpreters could not underftand the Tapuyans, but judg'd their meaning more by nodding of the Head, and the like figns : after the Affembly had done fpeaking, the Prieft rofe up and went out of their fights into the Wood, where with a loud voice he call'd three times upon the Devil; but he not anfwering, the Prieft return'd to his Company, who began their Queftions and Anfwers afrefh, which could not be underftood by the Intere preters; and foon after the Prieft (feeming to be commanded by the reft) went again to the Wood, but calling fill in vain, return'd; then going a third time, and calling as before, was by a fmall, but fhrill Voice, anfwer'd from the middle of the Wood, from which the Tapuyans concluded that their Bufinefs would come to perfection, and that the Devil would foon appear to them: The Prieft hereupon going backwards and forwards three times one after another to his Company, they began to talk as before; at laft going into the Wood again, they all fpoke louder, and with more vehemency than before, whileft the fore-mention'd fhrill Voice approached nearer and nearer, and at laft the fuppofed Demon came forth with the Prieft, who commanded him to fit oppofite to the Congregation, which had

- a great deal of Difcourfe, and fometimes the Prieft feaking was anfwer'd by the Devil in his fhrill Voice; but fome of the People calling aloud, catch'd up their Arms, and threatned to beat the Devil, as they often us'd to do upon the like occafions. At the departure of the Drmon, the Multitude conducted by the Prieft into the Wood, cry'd out in fo terrible a manner, that they affrighted the Hollanders, who judg'd it rather to be Lyons and Tygers that roar'd than Men. During thefe Tranfactions, a German Soldier in the Rere quitted his Arms and fled, but being mifs'd was purfu'd, found in a Hedge, and laid Hold on as a Perfon fufpected to carry Advice to the Spaniards, and being brought before Arciffeusky and Examined, gave fuch ridiculous Anfwers as increas'd the fufpicion, infomuch that he was led to a Tree to be tortur'd; where as he ftood ty'd he folemnly declar'd, That the reafon of his running away, was becaufe he had not Pray'd in ten years, fo that he was exceedingly afraid, left when he faw the Devil amongft the Tapujans, he would have known him, and carry'd him away to the Place prepar'd for all fuch Wretches.

The Learned Gerard Voßius made a particulat Enquiry after this Story, whether flure Impo the Spirit's appearance were a Reality, or an Impofture; and the truth is it was no better than a fubtile Cheat, and fo it was apprehended by Arciffersky, who not long after, on a convenient time, ask'd the Tapayans why they feign'd him to be a Devil that was a Man, whom he had often feen before? which they denying, affirm'd that it was a real Devil; but Arcijfeisky knew their pretended Friend, who Cpake fo Thrill by reafon of a Grafs.blade which he held in his Mouth. However, though the main of the Fable was acted by Man, yet the Devil without doubt play'd his part with them, as appear'd by thofe Predictions, which no Man could poffibly know, viz. That the Portuguefe Fort fhould with the lofs but of three Men fall into the Hollanders hands; for fo accordingly it hapned. But becaufe the Devil cannot forefee all things, therefore they often erre ; for they faid that the Hollanders fhould crofs the Moat on Boards nail'd together in ftead of a Bridge, and that the Enemy fliould not perceive it; and indeed Arciffeushy had refolv'd fo to do, but was difcover'd by the Portuguefe, who defended themfelves with great Guns, which fo a ffrighted the Tapuyans, not us'd to fuch a noife, that they ran away and never return'd, fo that by Morning the Fort was conquer'd, and all things quieted.

After this Arciffeusky burnt feveral Portuguefe Ships in the River Monguoape, and kept one, carrying ten Demi-Culverins, laden with Sugar and Spanifh Wine; which to carry to a fafe Harbor a fhort Way, he requir'd the Tapayans affiftance; but they refus'd to enter, pretending the Ship would perifh by fome or other unfortunate Accident, which accordingly hapned as they had faid; for the Ship was fplit againft a Rock in the Mouth of a narrow Haven, infomuch that nothing of it was fav'd ; all which the Tapuyans knew beforehand by the Devil's information, for they never go upon any Bufinefs of confequence before they have confulted with him, and done him worfhip. Yet, it feens, they cannot fecure this Devil of theirs from the Stripes of a Mortal, as appears by this pleafant Story : A Tapuyan Prieft Brafile by whom porfefs'd at pre was promis'd a Shirt from Arciffensky, upon condition the Devil fhould pull the fame out of his Hand and carry it up in the Air: The Tapujan liking the Propofal, promis'd immediately to call the Devil; but when Arcifensky defir'd leave to Drub him with a Stick which he had in his Hand, he could by no means perfovade. the Prieft to call for his Dirmon; at which every one began to laugh : and to carry on the Mirth farther, Arciffersky Joking with the Prieft, faid, I will jhem jout that I am agreater Artift than you, for to Morrow, 1 will bring it about by my Art, that great Horns hall grow on your Hedd, jo big, that you fhall not be able to paß thefe Doors; which fo affrighted the Tapuyans, that all of them fled, onely the Prieft return'd the next day with an Interpreter to Arciffeusky, defiring him that he would ufe him mercifully, and hot caufe any Horns to grow on his Head.

At the time when facob Rabbi convers'd amongit the Tapiyans, they were Govern'd by fanduy, a Man of above a hundred years old, whofe chief Seat was on each fide of the River $0 t$ cchunogh, and round about the Lake Igtug, in which none dirft Swim, becaufe of the many biting Fifhes in the fame.

The King Pritigaba having entred into a ftrict League with fandwy, Warr'd continually againft the Kings Arygpoygh, Wanaferoafug, Thering, and Dremenige; and had not the Portuguefe taken the four laft into their Service to aid them againft the Hole landers, they could never have held out long againft the Forces fent by fanduy, who deftroy'd Man, Beaft, and Houles, [paring nothing they met with; for they murther and deftroy all things where e're they come.
The feveral Nations that now poffefs Brafile, befides its native Inhabitants, are Portuguefe, Englijh, Hollanders, Germans, and French, which the Brafilians by a general Name call Ajurucjuba; otherwife they call all Strangers Caraiba or Pero. But from the commixing of feveral Nations proceeds a fifth fort, for one that is born of European Parents in Braffele is call'd Mozombo; of an Enropean Father and Brafilian Mo= ther, Mamelic ; of an European Father and a Moor, Mulatto; of a Braflian and Moor, Curiboca, or Cabocles; of two Negro's, Criolo. But above all others the Portuguefe are the ftrongeft along the Sea-Coaft, who when firft they began to fettle on Brafile, found great refiftance; and had not the Natives been at Wars amongft themfelves, they could never have got fo much footing, but now they are fufficiently Mafters; for they have either flain all the old Inhabitants, or driven them up into the Inland: However, the Brafilians are fo valiant, that they will Encounter a great Army, being brought up in the Wars from their Cradle. When they Engage one with another they fhoot their Arrows exceeding thick, Hooting, Hollowing, and Leaping from one fide to the other to fhun the Arrows with a wonderful dexterity:. The Conquerors fparenone, but kill all, and Feaft on the flain Bodies; but fome they hale away Prifoners with a Rope about their Necks, to each of whom they allot a young Maid, who cherifhes and fattens them up for five Moneths, at the end of which they make a great Feaft, and drink to a pitch beyond Senfe or Reafon, having firft fill'd their Bellies with the Flefh of the flain Prifoners roafted. If the Woman be got with Child by the Slain, they imagine that they can take no greater revenge of their Enemy, than to devour the Child as foon as it comes into the World; but it often happens, that the Woman really loving her Husband the Prifoner, runs away with him, and fo bereaves her Friends of a Banquet.

THe continual Wars which the Portugufe have maintain'd againft the Braftlians, have hindred them from Setling any where but along the Sea-fide, where their Refidences are divided into thirteen Prefectures or Lordfhips, by them call'd Capitanias; the Southermoft whereof being r. St. Vincent, hath a City of the fame Denomination, which lies near a River that coming out of the Ocean inthe trafefe runs round in the Countrey, and fo returns inoo the Sea.
2. Sanctos los Eeyes, which reckons four hundred Houfes and three Sugar-Mills: Here great Ships take in their Lading in the middle of the City.
3. Hitaubacin, the moft Southern, is inhabited by the Portuguefe. Twelve Leagues from thence up into the Countrey the fefuits have built the Village St. Paulo, near the Gold-Mines that lie in the Mountains, extending from Eaft to Weft thirty Leagues. This Village, long fince containing eighty Houfes, is inha. bited by Braflians and a mix'd People ; the Way thither is troublefom, over rough Mountains, and Ways overgrown with Brambles.

On the Ifland Britioga, at a fandy Inlet which makes a good Harbor, lies a Fort for defence of the Haven St. Vincent : and fince the Englifh, Anno 1582. funk a Ship there, a fecond Fort hath been built to prevent the coming in up the River; yet notwithftanding Captain Thomas Candifh ran by both the Forts, and burnt St. Vincent, but fpar'd Sanctos.

Before the River which wafhes St. Vincent, appears the Inand Sebaftian, pretty large, wooddy, and well ftor'd with Venifon; It hath wholfom Water, good Her. bage, and a fecure Road for Ships againft all Winds.

Farther into the Sea appears the high and. rocky Ines Alcatraces, as alfo Victorio des Bufires, Porto des Cafellanos, Monte de Frizo, Muella, and Queimadas.

The Natives of St. Vincent, which are in League with the Portuggefe, are call'd of de Nature Tupinikinfi, inhabiting the Mountains which extend above twenty eight Leagues up into the Countrey: They maintain continual Wars againft the Carioes, a civiliz'd ${ }^{\text {Whasth. }}$ People, and white of Complexion, as alfo againft the Capin Imbas on the North, and a namele's People bordering on Peru. Moreover, the Miramumins, a very wild People, range all the Countrey over, but are much leffen'd fince the Portuguefes Arrival.

Rio de Janeiro.

Firft Difco very and Pofrefion of Rio de Janeiro.

THe fecond Lordhip Rio de Janeirr, formerly by the French calld Ganabara, was difcover'd Anno 1515. by Juan Dias de Solis; but the French firt Setled themfelves here forty years after Dias de Solis: for fetting Sail from Havre de Grace with three well Mann'd Ships, Commanded by Nicholas Durandus Ville, gagnon, they arriv'd at Rio Janeiro in November, and at the Entrance into the River, which is about half a League broad, built a woodden Fort of a hundred Foot long, and fixty broad, and giving it the Name of the French Admiral Coligni, put feveral Guns into the fame to fecure the Entrance, inclos'd on each fide by two fteep Moun. tains. In the River, which is very broad, lie feveral wooddy Ifles, on one of which, near the Fort Coligni, Villegagnon Setling himfelf, fuffer'd great Inconveniences for want of Water, becauife hedurft not Land on the Main, for fear of being furpris'd by. the Natives. Here he ftay'd a year and a half in a deplorable Condition, when Philip Corguileray' and Du Pont fet Sail with three Ships from the Haven Honfleurs; but they alfo, though they had many Men, yet were ill for'd with Provifions, in. fomuch that Hunger increas'd amongft them daily : wherefore Villegagnon return'd home without any farther Exploits.

Fean Leri, who went with Corguileray, defcribes Rio faneiro after this manner :
Jean Leri his Defcription thersof. ine ; the Inlet of the Sea, twenty four thoufand Paces broad, and in fome places "broader, is hemm'd in by hills; the Mouth of the Inlet is fomewhat dangerous, " by reafon of three rocky Illes; beyond the large Bay is a narrow Channel, on the "left-hand whereof there rifes a high Mountain, which the French call'd Le "Pot de Beure, becaufe it refembles a Butter-pot. Somewhat farther lies the Rock. "Ratier, where Villegagnon thought to build a Fort, but the Water in ftormy Wea. "ther wafhing over the Rock, he was forc'd to give over his Defign. Half a League "farther is an Inland a thoufand Paces in length, and a hundred and fifty in breadth, "furrounded with Rocks, on which the French refided: at each end of the Inle rifes "a Hill, and from the middle a Rock fixty Foot high ; on the Hill Villegagnon pitcht "his Tent till he had built him ahandfom. Houfe on a Rock; the other Houfes were "built in the Valley. Three Leagues and a half farther lies a fruitful Ifle nine "Miles in circumferertce, inhabited by a falvage People call'd Touoobinambauti : "there are feveral other Illes, on which breed good Oyfters with little Pearls, "which ftick fo faft to great Stones, that they can fcarce be pluckt off. The River "faneiro abounds with Fifh.

The French once poffers'd this Inland, but were difpoffefs'd by Emanuel de Sa; Governor of Brafile, for the Portuguefe.

The City Sebaftian, which contains three hundred Houfes, is built on the Southern Point of faneiro; oppofite to which, on the Northern Point, lies the Fort; a large Church, the Fefuits Cloyfter, and two Sugar. Mills, give no fmall luftre to the City, where the chief Trade confifts in-Brafile Wood and Cotton. The French Storm'd this Town Anno 1581. but march'd off without any fuccels. Dirk Ruiters, an Eye-witnefs, gives us this Defcription of Sebaftian:
"The Town (fays he) lies two Leagues up the River fanciro, in a Bay, about "which it is built like a Semi-Circle in a fandy Soil along the Water, and is aboue "a Mile long; at each end rife fteep Mountains, befides which it hath neither "Walls nor Gates; but its frength confifts of four Forts, the hiefeft whereof ; ftands towards the Eaft on a Rock in the Mouth of the River; the fecond to" wards the Weft, an Ifle which on the South-Eaft rifes with a Mountain refema "bling a Sugar=Loaf: the third crowns a Rock South Eaft from the Town; and "t the fourth, in the North. Weft, a high Mountain. The Natives, call'd Tououpin "nambauti, are very ferviceable to the Portuguefe.

Befide's the fore=mention'd Towns Coligni and St. Sebuftian, fome make mention of another in this Prefecture, call'd Angra de los Reyes, twelve Leagues diftant from St. Sebaftian Weltward

The Burroughs of the Natives are populous, but neither Arong by Nature, nor fortifid, and fo not by any one thought worthy the naming.

De Spirito Sancto.

NExt to Rio Faneiro lies the Lordfhip or County De Spirito Sanito, exceeding Defription fruitful, having divers Woods abounding with Venifon. The Rivers of thip Dirs Dipl Parayva, Manangea, Itapemeri, Iritibi, and Guarapari, are Itor'd with all forts sereral of Fifh, and amonget orhers the Fifh Piratiapua, which in the Winter Moneths. lives fiffifh forts in the Rivers; and againft the Summer returns to the Rocks wafh'd by the Ocean. This Fifh hath a wide Mouth full of Teeth, a reddifh Tongue, litele Fins, except thofe on their Backs, divers colour'd Scales, yet moft of a dark Red, and generally weighs fifty Pound.
Here is alfo the Fifh Paru, full of yellow Scales like Half-Moons over a black Skin ; it hath long Fins near the Tail, and a little Head.

No lefs remarkable is the Guebucu, which hath a long Body, a flarp bonie Snout, the upper Jaw reaching over the other, no Teeth, a Tail divided in the middle, fharp Fins on the Back, and a Skin full of Silver-colour'd Prickles. This Monfter not onely devours great Fifhes, but alfo Men; when it is hungry it often runs its Snout through the fide of a Ship.

But there is no Fifh more deform'd than the Abacatuaja, which being oval and flat, hath two long Fins underneath, and one on the top, a divided Tail, green Fins, a fmooth Skin, and fiery Eyes; as foon as it is taken it cries like a Hog.

In this County ftands a Town of the fame Denomination, which contains two hundred Houfes, a Sugar.Mill, and a Cloyfter of Fefuits, and drives a great Trade in Cotton and Brafile Wood. Before the City lies an Inlet full of Ifles, the Mouth of which is guarded by a Caftle. The Natives, call'd Maisaias, are in League with the Portuguefe, but the Tapuyans and Apiapetangas do them all the mifchief they can poffibly; fo that the Portuguefe travel in great danger of their lives, when any Bufiz nefs calls them, through the Countrey of thefe falvage People. But befides thefe People; the Way is pefter'd with ftrange wild Beafts, efpecially on the Mountain Meffre Alvaro, which is feen at a great diftance off at Sea; on which, amongft other Creatures, breeds the terrible Serpent Boiguacu, whofe length is generally twenty The serpens four Foot; it is of an Afh colour, with great and fmall black Spots, with a little white Speck in the middle; when hungry, it leaps out of the Hedges, or from the tops of Trees, raifes it felf upright on its Tail, and winding about either Man, Beaft, or whate're it be, fqueezes it to death, or puts its Tail, which ends in a fharp Point or Sting, in at the Fundament in fuch a manner, that it kills the Creature on which it feizeth in a moment, and then fwallows it up. This Serpent hath ftrong Ribs inwardly, and more than feventy bonie Joynts; wherefore it turns it felf with greateafe ; the Joynt-bones near the Head are the biggeft, and grow fmaller and fmaller towards the Tall : It alfo feeds on Pifmires.

The Bird 7 a.

 lisw-guacm.This County alfo breeds the Bird fabicu-guacu, which exceeds the Crane in bignefs, and hath a long thick Bill, but no Tongue; on his Head appears a whitegrifly Creft or Mitre; the Wings and Tail are fhorr, and the Feathers moft of them white, except the Pinions, which fhine like Rubies; their Flefh is of a good rellith, but fomewhat dry.

Near the River which wafhes the City Spirito Saneto, the Paraibes dwell in Huts, not unlike Ovens.

Defription of Porto Sesuro.

NExt to the fore-mention'd County borders Porto Seguro, difcover'd by Pedro Alvares Capralis, who gave this Countrey the Name of Terra de Santa Cruiz, but afterwards chang'd it to Porïo Seguro, becaufe he found a fecure Harbor there. The Town, built on the top of a white Rock, gives its Denomination to the whole Countrey, and barbor'd long fince two hundred and twenty Families,' and hath five Sugar-Mills. The Land on the North fide of the Rock rifes high, but Southwardly a fmooth Coaft runs along the Ocean, from which two Leagues off at Sea lie feveral Cliffs, againft which the Waves break with a great force.

The Towns Santa Cruiz and Amaro are left defolate; becaufe the Portuguefe were continually Invaded by the falvage Aymures, whom they were not able by any, means to reprefs.

Southward from Porto Seguro appear the Shoals Abrollos, twenty fix Leagues from the Coaft; they are of one breadth, but one is longer than the other.
Remakzble

On this Coaft the Ship Batavia was caft away Anno 1629. which Accident is the more remakable for the Murders committed by the Factor, Hieronymus. Cornelifzoon, who with fome Confederates refolv'd to run away with the Ship, and to Sail to fome Spanifh Haven, or Dunkirk, and fo to pillage the Netherland Veffels; but their Defign was fruftrated by the Ships runniag againft the Abrolbos: Francis Pelfaert,' chief Commander, firft caus'd the Sick, with the Women and Children, to be pue on an Illand, or elfe on two Rocks about three Leagues diftant from the place where the Ship lay, in which remain'd feventy Men, whom Pelfaert in vain endeavor'd to carry away; for the Sea was fo rough that a Boat was not able to abide in the fame, andalfo the Storm beginning to increafe, beat the Ship more and more againft the Sands, and the Seamen venturing towards the Ille on pieces of Timber,' were fome drown'd, others by tho Waves, were driven afhore, amongf whom was Hieronymus Cornel/zoon, who preferv'd his Life twenty four hours on the Bolefprit after the Ship was ftav'd ; but not terrifid with fuch an Accident, he continu'd in his fore-mention'd Refolution. On one of the Cliffs were forty: Perfons with eighty Cans of Water, but on the Ifland a hundred and cighty with much lefs; upon which Pelfaert, who when the Storm ceas'd, thought to fave fomewhat more out of his Wrack, was neceffitated to feek for frefh Water on one of the faid Cliffs; but not finding enough, trimm'd up his Boat and fet Sail homeward, from thence to fetch a new fupply of People : During which time Cornelis/zoon perform'd his Vi- corntizeon lany; for he chofe David of Zeevang, Gysbrecht Welderen; Coenraed Huif)en, Cornelis Pies antempts terfzoon, Rutger Erederickfzoon, and Hans FEeilwerk, for his Affiftants, befides feveral others, and deftroy'd all the People on the Inand, except five, who efcap'd on pie. ces of Timber to the Rock where Weyber Hays refided with forty Men, who being inform'd what the aforefaid Villains had done, prepard for refiftance with fharppointed Sticks; thofe People on the fecond Rock being alfo flain by Zeevang, who fpared onely fome Women and feven Boys; after which Hieronymus Corneli\{zoon took Lucretia fans for his Wife ; in like manner Huiffen took Judith, Sebaftiaens; the remain. ing Women ferv'd the reft for Concubines. Not long after twenty of them going in Sloops, fell upon Weiber Hays, who valiantly refifted them: but becaule Hays's Life was of great confequence, by reafon he might give notice of their Actions to to the Ship which was expected from Holland, and which they defign'd to run away with, therefore they renew'd their Affaule with fifteen Men more, and were again beat off; wherefore they refolv'd to make a Peace, which Heronymus Cornelifzoon promis'd to ratifie the next day; neverthelefs this Peace was but feigned, for under pretence thereof they deliver'd Letters to feveral French Soldiers that were under Hays's Command, promifing each fix thoufand Guilders if they would joyn with them; but they fhew'd the Letters to Hays, who keeping it fecret, that he might draw on Hieronymus Cornelifzoon, not miftrufting the Difcovery, to come thither at the appointed time, took him Prifoner, and caus'd Zeevang, Huiffen, Welderen, and Cornelis Pieterfzoon to be put to death; but Wouter Loos making his efcape, was chofen chief of the Rebels, who ventur'd a fourth Affault, but returning without any effect left off making any farther Attempt. Mean while Pelfaert arriving with the Sardam Frigat from Holland, fent a Boat a fhore, which by a little Skiff difpatcht by Hays, was inform'd of all the Paffages; whereupon the Boat returning, Pelfaert as he was putting himfelf into a pofture of Defence, efpy'd a Sloop coming about the Southern Point of the Ifland, in which were eleven of the Rebels clad in Scarlet with Silver Lace, which making directly towards the Ship, as foon as they came up, were commanded to throw away their Arms over-board; which having done, and coming aboard the Frigat, they were all put in Irons, as allo their remaining Party, and condemn'd to die.

Oppofite to the Abrolhos on the Main Coaft, a plain Countrey extends it felf thirty Leagues in length, inhabited by the Onetacates, a cruel People, who continually either deftroy one another, or elfe make fad naughters amongft their Neigh. bors.

The County Porto Seguro belongs to the Spanifh Duke of Avero, but is very much decay'd.
The Beant Cupbbara; with a bearded Snout, befidestwo Tusks, and twenty four leffer Teeth in each Jaw, but no Tail; they feed on Grafs and Bufhes in whole Herds on the Shore, and make a terrible noife ; and though they cannot run faft, yet they dive and f fvim extraordinary quick.
The Tapiriet. The Tapiirete alfo refembles a Hog, efpecially in its Head and Feet, but is as big as a Heifer of fix Moneths old, hath a Snout hanging over its under Lip, a Mouth full of Teeth, and on its Skin fhort and dark colourd Hair. This Beaft is very libidinous, and in the Nights fpoils the Fruit-Trees, efpecially the Sugar-Canes, but in the Day.time it fleeps in Thickets. The Flefh of a young Tapierete taftes like Beef.

Laftly; the Inhabitants of Porto Seguro are plentifully fupply'd with Rabbets, and the more, becaufe there being divers forts of them, (fome fay five) they are ta. ken in great abundance, either in Traps, Snairs, or Gins, or by difcovering their Holes; for the Hunters ftopping the entrance of them, dig a Hole directly over the place where the Coneys lodge, and fo kill them with long Pike-ftaves in the Ground.

Five forts of Rabbets in Brafili.

Of thefe five forts of Rabbets in Brafle, the chiefeft, call'd Paca, hath a thick Head, little Ears, their fore-Feet bigger than their hind-Feet, fhort, hard, and brown Hair, feckled grey on the Sides, but no Tail: The Flefh of this fort of Rabbets is very delicate.

The fecond fort is the Tupefi, which being like a Hare amongft us, may as well be accounted of that kind.

The Aguti refembles our Rabbets, onely it hath harfh brown Hair, round Ears; bald Feet, gruntles like a Hog, hath two Toes more on their hind=Legs than on the foremof.

The Cavia Cobaya, though lefs than the European Rabbets, excell them in foft and divers-colour'd Hair, diftinguifh'd by white, red, and black Spots; their Head and Teeth refemble thofe of a Rat, but it hath no Tail: No Rabbets can be made tamer than thefe, and if carry'd to any remote Countrey, breed as well there as in Brafile.

The laft of all is the Apared, which differs little in running from a Hare, as alfo in refpect of the Head and Beard, harbors more in rent Cliffs than in fandy. Ground.:

The Soil of Porto Seguro bears two forts of Palm.Trees, viz. the Tucum and Airi; the Tucum hath fmall Boughs full of prickly Leaves, and a fruit not unlike the Da. mask Prune, hanging in Clufters of three or four hundred together; and being excellent Food to fatten Hogs and Apes; alfo when prefs'd yielding a clear Oyl, which is highly efteem'd : the Fruit when ripe grows black without, and, within hath a white Kernel : of the Leaves the Braflians Spin fine and ftrong Thred.

The Airi grows much higher than the Tucum, and tath alfo longer Leaves, a Body full of fharp Thorns, and a round Fruit full of white and oylie Pulp, but not eatable; the Wood hard, heavy and black, finks in the Water, and the Brafilians make their Clubs of the fame.

Along the Rivers flie the Birds Cocoi, refembling Herons, though in beauty they The Bird far exceed them ; they have but little Flefh, long fharp Bills, of a yellowifh green colour, and curious Crefts of Feathers on their Heads, which fall back over their Necks; their Flefh when young is delicate.

Los.Ifleos.

NExt Porto Seguro borders the Countrey Los Ifleos, fo call'd from its chief Siuntion axd Town, which confifts of a hundred and fifty Houles, (or perhaps by this of Loi flan: time many more) eight Sugar-Mills, a Cloyfter for the fefuits; and a Church. The Inhabitants live by Tillage, and Tranfporting of Provifions in lite tle Barks to Pernambuco.

Seven Leagues farther in the Countrey, beyond the Town of Ifleos, lies a namelefs Lake three Leagues long, as many broad, and above ten Fathom deep, and full of the Fifh Manati, which are very large and well rafted, befides abundance of Crocodiles; and in windy Weather the Water is as rough as if it- were in the Ocean. Out of this Lake flows a River by a Paffage fo narrow, that a Boat can fcarce pafs through the fame.
Round about this River live the Guaymures, the moft falvage People of all America; they are of a Gigantick fize, have white Skins; carry exceeding great Bowes and Arrows, live without Houfes like Beafts, devour Mans-flefh like Tygers, hever Fight in Companies or Armies, but watch to furprize a fingle Man or Beaft ; they allo eat theirown Children, and poffefs'd formerly all the Land from the River

St. Fran- St. Francijco to the Promontory Frio; but beaten from thence by the Tupinambas and Iupinachias, they went to the County Los Ifleos, which they Invaded in fuch a manner, that the Portuguefe'were not onely forc'd to leave feveral Sugar-Mills, but alfo the whole Countrey.

Bahia de Todos los Sanctos.

Situation and Defeription of Tedos los sandios.

NExt to I/leos borders Babia de Todos los Sanctos, belonging to the Portuguefe. The Inlet which borrows its Denomination from all the Saints, gives Name to this eminent County. The Bay great and wide, and in the middle from twelve to eighteen Fathom deep, lies in thirteen Degrees Southward of the Equinoctial Line. The Coaft rifes white along the Sea fide. The Current according to the courfe of the Sun runs fix Moneths towards the South, and as many towards the North. The opening of the Inlet is on the South, but it flows up Northerly, and contains two Leagues and a half in breadth; feveral frefh Rivers dif. charge their Waters into the fame: The utmoft and biggeft Ifland Taperica breaks off the Waves which come rowling in from the Ocean. Thofe that Sail into the fame muft have the Ifland on their left Hand, and the Main Coaft on their right, which is known by a Promontory, on which the Fort Antonio, and the old City Villa Veja are built, near a little Bay with a Foreland on the North, from which the Main Coaft circling like a Half-Moon ends near the Point Tapagipe, which juts out from Babia Todos los Sanctos. The Caftle Tapefiepe ftands on the utmof Point, where the Countrey winding towards the Eaft makes the Inlet larger, from whence a narrow Channel runs up into the Countrey, and there makes a Lake which extends North and South : from the Mouth of the Lake the Coaft reaches Northward to the River Pitanga, which comes gliding out of the Eaft, and in its Paffage receives feveral Streams, on whofe Banks ftand divers Sugar-Mills. From Pitanga the Coaft extends a League Northward, then Wefterly with a crooked Elbow, in whofe circumference lie two namelefs Ines clofe under the Shore ; this Elbow ends in a blunt Point, about half a League from which lies the Ifland Mare, a League long, in the Mouth of the River Pitanga. To the Northward from hence a River difembogues in the faid Inlet. More Southerly appears Monks-I/le, from whence the Coaft extends it felf Northerly, where feveral Inlands appear at an exact diftance from the Coaft; the firft beyond the fore-mention'd blunt Point, is Birapebiara; the next, which lies clofer to the Shore, Porto Madero; next comes in view a long Ifland in the Mouth of a River, from whence the Countrey extends Weftward, and fronts the Ifland De Fuentes, as doth alfo the River Tambaria, which comes out of the North, but empties it felf with a crooked Arm near the reft; from hence the Coaft with two little Bays runs North-Weft to the Stream Gerefipe, in whofe Mouth, which is pretty large, appear three Inles on a row, the utmof whereof is call'd Caraibe, the middlemoft Pycca, the innermoft hath no Name, but divides the River into two Channels; from hence the Coaft bends with Ceveral Inlets, into which fall divers Rivulets towards the South, from the River Cachoera, full of little Illes, oppofite to which ftand feveral Sugar-Mills. Againft Cacboera appears the Inland Meve, and more Southerly Taperica, betiween the fharp Point Tapagipe and the Caftle Antonio. Near the fore-mention'd the City St. Salvador was buile by Thomas, de Sofa, who weighing Anchor from Lisbon, Anno 1549. Landed fafely near Villa Teja, and about half a League from thence pitch'd upon a Hill, and took order forthwith for the erecting of his new City there, giving to each of his Followers a place to build on : the fefnits chofe the large Plain where at prefent fands the Church Confecrated to the Virgin Mary; the Names of the faid Fefuits were Juani Azpilcueta, Antonio Pireo, Leonardo Nomnio, Didaco Jacobeo, Vincentio Roderigo, and Emanuel Nobrega; whileft the common People fet themfelves to the building of Dwelling. houfes: But when fobn the Third, King of Portugal, fent a Prieft chicher to Teach in the new Church of Maria, the fore-mention'd Jefuits remov'd from thence to a high Hill, which they call'd The Mountain Calvarien, whither divers Brafilians came flocking, and pitch'd their Tents about the Cloyfter, admiring their ftrange Neigh. bors.

Chap. VII.

When Sofa Landed on the fore-mention'd Shore, the Portuguefe had but little footing on America; for their Plantations at Ifleos, St. Vincent, Pernambuco, Villa Veja, Itamaraca, and Porto Seguro, difcover'd by Pedro Alvares Capralis, Anzo 1500. were run all to ruine.

Befide the City St. Salvador and the decay'd Town Villa Veja, the City Paripe lies three Leagues farther into the Countrey, confifting of three thoufand Families, and eighteen Sugar-Mills: The Countrey about the fame produces plenty of Cotton.

The Ifland Taperica, which is pretey large, hath a fertile Soil for the production of Tobacco, and Grafs to fatten Cattel : The Inhabitants boyl much Train-Oyl of the Whales, which come afhore there in confiderable numbers.
Twelve Leagues Southward from St. Salvador a ppears the Village Cacocheira, for merly.belonging to a rich Portuguefe, who took great pains in reforming the falyage People Guaymures to a civil Life; but feeing he profited but little, he caus'd great Companies of them to be remov'd to Taperica, that they might do lefs mifchief, where the unufual and unwholfon Air kill'd them all in a fhore time.

The Lordfhip Babia hath abundance of Sugar-Mills, which are either turn'd by the Water, or drawn by Oxen.

The Sugar-Canes, by the Brafilians call'd Viba or Tacomaree, grow better in a clayie The mamme and fat Soil, over which the Rivers flowing leave their Mud; than on Highelands, of pugaring Hills, or Mountains; they are Planted after this manner: They firft plough their Fields, weed them, and make Holes at an exact diftance one from the other, into which they plant their Canes in fuch a manner, that the tops touch one another. The Holes before mention'd require more Earth to fill them in Summer than in Winter, that the violent Heat of the Sun may not dry up the Root, and that the Rain may the freelier come at them to moiften them, for the more moifture they have, the better they grow ; they attain to their full ripenefs in ten, or at moft in twelve Moneths; February and March being the two laft Winter Moneths, are accounted the beft to Plant in, becaufe the Earth foftned by Rains, fuffers the Root to Shoot forth the better. The ripe Canes being cut off, are left in the Field till the following Year ; during which time new Canes growing, are often ground in the Mill with the old ones; but if they ftand two years, then the fweet Liquor dries up, and the Cane withers. The young Plants carefully planted in good Ground may laft forty, nay fifty years; but in a barren Soil they fet new every five years. Sometimes in great Droughts and extraordinary hot Seafons, the Canes are frorche to nothing, which being burnt in the Winter, the Afhes ferve to Dung the Ground; and fo in like manner when the Water, overflowing the Fields, drowns the young Plants. In moift Grounds the black=wing'd Worm, call'd Guirapeacopa, (by the Poro Thio Worm, tuguefe nam'd Pao de Galeuba) gnaws the Roots in fuch a manner, that the Canes ${ }^{\text {Guirpeacaogs: }}$ die; and fometimes it happens alfo that the Weeds choak the young Plants;
wherefore

wherefore the Ground is to be weeded four times a year, till fuch time as the Canes are ftrong enough to bear againft the Weeds : they cut off the ripe Canes at the lowermoft Joynt, and, all the Leaves being firlt pull'd off, tie them up in Bundles; and bring them to the Mills, which confift of three great Iron Bars, between which the Canes are fqueez'd. The Water-Mills are curn'd by the force of the Water, which in great Gutters led from high Mountains falls with exceeding force in to Pools made for that purpofe; after which manner, though they wind the Canes much fafter, yet they get not fo much Sugar as when they grind them in the Mills turn'd by Cattel : The places through which the Juice runs muft be cleans'd twice in twenty four hours; the Canes put in behind between the firf Bar, are turn'd into the fecond, and thence into the third, which fucceffively fqueezes out all the remaining Juice: The Canes thus prefs'd, ferve for Fewel to burn; but they conftantly keep fuch a great Fire both Night and Day, that befidesthofe prefs'd Canes, they burn forty Fathom of Wood in twenty four hours, infomuch that whole Woods are confum'd in a fhort time: The Liquor, nam'd Caldo, runs along wood den Gutters into great Kettles, in which it is boyl'd, but if it happen to be overboyl'd they put Water amongtt it, whereby it becomes excellent Food for Horfes; then they put the Liquor into a fecond Kettle, where it is boyl'd afrefh, and alfo fcumm'd ; and for the better cleanfing of it, Lime-Juyce and other things are put amongft it ; then they ftrein it through Clothes, and give the Drofs which remains in the fame to the Slaves, which work for half a year together Night and Day like Horfes. The Drofs mix'd with Water makes alfo good Wine. Out of the great Kettles, by the 'Portuguefe call'd Caldero de Mellar, the Caldo runs into the leffer nam'd Tachas, where it is boyl'd a third time, and continually ftirr'd till it comes to be thick like a Syrrup, and at laft to the confiftence of Sugar : It may be accounted amongft the Myfteries of Nature, that while the Sugar boyls in the Tachas, which are the little Kettles, they muft drop Oyl amongft the Liquor, which if they fhould, do whileft it is in the great Kettel, the Liquor would not turn to the confiftence of Sugar ; as on the contrary, if they fhould put their Lye into the little Kettles as they do into the grear, the Liquor would be quite fpoil'd. In their Boyling houfes ftand feveral hundreds of Earthen Pots one by another on Planks full of Holes; which Pots they cover with moift clay, and after fourteen days knocking it out of the Pots, they feparate the brown Sugar from the white, both which are laid to dry in the Sun, and put into Chefts.

Sect. VIII.

Pernambuco.

$\mathrm{N}^{\circ}$prthward from Babiade Todos los Sanctos lies Pernambuco, which extends along Defripioion the Coaft above feventy Leagues, between the River St. Francifco and the bimo. Countrey of Hamaraca.
Pernambuco, which fignifies HellsoMouth, is on the Eaft wafh'd by the Northern Ocean ; in which grows a Weed much like an Oaken Leaf, and fo thick, that un. lefs it be cut to make their Way, impedes the Sailing of Ships.

The Sea is alfo very full of Fifh, which in calm Weather are vifible fixty Fathom several forti deep, and are taken in greater abundance than they are able to /pend; for they no fooner let down a Bait, cover'd with Feathers and Tallow, but the Fifh immediately fwallowing the fame, are taken.

Here are in the firft place abundance of Hays, a Fifh fo rank and oylie, that they are not eatable, but their Brains are accounted good againft the Stone.

There are alfo hereabouts a fort of Aying Fifh like Herrings, but not fo big ; they have Wings like Bats, which carry them above Water whileft they are wet; they fwim in fhoals, and are chafed by all other Fifhes, which endeavoring to efcape by flight out of the Water, they become a prey to the Sea-pies.

The Sea-Breams are as well tafted as the flying Fifh; the Mariners cover them in Salt, or ftuff them within full of Salt and Pepper, and fo hang them to dry in the Sun.

Pernambuco it felf lying in five Degrees Southward from the Equinox, produces abundance of Brafile Wood and Sugar-Canes, which laft is no proper Brafilian Plant, for the firf Plants thereof were by the Portuguefe firft tranfplanted thither from the Canary Iflands.

This Countrey was firft difcover'd by Americus Vefputius, who being fent thither firf Diso by Emanuel, King of Portugal, to difcover the Coaft between the Promontory before Olinda and the Illand Itamaraca, and finding a Split Rock and fome Brafilian Huts, Landed, and ask'd the Denomination of the Coaft, which he was inform'd was call'd Pernambuco, which he found full of fteep Mountains, inacceffible Woods, and in fome places Plains and pleafant Valleys; but the chiefeft thing he could find to lade his Ship with, was Brafile Wood; but being inform'd that the Soil would bear Sugar-Canes, he caus'd Canary Sugar-Plants to be Set there.

Olinda, formerly the chief City of Pernambuco, had (according to Lopez) above chief Tomis three thoufand Houfes and feventy SugareMills: It is built on feveral Hills, which and pore. on the North-fide are fteep and overgrown with Brambles; betwixt which in ma. ny places grow Orange.Trees. Jobn Newbof, who arriv'd at Olinda Anno 1642. found a few Netherlanders and Spaniards there, who dwelt in the ruin'd Houfes. The Land-fide of the City is ftrengthned by Hills overgrown with Brambles and Thorns, and towards the Sea=fide with Earthen Walls, fortifid by fourteen Bulo warks and a Stone Caftle, able to withftand a confiderable force: The Out-works towards the South were maintain'd by fepos, who from the foremention'd Hills could fee not onely a great way into the Ocean, but alfo the River Biberibi, which hath a Stone Bridge leading to the City, and Northerly and Weftward the Way lies through great Woods and Forrefts. Olinda ie felf is divided into twenty feven large Streets, befides leffer Lanes and feveral Avenues, and five chief Chnrches, viz. Mifericordia, Noftra Sennora del Emparo, and Nofera Sennora de Guadalupe, San Salvador, and San Pedro, befides two others of leffer note. On the higheft Hill ftands the Jeo fuits Cloyfter, buile fquare and high, and furrounded with Walls, on which Sebiftian King of Portugal, by the perfwafion of his Uncle Cardinal Henry, Ipent a great fum of Money, and endow'd it with annual Revenues, Anno 1571. The Capuchins alfo built a ftately Cloyfter towards the Eaft. The Francijcans moreover inhabited a magnificent Building, near whith food the Governors Palace. The ©armelites had allo a ftately Edifice, whofe former luftre fill appears by the Ruines, where now Cattel graze; from the Hills about which may be exactly difcern'd Reciffa, the Promontory of St. Augufine, and the Cafte before the Road of Reciffa: Along the Shore food the Dominican Cloyfter, and in the upper part of the City the Minfter, Confecrated to St. Bento, exceeding ftrong both by Nature and Art; near which flood Conceptio de noftra Sennora. The Fort fuan de Albuquerque ftood on the South. fide, from whence a Way leads you along the Shore to Reciffa, where hard by the Potter's Houfe ftood a Beacon. But fince Olinda fell into the hands of the NetherMand Eaff-India Company, they built a ftrong Fortrefs on the North near the Seafide, where formerly a great Traḑe was driven with Sugar, infomuch that forty Ships have been fraighted in a day therewith from Olinda, and ftill as much more remain'd in the Store-houfes. The Sugar cannot be made without the help of African Slaves, and that in great numbers; for Angola alone provided fifteen thoufand four hundred and thirty Moors for the Sugar-Mills about Olindn.

In the YearsiboI, 1602, and 1623 . there was fent to furprize this City Henrick Loncque, who a little before with Peter Peterszoon Hein took the Spaniß Plate-Fleet, The Expeii- and brought it away from Matanca. In the middle of fune, Anno 1629. Loncque nionof Lonce weighed Anchor from the Goerean Road, and between great Canary and Teneriff he was Engag'd (having but eight Sail) with forty Spanifh Ships, Commanded by Frederick de Toledo, fought his way through the midft of them, and near St. Wincent (the reft of his Fleet being come up to him, which in all made up twenty feven) he ftay'd for a farther promis'd Supply of Ships to affift him, and the longer, becaufe the Men rais'd by the $N$ eetherland $W e f=I n d i a$ Company weretaken into the States Service, to oppofe the Spanifh and Imperial Forces, who at that time had gain'd fome advantage upon them : But not long after Hartogenebofch being taken by the Hollanders, the reft of the expected Fleet, with the promis'd A'id, arriv'd at St. Vincent' from whence Loncque, after four Moneths flay, fet Sail with thefe additional Forces, his Fleet then confifting of fifty Sail of Ships, which carry'd above feven thoufand Soldiers, befides Seamen; but he was forc'd to lie a confiderable time under the Line, being either becalm'd or beaten back by contrary Winds, infomuch that many of his Men perifh'd, or were difabled with the Scurvey: At laft his Fleet being come to an Anchor upon the Coaft of Pernambuco, the firft that Landed about two Leagues Northward of Olinda, was Colonel Diederik'van Waerdenberg, who by Day. break divided his Men into three Divifions, the Forlorn-Hope confifting of nine hundred and chirty four Men, march'd towards Olinda along the Shore, led by Adolf van der Eltz; the fecond being a thoufand and forty nine, by Stein Callenfels; the third, confifting of nine hundred and fixty five, was led: by Fouke Honx: thus drawn out, and marching on, they met with no refiftance till they came to the River Dolce, where eight hundred Portuguefe Charg'd on them from behind a new Sconce;
but Wrerdenberg iwading up to the Middle through the River with two Fieldepieces, the Enemy lefs his Works and ran into the Wood ; the Forlorn-Hope approach. ing the City, march'd up towards the right fide, up a Way through the Woods, Scal'd the Walls, near which the fefuits Cloyfter ftoad, over which he got after fome refiftance. The fecond Party march'd in a narrow Path along the Shore, and otinda akem broke into the City between the Francifcans and Fefuits Cloyfter, towards the Cathes by haterst. dral Salvador, from whence they difcharg'd feveral Guns, as allo from the Caftle, which they had taken, whileft Fouke Honx Storm'd the Battlements towards the South ; but Stein Callenfels and Eltz being already Mafters of Olinda, the Defendants furrendred all. Mean while the Colonel's Skiff brought five hundred Men more a fhore, with which he march'd without any hinderance into the City, where the Conquerors, faint with exceffive Heat and want of Water, found but little Booty, becaufe the Inhabitants having notice of the Hollinders coming, had convey'd all their Goods and Wealth to Reciffa, which the Governor Matthias Albuquerque (Brother to the Lord Duarte Albuquerque, to whom Pernambuco properly belong'd) burnt with all the Store=houres, partly out of revenge tothe Inhabitants, who fled contrary to his Commands, and partly becaufe he would not entich the Hollanders. The Portuguefe Captain, Correa de Caftel Blanco, in his Letter to the King of Spain, values the lofs at twenty hundred thoufand Ducats. But fill the Portuguefe had poffeffion of feveral Forts about the Countrey; whereof the moft confiderable was St. George, whither Stein Callenfels march'd in the Night with fix hundred Men, but his Ladders being too fhort, and the Hand-Granado's not eafily taking fire, he was for'd to Retreat; whereupon judging it moft convenient to befiege the Cafte, he digg'd Trenches about the fame; nor was it long ere the Befieged defir'd Quarter, which The Fort st. being granted, they march'd from thence with ninety Men. The Water Cafte furrendring in like manner, they found fifteen Brafs Guns therein; and in that of St. George four thoufand pound of Gun-powder, and ewenty four Iron Guns.

When the Netberland Forces Landed on Pernambice, the Portuguefe inhabited eleven Towns, the chiefelt whereof being Olinda, was generally Garrifon'd by four Companies of Armed Citizens, each containing a hundred Men and three Companies of Soldiers: Amongtt the Citizens were two hüdred Merchants, fome of whom were judg'd to be worth fifty thoufand Crufadosed

Southward from Olinda, between the River Biberibe and the Ocean, was a narrow Cawley, at the end of which lay the populous Village Reciffä, where the Ships lade and unlade. About the middle of the Cliff, being a League long, is the Ann choring place for great Ships, call'd Pozo. At the end of the fore=mention'd Cawfey againft Pozo, appear'd a round Tower of Fre-ftone.

The Journal kept by the Englifh Fleet that came hither under the Command of The memoCaptain Fames Lancafter, Anno 1595. makes mention of a Fort which lay at the pable exo Mouth of the Haven before Reciffa, which the Eiglijh valiantly Storm'd, notwith-- chiplijunder ftanding fix hundred Men and feven Brafs Guns might eafily have made it invinci- Japmers zan ble: But they conquering the fame, march'd up to Olinda, took the Suburb, confifting of a hundred Houfes, withour any refiftance, as alfo a great Booty, and the greater, becaufe the Goods of a rich Carak which had fome few days before fuffer'd Shipwrack, were kept there; they alfo took fifteen laden Ships, and for thirty days kept the whole Countrey about Olinda reftlefs with continual Alarms. Since this Invafion the Portuguefe buile a third Fort on Reciffa, fo that the Ships muft pafs in in between two Forts, where the Channel is alfo full of Rocks, and confequently the more dangerous.
From Reciffa the Goods are fent in Barques or Lighters to Olinda, between which and St. Salvador run the two great Rivers Francifco and Real, the firf whereof retains its frefhnefs twenty Leagues into the Ocean.

Along the River Popitinga ftand many Sugar-Mills; and five Leagues farther Northward beyond Olinda the Portuguefe inhabit thefe Villages, viz. Garafu, Reciffa, Moribeca, Antonio de Cabo, Miguel de Poyuca, Gonfalvo de Una, Povacon de Porto Calvo, Alagoa del Nort, and Alagoa del Zur, befides other Brafilian Hamlets, and above feventy Sugar-Mills.
The napure The County of Pernambuco hath for the moft part a good Soil, feveral Plains, or the soll in Resu low Hills, and fruifful Valleys, abounding with fair Canes, which alfo grow on the Mountains Mafurepe, Zebaatan, Poyuca, and Moribeque.
The Wilds of El Gran Matto, afford the beft Wood, with which they drive the greateft Trade in the Village Laurenzo. Whileft Matthias Albuquerque Intrench'd himfelf a League and a half Weftward from Olinda, by the Sugar-Mills belonging to Francifco Montero, with a hundred Portuguefe, and three times as many Armed Brafilians, Loncque finding that he could not long keep the City Olinda againft the Enemy, caus'd the fame to be pull'd down and burnt. The Woods round about feed wild Cattel, and the Mountains contain Mines of Gold and Silver.
The firf Plantation in Brafile was in the Ifland Itamaraca, three Leagues long and two broad, but extends its Jurifdiction along the Main Coaft, from which it is feparated by a narrow River, which runs betwixt both thirty five Leagues. The Countrey is eminent for twenty Sugar-Mills, and abundance of Brafile Wood.
viluade coro.
The chief Town of this Inland is call'd Villa de Conception near the Sea, which, round about the Illand is full of Rocks. The French fettling themfelves here at firff, were driven from thence by the Portuguefe. The Town it felf, built on a Rock, hath a ftrong Caftle on the one fide, erected near a fhrubby Moor; to the Northward of which Stein Callenfels found a little Ifle, fearce a Mufquerofhot long, which at High-water is overflown, and being full of fmall Trees makes a Receptacle for Sea-Fowl, which flock thither about fix a Clock in the Evening to Rooft on the Boughs, from which, when once fetled to take their repofe, they will not ftir till fix of the Clock the next Morning, though you difcharge. Guns at them all Night; but fince Stein Callenfels cut down the Wood to make Pallifado's for the new Fort againft the Town Conception, they were never feen afterwards.

SECT. IX.

Parayba.

Defrription of Parayba,

NOrthward from Itamaraca borders the County of Parayba, whence the French Ships carry'd yearly feveral Ladings of Brafle. Wood, till Anno 1585. the Portuguefe General Martin Leytam drove them from all places, fince when they never recoverd any part thereof.

This Territory of Parayba borrows its Denomination from the chief Town, lying five Leagues from the North Sea near the River Parayba, which in the Summer Seafon hath but little Water, but in the Winter Seafon increafes to that heighth, that it oftentimes on a fudden overflowing the Countrey fweeps away both People, Cattel, and Houfes. The City it felf, though fmall, yet hath feveral fair Buildings, amongtt which three Churches and as many Cloyfters; inhabited by Firancifcans, Carmelites, and Benedictins, are none of the meaneft. The Countrey thereabouts indifferently fruitful, hath twenty Sugar-Mills. The Mountain Cupaguan, formerly very populous with Natives, being exceeding fertile, produces all manher of Fruit; at prefent it lies defolate, the Brafilians being all deftroy'd by the Portuguefe. Thefe Mountains produce alfo curious green Stones, which the Inhabitants wore in their Lips for an Ornament, and which alfo cures the Griping of the Guts, by being laid upon the Belly.

The French under the Command of Captain Dourmigas, difcover'd ninety years The silver. ago the Silver-Mine Copaoba, and for a confiderable time carry'd Silver and Drafile abe Wood from hence, till the Portuguefe made themfelves abfolute Mafters.

Moreover, on the North-fide of Parajba, the Salvages call'd Petiguars inhabit fixteen Villages.

Amongft the Birds of prey which breed here, are the Ouyaouraffor, twice as big as strane Bids a Crane, with curious Feathers, and fo bold and ftrong, that it devours not onely Sheep, but Deer and Men.

The Bird Mayton is no way inferior in beauty to the Peacock, his whole Body being cover'd with white and black Feathers; on his Head grows a Tuft ; the Flefh is alfo very pleafant to the tafte.

The Toucan, another Bird, refembles a Turtle-Dove in all parts, except the Bill and Breaft; for the Belly is ten Inches long and three broad, the Breaft of an Orange colour, mix'd with Crimfon Spots ; the remaining part is white, the Back red, and the Tail and Wings Coal=black.

The Plant call'd Yarammacarou deferves allo a peculiar obfervation, viz. It is the plant thicker than a Man's Thigh, grows twelve Foot high, with three Branches of equal rom. length and thicknefs, which you may eafily break; it is. green without, white within, and without Leaves, leaving red Bloffoms ftreak'd with blue, froin whence grows a Fruit about the bignefs of an Apple, crimfon without and white within, and tafting like a Mulberry.

The River Parayba produces amonglt many other Fifhes the Guara-tereba, which The cuaraz hath a thick Body, flat Head, crooked Back, fplit Tail, and triangular Scales, $\begin{gathered}\text {, tritha, with } \\ \text { fift trange }\end{gathered}$ which laid in the Sun, Shine like polifh'd Gold.

The Sea allo hereabouts affords a ftrange Fifh with a very long and thin Tail, the Females whereof Lay every day Eggs like Hens : they are full of poyfonous Prickles, and divided into feveral forts, amongt which the chiefeft are accounted the Naainari and Jabebara.

THe Sea-Coaft of Brafile from St. Vincent to Spirito Santo appears as followeth: Before the Coaft of St. Vincent lie the four little Illes Queimadas, and on one fide the Alcatraces and Bufios; Eaft North-Eaft from which bears the Ifland Sebaftian: Before the Inlet Mbatuba lies the Ifle Dos Porcos, clofe under a high Shore, where the Haven runs far up in the Countrey. Fourteen Leagues farther the Ifland Grande, for'd with frefh Water, with Fifh-ponds, Woods, and two good Havens. Before the Road of Garatuba appear feveral broken Ifles, the chiefeft whereof is Morambaya: The Ships Sailing along the Braflian Coaft view next the Mouth of the wide River fenero, without fear of Rocks or Shoals. Moreover, a fandy Ground extends from the Weftern Point to Cape Frio, which rifes out of the Sea like a Rock, with white Streaks, and crack'd on the top, between both which the high Illand before Frio makes a fafe Harbor. Nine Leagues beyond Frio to the Northward, St. Salvador opens a large Bay, hemm'd in on the South by divers namelefs Inles. Laftly, the feveral Salt-pans along this Coaft are very remarkable, as alfo the Promontory St. Thoma

St. Thoma and Paras)va, the Inlets Manangea and Itapemeri, and the River Guarapari, famous for the Mountain Pero Cam towards the North, and Guapel to the South. The Ifland Salvago, round and mountainous, lies before the Mouth of the River Guarapari, where the Main Coaft grows uneven and Hilly. On the North-Eaft Point of Spirito Santo 2 long ridge of Rocks appears above the Sea; and near the Inlet rifes three black Hills on the South, and two Leagues up in the Countrey the broo ken Mountain Meffe Alvaro, which extends along the Sea-Coaft. The River Des Reyos Magos encompaffes three Mountains feverally, and makes three Illes. The Coaft on each fide of the River Dolce is very plain and even, but Cricare hath a mix. ture of high and low Lands. In the Mouth of the River Maranipe lies a great company of white Shelves near together, appearing afar off as if all one. Parairepe is re= markable by the high Trees growing on it. The Mouth of the River Caruvelas lies full of Sand-plats. Near the Beacon Taubaen rifes a red Cliff from which a fandy Point reaches to the River Curubabo. Before Porto Seguro lie feveral dangerous Rocks in the Sea, to the Southward of which rifes the High-land Cape Pafqual. Not far from hence Santa Cruiz a good Haven for fmall Veffels, from whence the Coaft extends North North.Eaft, and South South WWeft, to Rio Grande, where the Shoals call'd Baxos de St. Antonio, making a dangerous Entry, force the Ships for the moft part to keep three Leagues from the Shore. Beyond the Arm of Rio Grande appear three high Mountains cover'd with Trees; from whence to Illeos is a fafe Paffage free from Shelves. Eight Leagues farther, the River Dos Contas runs between two broken Cliffs into the Sea: in the Mouth of ir rifes a Rock refembling a high Ifland. Between Ilbeos and Contas the Coaft rifes alfo, but falls low again in a Bay, where white Sugar-Mills, formerly belonging to Lucas Giraldes, are feen at a great diftance. The Countrey on each fide of the River Camanu is plain; the Stream it felf hath a wide Mouth, and refpects with its Northern Shore the Ifle Cayepa, dangerous for the many Shelves which are about the fame. The River Tinhare is known by the Mountain Morro de Santo Paulo, which rifes like a Galley on the Southern Shore. Twelve Leagues farther opens the Bay of Todos los SanClos, on whofe Eafts ftern Point flands the Cafle Antonio, and before the Northern Shore the Ifland Too poam, to the Eaft and South-Ealt low and ftrong. The River Das Pedras falls with a wide Mouth into the Oceaṇ. Next you pals by the Streams Tapicuru, Real Vafabaris and Francifco, known by a low. Promontory. The Rivers Miguel, Antonio, Cao maragili, Porto Calvo, Formofo, and Serinhaem, difémbogue alfo into the Sea. Next the Stream Das Pedras rifes the Promontory St. Augufine, all overgrown with Bufhes and Brambles. Five Leagues South ward lies the fmall Ine Allexo. The Coaft from St. Augufine to Pernambuco extends North and by Eaft, and South and by Weft. The Ifland Tamaraca lies in the Mouth of the Stream Gajana; and fifteen Leagues farther appears Parayba; between which two the Shelf Pedra Furada extends three Leagues along the Coaft, and another from the Shore of the Promontory Blanco, where the Road Porto de Franefes affords Seamen Secure Anchorage for Shipping. Next to Parayba follow the Havens Treicron, Pipa, and Bufios, the Stream Siara and Maragnan, which wafhes the Weftern part of Brafile, and is taken for the Boundary between the Spanifh Indies and the Portugucfe, according to the Divifion by Pope Alexander the Sixth, Anno 1502. Laftly, there belongs to Brafile the Illand Fernando de Noronbo, in three Degrees of Southern Latitude. The Capuchin, Claude de Abbeville, going thither, found the fame to be fix Leagues in circumference, and extraordinary fruifful ; befides good frefh Water, Peafe, Beans, Maiz, Potato's, Melons, Cotton, Cattel, wild Goats, and all forts of Poultrey; which this Iीland affords; but it chiefly abounds with great variety of a fort of Birds which fuffer themfelves to be caught with the Hand. There grows likewife a namelefs 'Tree, not unlike stange Treei the Laurel, being of a ftrange Nature, for who e're touches the Leaves, and afterwards rubs his Eyes, lofes his Sight for four hours, with exceeding pain; which pain rieverthelefs another Tree growing in the fame Ifland cures immediately. The French, who Landed on Noronbo Anno 1613 . found a Portuguefe there, with eighteen Braflians, Men, Women, and Children, banifh'd thither from 'Pernambuco, whom Baptizing, they carry'd to Maragnan. Near Noronbo lies the Ifle De Few.

Sect. X.  Maragnan.

MAragnan, forty five Leagues in circumference, lies in two Degrees of Sou- Sitiation? thern Latitude, and a confiderable diftance from the Bay, which appears between the Rivers Aperegha and Comajamw.
The Eaftern Entrance into this Bay hath before the Promontory Arbres Secs, the Ifle St. Anna, by the Braflians call'd Upaonmiri.

Oppofite to Maragnan, about half way from the faid Inlet, fall three Rivers into the Sea, the moft Eafterly call'd Mounin, hath a Mouth a Mile wide, and difcharges its Water into the Sea; the middlemoft Taboucourou, is five hundred Leagues long, and ends with two Mouths, half a League diftant one from the other; the moft Wefterly, call'd Miary, is about fix Leagues broad, fo falling into the Sea.

The Stream Maracou falls into the Pinare, and thus united they joyn both with the Miary, which runs exceeding fwift into the Sea.

Berween the Capes Arbres Secs and De la Tortue, the Coaft lies full of fandy Banks, fome of which extend a League into the Ocean.

On the other fide of the Promontory Tapoytapere near Maragnan, towards the River
Amazones, lie fo many Inles along the Sea-fhore, that no Ship is able to approach the fame, becaufe the Spaces between the Ifles are overgrown with Trees call'd Apparituriers, whofe Boughs thooting down and rooting in the Sea, produce other Trees, which grow fo clofe together, that they feem one entire Tree with many Branches. Befides this Inconvenience there is abundance of drift Sand when the Wind fits from the Shore, which ofentimes fwallows the Ships which lie upon the fame.

Beyond Maragnan lie two Roads, the firft between the Promontory Arbres and the Iffe St. Anna, but dangerous; the other, difcover'd fome years fince, reaches to the Fort of Maragnan, and is as dangerous as the firft.

This Ifland hath twenty feven Villages, by the Natives call'd $O_{c}$ or Tolve, each Village confifting of four Houfes made of great Stakes, and cover'd with Palm-tree Leaves againft the Rain, each Houfe being thirty Foot broad, and from two hundred to five hundred Paces long, according to the greater or leffer number of Inhabitants. Thie firt Village, oppofite to St. Anna, is call'd Timbobu; the fecond, well known for two eminent Fifhing-places, is Itapara; but the two biggeft are Funiparan and Eufdanuap, each having about five or fix hundred Inhabitants.

This Illand of Maragnan lies under a temperate Climate, being feldom troubled with exceffive Colds, Droughts, peftilential Vapors, Wind, Hail, or Thunder, only it Lightens Morning and Evening in ferene Weather. When the Sun returns from the Tropick of Capricorn to the North, then it Rains for fix Weeks together; but when he declines from Cancer towards the Southern Solfice, the Trade-Wind, or

Eaftern

Eaftern Breezes rife at feven of the Clock in the Morning, but grow fainter to. wards Sun=eeting.
Fruiful Soil and The Soil of Maragnan is exceeding fruitful, producing abundance of Brafile Wood, and rich Coalt
 Sugar, Cotton, the red Colour Roucou, Tobacco, Ballam not inferior to the Arabian, Pepper, and all manner of Fruits. On the Coaft is often found excellent Amber-greece and Jafper Stones, which the Inhabitants wore in their Lips. In fome places along the Sea-fhore appear Rocks of red and white Stone Diaphonous, like Cryftal, which (fome fay) are as hard as Diamonds, and call'd Allencon. The Woods produce Timber, and the Shore Stones and Shells, of which they make Mortar. There are alfo feveral pleafant Fields and Hills, whofe Feet are wafh'd by delightful Brooks, along which they pafs in Canoos from one Village to another. The Woods confift moft of Palm:Trees, amongft which breed all forts of Fowls and Beafts.
Fruit-Trees. - The chiefeft of the Fruit. Trees which grow here is the Accayou, which being much bigger than our Pomewaters, hath Leaves not unlike thofe of an Oak : and allo a Nut refembling a Sheeps Kidney, cover'd with a-hard Shell, which inclofes an oylie Pith. Out of thefe the Inlanders prefs a very wholfom and pleafant $\mathrm{Li}-$ quor; as alfo out of the Pacoira and Bannanas, both excellent Plants, which will grow in any Ground. This Plant they pluck up by the Roots wild as foon as it hath put forth three Leaves; which Leaves being rowl'd up hard together like a Twig, are again Set, and then Sprout upeach with ten green Leaves, which when mov'd by the Wind, rattle like Parchment, and tear very eafily : the Stalk is an Inch thick, from which fpread feveral leffer Branches; under the Leaves hang yellowifh Flowers of a pleafant fmell, at whofe Stalks are leffer Leaves refembling little Scoups, full of Juice, in tafte like Honey, and in colour like the White of an Egg: after the Flower follows the Fruit, very like a Cucumber, onely they are three fquare, and have a hardifh Shell, which inclofes a well tafted and wholfom Pulp, which commonly grows in Clufters. This Plant, when the Fruit is ripe, is pluck'd up, from whence another fprings up immediately, which bears the like Fruit the next year; fo that this Plant lives as it were by propagation continually.

The Bannanas bear Leaves of a Fathom long and two Foot broad; the Fruit is very like that of the Pacoeira.

The Mangaa is very like the Apricock both in tafte and form.
The Tree Jaracalo hath a fpread Crown, leaves like thofe of a Fig. Tree, yellow Flowers, and Pears with Shells, and full of Kernels.

The Ouaieroua is an exceeding fweet-fmelling Tree, bears a Fruit much bigger than the greateft Melons.

The Junipap, which is much taller, hath Apples, which whileft they are green are beft, yielding a Juice which Dyes Coal-black, and therefore is us'd by the Natives, to paint their Bodies with : The Apples when ripe are yellow within. and withour, very well tafted, and melting in the Mouth.

Befides thefe foremention'd Fruit-Trees there are feveral others that grow on this Inland, amongft which is the Vua-pirup, eminent for its Bloffom, which is yellow, blue, and red, and bears delicate Apples, which ripen beft in the rainy. Seafon.

Laftly, the Pekey, which three Men cannot Fathom, bears a Fruit of two handfuls bignefs, having a hard thick Shell, and within four Kidney=like Kernels, each. concealing a prickly Stone, which hurts the Mouths of unwary Eaters.

The Plant Carouata hath Leaves an Ell long, and two Inches broad; they are very thick and thiftly from the middle, and about two Foot from the Ground grows an exceeding pleafant Fruit, yellow without and within, three fquare, 2 Finger long, and hanging oftentimes fixty in a Clufter.

Vua, a fort of Melons, green without, and within full of white Pulp and black Kernels, and hath a pleafant Juice, diffolves to Water, if cut in the middle, fweeter than Sugar, and very refrefhing.

Manioch, a thick Root of the Plant Manicup, Leav'd like a Fig. Tree ; being ground to Meal, it ferves in ftead of Bread.?

Befides thefe already mention'd, there are feveral other Plants, the moft ufual are the great flat Beans call'd Commanda=outafor, and the long Peafe Commanda-miry.

Here are variety of Birds of feverai forts, efpecially of Parrots, which flye in Srangesiids great Companies, moft beautiful to the Eye, and very docible to fpeak, and alfo good for Food.

The Partridges Nanbonouaf $\int 0$, in bignefs no way inferior to a Capon, have blue Feathers, and alfo Lay blue Eggs.

The Ourou, refembling a Partridge, hath a Combe like a Cock, but mix'd with three Colours, viz. red, black, and white.

The Bats, nam'd Andheura, have a mournful Note in the Night, often biting thofe they find alleep, and fuck their Blood fo hard that it can hardly be ftopt.

The Oftriches here call'd Yandou, being as tall as 2 middle-fiz'd Man, cannot flye, but run as fwift as a Greyhound.

Their Fowl call'd Falian, with long Bills and Cranes Legs, flies very low, bue runs fo fwift that a Horfe can fcarce overtake them.

The Ocean about Maragnan produces abundance of all forts of Fifh, and amongft strime foris others the Pyraon, fix Foot long, thicker than a Barrel, and cover'd with black Scales of a hand-breadth.

The Fifh Camouroupony differs not much from the Pyraon, onely in having fewer. Scales.

The Ougry, four Foot long, hath a broad Head, and two fharp Fins on the Back; which wound terribly. This Fifh alfo fwimming in the River, fmells of Musk whileft it ftays therein.

The like length hath alfo the Camboury Ouaffou, whofe Hog.like Head, and yel. low fcal'd Tail, makes it feem like a Monfter.

The Yauebourre is a Foot in thicknefs, in length two Fathom, and a Fathom in breadth, and hath a Tail of half a Fathom long, out of the middle of which fticks 2 flarp and great Bone, which makes fuch dangerous Wounds, that if any part of a Man's Body be touch'd therewith, it muft be cut off.

The Narinnary, which is much leffer, wounds with its Sting very dangeroufly.
The flat Fiflh Acaraion hath the length of a Foot, a green Head, thick Scales, a yellow Back, and white Belly.

The Araouond hath a hard Skin, is eight times bigger than the Acaraiou, and hath 2 three-pointed Sword, with which'it kills other Fifh.

Another fort of Swordfifin is the Panapans, whofe Sword is a Foot lefs than that of the Araouour.

The Picamo and Caramourou refemble the Pilchard, and are taken in great abun: dance near the Rocks.

The Rivers and Brooks on Maragnan are alfo very full of Fifh, amongtt which the Pourake, four Foor long, full of green, blue, red and white Specks and Streaks, the Skin fo hard that no Sword can penetrate it ; wherefore it regards not a blow; but if it moves, it caules fuch a pain on the Arm of him that frikes, that he falls down on the Ground.

Bbb
The

The Caurimata, which is very like a Carp, is the moft delicious Fifh that ever was tafted.

The Pyrain, without Scales, colour'd red and yellow, hath Tharp Teeth, which cut floapingly; as alfo the Opean, Tarehure, Paraty, and ferou.

The red Crabs Oufla, with hairy Legs, breed about the Roots of the foremen: tion'd Trees that grow in the Water.

The white Crabs. Aonara-ouffa carry the Amber-greece, caft on the Shores to their Holes.

They have alfo good Musfles, and well rellifh'd Oyfters fticking on the Boughs of the faid Trees.

During the, rainy Seafon there are generally ftanding Pools, in which yearly breed many Fifhes, which are taken up by the Inhabitants when the Pools begin to dry.

Moreover, this Illand feeds abundance of four-footed Beafts, amongft which their wild Deer, Rabbets and Hares, differ little from the European. They have al. fo wild Swine call'd Taiafou, who feem to have Navels on their Backs, which caft a fweet Musky fmell; befides another fort of Swine,not inferior to the former, but of a Atranger fhape, being Mouth'd like a Hare, with two long Tusks in their up. per Jaws, and cwo beneath; their Ears like a Mans, the foremoft Feet white, and hoofd like an Afs; the hindermoft part of their Body like a Bear, and full of Brio ftes, half white and half black, three handfuls long: when they creep in their Holes their ftaring Briftes'fall; they keep much amongft Brambles, feed on Apples and Roots; In the Winter Seafon they Stye themfelves up in their Holes.

Here are alfo Pifmireseaters, call'd Tamandua, with a Boars Head, Dogs Ears, flarp Snour, Horfes Hair, and Ox Feet.

The Tapiyre-ete differ litcle from wild Cows, onely they have fhorter Legs and Tails, and wanting Horns; are Arm'd in fead thereof with Teeth; in their Heads are often found a Stone like the Bezoar Stone.

Several forts of Armadillo's here differ much in form each from the other.
The wild Cats Margaia are caught for their curious Skin.
The Foxes fanovare, and Leopards Sovaffovaran, both curioufly mark'd, are very ravenous.

Here is alfo a deform'd flow creeping Beaft call'd $A i$, whofe Head is like a Mans; and cover'd with rough and grey Hair, on each Foot three Claws clofe together, and at leaft a Finger long, fharp Teeth, a fmooth high black Nofe, little drowfie Eyes, no Ears, a Tail fmall above and broad at the bottom, long Afhacolour'd Hair over all the Body; and being about the bignefs of a Fox, it climbs flowly up the Trees, and comes not down before it hath eaten off all the Leaves; it feeds alfo on Earth, and fometimes fits on a high Bough without Meat twenty days together; it goes fo foftly, that it will hardly clear fifty Paces in twenty four hours.

On this Illand are likewife all forts of Apes and Monkies, amongtt which is one moft remarkable, call'd The Zimme Cayon, hairy all over, with a long white Beard, an old Mans Face, bald Ears, black Eyes and long Tail, which they wind about a Bough, and fo hanging, fwing themfelves from one Tree to another; they are very fierce as well as fubtile, for being wounded with an Arrow, they fet upon their Enemy without the leaft fear; when they climbup the Trees, they carry their Mouths and Hands full of Stones to throw at Travellers; and if any one of them chance to be wounded, all the reft that are near come to help him, and ftop the Wound with Leaves, and the like; the young ones hang upon the Backs of their Dams, who run very fwift with them, and leap from one 'Tree to another.

Fuan Ardenois relates, That the Coyons play at certain Games with the Natives for Money, and Spend what they win in publick Houfes.
Jofeph de Acofta tells us, That one of thefe kind of Creatures being fent to a Tavern for Wine, would not part with his Money before his Pot was fill'd, which he defen. ded Fom the Boys that offer'd to take it from him, by throwing Stones at them; and though it lov'd Wine very well, yet brought it always home withoue tafting.

It is no lefs, wonderful what Peter Martyr relates of one of thefe. Creatures, viz. That obferving one ready to fire a Gun at him, before he could difcharge, it leap'd from the Tree and fnatch'd up a Child, which he held as a Buckler before him.

The Sagovin refembles a Lyon in the fore-part of the Body, with fhaggy Hair; The sagooin. they are exceeding dainty and tender, yet fo ftubborn and fullen, that they take per at the leaft affront, and often pine themfelves away and die with hunger.

The Serpent Boy-ete, two Fathoms long, without Legs, having a bright fpeckled The Boratr, Skin and four fharp Teeth;wounds allo mortally with its Tail; but is the lefs dan. ferdse of sergerous, becaufe at the end of the Tail grows a Bladder, which moving rattles as if ${ }^{\text {reats. }}$ there were Peafe in it, which gives notice to the Traveller, though unwary, by which means he makes his efcape.

The other Serpents call'd Fouboy, Tara-gouyboy, and Tarebuboy, ferve the Natives for a great Delicacy; as alfo the great Toads or Frogs, call'd Tourourou.

They have alfo a fort of Flies call'd Ton, which exceedingly moleft.them, again & which their chiefeft Medicine is Palm-tree Oyl, and the Roucon, with which they colour their Skins.

The Natives of this Illand of Maragnan, driven out of the pleafant Countrey Cayete by the Portuguefe, are a fort of the Toupinambas, who Setled here about a hun. dred and fifty years ago. The time of their firft coming hither us'd formerly to be folemniz'd with the great Feaft call'd Caoven; but becaufe a Woman boldly fet up. on 2 Commander in his Cups, there arofe a great Tumult amongft them, and ever fince the Illand hath been divided, one Party calling the other Tobaiares, that is,

We are Enemies: They are fo inveterate againft one another, that who e're they take Prifoners they unmercifully devour : Both are of a middle Stature, have flat No. - $e s$, which the Midwives make at the Birth of the Child; they are generally a Atrong People, and many of them living a hundred years, without being grey, bald, or fick; they live temperate, and under a whollom Climate: Some of their Women bear Children (as they fay) till they are eighty years of age, which being born white, turn to be of a Tawny colour, by being anointed with Suet call'd Roucou, and Oyl; otherwife they are well proportion'd. The Men pluck out all the Hair of their Foreheads, but fuffer it to hang pretty long over their Ears, and behind. The Women let their Hair hang down to their Middle, and wear woodden Ear-rings; but the Men hang green Beads in their Lips, and thruft little Bones through their Nofes. They go all ftark naked; their Legs are colour'd black with the Juice of the Herb Junipap, and upon the other parts of their Body appear Fi, gures of feveral Reprefentations. Thofe that will manifeft their Valor, and be aco counted hardy, gafh their Bodies all over with Wounds, which they heal in fuch a manner, that the Scars may more plainly appear. They never come to their ufual Feafts, but drefs'd up in various colour'd Feathers; upon the Crown of their Heads they wear Caps ftuck with Plumes, which they call Acangoap, or Coronets, call'd Acangerar; about their Necks, the Necklaces Aionacava; over their Shoulders, the Man. tles $A$ floyave, their Garters they call Tabacoura, at which they hang hollow Nute fhells full of little Stones, which gingle and rattle as they go, and about their Arms Armlets call'd Mapouyb-couaychovare; all which are curioufly checker'd with various colour'd Feathers.

The Maragnans live not much up in the Countrey, but rather on the Sea-Coaft; becaufe of their Fifhing, removing every fixth year, calling the Village where they Settle, by the former Name.

They take every Man as many Wives as he pleafeth; but the Women muft ftick each to one Man, unlefs fhe be Divorc'd from him, which often happens upon fmall occafions.

Their Cotton Hammocks call'd $\Upsilon_{u}$, on which they fleep, hang between two Stakes, in which they lie.

Singular. Friends and Relations Feaft one another daily ; but they are cruel and revengeful againft their neighboring Enemies, whom, when they take any of them, they fatten, kill, and eat. The leaft affront done them, or injurious word fpoken to them, or againft their Predecefforss, makes them take up Arms, which confitt of Bowes and Arrows, which they call Oriyrapar and Oune.

Here the French have built the Fort St. Lovis on an IIland, from whence Weft ward may be feen the Cape Taporytapere, which at High-water feems like an Ifland, and lies four Leagues from thence; at Low-water they can walk over the Sands from the fame to the Main Land.

This fruifful Countrey hath twenty populous Villages.
Weftward lies Comma, which gives Denomination to the chief Village, the River, and the reft of that Countrey, wherein are fixteen more bandfom Villages, better built, and more populous than Maragnan or Tapouytapere.

Concerning the building of the fore-mention'd Fort on Maragnan, it hapned as followeth :

The Frencl, Captain Riffaut, upon the Advice of Ouyrapive, who bore a great fway ragsarn. amongtt his Maragnan Subjeats, fitted out three Ships ; but becaufe of a Contention becween the Searmen, and the lofs of his chiefeft Veffel, he was forc'd to Sail to France, and leave fome of his Men on Maragnan, under the Command of a young

Gentleman call'd De Vaux, who carry'd himfelf fo difcreetly amongft the Iflanders; that they promis'd to embrace the Cbrijtian Religion, 'if new Supplies caine from France to affift them againft their Enemies; of which De Vaux advis'd the French King Henry the Fourth, who approv'd of it, and fent Monfieur De la Ravardiere to A Colory of Monechs; after which returning he found the King murder'd, wherefore the Bufi- Maragnas, nefs lay dead for a while; but at length Ravardiere took with him the Lord Rofilly; and the Baron of Sanfi, defiring fome Capuchins of the Queen-Mother, for the promulgating of the C.briftian Religion in Maragnan; which being granted, they fet Sail with three Ships Anno 1612 . with which arriving fafely there, and Landing, he buile next the chiefeft Haven the Fort St. Lewis on a Hill, by whofe foot two Rivers glide into the Ocean. After which this new Plantation went on for a confiderable time, till the Portuguefe overpowering them, drove them out of this their new Field, ma- Diven cur king themfelves abfolute Mafters of the Fort, and allo of the great Mountain Ibou- by buthe Poritas yapap, four Leagues high, plain on the top, twenty four Leagues long, and little lefs in breadth. No Champain under the Sun is more pleafant and fruifful than this; for in fome places it is fhaded with Trees, in others hath brave Paftures, lies under a wholfom Climate, and abounds with frefh Springs, from whence are de. riv'd ftore of Brooks, and Rivulets full of Fifh.

Sect. XI.

The Lordfhips Tamarica, Rio Grande, Siara, and Para.

THe Prefecture of Tamarica, not above three Leagues in length and two in Disfipion, breadth, fo call'd from a little Ifland lying before it, and part of its Pres finip of Tot cinct, is counted the firft, that is, the moft ancient Lordfhip of Brafie, ,"minca: having otherwife nothing in it that is very confiderable, fave onely a good Haven or Port, with a Caftle for the Security or Command of it, held to be impregna* ble, and fo found by the Dutch, who under Peter Heyn and Stein Callenfels in vain attempted the taking of it, as fhall be mention'd hereafter more particularly, but made it ufelefs to the Portuguefe, by making a Bulwark at the Mouth of the Haven, and fo blocking it up.

This Capatania yielded formerly a Rent of thirty thoufand Ducats to the Earls of Montefanto, whofe Right it was.

THe Prafecture of Rio Grande, a fmall Precinct, fo denominated, as lying on Dectripiod the South-fide of that great River which the Portuguefe call Rio Grande, $\begin{gathered}\text { girie or Rid } \\ \text { Grand }\end{gathered}$ and the Natives Potingi, where it falls into the Sea, was once poffefs'd by the French about the Year 1597. who were outed by the Portugue/e, and the Place fortifid both againft them and the Salvages, (of whom they flew and took Prifoners very great numbers) with a Caftle, which the Dutch in the Year 1631 . found an impregnable piece, and too hard for them to take.

THe Prefecture of Siara, fo denominated from the Haven ; it hath long been Dofcripition in the poffeffion of the Portuguefe, but they have therein no Towns of note, fliteof firidi: onely a Cafle, and fome few Houfes for thofe that attend the gathering of CottonWool, and Manuring of the Sugar-Canes, which are here in great abundance, allo the Countrey is faid to afford fome Cryftal and other Precious Stones.
D. fcription of the Lord-thip of Para.

IAftly, the Prafecture of Para is the moft Northerly part of Brafile, bordering upon Guiana, fo call'd from the River Para, which runneth through the midft of it, upon which, in a convenient place, and upon rais'd Ground, the Portuguefe have built a very ftrong Caftle, well Wall'd on all fides, fave onely towards the River, where it is planted with Ordnance: It is built in a quadrangu. lar form, and hath at leaft three hundred Perfons of the Portuguefe Nation (befides the Garrifon Soldiers) belonging to it, who have all Employment enough about the CottonaWool, Sugar-Canes, and Tobacco, which the Countrey is faid to afo ford in great plenty.

ARelation of the Proceedings of the Netherland Weft-India Company in Brafile to the Year 1658.

THe chief Difturbers of the Portuguefe in the poffeffion of the Countrey of Brafile, were the United Netherlanders; for they having had good fuccefs with their firft Fleet, under the Command of John Molenaer, Foln Dignumfs zoon, John Schelinger, Simon Mant, and the Merchants Cornelis Woodman, Gerard Beveningen, and Heinier van Hel, Anno 1595 . in the Eaf-Indies, where they got fuch footing, that they took whole Kingdoms, to the great enriching of the Eaftern World, where they fpread their Trade over the whole Countrey, were thereupon emboldned to venture alfo to the Weft, that thereby they might cut off the Sinews of the King of Spain's Wars, he being continually fupply'd with Treafures from America.

The grand Promoters of this Defign were the Company of Merchants, who hitherto had Traded to Guinee; and the rather, becaufe Guinee brought them but little Profit. But to fet upon the Spanifh Power, was a Bufinefs of no fmall Confequence; neverthelefs they undertaking it, obtain'd Letters Patents from the States of the United Netherlands, Anno 1621. for erecting of a Weft.India Company, in which it was declar'd, That none without the faid Companies leave fhould drive any Trade to Africa from the Northern Tropick, to the Cape Bonne Eßerance; nor to America from Terre-Nenf to the Straights of Magellan, or Le Maire; nor in the South Sea to Anian; which if any attempted, they fhould forfeit Ship and Goods; befides feveral other Priviledges and Immunities granted towards the promoting and eftablifhing of the faid Company. After a long Confultation which way to fteer their Courfe, it was concluded upon in the Council for the Affairs of the Company, to Invade St. Salvador in the Inlet TTodos los Sanctos, whether they fent twenty Men of War and three Ketches, Commanded by facob Willekens, and Peter.Peter/zoon Hein; the Land Forces being under the Command of Colonel fobn van Dorth. In the beginning of the Year 1624. the Fleet fet Sail out of the Texel and the Maes, and in five Moneths arriv'dae St. Salvador. As foon as the Portuguefes difcover'd the Dutch Fleet, they fhot without ceafing from the Fort Pbilippo with three Brafs Guns, as alfo from the Caftle Tapagipe, with four Demi-Canons, but chiefly from the Battlement rais'd three fquare out of the Water before St. Salvador, from whence they play'd at them with twelve great Guns, whileft the Vice-Admiral ran within Mufquet-fhot of the faid Battlement with three Ships, and found fifteen Portuguefe Veffels lying near the Shore not far from the Caftle Pbilippo, where there began a fharp Conflict, to the no fmall advantage of Peter Hein; who thereupon ventur'd with three Boars to Board the fifteen Ships : which refolute Attempt of the Dutch Seamen fo a maz'd the Portuguefe, that they fet their biggeft Ships on Fire, and fled afhore: Thofe Ships that efcap'd, being in all ten, the Hollanders took and brought them to the Fleee.

This flight of the Portuguefe encouraging Peter Hein, he went with fourteen Boats, each Mann'd with two hundred Arm'd Men upon the very Mouths of the Can. nons to the fore-mention'd Battlement and took the fame, notwithftanding the Stone Wall rofe eight Foot out of the Water, and above a hundred Portuguefe defended it, whileft the Admiral Willekens fent ewelve hundred Soldiers, and two hundred and forty Seamen athoreowith Field-Pieces. The Forlorn-Hope confifted of fixty Mufquetteers, led by Captain Helmond, who was feconded by Lieutenant La Main, all the Seamen following with Spades and Pick-axes; the Referve was. brought up by Captain Kyf, Yfenach, and William Schouten; thus drawn out, they were led towards the City by the Guides Dirk Colver and Dirk de Ruiter, along a narrow Way, which the Portuguefe might have guarded with a few Men, had they not been all fruck with a pannick fear, and making ufe of the dark Night, fled into the Woods. The Dutch found in the City an incredible Booty, becaufe the Governor Diego Mendoza de Furtado had forbid the carrying away of any Goods, that fo the Citizens might be the eafier perfwaded to defend the City ; which they might well have done, had they not been furpris'd with the fuddennefs of the Action; for when Willekens Anchor'd here, there were above fixteen hundred Soldiers, befides a confiderable number of Arm'd Citizens in St. Salvador; befides, in the Forts about the City on the Walls lay twenty three Brafs, and twenty fix Iron Guns.

This Vietory was fcarce obtain'd, when Colonel Dorth, who had loft the Fleet at Point Vincent, arriv'd here after all was done, and caus'd Edicts to be publifh'd, in which the fled Citizens were promis'd greater Priviledges under the Netberlanders Protection, than ever they had under the King of Spain. Whereupon a few Porthe guefe return'd to the City; but the greateft part of them, and thofe the moft confiderable, were partly kept back by Command of the Bifhop Teixers, who laid the fault concerning the lofs of the City on the Governor Furtado, and partly becaufe they judg'd the Netberlanders unable to defend them againft the Spanijh Power.

About the fame time feveral rich laden Veffels arriv'd there from Libbon, Janciro, Spirito Santo, Angola and other Places, all ignorant of the Conqueft of St. Salvador.

Whileft Dorth and Willekens were ordering all things within the City, the out. ftaying Portuguefe at laft taking courage, Storm'd the City from Midnight till the next day in the Afternoon, but fearing they fhonld be fet upon behind unawares, Retreated; after which Dorth thinking he had been free from all fear of Enemies; and with a fmall Guard riding out of the City to take a view of the adjacent Countrey, was fcarce got a Bowe-fhot from the Walls, when a great Body of Drafilians Coll. Dentb rufh'd forth unexpectedly from an Ambufcade, and wounded him fo mortally, that killd by arider he fell dead from his Horfe, and had his Head fuddenly chopt off, and his Body mangled very terribly.

Allart Schouten being chofen Governor in Dortl's ftead, took no care to fortifie the City ; and after his Deceare his Brother William Schouten fucceeding him, regarded it lefs, fo that all things went to ruine, every one ftriving onely to enrich themfelves. Amongft other Booties, they took the rich laden Veffel which Francifco de Sarmiento, Governor of Cbili, brought to St. Salvador, with fifty cight thoufand Guilders, and a much greater fum of Gold and Pearls, all which was imbezled away.

This City St. Salvador, built by Thomas de Sofa along the Sea=fide, runs up broad dictripinin at the Suburb Carmo, hath four Market-places, into the biggeft whereof, being of a dist. long fquare, run nine Streets, the chief of which being very broad, hath many ftately Houfes. The fecond Market-place is of like form, onely it winds a little to. wards the Right, and at the Entrance ftands a ftrong Prifon. The Cloyfter St. Francis, inhabited by fefuits, ftands in a Park near the Wall by which the Moat runs. To. wards the Sea-fide they have a fecond Structure, much fatelies than the Francifcan Cloyfter. Near the Prifon fands the Armory, and fomewhat farther the grear Church, which Anno 1624. was not quite finifh'd. The Church dedicated to the Virgin Mary appears with a high Spire near the Gate Bento, without which the great Cloyfter Bento is built; but the chief Church is St. Salvador. On the utmoft Point towards the South-Weft of the City lies the Fort Autonio, between which and the City ftands a very neat Pleafureohoufe, belonging to the Bifhop. Befides Antonio there are four other confiderable Forts, viz. Diego, St. Maria, De Gracia, and Vittoria, About half way between Vittoria and the Cloyfter Bento, ftands the Caftle with four Bulwarks; but on the North fide the City is guarded by the Forts St. Peter, Pbilippo, and Tapecipe.

A great Fleet fet out by the fot the reco. very of St: salvader.

The Spanifh King feeming exceedingly concern'd at the lofs of fo eminent a Place, fitted out a great Fleet for the recovery of what had been taken from him ; but the Netberland Wefl-India Company having notice of it, put themfelves into a pofture of Defence, and in a fhort time made ready eighteen Men of War and feven Ketches, Mann'd with a thoufand fix hundred and ninety Seamen, and a thoufand three hun. dred and fifty Land-Soldiers, Jobn Dirkfzoon Lam being Admiral: But news coming day after day of the extraordinary Preparations in Spain, it was judg'd convenient to ftrengthen the Fleet with fourteen Ships and two Ketches more, carrying a thoufand four hundred and thirty Seamen, and five hundred eighty Soldiers, under the Command of General Boudewyn Henrick $/$ zoon, and Admiral Andries Veron. Moreover, the $W^{-} f$ t-India Company fitted out a third Fleet, confifting of four Frigãts and three Ketches, Commanded by Henry Kat, with Orders to Cruife along the Spanifh Coaft.

In the beginning of the Year 1625 . Frederick de Toledo weighed Anchor from Cales with one and thirty Gallions, four Pinnaces, three Tartans, and a Carvel, all carrying feventy five hundred Men. The Soldiers were divided into three Regiments, Commanded by the Colonels Pedro Oforio, Fuan Orellana, and the Marquefs De Torreclufa.

Near St. Jago at the African Cape Verde, Toledo joyn'd with the Portuguefe Fleet, confifting of twenty one Gallions and fourteen Carvels and Barques, Mann'd with four thoufand Seamen, two Regiments of Soldiers; Commanded by Antonio Numnez Barreio, and Francijco de Almeida; but the chief Commander of this Fleet was Emanuel Menefes. Which great Fleet being arriv'd at St. Salvador, Toledo himfelf Landed at the Fort Antonio, leaving the Command of the Fleet to Juan Fajardo: The firft thing he did, was to fet upon the Cloyfter Bento; which having gain'd, he left Serjeant Troppani with two Regiments in the fame, whileft he went and Storm'd the Carmelites Minfter, and at laft took it ; but in the mean time four hundred Hollanders Sallying out, made a furious Onfer upon the two Regiments, who had poffeffion of the Cloyfter Bento, where the Spaniards fuftain d confiderable damage; for befides the wounding of three Captains, and the lofs of a great number of Soldiers, there were flain the Commanders Emanuel Aquitara, Alonfo de Gana, Pedro San Stevan, Diego Ejpis nofa, and Colonel Pedro Oforio. But Toledo no whit difmay'd hereat, but taking frefl courage, brought twenty nine DemisCulverins afhore, which fir'd fo vehemently out of the Carmelites and Bento's Cloyfters, on the Seventeen Dutch Ships that lay near the Shore, that feveral of them were funk, and others fhater'd beyond hopes of ever being repair'd. After this the Spanifh Army was divided into three feveral Parties, which continually fir'd on the City from three new rais'd Works; the chiefeft Party, which was in the Carmelites Minfter, had twenty three Brafs Guns; the fecon'd, plac'd on the great Wall of the Cloyfter Bento, fir'd Night and Day witheight Demy-Cannons on the City, in which all things were in a confufion, whileft the Governor Williams Schouten went unconcern'd from one. Tavern to another railing at the Soldiers, who thereupon mutinying and depofing him, cliofe Serjeant Hans Ernjt Kyf in his room, who, as he was calling a Council of War, re. ceiv'd a Summons from Toledo to deliver up the City; at which KUf.being much furpris'd, fent a Drummer with a Letter to Toledo, defiring him to grant the Be fieged three Weeks time to repair and make fit their batter'd Veffels to carry them back for Holland; and alfo that they might, according to Martial Cuftom, march out with lighted Matches, flying Colours, Bullets in their Mouths, and with Bag and Baggage. To which Toledo return'd Aniwer, That he was now in his own Countrey, and had gotten poffeffion of four Fortifications about St. Salvador, on which he had planted thirty feven Cannons, and therefore faw no fuch neceffity to grant the Befieged (who could not poffibly expect any frefh Supplies) fuch advantageous and bold Demands; and onely promis'd them their Lives fhould be at his difcretion. Yet at laft William Stoop, Hugh Antonijzoon, and Francis du Chefne being st, solvater fent to the Carmelites Cloyfter, agreed with Toledo on thefe Conditions: That the reta spenmiaren but with Baggage, and bave a free Paffage with Proviions and all things neceeffary allow'd them for their Tranjportation for Holland. Whereupon on the firt of May che City was deliver'd up to the Spaniards in fuch diforder, that fome of them had taken poffeffion of the Gate Bento, before thofe on the other fide of the City knew of any Agreement that was made between Toledo and Colonel Kyf. And thus the Place which had a whole year been under the Jurifdiction of the Netherlanders, fell again under the poffeffion of the Spanifh Crown, onely through the indifcreet management of the Commanders; for otherwife it was fufficiently ftrong, and well for'd with Ammunition and Men, being able to make out two thoufand. Moreover, the Ketch De Haes, was fet out before from the Holland Fleet, and brought news of the Forces that were fent from the Netberland Havens to their affiftance: But the Ships under Admiral Lam, as allo thofe under Boudewyn Henriczoon, were ftay'd a confiderable time in their Harbors by contrary Winds, and at laft reaching the Line were becalm'd, and through the exceffive heat of the Climate many Men loft by raging and mortal Diftempers, infomuch that they reach'd not the Bay Todos los Savetos before the twenty fixth of May, on which they faw the Spanif) Flag ftreaming from the Walls of St. Salvador, and fifty great Ships riding at an Anchor near the Shore.

The Netherland Fleer, divided into four Squadrons, conffifted of thirty four Sail, amongft which Lam carry'd the Flag on the Main-top, the Vice-Admiral Adrian Chef zoon on the Fore-top, the Rere-Admiral Adries Veron on the Mainsmaft, and the Commander of the fourth Squadron on the Mizne-top: All of them feeing the Spa niards abfolute Mafters,judg'd it moft convenient to put to Sea; but ftanding a pretty while to the South, they found that the Arong Current drove them to the Shelves on the Weft-fide of the Inlet; wherefore Tacking about, they made towards the Enemy, who at firf feem'd to meet them with twenty eight great Ships, but returning towards the City, the Hollanders alfo ftood to Sea again, Steering Southerly, though without making much advantage in their Way, the Sea going very hollow, and the ftrong Current fetting them towards the Shore, by which meansthey were in no fmall danger before the River Francifco, where many of the Men dy'd for want of frefh Provifions, and the number of the Sick increas'd daily, infomnch that fome of the Ships were like to perifh for want of Men to guide them: It was alfo judg'd dangerous to lie longer with fuch a great Fleet near a Lea-Shore, therefore they put into the Inlet Trayciaon, which lies a League to the Northward of the River Monguapigape, from whence a ridge of Rocks extends to Tayciaon, and being overflow'dat High-water, hath three Openings or Entrances, two for great Ships, and one, the moft Northern, for fmall Veffels to pafs through: The Sea alfo breaking againft this Cliff never molefts the Ships whatever Winds blow. The Coun. trey is overgrown with Brambles, and hath a Lake two Leagues long, and a quar. ter broad, on the oppofire Shore of which food a Village, inhabied by. Portuguefes and Brafilians ; but the Portuguefes flying from thence left the Brafilians in abfolute poffeffion: The Hollanders'going thither found thirty Chefts of Sugar in one Hut; after which the-Ãdmiral Lam caus'd his fick Men to be brought afhore, whileft the Captains Bofhuifen, Swart, Dyke, Stapels, and Hzeel, march'd up into the Countrey, where they got plenty of Oranges and Cattel. In the mean time the Ketch Vosken, Mann'd with thirry fix Seamen, Cruifing along the Sea-Coaft of Brafile, took three Ships, one out of the Inlet Todos los Sanctos, laden with Sugar and Tobacco, another with the fame Merchandife from Pernambuco, and the third laden with Wines from Madera. On the firft of Auguft the Fleet fet Sail again, to the great- forrow of the Brafilians, who out of hopes of being protected by them againft the Portuguefe, had joyn'd their Forces with theirs; but now being forfaken, they expected nothing but utter Ruine; which to efcape, many of them defir'd to be admitted to go along with the Fleet, which had been granted them, had not the Hollanders wanted Provifions for themfelves. The Fleer getting off, at Sea, the Admiral Veron ran with twelve Sail to the Coaft of Afruca; and-Douderoyn Henrick $\int$ zoon kept eighteen Ships under his Command, the reft returning home with Admiral Lam: and thus the Fleet left the unfortunate Haven Trayciaon, where above feven hundred Dutch Seamen were bury'd. Boudewyn Henrick $z_{z o o n ~ r e f r e f h i n g ~ a t ~ C a p e ~ S t . ~ V e n c e n t, ~ f t e e r ' d ~}^{\text {din }}$ Wefterly, when a Storm (which in twenty four hours blew from all Points of the Compafs) furprifing him, broke his Mainemaft, feparated the whole Fleet, and flunk the Elughing Frigat; at laft getting beyond the Inte Virgin Gorda, the Fleet meeto ing again, got to Juan de Porto Rico about the latter end of September; into whofe Haven Henrick/zoon Sail'd with great courage, notwithftanding the narrow Mouth thereof was guarded by a frong Fort full of Brafs Guns, which fir'd very fiercely upon him, who on the other fide was not idle in difcharging his Guns on the Forr ; and had not the flallow Water before the City prevented his Landing that day, he had gotten a far greater Booty than afterwards he met with; for the Inhabitants had, during the Lowewater, remov'd all their beft Goods: but the next Morning before Sun-rifing, the Admiral Landed with eight hundred Men, march'd into the City without any refiftance, pitch'd the States Flag on the Governor's Houfe, guarded all Avenues, unhoop'd all the Wine.Casks which he found there, for fear his Men fhould make themfelves Drunk therewith, and fo neglect their Duty, fir'd from the Land-fide towards the Cafte with three Brals Guns, gain"d the Reo doubr, buile for the fecurity of the Bridge, which unites the fmall Ifle on which Porto Rico is built with the great, rais'd a Platform, from whence he fir'd Day and Night with fix Cannons, guarded by Captain Thyene, whileft the Commander Uzel kept Watch near the Fort; but his Men being moft of them fick, he could not do any great Exploits, efpecially fince the Spaniards Sallying out, as they did daily, kill'd many of the Hollanders, and amongft them Captain Uzeel, after he had fhot fian. down two Turrets from the Caftle; which damage the Enemy repair'd by taking feveral of the Hollanders Boats; by which means they could not prevent frefh Supbe in greaing to the Cafte; the Befiegers in the mean time beginning daily to judg'dit convenient for Ammunition and Provifions: whereupon Henrick $/ z 0013$ the City Porto Rico on fire in four places. In which Retreat he recciv'd fo many farewel Shots from the Fort, that they were forc'd to go to the Leeward to fop their Leaks, and leave one of their Ships to the Enemy, in lieu whereof the Wefto Capel Frigat took a Barque with four Brafs Guns, in the little Haven Sierra Gorda; from whence the Fleet ran into the Weftern Bay of the Ifland Porto Rico, where whileft they repair'd and took in frefh Provifions, Henrick fzoon fent the Ships Hefter and fonas richly laden for Holland; the remaining part of the Fleet meeting with ftrong contrary Tydes at Porto Rico, were neceffitated to put into the Inlet Francifco, where they made feveral Marches up into the Countrey, to the lofs of many of their Men, which were kill'd by the Spaniards, lying in Ambufcade amongft the Brambles that grew along by the Ways.
In the middle of January, Anno 16. Wenrick $\int$ zoon Sailing about the North of Porto Rico, fteer'd to Dominico, and from thence along the Incs Martinizo, Luzia, and the Promontory De tres Puntas, towards the Ifland Margarita, where Landing, and Storming the Caftle on the Land-fide with fifteen Men, he gain'd the firft Breaftworks; but the Spaniards ftopping up the Way along which they were to return, they had without doubt been all flain, had not the Captains Stapel and Eftienne come to their affiftance; for the Spaniards feeing them climbing up the Bulwarks, betook them to their Heels, after they had kill'd nine of the fore-mention'd fifteen, amongft whom were the Captains Urk and Molkman: of thofe that leap'd over into the Ditch moft part efcap'd; thofe few that were taken inform'd the Hollanders, That the Way towards the Village, inhabited by Spaniards, was every where ftopt up with Barricado's, through which none were able to pals. Hendrick $z$ zoon thus become Ma. fter of the Fort, fent the Booty which he had gotten there, together with three Brafs, and five Iron Guns, aboard of his Ship, blew up the Fort, burnt all the Houfes, and ran into the Haven Muchina, to which he gave the Denomination of Port Maurice; where, befides a great number of dry'd Fifh, he took forty Tun of Salt out of one Salt-pit. After this he taking in frefh Provifions at $S t$. Fe, difcover'd $A v e s$, a low Ifle full of high Trees, took above two hundred Sheep, and abundance of red Wood on Bonaire, and before the Coaft a Spanijh Frigat richly laden, made Infpections into the Havens of Hißpaniola and Jamaica; from whence he fell back on the Coaft of Porto Rico, about the Illand Mona, where difcovering four Spanif, Ships, he took three of them, and burnt the fourth; he alfo got abundance of Tortoifes and Crocodiles on the great Caiman, and took a new Ship between the little fandy Ifles Caios, as alfo before Cuba a Barque, which inform'd him, That the Fleet from the Honduras, as allo that from New Spain, was daily expected at Havana: Thence Sailing into the Haven Cabannas, he took a new Veffel of a hundred Tun, and abundance of Timber and Carpenters Tools one the Shore; he Landed alfo with feven hundred Men on the Eaft-fide of the Haven, from whence he march'd along a narrow Path a League up into the Countrey, where he found a running Stream, Paffures full of Cattel, and a Village, the Inhabitants whereof being warn'd by the Barking of their Dogs, fled, and left all manner of frefh Provifions to the Hollanders, viz. above two thoufand Oranges, abundance of Lemmons, Bananas, Hogs, Calves, and Bacon; all which having fent aboard, they burnt the Village: After this they took a Spanigh Barque before Havana, as allo a Ship laden with Timber, another Barque with Poultry, Cochenile, Money, and Haberdafhery Ware, one Veffel with live Tor toifes, and another full of Salt, dry'd Fifh, and fome Merchandife. While the Fleet was thus Cruifing upand down before Havana, the Admiral Henrick $/ z o o n$ dy'd ; a Man of moft approv'd Valor, and of great Conduct : After which Adrian Etriefysion $^{\text {der }}$ Cbee zoon carry'd the Flag; but the Men mutinying about the dividing of the Pro- dying inion fice vifions, which began to grow very fcarce, all things fell into great diforder; the foom han chf-

Seamen rebell'd againft their Commanders, faying; That they bad been out long enough, and that they would not fay waiting any longer for the Fleet from New Spain or Honduras: Wherefore fleering Home, they all arriv'd fafe at the Texel and other places in Holland.

In our foregoing Relation we have given you an Account of the Fleet which came to affift the City of St. Salvador, divided into two Squadrons; eighteen Sail Boudewyn Henrick zoon kept under his Command, and twelve Sail remain'd in the Admiral Veron's Squadron, who Sail'd to the Inlet Serre Leona, where he found the Admiral Fohn Dirkfzoon Lam with three Ships, which had lay'n there above two Moneths, by reafon of the Sicknefs amongft the Seamen.

Frambore, King of this Place, granted Lam and Veron free liberty to Hunt, and to gather as many Oranges and Lemmons as they pleas'd, with which the Seamen were for refrefh'd, that they fet Sail again, and amongft many other things carry'd a
A. frange kind of Baboon. Baboon with them from Sierra Leona, which fo exactly refembled 2 Man, that it was wonderful to behold, having a Body, Hands, Eyes, Ears, Feet, and Actions like a Man, fmoak'd Tobacco amongft the Seamen, made a noife like a Child when beaten. The Irhabitants of Sierra Leona, where thefe Monfters run in great Com. panies through the Woods, believe that the Souls of the Deceafed refide in them.

Fobn de Laet, in his annual Journal of the Tranfactions of the Weff-India Company, affirms, That he faw a Female of thefe monftrous Creatures, which ufually had her monethly Flowers.

The Fleet, as is before mention'd, Sailing from Sierra Leona, came to an Anchor at Commany, and Landed twelve hundred Men at Poquena, befides a hundred and fifty Negrös; which Regiment Andries Veron and Arend Jacobfzoon carry'd to the

The Hollanders illifuccels before the Cafle Del ALime. Caftle Del Mine, whither they before fent a Company, Commanded by Hans Gryf, to prevent the Sallies of the Enemy. The Hollanders tir'd and thirfy, Encamp'd themfelves, near the Fort, and whileft fome of the Men were feeking for Water, others fmoaking Tobacco, and lying without their Arms and in diforder on the Ground, and the Commanders were taking a view of the Fort from a neighboring Hill, two hundred Negro's fell:upon the feater'd Army with great rage and fury, and 保 much the greater, in regard the Portuguefe had promis'd them great fums of Money for every Hollander they kill'd : never any Army was in fuch a diftraction, they being difpers'd and kill'd like fo many Sheep, the Admiral Veron and all the Officers flain, and in a fhort time four hundred and forty Men cut off; and had not Captain Arend facob $\int$ zoon been in League with the Inhabitants of Commany, whi. ther the routed Regiments fled, not one Man had efcap'd that bloody Slaughter : Nor was it to much purpofe to Befiege the Caftle Del Mine, becaufe the Bullets hitting againft the Walls of the Caftle, built all of Rock-ftones, did no Execution. But the four Ships inform'd of this miferable deftruction, fell down to Commany, to fetch thofe that were left alive, and return'd home with the other eleven.

During the unfortunate Expedition of this Fleet, the Wefferdia Company fitted out nine great Ships and five Ketches in the beginning of the Year 1626, under the Command of Petir Peter Zoon Hein, to Cruife for the Spanifh Ships that were expeced from Nerr Spain and Honduras.

The For: Frigat being fent before to inform Fienrick\{zoon of Heyn's coming, reach'd about the latter end of May beyond the Ines Dominico, Guadalupa, Mevis, St. Chriffophers, and by Santa Crux ; there not finding a Harbor on the South-fide, becaule of the Rocks, fhe Sail'd from Mona over to the Main Coaft, where feven Leagues Weft. ward of Carake $\beta$, he difcover'd a high broken Lard, whofe Mountains feem'd to reach to the Clouds; from thence fle fteer'd to the Promontory Caldera, the Illes Margareta and Coche, on which laft he took abundance of Goats; not without the lofs of forty fix Men, kill'd by the Spaniards and Indians.

Mean while the Admiral Peter Heyn, in the beginning of June, Sail'd to the Southward of Barbados, an Ifland pretry mountainous, as hath been formerly men. tion'd, and full of Woods, and by Martinino, whofe Hills are very high and overgrown with Trees: Here Peter Heyn could get nothing elfe but fweet Water, and a Fruit refembling a green Grape, which grew on a round Leav'd. Tree, whole Juice cur'd the Scurvey. Sailing from hence, and Landing on Guadalupa, he found a Canoo feven Fathom long and one broad, and cut out of one Tree. The Inhabitants, a well timber'd People, went ftark naked, and defir'd to be excus'd, that they could not furnifh the Hollanders with more Provifions, becaufe the French and Englijh, Inhabitants of St. Cbrifophers, had pillag'd them.

Near Mond the Fox Frigat joyn'd with the Fleet, with information, that he could hear no tydings of Henrick \{zoon; wherefore Peter Hejn judg'd it convenient to Sail along the South-Coaft of Hispaniola with a feparated Fleet, which was to joyn again near the great Caiman. Near Cape de Corientes the Dutch took a Spanijh Ship laden with Sarfaparilla; after that another with Salt and Fifh, and on the Shelves before Coche béfore the Promontory Antonio, a Fly-boat with Tallow and Hides, and at the fame places two Veffels more with Ballaft, the Men whereof inform'd him, that the Fleet from Neib Spain had about a Moneth before weigh'd Anchor from the Haven fuan de Ulva, and fet Sail to Havana; fo that without doubt they were arrived there ; wherefore Peter Heyn fteer'd towards Tortugos, in hopes, if he could, to overtake fome of the heavy Sailers. Before the Promontory De Florida he difcos ver'd feven Sail, and coming up nearer, above thirty, which, had Henrick zoon been united with Peter Heyn, had without doubt fallen into the hands of the Netherlanders; but it being judg'd 2 madnefs to fet upon fo great a Fleet with fo fmall a number of Ships, they Sail'd away undifturb'd. Peter Heyn fteer'd his Courfe along Florida, where he met three Canoos with ftrange Men in them, who came aboard of him, their Bodies being naked, were painted with feveral colours, onely Mats of Rufhes about their Middle, and on their Backs long Taffels hanging down : their Merchandife confifted of a fort of Gum of little value. The Netherlanders in this Place took alfo a Veffel with Sina Leaves, and fome pounds of Ambergreece: but the Scurvey incrẹafing daily amongft them, they Tack'd about, and ran to an Anchor at Sierra Leona, where they ftay'd till the latter end of January 1627. and then fet Sail to Brafile, and overtook a Veffel from Madera laden with a hundred and fifty Pipes of Wine, and other rich Goods, and ran into the Inlet Todos los SanEtos with undaunted courage, not regarding the Guns that were fir'd from the Fort and Battlements of the City St. Salvador, near which lay thirty Sail of Ships, to which he making up, fteer'd between the Portuguefe Admiral and Rere-Admiral, whom finking, he forc'd Durth bagine the Admiral to furrender, whileft the Hollandia and Geldria Frigats fell upon the reff; gused fleto which were forfaken by the Seamen, who leap'd over-board; then feveral Mann'd Boats of the Hollanders (notwithtanding the Enemy's continual firing) went and fetch'd off twenty two Stail of the Portuguefe Veffels; all which they did in three hours time, onely with the lofs of fifty Men, befides fome that were wounded, amongt whom was the Admiral, being fhot with a Bullet through the Arm, and wounded in the Legs with a Splinter; his Ship allo was, with the Gelria. Frigat, driven with the Spring-Tide on a Bank, whence, after the Gelria had receiv'd above fixty Shot from the Enemy, they both got off at laft; but the Admiral's Frigat be. ing fhot in a manner to a Wreck, was fer on fire; which Misfortune ended not there, for the Orange-tree Frigat blew up, with fixty Men, fourteen whereof, though mife-rably fcorch'd, had their Lives fav'd. Soon after which the Admiral fent into Holland the Ship St. Peter, the Hoop, Noftra Sennora de la Vittoria, and the Black-Lyon, which befides their Lading of Hides, Silver, Gold, and Precious Stones, were mof of them full 'of Sugar; which fafely arriving, did not a little encourage the WefteIndia Company. After this Heyn took two Ships with Slaves from Angola, which becaufe the Governor of St. Salvador would not redeem, were put afhore on Taperica. On the laft of March he fet Sail from the Inlet Todos los Sanctos, pafs'd by Morro Pablo, and on Eafter Eve with a ftrong Gale by the Abrollos: before the High. land between Cape Frio and the River De fenero, he difcover'd two Sail, one whereof being laden with Sugar was taken, but the other efcap'd in the Night; then Sailing on to the meandring Stream Spirito Sancto, he digg'd Pits on fome of the RiverInes to gete frefh Water, becaufe it was not fafe to Land on the Continent on each fide, becaufe the Inhabitants fhot frequent fhowers of Arrows from the Thickets, in which they lay ambufcaded. Moreover the T'own Spirito Sancto fent off feveral Fire-fhips at the time of Flood, but they being eafily quench'd did no harm. Here allo a Veffel laden at Lisbon with Wines and Piece-Goods, was taken by Heyn, who fetting Sail again divided the Fleet into three Squadrons, the Vice-Admiral Cornelis Oole keeping three Ships to Cruife withal before the River La Plata, Henrick Beft had one Frigat,a Ketch, and a Carvel, to guard the Mouth of the Stream fenero, whileft the Admiral himfelf Sail'd with four Frigats, three Ketches, and a Barque, towards the Inlet Todos los Sanctos, where two Ships riding near the Shore by the Fort Tapecipe, were by him fet on fire. Alfo taking a Barque he was inform'd, that fix laden Veffels lay in the River Tapecipe, whither he fending fome Boats to explore the truth, they found a great Ship without Men in the Mouth of the Stream, and half a League farther fix Portuguefe Veffels lying nearthe Shore; bringing back news thereof to the Admiral, he went aboard of the Fox Ketch the next Morning, and taking two Ketches and feveral Boats with him, Sail'd up the River, and per. ceiv'd that the fore-mention'd fix Ships were gotten up higher, and were Mann'd with a hundred and fifty Soldiers, Commanded by Captain Padilba; the Portuguefe Admiral lying in Ambufcade, no Cooner perceiv'd the Netherlanders Boats, but he let flie a whole Volley of fmall Shot at them, infomuch that it made them Recreat, and their whole Defign had been fruitlefs, had not Heyn animated his Men to board the Vice-Admiral; which encouragement prov'd fo fucceffful that they mafter'd the fame, killing all thofe that fell into their hands; which fo amaz'd the two Veffels that lay by, that all the Men fwam afhore, and left their rich Lading to the difpofal of the Hollanders, befides which the vanquifh'd Party loft above a hundred and fifty. Men, and the Conquerors but fifteen. Somewhat farther up lay three Ships more, but the River being dry there at Low-water, and fo narrow that the Trees on each Shore could touch one another, Heyn judg'd it convenient to profecute the Defign no farther, but to return with the three fore-mention'd Prizes, which he did sot without great difficulty; for the Portugue $/$ e had rais'd Battlements on each fide of the Mouth of the River Tapecipe, and ftopt the fame with a funk Veffel, which Heyn himfelf fet on fire at Low-water, and return'd untouch'd through thick Volleys of Shot, which flew about his Ears to the Fleet, leaving the three Ships to be fetcht off afterwards; to which end he commanded that they fhould hang fome of the taken Hides about the Fox Ketch's Pinnace, the Carvel and Boats, that fo the Men which were in them might fand fecure from the fmall Slot, and the rather, becaufe the Ships could not be got out of the fhallow and narrow River but by-Toeing. Mean while the Governor of St. Salvador lay with a confiderable number of Citizens and Soldiers behind the fore-mention'd Battlements, not doubting but to take revenge for the Loffes fuftain'd by Heyn; who neverthelefs coming down this ther Toed out the three Prize-fhips with Boats hung about with Hides, firing into the Enemies Battlements with his great Guns, which he had put aboard of the Fox Ketch. About the middle of Junc he took in the Prize-goods in view of the City St. Salvador, where feven Netherland Ships from feveral places lay at an Anchor. Setting Sail from hence on the fourteenth of July, and reaching Noronbo, known by 2. Mountain which appears like'a Steeple, he met with Cornelis Oole's Fleet, (who had been Cruifing before La Plata) with whom he arriv'd fafe in the Texel, having in their Way thither from Noronbo taken a Prize, laden with Sugar, Tobacco, and Brafle Wood.
During Peter Heyn's Expedition Thomas Sickes, fitted out by the Weforndia Com- Imomis sives pany, weighed Anchor out of the Texel with two Sail, and coming to St. Vincent he tion. found a Spanijh Veffel burnt down to the Hulk, took a Portuguefe Pink with Slaves from Angola: Near the Inlet Todos los Sanctos he funk a Barque, having firft taken feveral Pots of Oyl and Packs of Linnen out of the fame: Before Pernambuco he took a Carvel with a hundred and eighty Pipes of Wine, and a Veffel with Sugar and Hides, and drove another afhore againft the Promontory St. Auguftine. But Sickes being fupply'd and ftrengthned by three Ships from the Texel, and four tab ken Veffels, ran with four to Todos los Sanctos, fent two to Cruife about Cape St. Augufine, and two more to the North of Pernambuco: At the Ifle Noronbo they were order'd to ftay a Moneth one for another, from whence, after much hardfhip, they return'd home with fo many rich Prizes, that they pay'd their Charges ten times double; which fo encourag'd the Adventurers, that the Chamber of the Weft India Company in Zealand fitted out three Sail under the Command of Henrick Lucifer, Hminik tn: who weighing Anchor from Flufhing Anno 1627 . Ateer'd along the Coaft of $\mathcal{A} f r i c a$ fify fre towe to the Amazone River, and from thence North North-Weft to the Stream Wiapoco, ${ }^{\text {Indific }}$ Comy to fettle a Colony there; to which purpole Rowing up the River with Sloops, they came in the Night to ewo empty Houfes, buile at a place call'd Wacogenive, which they judg'd fit for their purpofe; wherefore they carry'd all things.afhore which they had brought out of Zealand with them for the new Planters, who while they were all bufie building of Huts, a Negro was taken Prifoner, who being ask'd why the Inhabitants fled? reply'd, That it was occafion'd from a guilty Confcience; for two years before a Barque and two Sloops with Chriftians coming thither from the Amazone River, had ftay'd thirty days on Wacogenive, when unawares they were fet upon by the Natives, and all kill'd except three, who were yet living. Upon which Lucifer, having four Indians, three Men and one Woman, aboard of his Veffel, threatned to put them all to the Sword, unlefs they would produce the three foremention'd Chriftians: Whereupon the next day a German came to the Water fide, of whom they could get little Information, he having in a manner forgot his native Tongue; but at length the other two coming thither, the eldeft of them, nam'd Fabn Hendricfzeon, related to him, That the Portuguefe in great numbers fell upon the Plantations near the Amazone River, Govern'd by Captain Oudaen, who after he had fought valiantly a whole day, being overpower'd by number, retreated to his Barque, and Sail'd into the Creek inhabited by the Englifh, whither the Portuguefe following in Canoos, cut off not onely Oudaen, but the Englifh alfo; forty fix Men onely efcaping in a Barque under the Command of Lieutenant Peter de Bruine to the River Wiaporo; where they had ftay'd about three days, when Sergeant Matruit treacheroufly Thot Lieutenant Bruine: after which the forty fix divided them. felves into four Parties; but the Inhabitants to rid themfelves of thefe Serangers, under the fhew of great friendfhip, made them Drunk with the Liquor call'd Pernau, and then murder'd them all, except himfelf and two Germanns. Which villanous aet Lucifer judg'd worthy of punifhment ; but his Orders being to Thew Kindnefs and Civility to the Inhabitants, be fuffer'd the Murder to go unpunifh'd, but built a triangular Fort near the River Wiapoco, on a Hill eight Fathom above the Shore, to prevent the paffing by of Sloops; which done, he went to vifit the Ifland Blanco, where he caught three hundred Goats. From thence he went to the Bay of Honda, the Inhabitants whereof are a valiant People, tall of Stature, having long Beards, and wearing Copper Rings through their Ears. Near the Sea-fide is a Salt-pan, of which the Inhabitants make great benefit. Lucifer fetting Sail again from heace, met with three Ketches fent out by the WefteIndia Company at Aimfterdam, before Corientes. The Commander Dirk, Simonfzoon van Mitgeeft, fteering his Courfe towards the Promontory St. Anton, took a Frigat laden with Meal, Silk, and other rich Goods, and within view of Cuba near the River Poros, defcrying two brave Gallions from Honduras, bore up to them with his three Ketches; one of which, call'd The Lyon, being got betwixt both the Gallions, was in no fmall danger, the Netberlanders not being able to get up out of their little Veffel into the high Gallions, in which the Spaniards flood pufhing them down with their Pikes; but no fooner did the Netherlanders throw their Hand-Granado's amongft them, but Hitgeeft got aboard of the Gallion, and carry'd her off, whileft the other by nimble Sailing got away. With this Prize Uitgeeft thinking himfelf fufficiently enrich'd, fteer'd homewards.

Fooft Johnfon and Claes Henrickfzoon, Commanding each of them a Ketch, took a a Ship coming from Lisbon before Pernambuco, laden with Meal, Salr, Wine, and thirty Monks; and not long after a Pink with fix hundred Negro's, a Barque with Salt and Iron, a Ketch with Wine, and a Frigat with Brafile Wood, Sugar and Tobacco: Before Itamerica they took two Prizes more ; with all which they return'd to the Texel.

Foter Adrianfzocn's Expedution.

The Weft-India Company thus enrich'd by the Spoil taken from their Enemies,' fitted out twelve Ships again under the Command of Peter Adrianjzoon Ita, which fet Sail in the beginning of the Year 1628. and anchor'd firft before Blanca, an Ine abounding with Goats, the Ground fonie, and in fome places Rocky, and having a fmall, but very convenient Haven, from whence Ita ran beyond Porto Rico, where he took a Veffel with feven thoufand weight of Ginger, and Landed oppofite to Hifpaniold on the ftonie Ifle Catalina, where he took in frefh Water, and then Cruis'd to and again before Cuba, took fix Barques, the Prifoners whereof inform'd him, That the Honduras Traders were on their Way coming thither, and that they had two fmall Men of War for their Convoy: Not long after Ita difcover'd them Sailing along the Shore towards the Haven of Havana, but before they could get in, Captain Jolm Peters, whofe Ketch carry'd two Brafs, and fourteen Iron Guns, boara ded the Vice-Admiral, but having no Graplings to take hold with, the Spanijh Ship ran aground, as likewife folm Peterfzoon in the purfuit of him ; which the Admiral feeing, came to affift his Vice-Admiral, and ran aground on one fide of fobn Peters, which drove the Netherlanders Ketch in great danger, fhe not being able to do Execution with her fmall Guns, whileft the Spaniards with their Demy=Cannon play'd vehemently upon her; neither was Ita, by reafon of calmnefs and contrary Tide, able to come up with them, but was forc'd to ftand Northerly, that fo he might get an Eafterly Wind, which about Noon always blows frefh here, and fo by degrees got near the $S$ pani $/$ F Fleer, till at laft coming up with the Vice-Admiral, call'd St. Jago, he threw Fire-pots into her, and prefently after boarding her, enter'd wish that Valor, that of three hundred Spaniards above a hundred and fifty were flain ; for thofe that leapt over-board were kill'd in the Water, whileft foachim Guys oont, Jobn Braems, and Anthony Gonde fell upon the Admiral Sennora de los Remedios, and took her. In both thefe Ships Ita took Two thoufand five hundred Chefts of In. digo; above Six thoufand Hides, Two thoufand five hundred Packs of Sar aparilld, feveral Pots of Balfam Oyl, Seventy thoufand Pound of Ginger, One and twenty Bars of Silver, Twelve Brafs, and Twenty eight Iron Guns ; all which having taken out, he fet fire in both the Ships.

A little before this Victory, the Fortune Frigat weighed Anchor from Flufhing; with fixty three Men of War, to be Landed on the Ifland Tabago. At St. Vincent they found two Men that were left of feven, who having fetled along the River Wiapoow, under Captain Jobn Van Ryen, were forc'd by the falvage Natives to remove, two whereof dyed by the way, the remaining five landing on the Ine Trinidad, had three of their Companions kill'd by the Indians of Granada, they being Frencbomen, to whom the Natives bore an inveterate Hatred, fo that they left onely the two Hollanders alive. The Fortune affifted by the South-far Ketch, took a rich Barque near the Ifles des Virgines.

Not long after the Weft-India Company fet out twelve Ships more, under the pirgeffs $\mathrm{E}_{\mathrm{y}}^{\mathrm{F}}$ Command of Derick Simonfzon Uitgeeft, (who had the year before brought home the two foremention'd great Prizes,) who fetting Sayl and getting into the large Bay of the Rocky Illand Vincent, catch'd feveral Goats and Tortels. Before the Coaft of Brafile he took two rich Carvels, one from Pernambuco, and another from the In. let Todos los Sanctos; which Prizes having fent home with three Ketches, he Fayl'd towards Sierre Leona, known by high and thick Woods, which grow on a high Coaft ; from whence returning agair to Pernambaco, he took fix rich laden Vef. fels, amongtt which was one Gallioon from Goa, with a great Treafure of Dia, monds.

Thefe fucceffful Expeditions of the Fleets fet out from time to time by the Expeditions West-India Company, enabled and encourag'd them to undertake Matters of greater confequence, viz. They fitted out one and thirty Sail, which carryed four thou. fand Men, one hundred and thirty Brafs Guns, and five hundred fifty eight Iron Guns; of which Peter Peterszoon Hein being Admiral, took near the Soundings of Tortuga, two Barques from Havana, the Men whereof inform'd him, that the PlateFleet was not yet arriv'd there, nor that from Terra Firma, but were both expected every day. The ftrong Current drove Peter Hein farther Eaftward beyond Havana than he expected, infomuch that he got fight of Matanca, where he overtook a Barque fent out by Landronce de Cabrera, Governor of Havana, to give notice to the Plate Fleet of the Hollanders Ships, which he had feen from the Caftle Morro before Havana: Mean while folon Van Hoorn took a Veffel which was fent out before by che give the Plate Fleet, the Men whereof inform'd him that the Fleet it felf was near at spaiterplater hand; which Peter Hein found to be true, when the next Morning before Sun-rifing devem. of. he defcry'd ten Sayl, of which fome had ignorantly fayled to Leeward, and others to Windward of the Dutch Fleet; nine of them which were Laden with Hides, Meal, Campeche=Wood, Cochinele, Indigo, and other rich Goods, were taken by feveral Mann'd Sloops, becaufe the Ships were not able to come up to them by reafon of the Calm. About Noon Peter Hein difcovering nine Gallions more, made fudden Chace after them; which they perceiving, made toward the Shore, and about Twilight in the Evening they ran aground in the Bay of Matanca, where the Commanders Landing faved themfelves, each carrying with him what Jewels they could. About Break of Day Peter Hein made all the Sayl he could poffible to come up with them; and feeing them faft aground, leapt into a Boat and Rowed up to the Admiral, who fired eight Guns, whileft his Men got afthore : Hein ap. proaching the Gallioon, faw no way to get up, till at laft one of his Men Spying a Rope, climb'd up the fame, and made faft other Ropes for his Companions to get up by, the Spaniards ftanding ftill gaping upon him, as if their feet and hands had been ty'd, which made Peter Hein grant them their Lives; which the other Gallions feeing, furrender'd themfelves upon promife of Quarter ; by which the Spanifh Crown loft, befides the Musk, Bezoar, Ambergreece, and the Cargo of two Gallioons and a rich Prize, above One hundred and fifty Tun of Gold.

The Night fucceeding this great Victory being fomewhat Tempeftuous, drove the Gallioons from the Bank on which they fuck the Day before, into deeper Water : Five Days they fpent in unlading of the taken Veffels, after which Peter Hein fet Sayl with four Gallioons, a new Spanifh Merchant-Man, and his own Fleet, out of the Bay of Matanca, on the Seventh of September, Anno 1628. for Holland, where in a flort time he fafely arriv'd.
The Expedi: The Tyger Frigat fent from Zealand, and Commanded by Lucas Pol, Anchor'd betion of Lumas Pol. fore Blanca, where he brought away above five hundred Goats: This Ifland which is fix Leagues in circumference, hath on the Weft a Sandy Inlet, fit for great Ships to Ride at Anchor; Moreover, it is fteep and Rocky, in the Valleys the Grals grows above half a Mans length. The Woods are overgrown with Thorns; the Soyl alfo would produce much more fruit, did not the Rats, Leguanes, Hedge-hogs; and other Animals, devour and fpoil the Plants.

Pol leaving this Ifland ran to Tortuga, a low Ifle, except on the Weft fide; it produces Guaiacum, or Pockewood, in great abundance, and nourifhes great Flocks of Goats, and hath an eminent SaltePan; in all which things it is parallel'd with the Illand Orchilla, known by its high Mountains on the Eaft and Weft ; the other part thereof not being above fix Foot above the Water: Pol Landing here, carry'd off above two hundred Goats near the Weftern Shore, whofe bryny Soil produces neither Grain, nor Grafs. The Trees which are on the fame are fo dry and weak, that they may be puffitdown with one hand; Neither are there any Birds to be found here, except Owls; nor Beafts, except Goats and great Hedge-hogs. Pol fayling from hence, fteer'd by the nine Wooddy Illes call'd Roccas, and the three call'd Aves, to Bonaire, a pretty large rifing Ifle, which on the North-Weft hath a convenient Road, a frefh Water-fpring, fore of Sheep, on which the Spaniards live; Pockowood, and Cotton Trees : Then fteering to the Ifle Mona, he found the fame to be furrounded with Rocks, and full of Horned Cattel difficult to be catch'd becaufe of the thick Woods, in which grow exceeding good Oranges. Pol leaving this Inle, fet fayl and fteer'd for Flufhing, where he fafely arriv'd without ha. ving perform'd any remarkable Exploits.
Adrian Pater his Expedition.

Mean while the Weforindia Company fitted out twelve Sayl more, under the Command of Adrian Fobnzon Pater, who fet fayl in the middle of Auguft, and Cruifed in vain about the Flemmif) Inles for Spanifh Ships: About the beginning of the Year 1629. he fent away three Ships under the Command of Martin Landrode, from the Ifland of St. Vincent, whileft he himfelf ran with the reft of the Fleet into the Inlet Todos los Sanctos, within a League from the City Salvador, where there lay onely feven Barques near the Shore, which he judging not worth the while to ha. zard his Ships and Men for, fteer'd to Pernambuco, took a rich Laden Barque in his Voyage, and was inform'd by a Brafilian that came aboard of him on floating Pie. ces of Timber, that three Sayl of Ships full of Goods were return'd to Reciffa, fo foon as they heard of the Dutch Fleet: But Pater judging no good to be done there, return'd back to the Caribbee I/lands, where near Granada he found three Dutcl, Veffels, which had likewife Cruis'd in vain before the Coaft of Brafle. Morèover, thè Pegafus, Raven, and Hart Frigats, parted from the Fleet to Cruife about Monges, tou. ching at Blanca, they took above a thoufand Goats, and between the Cliffs of the little Ifles Monges, abundance of Fifh ; but defcrying no Spanißh Ships, they Sail'd to the Ifland De Vacca, which hath a brave Harbor, delightful Woods, plealant Pao ftures, frefh=water Brooks, and abundance of wild Horfes, Hogs, and Lyons, of which the Sea-men took an infinite number. Before the low Promontory Corientes; overgrown with Trees, they got two Prizes laden with Campeche Wood.

Thefe three foremention'd Frigats, as allo the Walcheren and Soutboftar from Zealand, joyn'd with Pater's Fleet, when he receiv'd Information, that a confider2ble number of Spanifh Ships were fuddenly expected from Campeche: Whereupon Paters divided his Fleet into three Squadrons, whereof the Forlorn confifted of three Sail, the Referve of the like number, and the Admiral kept five under his own Command: Thus divided, they ftood to and again before Cape Corientes, when Captain folm Stapel brought three, and Jobn van Hoorn four Netberland Ships to their affiftance.

Hoorn having fet Sail from the Texel about the latter end of April, was beaten off Hoorns Exi= from Granada with poyfon'd Arrows, and took a Prize before the Promontory ${ }^{\text {pedition, }}$ St. Anthony, the Men whereof inform'd him, that the Governor Gabriel de Chaves Oforio, an old Soldier, had great trouble in repairing the Walls, Forts and Houfes in the City, which two years before had been blown down by a great Storm, and that fix great Ships were lading to go for Carthagena with the Gallions for $S_{p a i n}$, becaufe they durft not Steer by Porto Rico for fear of the Netherlanders; moreover, that abundance of Ginger was fpoyl'd for want of Veffels to carry it away ; and that the Citizens were in great want for Stuffs, none having come in a long time from Spain; in like manner there went none but Copper Coin, fo that nothing was to be got there. The Silver and Gold-Mines were not look'd after, the Spaniards not caring to work, and the old Natives werelong fince cut off, infomuch that if the Imperial Court was not kept in St. Domingo, to which belong'd Cumana and Coro, that City and Ifland, and Hifpaniola it felf, would foon be left defolate. Hoorn there fore Sail'd by the Promontory St. Craiz, being a low Point overgrown with Trees, into the Bay, twenty Leagues from the Mouth whereof lie the Ifles fardin de la Reyna. Before Corientes he took a) Barque with three hundred and fix Guns, fene from Havana, the Men whereof inform'd him, That the Governor of Havana, call'd Laurence de Cabrera, having Intelligence of the Dutch Fleets approach, rais'd many Men, and gave notice to the Ships in all the Harbors thereabouts; after which he took another rich Prize; and joyn'd at laft with Paters Fleet, which now confifted of twenty Sail, with which he Steer'd for the Soundings of Tortugas, where the Fleet met with a dreadful Tempeft, wherein a Thunderbolt fplitting the MainYard of the Hunter Frigat, fell down by the Maft, and rowl'd out at one of the Port-holes, kill'd the Purfer, and wounded two more in the Head : great fhowers of Rain fell daily, when Samuel Lucas and Captain Ontger Minne brought feven Sail of Ships more to the Fleet, with which Paters put in for frefh Provifions into the fpacious and fecure Haven De Cabannas, where feveral Inles lie, formerly inhabited by Shepherds and Carpenters.

From hence Paters Sail'd by Elavana, mended the Portholes of his lower Deck; and took off the Top-gallant Mafts, becaufe in September the ufual Storms begin here; and feeing that he could not do any Exploit with fo great a Fleet, he fent nine Ships home, and with the reft went to Barbados; where at that time there were about fifteen hundred Englifh that Planted Tobacco.

Paters Sailing from hence, ran to the Main Continent of America, infpected the River Oronoque, where he quenched the Town St. Thomas, that had been fee on fire by the fled Inhabitants, and brought aboard all what they had left.
Hurnikik Lone.
During his fruitlefs Expedition, the Weft India Company Rigg'd out twenty feven Sail under the Command of Henrick Lonque, Peter Ita, and Fooft Bankart; the LandSoldiers being Commanded by Diederick van Ẅaerdenberg. Lonque'coming to St. Vine cent, ftay'd a long time at Anchor there; for in regard the Spaniard in the Low Countreys rang'd on the Velupee, and had taken Amersfoort, the States of the United Netberlands were forc'd to keep thofe Men in their Service which the Weft.India Company had rais'd ; but fo foon as Wefel was restaken, and the Hartogen=Bofcb won by Fredevick Henrick, Prince of Orange, thirty fix Sail were fent to Lonque's affiftance; of which fome came fooner to him than others at St. Vincent, where he had ftay'd four Moneths without doing any remarkable Exploit. On St. Steven's Day he fet Sail with fifty two Ships, thirteen Sloops, and two Prizes, all Mann'd with feven thoufand Men, which meeting with contrary Winds and Calms, lay a great while under the Line, the Scurvey began to encreafe amongft them daily, infomuch that above twelve hundred lay fick, and three hundred dy'd fince they fet Sail from St. Vincent; yet at-laft Lonque getting fight of Olinda, fent Waerdenberg on the fourth of February with fixteen Ships, carrying three thoufand Men to Pavo Morello, 2 Wood, lying two Leagues Northward from Olinda, where he fuddenly Landed, notwith. ftanding the Portuguefe guarded the Shore with two thoufand Men, whom Waerdenberg, after a Chore Skirmifh, putting to flight, was the whole Night in Arms, Taks oinda and the next day became Mafter of Olinda, by breaking in on the North at the fame cime, when Colonel Scbutte Storm'd on the South. Moreover, the Enemy furren. dred the two Forts on Reciffa, and forfook the Illand.

About the middle of March nine Ships which were wanting to make up Lonque's Fleet, came to an Anchor by him, having brought him above fix hundred Soldiers, many Guns, all manner of Ammunition under the Command of Lieutenant Colonel Alexander Seton, and the three Adjutants folm de Bruine, Pbilip Serooskerken, and Hordtius Calandryn, who immediately order'd the Cloyfter on Antonio Vaes to be fortifi'd, and builea Fort with four Bulwarks at the Entrance of Pozo in the Countrey Reciffa. Seton alfo fet fire on the Suburbs of Olinda, in which the Enemy had Lodg'd the Night before, and endeavor'd to poy fon the frefh Water on Antonio Vaes, when on a fudden the Netberlanders fell upon them; two which drank of the Water dy'd, and others fell into great Fits of Sickneffes, and it wanted little but that the Admiral Lonque, with a Company of fify Mufquetteers, had been kill'd returning from Reciffato Olinda, he being unawares fet upon by two Companies of Portuguefes and Braflians, who kill'd above thirty fix of his Men, and dangeroufly wounded fix more, fo that he brought off but eight Men unhurt. The like Misfortune befell the Woodecutters on Antonio Vaes, furpris'd by the Portuguefe from an Am. bufcade.
Whileft Affairs ftood thus about Olinda, there firft arriv'd two Ships from the United Netherlands at Reciffa, not long after four more, Commanded by Fobn Walbeek, and eight more under the Admiral Dirik.van Uitgeeff, who was follow'd by the Noabs Ark.

About the fame time Dirk de Ruiter fet Sail with fix Ships, and Peter Ita with ten, to Cruife at Sea.

About the beginning of February, Lonque having put all things in good order, preuron by, feanes very fear pardd to return home, and weigh'd Anchor with nine Ships. But Ita going from rapes very parrowly:
Reciffa to Olinda, to take his leave of the Council chere, was fuddenly furpris'd after a ftrange manner ; he had ninety Mufquetteers for his Guard, whofe Matches were all put out, and their Arms all wet by a great fhower of Rain, which they perceiving from their Ambufcades, immediately got crofs the River, and kill'd thirty of the Netherlanders, the reft running away, left Ita to defend himfelf, which he did for fome time with his Siword, but had abfolutely been $\cap_{a i n}$, had he not receiv'd Aid from Olinda.

Becaufe the Portuguefe made feveral Attempts upon the Netherlanders, not with. out damage on both fides, the Weft-India Company often fent Ships to their affo ftance ; and likewife many Brafilians deferting the Portuguefe, joyn'd with the Netherlanders, who built a five-corner'd Fort with Bulwarks about the Cloyfter on Ans tonio Vaes; which to prevent, the Portuguefe ventur'd many a Sally, though not without confiderable lofs on their part. They alfo reported, that Frederick de Toledo was making thither with a great Fleet, to drive the Netherlanders out of Brafile; at which they taking the Alarm, put themfelves all into a pofture of Defence, rais'd new Works about the Cafte on Reciffa, whileft the Ships which Cruis'd on that Coaft brought in feveral Prizes.
Jobn Walbeek being chofen General by the WefoIndia Company over Brafile, had a Defign on the Promontory St. Amgufine; but it came to no effect, becaufe the Sea beat fo vehemently againft the Shore.

The Report of the great preparation of a Fleet which was making ready in Spain, mov'd the Wef-India Company to raife more Men, and to fend out Admiral Paters with feventeen Ships, which all arriv'd fafe, except the Black Lyon Frigat, rupp-thisiat which carrying the Lieutenant-Colonel Eltz and Captain Uitgeeft, was never ${ }^{\text {Company. }}$ heard of.

Fooft Bankart was alfo Ient out in March with eight Ships to St. Helena, to Cruife there for the rich Carraks which us'd to Water there; but though he ftay'd till $A u$ guff before this fruitful Ifland, yet faw not one Ship at Sea, nor a Man on the Ifland; but great numbers of Sea-pies, which are fo tame, that they fuffer themfelves to be taken up with the Hand, or knock'd on the Head with Sticks.

Near this Ifle Ita took a Ketch Prize, and rallying his whole Fleet together,Steer'd for the Caimans ; the moft Eaftern Ifle whereof being about three Leagues long, is full of Rocks, with a high Point on the Eaft; the other part thereof is plain. Then dividing his Fleet into feven Squadrons, he made them all ready for an Engage. ment, when he was inform'd by an Englijh-man before Corientes, that Frederick de To. ledo had fet Sail with eighty Ships from Havana to Spain, of which he had fent back eight Gallions to Carthagena: Hereupon bending his Courfe near Havana, he put the whole Countrey to an Alarm, burnt a rich laden Veffel, and another that carry'd a Flag on the Fore-top, and a third laden with Ballaft.
Foachim GuyJen being made Commander of the Dolphin Frigat, and fent to joyn with Admiral Pater's Squadron, was driven below famaica, and at laft ftrook againft the great Caiman, where his Veffel was all fhatter'd to pieces; but all his Men and Goods being fav'd, he fpent fixteen Weeks in making a Ketch of the pieces of the Dolphin, and brought a hundred and twenty Men, four Brafs, and two Iron Guns to the Fleet, having buried the reft on Caiman.

Five Leagues beyond Havana, a Spanifh Ship laden with Campeche Wood and Sarfaparilla, being chafed againft the Shore, was fet on fire by her.own Men, which the FHollanders attempted twice in vain to put out.

After this Ita's Fleet lay long upon the Coaft of Cuba, but finding no Sp.mifl Vefo fels, and their Provifions growing fcarce, return'd back to the Texel, where they arriv'd without doing any farther Exploits.

- In the mean while Pater lying before Punta del Gallo, intending to Invade the City built on the Shore of the Ifland Trinidad; but the Fort built at the Mouth of the River, and contrary Current preventing his Defign, he ran through the middlemoft Hole of Boccas to Blanca, where he caught two thourand Goats and a Boo naire, fet feveral Towns on fire, whileft the Spaniards made a Smother of dry Stubble all along the Fields, through which the Hollanders were to return, that fo they might be choak'd with the Smoak; which their Invention had prov'd fuccefsful, had not the Hollanders forc'd a Way through 2 Wood. At laft the Fleet leaving HiSpaniola, Steer'd for St. Martba, a Town built on the Main Coaft between Cartbao gena, and the River La Hacha, being inftigated thereto by a Letter (taken by the Hollanders in a Prize) writ by the Governor Hieronymo de Quero to the Spanifh King ; which Letter fet forth the prefent Condition of St. Martha, whereby they conceiv'd great hopes of a poffibility of taking it, and of the Advantages that would accrue thereby : nor did it happen contrary to their expectation; for the Admiral Landing his Men, took the City without the leaft refiftance; and though the great Fort fir'd fome Guns, yet it foon furrendred on promife of Quarter ; the City alfo was fav'd from being burn'd, by paying fifty five hundred Pieces of Eight, after they had plunder'd the fame, and carry'd away whatfoe're they thought good. Mean while the Provifions growing fcarce in the Fleet, Pater judg'd it convenient to return home, where he arriv'd fafely with all his Prizes.
$\underset{\substack{\text { The valiant } \\ \text { Exploite of }}}{ }$
Notable Exploits were perform'd by Jobn Lichthart, one of which, amongft others ought not to be omitted, viz. he fetting Sail homewards from Reciffa about the beginning of 0 Ctober Anno 1630 . chanc'd to fall with his Ship, the 0 ver- - zel, amongft five Bifcayan Pyrats, Cruifing becween the French and Englifh Coaft, which thought to clap him aboard on a fudden; but they feeing him bear up to them, were afraid to venture, and Tack'dabout : after which he was fet upon about three Leagues to the Northward of the Lizard, by three Frigats belonging to Dunkirk, the biggeft whereof carry'd thirty fix Guns, the fecond twenty eight, and the laft twelve; with which three he maintain'd a Fighteight hours, in which he had fourteen Men kill'd, and thirty two wounded; his Ship refembled a Wreck, the Main-maft being fhot overboard, the Rudder hung by pieces at the Stern, and the Tackling all fhatter'd and torn, befides feven Shot under Water, and not lefs than four hundred through the fides above, but not without fufficient marks of retribution on the Dunkirkers fide; but Lichthart getting into Plymouth, mended his Ship, and from thence Sail'd to Ainferdam, where he was Prefented with a Gold Chain in recompence of his Valor.

The Expedition of the Brown-Fiß Frigat is alfo remarkable, which Sailing beyond Cape de Verd, Steer'd by Cape Roxo along the Shore to the River Catchiew, at whofe Mouth lie two Shelves, and between them ran a Channel through which the Ships pafs'd. The Brown Fifh Sailing about a League up the River, which is a Mile in breadth, took a Portuguefe Barque. The Seamen alfo Landing on the Ine Bi $\beta i s$, spake Portuguefe with the Natives, who are Coal-black, and have ftrong Bodies, go Arm'd with Darts, Bowes, Arrows, Symiters, and were Baptiz'd by a Prieft fent thither from Portugal, who with a few Countrey-men had built a Chappel and fome Houfes there.

From hence the Brown-Fifh Sail'd to the moft Northern Ifle Bifegos, which is continually at Wars with Bifis. The King of this Ille receiving fome Prefents from the Netherlanders, gave leave to his Subjects, fhie at firt, to go aboard of them.

- Steering from hence to Noronho, they found the Inhabitants carry'd away, and their Gardens and Houles ruind, fo that they could get nothing but wild Pumpions to refrefh themfelves with; therefore leaving the Ife they anchord as Reciffa.

In the interim, whileft thefe Expeditions were carry'd on as hath been related, Captain fohn Boon-eter (who parted from the Admiral Ita's Fleet with eight Sail of Ships) Cruis'd to and again before Hi/paniola till May Anno 163I. near Mona he took a rich Veffel coming from Porto Rico, another before the Inand Vacca, and a third full of Ginger, with which he Steer'd to the Tortugas, being feven in number, refembling rather fandy Flats than Inles. Before Havana he alfo chafed feveral Veffels, but loft fight of them in the Night. Mean while their Provifions growing Thort, the Seamen were defirous to return; which Boon-eter would no way yield to, becaufe the time began to approach in which the Spanijh Ships came from all places to Havana; but the Men mutinying forc'd him to Steer to the Texel, where they arriv'd without doing any confiderable Exploit advantageous to the Weftrindia Company.

But at the fame time fourteen Ships, three Sloops, and feven great Pinnaces, weighed Anchor from Reciffa with a thoufand two hundred and fixty Men, divided into twelve Companies, under the Command of Hartman Godefrid and Stein Callenfels; who Landing on the Ifland Tamarica, march'd along a bad and narrow Path, The Fort of partly craggy and partly fandy, to a Fort built on a high Afcent overgrown with hamitr by Brambles in fuch a manner, that it was impoffible for them to break through, vain whileft they in the Fort fir'd continually upon Stein Callenfels, who judg'd it convenient to draw off, and Storm the Caftle on another fide.

The Admiral Pater newly come from the Texel to Olinda, •ent three Ketches, a Sloop, and two Pinnaces, beyond the Town Tamarica, to prevent the Enemies crof. fing over to the Main, and keep off their Fire-fhips. They alro receiv'd Information from three Portuguefe and five Brafilian Prifoners, That the Caftle, furrounded with Fens and Brambles, had fixteen Guns; and that Albuquerque had fent eight hundred Men to affift the three hundred that lay in Garrifon there before. The Captains Le Grand and Arciffeusky found two other Ways that led to the Fort, but al. together unfit to march along with their Men and Guns. Pater alfo Row'd round the Illand with Sloops, and fathom'd the Water, whileft Arcifeeusky Sailing up the River to Garafi, fuppos'd that he had found a much better place to make ( Onfet on the Caftle in, than had been found out yet ; but the Council of Olinda and Stein Callenfels look'd upon it as too great a hazard to Storm a Fort, to which the Ways lay fo much to the Enemy's advantage, 2 fmall number in the fame being able to beat off a confiderable Party; therefore it was judg'd beft, and concluded upon, to

- build a Fort on a little Inle near Tamarica, at the Mouth of the River; to which purpofe the Engineer Buuren contriv'd a fquare Caftle with a long Hornowork, which was call'd Orange; in which the Captains Arciffeusky, Mellingen, and Beyer, were left in Garrifon with their Companies, whileft the reft of the Regiment re: turn'd to Reciffa.

Mean while Antonio de Oquendo brought a great Fleet to St. Salvador; and Callenfels drew four Companies of Mufquetteers, and a great company of Seamen with Pick. axes and Spades out of the Fort Frederick. Henrick into the Field, and marching Southo ward along private Ways, he found the River ftrongly fortifid near the Forts Affogados, having above and below a row of ftrong Pallifado's; yet the Portugurfe that guarded thefe Works after a fmall refiftance fled, and left all: But becaufe a general Alarm drew many People in Arms out of Real, and feveral other places, Callenfels drew off in good order, and was inform'd by a Prifoner call'd Peter Alves, that the Fort Affogados receiv'd that Denomination from the River on which it was built;
that there lay generally a hundred and fifty Men in Garrifon there; that about a Mile farther was the Fort Pirange; that Peter de Acunba bore the chief Command next to Albuquerque over the Militia, who us'd few Mufquets but what had Fire-locks; and that they wanted no Ammunition, for fix great Carvels loaden with the fame had not long fince for'd them with great plenty thereof. The Netherlanders allo underftanding by Letters which they had taken, that the Tapayans were very much incens'd againft the Portuguefe, who food in great fear of thefe falvage People, it was judg'd convenient by the Council at Olinda, to invite the Tapuyans to be their Friends.

On the eleventh of September Anno 163 I. Admiral Pater and Vice=Admiral Mar: tin Thy zoon, whofe joint Forces were fifteen Men of War and three Ketches, carrying nine Companies of Foot, Commanded by Captain Engelbert Scbutte, defcrying the Spanifh Fleet about an hour before Sun-fet, animated all the Officers and Captains to regard their Honor and Oath which they had taken; telling them, That on this Engagement would depend the Welfare or Ruine of the Weft-India Company. But his Men were not fo much heartned by his Speech, as daunted at the fight of the Spanifh Fleet, which confifted of twelve Caftilian and five Portuguefe Gallions, and twenty fix other Veffels, as Pinks, Fly=boats and Carvels, all well Mann'd and full of Guns, the Gallions carrying whole and Demi-Cannons; the 'Admiral, call'd Antonio de Oquendo, carrying forty eight great Guns in his Gallion,' call'd St. Faro; whereas they had receiv'd Information but of four Gallions and eighteen leffer Veffels; neverthelefs Pater no whit difcourag'd, boarded him about ten a Clock the next Morning, whileft Captain fobn Maft boarded him on the other fide, which occafion'd a bloody Engagement ; and it would have prov'd fatal to the Spaniard, had not Pater's Stern taken fire, which he endeavoring in vain to put the Spanifh Admiral's Bowe, he was forc'd through faintnefs to let go and fall into the Water, whileft his Ship was blown up, a few of his Men onely being fav'd by Oquendo. In the mean time Martin Tby zzoon boarded the Gallion Antonio de Padua; Commanded by the Vice=Admiral Francifco de Vallezilla on one fide; and the Utrecht Frigat of the other, which after half an hours Engagement loft her Main-maft, and after a fgarp Fight of four hours the Fire took hold of her Sails; which the Nethere: landers not being able to quench, leap'd defperately over into the Spanifh Vicea Admiral ; but he having two hundred and fixty Men aboard, beat them off, forcing them to leap into the Water, or fell their Lives at a dear rate. But Captain Thyfzoon had better fuccefs, for he not onely funk the Vice-Admiral, but took the Bonaventura Gallion, and likewife gave the Gallion Fobn Baptiffa fo many fhot under Water, that fhe funk likewife. The Night approaching ended this bloody Engage. ment ; and the Netherlanders Fleet much damnifid food Northwards, with interition to return to Reciffa. The next Morning Oazendo had loft fight of them, but des fcry'd them again on the fifteenth of September, and kept in view of them the fix fole lowing days, five Leagues from him to the Eaft, or Eaft SoutheEaft, Martin Thyfzoon coming to an Anchor before Reciffa on the twenty fecond of September.

About the fame time the Amfterdam Frigat fet Sail from thence for St. Salvador, with intention to joyn with'Pater's Fleet there, but not finding the Admiral, reo turn'd, and near Cape St. Auguftine difcover'd the Spanifh Fleet; wherefore running clofe behind them fhe receiv'd four Guns from Oquendo, which the anfwer'd, and kept at a diftance from them the whole Night, in hopes to meet with one fingle Veffel or other belonging to the Fleet; but the Spanifh Vice-Admiral bearing litthe Sail, guarded the Rere, and fir'd continually at the Amferdam Frigat, who fearo ing an unlucky Bullet, made all the Sail fhe could poffible, and brought news of the approach of the Spanifh Fleet to Reciffa. Soon after which the Elepbant came from the Dutch Fleet thither, with a full Account of the fore-mention'd Engagement, viz. That befides the Admiral Pater, there were flain Captain Thomas Sickes; Cormillion, and Lieutenant Steenbergen, alfo that two Ships, the Prince William and the Province of Utrecht, were funk: In lieu of which they had taken the Gallion call'd The Bonaventura, with twenty fix Brafs Guns, weighing above fixty four thoufand Pound, two hundred and forty Cafiliants, and a great parcel of Sugar and Tobacco ; Amongft the Prifoners was one call'd Francijco de Fuentes, who being Examin'd, gave this Information, viz. That the Fleet carry'd two Regiments of Spaniards and one of Italians; in which three Regiments were four thoufand Men, under the Command of Conde del Bangniold; and that upon the fetting out of Ferdinand, the King's Brother, to the Netherlands, all the chiefeft Gallions and Dunkirk Ships were fent for, and Englifh Veffels hir'd, to convey him fafe to the Flemmifh Coaft, which made Oquenda fet Sail with fo much the leffer number to St. Salvudor; that the funk Gallion, call'd Antonio de Padua, had fourteen Brafs Guns in her Hold, befides twenty fix that were mounted.

Soon after a Braflian that had pafs'd by Albuquerque's Army to Olinda, brought Ine Tworafogan puyans, to enquire if the Topatingas (for fo they call'd the Netberlanders that belong'd dumberts. to the Weftindia Company) did yet refide in Pernambuco, with Proffers to affit them with their Forces. Moreover, he inform'd them, That fince his departure from Boudenyyn Henrick $\{$ zoon, a great many of the T'apuyans Petivares were kill'd by the Portuguefe near the River Grande and Inlet Trajiciaos, becaufe they had affifted Henrickfzoon, who had left them helplefs at his departure. He added alfo, That if the Wefte India Company would give the other Brafilians any affurance to affift the Tapuyans, it would be neceffary to Confult about it near the River Grande.

This Propofal was found to be of fo weighty a Concern, that Ellert Smient being fent with the Ship call'd The New Netherland, and a great Sloop, to Siara, to make farther enquiry into the Bufinefs, was accompanied by a Renegado Portuguefe call'd Samuel Cochin, and feveral Brafilians (whom Henrick zoon upon their Re. queft carry'd with him from the Inlet Trajiciaon to Holland) who went, under pretence of vifiting their Relations at the River Grande and Siara, to invite their Coun= trey-men to joyn with the Netberlanders.

During Smient's abfence many Confultations were held about the demolifhing $\begin{gathered}\text { Otatat defeft: } \\ \text { ted and de- }\end{gathered}$ or defending of the City Olinda, about which there had formerly been many Con- ted mind dey tefts; but at laft the Voices carry'd it, which were for the demolifhing thereof; iṇ ders, regard it was of little Confequence; and could not be kept without many Men and great Charges, becaufe of its bad Situation, whenas their Men might do greater Service in other places: Wherefore they began to carry all things neceffary from Olinda to Reciffa, and on the twenty fourth of November the City was fet on fire with Barrels of Pitch and Tar, being in a light flame at every corner, whileft Stein Callenfels drew off the Garrifon in good order to Reciffa; and immediately fixteen hun: dred Men under his Command were put aboard of fixteen Veffels, with intention to go to Parayba; but the Enemy having a fortnight before had notice of this Defign, had fortif'd himfelf all along the River. Callenfels approaching, efpy'd twelve Portuguefe Standards, and the Men ready on the Breaft-works to prevent his Landing; yet neverthelefs he not regarding their Bullets, prefs'd in amongtt them, and forc'd the Enemy from his Works.

Near the Water ftood a Stone Caftle, and on one fide of it a large Store-houfe Ddd on the Mountain near the City appear'd the Erancifcan Cloyfter; the Fort rais'd of Earth had four Bulwarks, and twenty fix Guns, according to the Information of the Eye-witneffes Drevis and Berfer, who were fent thither as Spies.

Callenfels Landed not fo carefully but that he loft forty Men, either kill'd from : behind the Breaftworks, or out of a neighboring Wood. Being inform'd by a Portuguefe Prifoner, of the ill Condition of the Town, and how flenderly it was provided, he immediately rais'd a Sconce, two Watch-houfes, and a Pallifado, from which he-fir'd with two Guns on the Caftle, and madefeveral Trenches; but the Befieged were ftronger in People and Guns than the Befiegers, who being fearce able, by reafon of their fmall number, to keep Guards in all places, were alfo tir'd out under a hot Climate, and fainted for want of Provifions, infomuch that in two days there dy'd and fell fick above two hundred; wherefore Callenfels judg'd it beft to draw off in time ; which that they might do fecurely, they made a Redoubt, and the fix Companies Commanded by the Captains Redinchoven, Meppelen, Cloppene burg, Schenk, Byma, and Cook, refolv'd upon a defperate Attempt, as followeth : Marching privately through a Wood behind the Enemy's Works, they fell in at one fide upon the Portuguefe Trenches, from whence they drove them after a fmall refiftance, and forc'd them to flie towards the Fort, whither they were purfu'd with fuch eagernefs, that thofe who were in the Fort, left the Hollanders might get in with them, lock'd up the Avenues againft their own Men; at which they were fo amaz'd, that fome of them climb'd up by the Walls of the Fort, but were either kill'd by the Affailants, or knock'd on the Head by their own People, becaufe feveral Hollanders went to climb up amongft the Portuguefe; the reft running about the Fort, fell into the midft of the Netherlanders, where they were all cut off, being in number above a hundred. The Hollanders alfo in this refolute Defign, had about twenty Men kill'd, and fifty wounded; after which they put lighted Matches on Sticks in their Enemy's. Works; as if they had never made any Attempt on the City Parayba.

Whileft this Expedition fell out fo unfortunately, Smient performing his Voyage, found in the Inlet Trajiciaon a Portuguefe Veffel hal'd near the Shore under the protection of two Pallifado's; wherefore fuppofing it beft not to make any Attempe on the fame, he ran to an Anchor before Ubranduba, twenty Leagues below the Rio ver Grande; where the Natives Marcial, Tacou, Ararova, and Matauwe, who had been in Holland, Landing, went to fee, and fpeak with their Countrey=men to joyn with the Netherland Weff-India Company: and fome days after the Seamen Landing again in the fame place, met with Tacou, together with eight more fout Men, and feventeen Women and Children, who carry'd a flain Portuguefe call'd fuan Perera, to the River Grande, about whom they had found Letters containing the whole Condition of Siara; which the Brafilians imparting to Smient, he fent a Ketch thither before, and follow'd after himfelf; they Steer'd along the Shore beyond the Shelves Guamare, by the Mountains Sailinas and Porto de Mel, the Haven De Onces, and River Juaguarive, to the White Point, where the Brafilians Landing fpake with their Pcople, and towards the Evening brought good tydings, and defir'd that they might be Landed at Siara, where they would put their Defign in practice: Smient following their Advice, receiv'd them aboard the Nen Netherland, and Sail'd along by the fquare Fort Siara towards a fmooth Shore on each fide, hedg'd in by thick Woods, where she Brafilio ans intended to Land; but the Portuguefe, and Brafilians belonging to their Party, being gotten into the Wood before, fir'd fo vehemently, that they were forc'd to Retreat, and Sail five Leagues farther beyond the Cape Opefe, made dangerous by the many blind Cliffs that lie about the fame. Smient anchoring here, Landed the Brafilians, on promife that they would return in two days; but the Seamen feeing fometimes ten, fometimes fifteen Arm'd Portuguefes athore, judg'd that the Brafitians had been flain by them, and therefore weighed Anchor to the great dillike of the Weft-India Company.

Since this unfucceesful Defign on Parayba, the Council at Reciffa were no whit difcourag'd, but refolv'd to make an Attempt on the River Grande with twelve Ships and two Sloops, carrying ten Companies of Soldiers, befides Seamen; but by reafon of the difficulty of Landing (becaufe the Coaft being very Rocky, makes the Sea go very hollow) the ftrength of the Place, both in wefpect of its Fortification and number of Defendants, and the joyning of the Brafilians with them, they were forc'd to return without effecting their Defign.

About the fame time eight Sail arriv'd at Reciffa from Holland, and Fonathan de The ExpediNekker, Cornelis Cornelifzoon, alias Houte-been, and Reinier Peterfzoon, fet out with three tior, HopereFrigats from the Texel to the Iffe Vacca, where with Hunting, Fifhing, and gather-thers. ing of Fruit, they refrefh'd themfelves, and afterwards Steer'd to the River Magdas lena, difcernable at three Leagues diftance by the thick yellow Water it difcharges into the Sea through three Mouths. Between the Weftern and middlemoft Mouth lies an Ifle in the middle of the River, behind which Houtebeen came to an Anchor, whileft Nekker and Peterfzoon kept Guard near Punto Verde; where though the Wind blew very frefh in the Night, yet the Water remain'd fmooth : About Day-break Nekker difcovering a Sail, made chafe after the fame, but not able to come up with her, loft her the following Night, and in the Morning faw a Barque, which running afhore was fet on fire by Peter (zoon; after which Nekker chafed two other Ships, which likewife getting from him, he flood off at Sea out of fight of the Illes Zamba, which are low on the Weft, and Hilly at the Eaft-end, where the Sea beats vehemently againft a Promontory, and chafed a Barque afhore, whither he fent a Boat with eight Men; which being beaten to pieces by the Waves, drowned four of them, and the reft getting afhore were kill'd by the Spaniards. Soon after which four Spanijh Ships fet Sail after Nekker and Peter/zoon, and had not the Night favor'd them they had been but in a bad Condition; for'they were not able to get their Sea=men aboard, who having taken fome Wine afhore; had made themfelves Drunk; about Day=break they defery'd the four Spanifh Veffels, which were gotten fo far from them, that they could but juft difern them from the Maintop. Not long after they took two Barques, and came to an Anchor behind Zamba by Houte been, who being driven by a Storm out of the River Magdalena to Famaica, had chafed a Barque afhore there, and a Ship with four hundred Negro's againft St. Martha, and fince took a rich laden Barque near the River Magdalena. In like manner Nekker and Peterfzoon took a Ship coming from Caraques, leaving Houtebbeen alone before Magdae lena, who not long after difcover'd eighteen Spanifh Ships near the High land St. Martha, which were Steering to Carthagena; one whereof belonging to Carthagena he made Prize of, but was forc'd to forfake her in a great Storm; after the ceafing of which he took another Frigat, the Men whereof inform'd him, That the Admi= ral Thomas de Cajpure was going with eleven Ships from Cape Antonio to Porto Bels, to lade the Peruvian Silver there. The Ship with Angolan Negro's, taken by Eloute-becn, he fet free, but kept a Frigat laden with Tallow, Hides, Tobacco, and Flefh, which he had taken juft before the Coaft of Rio Grande; and thus he went Privateering up and down, when the Plate-Fleet from New Spain weighed Anchor from Fuan de Lua, the like of which in Richeshad never fet Sail before, for it carry'd 2169340 Ryals of Eight for the Merchants, an unvaluable Treafure for the King, befides many rich Commodities which feveral bought upon their own Accounts, that were not entred in the Cuftomehoufe : all which Treafure, laden in nine Gallions, befides a confiderable number of Frigats and fmall Veffels, was committed to the Charge of Miguel de Echacareta; buthe dying before the Fleet fet Sail, Mansel Serano de Ribera was chofen Admiral; but a dreadful Storm arifing as they were Sailing. be. fore the Coaft of Campeche in their Way to Havank, the whole Fleet was in a manner utterly deftroy'd, with a moft unvaluable Treafure: The Admiral, Vice-Admiral, Gallion, Terefia, and feveral other Gallions, funk, with at leaft wo thoufand Men, a grear number of Perfons of Quality, and amongft the reft the Marquefs Salinas, who was moft treacheroufly lain by thirty Perfons, who made themfelves Mafters of a Sloop, into which he went for fafety out of the finking Admiral fufeppe: That which inftigated them to this horrid ACt, was the fight of a fmall Trunk of Jewels which he carry'd into the Sloop: Not long after falling out amongft themfelves about dividing the Spoil, feveral of them were difcover'd, apprehended, and put to dearh.

This Fleet weighed Anchor the day after their Admiral Miouel de Echacareta was buried, who dy'd fo fuddenly that he could make no Will. A few days after the departure of the Fleet, a hundred and feventy Houfes were burnt at Juan de Lara. It appears that the Spaniards out of fear of the Netberlanders, fet Sail on the tenth of October, notwithftanding it was at an inconvenient time, becaufe about that Seafon the Hurricanes rage moft terribly in the Bay of Vera $\mathrm{Cr}_{\mathrm{r} u} \mathrm{x}$.

By a Letter from the Treafurer Francifcus Suarez it appears, that the two Regio ments in the City St. Salvador, the one Commanded by Chrifopher Mexia Bocanegra, confifting of nine Companies, each of fixty Men, and the other Commanded by Vafco de Mafcarennas, confifting of thirteen Companies, coft the King of Spain yearly 21515 l. to maintain them.
Watheres ${ }^{\text {ploge }}$. The The Netberland Council at Reciffa no way difcourag'd by their fuccefslefs Attemptsmade the laft Year on Rio Grande, fent thirteen Companies of Soldiers aboard of feventeen Veffels, to build a Fort at the River Formofa, where the Portuo guefe being too weak to refift them, fet fire on a Store-houfe with three hundred Chefts of Sugar, and fled. Walbeck was Commander in Chief in this Defign, who Landing on Formofa found no fit place to build a Fort in, becaule the Shore, not being above a Mufquet-fhot broad, was inclos'd with Woods, behind which lay high Mountains that Commanded the Shore; therefore marching to Serinhain he burnt feveral Houfes and a new Sugar-Mill, near which in a Storehoule he rook twelve hundred Chefts of Sugar, which for' want of Carts he could not carry to his Ships. Alfo before Porto Calvo he burnt a Carvel, and took a great number of Cato tel on Camarigibi, and return'd without any farther Exploits to Reciffa, where the Cruifers had brought in feveral Prizes during his abfence.

The Council refolving not to fit idle, fet out another Fleet of eighteen Ships under the Command of Martin Thy zoon, with a Regiment of fourteen Companies under Stein Callenfels.
The Expedi-
tiono M Mere- This Fleet approaching Cape Augufin, they found a ridge of Rocks along the fore a fmall Inler, at whofe Mouth lay a fmall Fort from which the Enemy fir'd up. on the Mann'd Boats which Row'd by the fame : at fome diftance they difcern'd two Breaftworks, one rais'd above the other near the Shore; on which when the Hollanders thought to Land, three hundred Portuguefes fir'd at once upon them; and on a Hill not far from thence appear'd more Men, which amaz'd the Council of War, for the Inlet was fo narrow, that not above fix Boats could Land at once; and it was evident, that though the Enemy fhould chance to be beaten from behind his Breaftiworks, yet the Hollanders would lie expos'd to the Enemy's Guns from the Fort Nazareth built on the Mountain ; befides, Nazareth, if gain'd, could fearce be defended, unlefs the whole Mountain were Intrench'd round, which would not onely be very chargeable, but alfo impolfible, becaule of the red Earth, altogether unfit for Fortifications; and the barren Mountain afforded neither Wood, nor any thing elfe; befides, the Storming of it would be very dangerous: The Entrance into the Haven was difficult, becaufe a fonie Bank beforethe fame fuffer'd no Pafo fage but betwixt fmall Openings; the chiefeft whereof was guarded by a Water. Cafte, and farther within by the Fort Puntael. Along the Sea-fhore their Landing was prevented by the violenc beating of the Waves, and a great fquare Tower on the Way up to the Fort Nazareth, whofe Church is feen at a great diftance off at Sea. All which confider'd, they judg'd it beft to draw off their Men again, and fo they return'd without having effected any thing to the purpofe, onely Captain Scbuppe took two Carvels with five hundred Chefts of Sugar in the River Formof $a$.

Soon after Martin Thy zoon being fent out with twenty two Sail, fent four Ships for Holland with the Lieutenant-Colonel Stein Callenfels, and the Councellor Serooskerken; yet thirteen Sail remain'd ftill before the Coaft of Brafile, under the Come mand of Captain Fobn Ma/t, who whileft he ftood to and again from the Shore, and Cruifing up and down, the Governor of Reciffa and Colonel Rembach march'd with five hundred Men and forty Negro's, from Reciffaabout fix a Clock at Night, by Olinda along the Shore: Whereupon the Portuguefe Horfeowatch ran inftantly to Real, two Leagues from Olinda, to give notice thereof to Albuquerque ; but they furmounted all the Difficulties they met with by the Way (which were the greater in regard of the abundance of Rain that had lately fall'n, )and on the firft of May 1632 . came to the City Garafuabout Noon; where whileft Rembach ftood fill in good ore der with three Companies, the Governor of Reciffa fell upon the Town with three Frollundrt Companies. The Inhabitants had not the leaft thoughts of being molefted by the Netberlanders there, becaufe they judg'd the Ways which led thither could not be pals'd in that rainy Seafon. In the firft Onfet a hundred Portuguefes, moft of them great Merchants, were flain, they being come thither with their Goods from Olinda; and amongft the Prifoners which they took, were fix Francifcans.

This Victory the Hollanders obtain'd with the lofs but of eight Men, and twenty five wounded, befides Captain Rembach, who was alfo wounded. The Governor of Reciffa entering the City, ftav'd two hundred Pipes of Wine, to keep his Soldiers from overdrinking; and becaufe there were many fair Women there, he caus'd them all to be lock'd up in the Church of St. Cofmo, to preferve them from the Soldiers outrages.

The Prieft Duarte Mendez Serraon(a Letter of whofe fohm de Laet quotes) values the Booty carry'd a way by the Hollanders from Garafw, at 9000 1. Sterl. befides the damage which the Place fuffer'd, being almoft ruin'd. He relates farther, That the City call'd Villa de Santo Cofmo de Garafu lay five Leagues to the Northward from Olinda; and that in it were three Churches, viz. Cofinus, Mifericordia, and Heremis tage de Santa Crux ; as alfo two Cloyfters, viz. Invocation de Antonio, inhabited by Capuchins, and another dedicated to Francifcus, inhabited by Perfons of his Order; That the chief Church Cofmus, buile like a flat-roof'd Houfe, had a fair Entrance, before which ftood two Turrets, and in them hung Bells; That the Francifcan Cloyfter was inclos'd within a great Wall in the middle of a pleafant Garden, and had on each fide a Tower; That moft of the People who kept the Feaft of St. Pbie lip and St. Jacob, were at $M a \beta$ when the Hollanders came thither, and though they faw the Soldiers out of their Windows, judg'd them to be Portuguefes, who (as it was reported) had a Defign upon Tamarica.

The Governor of Reciffa marching with his Booty from Garufa, fet feveral Houfes on fire, and march'd towards the Fort Orange, on the Ifland Tamarica. Albuquerque inform'd thereof, difpatch'd a SpanijhRegiment, Commanded by Colonel Ferdinand Ludovico Barballo, and Paulo de Perado, with a confiderable Body of Volunteers; but they all came too late: Whereupon the Portuguefes, being thus kept in continual Alarms afhore, and fuftaining every day more and more Loffes at Sea, began to defire Peace, and the rather, becaufe they could not hear of any Fleet coming from Spain to their affiftance; and hearing a Report, that the Wefo.India Company were making great Preparations. To which purpofe Peter Alvares (acquainted with the Dutch Commanders, as having been their Prifoner) was fent by Duarte de Albuquerque (to whom the Lordfhip of Pernambuco properly belong'd) and by his Brother (being General of all the Forces in Brafile) to Reciffa, to Treat about the deciding of the Differences betweenthem and the Netherland Weft-India Company: But the Council in Reciffa weighing the many Difadvantages that would enfue, if they fhould upon eafie Terms patch up a Peace with the Portuguefes, return'd Alvares this Anfwer: "That the Weft-India Company was refolv'd, to the utmoft of their "power, to keep all thofe Places which they had taken by force of Arms; but that "if he could move Albuquerque to deliver up the Countrey to them, he fhould be "bountifully rewarded.

After this the Hollanders Landing at Barra Grande, took great quantities of Wine and Tobacco, and burnt two Villages; as alfo the Sugar-Cane Fields, and SugarMills on Catuwanba, alfo one at Barra Grande, and three at. Porto Francifco.

At the fame time the Hollanders alfo fcatter'd Letters amongtt the Portuguefe, fig: nifying their trouble for the great effufion of Blood in thofe Parts, which was occafion'd by their own ftubborn and unreafonable Proceedings; likewife intimating the great Preparations that were making on their own part, and on the other fide the great unlikelihood, and indeed impoffibility, as things then ftood, of receiving farther Succors from Spain.
The Holan:-
Thefe things bieng powerfully urg'd, had perhaps taken greater effeat with the Portuguefes, had not the fecret Counfels of the Netberlanders been betray'd by Leoinard van Lom, Overfeer of the Prizes, and Tranflater of the. Portuguefe Letters, who confefs'd that he was perfwaded to that villanous Action in Amferdam by a Por'tuguefe Merchant, call'd Duarte Rodrigues Delves, with whom he had made fome Agreement ; and for the better confirmation had receiv'd the Sacrament upon it of an Amferdam Prieft: His Agreement was, "That he fhould go to Reciffa, enquire "after all Concerns, and give fpeedy advice thereof to Rocque de Barros; which he did by a Mulatto, who carry'd Letters between them.

This Villain the Council judging worthy of Death, firft caus'd his two foreFingers to be cut off, next his Head, and afterwards his Body to be divided into four Quarters. The Mulatto was likewife Beheaded.

About this time the Treafurer Cenlen viewing the Ifle Mayo, found the fame to be furrounded with fteep Rocks, abounding with Horfes, Affes, Parrridges and Goars, befides two Salt-pans. The Inhabitants, which go Arm'd with Halfopikes and rufty Hangers, are faid to be a fort of out-law'd Portuguefes, to the number of thirty, amongtt whom was one Woman. They had a Governor, call'd Amaro, to whom they gave yearly eight thoufand Goat-skins.

Ceulen Sailing from hence Steer'd by the Illand Del Fogo, known by a great Mountain, whofe high top vomits Fire. Not far from which he took the Ship St. Peter laden with Wine, with which he return'd fafe to Reciffa, where a while after Gyffelling arriv'd alfo, and was no fooner Landed, but four Ships, two Sloops, fix Cock-boats, a Barque and a Hoy, fer Sail under the Conduct of Jobn Mast with four or five Companies of choice Mufquetteers, Commanded by Colonel Schuppe, who Landed behind the fonie Bank of the River Alexio, furpris'd. fome Portaguefe and Negro's in their Houfes, and march'd in the Night fo faft, that by Day-break they were got to the Shore of the River Eormofa, where they took two tich laden Fly-boats and a Carvel ; and afterwards Landing in the Road Camarigibi, they took fifty Portuguefe in a Village, as alfo a Store-houfe full of Chefts with Sugar and Tobacco, burnt all the Buildings thereabouts, and amongft others a brave SugarMill: Captain Byma burnt alfo an eminent Sugar-Mill near the Brook Maria Farinba. Martin Thyfzoon lay a long time under the Line; but at laft getting to the Ifle Vacca he gave each Captain his Orders, and divided the Fleet, which joyn'd again before Havana, pals'd through the Straights Bahama (where he met with great Storms, and many other Inconveniences) to Holland. But Galeyn van Stapels, who parted with a Frigat from Thy zoons Fleet near Bonaire, Steer'd by the Promontory Cotoche to Sijal; which Village having plunder'd, he fet it on fire, ferch'd a Barque in the Night from the Road of Campeche (whofe City is feen at a great diftance off at Sea, by the white Cloyfter Francif(o) and fo fet Sail for Zealand. Houte-been arriv'd alfo about the middle of fune with a rich Booty in the Texel.

Not long after Houteobeen weighing Anchor with the Otter Frigat, recturn'd to struppand Reciffa, and in his Way thither took a Shipladen with Wine. Colonel Schuppe im. Dhe Fort Eors mediately upon his arrival had a Command given him of five hundred Men, and John Lichthart of three Sail of Ships, a Pinnace and five Sloops; with which they fet Sail to the River Formofa. Schuppe Landing his Men there, march'd up to the Fort Formola, fortifid with Moats, fteep high Walls, and four Guns, Storm'd and took the fame, killing all thofe that were in the Garrifon, except the Governor Peter Albuquerque: In which Vietory neverthelefs the Hollanders loft the valiant Captain Pbilbert du Baffon, who being fhot in at the Throat with a Buller, which came out behind the Ear, dy'd of the fame, the Wound immediately feftering, to which all Wounds are very fubject in Brafile. The Hollanders alfo burnt four laden Barques, a Store-houfe full of Sugar, and pull'd down the Fort they had taken.

Setting Sail again, they Landed to the Northward of the River Antonio Grande, where they gain'd a Platform with five Guns, deftroy'd fix Ships, and took two more in the Haven Camarigibi; from whence they return'd to Reciffa, after having fpoil'd and taken thirteen of the Portuguefe Ships, feveral Sugar-Mills, Store-houfes, and a Caftle.

The Srool Frigat came alfo in a fhatter'd condition to Reciffa, having been End gag'd with a Spanifh Gallion carrying twenty eight great Guns, and full of Men; which neverthelefs fhe would have mafter'd, had not an unfortunate Shot fpoil'd all her Rigging.

About the fame time the Captains Byma, Evervyn, and Rinking, fet Sail with their Companies in three Ships to Porto Francifco, where Landing, they burnt three SugarMills, befides feveral other brave Buildings, and brought away a rich Carvel, whileft Laurence van Rembach was made Colonel in Waerdenberg's place; and Sigifmond Schuppe Lieutenant-Colonel.
The Proffers which the Tapuyan Agent made to the Hollanders had been very advantageous, had not the Summer Seafon been too far fpent: for he had promis'd, That if they would Land a confiderable Party of Men two Leagues Southward from the River Grande, all the Tapuyans fhould joyn with them, and affift them in driving the Portuguefe out of Brafile.

After this Schuppe and Lichthart went with thirteen Companies of Soldiers, and two hundred Seamen, to fall upon the Enemy's Camp at the Afogados, where Albwe querque had rais'd feveral Works, partly for the fecuring of Verga, the: beft Spor of Land in all Pernambuco, where there are likewife more Sugar-Mill.s than in the whole Countrey, and partly to keepan open Way between Arryal and the Promon. tory St. Auguffine: To which purpofe they march'd by the Fort Enzilia along the plain Countrey, to the Stream Capivaribi, which they had crofs'd before the Portuguefe knew any thing of their approach, who being but a hundred and thirty, for. fook their Works and ran into the Woods; but affifted with four Companies of Italians, they Sally'd out of Real, and fell with great eagernefs on the Seamen, who being guarded by forty Mufquetteers were raifing of Works in the Road which leads to Real, and put them to flight; but being rally'd, and feconded by Colonel Redburgh, they drove the Enemy into a By-way, guarded by Byma and Bongarfon; where being ftopt, and Captain Cloppenburgh from another fide falling in amongft them with his Mufquetteers, they became encompass'd, and had beer, all flain, had not Le Grande, by making way for Cloppenburgh, given them an opportunity of get. ting away between them.

The Council at Reciffa, to fecure the footing which they had got on the other fide of the River Capavaribi, took order about the building of a Fort, which requir'd the greater Labor, becaufe the Earth was very fonie : not far from whence Cap= tain fobn Smith walking, was fhot by a Party of Portuguefe lying behind fome Chefts of Sugar ; the Blow whereof giving notice to his Enfign, he fpeedily march'd thither, and furprifing the Portuguefe, kill'd moft part of them. The like fuccefs had Le Grande, Cloppenburgh, and Bongarfon, who marching out upon a Defign, furpris'd unawares in folnn de Mendoza's Sugar-Mill, two Companies of Portuguefe, who having watch'd there the whole Night, and compofing themfelves in the Morning tofleep, were fet upon, and moft of them kill'd, and the old Commander Antonio Or tizo de Mendoza taken, who not long before came thither with a Regiment' of Portuguefes; the Sugar-Mill was alfo fet on fire.

Thefe fucceffful Expeditions ftill adding to the Hollanders frefh Courage, they follow'd the career of their Succeffes, and placing three Companies in the Works of the Afoggdos, drew their Army into three Divifions; Colonel Rembach was to Command the Forlorn ; Schuppe, the main Body ; and Byma, the Referve; in which Order they waded through the River Capivaribi, placing fome Mufquetteers in a Houfe built near the Highoway, to fecure their Return that way, and came without any refiftance to the Arryal; where they found a long Street, with Shops on each fide full of all forts of Goods, which they pillag'd, notwithftanding the Enemy fr'd furioufly from the Caftle upon them, and wounded Colonel Rembach and Captain Redburgh. To the Northward before the Caftle lay a Redoubt with two Guns, which Schuppe maftering, kill'd all that were in the fame ; but being too weak to carry away the Guns, he nail'd up the Touchsholes, and march'd off with his Men, but in fuch diforder, that the Portuguefe Sallying out of their Garrifon, fell in amongtt them in that manner, that they were not able to bring away their wounded Men, amongtt whom was Captain Redburgh; and it had been worfe, had not Remback (who though he was fhot in at the Shoulder, under the Blade-bone whereof lay the Bullet) kept them off till fuch time as the Hollanders were got over the River Capivaribi, near the fore mention'd Houfe, guarded by a Company of Mufquetteers; who kill'd above fifty of the Portaguefes, befides fifty that had been flain in the fore mer Skirmifhes; the Hollanders themelves allo had loft a hundred and thirty Men : yet notwithfanding they ceafed not, but march'd in Parties through all parts of Verga, where they met with no oppofition, but found the Sugar-Mills full of Sugar, left to be kept by a few Negro's. Rembachallo fent a Drummer to Real, to demiand the Wounded, efpecially Colonel Redburgh, with a Letter from the Prifoner Antonio Mendoza, requefting the Governor Albuquerque and Duke of Bagnola, that they would be pleas'd to releafe the Hollanders on Exchange, or elfe upon Ranfom: The Drummer being civilly Entertain'd by Albuquerque, brought back with him a ftrange Oyl call'd Aury, for the wounded Mendoza; with which a Wound made by a Bullet being anointed about three Fingers breadth, it draws out the fame. Bagnola afterwards fent it to Rembach, in requital for his kindnefs in Cending Mendoza in a Hammock to Real. Mean while the Hollanders ftill fortifi'd their Works at the Afogados with Pallifado's and Platforms, on which they put five Guns. They likewife work'd daily on the foresmention'd Caftle, whileft Schuppe march'd with four hun. dred Men in the Night over the River Jangada to Moribeca; which approaching, he perceiv'd the Way fopt up with fell'd Trees; wherefore he march'd about to the Village, which he found forfaken by the Inhabitants, and all the Houfes left enipty, onely five hundred Chefts of Sugar that had been brought thither from Verga, which Schuppe Commanded to be fet on fire with the Village, leaving onely the Church, and at his Return burntalfo a Sugar-Mill.

The Governor Abbuquerque having formerly never fpar'd any Hollanders which Artices be: fell into his hands, began now to be better advis'd; and it was alfo Agreed upon weal hin between the King of Spain and States of the United Netberlands, That they fhould burn no Church, unlefs the one, or the other Party made refiftance in the fame; That the Vietor fhould be oblig'd, upon requeft of Quarter, to Ppare his Enemies, and releafe the Prifoners for an indifferent fum of Money; That both Parties Thould forbear to ufe chew'd or poyfon'd Bullets.
Schuppe being chofen Chief over the Militia in Rembach's Place (who dy'd of his Wound,) lay not long ftill, but fetting Sail with eleven Ships to the Ifle Tamarica, Landed reven Companies before the Cafte Noffra Sennora de Conception; which, though well provided and fortif'd, the Governor Pignioro furrendred, on Condition that he might depart with all his Men and the Church Ornaments.
Matthias van Ceulen and Schuppe Rowving up the Stream Goiana with Sloops and Boats, put to flight Laurence Cavalcanti, burnt divers Sugar-Mills, and took abundance of rich Merchandize : Ten days they made havock in the middle of their Enemies Countreys without any refiftance; for all of them fled to the Aldas, (fo they call the Brafilian Villages) : At laft they return'd home with great Booty, efpecially of Sugar and Brafile Wood; whileft thofe at Reciffa were not idle, doing the Portuguefe great mifchief by their continual Sallies, Tourlong burning a Fifhers Village, and Bongarfon a ftately Banquetting-houfe belonging to Cavalcant near Arryal; as allo Pedro Acunba de Andada's Sugar-Mill, from whence he took great Booty.
27 About the fame time the Portuguefe of feveral Parts,terrifid by continual Alarms The Perrtid. and Loffes, began to incline to the Weft-India Company, believing that they fhould guld beof to to utterly be ruin'd, if they continu'd to joyn with Albuquerque's Party (who claim'd datrt HuadePernambuco wholly to himfelf) and therefore car'd not whether he or the Hollanders were Mafters,fo they might live peaceably. Mean while the Hollanders march'd from the Afogados to Arryal : Schuppe marching before with two hundred and fifty Seamen, was follow'd by the Lieutenant-Colonel De Vries, and he by a Company of Negro's that carry'd Provifions; next Byma march'd with the Referve. The Treafurer fobn Gyeling alfo accompanied the Army, which'Encamp'd near Francifco Brito Machado's Wind-Mill, and Garrifon'd the half-finifh'd Fort near the Sugar-Mill be longing to Marcus Andre, whileft three Companies Commanded by Captain De Vries marcl'd to MonteroossMills to take the fame; but the Portuguefe lying in an Ambur. cade had given them a fhrewd Rebuke, had not Schuppe, hearing the Guns, Fent away the Captains Picard and Garfiman, who coming out from amongft the Sugar.Canes, put the Enemy to flight; yet the Portuguefe began to increafe daily, infomuch that they got above two thoufand Men together at Arral, whileft the Dutch Army began to want Provifions; whercfore facob Huigen was order'd to fetch a Supply from Reeiffa; but as he was coming up the River with the Exeter Ketch, and a Boat hung about with Hides to fecure his Men from the Bullers, and being within Mufquetfhot from the Works where Captain Schuppe lay, the Enemy's whole Power fhot fo vehemently upon him from the top of a Hill, that both the Ketcin and Boat werc funk ; Huigen himfelf receiv'd two mortal Wounds, and moft of his Men were killd, a few wounded onely efcaping with Life. Schuppe therefore was forc'd to return for want of Provifions, and the rather, becaufe he was inform'd that Bagnola was coming with a Supply of feven hundred Men.
Mean while the two Captains,Smient and Dunkirken perform'd a valiant Explois, viz they went with a few Men in a Boat, and took a great Portuguefe Veffel richly laden, having no more than four Blunderbuffes and their Swords in the Boat with chem.

A notable
Byma alfo fell upon the Village Moriwere, where he found moft of the People at Tamarica, they purfu'd him; he marching but flowly, becaule the narrow wan to ftopt up with fell'd Trees, they overtook him half a League beyond Gara 4 , Peter Rocha's Sugar=Mill; where after a Tharp Encounter between them, near flaughter was made amongt the Spaniards, Almeda and many other Perfons a great flain, and the reft put to flight. Byma having obtain'd this. Vi&tory, march'd being $r a f u$ and burnt the fame, fparing onely the Churches and Cloyfters, accordin Schuppe prevented from croffing the River Jangada by the many muddy Creek, return'd back to Reciffa with great Booty, which he had taken out of a Storehoufe. The Dutch Cruifers alfo brought in many Prizes.

Van Hiorn's

 Exploiss.The Exploits perform'd by fobn Jobnfzoon van Hoorn, with four Ships, three Ketches, and a Sloop, are likewife very remarkable; for with this Fleet in the firt place he rook the City Truxillo, and from thence Sailing towards the City Cam. peche, and Storming the fame valiantly, foon became Mafter of it ; the Booty of which two Places being brought aboard, increas'd confiderably the Weft-India Companies Stock.
In regard Albuquerque underfood the Situation of Pernambuco better than the Hollanders, and had all the Natives to affift him, and by confequence was the better able to defend himfelf againft their continual Alarms, the Council at Reciffa therefore judg'd it convenient to make 2 farther Voyage to the South, that the Portugue e, who were highly difcontented about the Loffes which they had fuftain'd, might be the fooner induc'd to fubmit to their Government: To which purpofe ten Ketches, Mann'd with feven hundred Soldiers, befides Seamen, fet Sail on the tenth of 0ctober, under the Command of Fohn Gyfeling, Schuppe, and Servaes Carpentier, who firf ran into the River Porto de Piedras, where they took a confiderable number of Chefts of Sugar, out of Mills, Barques, and Store-houfes, waded through the little Stream Tatona Manfa, burnt a Village of the fame Denomination, and Sail'd to the River Camarigibi, which they Rowing up in the Night, were got not above four Leagues by Day-break, the contrary Tide, and the Plants call'd Mangues having hindred hindred them from getting farther; but being inform'd by certain Portuouefe Prifoners, that abundance of Sugar lay in Porto Francifco, they marching thither, found under a Straw Roof in a Wood, feventy four Chefts of Sugar, and a great deal more in feveral Storeshoufes. They alfo pillag'd the whole Countrey towards Alagod del Noort, St. Miguel, and Alagod del Zur. Not far from which Scbuppe falling upor the Village Sennora de Conception, burnt the fame, as alfo a Ship upon the Stocks, the Houfes at the Mouth of the Stream Alagoa, and the Tackling belonging to the two Ships, and carry'd away with them a very great Booty.

Tourlon alfo march'd with four Companies from Tamarica to Mangianguape, where the Garirifon inom Garafu; and fome fefuits lay, to diffwade the People from fubmitting themfelves to the Weft-India Company, to which they were much inclin'd. Bue'Tourlon march'd not fo privately, but that the Enemy had notice thereof, and fled ; wherefore he finding Mangianguape empty, offer'd the fame to the Flames, as alfo feveral Sugar-Mills, but fpar'd the Lives of all thofe who begg'd Quarter.

Byma about the fame time with a hundred and forty Mufquetteers, befides two Companies of Seamen, leaving the Afogados in the Night, march'd to Amaro by Daybreak, which he fet on fire, with a Sugar-Mill and a Store-houfe full of Sugar, after every Soldier had taken as much as he could carry : upon which the Enemy taking Alarm, plac'd their Ambufcades fo cunningly, and fell upon them fo furioưfly, that they had undoubtedly kill'd every Man of them, had not a Party come in timely to their affiftance, and forc'd the Portuguefe to fly to a neighboring Sugar= Mill built on a Hill, from whence they fir'd with great eagernefs, and made a mighty noife, blowing their Trumpets and beating their Drums. Byma being for- Emmes bold ced to pafs by the Mill within the reach of the Enemy's Guns, refolv'd upon a bold Attempt, and commanding his Men to throw away their Sugar, and other Booty with which they burthen'd themfelves, on a fudden ran up to the top of the Hill; which Action fo amaz'd the Portuguefe, that they fled without offering the leaft refio ftance. Byma thereupon proceeded on his Way to the Afogados, leaving behind him强bove feventy flain, and divers wounded.

During thefe Exploits on Shore, the Commander Snuient Cruis'd with fix Sail phizs smiken before Paraiba; two Ships belonging to his Fleet fteering towards the Haven of and Listhart. Formof a, difcover'd five Carvels, a Pink carrying twenty fix, and a great Fly-boat eighteen Guns, both Dunkirkers; one of the Carvels ran aground, and was ftav'd to pieces, two of them got into Rio Grande, and the other two were taken.

About the fame time Lichthart with two Sloops pafs'd into the River Conajou, fet upon feven Barques of the Portuguefe, Mann'd with feventy Seamen, and ply'd them with his Brafs Guns after fuch a manner, that few efcap'd with their Lives: he took what he thought fit out out of the Barques, and afterwards fet them on fire.
 Ketches, Mann'd with eight hundred Men, with which he fet Sail to Rio Grande, with intention to fall upon the Fort Tres Reyes. In the River he took two Carvels, though they lay clofe under the Caftle, Landed a Company of Soldiers, and a hundred and fifyy Seamen on the Southern Shore, guarded the frefh River with Boavs, march'd directly to Tres Reyes, and Encamp'd himfelf near the Redoubt which lay before the Caftle, being follow'd by Byma, Garftman, and Cloppenburgh, who in their Way took a Houfe built on a Hill, and confiderable Booty in it. Byma getting about Noon to the Village Natall, left fome of his Men there, whileft he march'd with the reft to the Caftle Tres Reyes. Ceulen fending to demand the Cafte, receiv'd at firft a refolute denyal from the Governor Peter Mendez de Govea; but when the Befieged faw the Hollanders refolutely bent upon a Storm, they fent to defire a Treaty, and after fome fmall Capitulation the Caftle was furrendred upon Articles.' Garft. man being made Commander of the Caftle, had a hundred and fifty Soldiers allow'd him. The Fleet fet Sail again, after they had puil'd down and deftroy'd all the Works which had been rais'd, and made the Inhabitants take an Oath to be faithful to Garftman, who chang'd the Name of the Cafle from Tres Reyes to that of Cerlen, being the Name of the Treafurer, who bore the chiefeft Commmand in the Siege, and when the Brafilian King Jandui came with a great Train to congratulate the Companies fuccefs, receiv'd him with great civility.

In the beginning of the Year 1634. twenty fix Sail weighed Anchor from Reciffa, to Cruife up and down in Squadrons before the Inlet Todos los Sanctos, the Promon. tory St. Auguftine, the Rivers Francifco and Parayba. Scbuppe and Lichthart alfo fee Sail with two Ships, a Ketch, two Pinnaces, and a Sloop, carrying two hundred Soldiers befides Seamen.

Mean while frefh Forces were fent from the Texel, the Maes and Zeland, to Reciffa, where the Council undertook another notable Defign, viz. to furprize the Forts along the River Parayba: whither coming with twenty Sail, they divided themfelves into two Squadrons under the Command of the Treafurer fobn Gyfe.

Portuguefe out of the Puntacl. ling, Schuppe, Servaes Carpentier, and Lichthart. Having receiv'd fome repulfe at the Fort Nazaretta, they refolv'd upon Action in fome other place, and to that purpofe Steer'd towards the Point St. Auguftine ; by Day-break a part of the Fleet ran into the Mouth of the Haven, notwithftanding the Portuguefe frrd upon them with great. Guns from the Caftle, and all their Works, without doing any confiderable damage, onely the Seaoknight Ketch running aground was fhatter'd all to pieces; whileft the Hollanders Commanded by Captain Lichtbart Landed near Puntael, and fell upon the Portuguefe in fuch a manner, that they forc'd them to forfake the Place, burnt above two thoufand Chefts of Sugar, feveral Store-houfes, and a great Ship, befides two Barques.

Lichthart being Mafter of the Puntael, was very bufie in finifhing a Stone Redoubt which the Enemy had begun, and fecur'd it by a Wall and Pallifado's. Here he plac'd two Companies, and rais'd feveral Works, whileft the Portuguefe receiving Aid from all the neighboring Places, fet upon the recovery of the Purtael, being the rather encourag'd thereunto, in regard the Hollanders Forces were ftill in their They endea. Ships. Fifteen hundred Portuguefes were divided into two Parties, the greateft of vor in vain place near which the fifteen Ships taken by Lichthart lay at an Anchor, whileft the other Party fell upon the Out=works; where though the Hollanders defended them. felves valiantly at firft, yet they were forc'd to Recreat to the Redoubt, where both Parties fought with great eagernefs; but the Hollanders Ketches haling near the Shore, and firing in amongtt the Portuguefe with their great Guns, forc'd them to flye, and contrary to their Cuftom, to leave their dead Bodies behind them.

Soon after, whileft Gyjeling', Schuppe, and Licbethart ftay'd at the Puntael, the Portuguefe, defigning to take Reciffa, kept the Afogados and the Fort on Antonio Vaes in continual Alarm ; which made the Hollanders fend moft of their Militia thither, and to fortifie yet more ftrongly than before. The Caftle De Bruin firf difcovering the Portuguefe wading through the Water, fir'd great Guns at them, upon the hearing of which Waerdenburg'b and St. George fir'd alfo. The T'reafurer Ceulen and Lieute-nant-Colonel Byma march'd with a Company of Soldiers to the Stone Redoubt, from whence they fir'd foutly upon the Enemy; yet thirty of them got by the Pallifado's and Stone Redoubt: wherefore Ceulen march'd in with fome of his Men to affift the Citizens, and keep the woodden Battery, where the Portuguefe were ftopt, and with great and fmall Shot put to fight. The Prifoners which the Hollanders took inform'd them, That Martin Suares, chief Commander over the Portuguefe that made this Attempr, had divided his Men into three Parties; the Referve, which confifted of three hundred Men, was to march on upon the making of a fign when the other Parties were paft, one along the River Bibiviba, and the other along the Shore by the Stone Redoubt into Reciffa, to burn the Place, as alfo all manner of Provifion and Ammunition.

Whileft this Defign of the Portugufe fell out fo unfortunately, being difcover'd to Cenlen by a Renegado, the Hollanders at Reciffa receiv'd two Companies from their Regiment at the Puntael, and a confiderable number of Men rais'd in Holland by the Weft India Company. Cenlen and Byma thus fupply'd, went continually out in Pare ties, burnt in view of the Garrifon in Arryal the Sugar-Mills belonging to Francifco Montero and Lewis Ramires, and were inform'd by five Italian Renegado's, That there were not three hundred Meri in Garrifon in Arryal; which fo encourag'd Byma, that he refolving to fall upon the fame, march'd thither in the Night with a thoufand Men from Reciffa, and by Day=break fhot fixteen Granado's from a neighboring Hill, of which feven fell into Arryal, but did little Execution; befides, the Strength of the Place was fuch, and the number of Men fo confiderable, that his Defign had no other fuccefs, than that a Hand.granado falling flort amongtt the Houles before the Fort, fet fire on them, and in a fhort time burnt a whole Street with rich Shops, and the Habitations of the Italians.
-- The Portuguefe at the Puntael being inform'd, that Byma had Befieg'd Arryal with a thoufand Men, judg'd that moft of the Hollanders were gone thither from the Puntael; which they were the apter to believe, becaufe the Hollanders coming but little abroad ftay'd within their Redoubts, which Libthart had joyn'd to a Battery; wherefore they made another Attempt with a hundred and twenty Men on the Puntael; but a Carvel with two Brafs Guns, and a Company of Soldiers lying at Anchor near the Place by which the Portiuguefe were to pars, and they not expecting to meet with any refiftance there, they were, as foon as they approached the Carvel, fir'd upon by the Hollanders, who killing feveral of their Men, fo affrighted them, that they return'd without making any farther Attempt.

 fome Overtures of Peace from the Portuguefe; wherein alfo the King of Spain, by reafon of the feveral Damages he had fuftain'd from the Dutch, began to concern himfelf, and to menace them with the great Forces he was able to raife, by reafon of the late fafe arrival of two rich Plate-Fleets, if they came not to reafonable Terms. But anfwer was return'd from Byma, "That if they were minded to "Treat about giving of Quarter, or any fuch like Point in difference between them, "they fhould find him ready; but that the Weforondia Company would never re"fign thofe Places taken in Brafile with the Sword, either for Moncy or Goods, "but would defend them to the utmoft of their Power.

The Hollanders alfo chang'd the Names of feveral Places taken from the Portuguefe; for the Caftle near the Promontory St. Auguftine was call'd Gyffeling; the Town on Tamarica, Schupperiftadt; the Fort at the Afogados, Prince William; and the Puntael, The Fortrefs Vander Dufen.

Notwithftanding the Requefts of the States of the Netberlands and Weft-India Company, to the Commifioners Cealen and Gyjfeling, to ftay longer in the Weft-Indies, tur yet they prepar'd for their Voyage home, and the feeedier, becaufe they expected great farcity of Provifions, unlefs a fudden Supply came from Holland. During their two years Government here, they had caken five thoufand five hundred and nineteen Chefts of Sugar, a hundred fifty nine thoufand nine hundred thirty and nine Pound of Brafile Wood, one and thirty Ships laden with feveral Goods, which amounted to 230000 l . befides the value of the Ships and Guns, the taken Forts, deftroy'd Sugar-Mills, and other Buildings. They left at their going away above four thoufand Soldiers, divided into thirty two Companies, to guard Brafile, under the Command of Scbuppe and Arciffeusky, and carry'd with them a hundred Soldiers, befides one and fifty fick and maimed : Moreover, thirty two Sail of Ships, Mann'd fore the Coaft of Brafile, befides four Ketches before the Promontory of St. Augnfime, and fix Ships in the Haven of Pernambuco.

After Cenlen and Gyffeling had fet Sail for Holland, divers Prizes were brought in. to Reciffa, as alfo feveral Ships arriv'd there from the Texel and the Maes. The Hol, landers went out continually in Parties, whileft Schuppe and Lichthart fet Sail alfo with cight Ships, Mann'd with fix Companies of Soldiers, befides Seamen, to plunder and pillage all the Havens to the South, where feveral Portuguefe Veffels lay laden with Sugar. But Janduy, who with his Subjects the Tapuans, joyn'd with the Governor Garftman, kill'd at one time thirty feven Portuguefes, and not long after two hundred and fixty more; taking his leave of Garftman, went home with fix Holo landers, leaving his Son, the young fanduy, and his Brother Caracara, together with his Nephew Copun, to his care.
Fanduy made it his Bufinefs to perfwade the adjacent Tapuyans to joyn their Forces with his, and fo by the Hollanders affiftance to fall upon the Portuguefe. Mean while the young fanduy and Copun went to Reciffa, which was the rather permitted, that they might beable to damp the Reports which the Portuguefe had fpread amongft the Tapuyans, viz. That the Hollanders were very ill provided, and therefore made all poffible Preparations to defend Reciffa, and confequently the whole Countrey of Brafile, and fo leave thofe Tapuyans that joyn'd with them to the mercy of the Spaniards.

Not long after were difpatch'd from thence the Councellors facob Stackbower, and Colonel Arcifeeusky, with the Interpreter Antonio Parapoavo, to Treat with Janduy about the Defign which they had upon the Portuguefe, and alfo what Advantages he fhould receive, if he would affift the WeftsIndia Company with his Forces, whenever he flould be fent to.

Four forts of People continually Warr'd againft fanduy, viz the fenbo, who live fo far up in the Countrey, that no Cbriftians ever came to the knowledge of them; the other three are the Woyana, Carivy, and Caririvasfu, who affif the Portague $\rho$ e.

The fore-mention'd Interpreter Paraponvo was met in his Journey by a Company of Tapuyans, led by Commendaoura, Janduy's Sifters Son, who was to fucceed him after his death, according to the Cuftom of the Tapuyans, whofe Sons do not fucceed their Fathers in the Throne, but their Sifters Sons. Commendaoura told him, That he was impower'd by his Uncle to Treat with the Hollanders; to which puro pofe coming with forty Men before the Caftle Cenlen, he inform'd them, That fandouy could not come to them with his whole Power, becaufe there was no frefh Water in the Mountains Mitiapa in the Summer ; Moreover, that he Mourn'd for his deceafed Wife. Fanduoy was alfo requefted to go to Parayba, where he fhould get great ftore of Booty, and that the Hollanders would follow them with a confiderable Power.

Arciffeusky being inform'd of the Condition of Conayon by two, who having been the Forr coo: taken Prifoners by the Portenguefe, leap'd over-board from a Carvel, bound from by arcijembyy thence to Portugal, and fwam ahore, march'd from the Fort Ceulen in the Night with two hundred Men, befides forty Tapuyans, who kill'd more Venifon for the Hollanders than they were able to eat; and coming within two Cannons=fhot of Conayou, he divided his Men into four Parties, that fo they might Storm the four Cor ners of the Fort at once ; which having done by fwimming over the Moat, and climbing up the Walls, which were a Pikes length, they got into the Fort, in which they found eleven dead Bodies, ten Iron Guns, two Hooks, and feveral Chefts of Sugar; and amongft other Prifoners they took the Captain Alvures Fragofo d'Albuquerque.

Stackbower alfo fetting Sail when Arcifensky left the Caftle Ceilen, intending to meet him again at an appointedtime before Conayon, was kept back by contrary Winds.

After this Arciffeisky fet Sail to Mongoangape, where Rowing up the River, he took a Ketch with ewo hundred Chefts of Sugar, as alfo a Carvel and a Boat, and Landed where the River bends about a Mountain, which fo affighted the Portuguefe, that they quitted Antonio Marino's Sugar-Mills. Soon after the Fleet took a Barque with Wine, and return'd to Reciffa.

Mean while Schuppe was not idle, for going up the River Camarigibi, he burnt divers Houfes, as alfo on each fide of the River Alagoa; where he alfo took four rich Sugar=Mills, whileft many Veffels from the United Netberlands brought feveral Ships into the Haven of Pernambuco, which they had taken on the Coaft of Brafile.

About the latter end of November 1634 . thirty two Sail, divided into two Squak drons(the firt carrying in one and ewenty Ships, a thoufand nine hunded forty and five Soldiers, the fecond on eleven Kerches, four hundred and nine) under the Command of Scbuppe, Arciffeusky, Carpentier, and Stackbower, weigh'd Anchot to go to Parayba; where Schuppe Landing firft with fix hundred Men, fell upon the Enemy in fuch a manner, that he put them to flight, and forc'd them to leave a great part of their Arms, Hats and Coats behind; and it wanted little but the Governor Antonio $d^{\prime}$ Albuquerque had been taken in the purfuit: Mean while the reft of the Hollanders Landed, and Casper Ley march'd along a Cart-Road with three Companies directly to the Fort Santa Margareta, and Encamp'd himfelf behind a Hill, about a Mufquetfhot from the Walls of the Fort: Scbuppe goingalong the Shore, found divers for ${ }_{8}$ faken Works, and Intrench'd along the River on the Eaft-fide of the Caftle. Air pred by the ciffeusky march'd on the Right-hand along the Sea-fhore in view of the Portuguefe in Garrifon. In the River lay an Ifle, on which was built the Cafte Refinga, which could receive conftant Aid from the Caftle Margareta on the Main.

Lichthart going in between the Inand and the Caftle Margareta with fix well Mann'd Boats, took two Barques and a Boat behind the Illand, and march'd through a Wood to Reftring a; where he found that the Fort feparated from the Inland, was furrounded with Water, wherefore he withdrew into the Wood till the Water was fall'n down, and then Storm'd the Fort Refringa, and notwithftanding the Portugufe fir'd continually upon him with two Brals. Guns, he foon became Mafter of it, and cut off all thofe whom he found had born Arms; whileft Schuppe fir'd upon the Forr Margareta from a Platform, and alfo threw Granado's into the fame. Arcifeusky likewife approach'd nearer and nearer with his Trenches, on which the Portuguefe difcharged many Guns; but after the Breaftworks were moft of them fpoil'd, the Governor, Simon de Albuquerque, furrendred the Fort to Scbuppe, who permitted a hundred and fify Men that were in Garrifonthere, to go to their feveral Dwellings up in the Countrey, the reft were Tranfported to other places, on promife that they would not bear Arms againft the Weft-India Company during the fpace of fix Moneths. In the Caftle the Hollanders found fix Brafs DemiCulverins and fifteen Drakes, befides other Ammunition, with which the Victors purfu'd their Conqueft, putting themfelves in a pofture to go up a Creek which runs two Leagues along a River to Parabba; and to fall upon that City, when two French Renegado's coming from the Northern Fort Antonio brought information; That that Fort was guarded but by a few Men, and had but little Guns powder, and if the Hollanders would but once make a fhew of Storming the fame, it would foon be deliver'd to them, though forits Situation it is invincible; but Schuppe fuppos'd that there might be a Plot in this Information, and the rather, becaufe he heard that the Duke of Bagiolio was coming thither with fix hundred Men; neverthelefs, The Fort ase to be better affur'd thereof, he fent a Drumimer to demand Antonio: The Governor thereof, call'd Magaglianes defir'd three daystime to confider, which was utterly deny'd him, land he had onely leave to carry away the King's'Standard, and his Requeft granted, That the Hollanders fhould make a fhew of Storming the Caftle, that it might not be faid he had furrendred fuch a Fortrefs without a Gun being fir'd; after which Lichthart went into the Caftle, wondring af fuch a Victory; for the Fort, on which no Charges had been fpar'd, lay upon an inacceffible place, and had five Brafs Culverins and nineteen tron:Guns.

The City parhba dederert The Hollanders encourag'd by their good Succefs, went the rame Night up the nota. Works empty, three Iron Guns lying difmounted on the Ground, the City Parayba without People, and the Guns about the fame either made ufelefs, or funk in the Hayen. A Hambirgher that had liv'd a confiderable time in Parayba, otherwife call'd Pbilippea; inform'd the Hollanders, That Bagnola feeing no means to defend Parayba, was gone to Gojana with two Companies, one of Italians, and the other Spaniards, who were march'd into the Woods, after they had burnt three Ships, and two Store-houfes full of Sugar, in which there were confum'd near upon three hundred Chefts.

- Before this Defign upon Parayba was undertaken, the Wef-India Company fent out four Veffels under the Command of Fobn Walbeek, to the Ifle Curacao ; the Situa. tion of which Fohn Otzon knew exactly, having been a long time a Prifoner there : Walbeek getting through a narrow Mouth between feveral Rocks into a convenient Harbor before Curacao, Landed feventy five Mufquetteers who were Encountred by Ceventy Braflians Arm'd with Clubs; which the Spaniards had animated to fight, by making them half Drunk. The Hollanders having march'd all over the Inland, burnt the Village Maria, and at laft agreed with the Governor Alonfo Lopes de Morla to leave the Ifle.
-Scbuppe chang'd the Name of Parayba, or $\mathcal{N}$ offa Semora das Nieves, or Philippea, into Frederick.Stadt, in honor to the Prince of Orange, nam'd Frederick Henrick.

Cloyfter, buile near'a Lake, and inclos'd within a Wall by a broad Bay, which the River Parayba makes before the City; the Countrey about which is mountainous: In other places, efpecially along the River, lie many fruitful Plains, abounding in fome places with the Grain Mandilooca, which is ground to Meal, Potato's, Lem= mons, Cabbages, Cucumbers, Bananas, Cocoa-Nuts, Ginger, Araba, very delicious when Preferv'd with Sugar, and Cacious, fomewhat like Chefnuts, of which the Natives make an intoxicating Liquor.

Whileft all things were put in good order at Parayba, Colonel Picard march'd with eight Companies to the Houfe Validaris, if poffible, there to take the Governor Antonio Albuquerque Prifoner, but he being forfaken by all the Braflians (who camé back with Picard and their Commander, the Jefuit Emanuel de Morais) abfconded himfelf; not long before which a Proclamation had been publifh'd in the Name of the States of the United Netheriands and the WefteIndia Company, promifing great Civilities and Advantages to all the Inhabitants of Parayba, whether Natives or others, that would come in and fubmit to their Government.

This Invitation was fo well receiv'd, that many who were kept back fo long as Albuquerque appear'd, as foon as they heard of his obfcuring himfelf, came in to the Hollanders, as Duarte Gomes, and feveral eminent Portuoguefes, with a confiderable number of indifferent quality ; as alfo the Inhabitants of the Province of Rio Grande came to Frederick-Stadt, to claim the benefit of the Proclamation.

Arciffeusky and Stackbozer marching to Goyana with feven hundred and fifty Men, took up their Quarters in the Village Capivaribi, lying at a River of the fame Name; where all the Inhabitants of Goyana being fully fatisfi'd with the Hollanders Propofals, own'd their Government, and fell off from the King of Spain. But the SpaniJh rebbinin ofer:
 Soldiers together, befides a confiderable company of Braflians, Commanded by Camaron, and burnt all the Sugar=Canes and Brafile Wood in Goyana, whither Arciffeusky marching, foon put them to flight, and burnt the Village Mofuick, with the Church and Fefuits Cloyfter, from whence the Enemy ran to the Itrange Mountain Miritbi, which in the rainy Seafon, efpecially when great Showers fall, makes a noife like claps of Thunder, or like great Guns. The fame Wonder is obferv'd of the Mountain Pafayra, in a Wood behind Girgolio Barro's Sugar-Mills; the myftery whereof we leave to Philofophers to enquire into. Arciffeusky follow'd Rebellino, who had ambufcado'd himfelf about half a League from Mofuick; from whence he being alfo driven, his Men began more and more to defert him, whileft Schappe with a confiderable number of Men came to Arciffeusky; Encamping themfelves about Mufarope, they fent eighty Mufquetteers, Commanded by Lieutenant Metting; to an adjacent Wood, where Rebellino Quartering, Engag'd with Metting, till Schuppe coming to his affiftance, he fled to Nazaretta. After which the Countrey thereabouts enjoy'd the happinefs of Peace.

Arciffeusky ftaying to fettle all things in good order in Parayba, took up his Quar- Thac Canle ters near the Caftle Real, about a Cannon-flot from the River Afogados, and a by farromem League and a half from the Hollanders Fort fo call'd ; yet his Defign was not to lay clofe Siege to the fame, but to prevent all manner of Aid from coming to it, the rather, becaufe he was inform'd, that there were not above fixty fix hundred Cans of Meal, and fixty five Head of Cattel in the Fort, for three hundred Portugufe and feven hundred Braflians; to which purpofe he buile feveral Redoubes, Batteries and Platforms: after he had lay'n before it three Moneths it was furrendred upon thefe following Articles, viz. "That the Befieged fhould march out with lighted ". Matches, Bullets in their Mouths, flying Colours, and with Bag and Baggage, "and be Tranfported either to Tercera or Madera. The Church Ornaments they had allo leave to carry away with them, but the Guns and other Ammunition were to remain in the Fort. Hereupon the Governor Andres Marini march'd out with five hundred choice Soldiers, befides a hundred and fifty which he had out of the Countrey; and two hundred Families that dwelt about Real, ranfom'd their Goods for 5000 l . In the Fort the Hollanders found fifteen Brafs, and five Iron Guns.

Mean while Licthbart fet Sail with fix Ships and five little Ketches, carrying five Companies; with which Landing on BarraGrande, he march'd two Leagues along the Shore to the Church of St. Bento, buile on a high Hill, round about which he Encamp'd himfelf, and fortifid the fame with Pallifado's.

Hither the Inhabitants of Porto Calvo came in great numbers to take the Oath of Allegiance to the WefteIndia Company.

Licbthart affifted by Captain Cornelis Exel's Company, march'd directly to Porto Calvo, notwithftanding he had but three hundred and twenty feven Men, with which he went along a troublefom Way, up Hill and down Hill, and coming near Porto Calvo, was inform'd by a Porttyguefe, That the Duke Bagnola poffefs'd a Church there full of Port-holes, with two hundred choice Men, befides a Company newly Bgentata roi: thatr, Lich ver; neverthelefs Lichlurt mar and that had a difoover'd his Forces rank'd on a fteep Mountain, whither he running with his Men, forc'd Bagnola to quit the Church, as alfo thofe that lay in Ambufcade near the Highoway, whileft eighty Brafilians, fome Porturuefes, and a Company of Neopolitans, thought to have fall'n upon the Barques of the Hollanders; but feeing the States-Flag upon the Church, and Bagnola routed, they foon Retreated. This Victory coft the Hollander but feven Men, befides eighteen wounded; for which the Portuguefe loft many more.

The Inhabitants of Camarigibi, Antonio, and about Porto Calvo, accepting of the Articles propos'd in Parayba, took the Oath of Allegiance to the Hollanders.

In the interim after Arciffersky had taken the Fort Real, and given Command thereof to Verdoes, he fee forth with ten Companies and three hundred Brafilians, to joyn with Scbuppe, who Befieg'd the Fort Nazaretta near the Promontory St. Auguftine ; but the Governor Albuquerque fearing he fhould be furpris'd, fled from thence with three hundred Men, and leff. Peter Correa de Gamba, and Lewis Barbalbo Bizerra in hisftead. But Schuppe approach'd fo near with his Trenches and Granado's, that Correa inform'd of Arciffeusky's coming, furrendred the Caftle upon advantageous Articles.

After this Succefs Schuppe march'd along the Shore, and Arcijfeusky up into the Countrey, both with intention to fall upon the Enemy in Serinhain. Arciffersky marching along a troublefom Way, came to Miguel de Poyaca with fix Companies, where the Councellor Scbote had fortifid a Church; and fomewhat farther he met with a brave Francif can Cloyfter, where he was inform'd, that the Governor Albu= querque had again furpris'd the Fort Porto Calvo; which prov'd too true; for Scbuppe haftening to his affiftance through Serinbain, Hna, and Barro, ftaid at Furicofo, a League from Porto Calvo, for Arcijfeusky, who was coming thither with Ceven Companies. over the deep and crooked Stream Serinbain; and before Villa Foamof a, a pleafant Village, in which ftood an old Fefuits Cloyfter and a little Church, both their Forces joyn'd together, making up feventeen Companies of Foot, and one Troop of Horfe; but they came too late : for after a long and fout Affault, and no lefs Refiftance from the Befieged, the Place was furrendred to Albuquerque, who caus'd Domingo Calabar to be Quarter'd; a Man not inferior for Strength and Activity to that Milo Crotoniates, fo famous amongft the ancient Grecians: Amongft other proofs of his Strengch Strength it is related, that he took a Stag running full fpeed by the Horns, and turning iss Neck, pull'd the Tongue out of its Mouth. The reafon why Albuquerque caus'd him to be put to that death, was becaule he had once joyn'd with the Holo laiders, and done the Portuguefe much hurt. But Schuppe and Arciffeusky marching to Porto Calvo, to Engage with Albuquerque, who was eight hundred Portuguefe and a thoufand Braflians Atrong, found the Place ruin'd, and about a hundred Hollanders unbury'd, and Albuquerque marclid away, driving the Inhabitants about Porto Calvo before him, with three hundred Prifoners: The Hollanders following him, built a Fort at Praipuera, to prevent the Portuguefe from returning to Porto Calvo. Schuppe alfo demanded three Companies more to fupply the places of the fick and flain Men, as allo thofe who were fo miferably plagued by the Bicios, that they were not able to go. Thefe Bicios are little Animals, which creeping in at the Pores, caufe an infufferable pain. Scbrippe's Requeft was the fooner granted, becaufe the Councel at Reciffa judg'd it convenient to pull down the Forts Real and Nazaretta, being already much decay'd and unferviceable, and that thofe who were in Garrifon in them, fhould Encamp in the Fields. Schuppe had long before this time fall'n upon the Enemy in the Afogados, but that he wanted Provifions, and little Veffels, which were requir'd for that Expedition. But marching up into the Countrey, he left the Command to Arciffeusky, who much forwarded the building of the Fort on Paripuera.

The Year 1635 . being almoft expir'd, one Morning about Day-break thirty two of granempercer Sail were feen to Steer directly towards Reciffa; two Ships of an extraordinary fore Reciffa. bignefs were follow'd by nine Gallions, and thefe by the reft of the Fleet, con. fifting of Pinks, Carvels, and Barques; all which approaching, were known to be Spaniards, which ftruck no fmall amazement to the Inhabitants of Reciff $a$, moft of their Ships being Cruifing abroad before the Coaft of Brafile, and their Men a great diftance off in the Field; onely five Ships fitted for an Engagement being at Anchor, and five more deeply laden : Mean while the Spanifh Admiral approach'd within a Cannon flhot of the Fame Ketch, difcharg'd one Gun, and food off to Sea again, being inform'd that Real and Nazaretta were taken by the Hollanders. On the other fide, all the Places in their poffeffion had notice of this Fleet, which Lichthart follow'd with fix Ships and two Ketches, carrying two Companies of Soldiers, befides Seamen, and keeping juft within fight of them, faw them at laft come to an Anchor before Paripuera (where a part of the Dutch Forces lay under the Command of Arciffeusky,) and make preparation to Land their Men: Whereupon Lichthart Landed alfo, with the Councellor Carpentier, and joyning with Arciffeusky, took up 2 valiant Refolution, to Sail clofe up to the Spanifh Fleet with his eight Ships, whileft Arcifeusky march'd in the Night with fix hundred Men to faragoa, to prevent the Enemy's Landing; but having a Portuguefe for his Guide, was led a wrong Way; wherefore returning, he fecur'd the Way to Paripuera, whileft the Portuguefe Inhabitants, contrary to their Oath, refus'd to carry or bring Provifions to the Dutcb Forces, and joyning together combin'd with the Spanifh Seamen, and kill'd all the Hollanders which they could meet either on the High-ways, or in their Houfes, making ufe of the Negro's to carry the Spaniards what Intelligence they could give them of the Hollanders Proceedings: Wherefore they thought it the beft way to be rid of fuch Villains, to deftroy them all that dwele in the Countrey between Paripuera and Porto Calvo, and for the fpace of ten Leagues burnt all their Sugar-Canes in the Fields, their Mills and Houfes. Arciffensky caus'd Ediets to be put upon every Church Door, That all the Inhabitants fhould remove from Porto Calvo, where the $\mathcal{D}_{\text {utch }}$ Army was to Encamp, to keep them from the Spanifh Oppreffion.

That Summer having been fo dry, that no man ever remembred the like, had dry'd up all the Moralles, fo that the Spaniards marching over them and h:gh Mountains, got a back Way into the Countrey. In the mean time John Wallock made a Fort with five Bulwarks on the Ifland Caracao, near the Haven Santa Cruz.

Houtebeen allo ran with two Ketches, the Otter and Brack, to Anchor before Curao cao, and from thence to the Haven St. Fago de Cuba, where the Warch made no Alarm, becaufe he carry'd Burgundy Colours, by which allo' $e$ everal others, both Portugnefe and Spaniards were deceiv'd. Not long after he burnt one Barque with Tortoifes, funk another, and fee a third a Drift; after which having refrefh'd at famaica, he Engag'd with feveral Spanifh Men of War and took them, befides a great number of Prizes, in one of which he found fuch abundance of Copper, Indigo, Money, Canafier, Tobacco, and Piece:Goods, that the two Ketches were not able to load the raken by D:nkikiers. fame; but at at laft Steering for Holland, he was fet upon by feven Dunkirkers, Commanded by Colaert, and after long and fout refiftance was taken.

Captain Abraham Roofendael fetting Sail from the Texel, met with a Frigat carry. ing forty fix Chefts full of Ryals of Eight, being in number eighty fix thoufand, defign'd to pay the Forces at Porto Rico; befides a quantity of Plate, which amounted to a confiderable fum of Money; with all which he arriv'd fafe in his defired Port.

Arciffeusky fortifi'd himfelf along the crooked River Paripuera, full of Crocodiles, which hurt none, unlefs provok'd. This River runs five Leagues to the Northward of Punta de Faragoa, where the Spanifh Force's Landed.

Southward from faragoa lie the Alagoas del Nort and Zul, diftinguifh'd by a high Tract of Land; where the Spanif) General Levois Rochas Borgia left his Guns and a thoufand Men, under the Command of the Duke Bagnola, whileft with three times as many more he went to Porto Calvo to be there before the time which the Hollans ders had in their Edicts fee the Inhabitants for their removal.

Arcifersky had by this time built on the North part of the Mouth of Paripuera a Redoubt like a Caftle, out of the middle whereof rofe a woodden Tower, fill'd with Earth, and fecur'd by a Half=Moon ; on one fide whereof he lay Encamp'd with fifteen Companies. On the South fide of the River food alfo two ftrong Forts. Arciffeusky having not the leaft thought that Borgia would come over the Mountains, and through inacceffible Woods and Moraffes, a back Way into Porto Calvo, receiv'd news on the thirteenth of faruary 1636. by a Renegade Negro, that the Spanifh Army, confifting of three thoufand Men, were come to Rodrigo de Barros his Sugar=Mills, about five Leagues from Paripuera, and was fuddenly expected to fall upon Colonel Scluuppe in Porto Calvo; whereupon Arciffeusky immediately fet forth with twelve hundred Men and two Field-pieces, burnt all the Houfes, Sugar. Mills and Canes he could meet with. Mean while Borgia (upon whofe Approach Schuppe had left Porto Calvo) obferving by the Smoak in the Countrey, that Arcißersky had put his Edicts in Execution, leaving a confiderable Garrifon in Porto Calvo, went to meet Arcißensky with the choiceft Men. Arcißensky being got between Camaricibi and Porto Calvo, without having any notice of the Enemy's being fo near, and his Forlorn being unawares Engag'd, and running back in great diforder, drew up his Men into a pofture of Defence about a Mufquetefhot from the Enemy ; but the darknefs of the Night made a great confufion in both Armies, being as it were mingled pell-mell one with another. Arcißeusky was much inferior in number to the Spaniards, but confidering it was impoffible to march back, in regard the Enemy was as well behind them as before, and that thoufands of Brafilians lay watching for them in the Woods, in cafe they fhould be difpers'd, he faw there was no way but to ftand to the hazard of Battel. About Day-break both Armies flood an hour looking upon one another; the place where they ftood being furrounded with Woods and deep Valleys. Dorgia drew out his Men on a Hill, overgrown with Bufhes. Arcißensky had drawn out his Men on fomewhat a lower bergias and Ground. Borgiaat laft fent fome of his Mufquetteers down the Hill, who fir'd with my dy drififenem ; a full Volley upon the Dutch, whileft Arcißeusky onely difcharg'd a Field-piece at a a ndid himflt Tree, under which Borgia food to take a view of the Hollaniders Forces; upon the firing of which Gun Borgia began to come down the Hill with all his Army,againft whom Arrißensky drew out his firft and fecond Divifion, whileft Captain Vanden Brande led his Companies within two Pikes length from the Enemy, before he difcharg'd, which was no fooner done, but contrary to Order they broke into the left Wing of Borgia's Army, and puthis Mufquetteers to flight, who were foon fol. low'd by the whole Spanifh Army, fome running into the Woods, others into the Moraffes, but moft of them along the narrow Way which leads to Porto Calvo. Among the Slain was Borgia himfelf, who was Defcended from the greateft Families of thé Dukes of Lerma and Borgia, he was about forty eight years of Age, and had ferv'd the Spanifh King a confiderable time in the Netherlands. This Victory coft the Hollanders about forty Men, befides as many more wounded. Amongft the Spanijh Prifoners was a Neopolitan Gentleman, call'd Hector de la Calce, who upon Examination inform'd the Hollanders, That with the laft Spanifh Fleet there Landed two thoufand four hundred Men in Alagoa, with twenty Brafs Field pieces, abundance of Wheelbarrows, Spades and Pick-axes, which coft-in Portugal eight hundred thoufand Crífado's; with which great warlike Preparations Borgia made no doubt to have got faft footing in the Countrey, and to have cut off all manner of Affiftance from the Hollanders; That the Spanifh King rais'd a great many Men both in Spain, Italy, and Germany, that with the firf opportunity he might fit out a Fleet, which was to be conducted by four thoufand two hundred Seamen, to whom the Cafilians were to add eight thoufand five hundred Soldiers and two hundred Seamen, and the Portugufe the like number, to ferve afhore, and to drive all Strangers out of Brafile; That this Defign had long fince been put in Execution, had not the Albuquerquers continually deceiv'd the King of Spain, under pretence that Brafile was in no danger; That Albuquerque would be forc'd to refign up the Intereft which he had in Brafile, for which the King would give him a Dukedom in Portugal in exchange.

Scbuppe and Arcißeusky judging it no way convenient to fall upon the Enemy in Porto Calvo, Garrifon'd Paripuera with four hundred Men, under the Command of the Captains Day and Pbilip Andrevos, whom they furnifh'd with Provifions for five Moneths, and left Order to defend the Countrey againft the Incurfions of the Enemy ; which done, they went aboard with eleven hundred Men, and took in two Companies of Braflians at Barra Grande; with whom Landing behind the Ine Alexio; they came to Serinhain before Day-light, and found all the Inhabitants fled into the Woods, fearing they would take Revenge on them for murdering of their Sick which they had left there. They were no fooner Encamp'd here, but they receiv'd Information from foln Talibon, that the Spanifh Army intended to Befiege the Red doubt in Barra Grande, which therefore, as lying on an ill place, and not able to re. fift long, they flighted : After which being furnifh'd with Provifions out of fome Ketches Commanded by the Admiral Licbthart, they return'd, with Intentions to take up their, Quarters in Serinbain during the Winter Seafon, whileft the Enemy lay in Cockan, on one fide of $\mathcal{U}_{n a}$ and Serinbain, and kept private Correfpondence with Come of the Portuguefe that had taken the Oath of Allegiance to the Hollanders; but Arcißeusky fell fo fiercely upon them, that they all fled to Porto Calvo, and took three Monks Prifoners, who had been the chief Authors of this private CorreSpondence.

Soon after twenty eight Ships arriving at Reciffa, brought frefh Supplies of Men thither from the Maes and Zealand, with Ammunition and Provifions, which was much wanted; alfo two Councellors, Henrick Scbild and Paulus Serooskerken.

This, Fleet was fearce got in, when in the Evening news was brought, that eight hundred Spaniards were broke in through Poyuca, and had taken fobn Paez Baretto's Sugar-Mill, and deftroy'd all they came at ; but that the Hollanders defending the Church with great Valor, obtain'd Quarter upon the furrendring of $i t$.

This raging Army, led by Colonel Rebellino and Madurera, march'd to Laurenzo and Maßiapi, whither there reforted daily more Men to them, which put the Council at Reciffa to a great.Dilemma, forefeeing, that if they fhould fend for Scbuppe from Serinbain, the Enemy from $\mathcal{U}_{n a}$ and Porto Calvo would hem him in, neither had they fufficient Forces to withftand Rebellino ; therefore it was judg'd convenient to fend to Arcißeusky to joyn with Schuppe's Army, that they might both unawares fall upon the Enemy. In the interim a hundred and twenty 'Tapuyans, fent by fanduy, came to Reciffa, with information that fanduy was coming himfelf, with feveral other neighboring Kings, to their Affiftance. Schuppe, according to the Councels Order, march'd in the Night through the Sugar-Mills of Rio Formofo, refted the next day in the Valley Orekinda, and guarded all the Avenues: Whilent he went about to Storm the Village Uina, Manf veld was to Engage with a hundred Spaniards on one fide of Iletta's Sugar:Mills, and Arcißeusky was to fall upon the Village; whither marching early in the Morning, they faw onely a few of the Inhabitants, the Enemy being gone with his Forces over to Manbucava, nor could they pafs any farther, finding the River too deep to wade through : But it had like to have gone worfe with Stackbower and Litchthart, who with Maulpas making twelve hundred Men, were furpris'd by Rebellino, rufhing forth of an Ambufcade

The Spaniards under Rebellino routed by Stackbawer and Lichabars near Laurenzo, where Maulpas receiving a Wound dy'd of the fame. This rough Entertainment at firlt much daunted the Hollanders; but regaining their Courage, they prefs'd upon the Spanifh Army in fuch a manner, that Rebellino being wounded in his Shoulder, fled in great diforder through the Sugar-Fields to Porto Calvo, and of fifteen hundred Men fav'd not above four hundred, the reft being either kill'd, or fcatter'd upand down the Countrey; twelve taken Hollanders were alfo releafed by this means. The Portuguefé Defign on Paripuera alfo fuĉceeded not much better.

Arcißeusky receiving Letters of Advice from the Councellor Serooskerken, that Camaron lay Encamp'd with fifteen hundred Men about the Fortrefs Capavaribi in Goyana, and that the Befieged could not hold out above four days longer, and that the Enemy had alfo taken two Barques full of Provifions and Ammunition, fent thither to relieve the Befieged, march'd with exceffive toyl through uncouth and intricate Ways, which were rendred unpaffable by the great Rains that had lately Camaron put to fiight by fall'n, and came about an hour after Sun-fet to Capaviribi; from whence Camaron being fled two hours before, had left Ammunition in three Carriages, fecur'd from fmall Shot by thick Planks, which were draiwn clofe under the Walls; alfo a Burgundian Flag, two Field pieces, and two Barques which he had taken with Provifions. The Enemy fled to Tapi erica, and from thence to Terra Nova. Whileft Arcif: feusky view'd the Works, and his Men ftood in good order, great numbers of Brafilians Sally'd out of the Redoubt, took the Provifions which Camaron had left, Cpread themfelves up in the Countrey, robb'd the Portuguefe Houfes, and kill'd the People. As foon as Arcißersky had put all things in good order, he lêft the Braflians in Goyana under the Command of the Councellor Eyffens, and purfu'd the fled Enemy, notwithftanding there fell great Showers of Rain, refted a little in the deferred Village Tapiferica, formerly inhabited by three thoufand People, who pof. fefs'd feveral fair Structures, brave Walks, a large Fefuits Cloyfter, and a Church. The fweet Water and pleafant Paftures invited the Hollanders to ftay here a Night. The next Morning marching forward to Terra Firma, they faw a ftrong Fortification newly rais'd, but without People, and heard the Enemy's Sentinels fire ; whereupon Arci $\iint$ eusky appointing part of the Army to follow at a diftance, march'd before with the reft, and being fir'd upon from an Ambulcade by Camaron's Party, he order'd Captain Talibon to prefs in upon the Ambufcade; but becaufe it was per. form'd in great diforder, he fell in himfelf on the right-hand of the Enemy, whileft Lichthart's fecond Divifion ftood ftill; which fo affrighted the Enemy, that without making the leaft refiftance he fled into the Woods, leaving many dead behind him. The next day Captain Bobart's Party tracking the flying Enemy, fell in amonglt them, and gave them a total Rout.

Arciffeusky refolv'd to flay fome time in Terra Firma to wait for Camaron, but he not appearing, he laid wafte the Countrey thereabouts.

Rebellino and Lewis de Sofa falling upon the Councellor Eyy $\int$ ens, Governor of Pas in intwy fain forc'd them with their Swords in their Hands to break through Flame and Smoak upon the Enemy, who kill'd nine of them upon the Spot (amongt whom Eyjfens and his Secretary) the reft being either taken or fled.

Immediately after Arcijfeusky being inform'd by two Prifoners, that the Spanijn Forces Commanded by Sofa, Dias, and Rebellino, were all joyn'd together in the Wood Antonio, where Camaron was alfo expected, he march'd away prefently with half his Army, and as foon as the Captains Metting and Tourlon, whom he com, manded to follow him the next day, were come up to him, he fell upon the Enemy, who lay on a Hill, at whofe Foot was a deep Valley, through which he climb'd to the top; which valorous Attempt fo amaz'd the Spaniards, that without firing a rechlino put Gun they fled into the Wood: After which Metting and Tourlon went back to Lau- $\begin{aligned} & \text { totijijhtwh by }\end{aligned}$ renzo; and Arcijfeusky deftroy'd the Roffas, of which the Farinha is made, that fo by fearcity of Provifions he might prevent the Enemy from fo often joyning together in Parties: In the mean time ten Ships from Holland arriv'd with frefh Forces, Am. munition, Provifions, and two taken Prizes, at Reciffa.

Houte-been being releas'd from his Imprifonment in Dunkirk, fet Sail from Hol-sereral priland with three Ships, and took ten Iron Guns out of one Ship, and feveral Pipes of form tikerery by Wine out of another before Matanca; after that a Tartan from Havana, two Frigats ffearemanne: with Meal, one full of Wood with ewo Guns, two Barques carrying Bananas, a rich laden Pink, two Ships with Hides, and one with Sugar. Near the Illand Baru he heard feveral great Guns fhoot off, whereupon making thither, he found the Zealand Privateer Martman Engag'd with a Ketch carrying ten Brafs and fix Iron Guns, which was run afhore; whereupon Houte-been went to his affiftance with a well Mann'd Boat ; which the Spaniards feeing, fet fire on their Ketch and fled ; but the Flame having onely hurt the Stern, fifty Men were order'd to get her afloat, who having begun to unlade the Tobacco, and to take out the Brafs Guns, the GunRoom took fire, and blew up both Men and Goods; of which twenty four being An untucly fadly hurt, dy'd, the reft efcaping miraculoufly. Not long after Houte.been took a Ship with Hides, fraighted the Alcmaer Pink with his. Prizes for the Texel, ran clofe by Carthagena, and kept a confiderable time in fight of the Plate=Fleet, of which he carry'd one of the heavieft Sailers away with him; Being thus enrich'd, he re', turn'd home.

Grave Mase rice fent by the United States to Go vern Brafile.

Whilef Bufineffes were carry'd on after this manner both by Land and Sea in Brafile, the Weforndia Company refolv'd to fend fome Perfon of Quality thither as Prefident or fupream Governor; and after no long Confultation who fhould be the Perfon, Grave Maurice of $N_{a j f a r b}$ was pitch'd upon, as being not only eminent for his Noble Alliance by Marriage to Emperors and Kings, but alfo for his excellent .skill in Martial Affairs, the proofs whereof were known to all Men, as his marching to the Paltz againft Spinola, his being in the great Siege of Grot, Hertogen-Bofih, Maefricht, Venlo, Rhynberk, and Schenkenfchans, at all which he receiv'd great Honor; all which confider'd, they made him chief Governor of Brafile, giving him a Commiffion Sign'd by the States of the United Netherlands. and Weft-India Company, to Govern with abfolute Power, as well in Civil as Martial Affairs, to the beft ad. vantage of that State. At firft they refolv'd to fend a Fleet of thirty two Sail thi ther, but they afterwards reduc'd that number to twelve, which they Mann'd with two thoufand feven hundred Men. Grave Maurice fet Sail on the twenty fifth of October 1636 . onely with four Sail, whereof the Admiral Ship call'd The Zutfen, carry'd but three hundred and fifty Men : about the Sorlings they met with bluftering Weather, infomuch that the Fleet was forc'd to put in at Ealmouth, and after forty days ftay there, weigh'd Anchor, and Steer'd for Cape Verd, and refrefh'd at the Ine of May, famous for Saltepans, and inhabited by a few Negro's, and banifh'd Portuguefes.
He is joyfully
recind Reciffa,

On the twenty third of January 1637. Grave Maurice arriving at Reciffa, was by every one receiv'd with great joy; as alfo Adriaen vander Duffen: and foon after Matthias van Ceulen, Servaes Carpentier, and John Gy/feling, were chofen to be of his Privy Council; whofe firf Work was exactly to know their Forces, which were either Inhabitants that were to guard Towns and Fortreffes, or Soldiers that march'd in. to the Field, two thoufand fix hundred whereof were appointed to defend Reciffa, the Afogados, the Promontory. St. Auguftine, Tamarica, and Parayba : the greateft Party, which lay in the Field, confifted of two thoufand nine hundred Men, and another leffer Party of fix hundred; which laft flying Regiment was to be continually employ'd to make work for the Enemy. They alfo took an Account of what Provifion and Ammunition they had in ftore, and found that there was want of both, efpecially of Match. Next he enquir'd after the Enemy's Condition and Power.
From Porto Calvo the Portuguefe made continual Sallies out into the Countrey, which they fpoil'd and pillag'd; infomuch that the Braflians being opprefs'd by them, deferted their Villages, and came for refuge to the Hollanders. The Garrifon in Serinbain was alfo much too weak to withftand the Incurfions of the Enemy, the rather, becaure the Portuguefe came along private, and to the Hollanders unknown Ways. All which Grave Maurice confidering, caus'd a Faft day to be proclaim'd, on which they defir'd Gods affiftance in the carring on of their Defigns. After which he march'd with the Army to Serinbain, from thence crofs the River Una to Barra Grande, and thenceto meet with Bagnola, who though he was four thoufand Men ftrong, befides Negro's and Brafilians, had ftopt up all the Ways with fell'd Trees, and fortifid others. On a Mountain; a League from Porto Calvo, Bagnola kept his Station. At the foot of the Mountain flow'd a Brook, whofe Shore was overgrown with Rice and young Trees, before which lay a high Bank ; oppofite to which Grave Whaurice Encamp'd himfelf towards the Evening, with intentions to fall upon him the next Morning, notwithftanding his Army confifted not of above fiffeen hundred Men, of which there were fix hundred Brafilians. Grave Maurice's Guard marching before were follow'd by Schuppe and Arciffeusky, and they by Licithart, whofe Men were all Seamen; all of them firing their Guns amaz'd the Enemy, whileft two Companies of Brafilians, and three of Hollanders crept through the over. grown part on the rightshand of the Mountain, and as many more on the left, fell unawares upon him ; but Maurice's Guard Engaging with a thoufand Portugufes, ran through the Water up againft the Works with fuch undaunted Courage, that Bagnola Recreated, leaving four hundred Men flain, befides three Brafs Guns, and a great number of Prifoners; thofe which efcap'd fled to Porto Calvo: But Bagnola fearing to be Befieged there, left Povacon, which Caftle, built on one fide of 'Porto Calvo, lies twenty five Leagues from Reciffa, on a Plain, partly furrounded with Mountains and Paftures. The River Porto Calvo runs fo crooked, that it almoft furrounds the Cafle and Town. The Countrey hereabouts is full of Pools. Two Forts, each built on a Hill near Povacon, Bagnola had caus'd to be undermin'd and fill'd up with Gun powder; but they taking fire, were blown up before the Hollanders came thither, who found them fmoaking, and lying like a heap of Rubbifh. Maurice marching forward, Befieg'd Povacon; and Encamping himfelf below the Hill where one of the Forts had food, he rais'd a Redoubt, and with a $\begin{gathered}\text { kon by the } \\ \text { kut }\end{gathered}$ Trench approach'd the Moat. Whileft Schuppe lay along the Town from the Church, Lichthart made a Battery to the North, and fomewhat farther Arciffeusky another; then firing from four Batteries on Povacon, the Befieged anfwer'd them again from their Walls, and on the thirteenth day the Governor Michael Giberton furrendred the Caftle upon honorable Articles: for thofe in Garrifon being Italians, Portuguefes, and Cafilians, to the number of five hundred, befides the Wounded and Sick, were to be Tranfported to Tercera. Maurice entring the Caftle, took two and twenty Brals; and five Iron Guns, four Mortarepieces, a great many Bullets, Matches, Gunspowder, and other Ammunition, this being the King of Spain's, Ma= gazine.

Near Moribeca, and before St. Laurenzo, the Enemy receiv'd a fhrew'd Repulfe by the flying Regiment, led by Stackbower; but Lieutenant Helmich obtain'd Special Honor herein.

Grave Maurice after thefe Exploits took Shipping in Barra Grande, at a grcat Inlee near Porto Calvo, and Landed again at the Promontory Sergoa, from whence he purfu'd the Enemy to the River Francijco; the Inhabitants about which defir'd, and obtain'd free Conduct. Bagnola lay on the other fide of the River Francifco, in the Town Openeda; wherefore Schuppe; who was fent to the Afogados to be near the Ene= my, was afterwards commanded to go to Openeda to fecure Grave Maurice's Paffage over thither ; but he coming thither after him, Maurice crofs'd to the Shore on which Openeda lay with Boats, and got great Booty; and the more, becaule the Natives had not fecur'd any thing, Bagnola affuring them that the Caftle Povacon could en. dure at leaft a Siege of four Monerhs.

Openeda belong'd properly to the Lord Melchior Albes. Near the Town rofe a fonie Rock out of the deep River Francijco, eighty Foot high; from which Rock there jutted out like Redoubts five Points, and it was call'd Maurice Cafle. Along the Shore of the fore-mention'd Stream lay feveral very pleafant Inles. Bagnola efcaping privately from hence, was follow'd by his Men kneeling on floating pieces of Tim= ber, which with Sticks they Row'd over to the Northern Shore, notwithftanding the Stream glides fo fwift, and is fo broad, that a fix-pound Bullet cannot be fiot over the fame; at the Mouth thereof Maurice built another Caftle. A League from his Camp feven hundred Tapuyans (a great falvage and ftrong People, whole Lan. guage the Portuguefe, Brafilians, and Tapuyans that belong'd to Fandwi, could not un. derftand) had Ambulcado'd themfelves, and with figns and motions of their Bodies they gave the Hollanders to underftand, that they would kill the Portugrefe if they offer'd to crofs the Rivers.

Maurice advifing Prince Frederick Henrick of his Tranfactions, defird that he would fend over Planters thither, whether they were baniff'd Germans or Vaga. bonds, out of their Houfes of Cdrrection; for without them the fruitful Countrey of Brafile would render but a flender Account to the Wefb-India Company, nor be able to prevent the Invafions of the Spaniards.

The fruitfulnefs of this Tract of Land was not inferior to any Countrey in the whole World, Cattel grazing up and down in Herds of five, fix, and feven thoufand. Moreover, Maurice advis'd them about the fearcity of Provifions, without rice begins his Governthe making of good Laws which they were notable to maintain War. He allo fetled the Traders in a good Order, dividing all thofe free People which bore no Offices, into four Companies, under Captains, Énfigns, and Lieutenants. The Cuftoms and Tribures were Farm'd, Marriages were order'd to be perform'd by the Netherland Priefts, the Fews had leave not to Watch on their Sabbath, all manner of Debofheries were frictly forbid from being acted on the Lords-Day, and Punifhments ordain'd for Drunkards and other Debofhees; feveral Schools were alfo erected for Youth, and for the inftruction of the Braflians in the Chriftian Religion; and laftly, it was permitted to any that would, to build in the ruin'd City Olinda, or elfe to repair thofe Houfes that were fall'n to ruine.Some of the Portuguefes fill'd Maurice his Ears with a Report of the Silver-Mines at Coubaou, Copaou, Terra Nova, and about Cape St. Anguftine; but he not regarding them, plac'd Sheriffs over the Villages, and Overfeers over the Alms-houfes and Hofpitals, iffuing out Orders alfo for the delivering of the Provifions, which being very fcarce, every Man had a certain Allowance, that fo it might laf the longer; but when in this Diftribution the meaner fort began to be fcanted, the Peoples Complaints were fuch, that an Infurrection was like to enfue, if not careffully and Ppeedily prevented: whereupon the decay'd and deferted Sugar=Mills of the Portisguefes were put to Sale, and fold fome for three, others for fix and feven thoufand Pound, infomuch that the Weff-India Company got above 200000 l . for them all. Soon after they fortifid their Caftles and other ftrong Holds, and broke down thofe that were judg'd ufelefs. The Braflians obtain'd liberty alfo to inhabit their Villages and till their Land, that they might make Provifion for themfelves, and not opprefs the Planters that liv'd near them. The Portuguefe that had fubmitted themfelvesto the Government of the Hollanders, had free leave granted them to exercife the Roman-Catbolick Religion, onely they were not to fend for any Priefts from St. Salvador, which if they did, they fhould be dealt with as Plot. ters of Murders and Treafons ; they had liberty alfo to rebuild their Houles in Olinda, paying Tribute with the Hollanders : Moreover, they were promis'd that they fhould live free from all Oppreffions of the Hollanders. There was alfo order taken about paying the tenth part of the Sugar and Farinba. The Income alfo of Fifhing and Fowling, amounted to a confiderable fum of Money. And to prevent deceit in Trade, Meafures and Weights were made according to thofe of Amferdam. For the Converting of Pagans, fews, and Roman Catholicks, able Teachers were fent into the Countrey to promulgate the Gofpel.

About this time there went a Report, as if the Weforndia Company were in= clin'd to remove their Seat from Reciffa to the Illand Tamarica; but Maurice advi. fing them that it would not be fo convenient for them, they chang'd their Refo. lution.

Whileft Licbtbart Cruis'd a confiderable time before the Haven Todos los Sanctos, Inas shaten he Crain'd his Ship in the Bay of Camaniu, took the Town Ifleos, with a hundred and fifty Men. In the Town, which is built on a Promontory, he took but little Booty, and fav'd the Houfes; which were built moft of Stone, as alfo the four Churches and fefuits Cloyfter, and return'd to Reciffa.

About this time the invincible Caftle Mina, afterwards call'd St. Foris, was taken by the Hollanders, upon the Advice of Nicho!its van $Y_{p e r e n, ~ C o m m a n d e r ~ o f ~ G u i n e e, ~}^{\text {, }}$ who fent word to Grave Maurice, that the faid Caftle might eafily be conquer'd, if any Forces could be fent him from. Reciffa: Whèreupon Maurice immediately fent fent Jobn Coin thither with nine Ships, which fee Sail on the twenty fifth of fune; Anno 1637 . who in the Road Commendo joining with $Y_{p e r e n, ~ f o o n ~ a f t e r ~ h e ~ w a s ~ f e t ~ d o w n ~}^{\text {d }}$ before it, and was preparing to Storm, had it furrendred to him upon Terms no lefs advantageous to the Hollanders, than difhonorable to the Befieged, yet not without the lofs of many Men; for in their March thither they were fiercely fet upon by the Negro's inhabiting the Village near the Caftle ; in which Conflict Co.

During thefe Proceedings of the Dutch in Guinee, the Duke of Bagnola ranfack'd the Countrey about Seregippa del Rey; Maurice not able to go himfelf, having had a Feaver three Moneths, fent Scbuppe and Gyeling with two thoufand three hundred Soldiers, four hundred Brafilians, and two hundred and fifty Seamen, whileft Lichthart Steer'd to Todos los SanEtos, that fo he might draw the Enemy down to the SeaCoaft. Bagnola flying to Terra Gracia d'Avila, Schuppe demolifh'd the Town Seregippa, the Sugar-Mills, and all manner of Fruit-Trees, and march'd with incredible fpeed to the Stream Francifco; where Encamping on the Southern Shore, he drove three thoufand Head of Cattel before him, that fo he might ftarve the Enemy.

In the interim the Brafilians in Siara defir'd Aid againft the Portuguefe, offering,
That if the Hollanders could conquer the Fort there, they would foon deftroy all the Portuguefe; that the Charges of the Siege might eafily be made good, the Coun. trey producing abundance of Amber.greece, Cryftal, Cotton, Pearls, Salt, and other Merchandife. In confirmation of this their Refolution, the Brajlians left two eminent Perfons Children of Siara in Reciffa: Whereupon George Garftman being fent thither, was no fooner Landed, but he madehis Arrival known to the Brafilian Governor Algodoi; who came to meet him with two hundred Men, bearing white Flags in token of Peace: Thus affifted, he fee upon Siara, which is a 〔quare Fort, built at the foot of a Hill, hath within its Walls fix Houfes, two Redoubts full of Port-holes, one on the North, and the other on the South, jutting half way out from the Wall; as alfo two Gates, fecur'd with large Portcullifes: without the Fort appears the Governor's Houfe, abour which were feveral Huts for Portuguefes.

This Lordfhip, already fpoken of, is reckon'd amongtt the Northern parts of Brafile, and hath onely twelve Leagues' in circumference. The Haven before the Cafle, which the River Hacu makes, is of little confequence: The Ground in fome places rifes with high Mountains, in others, efpecially on one fide, it is overgrown with Wood : hath alfo feveral brave Paftures, efpecially along the River.

Garftman approaching the Caftle Siara, found little refiftance, fo that he took it with fimall expence of Blood, moft of the Portuguefe, being taken Prifoners, a few onely efcaping by flight.

After this Grave Maurice took great care of the Civil Affairs, building a Guild. Hall at his own Coft and Charge ; fent all manner of Minerals, digg'd out of the Brafilian Mines, to the Netherlands; laid great Penalties on thofe that ftole the Cu . ftom of Goods, and punifh'd with Death Murders, Robberies, and fuch like Capital Offences, befides feveral wholfom Laws relating both to the Civil and Ecclefiaftical Government; and as foon as he was recover'd from his tedious Sicknefs, he march'd up into the Countrey to the Rivers Grande and Parayba, to take care to furnifh the Forts with Provifion and Ammunitions Near the Cafte Ceulen he was receiv'd by the Tapuyan Agents, and Prefented by them with Bowes, Arrows, and brave Oftrich Feathers, us'd by them when they go to the Wars: in return for which they receiv'd Linnen Shirts, Knives, Shells, Bugles, Fifhhooks, and Nails. Manrice caus'd a deeper and wider Moat to be digg'd about the decay'd Caftle Cabo Dello, rais'd the Works, and call'd it by the Name of his Sifter Margareta; he allo pull'd down the Fort Antonio, keeping onely a Tower to defend the Highoway. Re: fringe was likewife frengthned with Pallifado's, and the Cloyfter near the Town Parayba fortifid againft an Affault, and Elias Harkmans made Governor of the fame.

Whileft thefe things were tranfacted on the Land, Captain Schuppe at Sea Enga. ging alone between Todos los Santos and Terre Garcie d' Avila with three Spanifh Ships, drove one of them aground, and brought another away with him to Reciffa. The Letters found in the taken Veffel made mention, that in the River of Lisbon lay ten Galleys, and twenty more before Cales, to which were to joyn thirty Pinks; which Fleet fome fuppos'd was coming for Brafile; others, that it was onely a Plot of the King of Spain to get Money from his Subjects, according to the Cuftom of feveral other Princes.
Hereupon Maurice wrote to the West-India Company, that they would Rig out a Fleet with all poffible fpeed, which might fall upon the fore-mention'd Spanifh Fleet, and fetch thofe Sugars which lay ready in Brafile to be Laden.

About the fame time a Party of the Portuguefes croffing the River Francifo, came to the Stream Miguel, whither Picardmarching, put them all to flight.

He had the greater hopes of Victory, becaule he receiv'd information from St. Salvador, that the Soldiers in Garrifon there mutiny'd for want of Pay, and that the Governor and Duke of Bagnola were at difference concerning the management of the War. But before he fet Sail he had fecur'd all Places againft any Invafion, and got ready twenty two Sail, furnifh'd with Ammunition and Provifion, with which on the eighteenth of Auguff Anno 1638. he weigh'd Anchor, and met with fix Ships at Sea, which he took, and arriv'd on the fixth day following before the Mouth of the Inlet Todos losSanctos, which he could not enter by reafon of contrary Winds, but Cruis'd up and down before the River Vermelho and the Ine Tapoam; whereupon the Governor of St. Salvador and Bagnola drew the Portuguefe Forces down thither to prevent his Landing: About Noon the Wind coming about fair for the Hollanders, brought Maurice within Shot of the Ships, Forts, Walls and Batteries of the City St. Salvador, fo that he thundred with his Cannon againft them, and Landed on a Promontory near the Sconce Bartholomew, without the leaft refiftance, in a convenient place about a League and a half from the City; where Encamping himfelf, he was inform'd by the Prifoners which he had taken, that about half a League farther was a narrow Bank, border'd with Moraffes, fo that none could pafs along the fame but at Low. water, and then onely at a certain time. Tourlon being fent before with three hundred Mufquetteers to difcover the Place, found the Way not onely as the Prifoners had inform'd, but alfo fortif'd by the Enemy ; againft whom Maurice drew out his Men, ordering Captain fohn vander Maft in the mean time to run with ten

Sail direatly upon the City, and to drop his Anchors juft withont fhot of it. Having beaten the Enemy from his Works, he broke through all the Paths, Hedges and Banks, till at laft he came and Intrench'd. himfelf near the Out-works of the City, by which his Army was fecur'd from any Affaults from the Seasfide. Colonel Brand alfo with little trouble took the Fort Pbilippo, built on the Shore, and fortifid with five Guns. The next day Maurice Storming the Caftle Philippo, foon became Mafter of it, notwithftanding it was well Garrifon'd, and had thirteen Brafs DemiCulverins. The taking of this Caftle afforded the Befiegers a free Paffage to their Fleet. They alfo rais'd two Batteries, from one of which they fhot night and day with feven great Guns, and from the other with the like number of Field-pieces, on the Caftle Refario, which the Portuguefe forfook; but going about to take a Horn-work on the top of the Carmelites Cloyfter, he loft many Men in the Attempt, and amongft the reft the Captains Howin, Echbrecht, Boward, Hollinger, and the Engineer Bercbem; and in the end, after many bold and refolute Attaques, what with

Mean while the Provincial States of Holland and Zealand differ'd about allowing of a free Trade to Brafile, and fending of Colonies thither: Whereupon Grave Maurice writing to them his Opinion, demonftrated with good Reafons, that a free Trade, and frefh Colonies, would be much to the Companies advantage; which was approv'd of by the States of the United Netherlands and Weft-India Company, who onely engrols'd the Trade of $\lambda$ Cegro's and Brafile Wood; and on the Im= ported and Exported Goods they put a certain Cuftom.

The Weft-India Company confidering what Treafure Peter Hein had brought from Matanca to Holland, they refolv'd to venture another Expedition thither; and to that purpofe fet out fourteen Sail under the Command of Cornelis Houte-been, who weigh'd Anchor out of the Texel on the fourteenth of Auguft Anno 1638 . and are riv'd fafe at Reciffa; where Houte-been having fpent fome days in Confulting with Grave Maurice, went aboard again, and at his entring into the Ship, bruis'd his Leg between the Boat and the fides thereof, which fome fuperftitious Perfons look'd upon as very ominous; but this Wound was not fo great as to keep him back from whatfoever Service came in his way: for difcovering the Spanifh Fleet from Terra Firmanear Cuba, before the Rocky Ifle Organes, which confifted of eight great Gallions, and fix leffer Ships, whofe Lading was valu'd at two hundred Tun of Gold, and Commanded by Carel Dievaro, he clapt the Admiral aboard, threw in his Grapling-Irons, and made him felf faft, with a Refolution either to take him or die, whileft the Dutcl Vice-Admiral Abrabam Micbaelzoon Roofendael boarded the Spanijh Vice-Admiral, and the Rere-Admiral Fobn vander Mast the Enemy's RereAdmiral ; and doubtlefs, had not the Vice-Admiral and Rere.Admiral been flain, together with Verdooft, Captain of the Orange-Tree, and other eminent Officers, and thofe that furviv'd fail'd in their Duty to him for want of Courage, he had given them a fignal Overthrow; but whileft with much ado he had prevail'd with his Captains to renew the Combat (having been forc'd by the coming on of the Spanifh Vice and Rere.Admirals to quit hishold) and was preparing for a fecond On, fet , the Sea began to be rough, and the Enemy was gotten to the Windward. Some few days after being inform'd, that the Spani $/ \mathrm{h}$ Fleet lay before the Flats of $\dot{C} w b a$ and the Rocky Orgaites, Stècr'd thither, refolving to venture once more; but when he came there, the Spaniards were gone; whereupon he fent fome of his Ships to Brafile, others to Cruife before Cuba, whileft he himfelf went for the Netherlands.

Whileft this Expedition fell out fo unfortunately, Camcron, General of the Brafo. lians, fent three Agents to Grave Maurice, defiring to enter into League with the WeftIndia Company, upon fome Differences that were rifen between him and the Duke of Bagnola. Grave Maurice feeming much inclin'd to his Offer, treated the. Agents very nobly; who not long after, oblig'd by his Civility, inform'd him, that Came, ron, an inconftant Man, had made Peace again with Bagnola, But that which chiefly obftructed Grave Maurice's Defigns, was the want of Provifions, Ammunition and Men, notwithftanding his continual Complaints to the Company.

About the beginning of the Year 1639. the Spanifh Fleet, confifting of twenty cight Sail, moft of them Gallions, appear'd in fight of Reciffa, but Steer'd South. wardly; Grave Maurice hereupon fent out the beft Sailers to follow them, and fee whither they were bound, or if they intended to Land, whileft himfelf march'd along to Porto Calvo; but inform'd that they were gone into the Inlet Todos los Sane Etos, he return'd to Reciffa; after he had for'd the Forts Porto Calvo, Una, Serinbain, and that at the Promontory St. Auguftine; with all Neceffaries.

About the fame time Arcijfeusky arriving from Holland with a Commiffion to be General over the Forces there, imparted to fome Friends the Copy of a Letter thate $\begin{gathered}\text { dirijperches } \\ \text { Grave } M \\ M\end{gathered}$ he intended to fend to the Amferdam Burgomafter Albert Coenraed/zoon vander Durgh, fiacund ins containing many Accufations againft Grave Maurice and his Council ; of which he being inform'd, call'd a general Affembly, to whom he makes a large Speech, wherein he declar'd how faithful a Servant he had been to the States of the United Netherlands' for the fpace of twenty years, complain'd of the malice of Arcifeusky in wrongfully afperfing him, both in the aforefaid Letter and otherwife, anfwer'd particularly to every thing which was laid to his Charge, (as he did afterwards in a Letter alfo from himfelf to Vander Burgh) and laftly made it his peremptory Requeft, that he might return home, and leave Arciffeusky in Power, or that Arcijfeusky might be fent home, and he remain undifturb'd in his Government; and fo withdrew, leaving them to their own Confultations. It exceedingly perplex'd them, and took up a long Debate what Judgment to give in this Matter, which before they concluded on, they propos'd feveral Expedients of Reconciliation between them ; but feeing it was all in vain, they unanimoully judg'd it convenient, that Arciffeusky fhould is font back return; who not long after accordingly weigh'd Anchor from Parayba for Holland.

Arciffeusky arriving in Holland, appear'd unexpectedly before the States of the United Netherlands and WeftrIndia Company, where feveral Judgments were pafs'd upon him; fome faid he deferv'd fevere punifhment, for his misbehavior to Grave mentrs conMaurice; others feem'd to have compaffion of him, becaufe he had done fo many noble Exploits; moft laid the blame on the Company, who rafhly fent him with a Commiffion as Chief over the Militia, not without impairing Grave Maurice's Power; but thefe Difcourfes fell amongft thole who were not call'd to give their Opinion of this Cafe.
 Mattbias Cenlen, Adrian vander Duffen, Fobn Guifeling, and Servaes Carpentier, were ready flal ind his to come for Holland, and on the twenty ninth of October 1639 . they fet Sail from Parayla, Vander Dufjen bringing with him an exact Relation of the Condition of Brafile, fo far as concerns the Weforondia Company, which being material; we fhall referve it for a more fit place.

It being fear'd that the Spanif) Fleet in the Harbor of Todos los SanEtos might undertake undertake fome Defign or other againt the Hollanders, Grave Maurice kept a watch. ful Eye upon them, repair'd all decay'd Forts, rais'd new Forces, fent out fome Veffels to watch the Fleet, and prohibited the Tranfporting of Provifions, anima* ted the Brafilian Commanders to fight againft the Portuguefe, and forc'd the Owners of Sugar-Mills to Plant fore of Mandihoka, that fo his Provifions might laft the longer.

A Party of the Enemy, confifting of about twelve hundred Men, having pafs ${ }^{\circ} \mathrm{d}$ the River Francifco, was foon after oppos'd by Colonel Donker.

The Spanigh Fleet having lay'n a whole Year before St. Salvador (becaufe they had fore St. vador. loft near three thoufand Men, who on the Coaft of Africa dy'd of feveral Diftempers, and therefore waited for a frefh Supply) fet Sail on the ninteenth of November Anno 1639 . with eighty feven Sail, carrying fixteen thoufand Men, of which thirty feven were great Gallions. Ferdinand Mafcarenbas, Duke of Torre, being chief Admiral, carry'd the Flag and fixty Brafs Guns in the Ship Domingo; the Portuguefe Admiral, Roderigo Lobo, carry'd fifty two Guns in the Gallion Bernardo; of all which, with the number of the Enemy's Forces, Grave Maurice was inform'd by a Letter taken out of a Pink laden with Sugar ; and alfo that the Spaniards were in great hopes of the Portuguefe deferting the WefteIndia Company, with whom they were forc'd to joyn; that this great Fleet was order'd to Cruife two years before the Coaft of Brafile, and to Land divers Men under the Command of Bagnola, Francijco de Moro, Antonio Roderigo, Numno de Mello, Facob Pirezio, Francifo Pezam, and Lopes Bara. balio; all which made Maurice write continually for Aid, "Which the Wef-India "Company muft fend fpeedily, unlefs they were refolv'd to lofe what they had " gotten in Brafile, as alfo the People, who had hitherto defended the fame with the "lofs of their Lives and Fortunes.

A Negro that ferv'd a Spanifh Captain, call'd Henrick Dias, being taken, inform'd the Hollanders, That the Spanijh Fleet was much weakned by a poyfonous Air on the Coaft of Africa; and that they had left a confiderable number of their Men in the Hofpital at St. Salvador ; that the Admiral was refolv'd with divided Forces to burn all Places he came at, and to receive the Negro's, Mamolucks, Mulatto's, and Brafilians, under his Jurifdiction. But Grave Maurice gave little. credit to this Relation, becaufe the Spaniard doubted not in the leaft, but that he fhould take Brafile from the Netherlanders with his fore-mention'd Forces, why then fhould he ruine what he hop'd to poffefs? None knew whither the Spanilh Fleet intended to go; for fetting Sail under the Command of Antonio Oquendo, under pretence of falling upon the Netherlands, they Steer'd their Courfe to Brafile, and at laft from the Inlet Todos los Sanctos to Goyana; but four days before they weigh'd Anchor, William Cornelifzoon Loos, who had fome.time been Cruifing before the faid Iṇlet, came back to Reciffa with thirteen Sail of Ships, which wanted all manner of Neceffaries.

The weft-India Company had now been in a mean Condition, had there not happily arriv'd firf eight, next two, and at laft nine Ships from the 'Texel, the Maes, and Zealand, with Provifions, and a Supply of Men ; which Maurice had no fooner taken out, and unladen the Ships, but he fitted them for an Engagement, and made up the number of forty one Sail, who yet were not to be compar'd to the Spaniards, whofe fmalleft Veffels carry'd more Men and Guns than the biggeft of the Hollanders, which in all had but two thoufand one hundred and ninety fix Men, and one Ship with another under twenty Iron Guns: With this fmall Power the Admiral William Cornelifzoon Loos went to meet the Enemy, and before the River Michael took four Spanilh Ships, which carry'd Ammunition and Provifions for the Army,' which Lopes Barbalio commanded afhore. On the twelfth of January, Anno $\times 640$.
he defery'd the Spanilh Fleet between Itamaraca and Goyana; not far from which Mafcarenbas thought to Land feven thoufand Men at Paomorello; and they were already gotten into little Veffels when the Hollanders Fleet made towards them, and about three a Clock in the Afternoon began a bloody Engagement for four hours, in which Loos Engaging with the Spanifh Admiral and four Gallions', was kill'd in the Admiral Loos middle of the Fight, which ended in the Evening. Jacob Huigens.carrying the Flag the next day in fight of the Promontory Blanco, chearing up his Men, went to re- Huigen cha: new the Fight with Mafcarenbas, and with a few fmall Ships Engag'd feveral great wifh llyce ones, of which they had an advantage onely in their nimble turning and winding. In this Engagement Huigens loft the Ship call'd The Sun, which funk with Colonel Mortimer and forty four Men, thirry four being fav'd in the Boar. The Hollanders Lofs was the lefs, becaufe the Spanifh great Gallions fir'd over Huigens's Ships, which fir'd in the midft of the Spaniards Veffels. Huigens not being tir'd with two days Engagements, fell upon them a third time before Parayba, and firing. at the Spanifh and Portuguefe Admirals, purfu'd their Fleet to the Northermoft Coaft of Brafile, where by a ftrong Current they were driven Wefterly; and the Swan, Commanded by facob Alderick, lofing her Main-maft, was cut off from the Fleet by twelve Gallions; and three hundred Spaniards were already Mafters of the Deck, when Alderick breaking from the Enemy, drove towards the Shore, and either kill'd the Spaniards that were in his Ship, or forc'd them to leap overboard, whileft Anto. nio Cunba de Andrada, not knowing that Alderick was aground, making up to him, ran alfo aground, which occafion'd a new Fight, and at laft Andrada was made to furrender his Gallion, and with it three thoufand Pound of coin'd and uncoin'd Silver, befides other rich Goods, and two hundred and thirty Men, who were all fent Prifoners to Reciffa.

Fanuary the feventeenth Huigens ventur'd a fourth Engagement between Rio Grande and Conyaou, where approaching the Spanijh Fleet, a fudden Calm prevented him from coming within fhot of them, till againtt the Evening the Wind began to rife, but the Night approaching, it was not judg'd worth while to Engage for fo few hours, therefore they referr'd the bloody work till the next day ; when about Day. break Huigens ran through the midft of the Enemy's Fleet, and fir'd fo fiercely on The Sparijb Mafcarenbas, that he Tacking about, ftood away right before the Wind, and not be $=\substack{\text { puter tagin } \\ y \\ \text { thigight }}$ ing able to get beyond the Shelves Baxios de Rochas, nor to get Water on the Coaft, becaufe the Hollanders Ketches guarded the fame, he Sail'd into the Offin towards the Line with a South-Eaft Wind. After which Huigens lay eight days before Rio Grande to refrefh and reft himfelf, and on the firtt of February he arriv'd at Reciffa, where Maurice caus'd a Thankfgiving Day to be kept for this wonderful Victory, whileft the Enemy was exceedingly abaff'd.

Several Difadvantages occurr'd towards the overthrow of the Spanißh Fleet; for firf it was much weakned by the Difeafe which rag'd in the fame on the Coaft of Africa, infomuch that it lay ftill a whole year in Todos los Sanctos to gather frefh Forces, whileft Maurice put himfelf in a pofture of Defence: Secondly, they lay becalm'd, and met with contrary Winds for feveral Moneths, whenas the Voyage be. tween St. Salvador and Pernambuco is commonly not above twelve days; which tedious Paffage occafion'd alfo a Diftemper and faint-heartednefs amongft the Spaniards, whileft divers Ships arriv'd at Reciffa from the Netberlands, without which it had been impoffible to have Engag'd with the Enemy, in regard till then all manner of Ammunition and Provifions were wanting. Huigens allo had continually the advantage or benefit of the Wind, and loft in the Engagement buttwo Ships, a hundred and twenty four Men, befides twelve wounded: Moreover, but twelve Ships onely of the Dutch Engag'd with this great Spanif? Fleet, the reft never coming within Thot; wherefore the two Commanders, John Coopman Ruk, and Peter facob, were condemn'd to be Beheaded; Cornelis Johnfzoon and Peter Dirkfzoon had their Swords broke over their Heads by the common Hangman; Cornelis Lucifer, Dirk Eger, and Jacob Clavor, were banifh'd; and others came off by paying great Fines: but the Spanifh Fleet loft in the four Engagements twenty Ships, and fome thoufands of Men, the $\mathcal{F o}_{0} / \mathrm{eph}$ alone having four hundred !lain in her. Laftly, anchoring near the I!land Margareta, the Portuguefe Admiral Cofmo de Couto, and the Captain.General Francijco Pimentello, Falling out, the Spaniards Steer'd to Tercera, and from thence to Cales, where there Landed but few Men, moft of them dying of Hunger and Thirft in their Return home : Four Gallions, with two Pinks,got into the Spanifh Harbors, the reft being either ftranded before New Spain, funk, or return'd to the Inlet Todos los Sanctos.

Before the foremention'd Fleet weigh'd Anchor from St. Salvador, two thoufand Portuguefes, befides Tapuyans and other Braflians, march'd under the Command of Cameron, Vidal, and Barbalio, with divided Forces into the Countrey, partly to get Provifion, and partly to do what mifchief they could to the Hollanders, far and near : their Orders were to joyn in the Village St. Laurence, feven Leagues beyond Paomarello, that there they might make way for the Seamen to Land, if the Netherland Forces fhouild chance to guard the Sea, Coaft thereabouts, and to joyn with them as foon as they were Landed. But Grave Maurice encourag'd by his late Victory at Sea, immediately fent the FieldsMarfhal Coin againft Cameron, who diviidng his Army into fmall Companies, had diftributed them through the Camoren's Forces and Barbalio's put to flight

by Coin:

Portuguefes Plot againft the Nether-- landers difcover'd. Woods; in which Coin follow'd his Example, and with divided Forces purfu'd Cameron's Army, and overtook his Captain Tak and two hundred Men at Poyuca, (whereof Lopes Barbalio was Governor) who fled, notwithftanding he Commanded fix hundred Men.) Soon after which the Mufter-mafter Manfveld met him near the Village St.Laurence, Engag'd him, and putting him to flight, found feveral Papers of Concern that he had left behind, and amongft. others a Letter, in which Barbalio was commanded to fpare neither Brafilians nor Netberlanders alive, but to kill all, without regard either to their Age or Quality, except the Portuguefe. Moreover, Andries Vidal urg'd the Owners of the Sugar-Mills in the Netherlanders Brafile, immediately to take up Arms, to regain their ancient Freedom, as foon as Mafcarenbas appear'd with the Spaniß) Fleet on the Coaft of Brafile: Thus Vidal, by Letters and private Conferences, prevail'd fo much, that moft of the Portuguefe were ready againft their Oaths to root out the Netherlanders: The fign when they fhould be ready, was the burning of fome Sugar-Mills, Vidal imagining thereby to have drawn the Netberlanders from the Sea。fide, and fo made the Sea-Coaft free for the Spaniards to Land fecurely in. But the Garrifon under Coin along the Sea-fhore near Alexis, not ignorant of the Enemy's Plot, kept their Stations, and fuffer'd the Mills, to burn. The like did Craey at the Promontory of St. Augufine, Picard at Paomarello, Captain Day at Cantolaria, and Donker on Goyana; Hoogftraet kept Guard up in the Countrey ; Tourlon alfo fent out by Maurice againft Francifco Sofa and Henrick Dias, who had pillag'd all the Countrey about the River Conajou, fell upon them in fuch a manner, that he deftroy'd eighty feven of them, and wounded a confiderable number more of them, made the reft flie to St. Salvador.

Two Moneths before the Spanigh Fleet fet Sail from Todos los Sanctos, three thouFand Tapuyans came to Rio Grande with their Wives and Children, from an unknown Countrey remote from the Sea. Grave Maurice requefted their King Folm de Wy, that he would pleafe to keep Watch along the SeatCoaft, and prevent the Landing of the Spanifh Seamen : Whereupon De Wy fent his Son to the Caftle Ceulen, making folemn Proteftations, that he was ready to lofe his Life and Fortune for the Netherlanders, in helping them to drive the Portuguefe out of Brafite. Maurice alfo joyn'd two thoufand Brafilians, and Colonel Garfman with fixty Netherlanders, to the Tapuyans, that fo he might train them up in Martial Difcipline, whileft the Tapuyans. Wives and Children were plac'd on the Ifland Tamarica.

About the beginning of the Year 1640. Houte-been and Licbthart brought a confiderable Fleet from the Netberlands to an Anchor at Reciffa, where a Confultation was held, whither thefe Ships might be fent to do moft Service : every one had an Eye on St. Salvador, not long fince Storm'd in vain; but Maurice judg'd that they had not Forces enough to undertake fo grand a Defign, but thought it would be better to Land fome frefh Forces near St. Salvador, that there they might burn the Sugar-Mills, and deftroy all things they could find, in revenge of what the Enemy had done at Parayba. Whereupon Tourlon and Licbtbart fet Sail with twenty Ships, Mann'd with two thoufand five hundred Men, to the Inlet Todos los Sanctos, where they burntall the Portuguefe Sugar-Mills, Houfes and Villages; neither did their Swords Spare any alive but Women and Infants: The Cattel which they found they carry'd aboard of their Ships, and burnt all other Provifions.

In the mean time Houte-been and Coin fell upon Porto Eranco, where they ruin'd all things, to no other end, but that the Enemy might call home his Forces out of the Netberlanders Brafle, to defend the Province Todos los Sanctos. But Captain Brand capt brasd going up too far into the Countrey with his Army, was fuddenly fet upon, had a ${ }_{\text {ner. }}^{\text {aken }}$ hundred of his Men flain on the Spor, and was himfelf taken Prifoner, together with many more. Alfo the Storming of the Town Spirito Sancto by Coin prov'd un. fucceisful, becaure he led an undifciplin'd Company, and wanted little Veffels to Land in on a fudden; for the Enemy having had timely notice, immediately rais'd a Sconce about the Town, and with five Brafs Guns frid foutly on him, who endeavor'd to climb up the Hill, but was forc'd to found a Retreat, his Men failing in their Courage; yet at laft breaking into the Town, he fet fome of the Houfes on fire, which being built of Stone, refifted the Flame; fo burning onely four hundred and fifty Chefts of Sugar, he left fixty Men kill'd, and brought back eighty wounded. Licbthart in the mean time made great havock about St. Salvador.

In this Conjuncture the WefteIndia Company fuffer'd much by Robberies and Spoils committed up and down the Countrey, by the ferting their Woods of Bra. file on fire by a company of Negro's, the chief Ring-leader of whom was one call'd woods of and fet fire on whatfoever places he came to, notwithftanding a hundred Negro's of his crew were foon after caught, which he at feveral times had by force taken out of their Mafters Sugars-Mills; which Grave Maurice prevented as much as poffible, by keeping Soldiers up and down in Arms. He alfo us'd the Portuguefe very civilly, who though they promis'd Obedience, becaufe they liv'd under the Jurifdiction of the Weftindia Company, yet were ready on all occafions to fhew the contrary; wherefore Grave Maurice fending for the chief of them to Reciffa from Pernambuco, Itamaraca, and Parayba, told them before the Privy Council, that they might eafily fee how vainly they expected that the Spanifh Crown fhould take Brafile from the Netherlanders; that formerly they depended on the Spanijh Fleet Commanded by Mafcarenhas, but that being deftroy'd by a fmall Force, that hope was loft ; therefore if henceforward they would Trade on their own Accounts, they might be affur'd they fhould not fuffer in the leaft, either in their Goods, Religion, or Perfons.

The Neopolitan Field.Marfhal Hector de la Calee, fetting Sail from the Haven Todos los Sanctos with an old Ship carrying fix hundred Men, was forc'd to run aground in the Haven of Parayba, where he and the chief Commanders were taken Prifoners, whileft the Common Soldiers by reafon of the farcity of Provifions, were fet at liberty.

Houte-been and Lichthart weigh'd Anchor with twenty four Ships, carrying two thoufand Soldiers and feven hundred Seamen to Havana, to Cruife for the PlateFleer, but the Spani/h Ships keeping within their Harbors, and their own being dif, pers'd and featter'd by ill Weather, their Voyage prov'd in vain.

Not long after Grave Maurice fent fome Ships under Lichtharts. Command to Cruife before the River fanuarius, and others for the fame purpofe to Angola; but he effected little, for he onely took two Ships, one whereof being laden with Wine, was fold for 9400 I. Sterl.

The news of the Porturuefe Crowning the Duke of Bragancia, and cafting off the Caftilian Yoke, which very much chang'd the face of Affairs in Brafile, was about this time brought over by the Jefuit Francifoo Vilbent, and the Under-Field-Marfhal Peter Corera de Gama, who were by Bragancia fent to St. Salvador, not onely to bring the tidings of the Portuguefes Revolt, butt allo to take the Oath of Allegiance from Montalvan to the new King, which he made no foruple of; fo that from thenceforth all but the Cajfilian and Neopolitan Soldiers, caft off their Obedience to the Crown of Spain. Whereupon Montalvan defir'd Grave Maurice to allow a Ceffation of Arms, till fuch time as they might both receive information what Triftan Mendoza, in the new King of Portugal's Name, had Treated with the States of the United Ne= therlands about; and to make the Requeft feem the fairer, feveral Dutch Prifoners were fet at liberty, and the Companies with which Pazlo Acunbas was marching to Pernambuco, were call'd back.

- Grave Maurice defiring in his Letters to be releas'd from his Employment in Grave Maurice defir'd by the States and We? India Wofto India Company to continue in his Government of Brasfile. Brafile, receiv'd for Anfwerfrom the States, "That it would be very difadvanta"geous for the States for him to come home, now he throughly underfood the In"treagues of the New World, in wohich tee might do much good, efpecially fince the "Portuguefe being revolted, wouldif all probability affift them in deftroying the "King of Caffile's Forces; therefore it was now the moft proper time to prepare "for Action.

To this Requeft of the States was added that of the Wef-India Company, who alfo fent earneft Letters to the fame purpofe, which made Maurice defer his Return, and prepare himfelf for fome grand Undertaking: And firt he joyn'd the Province of Sereigippe Del Rey to the Netherland Brafile, built a Fort and Armory in the fame, and buils a Wall about the Town; which Work was the more follow'd, becaufe Seregippe, which border'd upon the Province of Todos los Sanctos, fed abundance of Cattel, and gave great hopes, of Silver-Mines.
Grave Maurice likewife oblerving what great Profit proceeded from the Angolan Negro's, and that the Spanifh Sugar-Mills could not work without them, undertook to ingrofs that Trade wholly into the WeftoIndia Companies hands; to which P pore Loando St: Pailo'being judg'd a fit Place for a Faadory, Houterbeen was fent this ther with twenty'Ships; Mann'd with nine hundred Seamen, two thoufand Land. Soldiers, and two hundred Brafilians: the Land-Men were Commanded by Hinderfon, who arriving with the Fleet on the twenty fourth of Auguft 1640 . before Loando St. Paulo, ran in beeween the Enemy's Caftes, St. Crux, Bento, Sibylla, Vincent, Vello, and againft five Batteries along the Water fide, all full of Guns, and fr'd fo vehemently upon the Enemy, that being forc'd to leave his Works, he made room , for Hinderfon to Land; who immediately march'd to the Town, which Peter Cieddr Menefes defended with nine hundred Portuguefes, and fome thoufands of Aegros, who by Lumbomice ftood the firft Onfer; but Hinderfon falling upon them again, fo affrighted them, that they fled; which Menefes perceiving, foon follow'd, and. left him Mafter of the City, in which he found onely a few drunken Soldiers, decrepid old People, twenty nine Brafs Guns, befides feveral Iron ones, and great plenty of Provifions and Am: munition. Mean while Houte-been took thirty Ships hal'd near the Shore.

This City is built on a Hill, and hath feveral fair Buildings and Cloyfters, Defreipion amongft which the fefuits and Capuchins are the beft. Along the Sea-fhore, at the ${ }^{\text {of the city. }}$ foot of the Mountain, ftands alfo a long Row of Houfes, near which Hinderfon im. mediately caft up Bulwarks againft any Affault, and likewife two Sconces, the big. geft whereof is on the utmoft Point of Loando, near the Fort Sibylla.

Twelve Companies being left here in Garrifon, quite contrary to Menefes his exo Mantefs in pectation, who thinking that the Netherlanders came onely for Booty, and not to vain Extespo take or keep the City by force of Arms, made his Complaints therefore by Letters to Houte-been, alledging, That there was Peace made between the King of Portural and the United \etberlands, and that the former Acts of Hoftility were chang'd to friendly Correfpondencies. But Houtebbeen anfwer'd, "That he knew not of any "fuch Agreement between Portugal and the Netberlands; and if he had known it, " how fhould he be fure whether Menefes held with the Caftilians or Portuguefes? If "Menefes knew of this Agreement, and was of the Portuguefe Party, why did he re"ceive thofe as Enemies, whom he muft acknowledge as Friends? His Complaints " were now too late, fince the Hollanders had obtain'd the Victory with the lofs of "their Blood.

Menefes therefore feeing no hopes to regain Loando, either by Complaints or Force, defir'd eight days Ceffation of Arms, that in that time he might fit himfelf to go from thence to another Place; which the Netherlanders in Garrifon would not hearken to, but commanded him to march away immediately fixteen Leagues from ${ }^{-\prime}$ Loando.

Mean while the Angolan Princes joyning with the Netherlanders, fell upon the Portuguefe where-e're they met them. Moreover, feveral Citizens return'd to Loando, and proffer'd half their Negro's, if they might but have liberty to be Tranfported to St. Salvador with the other half; but it was judg'd more convenient to keep them, and by fair means allo to invite the reft, becaufe it appear'd by the Ango$\operatorname{lan}$ Accounts, that the profit of the Negro-Trade amounted yearly to fixty fix Tuns of Gold, the Charges of the Garrifon, and fitting out of the Ships being deducted of thre Rrofir from it. The Spanifh King had yearly above fifteen thoufand Negro's from hence to employ in his American Mines.

Houitebeen Sailing over from Loando to the Ifle of St. Thomas, Landed fome of his Men over againft the Sugar-Mills of Sc. Juna, and ran with his Fleet to an Anchor Portuguefedid by firing thein Guns, and were anfwer'd by Houte been, one of whofe blown up; thofe that Landed alfo met with fome reGuns, and foon after march'd into the Town Pavaofa, where the Inhabitants had left nothing but empty Houfes; the great Caftle they were forc'd to let alone, becaufe the Scaling-Ladders would not reach to the top of the Walls, which were twenty eight Foot high : But Houte-been coming afthore, rais'd a Battery behind the Church, from whence he fir'd with fix Demi-Cannons, and threw fixty five Granado's amongtt the Befieged, twenty whereof burtt with fuch violence, that all things about them were beaten to pieces; and thofe in Garrifon march'd out, notwithftanding they might eafily have endur'd a long Siege, having ewenty Brafs, and fixteen Iron Guns, befides all manner of Ammunition. Houte.been thus become Mafter of all things on the Ifland of St. Thomas, fent for the fled Portuguefes into the 'City on realonable Proffers, embrac'd by many of the Inhabitants and Ne. gro's. But whileft Houte-been put all things in good order here, the Countrey Difeafe antly againft their Enemies, were now put into their Graves; in fhore, of a thoufand Men, a hundred were fcarce left in health,the reft being departed, or lying Bedrid : the unwholfom Air without any difference infected both great and fmall; for the Cominanders Mafrnaker, Valett, Dammert, Claudius, Teer, Tack, and the chief inthis Expedition, Houte-been, were all taken off, and Interr'd in the chief Church of Pavoafa, after the finifhing of fo much bloody Work. Mof complain'd of intolerable Head-ache, even to Diftraction, orhers alfo of horrible Gripings; and all thofe who were afflicted either of thefe two ways, moft certainly dy'd in four days time. The occafion of this deadly Diftemper was by divers, according to their difo ferent Judgments, imputed to feveral Accidents; but doubtlefs it was chiefly to be afcrib'd to the poyfonous Damps or Fogs, which often rife in this Illand, at which times every one us'd to keep clofe in their Huts or Houfes; which the Netherlanders being ignorant of, neglected. above fifty years there, yet notwithftanding the great Gain tempted them to tarry, tught Mills ; that 7 , dred years before, whom though the unwholfom Air deftroy'd, yet the Place was not left defolate; for he fent new Inhabitants, who firf Setled in Guinee, next in Angola, and laftly on the Ifland St. Thomas, that fo they might be the better us'd to the Air ; that the faid King fold all thofe fews for Slaves that refus'd to embrace the Roman Religion, and caus'd their Childien to be Baptiz'd, from whom (coming thither in great numbers) moft of the prefent Inhabitants were defeended.

Twice a year, viz. in March and September, the Sun is in the Zenith here, being right per pendicular, and by that means makes no Shadow at Noon; but the Heat is fomewhat mollifid in thefe two Moneths by the Rains which fall, and in the Sumo mer by a Weft, or South Wind; for there never blow neither Eaft nor Northerly, Winds.

The white People that dwell here have commonly a Feaver every eighth day;
The Defriiprien of the Hand. firft they grow chill, next cold, and at laft very hot, which lafts onely two hours. They commonly Let Blood four times a year to prevent this Diftemper. The $\mathcal{N} e-$ gro's generally attain to a great Age, many times to above a hundred years. The Inland bears the Name of St. Thomas from the Saint on whofe Day the Portuguefe difcover'd the fame. From the middle of it rifes a Hill, overgrown with Trees, and cover'd on the top with Snow, which dropping down into certain Brooks, runs through the Woods, and moiftens the Cane-Fields. The Ground it felf is tough, and Afh-colour'd; in it breed blue Crabs like Moles, which hurt all manner of Roots and Plants. The City of Pavacfa is the Metropolis of the Inland, and a Biflop's See; it lies near a clear and pleafant Brook, and is flank'd on one fide with Hills, fruitful in the production of Sugar-Canes, but partakes of the unwholfom Air of the Ifland, which therefore can fcarce be defended by Netherlanders, becaufe they being unaccuftom'd to the Climate, generally die: Wherefore Grave Maurice.
advis'd the States to people this Place with Malefactors, who might either live here to the Publick good, or die with lefs Difgrace than in a Prifon.

Towards the latter end of the Year 1641 . Lichthart and Coin weigh'd Anchor with The Ciris st. eight great, and fix leffer Ships, and Sail'd to the Ifland of Maragnon; where Coin kenby biom. Landing near the City St. Lodowick, march'd immediately to the Fort, walh'd on both fides with one River, which there divides it felf into two Branches: the Governor of it being too weak to hold out a Storming, fent two eminent Perfons to Coin, with Proffers that they would furrender on reafonable Articles: whereupon Coin granted them their Lives, and free poffeffion of their Goods, and gave leave to the Soldiers to ftay in the City St. Lodowick, provided they had no Arms, till Orders came from Grave Maurice and his Council at Reciffa. The Hollanders entring the Fort found fifty five great Guns, abundance of all manner of Provifions, and left fix hundred Men in Garrifon. But the new King of Porturgal complain'd by his Agent Mendoza to the States of the United Netherlands, concerning the Tranfactions of the Weff-India Company, who had taken the Loando, and the Illes St . Thomas and Maragnan, from him. But he was anfwer'd, That thofe Places were taken either before the ten years Peace was concluded with the Portuguefe, or before the King approv'd of it, or at leaft before it was publifh'd.

Grave Maurice finding that he could not prevail by fair means with the Portuguefe in Brafile, fought to do fomething by force of Arms, becaufe the welfare of the Weft India Company depended folely upon the fortune of War ; his Defign lay towards the South Sea, whither the Ships might the eafier Sail from Brafile through the Straights of Magellan or Le Maire, becaufe in the Summer there blow for the moft part Northern Winds along the Coaft of America. There were likewife many good Conveniences in the Southern Ocean, not onely to furprize the rich Manilha Traders, but alfo to meet. with the Peravian Plate.Fleet; befides which, Enquiries might be made with little Charges, if any Place were fit to Settle on for Trade in the unknown South Land.

This Year 1641. was not onely remarkable for the Portuguefes revolting from Agrea Dea the Spaniards, but alfo for a great Deluge, which did much hurt in Brafile; for the ${ }^{\text {Lige }}$ fin $\mathrm{B}_{\text {re: }}$ Rains fell fo exceeding hard without ceafing, that the fooln Rivers every where overflow'd their Banks and Dams; the Plants were either wafh'd away, or were eaten up by little Worms, which bred as foon as the Water began to fall. Befides this Plague, the Small-pox alfo rag'd amongft the People, of which many dy'd, and others lay lingring a great while. The Sugar-Mills likewife food ftill for want of Negro's, which the Diftemper had for the moft part deftroy'd, and the Su. gar-Canes rotted in the Ground.

Man while Grave Maurice receiv'd news of the Agreement between the King of A peace aPortugal and the States of the United Netherlands, according to which every one was to $\begin{gathered}\text { greed onen the } \\ \text { the } \\ \text { the }\end{gathered}$ keep what they had gotten by the War; Trading was free for all; againft all the thatd and the Cafles and Fortreffes in America, under the King of Spain's Dominion, Hoftility was kngal. to be acted alike by both; the Countrey which lay between the utmoft Borders of the Portuguefe and Netherlanders, were to be divided, that each might know their juft Limits; all manner of Trade to the Spanifh America was forbidden to both; each Owner was to remain in poffeffion of the Goods which he had on the Day when this ten years Peace was proclaim'd.

Grave Maurice feeing he could not get the States Confent to return home, fent there gives his Secretary Tolner to Holland, to inform the Weft-India Company of the Condition of Brafile, and to requeft fuch things as were wanting there: Totner accordingly are fours of the riving in Holland, acquainted them with the Extent of their Dominions in Brafile, firtr. in Bra-which reach'd from Maragnan to the River Real; with the necenfity of keeping the Soldiery undisbanded, in regard the Portuguefe were ready to take all advantages, notwithftanding the Articles of Agreement; with the difcontent of their owri Men, and their readinefs to mutiny upon the report that they were to be Dif. banded; with the great Inconveniences of altering the Government of the WeftIndia Company; with the number of Soldiers wherewith every Place belonging to the Company was at that prefent furnifh'd, which amounted in all to near five thoufand Men; and with the impoffibility of keeping thofe Places, unlefs a feeedy Supply of Men and Provifions were fent.

Grave Maurice receiv'd a Letter from Mafcarenbas, wherein he made great complaint of the Neetberlanders Actions on Loando, St. Thomas; and Maragnan, during the time of the Treaty, and us'd many Arguments for the delivering back of the Pla. ces then taken; but Maurice took little notice of the faid Letter, being bufie about ferling all Affairs in this quiet Juncture of time: He freed all new Planters from the paying of Tenths for feven years, fold feveral Fields to be Cultivated, repaird all decay'd Forts, kept the Catbolicks in ftrict awe, ordain'd good Orders for Schools, Almsshoufes, and payment of Money, and gave particularly Liberty to the Portuguefe both in Spiritual and Temporal Affairs.
The Fort Cal. varia taken by the $M a-$ ragnans and others.

In the mean time fad news was brought, viz. That the Maragnans, affifted by the Portuguefes and Brafilians, had taken the Fort of Calvaria near the River Tapicuru, deftroy'd all thofe that were in Garrifon, and Storm'd the City Lodowick: Where upon Hinderfon was difpatch'd thither immediately with three hundred Netberlanders, and two hundred Brafilians from Siara; which the Enemy hearing, though there were feven hundred Portuguefes, and three thoufand Brafilians, left the Ifland Maragian, and went over to the Main Continent.

The occafion of this Plot was imputed to the fault of the fottifh Governor of St. Lodowick, and his Secretary William Negenton, who by their Folly and Mifgovernment provok'd the Natives to Rebellion.

In the interim Grave Maurice had a Defign upon the City Buenos Aires in the Southern parts of Brafile, near the River La Plata, where a Way leads by Land to Peru; and whither the Silver and Negro's were often brought, efpecially when any Ships were fufpected to block up the Channel of Panama.

Whileft Maurice was preparing for this Expedition, news was brought that two Ships had Landed their Men on the Illand St. Thomas, under the Command of Laurence Pirez, who haddriven the Netberland Garrifon out of Pavaofa, and Befieg'd the Fort, out of which many for want of Water ran to the Enemy; and it was fear ${ }^{\prime}$ d that the fame Misfortune would fuddenly befall the City Loando and Seregippe del Rey; which prevented Henrick Bower's Expedition to Chili, and Lichthart's to Buenos Aires, and fo alarm'd Grave Maurice, that he thought it expedient to give fpeedy notice thereof, to warn the Netherlanders on Angola, that they fhould keep frict Watches, and beware of the treacherous Portuguefe, who affirm'd, That it was lawful for them during the ten years Peace, to reatake thofe Places which had been taken from them during the Treaty of Peace in the Hague.

Thefe Proceedings forc'd Grave Maurice to Difarm moft of them; and becaufe the Negro's did much mifchief from the Palmares, efpecially to the Husbandmen in the Alagoas, Maurice gave order to deftroy their Habitations. The Palmares were two Villages, built along the River Gungobuby under clofe Woods, fix Leagues North wardly from Parayba: The Inhabitants of them, being then about fix thoufand in number, were moft of them fled Negro's, who gathering together in a Head, deftroy'd all the Countrey thereabouts: They dwelt in Huts of Boughs and Straw interwoven ; behind which were Gardens and Orchards of Palm-Trees, and conform'd to the Religion and Government of the Portuguefe.

Whileft three hundred Mufquetteers, a hundred Mameluks, and feven hundred Grave man-
 King of Congo, who brought as a Prefent to Grave Mawrice, two hundred Negro's, a a thening of Golden Collar and Pot, befides many Negro's for the Weff-India Company. Thefe Dune of and Agents defir'd Aid againft the Duke of Sonho, who treacheroully Ploted to drive the King out of Congo; which Plot was difcover'd by fcatter'd Letters, Sign'd by the Governors and Bifhop at Loando, a little before Loando was taken by the Hollanders. Maurice courteoufly Entertaining the Agents, proffer'd himfelf to be a Mediator to decide the Difference, and gave them a long Velvet Coat Lac'd with Gold and Silver Lace, a Silk Coat and Scarf, and a Beaver Hat with a Golden Edging.

Not long after there came Agents from Sonlo, to befeech Grave. Maurice that he would not affitt the King of Congo; one of whom went to the Hague, and was fol. low'd by two from the King of Congo, who open'd their Letters before the Prince of Orange.

The cwo Agents from Congo were ftrong and black Men, very active, and having $\frac{\text { The Agens }}{\text { from }}$ Congo, grim Countenances; they Danc'd after a ftrange manner; and fhowing the Picture menal kind of of their King fitting in great State, acted the Poftures in which his Nobles and other Subjects fhew'd him Reverence : their Strength was fuch, that they were able with eafe to carry each of them two hundred thirty five Pound weight: their Ornamentals confifted of Elephants Tails.

In Loando the Governor for the Dutch, nam'd Cornelis Nievpland, and the Portuguefe Governor Peter Cafar de Menefes, came to this Agreement, That fince the ten years Peace was concluded on between the Portuguefe and Netberlanders, Menefes fhould poffefs the Countrey wafh'd by the River Bengo, and call in the ancient Natives to live and Trade as formerly; all which was faithfully perform'd: nay, Menefes furnifh'd Nienoland with as much Meal as he requir'd, towards the maintaining of a thoufand Negro's, whom he had bought; and the Hollanders and Portuguefes began now to be every day more and more friendly and familiar with each other, when on a fudden Nieroland not onely remembring what was done lately on the Iflands Maragnan and St. Thomas, but alfo ftirr'd up by other later Actions, which gave him occafion of jealoufie, fent two hundred Mufquetteers in the Night from Loando, to take the Governor Menefes, with fome others, who he fear'd might make an Infurrection. The Soldiers accordingly about Day-break fell unawares upon the fleeping Portuguefes, kill'd forty of them, and carry'd Menefes and many other Per. fons of Quality away Prifoners, together with a Booty valu'd at above ten thoufand Ducats, and fent a hundred and fixty Portuguefes in an old leaky Veffel to St. Salvador; but they being tofs'd to and again at Sea for a confiderable time, eight of them dy'd, the reft almoft ftarv'd, Landed on Pernambuco; where Simon Alvares de la Denbo being amaz'd to fee his Countrey-men thus hardly dealt with, complain'd of Nienoland, Mols, and Croß, who were the chief of Loando, that they had broke the Laws, and the fworn Articles of Peace; urging that it would be very unjuft that the poor Portuguefes fhould nor have Satisfaction for the Wrong which they had fuftain'd, as allo for the lofs.of their Goods. To which Grave Maurice anfwer'd, "That Loando belong'd to the Weff-India Company, and that for his part he had no. "thing to do with that City, but that if the States were accquainted therewith, "they would without doubr be highly concern'd at it.

Chrifopher Santches, a free Negro, gave information of the fad Condition of the Illand St. Thomas, viz. That the greateft part of the Hellanders that had been left upon that Illand being dead, Pirez hereupon with the King's Confent fitted out two Ships, and fetting Sail from Lisbon about the beginning of July 1642. firft refus'd to pay the ufual Cuftom at the Ifland St. Thomas, afterwards fell upon the Holldnders, whom he Befieg'd in the Cafte, and againft the Law of Arms poyfon'd all the Waters.

To prevent the future Inconveniences that were likely to arife from a Famine which about this time afflieted the whole Countrey of Brafile, Grave Maurice judg'd it convenient to fell the Lands in the Alagoas to new Planters; to which purpofe. Henrick Moucheron was chofen Overfeer, to take care that all the Fields about Porto Calvo, and along the River Francifco, as alfo in the Alagoas, fhould be Sow'n with Bread=Corn.

Grave Maurice takes his feveral Governors in Brafile:

Grave Maurice obtaining leave at laft to go home, took Leave by Letters of the Governors of Serinbain, Porto Calvo, Ignarazua, Itamaraca, Parayba, Rio Grande; and in Perfon of the Council at Reciffa, who all thank'd him for his prudent Government, manifefting their hearty forrow for his departure, Which without doubt would produce many Inconveniences. But though the Council of the Weformdia Company had order'd him to return home about the beginning of March 1643. Yet he went not fo foon, becaufe he was to reduce the number of Militia to eighteen Companies, and allo to the fettle Revenues, and difpofe of Offices, in which be found much trou. ble ; wherefore before his departure he wrote to the States of the United $N$ etherlands, affuring them how impoffible it was to defend $\operatorname{Brafile}$, which extended fome hundreds of Leagues, with fo fmall a number of Men, fince the Portuguefe cover'd inward malice under a feigned fhew of kindnefs, and at the fame time watch'd all opportunities to drive the Netherlanders from their Plantations, being very much exafperated by the priviledge of Religion granted to the Jews, whileft their Monks and Jefuits were banifh'd. Moreover, in regard they ow'd the Weft India Company above fifty nine Tuns of Gold, they fought to cancel that Obligation, by making themfelves Mafters of whatfoever their Creditors had in Brafile, fo that there was no way but to keep them under by force of Arms.

| Covernment | and reutins home. Brafile Grave Maurice had fent this Letter to Holland, he left the Government of with to the chief Council, the Militia to Henrick Hoes, Captain of his Life-guard, good Directions for Governing after his departure. Having fetled all things in where Jer, he went from Maurice-ftadt through ara go awe fanduy fent him three of his Sons, with twenty Tapuyans, defiring him not to themfely two of them with Ceveral Carapates and Waypebarans, (a People who made him on the twentieth of May 1644.

The Fleer, confifting of thirteen Ships, and Mann'd with fourteen hundred Men of all forts, was laden with fo many Merchandizes as were valu'd at twenty fix Tuns of Gold; with which Grave Maurice arriving at the Texel, Landed at the Helder, and gave an Account of his Government in Brafile, and of the then prefent ftate of that part of it which belong'd to the Weft-India Company. of the Soldiers in Garrifon reduc'd to fixteen hundred; fome Forts lay without a Man in them, whileft the King of Portugal watch'd for fuch an opportunity; for he feem'd to be as much concern'd for that Countrey, as for his Kingdom of Portugal, and the rather, becaule his Predeceffor Sebaftim receiv'd above forty hundred thoufand Ducats yearly out of the fame, befides the Prefents and other Gains made by the Portugure; , wherefore he gave order to the Governor of St. Salvador to be very vigilant, and affur'd him, that in a thort time he would fend him both Men and Provifions. A Mulatto call'd Fobn Fernandes. Viera, did not a little affift the Portu- virasis Tr.aguefe in their Defign; for he having liv'd a confiderable time in a Councellors Houfe in Reciffa, had narrowly obferv'd all Paffages, and infinuated himfelf into feveral Statefmens Affairs, by Prefenting them now and then with fome Rarities, infomuch that he came in time to Farm the Rents which the Weft-India Company res ceiv'd from the Sugar-Mills; but at length being difoontented becaufe the Council would not make any abatement upon the fame, when he complain'd that he loft by Farming the fore-mention'd Tax, he held private Correfpondence with Andreas Vidal, that when a convenient opportunity prefented it felf for the Portuguefe to fall on the Hollanders, he might be affifting; to which end he had gotten feveral Arms and Ammunition together.

In this Plot a Jew nam'd Mofes Accoignes, living in Viera's Houfe, a League from Reciffa, to keep himfrom Arrefts, was perfwaded to joyn, which he feemingly pro. mis'd to do; but went away by Day-break, and difcover'd the Defign to the PrivyCouncil, who being rock'd afleep by the Portuguefes fair Pretences, gave no credit to the Relation.

For the better carrying on of this Defign, Cavalcantelca, Provoft-Marfhal in Maurice-ftadt made a great Wedding for his Daughter in Viera's Houfe, to which th chiefeft Perfons of Quality, both of the Portuguefe, and alfo all the Privy-Councellors and Military Officers belonging to the Weft-India Company were invited: and the Plot was fo contriv'd, that whileft they were all at Dinner, the Portuguefe were fuddenly to fall upon the Neetherlanders and kill them, both Servants and Mafters; this done, fome were to go to Reciffa or Maurice.fadt, with news that the Wedding People were coming; whereupon part were to prefs into the City, others to keep the Gates, till all their Forces were come thither, which then might eafily fecure and feize upon the Magazine: fome Barques alfo under pretence of loading Sugar, were in the mean time to fet upon the Haven and Fort near the Shore. All things were accordingly prepar'd for the Wedding, nothing being wanting that could be purchas'd with Money; and near the Forss of Rio Grande and Parayba were Stage-plays to be Acted in publick, it being concluded that the Soldiers in Garrifon would certainly be there to fee them; the Actors being privately Arm'd with Piftol's and Ponyards. And to oblige one another the more for the carrying on of this bloody Defign, Viera had caus'd the chief Confpirators to take an Oath before the high Altar. The ewenty fourth of fune 1645 . was the Day on which this Tragedy was to be acted ; but a few days before two Portuguefes and five fews, who had been fworn Confederates, their Confciences checking them for fo villanous an Undertaking, made an ingenuous Difcovery of the Plot. The Councellor Moucheron fonf of firzurs was alfo inform'd, chat the Portuguefe Colonel Camaron and Diezwere coming with great Forces from St. Salvador.

The Council when they might eafily have apprehended Viera, fent for him by a Fewn call'd Abrabam Coing, under pretence of Treating about fome Bufinefs concerne ing the Weft-India Company; he promis'd to come in the Evening, but fufpecting virarais inhe was betray'd, fled into the Woods, and gave fpeedy notice to all his Accom- to he Wood, plices, who follow'd him in great numbers. The Soldiers fent to fearch Viera's Houfe, found none but old Men and Children.

The Councellor Vain Houten went immediately with feven Sugar-Veffels to $P_{d-}$ rayba, fortifid the Forts Margareta, Reftringa, and Antonio, and made room for the Brafilians that had remov'd thither from their Villages, in the Houfes deferted by the Portuguefe in Frederick-ftadt. On the other fide, Amador da Rouge, one of the Confpirators, went with a Company from Poiouca through the Countrey, kill'd feven Dutch Seamen, with three fews, and erected Gibbets, on which he threatned to hang all thofe who did not take up Arms for the King of Portugal. Colonel Hous in. form'd hereof march'd with five hundred Men to Poiuca to meet the Portuguefe, who were featter'd up and down the neighboring Woods. He alfo publifh'd an Edict, in which every one was Licens'd to return to their Habitations, with promife of pardon for their Rebellion, if they would take the Oath of Allegiance anew, onely Tiera, Cavalcantelca, and Da Rouge, were excluded, and nine thoufand Guilders promis'd to thole that brought them dead or alive, which made two hundred Inha. bitants in Reciffa march into the Countrey under the Command of Captain Blar, to find the fore-mention'd Traitors; and at laft joyning with Hous, they purfu'd the fled Portuguefe.

In the mean time the Council fent the Captains Vander Voort and Hoogengraet, to Hoogenfraet fent to Treat with Antonio Silva, is pried by bimt deliver up the Fort St. Auguftime. Antonio Silva, Governor of St. Salvador, to acquaint him with the treacherous Infurrection of the Portuguefe, and of Camaron and Diez coming from St. Salvador to their affiftance, urging, that thefe treacherous Proceedings and breach of Oath, could not but redound to the difhonor of the Crown of Portugal. Whereto Silva anfwer'd, "That Camaron and Diez were not under any Obligation of Oath, but " that he would check the Infurrection in Pernambuco, and take care that the Au" thors thereof fhould make Satisfaction to the Weft-India Company. Notwith. ftanding which fair Pretences, he fo wrought with Hoogenftraet, that after a private Conference between them it was agreed, that for a certain fum of Money he fhould furrender him the Promontory of St. Augufine, of which he was Governor; but at his Return to Reciffa being made chief Commander of the Caftle there, and being jealous what might follow his private Treating with Silva, he declar'd to the Council, that Silva had defir'd him to furrender the Fort St. Augufine, which he had granted, for no other end, but to catch the falfe Portuguefe in their own Nets, and to trapan all fuch as fhould be fent to take poffeffion of it; and that if the Council had any fufpicion of him, they might make ufe of his Service in fome other place.

About this time a hundred and fifty Tapuyans, led by a German Soldier call facob Rabbi, Sallying out of their Woods, fell upon the great Village Conyabou, under the Jurifdiction of Rio Grande, broke into the Church, murder'd all the Portuguefe, and eating their raw Flefh, demolifh'd the Place.

Hous alfo unfortunately Storm'd the Mountain Santantan, where the Enemy lay Intrench'd, being forc'd to Retreat with the lofs of above a hundred Men, amongft whom was Captain Lo.

Grave Mau: vice his fately lifh'd.

The Privy Council caus'd a part of Maurice-fadt to be pull'd down, as allo the ftately Palace Freyburgh, for which the Jezos proffer'd Graveivaurice 6000 l. together with the ftately Garden, which were thought to exceed the famous Gardens in Theffalia; but on the other fide they kept Men at work Night and Day in repairing the decay'd Caftle at Reciffa.

About the fame time the Admiral Salvador Correo de Bonavides, brought thirty four great Sail of Ships to an Anchor before Reciffa, the Gallion which he Commanded carrying fixty Brafs Guns. The Admiral Lichthart ran to meet him with five Veffels, and fent him word, that if he fell down to Leeward, fince he was got to the Windward, he fhould foon find, that five Ships durf Engage with a Fleet fix times as ftrong. Whereupon Bonavides fent two Meffengers to Licbthart to tell him, that he came as a Friend to damp the Portuguefe Infurrection in Pernambuco ; to which purpofe he had already Landed fome Companies at Tamandera. Lichthart fend. ing the two Meffengers to the Council at Reciffa, they fent two of their own Members to Bonavides, defiring to know of him what call'd him thither with io great a Fleet, and without giving the leaft notice, contrary to the concluded Peace of ten years?

Whileft the two Commiffioners went with the foremention'd Orders to the Portuguefe Fleet, a Netherland Veffel endeavor'd, notwithftanding the Wind was contrary, to get out to Lichtbart's affiftance; which Bonavides obferving, ftood away Northerly before the Wind : but Lichtbart overtook a Ketch belonging to the Portuguefe Fleet.

Mean while the Portuguefe upon Land being two thoufand ftrong, under the setimbain tai Command of Vidal, Diez, Camaron, and Acoignes, Storm'd the Fort Serinbain, where and oforess the French Captain Montagne could make but little refiftance, not having above forty Men, and being unprovided of Ammunition and Provifion; yet he refifted nine days, and at laft got two Barques to convey him to Reciffa.

Soon after this the Portuguefe Fleet falling out amongtt themfelves, Bonavides Steer'd back for Lisbon with a few Ships, the reft coming to an Anchor again near Reciffa; where the Seamen whom Lichthart had taken inform'd him, that their Fleet came the firft time to Reciffa for no other end, but to Rir up the Portuguefe by their their Prefence to take up Arms, according to a private Contract, having to that purpofe Landed twelve hundred Men at Tamandera, befides the Army led by Camaron and Diez from St. Salvador to Pernambuco.

Colonel Hous about thistime being fent for back to Reciffa, and ftaying with five hundred Men for Captain Blaek's coming, who was fent to fetch all the Portus guefe Women within three Leagues about Reciffa, was fet upon in the Night by Vidal with two thoufand Portuguefes; the Braflians, who were above half his Forces, flying into the Woods, leaving onely two hundred Netherlanders to fight with Vidal, by whom being fo much over-power'd, they were forc'd to fubmit to his mercy, and fuffer themfelves to be all carry'd Prifoners to St. Salvador.
By this time at Reciffa all things were in a confufion, the Pits digg'd about Maurice-ftadt afforded nothing but brackifh Water, which occafion'd Sicknefs.
Vidal encourag'd by his Victory, march'd to St. Auguftine, where without doubt he had ftopt, if Hoogenfrcet, who had the chief Command of the Fort, had not been Difloyal; for this Traitor thought it not enough to furrender this invincible Fort to the Enemy, but alfo bereav'd Reciffa of Provifions and Ammunition, which he did very fubtilly, fending earneftly thither for Souldiers, Bullets, Powder and Shor, in lieu whereof he fent thither two Barques full of old Men, Women and Chilo dren, that fo he might deprive Reciffa of fout Men, and fupply their room with unable People. For this treacherous and villanous Act the Portuguefe were to give him 1800 l. and make him a-Colonel: Moreover, all the Soldiers in Garrifon, confifting of three hundred Men, receiv'd ${ }_{3}$ l. a Man, and were fent to joyn with a. Regiment of fix hundred and fifty Men, over which Hoogenftraet was made chief Commander.

Lichthart
gains a noble the Portuguefe Fleet,

The day before this eminent Cafle was to be deliver'd up to the Enemy, Admiral Lichthart obtain'd a brave Viftory at Sea; for the Portuguefe Fleet (confifting of feventeen Sail, the reft being gone with Bonavides to Portugal) anchoring before Tamandera, were valiantly fet upon by Lichthart, who Engag'd with them on the ninth of September 1645 . with the Utrecht, being the Admiral Ship, the Zealand, Ter Veer, Over-Y Yel, the Pinks Salt-Land and Leyden, a Dogger and three Barques. In the Hole of the Haven Tamandera three Portuouefe Carvels kept Watch, and near a Battery full of Guns lay three Barques, and the other Ships a little farther nigh the Shore. The Enemy at firt fhot very fiercely from the Battery, whileft the Ships drove to the Shore, and the Men leaping overboard fwam afhore, onely the Admiral Feronymo Serao de Payva made fome refiftarice, but at laft furrendred up his Ship, the Netberlanders in their Barques killing above feven hundred Portuguefes in the Water. Lichthart burnt the whole Fleet, except the Admiral and Vice-Admiral, which he carry'd to Reciffa.

But this Victory was not comparable to the Lofs which the EafteIndia Company fuftain'd by the felling of the Promontory of St. Augufine, and the taking of the Forts Porto Calvo and Rio Erancifco; to the laft whereof the Barques coming too late to carry the Soldiers off, they were all made Prifoners by the Portuguefe, as allo the Planters, in all to the number of five hundred.

Vidal marching to Tamarica; Storm'd Schuppen'fadt, but found fuch refiftance from George Garfman (who fupply'd the Prifoner Hous his Place) that he lofo three huno anaba, who immediarely without any farther Examination, caus'd Bouilloux that proffer'd the Money to be put to death.

A Dutch Sergeant in Olinda dealt very treacheroully; for he fold the Fort to a Porth-

Portuguefe Enfign for 100 l. and alfo moft bafely betray'd all his Soldiers Lives to the mercilefs Enemy.

By thefe means Reciffa was round about in jeopardy, as alfo within; for the great The direref. Thirft of the Inhabitants under a fcorching Climate, augmented by the Hollanders on of Reidifo. falt Meat, could not be quench'd with brackifh Water, for frefh was not to be had; Famine allo increas'd daily, infomuch that the Poor threatned to fall upon the Rich, which made the Magiftrates go Arm'd from Houfe to Houfe, to enquire what Store every one had, which being writ down was carry'd away and put into the Store-houfes, where each receiv'd alike fhare, without refpect of Perfons. Fewel alfo grew very fearce, which made many eat their Meat raw, or half drefs'd. In the interim every one that was able; was forc'd to work at the Forts of Reciffa, which were beaten down by the Rains; and the Soldiers continually alarm'd by the Enemy, were forc'd to be Night and Day up in Arms. The People dy'd more and more daily, when two Fly-Roats arriv'd there with Provifions, and News, that a Fleet was coming to their affifance.

The Captains Rbynbag and Montagne went in the Night, each with a Company, to fall upon the Enemy, who being two thoufand five hundred frong, drove them back, and purfu'd them within thot of the Afogados, where forty Portuguefes were kill'd.

About the fame time a Terra Neuf Sailor, laden with the dry'd Fifh Bocraillo, came to Reciffa.

In Parayba three hundred Netherlanders Sallying out of the Forts, fell fo valiantly upon nine hundred Portuguefes, that they forc'd them to flye, not without a confiderable lofs. After which a Party of Brafilians furpris'd eighty Portuguefes, as they were at Maßß in Andreas Diez de la Figuereda's Sugar-Mills, where they fpar'd none but Figuereda's Daughter, whofe Beauty fo charm'd them, that they comforted her mourning for her Father's Death, and deliver'd her undefil'd to the Governor of Parayba.

Vidal raging for madnefs becaufe now and then fome of his Prifoners efcap'd, Thbe barbaz , caus'd feveral of them to be cruelly murder'd, tying fome of them Back to Back, and. of Widhle then cutting them in pieces; others he threw with Stones ty'd about their Necks into the Rivers; others he ty'd by their Privities, and hung them upon Trees; and alfo knock'd out the Brains of others.

In Reciffa the Soldiers, confifting of divers Nations, began likewife to mutiny, at The Soldiersers crying, They fhould be all. farv'd; and faying, They bad better be fain in the Field fighting munn for againft the Enemy, than die of Hunger in the City. They alfo complain'd, The Commif- virion. fioners themfelves betray Brafile ; and threatned by force to fetch the Provifions out of the publick Stores, faying, They bad long enough endur'd Thirft and Hunger.

Thefe Tranfactions in Brafile were very ill refented in Holland, the common People in the Hague being ready to pull down the Portuguefe Ambaffador's Houfe, in revenge of the Cruelties exercis'd upon the Netberlanders in Brafile, had they not been hindred by the Prudence of Prince Henrick. The Ambaffador pretending to be ignorant of the fore-mention'd Paffages, proffer'd to make what Satisfaction the West-India Company fhould require. But the States not fatisfi'd with Excules, when the Actions plainly manifefted what their Intentions were, Complain'd to the French King of the unthankful and malicious Dealings of the Portuguefe Crown; and meeting but with fmall Redrefs, they prepar'd to right themfelves by force of $\mathrm{f}_{\text {fnen }}^{A \text { nem } b \text { thee }}$ th Arms, and to that end rais'd feveral Regiments of Land-Soldiers, befides Seamen, ${ }^{\text {Staterfs }}$ Sitio to fend to Brafile. The Fleet defign'd thither, confifting of twenty two Sail, after ithad been frozen up before Flughing three Moneth's, fee Sail at laft in the beginning of February, Anno 1646. with the Lord Scbonenburgh, a Member of the States, the Councellor Goch, and Treafurer Beazmond, Men very well experienc'd in Governing of Countreys: To thefe were added the eminent Merchants of Amferdam, Haeks and Trovire, to keep the Weft-India Companies Accounts, and Le Heremiet for their Secretary. Sigifmond Schuppe bore the chief Command over the Militia, and the Admiral Bankert over the Fleet, which fuffer'd the greateft hardfhip imaginable; for being driven by tempeftuous Winds into the Downs, two of them driving from their Anchors were caft away on the Flats. The Fleet getting out again, was once more foīc'd by a Storm to put in at the Ifle of Wight; from whence by reafon of continual Gufts they could not ftir in nine Weeks time. During this tedious waiting for a fair Wind, the Brafile Frigat, valu'd at 20000 \% was Pplit in pieces againft a Rock of the Inand, and of three hundred Men thirty onely were fav'd. A Pink, which came in two Moneths from Reciffa, brought alfo fad tydings to the Fleet, viz. That the Town was in fuch a Condition, that without doubt the Fleet would come too late to their affiftance: whereupon they making the more hafte, endea= vor'd, not without great trouble, to weigh Anchor again, whileft the Wind rofe higher and higher, and the Waves going very hollow, drove the Ships down towards Portland Coaft, full of Rocks, to which they were fo near, that they faw a Scotche man fplit in pieces againft them; and had not the Wind come about, and abated of its fury, the Fleet had undoubtedly perifh'd. No fooner was this Danger paft, but another fucceeded; for the Soldiers in the Admirals Ship complaining of the fmall allowance they had of Cheefe, Brandy, and Tobacco, had made themfelves Mafters of the Store-room, and threatned to kill the Lords Goch and Beaumond; but they, affifted with Men from the other Ships, who came in at the Cabbin Windows, fo order'd the Mutineers, that they ask'd forgivenefs, which for many Reafons was granted, onely they were diftributed by feven in a Ship throughout the whole Fleet. After a great Conteft between Goch and Beaumond about carrying the Flag, which could not be decided, Goch was left by the reft of the Fleet, who Steer'd another Courfe, and getting near the Line, lay becalm'd fix days; in which time he loft very many of his Men by a ftrange kind of Scorbute, which rag'd amongft them; at laft Sailing along the Promontory of St. Augufine, he came to an Anchor before Reciffa, which he found in the greateft Exigency imaginable, infomuch that it was refolv'd upon, the next day to furrender the Place up to the Porturuefe, on promife of Quarter onely : which Refolucion none oppos'd more than the fews; for the Portuguefe fwore that they would burn them alive, if ever they became Mafters of Reciffa, which made them refolve to die with the Sword in their Hands, and fell their Lives at a dear rate. Six Wecks after Gochs Arrival, the remaining part of the Fleet, efcaping many dreadful Storms, in which, befides the two that were loft in the Downs, they loft five Ships and five hundred Men, arriv'd alio at Reciffa; where the Commiffioners appointed Officers to diftribute to every one their certain allow. ance of Victuals. The prime Councellor Schonenburgh allio decided the Difference between Beaumond and Goch, as alfo between Haeks and Trovire, about their Places in the Affembly, viz. that they fhould fit above one another by Turns. The old Governors, Hamel, Baßi, and 'Bullefraet, were blam'd by every one for the decay of Brafile; and being fent to Holland, were receiv'd with frowning Looks, and rail'd againft in Pamphlets as faithlefs Perfons, who fought nothing but their own advantage, and were threatned to be call'd to an Account. It was alfo laid to their charge, that they had not given a true Account of the State and Condition of Brafle; that the State was much more decay'd than they had made known, by which means the prefent Power prov'd too weak to do any thing to the Enemy.

Amongtt other Misfortunes which befell the WefteIndia Company, the Revolt of Ganpmaz the Tapur)ans and other Braflians was not e leaft, which bapned upon the occation imid bid du. of Garftman's putting to Deach of Facob Rabbi, a German, and indeed their chief Ringleader in all Robberies and Villanies; but Dary their then King alledging that Rabbi was wrongfully Executed by Garftman, and that his Tryal belong'd to him as King, profecuted Garftman fo vigoroully, that he and his Enfign facob Boulan, his Acceffory in the Faet, had their Goods and Salary confifcated, and they themfelves were fent home in difgrace.

Mean while the Council feeing that there was not much good to be done by force of Arms, endeavor'd by mild ways to invite the revolted Portuguefes, who were all promis'd Pardon for their Infurrection in an Edict which was publifh'd in all places, onely Viera, Almado, De Rouche, Antonio Calvantelca, and Floogenftratt, for whom great fums of Money were offer'd, were excepted. The Portuguefe on the contrary publifh'd, That they would receive all thofe Netberlanders into favor that would come over to them, and pay the Debts which they ow'd to the Weft-India Company, and alfo Tranfport them whither they pleas'd. Thefe Promifes, writ. ten in Englijh, Dutch, French, and Portuguefe, and hung every where on the Boughs of Trees, and other publick Places, operated much more than the Privy=Councils Edicts; for in ftead of one Porturuefe that came to them, feveral ran to the Portuguefe from Reciffa, notwithftanding a ftrict Guard was kept to prevent them, befides the great mortality amongt the Soldiers and Inhabitants through feveral raging Diftempers, and want of frefh Provifions: Which general Calamity, it feems, very much cow'd the Spirits of thofe that were left; for in a Sally meeting with five hundred Portuguefes, notwithftanding they were equal in number, yet they made a fhameful Retreat; yea, though Scbuppe came with eight hundred Men to their affis ftance, yet he could not prevail with them to face about either by fair meàns or foul, for with his owriand he Ran-through an Enfign, Sergeant, and two Soldiers; who ran away firf. Yet notwithftanding this bafe and cowardly Retreat; it was refolv'd on to fet upon Olinda and the Promontory St. Auguftine; and at the fame time Hinderfons was fent to make himfelf Mafter of Rio Francijco with fifteen huno dred Men, and to harrafe all the Countrey thereabouts with Fire and Sword, that fo he might force the Portuguefe to leave Reciffa.
Ti: Though'Fobn Dary, King of the Tapuans, feem'd well enough contented with the punifhment of Garffinan, yet a great Party of his Subjects were not fatisfid, but went and joyn'd with the Portuguefe, Becaufe Garftman had not been deliver'd to them in Siara, where they kill'd all the Netherlanders they could meet with, and fent Prefents to their King Dary, if poffible, to oblige him to joyn with the Portuguefe: But he reply'd, That be bad more reafon to punifh them for their ill ufage of the Inbabitants in Siara, than to bave any thing to do with the Portuguefe.

The Council inform'd hereof, fent the Interpreter Ralph Baron, who had a long time Convers'd with the Tapuyans, with a Prefent of Axes, Knives, Looking:glaffes, Shirts, Combs, and the like Trifles, to King Dary, defiring him to continue his former kindnefs towards the Hollanders; which Dary promis'd, provided he might re. ceive Affifance from Reciffa againft thofe whom he had made his Enemies for the Netberlanders: fake; which Baron promis'd fhould be done as foon as the frefl Forces which were daily-expected from the Texel, Maes, and Zealand, came to Brafile. Hinderfon Landing at Rio Grande, took the Fort without firing a Gun, the Portuo guefe at his firlt coming flying into the Woods. He found here abundance of Cattel; for no place in the World breeds more than this, Ceveral Husbandmen having fifteen thoufand Head of Beafts, of which many were taken to fupply the want of Provi.
fions at Reciffa. As foon as he had taken the Fort, he caus'd it to be pull'd down to the Ground, becaufe it ftood in an inconvenient place, and immediately rais'd another, which was much better to be defended, by reafon of the rifing Ground; but he could neither bring that Work, nor any other Defign to any perfection, be-. caufe of the treachery of his Soldiers, who being moft of them Roman-Catholicks, were fo inclin'd to the Portuguefe Intereft, that they daily more and more deferted the Companies Service, and gave Intelligence to the Enemy of their Tranfactions. Amongt others, an Antwerper was apprehended for an Intelligencer, and being Hang'd on'a Gibbet, fell three times one after another on his Feer, the Halter break. ing like a burnt Thred, which gave him fo many times of refie and opportunity of fupplicating for Life; but his Crime was too hainous to admit of Pardon. Mean while the fled Portuguefes being fupply'd with frefh Supplies from all Places, efpecially from St. Salvador, to the number of twelve hundred Men, they kill'd the Out-watches, confifting of twenty Men : The next Sentinel being warn'd by the noife, alarm'd the new Fort, which was fcarce finifh'd, becaufe a mighty Shower of $\underset{\substack{\text { Capt. Mon. } \\ \text { hage o orer- }}}{\text { Rain had wafh'd away the Walls. Hinderfon being wounded in the Leg, Jent Cap. }}$ power'd by Phe Enemy, and Alin. tain Montagne againft the Enemy, of whofe Power he was fenfible; yet going to the place where the Watch that was kill'd had kept their Station, he met with two hundred Portuguefes, divided into three Companies, and drawn out for Battel, who running a way were purfu'd by Montagne, till coming up to their Regiment, which confifted in all of a thoufand Men, divided into five Companies, they fell on all fides upon Montagne, who fighting valiantly, was overpower'd and kill'd, with three hundred of his Men, and almoft as many more taken Prifoners; amongit whom was the Minifter Affette, four hundred onely efcaping into the Fort, where Hinderfon ftay'd expecting the event of Montagne's Exploits.

This Defeat fpoil'd Schuppe's Defign, who by his marching to Rio Francijco thought to draw the Enemy from Reciffa; but now being forc'd to think of fome other way, he thought it convenient to invade St. Salvador by Sea, as the Enemy had done Reciffa by Land. Wherefore Hinderfon receiv'd order to ftay with fix hundred Men (being all that were left of fifteen hundred,) on Rio Grande, whither a Barque with Provifions being fent, was taken, and the Men in cool Blood kill'd by, the Portuguefe.

At the fame time it was given out, that Schuppe was going with the Admiral Bankert to Hinderfon's affiftance; and to delude the Portuguefe the more, Schuppe went with two thoufand five hundred Men to Rio Francifco, where he lay fome days at an Anchor; upon which the Governor of St. Salvador fending feveral Companies thither, Schuppe Sail'd with all feeed to St. Salvador, and Landing on the Ifland $^{\text {a }}$ Taperica, four Leagues in circumference, he got a rich Booty, and fpar'd none whome're he met with, infomuch that two thoufand were deffroy'd, fome by the Sword upon the place, others by their hafte to get over to St . Salvador; for moft of the Veffels being too full, funk with them. Amongft the Prifoners that were taken and Cent to Reciffa, were two Monks, who were defign'd the fame Entertainment as the Minifter Afette flould receive in St. Salvador; whereupon they immediately wrote to their Fraternity, to take care that Afette fhould not be burnt alive, as the Portuguefe had threatned, becaufe they were to expeat the fame ulage : whereupon Affette was fet at liberty, and had leave to walk up and down the Streets of St. Salvador. Scbuppe fortifid himfelf on Taperica, near an Inlet under the new Works, and together with Lichthart watch'd for all Portgguefe Veffels: But Licbthart dying here, was carry'd to Reciffa, and chere bury'd. On the other fide, the Governor of St. Salvador fent fifteen hundred Men in the Night to the other fide of Taperica, where with all fpeed they Intrench'd themfelves, and Sally'd daily out of their Works upon Schuppe, fo that many Men were loft on both fides; but Schuppe was in the worft Condition, in regard his Soldiers ran over in great numbers to St. Salvador, wherecthey were well Entertain'd; of which he advertis'd the Privy-Council, who were the lefs able to give him Redrefs, as having the fame caufe of Complaint.

Amongft others there hapned a fad Accident of a young Soldier, fcarce fixteen Apititul Ex. years old, and born at Roan, who having robb'd his Father's Cafh, went in a Ship ample of $\begin{gathered}\text { yonin Solic } \\ \text { cors Excuic }\end{gathered}$ to Holland; where he lavifhly fpending the Money, was forc'd at laft to Lift hime trion felf in the WefteIndia Companies Service, and coming with the fore-mention'd Fleet to Reciffa, endeavor'd with two Companies to run to the Portuguefe; but overtaken, was Try'd for the Fact, and Condemn'd to be Hang'd, for none of his Excufes which he made, of going over the River onely to fetch fome Oranges and Lemmons to refrefh himfelf, would fave him, nor his protefting that he had no inten. tion of going to the Enemy, nor the Promife that his Father fhould releafe him for ten thoufand Crowns, nor his Minority, which ought chiefly to have been confio der'd, but that Neceffity ftopt the Ears of the Compaffionate ; fo that his Execution drew pity from the Beholders a few Weeks after.

A very aftonifhing Paffage hapned at Reciffa upon another Sentence of Death A nonble pronounc'd againft a Portuguefe, who after the publication of the AEt of Pardon $\begin{gathered}\text { perfagg of, } \\ \text { exxrubed } \\ \text { excelf for }\end{gathered}$ came to Reciffa, and there hir'd a Seaman for two hundred Crowns, to carry a trearon. Letter, made up in a Leaden Box, to the Governor of the Promontory of St. Au guffine, with order that if he was fet upon any where, he fhould throw the Box into the Water. The Letter written in ftrange Characters, contain'd a Declaration of the fmall number of Men in Reciffa, moft of the Netberlanders Forces lying on the Inand Taperica, fo that if Reciffa were Storm'd along the Bank, and from Mauriced ftadt, it mighteafily be taken. This Letter being intercepted, the Portuguefe was taken and Condemn'd, and as he was carrying to the Place of Execution cry'd aloud, You People take delight in my Death, but yoa fhall be interrupted; and indeed it hapried act cordingly: for when the Executioner began to fcorch the half-Atrangled Criminal with Seraw, there Sprung up a ftrange Spirit of Contention amongft the Spectators, who began to juftle and ftrike one another ; and foon after a Whirlwind rofe in the midft of the Market-place, which in a moment caus'd them all to ftagger like drunken People, their Hats and Caps were blown up into the Air, the whole multitude tumbling confufedly on the Ground, the Arm'd Soldiers flying to the next Houles, and the Executioner falling down in a Trance from the Scaffold: A fuil quarter of an hour this Confufion had lafted, when the People came to them: felves again, and the Hangman return'd to his Bufinefs, cutting off the Portuguefe's Nofe, Ears, Privy-Members, and tearing out his Heart, which he threw to two Dogs, who devour'd the fame ; then dividing the Body into Quarters, which were fet up at the four Corners of the City for an Example.

The fame Punifhment receiv'd a Mulatto, who endeavor'd to fire two of the Hollanders beft Ships in the Haven.

Notwithftanding thefe Punifhments, the Soldiers ran away daily; the blame whereof might juftly be laid on the Magiftrates, who took no notice of the Soldiers juft Complaints of their Officers, cheating them of a third part of their Provifion, and inflicting fevere Punifhments upon them as Mutineers, when they had real caufe of Complaint.

Schuppe was at the fame time fhrewdly put to it for want of Men, who either dy'd of the then reigning Difeafe, or ran away to the Enemy; fo that he was for. ced to leave the Illand Taperica, and inclofe himfelf within his new rais'd Sconce.

the Portugufo Fleet. The Admiral Bankert had better fucceis; for Cruifing up and down before the Inlet Todos los Sanctos, after the taking and finking of feveral Ships as they came in his way, he at laft fet upon the Portuguefe Fleet, confifting of feven great. Ships, of which one got to St. Salvador, a nother was funk, and the other five were taken, being valu'd at twenty Tuns of Gold, or 200000 1. Sterl. In this Engagement were kill'd above four hundred Portuguefes, befides two hundred and fifty who were taken Prifoners, and fent Shackled to Reciffa. Amongt them was the new ViceRoy of Brafile, the Admiral, Vice Admiral, three Monks, and feveral other Perfons of note.

Marfaral
Hous antives at Reciffa

This Victory began to give fome Breath to Reciffa, when at the fame time MarThal Hous arriv'd there with feven Ships, Mann'd with five hundred Soldiers. This Hous on the feventeenth of Auguft, Anno 1645 . had been taken Prifoner at the Engenho, having fought fo long till all his Powder was fpent, fo that he was forc'd to furrender himfelf upon promife of Quarter to Vidal, who after he had taken an Oath upon the Bible, to Spare the Lives of all the Hollanders and Brafilians, fell upon the Braflians and flew them, being a hundred in all, in Cold-blood, who yet fold their Lives at no eafie rate. Being carry'd Prifoner, together with Captain Briftow, Liftry, Wilddcluut, Blar, and two hundred more, by Viera to Cafa de Prugar, he was thence fent to Portugal, where being releas'd, be brought News to the States of the mean Condition of the Weff-India Company, and that all things muft needs be loft, if they did not fpeedily take the Bufinefs into Confideration: Whereupon he was furnifh'd with a Supply of Ships and Men, with which he fet Sail for Brafile; where being arriv'd, moft part of the Soldiers he brought with him were Tranfported to Taperica, to affift Schuppe; who as foon as they came to him, march'd into the Countrey; where being fer upon by a thoufand Portuguefes, he loft fixty Men. Soon after Hoogenfraet recciving Orders from the Governor of St. Salvador, who was inform'd by fome Prifoners, that Scbuppe had not above twelve hundred fighting Men, to fall upon him with three thoufand, made a furions Affault upon the Sconce in two places, and Storming the fame for two hours together, loft four hundred Men, which made him draw off a little before Day-break.

In the interim nine Privateers, fitted out by Ceveral Merchants of Holland and Zealand, came to Cruife up and down before the Coaft of Brafile; which the States the rather allow'd of, becaufe the Weft-India Company was not able to fend any more Supplies thither: Nor was it long ere they took five Portuguefe Prizes, and afterwards (joyning with Bankert) four more laden full of Sugar, in the Haven To. dos los Sanctos, where they threw a hundred and twenty Poriuguefe; and fifty revolted Hollanders overboard.

Reciffa being at that time reduc'd to very great flraits, earneftly implor'd Aid from the States, but to little purpofe, by reafon of the Differences amongit them. felves, which hapned upon this occation: The Spanifh King by his Agent in the Hague made Overtures of Peace, and proffer'd to fall upon the Portuguefe in Brafile: to which Propofition, whenas the reft of the States feem'd inclinable, thofe of Zealand would no ways hearken, being refolv'd to have nothing to do with Spain. The The Courcil news of this Diffention exceedingly perplex'd the Council at Reciffa, efpecially of Rene fijfar when to that news was added, that Bankert, the onely terror to the Enemy at Sea, $\begin{gathered}\text {, mererenperefrn } \\ \text { the fand condid }\end{gathered}$ forbad. Whereupon they thought fit to fend one of their Affembly to the Hague, to make the States acquainted with the miferable Condition of Brafle, and to Expoftulate with them for their infenfibility of their Condition, and to lee them under. ftand, that ten thoufand Men would not reftore Brafile to its former Condition: Every one frove to be the Meffenger of thefe fad tydings, but efpecially their Prefident Schonenbergl, wifh'd it might be his lot to leave the unhappy Countrey of Brafile; but becaufe his departure would not have been without great murmuring of the People, Haeks was fent in his ftead. Together with him went Hinderfon (who was in no cfteem fince the Deftruction on Rio Grande; ) they both Embarqu'd on Bankert's Ship and five others, which in ftead of being laden with rich Commodities, and ballafted with Sugar, as heretofore, were fraught with difcontented Sea, men, decrepid and fick Soldiérs, unferviceable Jews, poor Travellers, Portuguefe, Prifoners, and onely ten Weeks Provifions; whereas all other Veffels at their Re. turn from Brafile us'd to have Provifion for three Moneths, which at this time could not be fpar'd. The Council alfo made Orders what Perfons thould go with the fore-mention'd Ships, viz. None but thofe whofe Names were written in the Lifts which had ftuck fix Weeks at every Church Door, that by that meansno Creditor might fuffer by his Debtors going away, nor any Criminal efcape his deferved punifhment. Bankert had fcarce been a Week at Sea, when he dy'd of the Palfie: : Bnkeris he was a Man, who for his valiant Exploits was from a Fore-maft Man preferr'd Deatarand. to be Captain; which Office he perform'd with great Prudence and Valor : but that which firf made him moft eminently taken notice of, was his Engaging with thirteen Dunkirkers, of which he funk three, and being boarded by three more, and fir'd at by the reft, the refus'd to furrender his Ship on promife of Quarter, but plac'd his eldeft Son with a lighted Match in the Powder-room, commanding him on pain of Death to blow up the Ship with the three Dunkirkers as foon as he gave the Word ; which valorous Refolution fo amaz'd the Enemy, that they let him go. He alfo behav'd himfelf bravely in the Dorons againft the Spanifh Admiral Oquendo. His two Sons that were prefent when he gaye up the Ghoft, would not have his Body thrown overboard,' notwithftanding it ftunk fo intolerably, that all the Pro. vifions in the Ship were tainted by it; therefore taking out his Entrails, they Salted the Body, wrapt it up in four Sail-cloths, and nailing the fame up in a pitchy

Cheft, bury'd it under the Ballaft. Mean while the Fleet approaching the Flemmifh Inles, was furpris'd by a terrible Storm, in which the Vice-Admiral's old Ship fplitafunder, but mof of the People were fav'd. Between Calice and Dover they mee with eight Ofenders, againft whom they made themfelves ready to Fight; but they, according to the King of Spain's Order, inftead of Hoftility fhew'd them Friendfhip. All their Provifions were fpent, when they happily Anchor'd before Flufhing, where Bankert's. Body was Interr'd with great Solemnity.

In the interim the United. Netherlands had fitted out another Fleet to affitt Reciffa, the Weft-India Company having firft demanded of the King of Portugal two hundred and eighty Tuns of Gold, to the value of which they affirm'd themfelves to have been damag'd by the Infurrection of the Portuguefe. On the other fide, the King of Portugal was in a quandary about the Bufinefs of Brafile; for firft, he hiad no other thoughts but that Brafile would have fall'n into his hands within the face of three Moneths, becaufe the Plot there was fo fubtilly laid; neither did tre think the States would have concern'd themfelves with the Weft-India Companies Bufinefs, which now it was manifeft they did. Befides this, there was a third Inconvenience, viz. that PVerures of Peace from the Portuguefo refus'd by the $2 \mathrm{~V}_{6}$ therlands. the French Ambaffador to make very advantageous Proffers in his behalf, viz. That he would furrender all the conquer'd Places, and make good all the Damages that had been fuftain'd thereby. The Fleet appointed to go to Brafile was hereupon ftopr, till the States had Confulted about an Anfwer on the fore-mention'd Propofitions; but when Haeks brought news of the falfhood of the Portuguefe, the Scale was immediately turn'd, infomuch that the Portuguefe Ambaffador went in danger of his Life, till the Mutineers were put into Cuftody. Moreover the Fleet was order'd to Sail with all fpeed poffible to Reciffa, with promife that another Fleet fhould foon follow with fix thoufand Men ; but the many difconfolate tydings that had been brought of late, of the hardfhips and fufferings of thofe that went before, through the unwholfomnefs of the Climate, the want of Provifions, the Strength and Cruelty of the Enemy, made the Seamen and Soldiers very unwilling to go fo fatal a Voyage, infomuch that as many as could, made their efcape : yet at laft, on the laft day of December, Anno 1647. the Fleet fet Sail under the Command of Cornelifzoon de Wit ; fome Weeks before which Schuppe was forc'd to defert the Ifland Taperica, to go and aid Reciffa, which the Portugueje from a rais'd Battery on the other fide of the River Biberibi fhot at fo inceffantly, that none were fafe either in their Houfes or in the Streets.

Mean while the Portuguefe Agent, Francifco de Soufa Continho, proffer'd the States to go to Brafile himfelf, and caufe to be reftor'd all thofe Places which had been taken from the WeSt-India Company, particularly the City St. Salvador and Tercera, be. fides Reparation for all other Damages.
Grisue Man: At the fame time Grave Maurice was Treated with to go to Brafile again, but his rice his high Demands. Demands were fo high, that it came to nothing; for he requir'd 4000 l . yearly to fpend at his Table, and $5000^{\circ} l$. befides during his Life; alfo $2000 l$. to fet him our, and twelve thoufand Men to Befiege St. Salvador, which was always guarded by four thoufand, and thirty Carvels lay ready before Lisbon to carry four thoufand more thither.
Angola and foremention'd Fleet had not its wifh'd fuccefs, moft of the Men being deftroy'd by the immoderate Heat of the Climate, Angola and Loanido were alfo taken by the Portuguefe.

Thefe Misfortunes made the Weff-India Company begin to be very forward to come to a Treaty with the Portuguefe Agent, who before feem'd rather to court them, having offer'd to Engage for the reftoration of whatever they poffefs'd at that time, when the ten years Peace was concluded; but when they came to infift upon that Point, he anfwer'd, That he muft expect new Orders from Lisbon concerning Leando, becaufe the taking of that Place caus'd an alteration in the flate of Affairs. But the States no way fatisff'd with Delays, that were like to prove both hurtful and difgraceful, refolv'd to put into Execution what they had before agreed upon, viz. The Eaforndia Company was impower'd to make Prize of all Portuguefe Ships towards the payment of the fifteen Tuns of Gold ordain'd for the WeftoIndia Company, to help them againft the Portuguefe Oppreffion. The Weft-India Company alfo receiv'd Commiffions to Cruife for Portuguefe Veffels before Brafile.
On the feventeenth of February, Anno 1649. three thoufand Soldiers that came over in the fore-mention'd Fleet, befides two hundred Negro's, and as many Seamen, marching to Befiege Gararapes under the Command of Schuppe and Coche, were fo furioufly fet upon by the Sallying Enemy, that they were forc'd to break up the Siege in great diforder, whileft the Portuguefe being in number two thoufand five hundred; fell upon the Rere; and though the Dutch Officers us'd all the care they could poffible to bring their Men to face about, yet they were not able to keep them from running away; in which flight great flaughter of them was made by the Portuguefe Horfe, confifting of a hundred and thirty, Arm'd with Lances, infomuch that in the flight and the purfuit, a thoufand Netberlanders were flain, and nineteen Enfigns or Colours were left behind as Trophies for the Portuguefe; the chief of the Slain wete Colonel Brink and Hozteryve.

The Zealanders were much concern'd at the improfperous Affairs of Brafle, in regard a fifth part of the Weftrindia Companies Stock belong'd to Middleburg, Flughing, and Veer, infomuch that the Complaints of Widows and Orphans that fhar'd in the common lofs, mov'd the States to fit out fix great Ships, and as many Ketches, Mann'd with two thoufand eight hundred Men, for Brafile, where all things ran to ruine, the Grandees both of the Council, Army, and Fleet, being at variance, and impeaching one another.

The reft of the Provinces, efpecially Friefland, being lefs inclin'd to the Weft-India Company, were fomewhat colder in the purfuit of this Bufinefs; neverthelefs, upon a frefh Letter of Complaint from Walter Schonenbergh, Prefident of the Brafilian Council, they held a Confultation together, how to raife Moneys for the fitting out of twenty Ships and five Ketches for the Relief of Brafle.
The Admiral De Wit returning home, was, upon the accufation of the Council in Brafle, and the General, Sigifmond Schuppe, made Prifoner in the Hague; and to* gether with him the other five Captains that went with him were Committed by the Admiralty, for returning without the Confent of the Council; but they were foon releas'd by the Magiftrates of Amjerdam, who upon the Admiralties refufing to deliver them, commanded their Provoft-Marfhal to break open their Prifon Doors. De Wit after his Releafement juftifid what he had done before a full Afo De mi rofembly of the States, and alledg'd that it was according to the Orders he receiv'd $\begin{gathered}\text { dersid from } \\ \text { fres his } \\ \text { fis } \\ \text { jhee } \\ \text { Red }\end{gathered}$ when he undertook this Expedition.

The Portuguefe Agent, Soufa Macede, obtaining Audience of the States, told them how ready the King his Mafter had been to come to a perfect Agreement of Peace with them, but that their own Acts of Hoftility had been the occafion of the breacht of that Treaty of Peace that had been concluded on ; that the Robberies and Infor lencies committed by thofe Portuguefes under their Jurifdiction, was not any way authoris'd authoris'd or countenanc'd by him; laftly, he offer'd them free Trade to Brafile, eighty Tun of Gold to the Weft-India Company, 8000001 . to the Orphans and Wi, dows in Zealand, and payment of all private Debts. But making no mention of reftoring the Places in Drafile, he feem'd to mock the States; who refented it fo much, that they would admit of no farther Conference with him.

Mean while the WefteIndia Companies Bufinefs in Brafile went daily more and more to ruine, infomuch that in the Year 1654, they lof all their Forts and Places of Strength and Habitation, and amongtt them Reciffa, the chief Refidence of the War.

Council of Brafile, who returning home, brought nothing but a doleful Relation of their unfortunate Proceedings. Scbuppe, Haeks, and Scbonenbergh, made each of them a long Oration, fetting forth the fad Condition of the Place, and the Miferies they had endur'd a long time before they left it; alfo excufing their total quitting thereof to the Enemy by the great want of Provifions and other Supplies, which they fo often had written for in vain, at leaft receiv'd fhort of what their Neceffities requir'd, and by the Clamours of the Soldiers, who were ready upon all occafions to Mutiny or Revolt, as appear'd by their crying out upon the difcovery of a Fleet of Portuguefe upon the Coaft, Bebold our Deliverers from the Netherlanders Tyranny; laftly, by the growing Power of their Enemies, which they could not have refifted, though they themfelves had been much ftronger than they were.

But the Weft-India Company fenfibly touch'd at the thoughts of their Loffes, were not fatisfid with the Relation of Schonenbergh, Haeks, and Scbuppe, but requir'd a Journal of every days Tranfaidions, or Teftimonies to confirm the truth of their Relation: They alfo demanded an Account of the Condition of the Store-houfes when Reciffa was furrendred, and fell upon them with feveral Interrogatories, viz. Why the Fort Afogados was forfaken? Why the Garrifons were not drawn in from the North to Reciffa? Why they did not keep footing on the Land, and guard thore Places they had left when Reciffa was loft? Why they made fuch ado for want of Provifions and Ammunition to difhearten the People? Why the Money proffer'd by feveral Citizens was not taken? Why they did not burn the Enemy's Fleet, fince, according to the opinion of feveral, it might eafily have been done? How they could teftifie the Sedition of the Soldiers, fince none of their Commanders complain'd of it? Whether they us'd any Means to encourage the Befieged? Who did, and who did not confent to the Surrender? Whether no better Terms could have been made ? In fine, they prevail'd with the States to fecure Schonenbergh, Haaks, and Schuppe, in their Houfes, and on the ninth of September, Anno 1654. brought them before a Council of War in the Hague, where the chief things objected againft them were, That the Portuguefe had gotten by the Conqueft of Reciffa, above two hundred Brafs Guns, moft of them Demi.Culverins, and four hundred Iron Guns, valu'd together at ten hundred thoufand Rixdollars; That the Store-houfes were fufficiently fock'd with Provifion and Ammunition; That they took care to fecure their own Goods, but left what belong'd to the Weft.India Company as a Prey to the Enemy.
Their pleas: Schuppe on his part alledg'd, that he could do nothing of himfelf, as being under the Command of the Brajlian Council. Haeks and Sclionenbergh pleaded the want of Men, by reafon of the many that daily dropt from them, either by Death or Defection, to the Enemy, and thofe that remain'd, unfafe to be trufted, as confifting of fo many different Nations; allo their being block'd up at the Sea by the Portuguefe Fleet, the great want of Ammunition, efpecially Inftruments of Fortifis cation; lafly, the head.ftrong Refolutions of the Soldiers, to deliver up the Place, whatever their Officers fhould determine to the contrary; notwithftanding which, to fhew that it was not quitted upon difadvantageous terms, they produc'd the Arricles of Agreement upon which it was furrendred to Francifoo, Governor of Periambuco. In conclufion, the Council of War pafs'd their Sentence on Schuppe, sthaper con- demod ara viz. That he fhould lofe all the Sallary that was due to him from the Weft-India Company fince the twenty fixth of January 1654 . when he Sign'd the Agreement with Baretto for the delivering up of Reciffa.

Thus the Portuguefe recover'd full and abfolute poffeffion of Brafile, yet notwith. out fear of an afterclap of War'; wherefore the Portuguefe Agent, upon condition of an abfolute Peace to be concluded, proffer'd the States General in the Hague, Satisfa= Etion for the Damages which the Weft-India Company had fuftain'd in Brafile, eighty Tun of Gold, a free Trade to Brafile, and payment of the Debts due to them from feveral Portuguefes in $\mathfrak{B r a f i l e}$; but told them, that to furrender them any Places there, was not in the power of the Portuguefe Crown. On the other fide, the Spao niard proffer'd to affift them in the total Conqueft of Brafile, and to reftore them thofe Places they formerly poffefs'd, as foon as they had fubdu'd the Portuguefe; to which the Zealanders began to hearken, who being great Lofers by the Portuguefes Treachery, wifh'd for nothing more than Revenge; but Holland having a great Trade to Portugal, was more inclin'd to Peace: Whereupon His Majefty of great Britain proffer'd himfelf to be Mediator berween the Portuguefe Crown and the United Netherlands; and accordingly on the fixth of Auguff, Anno 1661. a Peace was concluded with Portugal on thefe Terms:
I. That Portugal was to pay to the United Necherlands eighty Tun of Gold, eitber in ready Money, Sugar, Tobacco, or Salt, or deduct the fame out of the Cuftoms payable in the Portuguefe Harbors.
II. That the Guns on Reciffa were to be reffor'd to the Weft-India Company.
III. That the Salt-Trade at St. Ulves and otber Places under tbe Portuguefe furiddiction, ${ }_{3}$ pbether in Africa or Brafile, ghould be granted to the Netherlands, paying the Cufoms as the Portuguefe do them $\operatorname{selves}$.
IV. That the conquer'd Places gotten on both fides, frould remain in the bands of the prefent Poffeffors.
V. That the King of Portugal 乃ould not lay an Embargo on any Netherland Veljel, on any pretence volaat joever, though they Mould carry all manner of Ammunition to bis Enemies, provided it were not out of any of the Porruguefc Havens.
VI. That no Netherlander fhould ever be call'd before any Judge about any Differencs in Religion, but fhould bave freedom thereof granted bim, eitber in bis Houfe or Ship, and alfo a convenient Burving-place.
VII. That if any Difference fhould chance to arife between Portugal and the Netherlands, they fhould not extend it to prejudice the Trade, but every Merchant Jhould be free to call in bis Debts, and Send Ships witbout binderance.
VIII. That this prefent Agreement fould not be broken by any Mifdemeanors aited by any Subjects, either in the Eaft or Weft. Indies, woho were to be punijb'd by their lawful Judges.
IX. That the Havens belonoing to both Parties weere to be free for either Men of War or Merchant-Men.
X. That the Netherlanders Trading in Portugal, might go Arm'd, take Houfes and Store-boufes.
XI. That the Goods laden in an Enemy's Ship might be declar'd free Prize.
XII. That the Portuguefe in Brafile fhould pay their Debts wobich they ow'd to the WeftIndia Company, or any other Perfon or Perfons; to which purpofe three appointed Commißioners were to Sit at Lisbon, to hear and determine the Caufes that fhould be brought before them, and witbout the afual Circumftances, paß their Sentence, which was to be Executed by a bigher Power.

A few days after this Agreement was concluded, the Portuguefe Ambaffador, Henrico Soufa Tovares, went for Lisbon, where he arriv'd on the laft day of September.

Not onely Guelderland and Zealand, were much diffatisfi'd with this Agreement, but allo Groningen accus'd their Deputy Schulenbergh, that contrary to Orders he had been too forward in concluding the Peace with Portugal, and that he had con. fented to that which the States of Groningen had not permitted him ; for they refolv'd to make Peace on no other account, but that Portugal fhould pay the eighty Tun of Gold in ready Money, and that in a fhort time; whenas on the contrary, he had allow'd of the payment in Merchandife, and that in a long time. Where, fore the States of Groningen (who for this Fact and feveral Acculations brought againft Schulenbergh, condemn'd him to be Beheaded, which Sentence had been Executed upon him; had he not made his Efcape) together with thofe of Omeland, and others, who difapprov'd of the Peace concluded with Portugal, drew up many Rea. fons why they diffented, and look'd upon it as both difhonorable and difadvaneageous; however, the Articles being Sign'd, and the States General, taking into con. fideration how impoffible a Work it would have been to have gone about to rea new-a War with the Portuguefe in Brafile, being at that time in firm pofferfion of all, and that for the Intereft of a few, in refpect of the whole Commonswealth, they were forc'd to refl fatisfi'd, and together with the Weft-India Company, to fit down with the lofs of thofe Places in Brafile, which had coft fo much Blood and Treafure to gain.

Neverthelefs the WefteIndia Company put in a Memorial at the Hague, of all that had been done by them from time totime, wherein they themfelves had been great Sufferers, and the Commonswealth very much advantag'd, as namely, That at firft they put in a Stock of feventy four Tun of Gold, fent out divers Fleets under the Admirals Willekens, Foln Dirk/zoon Lam, Boudewyn, Henritk/zoon, Peter Hein, Adrian Pater, Henrick Lonk, Dirk Uitgeeft, Peter Ita, Loos, Cornelis Houte=been, Licbthart, Bankert, and others, at leveral times, which had much weakned the Spanifh Power, to the great advantage of the United Netherlands, becaufe the Spaniard was not onely forc'd to difperce his Power to defend America, but alfo loft great Riches on the Coaft thereof, which being the Sinews of his War, prevented him from oppreffing that State; That to their lofs they fuffer'd their Forces to ftop the Enemy, when he broke into the Veluroe, at that time when the United Netherlands feem'd to hang by a filken Thred; That it would probably have been the ruine of Holland, if the mighty Spanifh Fleet which Engag'd with Martin Tromp in the Downs, had been affifted by fixty fix Sail, which La Torre was forc'd to fend to the Coaft of Brafile, againft the WeftiIndia Company; That this Companies Concern was fo great a Nurfery of Mariners in the Year 1629 . that they had above a hundred Ships at Sea, and fifteen thou: fand Men in their Service; which the United Netberlands confidering; and judging that Charge too great for the Company to maintain, had refolv'd to contribute a certain Sum towards it yearly, which had not yet been paid; which made them take up Money upon Intereft, and put in a Supply of thirty Tun of Gold for the payment of the fame; That the Expedition of Henrick Brever to Chili had put them very much behind-hand, becaufe the Enemy having notice of ir, fecur'd himfelf, yet was often terrifi'd with it; for Brewer having found out a Way to go from $R_{e}$ ciffa to the Province of Cbili in two Moncths, and accordingly to do great mifchief to the Spanif Power, whofe Riches lay bare all along the South Sea; this and many other things forc'd to make that honorable Peace with the Netberlinds, concluded on in Munfter, Anno 1648 ; That their Loffes, computed and deliver'd in to the States General, amounted to fixty fix Tun of Gold, and forty three thou. fand two hundred and ninety Guilders, which forc'd them to take up Money to pay Intereft for what they had before, yet that they ftill kept fifty great Ships at Sea, and were refolv'd to profecute their Trade with frefl vigor, as foon as Satisfaction fhould be given from the Portuguefe Crown, as was promis'd them in the Articles of Agreement, and they could obtain of their Lordfhips, to have their Patent prolong'd for a confiderable time; That they were fill indebted to thofe Orphans and Widows who furnifh'd them with Money to fet out their Forces, which in the firft twelve years did the Spaniard fo much hure, that the Damage is reckon'd to amount to one thoufand one hundred and eighty Tun of Gold.

Thefe things being taken into confideration by the States General, they granted the Company their Requeft, and gave them a new Patent, by virtue of which they now Trade to Africa and the Caribbee-Iflands, fince they were forc'd to quit all they had poffers'd in Brafile.

The Gourney of Rodulphus Baron, with the Defcription of the Cufoms and Manners of the Tapuyans.

ROdulphus Baron, to make a Difcovery of the Counorey, upon the Encouragement of Grave Maurice, who allowid him to that purpofe a yearly Reve. nue, undertook a remarkable Journey; accompany'd with three Tapryans; who going out of the Village Caneri, without any ftore of Provifions, left the Moun. tains Cupaeva on the right-hand, and went Ceventy Leagues into the Countrey, without meeting with any People, onely he found one Mountain of Foßile Glafs; from whence he went South ward to the Villages of the Waripebares and Caripati, who having courteoufly Entertain'd him, appointed certain Perfons to accompany him from one Village to another, with Orders to Complement Grave Maurice, who fent them home with feveral Gifts.

The Waripebares and Caripati inhabit fourteen Villages on the Mountains which Bound Brafile Weftward, live by Hunting and Fifhing, eat wild Honey and all manner of Fruit, and maintain continual Wars againfta mighty People which in. habit the Weftern Plains.

As for the Tapuyans, they range up and down between the Rivers Grande, Quoau- The curfoms gubo, Ocioro, Upameoma, and Voiroguo, without having any fetled Abodes; they are a ofd mannerts ftrong People, ftern of Countenance, and black Hair'd : In ftead of Circumcifing their Children, they cut them, which is done after this manner: The Priefts ftand on a row, Dancing and Singing, whileft one of them fwings the Child round about his Head before all the Multitude, and then runs away with it ; at laft returning, fers it in his Lap, whileft another Prieft cutting a Hole in the Ears and Lips thereof, puts little Bones into the. Fame, and the Mother cries and howls after a terrible manner. At thefe Ceremonies, which end with Dancing and Singing, their King is always prefent.

The Virgins are kept by their Parents till the Mothers perceive them to have their Monethly Courfes, which they immediatelly reveal to the Priefts, who acquaint the King therewith, before whom the Maid, being Painted red, is brought; whom having fmoak'd with Tobacco, he throws an Arrow at a Garland, which fhe wears on her Head, and if he chances to hit it, he gives her his Benediction, by licking certain parts of her Body, from which the hopes to receive long Life.

So foon as a Woman is gotten with Child by her Husband, fhe lies no more with him, but he is permitted to enjoy his other Wives, whofe number is either more or lefs, according to every ones pleafure. The Women after Delivery eat their After-birth.

Adultery is free for Men, but if Women be taken in the Act, they are immediately put to Death.
After they have done Soweing and Planting, the King calls all his People and Subjects together, and appears to them hung round with Garlands; and all of Strange kind of Prognofication. them have their Bodies Painted and ftuck full of divers colour'd Feathers.

The Priefts when they go about to foretel future Events, either Sing or Pipe, and at the fame time hold up their Heads towardsthe Skif, and fand gazing; as if they faw fome Atrange Vifion in the Air; on fome of their Backs hangs a Bundle of Ofriches Feathers; fome throw Feathers in the Air, to fee which way the Wind blows. When the Waters overflowing Brafile did much harm, Anno 1641. the Priefts being Confulted, brought forth the King's Calabafh, in which lay their fao cred Stones call'd Cobuterak and Tit cheyoub, and began to Dance and Sing; next fix Priefts were plac'd in a row, which were to Prognofticate: whereupon the firft taking up a Stone, faid, The Netherlanders bave given Battel to thoofe in St. Salvador, but are noob about an Agreement: The fecond held up a Bloffom of Indian Whear, and foretold that there would be plenty of that Grain: The third holding a white Pebble-ftone, promis'd fore of Milk: The fourth gralp'd a Stone like Bread, telling them that the Countrey thould produce much Bread: The fifth holding up a Bowe and Arrow hung full of Feathers, cry'd aloud, This is a Gift of the Angels, Birds fhall fie thicker than thefe Feathers bang together: The fixth, having a lump of Wax, foretold that there would be plenty of Honey made by the Bees that year.

They worfhip the Conftellation Urfa Minor. $^{\text {a }}$

They obferve a very ftrange way of Purging; for with a Stick they thruft fharp Leaves down their Throats into their Stomach, which they turn fo long till they vomit Blood.

In the Summer they have a general Meeting for Wreftling, and orther Exercifes, Thair nanwhich lafts three days. The Wreftlers are ftrangely attir'd; for they are all over ning. their Bodies befet with divers forts of Feathers, and in ftead of Boots or Buskins, wearthe Barks of Treesabout their Legs; their Hair befmear'd with Howey, anu ty'd in a Tuft, hangs down behind; on their Crowns they wear a Plume of Feathers, about their Necks a Band or Gorget of Feathers; at their Arms they tie the Wings of the Birds Kobitub, and on their Backs a green Bough; their whole Bodies Painted with divers Colours, and their Hair all Red:- Thus accoutred, they Engage one with another, and if there be an old Grudge beeween them, then they Fight in earneft, and often kill one another : The Viator with ftrange Actions upbraids the Vánquiff'd with Cowardife, and ever after enjoys his Wife and Children.

They eat the Serpent Manuah, being four Yards long, and on the Tail having a Horn, which with a pufh it thrufts into Man or Beaft, as it lights, then winds it felf about the Body, and fucks till it hath fuck'd the laft drop of Blood.

Here are allo Serpents which are fo poyfonous, that the leaft Wound receiv'd by them is mortal, unlefs the part bitten be either immediately cut out, or off.

The Priefts cut the deceafed Bodies into pieces, which are roafted by old Women; the Bones are taken out, and at the next publick Feaft are ftamp'd, mix'd with Water, and Drank: But the Bodies of Noblemen are to be eaten by none but Perfons of that Rank.
They alfo Crown their Kings after a Atrange manner, viz. The Priefts, who are their main: befet with Feathers, anoint him with fweet-fmelling Oyl, or Balfam, and put a ner of crow Crown of divers colour'd Feathers on his Head, after which they all fall a Singing ${ }^{\text {Kings. }}$ and Dancing; but if any one happen to Speak a word of the deceafed King, they all begin to howl and cry. The Kings Authority confifts more in Advifing than Comimanding.

- They believe that the Souls of thofe who die a natural Death are immor-Their opi:? tal ; but thofe that are kill'd by their Enemies, devour'd by ravenous Beafts, or ning the Soult poyfon'd, are totally extinguifh'd both Soul and Body for ever. They fay like. wife that Hell is Weftward near a dark Pool, where the Devil Examines every Soul how they liv'd on Earth, and what Death they dy'd ; the Good are Ferry'd over to a delightful Valley, where there is plenty of Fifh, Honey, and Flefh; but the Wicked are miferably tormented.
The Natives live peaceably amongft themfelves, their Law being for thofe that have not, to ask, and for thofe that have, to give.

They never Travel in the Night for fear of Serpents and other ravenous Bealts, neither do they go any whither till the Sun has dry'd up the Dew.

King $\mathrm{Fand}_{\text {any }}$ before-mention'd, being above a hundred years of age, defir'd the king fankury Prince of fuckers fair Daughter to Wife, but being deny'd, contriv'd a fubtil Plot, ${ }^{\text {Plot. }}$ viz. he invited Jucker, with his Courtiers, to a Wreflling; whither he coming with his whole Train, was earnefly minding the Sport, when a confiderable number of Fanduy's Women falling upon fucker's Men, deftroy'd a great many of them, and got the defir'd Maid for fanduy, who at that time had fourteen Wives and fixty Children, but had formerly enjoy'd fifty Wives and Concubines.

Not onely amongit the Tapuyans, but generally amongtt the reft of the Brafilians, Their Ams. their Arms are great Clubs call'd Tacapes; alfo flarp Darts, and ftrong. Bowes call'd Orapares, with Shields, which are made of the Skin of a Beaft call'd Tapis: roufous.

The Women wear long Chains of Snailefhells, which hang down over their Shoulders; their Faces are Painted with divers colour'd Rings, furrounded with Specks; their Necks and Arms they adorn with Necklaces and Armlets of little Bones: They carry their Husbands Provifions in time of War.

Their Army they order by blowing on the Horn Inubia; others play on Mens Bones kill'd a little before : for going by Water they ufe Boats made of the Barks of Trees, each whereof being able to carry fifty Men, go exceeding fwift: The Atrongeft Men always march before, and as many as they take, whether Men, Wo. men, or Children, they are all kill'd and roafted in their Boucans.

Their Villages confift of Houfes of eighty, ninety, or a hundred Paces long; thofe that lie near the Enemy are fenc'd with Walls and Pallifado's againft any Attempt. Their Field-Battels are very terrible; for as foon as they get fight of one another, they howl like Wolves; which Tone they raife as they approach nearer and nearer, and with their Horns and Pipes make allo a mighty found; then fha. king their former Enemies Teeth (which they wear about their Necks) at one ano. ther, they cry, That they facll immediately fall into each others bands for Food: whereupon they throw their Darts at one another, which are adorn'd with all forts of Feathers, and if any one be wounded, he pulls out the Dart, and bites the fame like a mad Dog; next falling to their Clubs, they knock one anothers Brains out: which manner of Fighting lafts commonly fome hours before the one or other Party leave the Field. All their Prifoners they fatten, and eat them at a Merry-meeting; at which when they have Danc'd feven hours together, three Men lead the Prifoner, ry'd with a Rope made of the Bark of a Tree call'd fuira, through their Village, whileft the Prifoner looking to and again, faith in a fcornful manner thus unto. them, You, do ye hear? I bave eaten your Fathers: and to others, I have roafted your Brosber; your Nephent allo tafted very weell; my Death will be fufficiently reveng'd: Having carry'd him about for fome time, they put the Rope fo Arait about his Middle, that he can neicher fir one way nor other; then they give him Stones in his Hands, and lay others at his Feer, faying, Now take Revenge for your Death. before you die : then he immediately chrows at thofe who are neareft him; and when Stones are wanting, he chirows with Earth : at laft comes the Executioner, adorn'd with Feathers, with a bláck Club in his Hand, and asks, Have not you at Several times eaten of our Relations? to which the Prifoner undauntedly anfwers, Pa che tan tan, ajouca, atoupave, that is, Yes, I am be that bave eaten feveral of jorr People, and laying his Hands lipon his Head, cries out, 0 borb valiantly did I bebave my felf therein! The Exccutioner replies, And therefofore Jhall yous be kill'd by me, and ferve for Food for thefe Spectators: Then the Priforier anfwers again, What care I, fince I know my Death. will be reveng'd: which faid, his Brains are dath'd out, and falling on the Ground, he is carry'd away by his Wife (for the Conqueror commonly betroths his Sifter or Daughter to the Prifoner,) who feemingly bemoans the Body, of which fhe hath the firft Cur when it is Drefs'd; then the old Women put the Corps into fealding Water, in which they let it lie till the Skin comes off; then the Owner of the Prifoner quartering the Body, diftributes it amongft the Guefts ; the pieces laid on their Gridirons call'd Boucans, are turn'd by the old Women, who lick up the Dripping, defiring the By.ftanders to bring mare fuch Food, and with the Blood anoint the Childrens Faces; the Meat being broyl'd every one takes a piece, and eats it up to the Bones, which are kept as Trophies.

The Bräflians do not onely thus plague, one another, but they are likewife tor $=$ Bmofiant my mented by an evil Spirit, which they call Aygnan and Caagerrel, if credit may be gi- ancril spintit ven to Jobn Leerius a Burgundian, who relates, that he hath often feen them fweat out of fear; and ftriking their Hands upon their Thighs, cry out, Mair autouraffap, acequerey, Aygnan atoupave, that is, 0 my Fool, my Companion, I fear the Devil above all Evils.

Amongff feveral Difeafes to which Brafile is fubject, there is one call'd Pians, Difares pebeing as malignant as the Frencb $P O X$, proceeding from libinoufnefs, the whole fulit. Body being full of Carbuncles, each about the bignefs of a Man's Thumb.

Strangers in Brafile are alfo much troubled with a Giddinefs, occafion'd by the extream Cold in the Night; as alfo with with fore Eyes, which they get by going abroad before Sun-rifing, or after Sunsfetting.

The Palfie is alfo very common there, taking People fo fuddenly, that falling down ftiff on the Ground, they are often in danger of lofing their Breath.

Befides thefe there are feveral other Diftempers that very much infeft Brafile, as the Bloody-flux, Dropfie, Rifing of the Gall, Worms, Meazles, and St. Anthony's Fire.

The aged Brafilians have for the moft part great skill in Herbs, which they gai barfitiry, ther in the Woods, and apply them to the Sick both inwardly and outwardly $;$ and chiefly they know how to expel Poyfon: None can perfwade them againft the retampers by Medicines which they have learn'd from their Predeceffors; nay, they will rather thedes in chufe to lofe their Lives than ufe any other : and indeed they do not always fucceed amifs, but often manifeft that they underftand the Vertue of Herbs better than our European Phyficians. The Learned Guilielmus Pifo relates, That he hath feen feveral times in the Army which Grave Maurice fent againft the Portuguefe in Brafile, that the Brajilians in a fhore time cur'd thofe Wounds with frefh Gums and healing Herbs, which the Netherland Chirurgeons judging paft Cure, prefently advis'd the cutting off either the Arm or Leg of the wounded Perfon. Pifo adds moreover, That he himfelf us'd fome of Hippocrates's and Galen's Prefcriptions in Wine, for the curing of Cancers and Swellings, which the Brafilians have made well onely with the Juice of Tobacco. They alfo in a moment recover'd a Perfon given over by all European Phyficians, with the Juice of the Root call'd Jaborandi : wherefore he always de. fir'd their Company when he went to vifit fick or wounded Men.

The Diftempers in America differ much from the European, not onely in the Signs

Their manner of curing the Sick, and bewailing the Dead. of any Diftemper, but alfo in the Cure ; for when a Diftemper cannot be cur'd by the prefrribed Medicines, a Father or Mother fends for the Neighbors, to know if they can find any means to cure the Difeafe : which Cuftom was anciently obferv'd amongft the Greeks. They alfo ftrietly obferve a Rule in their Diet, and take care to keep the Patient out of the Suin in the Day, and cold Winds in the Night: however, if their Fathers and Mothers be fick, neverthelefs they leave not off their ufual Dancing and Singing; but if the fick Perfon die, efpecially a Father, they lament and cry over the Corps like Wolves, calling to one another with a quavering Voice, and uttering thefe Expreffions, The ftrong Man is deceas'd, who carry'd fo many Prifoners for a brave Dinner to bis Houfe. Ob what a quick Hunter and Subtil Fijher bath Death bereav'd us of! we Shall See him no more till our Souls are carry'd be.. yond the bigh Mountains, where our valiant Predeceffors Dance in Rings. The Women make the greatelt noife, and in the midft of their howling embrace one another, which lafts fix hours, and then they put the Body upright into a Grave made like a Hoghead, hanging about it divers colour'd Feathers, and other things in which the Deceafed delighted moft when living; upon the Grave the neareft Relations place Difhes of Meat, borh Flefh and Fifh, and the Liquor Cauou-in, that their evil Spirit call'd Aygnan, may be reconcil'd by thefe Offerings, and not carry away the Body; but when they remove from thence they cover the Grave with the Herb Pindo. This Cuftom is not obferv'd by all Braflians, for fome eat up their decealed Relations.

SEct. XIII.

Grave Maurice bis Account of Brafile, fo far as it concern'd the Weft-India Company.

BRafile, fo far as it concerns the West-India Company, extends from the River Real, which divides Seregippa and the Lordfhip of St. Salvador, to Maragnan: Seregippa it felf reaches along the Sea-Coaft thirty two Leagues, and was firft brought under the King of Spain's Jurifdiction by Cbriftovan de Barros.Cardofo, who being order'd by the King of Spain to Plant this new Countrey, invited many People from St. Salvador, who built four SugarsMills, and a Town confifting of a hundred Houfes, and four hundred Sheds for Cattel; but the Town being de. ftroy'd, hath nothing left but Heaps of Rubbifh; and the Cattel either fell into the Netherlanders hands, or were devour'd by Tygers; the Inhabitants fled back to St. Salvador: Many troubles have prevented the resbuilding of it.

Pernambuco may for its fruitfulnefs ftand in competition with any Place in the World, except in thofe parts where the Soil is fandy and fonie. The Fields feed abundance of excellent Cattel; the Woods, Deer and Fowl; the Ocean and Rivers, all manner of good Fifh. It is inhabited but eight Leagues into the Countrey, becaule the nearer the Sea, the more convenient it is for Importing and Exporting of Goods; neither could the Portuguefe, by reafon of their fmall number, fpread themfelves farther, as alfo in regard they found great refiftance from the Brafilians. The Negro's that work in the Sugar-Mills between the River Grande and Francifco, amount to four thoufand. The Cape Verde, Mina, Angola, Ardra, and Calabaria, generally provide three thoufand in a year, to fupply the number of the Sick, or thofe that run away.

The Councellor Duffen's Relation of fo mucb of Brafile as concerns the Weft-India Company.

THat part of Brafile which the Weft-India Company have fubdu'd by force of Arms on the Continent of America, is divided into fix Counties; viz. Sere. gippa, Pernambuco, Itamarica, Parayba, Rio Grande, and Siara.
The Expedition undertaken by Gyjeling and Schuppe made Serigippa defolate, the Inhabitanits wheof remov'd to the Coaft Todos los Santlos.

Alfo Siara, which the Portuguefe formerly poffefs'd, was thinly inhabited, and had'a mean Fortrefs there, whither fome few Brafilians came now and then to the Netherlanders affiftance.

Pernamibuco, lying between the Rivers Francifco and Tamarica, excells the other Countrey in fruitfulnefs and pleafantnefs. The Brafilians compare it to a hollow Rock, under which frefh Water flows.

Moreover, Pernambuco hath feveral Havens, viz. the outermoft Road before Reo Havens or ciffa, which being in the open Sea, is fomewhat dangerous, but the innermoft is fecure againft all Storms; alfo at the Promontory St. Auguftine, where the Mouth of the Haven is narrow and dangerous, by reafon of the Rocks and fhallow Grounds; the Ifland Alexio is very fit to Crain Ships in; Barra Grande hath a large and fafe Inlet, convenient for all manner of Veffels, yet it is inferior to Cororipa; laftly, the Havens faragod and Eranco are very eminent.
Amongtt the Rivers, the chief are fangades, Serinbain, Formofa, Porto Calvo, Camas Rivess rigibi, Antonio, Michael, and Francijco.

Pernambuco alfo is divided into fix Jurifdictions; the firft and moft ancient is Igarazu; the fecond and biggeft, Olinda; the third, Serinbain; the fourth, Porto Calvo; the fifth, the Alagoas; and the fixth, Rio Francifoo, which is the Boundary of Pernambuco on the South.

Pernambuco alfo boafts five Towns, viz. Garafu, Olinda, Maurice-fadt, to which toms of alfo belongs Reciffa, Bella Pojuca, and Formofa. The Villages Moribeca, St. Laurence, Fentambucoo: Antonio, Amaro, and others are alfo not inferior to little Towns.

The Countrey is for the moft part Hilly, but is exceeding fruifful in the Valleys, and near the Rivers, efpecially in Sugar-Canes.

Here are alfo a hundred and twenty Sugar. Mills, of which a great number ftand ftill for want of Negros.

Next Pernambuco lies Tamarica, which hath onely one Hayen, one City; and twenty three Sugar-Mills, of which thirty are onely employ'd. This Inland pro= duces excellent Grapes ánd Melons, yet is for the moft part barren, by reafon of the Pifmires.

The Countrey Parayba hath its Denomination from the River which waftecth it, being deep, and without any Rocks or Sands; on the Banks thereof ftand twenty Sugar-Mills, two of which are ftill ftanding.

In the Lordfhip of Rio Grande ftands the Town Puntael, whofe Buildings were ruin'd in the Wars ; after which the Inhabitants had leave to build them another City on a fruitful Soil.

The Countrey hereabouts us'd formerly to be very full of Cattel, but was not onely bereav'd thereof by the Hollanders and Portuguefe; bur alfo for the moft part made defolate.

The River which wafhes the Caftle Ceulen, affords a convenient and fafe Harbor for all forts of Veffels.

This Lordmip of Rio Grande boafts onely two Sugar-Mills, of which one is de. cay'd; fo that in all thofe Parts in Brafile which belong to the WeffeIndia Company, are a hundred and fixty Sugare Mills conftantly employ'd, befides forty fix which are about repairing. 'It is fearce to be reckon'd how much Sugar they make yearly, in regard, through the alterations of the annual Seafons, as allo the more or lefs fruitful Fields, they produce one year, and in one place, more than in another.

The Inhabitants are of two forts, viz. free People, and Slaves; the Slaves are African Negro's, and the others, Netherlanders, Portuguefes, or Braflians; which laft came in of their own accords, or elfe were abfolv'd from their Oaths, and acquitted from their Martial Offices; yet are ready to venture their Lives and Eftates, and to Serve either on Foot or Horfeback for their Freedom againft their Enemies. Thofe that went from the Netherlands to Brafile on their own Accounts, drive a Trade, or Serve the Traders, or elfe keep Inns, and follow Handicraft Faculties; fome of which, when grown rich, buy Parts in Sugar=Mills; others live on Tilling: by all which feveral forts of People Reciffa is very well inhabited, and full of Houfes, which yield great Rents, and are held at high Prices: wherefore Grave Maurice thought good to mark out piéces of Ground on the Ille Antonio Vaes, which were fold for a confiderable Sum of Money, infomuch that in a flort time a new City call'd Maurice=ftadt was built on the fame, and inclos'd within ftrong Bulwarks; yea, notwithftanding the Rumor of a great Spanifh Fleet in fome meafure abated the Courage of the Builders, yet the City was extended down to the Fort Frederick Henrick, and a brave Bridge laid over the Stream Biberibi, crofs which they go from. Reciffa to Antonio Vaes, where no People were in greater efteem than Handicraftso men, who could get their ten or twelve Shillings a day. The Labor which is requir'd in the Sugar=Mills, no Men are able to undergo but the Negro's. Of the Portuguefe fome have liv'd here a confiderable time; others lately came hither, being moft of them fenos, of whom there live a great many at Reciffa, and are very dili= gent in promoting of Trade : They poffefs feveral Sugar-Mills, and are kept vèry much under; their whole ftudy and contrivance is for Gain ; they conceal their Hatred againft the C.brifians, as alfo their Covetoufnefs, yet are mortal Enemies to the Hollanders. The Brafilians, who are the ancient Inhabitants, live a part from other People in their Villages, confifting of long Straw Huts, forty or fifty of them under one Roof fleeping on woven Hammocks; they efteem no Houfhold-ftuff but Nets and Calabajbes, ufing the firft to fifh with, and the other to drink out of; about their Huts they plant Mandiboka and Brafile Trees; when they are not employ.d in the Wars, they fpend moft of their time in Hunting, but many in Idlenefs; they efteem wild Fruits better than thofe which are Planted; they Drink night and day, making their Liquor of the chew'd Root Mandiboka, or the Apples Tajovis; they efteem nothing fo much as ftrong Drink, and to wear Linnen next their Skins; they would not value Money, could they but get Brandy and Spanijh Wine without it ; if they are not promis'd a Reward, they will not work. Each Village, nay Houfe, hath its peculiar Governor ; but befides him there is a Hollander, who ftirs up the Idle to work, and takes care that the Owners of the Sugar-Mills do them no injury : They never fuffer themfelves to be Hir'd for above twenty days, at the end whereof they demand their Wages; they are commonly employ'd to chop Wood to boyl the Sugar with; but by reafon of the fcarcity of Negros, they are often made ufe of for other Bufinefs, which to avoid they hide themfelves; as alfo when they are to go to Fight ; they are hard to be kept in Ranks, for they will run out of their own Fyle into another on the leaft occafion; but if they put their Enemy to flight, they purfue him; and fare none alive. They little regard the Cbriftian Religion, yet fome of them have learn'd the Lord'sePrajer and the Creed of the Roman'Priefts. The Minifter Davil having learn'd the Brafilian Tongue, Converted very many of them, and Baptiz'd them in their Villages.

The Brafilian Women and Children ufually go to Wars with their Husbands and Fathers.

The Brafilian Slaves were fome years fince bought of the Tapuyans, or made Slaves, becaufe they affifted Bouderbyn Henrick $/$ zoon, when he Landed in the Inlet Trao lufon; but they have fince obtain'd their Freedom of the Portuguefe. The Angolan Slaves can undergo greater Labor than any other.

The Brafile Wood grows generally ten or twelve Leagues up in the Countrey from the Sea, not in particular Woods, but amongft other Trees.

The $\mathbb{N}$ Eegro's, when the Sugar-Mills work not, are employ'd in pulling off the white Bark, three Fingers thick, from the Tree, which bears dark-green Leaves, fmall and prickly at the ends, and hanging on thin Stalks, but bearing neither Bloffoms nor Fruit.

Ofnabrig Linnen is highly efteem'd amonglt the Brafilians, as alfo colour'd Wax, Copper, Tin, Wine, Beer, Butter, Cheefe, Meal, Stock-fifh, Pork, Hung-beef, and Gammons of Bacon.

The Papifs Teach and obferve their Religion in publick, their Spiritual Men being divided into Priefts and Monks; the Monks confift of Francifcans, Carmelites, and Benedictines; the Francifcans being the moft eminent, poffefs fix fair Cloyfters, befides which they have neither Land nor other Revenues, but live on what is gio ven them daily; their Cloyfters ftand in Frederick.fadt, Iguaraca, Olinda, Pojuca, Serinbain, and Antonio Vaes. But the Carmelites have chree Structures at Parayba, and as many more in Frederick-fadt and Olinda, where they live plentifully on what they reap from Tillage, Rents of Houles, and Legacies of deceafed Perfons. The Beneo diftins, though they poffefs onely two Cloyfters, one in Frederick.fadt, and the other at Olinda, yet they have the greateft Income from the SugareMills of Muferapa, and the Countrey about Parayba, as alfo Cattel and Cane-Fields.

Reciffa, the Seat of War, hath two Horn=works towards Olinda; the firt rais'd with Stone, defends the Haven with Ceven Brafs DemioCulverins; the other lies oppofite to the River Biberi, and hath five Brafs and two Iron Guns. Reciffa allo hath a ftrong Rail about it, and many Guns plac'd in good order. Near the Powderehoufe fand two Batteries with Guns.

On the Shore towards Olinda, lies the Stone Caftle St. Foris, on a Hill oppofite to the Haven, fortifid with a Bulwark and thirteen Iron Guns.

The Water-Caftle, built round, rifes out of the Sea, and ftands at the end of the Stone Cliff, which makes an Inlet, through which the Ships Sail that come to, and go from Reciffa.

The Fort Briune hath four Points, feven Brafs Guns, and Pallifados round about.

Somewhat farther is the Redoubt call'd The Lady Braine, which hath two Brals Guns.

The Caftle Waerdenbergh, built before the Mouth of the River Capivaribi, in the Bay made by the River Biberibi, hath three Points, each rais'd fquare, becaufe the fourth Bulwark towards Antonio Vaes, cannorbe finifh'd, by reafon the Earth is funk a way.

The Fort Errefus ftands on the North-fide of Maurice-ftadt, on the Inand $A n$.
tonio Vaez. That part of the City which refpects the Fort, lies open, with five Points and a double Horn.work; it is the more fecure from any Invafion, becaufe the Countrey round about is overflow'd at High-water. On the Horn-work fand cight Brafs Guns; but the four Redoubts along the River Capivaribi are decay'd.

The fquare Fort Prince William, ftanding in a low Ground not far from the River Afogados, hath four Bulwarks, and is inclos'd with a high Wall and ftrong Pallifa. do's: the Church appearing above all other Houfes in the Caftle, may be feen at Olinda.
Riceffadt lies plearantly along the River Biberibi, and is wafrd behind by the River Capivaribi; It hath a large Wharf; a brave Magazine, a French Church, and a Guild-hall: The Buildings are not altogether fo high as thofe in Reciffa, where they are commonly three Stories, becaufe the Ground is very dear.

Grave Maurice's Court lying oppofite to Reciffa, on the Shore of Biberibi, rifes from the middle of a Garden with ewo high Towers.

Not far from the Caftle Erneftus is a Potters Kiln, and on the other fide, near the Fort Frederick Henrick feven Wells, and fome Moraffes, and towards the Waterfide, a Stone Battery.
Forts of Bran The Fort Orange at the Southern Mouth of the Haven, hath, by reafon of its dry Moats, a ftrong Pallifado, four Bulwarks, and twelve Guns. The Bulwarks about the Church, and the Battery before the Haven, alfo fecures Scbuppen-ftadt againft the Portuguefe. On the Battery ftand nine Iron and two Brafs Guns. At the Northern Entrance of the Haven appears a Tower with three Guns.

The Fort Marg areta hath two Brafs and forty Iron Guns.
Reftringa, furrounded with Pallifado's, rifes near a fandy Point in the middle of the River.

The Caftle Antonio, wafh'd by the Sea, hath onely one Tower, but that fufficiently ftrong to defend it againft an Enemy.

The Francifcan Cloyfter, ftrengthned by 2 Wall and Earthen Works, ferve in ftead of a Caftle to Frederick- $f$ tadt, and is the more fecure by reafon of a Half-Moon,' Moats, Rails, and $\approx$ Battery at the Mouth of the Haven.

The flonie Fortification of Ceulen lies near the Sea. All thele are the Fortreffes of the Northern Brafile.

To the Southward of Reciffa appears the Promontory St. Auguftine, where the Haven is fecur'd by the Forts Vander Duffen, Domburgh, and a Stone Battery.

Porto Calvo is fortifi'd by a Caftle, built on a fteep Hill forty Foot high.
The Fort Manrice Commands the Ferry of Rio Francifco, and is built on a high and fteep Hill, with five Bulwarks; the lowermoft Plain is overflow'd by the River in the Summer Seafon. The Store-houfes hereabouts are ill furnifh'd, and if not fuddenly fupply'd, 'tis to be fear'd, that a great Famine will follow, as al. ready it is begun, and we may thank the faint-heartednefs of the Enemy that it hath increas'd no more.
The Militia is diftributed into all the Forts or Villages, that fo they may the better procure their Provifions, watch the approach of the Spaniards, and prevent all Incroach=ments of the Enemy. In Maurice Caftle are five, hundred and forty Men in Garrifon; in the Afogados, two hundred ninety three; in Camarigibi and Porto Calvo, fourhundred and eighty; in Serinbain, feven hundred and eighry; in Pojuca, twenty five; in the Mills Panterra, ninety feven; at the Promontory Antonio, two hundred and forty; in the Caftle Vander Duffen, a hundred and feventy; the like number is in Amaro and Moribeca; in the Village St. Laurence, four hundred and twenty two; in the Fort Prince William, two hundred and fixty three ; in Frederick Henrick, hath two hundred and thirty; in Erneffus, two hundred and eighty; in Reciffa, two hundred and Ceventy feven; in the Cafte Bruine, a hundred and ewenty five; in Olinda, a hundred and ninety three; in Iguaraza, ninety three; in Orange; a hundred and eighty two; in Goyana, a hundred and fixty five; in Frederick-jtadt, a hundred and one ; in the Fort Margareta, three hundred and fixty; in the Caftle Ceulen, eighty eight ; in Antonio Vaes lies Grave Maurice's Guard; Siara is defended by forty; fo that the whole Power confifts of fix thoufand one hundred and eighty Men, too weak a number to refift the Enemy both by.Land and Sea; nay, had he had Courage, the Weft-India Companies Concerns in Brafile would long fince have been in a low Condition;; for the Spanifh Fleet which came lately from Cadis, carry'd three thoufand Men, befides feven hundred which they brought from St. Salvador; the Duke of Bagnola was allo ready with two thoufand Portuguefes, and a thoufand Brafilians, to joyn with the Seamen, and expected alfo as great a number from Parajba, Pernambuco, Seregippa, Itamarica, Rio Grande, and Siara, contrary to the Oath taken in Reciffa : But the SpanifhFleet keeping clofe to the Bay Todos los Sanctos, hath hitherto done nothing, except the fending of feveral Companies into the Countrey, to rob and pillage the 'Brafilian Villages. Morcover, the Mulatto's and Negro's do great mifchief up and down, and fo much the more, becaufe they go and come along private Ways, through which none can follow them. Moft of the Ships being badly fitted, are fearce able to keep the Sea; and the Soldiers want Clothes exceedingly. The City St. Salvador keeps the Countrey in a continual Alarm, fo that five thoufand Men are requir'd to conquer it: Eighteen great Ships, and as many Ketches, befides leffer Veffels, ought to be fent thither, the Sea being full of Pyrats. The common Treafury is fo much behind-hand, that none can receive any Pay. The Owners of the Sugar-Mills will not deliver any Sugar without ready Money, becaufe of the $\mathcal{N e t h e r l a n d e r s}$ removal from thence.

This Relation of the Affairs of the Netherland Weff-India Company in Brafile, was deliver'd to them in Writing by Vander Duffen.

A Defcription of the Palace Freyburgh, two Bridges, and a Ban-quetting-bouse, all buile by Grave Maurice.

GRave Maurice before his coming away from Brafle, built a pleafant Palace along the River Biberibi, before the Fort Erneftus on Antonio Vies; the oute moft Work whereof was fhaded by a double Row of Coco-Trees, and had a Pond full of all forts of Fifh ; and not far from thence, on one fide, a fecond en. compars'd a Coneyo Warren, which refpected a Pell-mell; near it a Garden, curioully divided into round Parterres, which led into a long Park of Bakkoven-Trees; and at the end a great Dove-houfe. Next the River ftood a large Stable, on one fide whereof was a Field to whiten Linnen in, and a Kitchin-Garden, wherein was a large Spor full of Orange-Trees, a row of Vines, which bore Grapes every three Moneths, and a delightful Walk, befet on each fide with Lime=Trees. On the other fide of this Palace food a Banquetting-houfe, near a row of Pome-granate. Trees, and another of Fig and Cittron=Trees. Behind the Palace was a Fiflipond with two Iles, for the Swans. A Dove-houfe alfo appear'd near the Fort Erneftus, where the Negro's watch'd the Horfes, and led them to Water in a Fifhpond in a large Wood. Before the Palace appear'd a Stone Pallifado, which like a HalfMoon ran into the River. The Palace it felf rofe with two Towers, one of which ferv'd for a Seàmark.

Moreover, Grave Maurice extended his new Cisy to the Fort Frederick Henrick, dis vided the Moraffie Grounds by feveral Moars, and laid a Bridge crois the River Biberibi, between Reciffa and the City Maurice, and another crofs the Stream Capivaribi, between the faid City Maurice and the Main Land.
In the time when Albuquerque Govern'd Brafile for the King of Spain, it was Difputed among the Portuguefe, whether it were not requifite to defert the City Olinda, and caufing the Inhabitants to remove to Reciffa,joyn the fame with a Bridge to the Inè Antonio Vaes, becaufe thofe Places are almoft invincible, and much more con. venient for Ships than Olinda? But the Hollanders furpris'd them on a fudden, before they could bring the Bufinefs to pafs, and after a while profecuted the fame Defign themfelves.
Grave Maurice fpent twenty four thoufand Guilders in laying a Bridge over the River Biberibi, between Reciffa and Antonio Vaes. Having rais'd juft fifteen Stone Columns from the Ground, they came to the deepeft part of the River Antonio Vaes, when the Architect began to defpair of accomplifhing the fame, becaufe the Ground lay deep under Water, and the Stream ran very fwift: Thofe which dwele at Reciffa cry'd, That they bad undertaken a Bufiness which was not in the power of Man to effect, and that there was above ten thoufand Pound already fpent in vain on fifteen Pillars: in this fort they began to clamor againft Grave Maurice, efpecially the Owners of Houles in Reciffa, who forefaw that many would remove from thence to the pleafant Ille Antonio Vaes, as foon as the Bridge was finifh'd ; after which the Houfes in Reciffa would be at low Rates. But Grave Marrice judging that the Difgrace would fall upon him, if the Bridge fhould be left half finifh'd, caus'd at his own proper Charge, huge pieces of lafting Timber to be cut, forty and fifty Foot long, and fo ramm'd into the Ground, fome freight, others floaping, to fupport the reft, and in two Moneths finifl'd the fame. On the firft day after this new Bridge was compleated, there went fo many People over it, that the Toll which they paid, amounted to above 601 . Sterl. and was after that Farm'd for twenty eight thou* fand Guilders yearly, a Citizen that pass'd over the fame being to pay $2 d$. and a Negro or Soldier Id. but a Horfeman paid 4 d . and a Cart or Wayn 7 d .

Since this Grave Maurice built a fecond Bridge crofs the River Capivaribi, which joyn'd Antonio Vaez to the Main Continent. This Bridge being eighty fix Rods long of durable Timber, was finifh'd in feven Weeks.
Moreover Grave Maurice built a pleafant Banquetting-houfe, calld Bonavifa, at his own Charge before the faid Bridge, from whence he could fee the Palace Freyburgh, Olinda, the Fort Erneftus, Maurice-ftadt, Reciffa, the French Church, the Ships in the Harbors, and alfo the Caftle Frederick Henrick. This Banquetting-houle hath at each corner a Turret, and in the middle thereof a ppacious Room, crown'd with a fair Terrace.

Guiana.

NOrthward of Brafle, over againft Maragnan, lieth the Countrey of Guiana, Siruation and not improbably fuppos'd to be fo call'd from the River Wia, one of the of cicripiontan. principal Rivers of the Province, which yet is faid to have more and fairer than any other part of America befides: It is by fome call'd The Wild Coaft, for what reafon is uncertain, it being found to be 2 very fruitful and pleafant Countrey : It is Bounded on the Eaft, with the Atlantick Ocean, or Mare del Nordt; on the Weft, with fome undifcover'd mountainous Countreys, which lie on that fide of the Andes; on the North it hath the great River Orenoque; and on the South, that of the Amazons, or Orellana; which laft Name, as we have faid before, it derives from Francifco Orellana, who is faid to have firft difcover'd it in the Year 1543. It was anciently call'd $T_{0 b o}$, Topoi, and Tapera.

This Countrey lieth on both fides of the Equatcr, extended from the fourth Degree of Southern Latitude, to the eighth Degree of Northern, yet enjoyeth a temperate and good Air, not oppreffed with any exceffive Heat; which is chiefly attributed to the Breezes, or Edferly Winds, almoft perpetually about Noon blowing upon it. Towards the Seaffide it is for the moft part a flat and level Countrey, in the more Inland parts mountainous and fwell'd with Hills, but in all it is generally of fuch a rich and fertile Soil, that for Fruits, or any outward Commodities of the Earth, it yields not to any other Province of the New World, but ra. ther far excelleth the moft, having as it were a continual Summer, without Win. ter or Autumn, the Trees never uncloth'd or made bare, Fruits always ripe, or growing to maturity, the Meadows and Paftures always verdant and green, and, as we faid, fo excellently well water'd with Rivers, that no Countrey in the World feems comparable to it in this refpect. But fince the feveral Occurrences of Orella. na's Expedition will give much light to the more particular knowledge of the fe Parts, we thought good to infert this following Relation thereof.

SEct. II.  ARelation of the fourney of Francifco Orellana.

FRancifco Orellana travelling with Gonfalvo Pizarro from Quito, to find out the Countrey Cundirumarca (where the Natives, according to the information of a ftrange American, went Arm'd with Golden Plates) he came after a great deal of hardfhip to the River Maranon, where Pizarro building a Brigantine, put all' his fick and maimed Men into the fame, as alfo all his Baggage under the Command of Orellana, whom he commanded to forage for fome Provifions, of which the Army, that was to follow along the Shore, had great want; but Orellana was in few days driven down fo far, that he faw no hopes of getting up again in a years time, and Engag'd daily with the Indians, which came aboard of him in little Boats; at laft he went afhore and conquer'd a Village, in which he found Provifions, fome Gold, and Gems of great value : not long after which he was in great danger, by reafon of a River, which with great force fell into the Channel in which he Sail'd, and fort the face of two hundred Leagues faw neither Man nor Houfe: Next Landing at a Village, he was by the Governor thereof Prefented with Turtles, Par. tridges, Fifh, and other Provifions, and alfo forewarn'd of the valiant Women, the Amazones, which they call'd Camapryara. Going from hence, he met for eighty Leagues together, nothing but fteep and craggy. Mountains on each fide of the Shore, infomuch that he could not Land any where for Provifions. Next coming to the inhabited Province Machiparo; he was fiercely affaulted for two days and two nights, by the Cafique Aomagua, who purfu'd him with feveral Boats: Not long after having conquer'd a Village, out of which ran feveral trodden Paths into the Countrey, he came to a River, in the Mouth whereof there lying three Ifles, he gave it the Denomination of La Trinidad, which wafheth a fruitful Coaft, along which Sail'd divers fmall Veffels. Somewhat farther in the River Trinidad food a Village and Banquetting-houfe, where Orellana took abundance of Provifions, Sile ver, Gold, and Earthen Ware curioufly Glaz'd and Painted, but judg'd it very hazardous to travel far into the Countrey by the common High-ways, in regard of the multitudes of People that frequented them, to whofe Civility he durf not truft; therefore Sailing from hence a hundred Leagues farther, he came to the Countrey belonging to the Lord of Paguana, who civilly Entertain'd him, and Prefented him with Sheep, not unlike the Peruvians, and all manner of good Fruit, which the Countrey affords in great abundance. After this on his. Lar-board fide he difcover'd a River, whofe being black like Ink, and difemboguing into another, difco. lour'd the Water thereof for the fpace of twenty Leagues; he alfo faw feveral Villages, and at laft found the Stream to be fo broad, that he could not fee from one Shore to the other: he took one of the Villages without any refiftance, there being none but Women in the Huts, whither the Men came towards the Evening. Near another Village he efpy'd feven Heads fticking upon Poles, from whence the Province receiv'd the Denomination De las Picotas, from whence ran feveral pav'd Ways, on each fide planted with Trees, into the Countrey; where Landing, he furnifh'd himfelf with Maiz, Turtles, Geefe, and Parrots, and at Can Ifland took an American Prifoner, who inform'd him, that he was in the Amazones Jurifdiction, and that up in the Countrey liv'd a People not unlike the Spaniards, amongt whom were two white Women, brought thither up the River by a Lord. Going farther he faw divers Villages on each fide of him, and at laft Landing in a little Town, he found plenty of Oats, Liquor made of Oats, Cotton, Linnen, a Temple hung round about with Arms, and two Epifcopal Miters of divers colours. Near a Promontory jutting out into the River, the Tide went fo ftrong, that he was not able to Land; upon the Point food feveral fair Buildings, where were alfo white Women, of a big ftature, with long Hair, who animated the Men to fight. This Countrey, which extends it felf a hundred and fifty Leagues along the Shore, with Hills, Pafture.Grounds, and Champain, and well inhabited, being difcover'd on St. Joln's Day, was call'd The Province De San Juan; which leaving, he came to feve= ral Ifles, the biggeft whereof extended fifty Leagues in length, all of them ftanding on high Ground, pleafant, and full of People, who in Boats, by them call'd Periacues, valiantly Engag'd with the Spaniards; but one of them not long after being taken Prifoner, inform'd them, that the Amazones dwelt in Stone Houfes, Wall'd Towns, had plenty of Silver and Gold, and four ftately Temples enrich'd with Plates, Dedicated to the Sun. But Orellana Sailing a hundred Leagues farther, along a Coaft belonging to the Lord of Caripuna, according to the Prifoners, Relation, the Inhabitants hereabouts thot abundance of poyfon'd Arrows, at the Spaniards, bue they made a hift to efcape them, and Sailing within fight of Land into the Bay of Paria, they came to an Anchor before the Ifland Cuburua, Anno 1541 . after they had been eight hundred Leagues.

Orellana informing the Spanifh Court of his Adventures, deffr'd the chief Comb The Expdimand of the Province of the Amazones, which after earneft Sollicitations he ob- tanni. of ord tain'd, and accordingly fetting Sail from St. Lucar, he went to the Illand Teneriff with three Ships and five hundred Men, where he flay'd three Monechs, and two on Cape de Verd. On Teneriff feveral of his Men ran from him, and on Cape de Verd the bury'd ninety eight, and left fifty fick behind him ; yet he Seeer'd to Brajile; where, meeting with contrary Winds, he had undoubtedly perifl'd for lack of Water, if the great Showers of Rain had not fupply'd his Wants, one of his Ships carrying feventy Men and eleven Horfes, was never heard of, with the other two he Sail'd by Baxos de San Roque, and from thence a hundred Leagues Northwardly beyond Maragnan, where a great way off at Sea they found frefh Water, in which Orellano Steering, got between the Illes into the River De las Amazones, where he Barter'd for Provifions, Sail'd two Leagues up the River, and came to an Anchor before a few Huts, but flenderly for'd with Provifions, where he fpent three Moneths in breaking up one of his Ships, and building a Ketch. In the mean time fifty feven of his Seamen dy'd. Sailing twenty Leagues farther, he loft his beft Ship; whereupon he gave order to build a Barque of the Wreck. Thus he fpene thirty days in vain to find the fore mention'd Arm of the River Amazones: the Barque being finifh'd in ten'Weeks, and going beyond the Illes Maribique and Cono $t a n$, found the three great Rivers to difembogue into the River Amazones, which there was twelve Leagues broad; but wanting Provifions, and the Men being too weak to go farther, they came back to the fruitful Inland Comao, where a hundred Spaniards fetled themfelves, the reft going down with the Barque to find out Orellana, who, as his Wife inform'd them, dy'd with Grief.

The Englifh and Netberlanders, who Sail'd hither after the Spaniards left off, alcribe a Breadth of fifty or fixty Leagues to the Mouth of the Amazone River, which difs charges its Water with fuch force into the Northern Ocean, that it keeps its colour and tafte above thirty Leagues, according to the ocular teftimony of Captain Harcourt. The Weftern Point, by the Netherlanders call'd The North Cape, runs with a long Slip of low Land into the Sea, into which more North-Wefterly fall the Streams Taponnowyny, Arowary, Arykary, Cafepouri, and Wiapoca; fome of them wafh great Wilderneffes full of Trees; others glide between pleafant Meadows.

Eighty Leagues up the Amazone River the Vlußingers have built a Fort call'd $N a f$ aw, on the narrow Inland Cogemines, which is twenty Leagues long, and feparated from the Shore by a Creek, and feven Leagues farther, on another Ine, the Fore Orange; from which two Forts they Trade with the Natives, Arowaccas and Apehons, bartering European Trifles for Tobacco, Cotton, Sugar, Gums, and feveral Tinctures.

Sir Walter Raleigh, Anno 1595. fending Captain Fifher from Wiapoco to Leonard sir Water

 villy, and conducted him fifty Leagues up into the Countrey, to the Mountain vince. Conoob, on whofe top is a deep Pool, full of well tafted Fifh, and furrounded with the glittering Stones Topaz; which Raleigh took the more notice of, becaufe the fame Ground in the Eaf-Indies where thefe Stones are found, inclofes alfo Diamonds. Moreover, the Province Coofhebery rifes with pleafant Hills, but confifts, moft in delightful Fields and Woods.

The River Arocawo, falling into the Inlet Wiapoco, diferabogues alfo with the Kkk fame fame between the Capes Orange and Comariboo, into the Northern Ocean.
Moft of the Rivers in Guiana lie full of Ines, and cannot be Navigated far, by reafon of the great Water-falls.
The Yajos, whoo inhabit on the Banks of the fore-mention'd River, are People of a good Difpofition, and go naked : they catch Fifh after a Atrange manner; for they onely throw the ftrong fmelling Wood Ayam in the Water, which works fo upon the Fifh, that they fuffer themfelves to be caught with the Hand. The well known American Root (affavi ferves them for Bread, being bak'd in round Cakes on hot Stones : of the Cakes they alfo makethe Liquor Perrinoe, which taftes almoft like ftale Beer, and is prepar'd by old Women and litele Children, which chew the Caffavi, and fipit the fame into a Pot full of Water, which having food a while, they ftrain the fame through a Cloth, and fet it a working with PotatoRoots.

They are troubled with no Vermine, not fo much as the little Fleas Niquas, by the Spaniards call'd Cbigos, which creep in between the Nails.

On the Sea-Coaft are many Tortoifes, whofe Flefh is of a delicious tafte, but heavy to digeft.

Sheep and Oxen will not thrive here, but Swine would thrive exceedingly, if their Dugs were not bit off in the Night by the Bats.
The River Wiapoco hath many dangerous Water-falls, the one much higher than the other; a little way beyond the firft of them the Stream Army falls into Wiapoco.

The Marangoc

 maccus.Three days Journey Wefterly dwell the Marafhewaccus, whofe Ears hang down on their Shoulders; they worfliip for their Deity, an Image reprefenting a Man, who fitting flat on the Ground, with his Legs fretch'd out, leans with his Elbows on his Knees, and holding up his Hands, gapes and ftares up towards Heaven.

North-Weft from Wiapoco rifes the Mountain Gomeribo, which produces Maiz; Tobacco, Cotton=Trees, and Vines.

In the fame place the Creek Wainary runs Weftwardly with frefh Water a days Journey into the Countrey; and from the faid Creek a high Mountain, fit for the production of Sugar and Tobacco, extends it felf to the River Apurwaca, where the Wiopocaries inhabit a great Tract of Land.

North-Weft from Wiapoco flows the River Aperwacque, whofe mountainous Shores bear Brafile Wood and wild Cinamon. The Stream it felf takes its original out of a large Lake, in the middle whereof lies a three=corner'd Ine. South-Eaft from the Lake dwell the Harrithiabans, beyond whofe Countrey are the Rivers Caumo, Wia, and Cajani. On the Banks of the firft dwelt, Anno 1596. according to the Relation of Laurence Keymis, a People call'd Jaos, driven by the Spaniards from Moruga, and who formerly poffefs'd the greateft part of Guiana; they diftinguifh themfelves from other People, by pricking their Faces full of Holes with the Tooth of a Beaft not unlike a Rat: But at preient, the faos being departed from hence, the Countrey lies defolate.

The Wia, which fprings a great way up in the Countrey, hath a wide Mouth, and near feveral Inands convenient Harbors: The biggeft of the Ifles, inhabited by the Shebaios, is full of Provifions, viz. Fowl, Fifh, excellent Fruit, wild Hogs, and other Beafts.

The triangular Inles, lying more Wefterly, are alfo very fruitful, but not comparable to Gowatery. So far as the Coaft extends it felf with high Mountains, it is overgrown with Brafile Wood, but the lower Grounds produce Cotton, Pepper, Silk, Balfam, and the Root Wiapaffa, tafting like Ginger, and exceeding good againft a Lask, or the Headache.

Before the Mouth of Cajani appears the high Inand Mattoory, furrounded by the leffer Ifles Sannawoony, Epenefari, and Eponeregemere.

Between the Rivers Cajani and Maccaria, lies the low Ifland Muccumbro, out of whofe Center rife two Mountains, and which is inhabited, as the Main Coaft by Caribbeeans, whofe General Arrawicary fhew'd great friendfhip to the Netherlanders: They obferve no certain Laws for Government; Adultery and Murder they punifh with Death ; they are very tyrannical towards their Wives, who for the leaft act of incivility have their Brains beat out ; they efteem one another according to the number of their Wives, the eldelt of which performs all Houfhold.Offices.

The Caribbeeans are accounted to have been the firf Inhabitants of this Couno caribumss niards from Trinidad or Oronoque.

The wild Caribbeeans live farther up into the Countrey, and often fall with great rage upon the other; but fince the Netberlanders have furnifh'd them with Arms, they have not been fo much molefted by them.

Beyond Macavia lies the River Caurora, which is very narrow and deep; and next Rivers? in order the Rivers Manamonary, Sinamary, Cunanama, Juraca, Mavary, Amana, and Maramyny, full of Illes, and four Leagues broad at the Mouth; along the Shore grow little Trees, whofe Leaves wither as foon as touch'd by Mankind, but revives again within half an hour.

Next follow the Rivers Sorrenam, Sorrenamme, Copanama, Marateca, and Curetiny, where the Netberlanders, by virtue of a Patent granted by the States General, drove a Trade for feveral years.

Somewhat farther the Berbice, Apari, Maycawini, Mabeyca, Mirara and Effekebe, difcharge their Waters into the Ocean, twenty days Journey from their Spring.Head, where a great Lake (by the Jaos call'd The Roponowini, and by the Caribbeeans, Parime) fpreads it felfa great way; and on its Northern Shore hath the Town Manoa.

Along the River Effebeke is an excellent fort of Wood, the Dye call'd Orellano, and abundance of $C_{a f f a v i: ~: ~ I n ~ t h e ~ M o u t h ~ o f ~ t h e ~ R i v e r ~ a l l o ~ l i e s ~ t h e ~ I f l e ~ O t t o m a . ~}^{\text {a }}$

Laftly, between Effebeke and the great River Orinoque, glide the leffer Streams Inapoi, Pauroma, Gayni, Moruga, Ammacoura, and Parima, before which lie feveral namelefs Illes.

Cbrifopher Columbus, in his third Voyage to the Weft-Indies, difcover'd the great the Difor Illand Trinidad, where before the Mouth of the Bay Vallena he was in great danger, verys of begerien as alfo the Ship Commanded by Alonfo de Ojeda, by reafon of the Waves, with which by Colkmim. the great River $Y_{\text {uyapar, }}$ otherwife call'd Orinoque, coming out of the High-lands of Paria, falls into the Sea, which made him call the faid Mouth Bocca del Drago; fo that Columbus, Anno 1599. difcover'd the Main Coaft of America to the Northward of Guiana, as far as the Promontory De laVela, before Americus Vefputius; whither Year 123r. and before Guiana took four Caribbecans Prifoners in a Canoo, and finding dedition. an Emerauld about them as big as a Man's Hand, they inform'd him, that up the River was a Rock all of fuch Stones, and a Mountain on which grew high Trees, yielding ftore of Myrrh; but the ftrong contrary Tides and Water-falls prevented Ordas from going thither; and being troubled at the lofs of one of his Ships; he ran along the Shore to Paria, and took the Fort which Antonio Sedenno, Governor of Trinidad, had caft up there, and left the Command thereof to fuan Gonfalvez, Ordas pretending that Sedenno had built it contrary to the Emperor's Order, and that he had made Slaves of the Natives. Martin Jannez Tafur ftay'd in the conquer'd Fort according to Ordas his appointment, who went up the River Orinoque not without great hardfhip; for his Provifions were not onely fhort, but he was tor mented in the Day by the Mufchitoes, and in the Night by the Bats; at laft coming to a Village Commanded by Viapari, he was kindly Entertain'd, which made Ordas contrary to the will of his Men, who would willingly have gone farther into the Countrey, Atay there all the Winter; but as foon as the rainy Moneths were over, Ordas went farther up the River Orinoque, where his Ship was ftav'd againft a fandy Shelf, which forc'd him with two hundred Foot and forty Horfe, to travel along the Shore, where he was much fcanted of Provifions, and for forty days together met none but a few poor wild Fifhermen, and at laft ftopt at an unknown River, which fell into the Orinoque. The Guianian Guide which Viapari had given Ordas, advis'd him to go along the Shore of the new River, becaufe it would lead them to a well Cloth'd and rich People: But Ordas went along by the River Oronoque till he came where the Water falling from the Mountains makes it fo terrible rough, that Ordas his Veffels, which were Toed along, were not able to be got any farther, fothat after two hundred Leagues advance, he was neceffitated, by reafon of the fore mention'd Waterofalls, to go aboard and Sail down the Stream : His Men being weary'd with fo troublefom a Journey, forfook him on the Inand Cubagua, which made him return over Hijpaniola to Spain, where not long after he dy'd with Grief.
The Expedi-
This unfuccefsful Expedition of Ordas no way daunted Hieronimo Ortall front pronimo Oriall." fecuting the fame Defign; for fetting Sail from St. Lucas, Anno 1533. to the Fort which Ordas had taken from Juan Gonfalves, he Steer'd from thence over to Cubagua, to fetch fome Men, and fent the Lieutenant Alonfo Herrera with five Ketches, carrying two hundred Men, the fame way which Ordas had been. Herrera coming to the fore-mention'd Water-falls where Ordas recurn'd, caus'd his Veffels to be unladen, then Toed them by meer force over the Waterffalls, where he difcover'd plain Fields without any Inhabitants, extending themfelves to the Mouth of the River Meta, where he quitted his Veffels, and with no fmall trouble got over Môraffes and Pools to the fruifful Countrey of the Xaguas; a People both cruel and valiant ; whom after a fharp Conflict vanquifhing, he became Mafter of their Village, in which he found plenty of Provifions, as allo in another neighboring Town, where his tir'd, and almoft ftarv'd Army began to take Breath, being exccedingly refrefh'd with the delicious Meat of a fort of wild Dogs, which were here in great abundance. Having feent the Winter Seafon here, chey were often fet upon by the Caribbecans, by whole poyfon'd Arrows feveral of them being fhot, dy'd $\mathrm{Di}_{\mathrm{i}}$ fracted, and amongft the reft Herrera himfelf; after which his Succeffor Alvaro $O_{r}$. das return'd to the Veffels, which were left at the Mouth of the River Meta, from whence he Sail'd back without any other fuccefs, the Defign being to find out the Golden City Manoa, on the Banks of the great Lake Parime.

Is follow'd by Hermasedes and thers.

Not long after Peter Hermandez de. Serpa undertook the fame Work with three hundred Spaniards, feveral Braflians and Negro's; but before he could reach the River Orinoque, he was deftroy'd by the falvage People Wikiri, eighteen of his Men onely efcaping to bring the news of this fad Difafter.
Peter de Orfua following the foottteps of Gonfalvo Pizarro, went to feek for Gold in Guiana; but being kill'd by Lopes Agira near the Amazone River, that Expedition allo prov'd fruitlefs.

Berreo's Relation of his Adventures Adventures
so Sir Walter Raleigh.

With the fame defire of finding Gold in Guiana, Antonio Berreo went from $\lambda$ eib Granida thither; but being taken by Sir Walter Raleigh, was interrupted in his Defign; however, he gave him an Account of his Adventures, fo far as he had gone, viz. That he went to find out a Way along the River Caffanor, between Nero Granada and Neid Guiana, went from Caffanor to the Stream Meta, and from thence to Orinoque, where he was in great danger, by reafon of flarp Rocks, over which the Stream flowing, wafhes feveral Inles; That he fpent a whole year before he came to the utnioft Borders of Amapaia; near which he loft feveral of his Barques, and on the Shore, not onely divers Horfes, but alfo many of his Meri, who either dy'd of hardfhip, or were kill'd by the Natives with poyfonous Arrows, fo that fixty of his Men were kill'd in the Countrey of Amapaia, which extends along the River Orinoque, befides a great many that dy'd there by drinking the Water, which was full of poyfonous Animals, and glided over a flimy and muddy Ground, which made it thick and troubled : Six Moneths he ftay'd in the Countrey Amapaia, where he made Peace with the Inhabitants of Anebas, who gave him ten curious Images of maffie Gold. The River Orinoque is about four Leagues broad here, and about feven hundred Miles long, before it fall into the Ocean, and is every where enrich'd with the Waters of many Rivers which fall into it from the North and South: He added moreover, that he endeavor'd to go down Southerly to Guiana, but was prevented by fteep Mountains, and therefore went on Eafterly till he came to the Countrey Emeria, where he found a courteous People, and plenty of Provifions; that the Governor of Caripana, being about a hundred years of age; had a long time Convers'd with the Chriftians on the Inands Trinidad and Margareta, and learn'd a Form of Civil Government ; that Sailing down the River Orinoque between many Ifles lying at the Mouth of the River to Trinidad, and from thence to Margareta, he took fixty Men into his Service; but that he himfelf, being tir'd with fo great a Journey, and ftaying to refrefh himfelf at Trinidad, fell into the hands of another Party of the Englifh; that before he was taken he fent feveral of his Men to Caripana, to find the King of Morequito, who three years before had been with abundance of Gold at Cumana and Margareta, and inform'd a Spaniard call'd Vides fo much concerning the Golden Countrey Guiana, that he obtain'd a Patent at the Spanijh Court to difcover Guiana; but that Vides, jealous that he might be there before him, had not onely incens'd Morequito againft him, but fo inftructed him, that he fuffer'd his Men to pafs through the Countrey to fetch Gold from the City Manoa, and as they return'd, fet upon them and flew them on the Borders of Aroo maia, together with a Monk that was in their Company, one Man onely efcaping; by whom being inform'd of the Murder, he immediately fent divers Soldiers to take Revenge of Morequito, who flying to the Governor Vides, was neverthelefs, upon his demanding him in the King's Name, deliver'd to him ; and notwithftanding he proffer'd a great Sum of Money for his Ranfom, was cruelly put to Death; but not fatisfi'd with that Revenge, he overstun all the Countrey of Aromaia, took Morequito's Uncle, call'd Topiazoari, Prifoner, who bought his Life for a hundred Plates of Gold, and fome Precious Stones; That Lifting many Men in Spain for the Gold which he fent thither, he Row'd with Barques up the Rivers Barema, Pattroma, and Deffequebe, where he barter'd Trifles for Men, Women, and Children, of whom he made great Sums of Money on the Ifland Margareta. .

This Information which Sir Walter Raleigh got from his Prifoner Berreo, made him defirous to make an Expedition to Gxiana; to which purpofe he fent Captain George Gifford with a Ketch and a Barque to the River Capuri, where the Water fell before the Veffels could get beyond the Sands in the Mouth of the River.

Fobn Donglas had better fuccefs, being likewife fent out by Sir Walter Raleigh, for he with his Boats found that Orinoque hiad nine Arms to the North Sea, and feven to the South, which embrace divers Ifles, of which thofe on the right fide are call'd Pallamos, and thofe on the left, Horotomaca. The Mouth of the River gapes a hundred Leagues. On the fore-mention'd Illes dwell the Titiviras, a modeft People, who fpeak a bald Language; in the Summer they live under the open Skie upon the bare Earth, and in the Winter (being there between May and September) on the tops of the Trees, becaufe during that time the River Orinoque rifing thirty Foot higher, overflows all the Illes chereabouts, which are very high and mountainous. But Raleigh, himfelf Rowing up the River Amana, endur'd great hardfhip, his Men being mott of them fweltred with the Hear, and great want of Provifions; and had not their Indian Pilot Thew'd them another Stream much eafier to Navigate, he would have been forc'd to return fuccefslefs; but being ftor'd with Provifion out of a Village built along the Shore, he chafed four Canoos, of which he took one, and alfo an Atraccas, which in fifteen days time brought him into the River Orinoque, where he faw the high Mountains of Guiana; afterwards Anchoring before a fair fandy Bank, which lay near the Mouth of three Rivers, he took abundance of - Tortoifes, and was furnifh'd with plenty of all forts of Provifions, fent him from the Governor Toparimaca, who in habited the pleafant Village Arowocay, built on a little Hill, furrounded with delightful Gardens, and Fields till'd by the Negro's; who accommodating Raleigh with an experienc'd Pilor, he fet. Sail with a frefh Eafterly Wind, and Weftward faw the Inles AJfapana, twenty five Leagues long, and fix broad, and Imana, of the fame bignefs. The River Orinoque hath here thirty Leagues in breadth, and receives the Rivers Arrawopana and Europa: He Sail'd next by the Inles Ocaywita and Putayma, oppofite to which on the Main Land appears the Mourtain Oecope, whofe top reachech the Clouds; on the right fide a Plain Coun. trey difcover'd it felf a vaft way; which the Pilot faid was call'd The Plain of Sayma, extending Northerly a hundred and twenty Leagues to Cumand and Caracas, inha. bited by four forts of People, viz. the Saymas, ADA avays, Wikeries, and Aroras; which laft, being a Coal:black People, us'd poyfon'd Arrows. Raleigh paffing between the two Mountains Aroami and Aio, came to an Anchor near the Inland Murf folima, and from thence into the Haven Morequito, where the King Topiavari, a hundred and ten years of age, brought all forts of Fruit, Poultrey, Fifh and Flefh, and gave him an Account of the Condition of Guiana, viz. That the whole Councrey from the Moun. tains Waccarima to Emeria, bore the Name of Guiana, the Inhabitants calling themfelves Orinoque Poni, on the other fide of the faid Mountains lies the fpacious Valley Amariocapana, whére the Guianiatas refide. Southerly the Oreiones and Epuremei, who coming out of a ftrange Countrey, have deftroy'd the ancient Inhabitants, leaving onely the Avoaawaqueri and Caßipagoios. The Epuremei buile the fately City Macurenoarai there. But Raleigh going on his Journey faw the Ifland Caiama, and came to the Mouth of the River C.aroli, whofe ftrong Current he was not able to ftem, wherefore he defir'd Aid from Wanuretona, Governor of Canuria, who furnifh'd him with Provifions, and Men to Toe him up the fore-mention'd Seream; and inform'd him that the River Caroli, which fprung out of the Lake Caßipa, was inhabited on one fide by the Iwarawakeri, and the Lake Caßipa by three powerful People, viz. the Caßrapagotos, Eparagotos and Arawogotos, all mortal Enemies to the Spaniards: whereupon Raleigh fent fome of his Men thicher, who return'd with great hopes of finding rich Gold-Mines. The fore-mention'd Lake alfo produces the Rivers Aroi, Atoica, and Caora, near which dwell the Ewaipanoma, who have neither Necks nor Chins, but their Mouthes juft upon their Shoulders. Towards the North the River Cari falls into the Orinoque, and on the Weft the Stream Limo ; between both which the Cannibals refide, whofe Metropolis call'd Acamacari is very famous for their ftrange way of Trading; for there the Women are brought to Market, and bought by the Arwaccas : But becaufe great Showers of Rain fell daily, and the-

Scream Caroliglided downwards with extraordinary force, Raleigh return'd to Moreo quito; from whence Putima, King of Warapana, conducted him to a rich Golden Mountain in his Countrey, and along the Rivers Mana, Oiana, and Crmaca, to the place where the, Orinoque divides it felf into three excellent Streams, the chiefeft whereof, call'd Cararoopana, wafhes the Province Emeria, out of whofe Mountains the Rivers Waracayari, Coirama, Akaniri, and Iparoma, glide to the Northern Ocean ; as alfo the Araturi, Amacura, Barima, Wana, Morooca, Paroma, and Wymi, all Branches of the River Orinoque : from whence Raleigh return'd home to England.
Not long after he fent Laurence Keymes and Thoomas Mafham back to Guiana: Keymes found out all the Rivers between the Amazones and the Orinoque, and Mafham the Stream Wiapoco ; from whence both return'd without any farther fuccefs.

After this the Bufinefs lay fill for a while, in regard Sir Walter Raleigh, being (to, gether with Grey, Cobbam, and the Romilh Priefts, Wat on and Clark) found guilty of High Treafon, was Condemn'd to die ; but being Repriev'd by the King, was kept a Prifoner in the Tower for the fpace of fourteen years; during which time he wrote a Defcription of Guiana; which the King perufing, was fo well pleas'd with it, efpecially fince he undertook to make out by feveral Reafons, that England might make it felf Mafter of divers Gold=Mines there, to which Spain could lay no manner of Claim, that he difcharg'd him out of Prifon, and permitted him to make a fecond He is Ree Expedition: Whereupon with ten Ships, Amno 1617. he fet Sail for Guiana again ; fert zazin to being tofs'd with divers Storms, he at laft came with five Sail to the River Calliana, where he fell dangeroully fick, and therefore fent Captain Keymes with five Sail to the River Orinoque, to conduct the Men to the Gold-Mines; each Ship carrying fifty Men, and the other Captains being Parker, North, Thornap, and Sir Walter Raleigh's Son. The Spaniards having a Garrifon at Orinoque, fri'd very fiercely at the Enolifh, who fuffer'd great damage, and amongtt divers others, Captain Raleigh hime felf wàs !lain, whileft the other five Sail lay near the Ifland Trinidad, under Foin Pennington's Command, who daily fear'd the Spanifh Fleet. But Keymes found it very difficult to Land in Orinoque, by reafon of the Banks along the Shore, which Diego de Palameque from Puerto Rico kept Atrongly guarded; therefore going to an even Shore with intention to Land, he was fo fharply receiv'd by a Body of Spanifh Mufquetteers, that divers of his Men were mortally wounded; yet breaking in a mongft them, he went towards the Gold-Mines, to which the Way led through a Wood where the Spaniards lay in Ambufcade ; but he judg'd himfelf too weak to do any good upon the Mines, one of which belong'd to Peter Rodrigo de Parama, a fecond to Herviano Frontino, and the third to Francifco Fafhardo: The Engilfh alfo were fearful, by reafon of the Spaniards Cruelties, who not long before had flay'd feveral Merchants alive; fo that Keymes contented himfelf with pillaging and burn- Relumbig upon ing the Town St. Tbomas, which the Spaniards had deferted. Soon after which Achirfition Captain Whitby ran away with a Ship from the Fleet, whileft Keymes return'd back to Raleigh, who laid feveral things to his Charge concerning the unneceffary Expence and thame of fuch an unfucceffful Voyage ; which fo wrought upon Keymes, that he offer'd to lay violent hands on himfelf in his Cabbin. At length Raleigh returning to London, was accus'd by the Spanijh Ambaffador Gundamor for the burning St. Thomas, urging that his Mafter refented it fo ill, that he threatned to wage a War with England if Raleigh was not Executed; who notwithftanding he alledg'd, That the Spaniards fhew'd the firft Acts of Hoftility againft the Englijh, who onely defended themfelves; and that St. Thomas was burnt without his knowledge or Order; and that Keymes had not obferv'd his Command in the difcovering of the Gold-Mines, (which Apologies were generally look'd upon as real Truths) yet the King efteeming the Peace with Spain of more value than one Man's Life, without taking notice of Gundemior's Accufations, commanded that the Sentence formerly pafs'd on him for Treafon Thould be Executed, and accordingly in the fix. tieth year of his Age he was Beheaded, difcovering himfelf, by his Chriftian Behavior and Profeffion at his Death, to be a far other kind of Perfon than what the World had cenfur'd him to be.

Sincethis laft Expedition of Sir Walter Raleigh, we find not that there hath been any great Refort or Trade unto this Countrey, except by a few Netherland Merchants, who have yearly fent eight or nine Ships to the River Orinoque for To. bacco.

Therempe=

 sature of theAs for the Air or Climate of Guiana, it is very differing, for about the Amazone Air: River, dry Weather begins about Auguft, and the windy and rainy Seafon abour February; but Weftward towards Orinoque, the Summer takes beginning in 0ttober, and the Winter in April; the Days and Nights are almoft of an equal length, and the difference of Heat and Cold is but little.

Burning=Feavers, Dropfie, and the fawnes, deftroy many Pcople here; which laft is not unlike the POX, and proceeds from carnal Copulation with the Guianian Women, who are naturally fübject to this Difeafe.

The Inhabitants are divided into feveral forts, the chiefeft whereof being the

of the Inha bitamts. Caribbees go naked, covering onely their Privities with a Lappet. The Women, though yellow, are very comely ; and both Men and Women paint their Bodies with Netto, which grows on little. Trees in Cods: They make Holes through their Nofes, Lips and Ears, and hang Glafs, Beils, pieces of Copper, or any other Trifles that they get from the Englijh and Netherlanders, in them: About their Necks, Arms and Legs, they wear Strings of Beads, or Cockle-fhells.

Their Houfes with low Roofs, ferve them onely to fleep in the Night upon Cotton Hammocks, for in the day-time they fit under high Arch'd open places, that the Wind may blow full upon them. Their Houfholdeftuff confifts of Earthen Pots and Difhes neatly painted. They live in Tribes or Families together in a Town, which is Govern'd by the eldeft of them ; and their Militia is Commanded by one that is able to endure moft Stripes with Switches without any fhew of pain. The chiefeft of their Families have commonly three or four Wives, whereas others are contented with one. The Men feldom do any toilfom Work, but make their Wives do all, infomuch that as foon as a Woman is Deliver'd of a Child, the muft immediately go about her ufual Employment, whileft her Husband lies lozelling out his Moneth on a Hammock.

Their Language founds not unpleafantly, but is hard to learn, becaufe many words differ but little in the pronunciation, and yet have quite another fignification.

When they march into the Field againft their Enemies, then the General fends ${ }^{2}$ Stick to all the Villages under his Jurifdiction, on which are cut fo many Notches as there are Days appointed before he intends to fet forth, which they cut out again as the Days expire, and on the laft they repair to the appointed place.

A not much unlike Cuftom they obferve in all Promifes and Bargains; for they give one another as many Sticks as they defire Days to perform the fame in, and fo throw away every day one, till they have onely one remaining, and then they begin to think of performing their Promife or Bargain.

They know no word whereby to exprefs any greater number than Ten; Twenty they exprefs by laying their ten Fingers on their Toes, and all that exceeds Twenty, they compare to the Hairs of their Head, crying Oun $\mathbb{q}_{\text {a }}$ awara.

Some of the painted Canoos made of the Trunks of Trees, will carry five or fix Tuns.

In their Wars they ufe Bowes, poyfon'd Arrows, fhort. Truncheons of fpeckled Their manWood, and Shields full of carv'd Images, and Fight without any Order. They go nor of fiebtr upon no Defign but in the Night, and upon certain advantages. All Women and Children which they take Prifoners, are fold for Slaves, but the Men are cruelly put to death.

There is but little of Religion that can be afcrib'd to thele People, onely that fome fhew Reverence to the Sun and Moon, which they believe are both living Creatures; but they make no Offerings to them.

Their Funeral-Feafts for great Perfons are ftrangely kepe, viz. all the Men making themfelves Drunk with the Liquor Parranoro, Dance three or four days one after another, and he that drinks moft; and is worft Drunk, gains the greateft Ho ; nor, whileft the Women lament and mourn for the Deceafed.

Their Priefts, call'd Peeaios, are in great efteem amongft them, becaufe they pretend that they Converfe with the Spirits Wattipa and Yarakin, which the Guianians exceedingly fear, a pprehending themfelves of ten beaten black and blue by them.

The Peeaios alfo profefs themfelves to be Chirufgeons and Doctors, but if they cure not their Patients, they go in danger of their Lives, unlefs they fpeedily get away.

They burn their dead Bodies, together with thofe things the Deceafed affected moft in his Lifeetime. A Prince or Governor alfo hath his Slaves put to to death at the time when he is burn'd, that they may ferve him in the other World.

The Caffavi-Root prefs'd, boyl'd with Pepper, dry'd and bak'd on hot Stones, frrie preatferves the Natives for Bread.
Each Grain that is Sow'n here produces in Harveft above fifteen hundred.
Their Corn makes wholfom and well tafted Beer, call'd Paßiaw, and of their famp'd Caffavi they make the Liquor Parranono.
In hollow Trees, and Caves under Ground, they find abundance of Honey; and their Vines afford them excellent Grapes twice a year.

No Plant is ever feen here without either Leaf, Bloffom, or Fruit, except the European Apple. Tree, which never changes its nature, but bloffoms and bears Fruit at the fame time of the year as in Europe.

1. The wild Hogs Pokkiero, whofe Navels grow on their Backs; and the Pangio, not unlike our Swine, afford the Inhabitants excellent Food.

Here are alfo Water-hogs, of a very delicious tafte; but becaufe they are very apprehenfive, and dive at the leaft noife, they are feldom taken.

The Woods are full of Baboons and Apes, as alfo the floththful Beaft Ai.
The Hares here, being of a brown Colour, with white Specks, and the red Rabbets, are accounted great Delicacies.
7. There is no Countrey in America, which breeds greater 'Armadillo's than Guiana, fome of them weighing eighty Pound.

Here are alfo Bears, which live on nothing but Pifmires ; they have long hairy Tails, with which they cover their Bodies in rainy Weather; they put their Tongues a Foot deep into the Pifmires Nefts, and fo pulls them out.
-The Tygers here are either black, Spotted, or red; but the black exceed the other in cruelty, yet are feldom feen near inhabited places; the fpotted and red devour abundance of Cattel, but will feldom fet upon a Man, efpecially in the day-time.

The Woods are allo full of Land. Turtes, which the Inhabitants take, and keep till they have occafion to make ufe of their Fleffr,

The Eagles that are here with their Claws, Engage with thofe that go about to take them.

The Catamountains make fuch an exceeding noife at a certain hour, both in the Night and in the Day, that it is heard two Leagues off.

The Marmozets, a litcle Beaft, biting the Catamountains and Apes in the Ears, forces them to leap from one Tree to a nother.

The black Beaft Quotto hath a Face like an old Woman, and hanging by the Tail, fiwings from one Tree to another.

The Cufary is a brown four-footed Creature, about the bignefs of a little Dog, but hath the Chape of a Lyon.

Moreover, Guiana produces Teal, Geefe, Crains, Phefants, Partridges, Pigeons, Marlins, Snipes, Falcons, Plovers, and Parrots of all forts, befides many other Atrange Fowls; amongft which the chiefeft are a fort whofe Feathers glitter like Scarlet, and walk along in Rank and Fyle like Soldiers.
fifi. The Sea produces abundance of Turbots, Soals, Thornback, yellow Salmon, Sturgeon, Black-fifh, Gurnets, Crabs, and Oyfters.

Amongf other Fifhes, the Cafloorva, which is fomewhat bigger than an Ecl, is very ftrange, having two Sights in each Eye, of which it always holds one above, and the other underneath che Water when it fwims.

Here are alfo the great Fithes call'd Manati and Num-eel, by which if any part of a Man be touch'd, it immediately becomes ftiff.

There are likewife divers Vermine, which trouble the Countrey Guiana, among which are Serpents of thirty Foot long, that come out of the Water and feed on the Land ; they do little hurt, as not being poyfonous: but there are many of a leffer fize, whofe biting is fo venomous, that it caufes the Flefh of a Man to rot in twenty four hours time : others there are which have forked Tails, and Tusks in the Roof of their Mouthes.

The Crocodiles here alfo devour abundance of Cattel.

Strange kind of Scorpions.

The Scorpions, which are black, and refemble a Lobfter, breed under dry Wood or Corn; their Stings are hid in their Tails, with which if any one be touch'd, he is fure to endure an intolerable pain, but without danger of lofing his Life for the prefent, yet nothing can perfectly cure the fame, except the Scorpion kill'd and laid on the Wound.

The Bats here are as big as Pigeons, and they fuck the Blood of Men and Beafts fo gently, that they feldom perceive the fame.

The Pifmires alfo do great mifchief, efpecially in fandy Grounds; and like wife the Musketo's, whofe Stings caufe painful Swellings; but thefe moft of all trouble then that inhabit near the Sea fide on low Lands, infomuch that the Fifher-men bury themfelves in the Night in Sand, leaving onely Holes to breathe at.

Frogs and Toads alfo make a terrible noife here, and efpecially after Rain.
The Soil is inferior to none in the World, for the production of Sugar ; but the general Commodities of the Countrey are Flax, Cotton, Hemp, the Berry Annoto, which Dyes an excellent Orange colour, another Berry which Dyes a deep Blue, a Tree whofe Leaves Dye a Red, and the Wood of another Tree whofe Juice Dyes a Purple and Crimfon.

Moreover, Guiana produces the Gums Lemnia, Barattu, and Carriman, which being black and prickly, fmells very pleafantly, and cures the Head-ache, Bruifes, Pains in the Limbs, Gouts, and green Wounds. The fame operation hath the Gum Barata.

Here are alfo good Sena, Bolus Armenius, Caßia-Fifula, Terra-Lemnia, the Berry

Chap. VIII.

Kelecte, very effectual againft the Bloody-flux, the Juice of the Leaf Upee, which cures the Wounds of poyfon'd Arrows, and a fort of fomniferous'Apples, whereof the leaft bite occafions a deadly Sleep.

There is alfo a Tree, generally growing about the Houfes of the Natives, the Boughs whereof bruis'd between two Stones, and thrown into the Creeks of deep Water full of Fifh, caufe them to fwim above Water upon their Backs.

The Letter-Wood, call'd Piratiminere, turns allo to a good account; much more the excellent Stones, Jafper and Porphyr.

Nor are there wanting Gold and Silver-Mines, which doubtlefs would yield great profir, were they open'd.

The Grain of the Countrey grows on Stalks feven Foot long, on the tops whereof hang two Ears full of Kernels as big as Peafe, which ripens in four Moneths.

The Sugar-Canes, being of the bignefs of a Man's Arm, and about fix Foot long, are at the years end cut off, broken and prefs'd in a Mill; after which the Juice boyl'd in Copper Kettles to a certain Subftance, is put into woodden Tun. nels, fquare at the top, and narrow at bottom, with a finall Hole, which is open'd as foon as the Sugar is fufficiently hardned, to let out the Syrrup; after which it is put into Hogfheads, and fo Tranfported.

The Negro's which are brought from Angola and Guinee, are fo cruelly us'd, that they oftentimes through def pair deftroy themfelves.

The whole Countrey of Guiana is by feveral modern Writers methodically divided into thefe inferior or leffer Provinces, 1. Rio de las Amazones. 2. Wiapoco, or Guiana, properly fo call'd. 3. Orenoque; and 4. The Iflands of Guiana.

Rio de las Amazones, or the Countrey of the Amazones, contains all that part of Red do ate Guiana which lieth on both fides of the River Orellano, of a rich and good Soil, gene. rally, abounding with all Corts of Fruits, and efpecially with thofe which the Americans call Totok, and love it extreamly, out of an opinion, they fay, that it excites them to Venery, whereunto they are of themfelves but too much inclin'd; and another which they call Pita, of a tafte far more delicious and pleafing, and not fo hurtfulas the other. The Countrey was firft difcover'd by the fore-mention'd Francifco Orellana, a Spaniard from Quito, but' it was onely by the River Orellana; and though he be credibly reported to have Sail'd no lefs than eighteen hundred Leagues down the Stream, and to have difcover'd a rich and fair Countrey on both fides the River, well peopled with Natives, and giving in divers places no fmall Arguments of greater Wealth and Riches more within Land; yet fuch was the bad fuccefs of his fecond Endeavors, and likewife of thofe that follow'd him, as is evident from what hath been before related, that, as yer, there feems no farther Report to be given, at leaft not of any thing fpecial, concerning that part of the Countrey.

Wiapoco, or Guiana, properly fo call'd, taketh up the middle part of this Province, wiripec, or, being divided, as the other, almoft into two equal parts, by the River Wiapoco, fertyon pilld which runs through the midft of it. The Countrey on both fides of the River is very rich and fertile, and fo naturally apt, both for Sugar=Canes, CottonaWooll, and Tobacco, that they are faid to grow here (all of them very good) without Planting, or any art of Husbandry. In this Countrey likewife fhould be the famous Dorada, as the Spaniards call it, or City of Gold (if it could be found) with the reports and hopes whereof fome of our own Nation feem to have been not a little poffers'd as well as the Spaniards : nor can we much blame them; for if the Stories of it had prov'd true, it muft have been one of the goodlieft and faireft Cities in the World (not to [paak of the Wealth.) Diego de Ordas, the Spaniard of whom we have lately had occafion to make frequent mention of, being reported by fome to have travell'd one whole day, and half another in it, before he could arrive at the King's Palace; which yet muft be fuppos'd to have ftood but in the midft of the City. Places of lefs Magnificence, but more Certainty, are 1. Caripo, which was once a Colony of Englifh, Setled there by Captain Robert Harcourt, Anno 1608. upon the Banks of Wiapoco, and not far from the Mouth of it ; being a place, by the advantage of a Rock, which it hats on the one fide of it, of great ftrength and very difficult accefs; the Air about it found, and faid to be very agreeable to Englifh Bodies. 2. Gomaribo, a Colony formerly of the Dutch, on the Northe:Weft fide of the Bay of Wapoco, but fince deferted by them. 3. Woyemon. 4. Crewinay, both of them Towns of the Natives, not far diftant from the other.
Orinoque, or the third Divifion of this Province, comprehendeth the moft Northerly parts of Guiana, lying upon, or towards the Banks of this famous River: a Countrey likewife reported to be very rich, and comparable to Peru it felf for hid. den Treafure, which, they fay, is not yet difcover'd, onely for want of diligent and induftrious fearching. The Places in it already known are onely 1. Coniolaba, as they call it, which feems to be fome Town of the Natives, lying a few Leagues diftant from the Orinoque, towards the South. 2. Morequito, a known Port or Haven. Town upon a Branch of the Orinoque, much frequented, and of great ufe to the Englifh when they difcover'd thefe Coafts. 3 ! Wenicapora : and 4. St. Thomas, the onely Town which the Spaniards hold upon this part of the Continent, fituate upon the principal Channel of the Orinoque, and confifting of two hundred Families, or thereabouts : It is now a fortifi'd Place, and was taken by Sir Walter Raleigh, in that unfortunate Action of 1617 . above related more at large.

The Illands that belong to, and are commonly reckon'd as parts of Guiana, are either fuch as lie fcatter'd about the Shore of the Province, or fuch as are found at the Mouth, and fometime far within the Channel of thofegreat Rivers, which em. pty themfelves at feveral parts of this Countrey into the Sea, viz. Orinoque, Wiapoco, Rio de las Amazones, &c. There are many of them, but of any great name or efteem, onely two, viz. Trinidddo and Tabago, the Defcription whereof we fhall here omit, as having already taken notice of them amongft the Sotaventi and Caribbee Iflands.
 C H A P. IX.

Paria, or New Andalufia.

Situation and Defcription of NTova Ang dalusfas.

VVEftward of Guiana lieth the Countrey of Paria, fo call'd from its chief River: It hath alfo the Denomination of Newo Andalufia, but for what relemblance with Andalufia of Old Spain, they do not tell us.
This Countrey lying as it doth, brings us back again by the Eaftern Coaft to the Ifthmus or Strait, which, as we have often faid, joyns the two parts of the Continent of America together, at leaft to thofe Countreys that lie next upon it to the South, viz the Kingdom of Granada, Scc. It hath on the Eaft Guiana, and thofe. Inands which lie 'about the Mouth of Orinoque; on the Weft, the Gulf or Bay of Venezuela, with fome part of the new Kingdom abovefaid; on the North it is wafl'd with the Atlantick Ocean; and on the South hath fome Countreys yet un. difcover'd, toward the Andes. The whole conififterh partly of Continent, and partly of Illands near adjoyning to it, and is commonly divided into five feveral Precincts or Parts, which are ì. Cumana. 2:Veneziela, being upon the Continent: 3. Margareta. 4. Cubagua, two Illands above-mention'd, famous for Pearl-fifhing; and laftly, fome leffer Iflands.

SECT. II。
Cumana.

CMana is bounded Eaftward with the Gulf of Paria and the River Orinoque; Boundes on the Weft, with Venezuela; Northward it hath the Atlantick; and on Def cumpern: the South, thofe undifcover'd Countreys above mention'd; extending 2 . long the Northern Ocean, over againft Margareta, two hundred Leagues or more, as. fome fay, in length, and not much lefs than a hundred in breadth.

The Coaft of this Countrey, as well as of the Iflands Margareta and Cabagua, hath formerly been much fan'd for the rich Trade of Pearls and Pearl-fifing; which failing, its principal efteem now is for an excellent Vein of Salt, which they dig here as out of a Mine, and gather it naturally made ready to their Hands, not half a Mile from the Sea fide, on the back fide of the Promontory or Cape, by fome call'd Punto de Araya, and by others for this reafon Capede Salinas.
Places of chiefeft confideration here, are 1. Cumana it felf, a Colony of Spaniards Towne and feated on the Banks of a little River two Miles diftant from the Sea, where it hath note. a good Harbor.
2. St. Fago, a very frong Fortrefs, which the Spaniards of late years have built, for the defence and fecurity of the Salc-works againft the Dutch, who began to Trade much that way, and in the Year 1622. had a Defign to have made them. felves Mafters of the Place.
3. St. Michael de Neveri, another Fortrefs of theirs, flanding upon a River bearing the fame Name.

- 4. Guaniba, a Town of the Natives.

This Countrey of Cumana, being generally infefted with terrible Crocodiles, hath a large Inlet call'd Cariaco, which flows fourteen Leagues into the Countrey.

The Men of this Countrey wear Cotton Cloaks, and anointing cheir Bodies Manners and with Gum, ftick the fame full of Feathers.

When they go to Wars, or to a general Feaft, then they thave their Hair off above their Ears, pull out their Beards, and black their Teeth with a certain Herb.

Their Princes and Grandees take as many Wives as they pleafe, and give to thofe of their Guefts whom they intend moft to oblige, their choice of the faireft of them to lie with.

Whoring is accounted no thame, except amongft Marry'd Women, who generally live very Chafte, unlefs their Husbands confent to their Adultery.

The Women alfo Hunt, Fifh, Shoor, and Swim, and are diligent in Tilling their Lands, and other Houfhold Affairs. Moft of them have fore Eyes, occafion'd not fo much (as fome wrongfully fuppofe) by their drinking of the Water out of the Stream Cumana, but proceeding rather from their unwholfom Food, as Spiders, and the like.
Amongft the feveral forts of Trees that grow here, there are fome that yield a white well fcented Gum, or delicious Juice like Milk, and produce a Fruit not unlike a Mulberry, which may be boyl'd to an excellent Syrrup; the Wood allo ffrikes Fire: There are others, whofe Timber is good for Shipping.

The Soil alfo produces Caßia-Fiftula, Rofes, and other ftrong fmelling Flowers and Herbs.

For Beafts; befgdes Lyons, Tygers, and wild Hogs, there are Several ftrange kinds here, as the Cappa, which is bigger than an Afs, having fhaggy and black Hair ; it runss away from Mankind, but devours whafoever elfe it meets with.

The Aranata, which hath a Goats Beard, and is of the bignefs of a Greyhound; it howls very dreadfully, and feeds on Fruits.

The wild Cats which breed here, leap, though great with Young, from one Tree to another.

In the Evening a Beaft like a lean Dog comes to their Huts, cries like a Child, and devours all thofe it meets abroad; wherefore every one that goes out in the Night carries a lighted Stick with him, for this Beaft dreads the fight of Fire.

The Trees give Harbor to great numbers of Parrots, and other fine Feather'd Birds.

The Bats here are very large and hurtful, fucking the Blood from Men and Beafts.

The Mufcoito's alfo do very much plague and vex the Inhabitants.
The Spiders, much bigger than thofe of Europe, and of divers colours, make very ftrong Cobwebs.

Along the Sea-Coaft, and in the Rivers is plenty of delicious Fifh.

Dominicans put to death by the tives.

Anno 1513 . two Dominican' Fryers went over from Terra Firma to Cumana, where the Natives kindly Entertain'd them, till a Spanijh Ship Anchoring there for the Pearl-Trade, carry'd away by violence the Governor and feventeen of his Servants; whereupon the Natives threatned, that unlefs their Lord was reftor'd, they would put the two Dominicans to death; the Spaniards promifing reftauration of him in four Moneths time, inform'd the Council at Hipaniola of it, who not confenting to his Releafement, the two Monks were, according the former threatning, prefently put to death. Yet after this the Francijcans and Dominicans built each of them a Cloyfter in the Province of Chiribichi, where they kept friendly Correfpondence with the Cumana's, till Anno 15 20. when Alonfo de Ojeda coming to an Anchor before Maracapana; under pretence of barrering Maiz for Spaiilh, Goods with the Tagarez, who came about fifty from the Mountains on which they liv'd, being three Leagues up in the Countrey, and brought Maizdown to the Shore, the Spaniards took thirty fix of them Prifoners, and kill'd or wounded the reft : Whereupon the Governor Gonzales being complain'd unto by the neighboring Prince Maraguey, and his affiftance defir'd in taking Revenge of the Dominicans and Francifcans, who had urgid and perfwaded Ojeda to the foremention'd AEt, Gonzales hereupon made an Agreement with Maraguey, that he fhould deftroy the Monks, whileft he himfelf would kill Ojeda, which they accordingly perform'd. The Council in St. Domingo inform'd hereof, immediately fent three Ships, Mann'd with three hundred Men, under the Command of Gonzalvo de Ocampo, who Anchoring in the Haven of Maracapana, feign'd as if he came newly from Spain, and that he knew nothing of the Bufinefs between Ojeda and Gonzales, that fo he might entice the Natives into his Ship, and accordingly when divers of them came aboard, the Armed Spaniards flarted from under the Decks, and hung them up at their Yard-arms, burnt the Village Maracapana, and ruin'd the Countrey far and near with Fire and Sword.

- Ocampo alio built the Town Toledo, about half a League farther into the Countrey, where the Bifhop Bartholomew de las Cafas, making his Vifitation, commanded Ocampo to forbear his cruelty againft the Natives, he having daily either burne, hang'd, beheaded, or made Slaves of fome or other of them. Cafas alfo caus'd a litele Fort to be built-at the Mouth of the River Cumana, to be near to prevent the inhumane Murders and Oppreffions committed by his Countreyomen; but be. caufe the Inhabitants of Cubagua bereav'd him of his chief Builder, his Fort was left half unfinifh'd; wherefore Cafas leaving the Command of this Countrey to Francifco de Soto, went back to Hijpaniola, where in St. Domingo he made his Complaints to the High Court of Juftice of the Spaniards Cruelties; but being little regarded, he went into the Doninicans Cloyfter, till he was call'd out and made Bifhop of Chiapa. Mean while Soto, contrary to Cafas his order, had fitted out two Ships to Trade along the Coaft of Paria ; but the Expedition prov'd very unfucceffful, for sor wis men all he and all his Men were deftroy'd by the Natives; not without juft reafon, for the froy d by the Spaniards (according to the Relation of Cafas from an Eyeowitnefs) deftroy'd this Countrey after fuch a manner, that a Ship Sail'd between Lucago and Hippaniola fixty Leagues without any Compafs, finding the Way onely by the floating of dead Bodies, thrown out of the Spanifh Ships. Moreover, the Prifoners fainting, were fet afhore on Hijpaniola, and divided into Companies, each Company confifting of twenty; Parents feparated from their Children, and Husbands from their Wives, and Lots caft for them : thofe that had either fick, decrepid, or old People fall to their flare, us'd to cry (as (af as teftifies he hath often heard,) What do I do with. this fick, decrepid dold Dog? give him to the Devil; I moill not put my Felf to the trouble to kill and bury bim.

But Soto's Death was not left unreveng'd; for not long after Facob Cafelloni fetting Sail from St. Domingo, left feveral Companies on Cubagua, to re-build the Town Cadiz, and rais'd a Fort at the Mouth of Czmana, which hath ever fince been kept by the Spaniards, who made great flaughter amongft the Natives.
Hieronymo Ortall Sailing up the Stream Negeri, fent his Lieutenant Auguftine Del- Hutormm, gado through the populous Provinces Guacharuco and Parimatuotu to the River Unare, oraby his Meren where, not without a fharp Conflict,he took abundance of Provifions in a Village. In the mean time Ortall travell'd to Meta, acting inhumane Cruelties all the way; but approaching Guiana (where Delgado was kill'd) he was deferted by his mutinous Men, who ran over to Nicholas Federman; fo that he was forc'd to return back to the new Fort Miguel de Neveri, and from thence to St. Domingo with ten Soldiers, fearing that Antonio Sedemo (who judg'd himfelf wrong'd by Ortall, becaufe Cumana belong'd to his Lordfhip) would fall upon him.

Sedenno being five hundred Men ftrong difcover'd the Sea-Coaft all along to Patizutaro; where Setling himfelf, he regarded no Difcipline; which the Natives oblerving, kill'd many a Spaniard, and others the Tygers alfo devour'd, efpecially in the Night, they being forc'd to keep lighted Fires about them againft the wild Beafts

About the beginning of the Year 1537. Sedenno travell'd to the Countrey Anapuya and Orocomay, to the Province Goiognaney, where the Inhabitants defended themfelves very valiantly in a woodden Fort, before which many Spaniards were kill'd with poyfon'd Arrows, and thofe who were not mortally wounded, had no way to efcape but by burning the Poyfon out with hot Irons; yet at laft the Defendants were forc'd to fie with their Wives and Children up to the Moiintains, overgrown with Brambles. Sedenno marching through barren Fields, and over troublefom Ri- The Dearh vers, came to the mountainous Countrey Catapararo, where he found abundance of and finang Maiz, and fome little pieces of Gold, and was advanc'd about a League and a half in Cumana, when dying, he made room for his Succeffor fuan Fernandez; who furviv'd him not long; yet the Expedition was not left unprofecuted: for Sedenno's Men; after the Deceafe of him and Fernandez', went farcher, and difcover'd a low Land, which in the Winter being overflow'd, forc'd the Inhabitants to remove to the Mountains: But at laft the Spaniards, being weary with travelling, fell out amongft themfelves, and dividing into feveral Parties, went feveral ways, fome to Venezuela, others to Maracapana, and the reft to Cubagua.

Venezuela.

He.principal part of the Province of Venezaela is border'd on the Eaft with Cumana; on the Weft, with a great Gulf or Bay; call'd The Bay of Venezuela, with the Lake Maracabo, and fome part of Nen Granadi; Northward it hath the Ocean, or Atlantick Sea; Southward, fome undifcover'd Countreys, which, as we faid, lie betwixt the Andes and it. It fretches out in length from Eaft to Weft, a hundred and thirty Leagues, or thereabouts, but in breadeh little more than half fo much; it was nam'd Venezuela, or Little Venice, by Alonfo de Ojeda, a Spaniard, who at his firf difcovery of the Countrey fell upon a Town of the Natives, which food like another Venice, all upon the Warer, and having no paffage to it but by Boats. It is a Countrey extraordinary rich in all forts of Commodities, affords good Pafture for Cattel, and abundance of fair Herds of them, Oxen, Sheep, Swine, ecc. plenty of Corn, and other Grain, great fore of Venifon in the Woods, of Fifh in the Rivers, Gold in the Mines, and therefore not likely but to be well peopled and inhabited, efpecially by the Spaniards, whofe Towns and Places of

- Towns and

Venezuela, at the moft Wefterly Confines of the Countrey, built upon the Sea, with the advantage of a double Haven, in a temperate and good Air, and the Soil round about it the beft in the whole Province : It is now a Bifhop's See, who is Suffragan to the Arch bifhop in Hifpaniola, and the ordinary Refidence of the Governor.

2. Caravalleda, call'd by the Spaniards, Nuefta Semora de Caravalleda, fourfcore Leagues diftant from Venezuela towards the Eaft, upon the Sea.
3. St. Fago de Leon, in the Countrey of Caracas, four or five Leaguee South ward of Caravalleda, and fix or feven diftant from the Sea.
4. New Valentia, twenty five Leagués diftant from St. Fago.
5. New Xeres, a Town but lately built, fifteen Leagues Southward of Newb Valentia.
6. Nen Segovia, but one League diftant from Xeres.
7. Tucrijo, a Place well known and frequented, for the abundance of Sugar that is made there, and in the Countrey round about it.
8. Truxillo, or Our Lady de la Paz, eighteen Leagues Southward of the Lake Mas. racabo, a Place of great refort, and much frequented for Trade both by Spaniards and Natives.
9. Laguna, a Town lying more towards the bottom of the Lake, faid to be much haunted with Tygers; and more than this, not much is faid of it.

According to the ancient Divifion of the Natives, this Province contains the Countreys Curiana, Cuycas, Caracas, Bariquicemeto, Tuciyo, and Carora; in which there are eftimated to be about a hundred thoufand Inhabitants that pay Taxes; which Charge, according to a Law made at the Spanijh Court, all Men above fifty, and Youth under eighteen, are freed from : yet this Countrey had formerly much more People, great numbers of them being deftroy'd by the Germans, Anno 1529. for the Bifhop Bartholomeus de las Cafas relates, That above fifty hundred thoufand of the Inhabitants were kill'd by them; nay, they rooted out whole Countreys, notwichftanding the Natives were ready to Entertain them with all Civility imaginable ; the Particulars of the Story are as followech : ing from St. Domingo thither, had difcover'd the Coaft along Coriano, and already made an Agreement with a mighty Prince of that Countrey, call'd Manaure. But Alfinger marching to the Lake Maracabo, deftroy'd all the Inhabitants of the Couns Affmer 's trey Axaguas, though they came to meet him Dancing, with rich Prefents of Gold ; herritic Cube which he not regarding, kill'd them, drove fome into a Houfe, and there cut them in pieces, and burnt thofe that were got upon the Roof. From hence going towards the Pocabnyes, who dwelt on the Weft fide of Maracabo, amongft high Mountains, he was Entertain'd by them a confiderable time very courteoully, and Prefented with rich Gifts, for which at his departure he fhut up both Men, Women, and Children, into a high Wall'd Park, where they were all to periff, if they did not every one pay a certain quantity of Gold to be releas'd, which not being able to raife, they all dy'd for want of Food. After the fame manner he dealt with the neighboring People Alcoholados, of whom he got much Gold, but not without unheard of Cruelties; for he burnt all their Villages and Houfes, ruin'd the Countrey with Fire and Sword from Thamaleque to the River Lebrixa, carry'd away ma* ny of the Natives coupled together with Chains about their Necks, and each of them loaded with at leaft a hundred pound weight of pillag'd Goods; and as foon as any of them began to faint under their Burthens for want of refrefhment, their Heads were immediately cut off. But Alfinger coming to certain cold Mountains, was refifted by a valiant People; in which Conflict he receiv'd a Wound, of which he dy'd at his return to Coro, Anno 1532. Ulpon which the Welfares fent John Aleman to fucceed him; but he allo dying, made place for George de Efpoira, and Nicbolas Federman, of which two Efpoira being the chief, fpent three years in ranging up and down the Countrey, without any remarkable Tranfactions, being continually at variance with his Lieutenant Federvian.

The aforemention'd City Venezuela, otherwife call'd Caro, and by the Natives Corana, was, Amno 1539. taken and burnt by the Englifh.

Northward from the City, the Promontory St. Roman, in the Province of $P_{\text {ara }}$ goana, runs into the Sea, oppofite to the Illands Aruba and Quuracao.

The Countrey Paragoana is low and full of Venifon; out of the middle of it rifes ${ }^{2}$ a high Mountain, the Inhabitants whereof are very hofpitable and courteous.

The Lyons that breed in this Countrey run away from Men; but on the con. trary, the Tygers are exceeding cruel.

From Coro there leads a Way up into the Countrey over the Mountain Xizderdras, to the Province Bariquicemeto.

Between both thefe Provinces very fruitful Valleys, which produce Maiz in great abundance, are furrounded by wooddy Mountains, inhabited by Man-eaters, call'd Axaguas.

Anno 1552. Juande Villegas difcovering the Province Tuchyo, he found feveral rich Gold-Mines near the Mountain Pedro, out of which fprings the River Burio. Near sggobia buile foon after tranfplanted, and built on the Shore of the River Bariquicimeto, fo call'd, becaufe the Water when touch'd, turns to an Afh-colour. The Plain Countrey round about would be intolerable hot, did not the cool Winds that blow from the Mountains temper the fame.

The Natives of the Province Bariquicemete, their manner of Living.

The Natives'divided into Tribes that underftand not one another, live on Callio bafles, Deers. fleft, Rabbets, and the Juice of the Cocuy.

In the Rivers Hacarigua and Boraute, they throw the ftamp'd Root Barbafon, which caufes the Fifh to appear above the Water, and fuffer themfelves to be caught with the Hand.

In the Summer they all fore themfelves with Venifon, which they catch after this manner: They fet the dry Bufhes and Brambles on fire, which makes the wild Hogs, Goats, Deer, Armadillo's, Tygers, the great Serpents Bobas, and other wild Creatures, to leap forth from their Holes and Receptacles to fhun the fame, whileft the Hunters ftanding ready with their Bowes and Arrows, feldom mifs one of them.

In the hollow Trees near the Rivers, the Bees make abundance of Honey for them.

Moft of the Rivers here fall into the Stream Huriapari, which glides from the Perwvian Mountains to the Northern Ocean.

The Province Chioas produces plenty of Gold.

Alfo of the Natives 2-
bout Segovia.

The Natives about Segovia go naked, are very ignorant, and much addicted to Drunkennefs; in which humor they kill one another: They live without care, feeding on Roots till their Maiz is ripe, which in fome places comes to its full ma. turity in forty days time, and in others in three Moneths.

Clofe by Segovia glides the Rivulet Claro, whofe clear Water goes but a fmall Courfe from its Fountain Head, before it finks into the Ground; in the Summer it is very high, and in the Winter almoft deftitute of Water.

This Countrey breeds all forts of Fowls, but efpecially Quails and Turtledities of the Countrey hereabouts. Doves.

Cattel, Sheep, Goats and Hogs, increafe wonderfully here, infomuch that many of them are driven to be fold at New Granada.

The Cotton-Clothes that are woven here, alfo turn to a good account.
From Segovia runs a Way through a Valley twelve Leagues long, to the Town Tucuyo, which ftands low, but in a healthful Climate, and furrounded with Mountains.

The Countrey hereabouts produces plenty of Corn, Pot-herbs, Sugar, and Cotton; and feeds Oxen, Cowes, Horfes, Sheep, Deer; and Goats, to which the Tygers and Lyons do great mifchief.

Here are Gold-Mines, but they are not open'd by reafon of the great want of Men.

There is likewife plenty of the Bezoar.Stones to be had here.
The Cuycas, in whofe Countrey ftands the Town Truxillo, are a valiant, but very cruel People.

The Lake Maracabo, running forty Leagues up into the Countrey, is ten Leagues broad, Ebbs and Flows, and feeds the great Fifh Manati.

Weftward dwell the Pocabuyes, and Alcobolados, both quiet and rich People.
The Province Xurzara.

Havens of Ve nezuela.

The Province Xuruara lies towards the South behind high Mountains, inhabited by the valiant Coromochos; and towards the North from Xuruara, the Bobures, hard by the City Merida; the Countrey about which is unhealthful and Moraffy, and the Inhabitants exceedingly plagu'd by the $M u / c$ chito's.

The Haven Maracapana is the beft in Venezuela, and lies in the Eaftern part of the Province, Province, where the Mountains are inhabited by the wild Cbiugotos, who kill and eat all the Spaniards they can get.

The other Havens Weftward, not comparable to Maracapana, are Flechado, Sardinas, and Burburute, where fome Spanifh Families have a Sált $=$ pit.

Six Leagues up in the Countrey you come to the frefh Lake Tocarigua, full of $\mathrm{f}_{\mathrm{P} \text { romponto }}^{\text {nand }}$ little inhabited Ines; the People whereof live quietly, and barter Gold.

Towards the North-Weft the Ocean makes the great Inlet Trifte, before which lies the Ifland Bonaire, very full of Cattel, and on each fide appear the Aves and Quaraco, which abound with Fowl.

The Promontory St. Roman runs twenty Leagues into the Sea, and the Cape Coquibooos extends farther. Between both thefe runs the Channel of Venezuela, which touches the Lake Maracapabo.
Before Coquibocoa are feen the four low Illands Monjes, with white fandy Creeks, and full of Trees: out of the middlemoft rifes a high Mountain.

On the Main Continent alfo the Mountains De Azieyto appear with fcraggy tops beyond the Point: And the Bay Honda affords a fafe Road.

The Cape De la Vela hath on one fide the Inlet Portete, and on the other, the Villages Rancberia and Noftra Semora de los Remedios; between both which runs the Stream La Hacha.

The Germann Commander, Nicholas Federman, intended to have built a City on Cape Vela, Anno 1535. but finding the Ground too low and unfruitful, the Pearls hereabouts very fmall, and the Natives living onely on Fifh and wild Herbs, he chang'd his Refolution.
SEct. IV.

The Inands Margareta, Cubagua, and Coche.

NOtwithftanding we have already fpoken fomething of the Iflands Margareta, and Cubagua, in regard they are by fome reckon'd amongtt the Intes of Northern America; yet becaufe they are by many accounted to make up a part of the Divifion of Nero Andalufia, we Chall add in this place what we have found moft worthy of Re-mention, though much to the fame purpofe as before.

The Ifland Margareta, difcover'd by Chrifopher Columbus, Anno 1498. contains thirty two Leagues in circumference, hath many Woods and Paftures, yet little frefh Water. To the Eaftward of it lie the Cliffs Teftigos, where it is very mountainous, as alfo on the Eaft. Round about the fame are delicious Fiff, withoue which the Natives could not live, becaufe the brackifl Soil produces but little Pro. vifion.

The chiefeft thing for which this Ifland Margareta is famous, is the Pearl- The parlFifhing, for which in times paft a great Trade was driven, though of late it is Maragarta, come to little or nothing. The Spaniards, with inhumane cruelty, taught the Negro's to Dive for the Pearls, for thofe that were not nimble or dextrous enough, they beat unmercifully, dropt fcalding Wax or fcalding Oyl upon them, or ftig. matiz'd them with hot Irons. The Pearl-Banks were cover'd with five, fix, feven, or eight Fathom Water; from whence the Negro's pull'd the Oyfters with fuch force, that the Blood gufh'd out of their Mouths and Nofes when they came above Water to breath; after which, to refrefh them, they receiv'd a Glafs of Wine and a Pipe of Tobacco. The Spanigh Kiay receiv'd a fifth part of the beft Pearls that were taken here ; but whether the Oyfers have forfaken this Place, or their their growth hinder'd by often Fifhing for them, we known not, but however it is, few Pearls are found here of late years, which makes Margareta to be more and more deferted.

Berween the Main Continent of Parialie the Iflands Cubagua and Coche; the firft whereof hath an unfruifful and fultry Soil, without either Trees, Birds, and fourfooted Bealts, except Pock-Wood, Sea.Fowls, or Parrots; and Caftilian Hogs being carry'd thither, change their Nature Atrangely; for in a fhort time their Claws grow long and crooked.

The King of Spain us'd formerly to receive fifteen thoufand Ducats yearly for his fifth part of the Pearls that were taken; which Gain invited many thither, who built the Town Nova Cadiz on Cabugud in the Year 1531. but when the Arayans demolifh'd the Mónks Cloyfter on 'Paria, the Spaniards, being three hundred in num. ber, fled from Nova Cadiz to Hijpaniola, where the High Court, difpleas'd at their cowardly deferting the Place, gave them but cool Entertainment, and fent five Ships under the Command of Facomo de Cafeellan to Cubagua, to build new Storehoufes in Nova Cadiz, which was afterwards resinhabited; but when the PearlFifhing ceafed, the Illand and Town was at once deferted.

Oppofite to Margareta lies the Promontory Araya, behind which lies a falt Lake, in which is found abundance of Salt, not onely above, but under the Water; with which the Englijh, Spanijh, and Dutcl, Ships are fraighted.
Ifaac du Verne defcribes the Saltepans on Araya thus: "Round about the fame " (faith he) the Ground is craggy, barren, and of a brackifh tafte, and deftitute of " frefh Water, which is therefore fetch'd three Leagues farther out of a Brook, "flowing from the Mountain Bordones into the Bay of Comena; likewife all manner " of Provifions are brought from other Parts. Weftward from the Point Araya there " is a convenient Harbor where the Ships take in their Salt. Three hundred Paces "from the Shore lies a great Saltopan, where the Salt being firft beat in pices, is "carry"d in Wheel-barrows to the Ships. The little Saltepan produces lefs Salt, " "and lies allo our of the way, which makes few Ships take in their Lading from " thence.

The Countrey is every where overgrown with Brambles and Bufhes, in which breed Tygers and very poyfonous Serpents. There are likewife abundance of Stags, Bucks, Hares, and Coneys, befides other ftrange Beafts.

Till Aimo 1605 . the Netherlanders came hither unmolefted for Salt, whien eight
The Notberlanders beaten out of their Sak=-Trade here by the Spaniards. Spanifh Gallions falling unawares upon them, ftrangely mifus'd their Seamen; but afterwards the United Netherlands having made an Agreement with Spain for a certain time, renew'd their Trade to Araya; till the King of Spain, having for the better fecurity of the Place, built the Fort St. Jago, which Commanded the great Saltpan, forbad the Netberlanders from lading any more Salt; who thereupon Storm'd the Fort, though to their coft, for feveral of them were kill'd, and the reft return'd home empty.

SECT. V.

Of the Inlands of Southern America.

T He chiefeft Illands of note in the Southern part of America, that is to fay, thofe that lie remote from the Continent in Mare del Zur, are Los Ladrones, and the Iflands Fernandinas; for the reft being, as we may call them, Mediter. ranean Ifands, fall naturally under the Defcription of the Continent.

1. Los Ladrones, in Englifh, The Iflands of Thieves, lie as it were in the mid.way. The nes tos betwixt the Main Land of America and the Pbilippine Inands, but fome hundreds of ${ }^{\text {Lationse }}$ Leagues diftant from either, in the fourth Degree of Northern Latitude; fo nam'd by Ferdinand Magellan, from the pilfering difpofition he obferv'd in the Natives, when he Sail'd that way for the Molucca Illands. 'They were a nimble and active fort of People, yet light-finger'd, tall of ftature, and going for the moft part naked, excellent $S_{\text {wimmers and }}$ Divers, and have not much more to be faid in their commendation.
2. The Fernandine are onely two Iflands of no great bignefs, lying over againft wandinestrzz the Coaft of Cbile, in the three and thirtieth Degree of Southern Latitude, and about hundred Leagues, or three hundred Englifh Miles from the Continent, yet well for'd with fome leffer forts of Cattel, as Goats, orc. good plenty likewife of Venifon in the Woods, and Fifh upon the Coafts; for which reafon, though lying at fome diftance, yet are they not a little frequented by the Spaniards of Peru, who find many good Harbors and Roads for Shipping belonging to, and about thefe Illands.

An Appendix,

CONTAINING

Partly a farther profecution of the Defcriptions of fome Provinces already treated of in the foregoing Book, partly an Account of fome other Difcoveries than what have hitherto been deliver'd in any Defcription of the $\mathcal{X} E W O R L \mathcal{D}$.

He River De la Plata, by the Natives'call'd Paranaouazu, is next to the River of the Amazones, the greatelt in the World, and falls into the Northern Ocean between the Capes $A n$ tonio and Maria, lying thirty Leagues one from another : It receives from Eaft and Weft divers Rivers as far as the Lake Xarays, lying three hundred Leagues up in the Countrey from the Mouth of La Plata. Alfo into the fore-mention'd Lake fall feveral Streams, which Spring out of the Peruvian Mountains Andes.
The firft that Sail'd into this great River, Anno 1515 . to an Iland lying in the middle of it, was folm Dias de Solis, who rafhly going afhore, was kill'd and eaten, together with Ceveral Portuguefes.

- Eleven years after this Accident, Sebajtian Gabottus Set Sail from Spain to go to the Spicy Iflands through the Straights of Magellan, but was forc'd, for want of Provifions, and the unwillingnefs of his Seamen, to put into the River La Plata; in which being advanc'd thirty Leagues, he Anchor'd near an Ifland, which he call'd St. Gabriel: from whence going feven farther, he difcover'd a Stream which fell inso La Plata. This River he call'd St. Salvador, and caft up a Fort at the Mouth of it, where an Inlet afforded a convenient Harbor for Shipping; he found the River La Plata to be generally ten Leagues broad, and full of Inles ; and to the Weftward of it, the River Zaracaranna, inhabited on the South fide by a fubril People call'd Diagnitas. At the place where Zaracaranna difembogues into La Plata he buile a Caftle, and calling the fame Cafeello di Santo Spirito, went up farther, leaving on the Weft fide the People Tenbues, Mequaretas, Mepenes, and Aigais; to the Eaftward, the Quiloacas and Santana, and ftruck up out of the River La Plata, North-Eaft into the Suream Parana, in which he had gone two hundred Lcagues, and palss.d by many Ifles, when he went out of the fame into the Stream Paragriay ; where being fet upon by the Countrey People, who were bufie in Tilling the Ground, he loft fo many of his Men, that he was forc'd, without any farther Exploit, to return with the Portuguefe Pilot, Diego Garcia, who Sailing up the fame River, had met with Gabottus in Paria; and becaule both had gotten fome Silver, they call'd the River, from that Metal, De la Plata. The farther Difcovery whereof lay neglected nine years after, when Peter Mendoza Sailing with eleven Ships, carrying eight hundred Men, to the Ifland Gabriel, built the Fort Buenos Ayres, on the South fide of it, where many People dying of Hunger, little was done.

Alvares Cabeca not long after following Mendoza's footfeps, difcover'd and peopled the Province Rio de la Plata. The Mouth of the River La Plata Laurence Bikker defcribes thus:
"Beyond the Cape Santa Maria (faith he) lies the flat Inand Caftilloos, having ${ }^{\text {ters's Difrii- "c fcarce a Tree upon it ; but on the North fide a Rock, not unlike a decay'd Caftle; }}$ dita lata. 's to the Southward of which appear two other Cliffs; directly before the Mouth "lies the Itonie Illand De Lobos, on which nothing is to be found but Sea-Wolves; " towards the Eaft a fonie Bank runs a good way into the River, known by the "breaking of the Water upon the fame.

The Promontory Maria is low and barren, but within the fame the Land rifes high before the Ifles Flores and Maldonado, which laft hath a good fandy Shore, Harbor, and frefh Water between the Rocks; but Flores rifing with two Hills, produces nothing but Brambles.

The Stream Solis alfo difcharges its Waters in La Plata, near the Place where the Mountain Seredo lies.

The left Shore of La Plata begins at the Promontory Antonio, and is cut through by the Rivers Ortis and Los Sanitos, where the Town Buenos Ayres is built on a Imooth Shore.

Martins del Barco's Dethe fame.

Martin del Barco proceeding in the Defcription of La Plata, faith that it is dangerous, by reafon of the many Shelves that are in the fame. The Illes in the River are as followeth : thofe that bear the Name of St. Gabriel are five in number; Garcia Ifle is full of Trees, and for its fertility was peopled by Peter de Mendoza, and afterwards by Juan Ortiz Carate: But lefs fruitful are the Inles De Lazaro, where the River Vrayg unites with La Plata, being before fill'd with the Waters of Salvador, which receives the black Stream Negro, which gliding flowly from Moraffes, is very full of Fifl. Moreover, La Tlata hath eleven Arms, each very deep and full of Illes, inhabited by the Guaranins.

About a hundred Leagues farther the Cherandies have fetled themfelves on plea. fant Illes, lying not far from the City St. Fe, built on the Point which makes the River Bermeio, where it falls into La Plata.
BFarther up lies the Province Ana, partly well inhabited for its fertility, and partly overflow'd.
Next a ppears the Rock Pemnapobre, and not far from the Town Guayra, La Plata falls very high from the Rocks. People, differing from one another both in Cuftoms and Language. On the South fide of the fore-mention'd River, from the Promontory Antonio to Buenos Ayres, dwell the $\ell$ uirandies, a fout, but cruel People, who with the Flefh ofmany a Span niard oftentimes keep a merry Feaft. Farther into the Countrey run the furies and Diagnitas. Along La Plata lie alfo. Fcatter'd the Tenbues, a civil People, who live by Fifhing. Near the River Paraguay the Ameruaes obferve the fame manner of Life; But the Carioes keep Cattel, and Till their Lands. A hundred Leagues farther dwell the Payagudes ; and yet farther into the Countrey the Chames and Carcares pofo fels much Gold and Silver, with which Juan d' Ayola having enrich'd himfelf here; was deftroy'd with all his Men by the Chames, Anno 1541.

Alvarez Nunnez Cabeca came from Spain to be Governor here, but was not able, by yunure cat reafon of contrary Winds and T'ydes to reach La Plata; wherefore Landing at the ner: River Itabucu, and feending nine days in cutting a Way through thick Brambles, he came to the Jurifdiction of Armiriri; and a days Journey farther to ©ipoyay; and not long after to Tosanguazu, where the Guaranies, who are the Natives, have two Harvefts every year of Maiz and Cafavi, and breed and keep Geefe, Hens and Par. rots in their Houfes : They are Man-eaters, and very revengeful. Cabeca having given this Countrey the Name of Vera, he proceeded on his Journey over the Rivers Ignazu, Tibagi, and Taquari, on whofe Shore appears the Village Abangobi, and fomewhat farther Tocanguzir. The Countrey hereabouts is very fruitful, and hath many delightful Plains, pleafant Rivers, and Woods; but beyond appear Hills, Mountains, deep Moraffes, dangerous Cane-Fields, Receptacles for wild Beafts, and great Wilderneffes. Cabeca having pals'd through them all, came into the fruitful Countrey of the Guaranies, who are a wild People, and poffefs many large Fields of Maiz and Potato's, allo feveral Silver Mines. Froni hence travelling Weftwardly over the River Piqueri, he fpent eighteen days before he came to the Stream Ignazu, which falls into the Parana, and at laft came to the River Paraguay; along whofe Shore he found a People of a gigantick Stature, call'd The Agazes, who regarded no manner of Husbandry, but went out continually a robbing in their Canoos. Thefe People, as Martin del Barco relates, were not long after all deftroy'd by the Spaniards.

Not far from the Agazes dwell the Guaycurues, a valiant People; and fomewhat farther the Cacoves, whofe Countrey produces Gold and Silver; and yet farther in the Countrey refide the Guaxarapos, who remove yearly to the Paraguay to Fifh there when the Water is low ; for in the beginning of fanuary the River fwells fo exceedingly, that the Countrey about it being overflow'd, is cover'd with above fix Fathom Water. The Paraguay difcharges its Waters into the great Lake Xarayes, full of Iflands.

Amongft other Rivers that fpring out of the Mountains Andes, the Ignazu, along whofe Shore the People Xacoaes, Xaquelfes, and Chaneffes dwell, falls alfo into the foremention'd Lake. Somewhat farther lies a great piece of drown'd Land, beyond which the Xarayes have convenient Habitations, plant Maiz, and fpin Cotton: Their Countrey borders a great Wildernefs, which ends about the Province Tapuaguazu, the Inhabitants whereof, call'd Tarapecocies, are furnifh'd with plenty of all forts of Provifions. The Payzunoes, dwelling on one fide of them, are not well known as yet.

Beyond the Town ADumption dwell the Mayaes, in the Way to Peru, and border at the Tamacoaes, both which poffers Silver-Mines.

Between Buenos Ayres and Cordiuba lies the Plain-Countrey Deffioplado, ńinety Leagues long, without Trees or Houles, but is moft Pafture-Ground, which feed many thoufands of wild Horfes. From hence glide the Streams Luchan, Los Arrechivos, Arreca, Zaracaranna, and others, into La Plata. It is very dangerous for a fmall Company to travel through this Countrey, becaufe the ranging furies fpare none alive they meet with.

Moreover, the River Grande flows with a wide Mouth into the Sea, and Spreads it felf within againft the Countrey Patos. Alfo the Rivers Tamandabug, Ararungo, and the Lake Alagoa, difembogue into the Ocean.

North-Eaft beyond Alagoal ie the Iflands Catharina and Gale; and in the Bay Tojuqua appear feveral Ifles.

The Streams Tajabu and $Y_{t a b u c a ~}$ fpring out of high Mountains, inhabited by the People Annirivi and Cipopoy.

Laftly, the Countrey wafh'd by the Stream Ararapira, produces all forts of Provifions.

C H A P. II.

Chili.

The Cammet sturf.

THere are in this Countrey both tame and wild Sheep; the tame ones are call'd Cammel=Sheep, being cover'd with long fine Wool, having Necks four Foot long, their fore Feet cloven into four parts, their hindermof into two, their Mouths very wide, which they open at thofe that vex them, and make fuch a ftink, that no body is able to abide near them ; when tir'd, they fall under their Burdens, and will not rife, though beaten never fo much : Their Flefh is tough like that of Horfes. The wild Mountain.Sheep are red, and have foft gloffy Wool, which makes a Stufflike that of Chamlet: Thefe Sheep run fwifter than a Horfe; the Cbilefes lead them by a Rope put through their Ears.

This Countrey of Chili not onely produces Wheat, Barley, Maiz, and all man= ner of Fruit, but alfo the Teca, which growing half a Yard high, is not unlike Barley; the Grain thereof being dry'd in the Sun, is threfh'd, and parch'd in hot Sand, then ground on a \{quare flat Stone with a round Rowler. This Meal, which is both exceeding whollom and very nourifhing (for a fmall Meafure thereof fufficeth a Man a whole Week,) Ferves alfo both for Meat and Drink: for being infus'd in a greater quantity of Water, it becomes a pleafant Drink, and kneaded with a leffer proportion, it is made into Cakes or Loaves.
The Friit Unni, by the Spaniards call'd Murtilla, is like a little red Grape, and hath a tart tafte. The Wine prefs'd out of this Fruit is clear to the Eye, pleafing to the Palate, and good for the Stomach, never caufing any Head ache: It alfo makes good Vinegar.

But the chiefeft Benefit of Cbili is the rich Gold-Mines. The Countrey for the moff part lies defolate, occafion'd by the continual Wars which the valiant People Arouco maintain'd againft the Spaniards after fuch a manner, that in no place of Ames rica they met with fuch refiftance, or fuftain'd fuch Loffes. They feak an elegant Language, according to the teftimony of Elias Herkmans, who having committed to Wirting all the moft fignificant Words thereof which were taught him by the Cbilefes, it will not be altogether amifs to fef down fome of them, which are thefe following :

The Seamen who went under Hendrick Brewer's Command, Amno 1643 . from Brafile to 'Cbili, brought the fore-mention'd Vocabulary along with them.

Cbill is look'd upon as no way inferior to any Countrey in America, enjoying 2 wholfom Air, fruitful Soil, and abundance of Inhabitants, who often furnifh Peru with Provifions; which are the feeedier convey'd thither, becaufe the SouthWinds always blow along the Coaft.

The Peruvian Vice:Roy keeps a Deputy to Govern here. It hath two Bifhop. ricks, viz. St. Fago and L'Imperial.
The Nature, Cultoms, and Maneres of the chiles.

Some of the Chilefes are under the Spaniards Jurifdiction, and live in Huts; others being wilder, defend their Freedom with the Sword. They have great Headsand flat Nofes: The Men continually pull out, the Hair on their Faces and Privities with Shells, which they carry about their Necks for that purpofe, having beforehand rubb'd the Hair with warm Athes; the Hair of their Heads hanging downwards is cutclofe as far as their Ears, the reft growing long, is ty'd with the Ribbon Tariuvelonco, to which Perfons of Quality fix Silver Plates and Turkoifes: Some alfo cover their Heads with the Skins' of Weazels, or the like Beafts, putting the Head over their Foreheads, and the Tail down their Neck; which kind of Covering they call Maniewelonco: Others wear Caps made after fome frange manner or other.

The Cbilefes are not the talleft, but ftrong and well fet, betwixt a white and fallow colour: Thofe that are in the Spaniards Service, wear long Hair, by which they are diftinguifh'd from the fhorn $\mathcal{U}_{\text {cais, }}$ who do the Spaniards all the mifchief imaginable. The Women are for the moft part low of fatere, but of a ftrong Conftitution; they go bare-headed, letting their Hair hang loofe over their Shouls ders, except when they are indifpos'd, and then they tie it up: But thofe that dwell about Caftro wear Locks like our Englijh Ladies. In Coquimbo and Loquimbo they go after the fame manner as the Peruvian. Women : All of them have thick black Hair.

Their Apparel, though mean, is neat: The Men wear wide Breeches girt about their Waftes, and a piece of woollen Cloth, three Yards long and two broad, which having a Hole in the middle, they put over their Heads, and fo let it hang on cheir Shoulders, leaving their Arms and Legs bare; bur on Feftival Days they wear curious embroider'd Stockings. The Women likewife cover themfelves, with the fame piece of Cloth, but after another manner, tying it firf about cheic Middle, then let it down to the Ground, pinn'd before with Silver or Golden. Pins; their. Heads, Breafts and Legs are uncover'd; the Cloth ie felf is Arrip'd with red, white, blue, and yellow, and fring'd at the edges. For an Example of their quick and cafie Labor, Hendrick Brewer relates, That a Woman being Deliyer'd in his Ship, within an hour after walk'd up and down the Deck, and gave, the Child fuck. Some of them have fuch greac Breafts, that throwing them over their Shoulders they fuckle their Children, being ty'd at their Backs.

Their Huts being low, are made of Straw, Canes, and Boughs, and not built for one fingle Family; for often thirty, fify, a hundred, or a hundred and swenty dwell under one Roof, and have a Governor, by them call'd Carucs.
Their. Houfholdftuf is litele and mean, viz. two. or three Cans to keep their Liquor Chica in, Horn Cups, a Stone whereon they grind their Corn, and one or two woodden Stools: The chiefeft of them alfo ufe Sheep-skins, which they fpread on the Ground before their Guefts. They live without care, for they neither Sowe nor Plant any more chan will ferve them a Year.

Their Riches confift in Cattel, of which they have no great plenty:
About the beginning of Ottober a whole Town meets together to Plough and to Sowe, which the Men perform in two days time, the reft of the Work being left to the care of the Women; for the Men never meddle with Reaping or Harveft.
They eat and drink from Morning to Evening, when they do not travel, for then they eat at fetetimes. Their Liquor is made of Barley-Meal, or Wheat boyl'd in Water. On Feftival Days they drink Chica, Brew'd of Maiz chew'd by the Tecth of old Women. They likewife make a Liquor of the Fruit Ummi, which taftes like Madera Wine.

Every Man Marries as many Wives as he can buy and maintain, for Maids and Their MatrWidows mult be fold by the Parencs, who fer not a Price upon them according to their Beauty or Quality, but their skill in managing Houfhold Affairs. Their Marriages are perform'd afeer a ftrange manner: A Son having no Inheritance, lives on the Charity of his neareff Relations, who Prefent him, one with a Hog, another with a Cow, a third with a Sheep, and a fourch with fomewhat elfe: thus enrich'd, he goes to his Miftreffes Father, and hangs fome Turkoifes and Plates of Silver about his Neck, and acquzinting him with what Eftace he can make his Wife, he agrees as well as he can with his intended Father-in-law, to whom he gives ten, fifty, or a hundred Sheep, Oxen, Cows, Hogs, Horfes, Poultrey, a Coat, and fome. Veffels full of Chires; which done, the Father leads his Daughter to the Bridegroom's Houre, where he is Entertain'd with Mear, but finds the Drink at his own Cof. Some days after the Celebration of the Wedding, the pearelt Relations come to congratulate the young Marry'd Woman, and at Dinner fing an Epithalamium to their Nuptial Deity Marrupeante, all of them fitting on the Ground on Sheeposkins. The Allies often take away a Woman from her Husband, efpecially when he mifures her; and if a Man kill his Wiffegher Death is reveng'd by her Rela. tions. Perfons of Quality build a Hut for every one of cheir Wives, fending word to her whom they have a mind, to enjoy: They reipect one above she reft, who are in a manner but Slavefles, being forc'd to do all the Dudgery. The Men are exceeding jealous and chollérick, cruelly beating their Wives, if chey chance but to look on another Man; and if they take them in the Act of Adultery, they im. mediately mediately kill them ; yet.for all this they are not Chafte, but very Libidinous. As foon as a Woman is Deliver'd of a Child, the wafhes her felf and the Child in cold Water; then kills a Lamb call'd Chiluraque, and makes a Feaft; at which fhe her felf eats and drinks freely amongft the reft, and the next day goes about her ufual Employment.

The Spaniards tell us, that their Women, if they continue long in this Countrey, are more and more hardned by the Air, and are as little concern'd at the Birth of a Child as the Natives.
A. Widow hath free leave to Marry again, provided the hath given to her Chils dren part of what fhe hath; but if The Marry not, but return to her Parents, then the is highly efteem'd of.

Both Men and Women wafh themfelves in the Rivers in the coldeft Weather.
They adore chiefly their Deity Pillan, and the Devil, who doth them much hurt.

Their Religion, and manuer of burying thei burying, th
Dead, They acknowledge no Refurrection, accounting long Life in this World the greateft Good; wherefore when any one dies, the Friends and Relations make a doleful Cry, and fuffer the dead Body to lie three, nay, four Moneths before they bury them, fuffing them full of frong fmelling Herbs, to keep them from putrifying: Three days before their Interrment the nearefl Allies meet, kill a Sheep, make Merry, and throw the Body into a Hole near the Hut in which the Deceafed dwelt, putting alfo 2 piece of the flain Sheep, and a Jug full of the Liquor Cbica, into the Grave.

Concerning their Idol Pillan, to whom with Atrange Geftures they Sing divers Songs, they believe that he is a Spirit of the Air, and Governs all things on Earth. Some fuppofe him to be Thunder, and therefore they worfhip him in a moft particular manner when they hear it Thunder; for then they ftick an Arrow and Stone Ax into the Ground, and take Arms into their Hands, putting themfelves into a pofture as if they fhould fiddenly be fet upon by a mighty Enemy, and look'd upon it heretofore as a fore-running of the Spaniards approach, whofe Cruel. ties they exceedingly dreaded.
4. They call all their Hero's Pillans, and afcribe Divine powers to them.

They take very much frong Tobacco, the Smoak whereof puffing in the Air with Atrange Geftures, they cry, Receive this, 0 Pillan.
Their cruel $\underset{\substack{\text { urfige of Pri } \\ \text { foncs. }}}{ }$ foncts.

When they return home Conquerors from any Victory, they put a Stone $A x$ into the Ground, and ftanding Arm'd round about the fame, Drink exceedingly, and fing a Song in honor of Pillan. They ufe their Prifoners very cruelly, for forcing them to Dance and make Merry a mongft them, they on a fudden cleave their Heads with an Ax, pull their Hearts out of their Bodies, and bite the fame with their Teeth. After the fame manner they punifh their Robbers and Traitors; but thofe that have good fore of Chica to Prefent the Governors with, efcape the Execution: Yet this cannot buy off Sörcerers or Witches, who are without mercy burnt alive, with all they enjoy'd.
They have no Priefts, nor any that pretend to any religious Function; onely thofe that can Sing the Pawary well, are in great efteem anongt them. v Their fecond Deity Maraapeante (they fay) informs them in a Dream when they muft Marry ; but he doth not do them this kindnefs before they have made them. felves Drunk, and fung Sonnets to his praife.

This Countrey is Govern'd by prime PerIons, call'd Ulmex, or peculiar Lords, call'd Curacen. The Ulmens and Curacens Command twenty five, fometimes fifty, a hundred Families: Their Power confifts in calling all the People together, and confulting with them about State-Affairs, which they dare not do with any particular Perfon, nor Levy any Tax without extraordinary occafion. They are bound to march in the Front of their Subjects againft an Enemy, and are under a Gover-nor-General call'd Apocurace, or under a Nentoque. Other leffer Offices are difpos'd of by the Curaces, or Pulmes; but their Netonques are chofen after this manner, viz. When that honorable Place is vacant, then whoever aims at it, computes with himo of denfringer he he felf whether his Means will extend fo far as to treat the Curaces and Pulmenes with a noble Treat ; which if he is able to do, then he fends for them to an appointed place, whither they all go Arm'd, and whileft they are eating and drinking, he that defires the Place begins to tell them of his noble Extract, valiant Exploits, Riches, and eminent Relations, and therefore defires the Place of the deceafed Nentoque: then the Curace rifing, the intended Nentoque hangs a Chain of Turkoifes, or Cocklefhells about his Neck; whercupon the Curace moves the reft to the Election, without any Articles, the new Nentoque onely promifing to Govern all things for the beft advantage and benefit of the common State: which done, the Curace takes the Chain of Turkoifes, and diftributes them amongft the primeft Perfons of Quality, and fo they end the Day in Drinking, Dancing and Singing.
After the fame manner they chufe an Apocurace, or prime Governor; which of late the $\mathcal{U}_{C a}$ 's, that they may enjoy the more Priviledge themfelves, have not clected.

The Cbilefes Arms confift of Lances as long again as the Europeans, made Their Ams: fharp at the Points. They alfo ufe Clubs plated with Iron, and Spanill Swords. The Pulches, who dwell behind the high Mountains Cordilbra, ufe poy fon'd Arrows, make Helmets and Breaftplates of Ox-hides, which neither Sword nor Arrow can enter : they all know how to manage a Horfe, and the ufe of a Lance, but are very much afraid of Mufquers or Firedocks.

Becaufe they can neither write nor read, the Governor by a faithful Meffenger fends to his inferior Officers fuch Commands as he judges may tend to the moft advantage of the Publick both in Peace and War. This Meffenger carries an Arrow with a Ribbon, as a Sign of his Employment; the Arrow is held in the Right-hand, and if he who receives it will anfwer the Meffage, then he fends back the fame Arrow with another, but if he judges it convenient to acquaint any other Curaces and Pulmenes with the fame Meffage, then he fends one of his own Servants to them with the fame Arrow.
As touching the Climate and Production of Chili, this Account is given by an $\begin{aligned} & \text { aprritular } \\ & \text { account of }\end{aligned}$ Eye-witnefs: "The Winter Seafon (faith he) is fo tempeftuous, that fometimes cchid. "the Trees are not onely blown up by the Roots, but the Earch it felf is rent afun"der; fome Valleys being fill'd with Snow, fwell the Rivers exceedingly when "it melts, which overflowing part of the Countrey, makes the fame very fruitful. "It is alfo extream cold here, becaufe fuch flarp Winds blow from the Moun"tains, that they pierce through the Skin and Flefh of a Man : and indeed there "Winds would make the whole Countrey defolate, were not the Mountains over"grown with great Oaken Trees, againft which the Wind breaks. Moreover, the "Valleys produce Coals, which ferve the Inhabitants for Feivel. The Winter be " reaves the Trees of Leaves; but not thofe which grow in the Wilderneffes. In ""March the Fields are full of innumerable forts of fweet-fmelling Flowers; out of "fome whereof are boyl'd the Angel-Water, fo call'd for its fmell and wholfom "tafte. The Grafs"grows in November and December as high as our ftanding Corn. "Turnips, Mint, Clover, and Muftardsfeed, grow naturally for feveral Leagues " together. Likewife excellent Phyfical Herbs grow here, whofe power and ope= ": ration their Doctors, call'd Maci, keep from the Spaniards. Thefe Maciare in great "efteem, not onely amongtt the Cbilefes, but alfo the Spaniards, for their great skill " in Phyfick. Amongft thefe Herbs the chiefeft is call'd Quinciarmali which grows "but half a handssbreadth above the Ground, and Spreads into feveral Stalks " like a Nofegay; and on each Stalk is a Saffronccolour'd Flower. This Herb "pull'd up with the Rnot, and boyl'd, and the Decoction given to any one that is "bruis'd within, works moft wonderfully, for it draws out the putrifid Blood, "though funk never fo deep in the Wound. Moreover the Juice of Culen is alfo "very healing, if us'd for an Ointment, or pour'd on any Wound. This Herb,by the "Spaniards call'd Albaciga, hath fweet-fmelling Leaves, and a tall Body. In fome "places alfo grow's an Herb, not unlike Grafs, which boyl'd in Water, immedi"ately cures the Feaver and Spleen, and cleanfes the Blood. There are likewife "Medicines here, which diffolving the Stone in the Bladder or Kidneys, caufe it to
"be urin'd forth. The Plant Luce, which grows out of rented Rocks which are " often overflow'd by the Sea, makes a fort of well tafted Bread.

The Wildernefs Atacama, which makes a Boundary betwixt Peruand Cbili, extends Northward ninety Leagues, is dry and barren in Summer, and in the Winter exceeding cold, and cover'd with Snow. No Provifion is to be found upon it, except a few wild Sheep, call'd Gunnacos. About the middle thereof the Brook La Sal rifing in the Eaftern Mountains, flows Weftward through a deep Valley to the Southern Ocean.

Troublefom Pallage from Peru to Chili, to Salt, and all along the Shore lie greater or leffer pieces of Salt; fo that the Way from Peru to Chili through Atacama is very troublefom : but that which leads thither over the fnowy Mountains Andes, is much worfe, becaufe it is farther about, and threatens the Traveller with Deftruction, if he obferve not the right Seafon of the Year; for in the Winter there blows fuch a cold Wind on thefe Mountains, that a Man, being fuddenly benumm'd, falls down dead on the Ground, and grows Atiff againft all putrefaction. Fofepb de acoffatells us, that Bodies have been found there as firm and found, as if they had been living, which had fome years before breath'd their laft on the faid Mountains.

But Diego Almagro, who firft difcover'd Chill, Anno 1536. went thither with two Companies of Horre, and five hundred Foor, through the Countreys Charcasochicas, Xuxayes, and Chaquana, and having pafs'd over a craggy Soil and the fnowy Mountains Andes, he entred into the firtt Chilean Valley Capayapo, having loft no fmall number of Men and Horfes with Hardfhip and Cold; the inconvenience therefore of both the fore-mention'd Ways between Peru and Cliili, forc'd Travellers to go along the Shore wath'd by the Southern Ocean. Copayapo bears that Denomis niation frosa the Turkoifesw hich a Mountain produces there in great abundance. The Valley it felf is the fruitfulleft of all Chili; for in no place the Maiz grows beto ter, and in greater abundance than here, the Ears being half a Yard long, and the Stalks the length of a Lance ; each Grain that is Sow'n, yields at leaft three hundred in Harveft. All Spanifh Fruits grow better here than in Spain.

Through the midft of Copayapo runs a River of the fame Denomination, and twenty Leagues in length from the Andes, and at its Mouth hath a convenient Harbor before the South Sea.

The South part of Copayapa borders the Valley Guafoo, which is lefs fruitful than the firf, but hath a convenient Haven, into which falls a frefh River, penn'd in by Sluces for the watering of the Cane-Fields. Moreover, there are plenty of Paro tridges; alfo wild Sheep and grey Squirreloskins are of a great value. To the Southward flow alfo the Rivers Maypo, (hachi Pool, Loro, and Moule.

Beyond thefe Screams Eaftward, the Promonca's dwell near the Monntains Andes.
In the Valley Cbili, which gives Denomination to the whole Countrey, were formerly the famous Gold-Mines Quillatus, from whence Valdivia, Anno 1544, carry'd an invaluable Treafure. The South Sea makes here a large and convenient Harbor for all manner of Veffels, buile ewo Leagues below the City Serena, at a little River, which fo moiftens the low Countrey, that it produces all manner of Plants. It rains here not above three times ayear.

From the Entertainment which Sir Francis Drake met withal here; may-fufficiently be conjectur'd the Power of Serena; for when the Englifh Landed here for Water, they were driven away not without great lofs by three hundred Cafilian Horfe, and two hundred Foot that Sally'd out of the City. The Mines, though they inclofe much Gold, yet they produce but little, becaufe the Spaniards, according to the teftimony of a Chilean Pilot, whom Oliver van Noort took Prifoner, deftroy'd all the ancient Inhabitants that fhould have help'd them to dig the Gold.

The City St. Jago, lying near the Stream Topocalma, receives great benefit by the Haven Valparay $y_{0}$, which makes the fore mention'd River, becaufe in that Haven all Goods that come from Lima are unladen, and the Goods fhipp'd aboard. The Countrey about the fame produces plenty of Wines, Apples, Corn, and all forts of Cattel, and efpecially Horfes in fuch abundance, that thoufands of them run wild.

In Valparayjo Sir Francis Drake took a Ship from Valdivia, laden with two thoufand five hundred Bars of fine Gold. But the Netberland Admiral, Joris Spilbergen, had not fuch good fuccefs, who Sailing thither with five Ships, Amno i 615 . difco ver'd a Spanifh Ship in the Harbor; where fending his Boats well Mann'd to fetch off a Veffel that lay hal'd on the Shore, they found it burning, and thereupon Steer'd their Courfe into a little Inlet full of Rocks, which ferv'd the Spaniards in ftead of Breaftoworks; for lying behind them, they fir'd continually on the Hollanders; yet Spilbergen Landing with two hundred Men, met a confiderable number of Spanijh. Soldiers, and Horfes drawn out on the Shore, from whom they foon fled.

Before the City La Conception lies the Ifland Quiriquyna, whofe Straw Huts Spilbergen laid in Afhes.

At the time.when Oliver van Noort came to an Anchor here, the Governor Frano cifcus de Quinones Commanded feven hundred Spanifh Soldiers to reduce the revolted Cbilefes.

Four Leagues from Conception lie the sich Gold-Mines Quilacoya, which formerly produc'd great Riches.

Over againft the Valley Arauco, which rifes out of the Sea, lies the Ifland Maria, in a large Inlet made by the force of the Waves.

Here grows abundance of Wheat and Barley. The Rivers allo afford plenty of Fifh, amongtt which there is one call'd The Lake-Spider, in whofe Eyes are to be feen little Specks, which would exceed Pearl, if they were but hard enough.

Two Spaniards Command forty Natives on Maria, and keep them in fuch flavery; that they may neither eat Apples, Pears, Grapes, Poulcrey, or Sheep, though they are there in great abundance.

Elias Herkmans was once in probability to have taken poffefion of this Ifland for the Netherland State, had he not been prevented by an extraordinary occafion.

Between the Towns Conception and Imperial lie the Provinces Arauco, Tucapel, and Puren, inhabited by a valiant People, that often alarm the Spaniards. In each Pro. vince Valdivia buile a Fort in the Year 1551 , eight Leagues diftant from one another.' He alfo difcover'd the rich Gold=Mines De Ongol, and built the Fore Confines there.

The Natives hereabouts being exceedingly oppreft by the Spaniards, fell upon the Fort in Puren, where thofe in the Garrifon, unable to defend themfelves, went to Tucapel, and from thence to Arauco; to Settle there. Valdivia matching with three hundred Men to the Caftle in Tucapel, was fo fiercely affaulted at the River Leto, that all his Men were kill'd, and he himfelf being taken Prifoner, had melted Gold pour'd down his Throat: One Boy onely efcaping, brought the news to thofe in Garrifon in the Fort Arauco, who fled to La Conception, as thofe from Puren to Imperial. Not long after the Lieutenant Francijco de Villagra went with a hundred and fixty Soldiers to Raquetta, a Promontory againft the South Sea in Aranco, to take Revenge for the Death of his General Valdivia; but he alfo had like to have follow'd the fame fate, for he left ninety fix Men behind him, and with much ado recover'd La Conception: By which means the vitorious Chilefes came to be fo much fear'd, that the Spaniards forfook the Towns Rica, St. Fago, and Confines, and fortifid themfelves ftrongly in Imperial.

Concerning Arauco, it is a fmall County, twenty Leagues long and feven broad. The Inhabitants thereof areftrangely valiant; thofe that inhabit the Mountains are call'd Pulches, and are generally of a duller Spirit than thofe that dwell in the Val. leys; all of them ufe long Pikes, Halberds, Bowes and Arrows, Helmets, and Breaftplates of Deerskins, in the Wars; they know when to clofe and open their Ranks, and ftand in good order according to Martial Difcipline, which makes the Spanijh King receive little benefit from Arauco, though it is full of rich Mines, becaufe thofe in Garrifon being five hundred in number, dare not come out of their Fort.

To Arauco belongs the Ifland La Mocha, low on the North fide, and rocky on the South ; againft which the Ocean breaks its Billows: in the middle of it rifes a fplit Mountain, out of whofe Gap flows a frefh Brook; the fruifful Soyl produces abundance of Pumpeons, Maiz, Potato's, and all manner of delicions Fruit; as alfo Oxen, Sheep, and other Cattel, which go grazing up and down in great Herds; the Village that is upon it boafts about fifty Huts, built long of Straw, with a Door in the middle, and round like an Arch on the top.

Sir Francis Drake and Candigh were formerly fomewhat roughly Entertain'd here by the Inhabitants: but they fhew'd themfelves fomewhat more civil to the Dutch Muchas. Admirals, Oliver Van Noort and Foris Spillergen: The firf coming to an Anchor here Anno 1600. put one fobn Claefzoon (Condemn'd for fome great Crime to be Landed on fome ftrange Place) afhore on La Mocla, with a few Trifles; for which being kindly Entertain'd, the Seamen refolv'd to go affore the next day, who were likewife civilly Treated. The Governor of Mocba coming aboard, Lodg'd a Night in the Ship, and afterwards conducted the Admiral through the Village, but forbad the Seamen from entring any of the Huts; out of which the Women upon the hearing of a ludden noife, came runningout, and kneel'd down on the Ground in three Parties, whileft an old Matron came forth with a Pitcher full of Chica, and gave each of the Netherlanders a Cup full to drink, fitting on Blocks in the Fields.

A Man Marries as many Wives here as he can maintain. They all live peaceably one with another, and go Cloth'd with a pair of Breeches, and Frock without Sleeves. The Women tie their Hair in Braids about their Heads, but the Men let it hang down carelefly.

Fifteen years after Spilbergen Landing here with four well Mann'd Boats, found the Shore full of People, who had brought all manner of Provifions to barter againft Axes and Knives. The Iflanders going aboard, wondred to fee the Soldiers drawn out in order, and much more when a Gun was fir'd: They furnifh'd the Hollanders with a hundred Sheep, amongft which was one with an extraordinary long Neck, and Legs, Hair, Mouth, and Back like a Cammel.

The Netherland Admiral, Hendrick Brewer, coming to an Anchor on che Coalt of Guadalanquen, Anno 1643. was inform'd by the Chilefes, that about four years before they had burnt Baldivia, murder'd the Spaniards that were in Garrifon, and pour'd melted Gold down the Governor's Throat and into his Ears, and made a Drinking: Cup of his Scull, and Trumpets of his Shinbones.' Brewer alto found forme Ruines of the City, which formerly boated four hundred and fifty Houses, and was not yet fo utterly defaced, but that the two Markets and croft Streets were plainly to be Cen, and the Walls gave fufficient teftimony of its ancient luftre. The Countrey round about produces Wheat and Barley; neither are there any Mines to be found that produce finer Gold than thole which are hereabouts. In the Mouth of the River which runs to Baldivia, lies a fall Idle, the Men whereof are grofs and fat, and fend their time in Drinking and Dancing, whileft the Women do all the Work.

About the City Oforno, though lying under a cold Climate, is a Soil full of GoldMines, where above two thoufand Cbilefes are under the fubjection of the Spaniards.
Since Tunis Swarte-Teun conquer'd and ruin'd this Place with fall Forces under Spilbergen's Command, it hath not yet repaired its Loffes: The Ruines of great Buildings are fufficient teftimonies of its former fplendor.

On the utmoft Point of the Inland, on which Oforno is built, lies the Village CaretMappo, burnt by H. Brewer, An, 1643 . for he Landing fixty fix Men here, under the Command of the Enfign Blauewenbaen, they Engag'd with ninety Spaniards, who be. took themfelves to the Woods, leaving fix Men aid fifteen Horfes behind them. Detrition

The Sea-Coaft of Chile lies as followeth : It begins on the North with the Val- Coat of cate: ley Copayapo, runs Southerly to the Haven Coquimba, and makes the large Inlet Atongayo ; the convenient Harbor Quintero, at the Mouth of the River Concagua; is also to the South ward.

Next Quintero follow the Havens Valparay fa, Topocalma, and Penco, known by feveral Mountains cover'd with Snow.

The Stream Labapi difembogues alfo in the Bay Arauco, where the Sea waffling over the Shore, makes good Salt.
On the Shore of the River Lebo, Garcias.Mendoza built the Town Canete, which not long after was deferred, by reafon of the Wars with che Chilefes.
From the Haven Carnero a Channel runs to the City Confines: alfo the River Cauten makes a convenient Harbor before the City Imperial.

Next appear the Streams Tolten, Queule, Valdivia, Chabin, and Bueno; and near the Promontory Gallegos, Chili ends to the South.

Eaftward up into the Countrey lies the great Province Tucuman, inhabited by The Province, three forts of People, viz. Juries, Diagnitas, and Tucumans, from whom the Country receives its Denomination, and juts Northward againft the Chicas, belonging to the rich Plate=Countrey Potofi, Eaftward towards the Province La Plata, and Weftward towards the South Sea.

The Ground about the City St. Iago del Eftero, formerly call'd Vares, being the Bifhop's See, and Refidence of the Governors, is brackifh and fandy. The Citizens are mot of them Weavers; the Natives go Cloth'd, and are of an affable Temper and Difpofition.

The River Efera yearly overflows the Countrey, which being dung'd with Mud, produces abundance of Nair, Barley; Wheat, and all manner of Fruits.

The Stream Salado runs the fame Courfe as the Eftera, from the Weft to the Eat through a Plain-Countrey, but hath brackifh Water, and abundance of Fifth. Between both thefe Rivers the Inhabitants get plenty of Honey, Wix, Cotton, and Cochenite. Cattel alfo increafes in abundance, as likewife Deer, and other Venifon; and for Fowl, Partridges, Pigeons, and the like; but the Tygers and Lyons do much mifchief to the Inhabitants. Their chief Commodities for Trade and Merchandife are Cloch, Cotton and Salt.

Garcias Mendoza buile the Towns Neuva Londres in the Province Calcbaqui, and Gorluba in the Territory of the furies, but they were both of them foon deferted.

Behind Peru and La Plata the Plains Omaguaza extend themfelves along the Rivers Paraguay and Bermeio, under a temperate Climate, where the Inhabitants go Clothed, and keep abundance of Cattel.

Productions of the Coun trey, and Na pure of the People.

In moft places hereabouts breed wonderful large Baboons, with long Tails and Beards; which being wounded, pull the Arrows out of the Wound, and throw back the fame with a grim Countenance at thofe that fhoot them.

The Serpents are likewife fo big here, that they fwallow whole Deer.
The Rivers breed horrid Crocodiles; and the Woods; Lyons and Tygers.
The Inhabitants differ both in their Cuftoms and Language : the generality of them are continually Drunk. They keep yearly a great Feaft, to reconcile the Souls of their Predeceffors to them; to which purpofe they bring as many roafted Oftriches as they have Souls to Offer to ; then Drink three days after, and on the laft they carry the Head of a fair Virgin (who freely offers her felf to be kill'd) about the Town, making a fad and lamentable noife for the fpace of an hour ; at the end of which they all begin to laugh, and ofeentimes fall a killing one another : which Cuftom is moft obferv'd amongft the Matarani.

The Abipones go naked in Summer, and in the Winter Clothe themfelves with Furrs ; they Paint their whole Bodies with Spots like the Tygers, Carve their Bo= dies all over, making Cut-work of their Skins, into which they ftick Oftriches Feathers, as alfo through their Noftrils, Lips, and Ears, and account Baldnefs the greateft Beauty. They honor thofe for their Gods, who patiently endure unfuffe. rable Tortures. The Women hang their Faces and Breafts full of Pearls: They never bring up above two Children, for they kill all above that number.

The Planies range up and down without Habitations under the open Skie.
The Giants Tobae fpeak a curious Language, but are very falvage and cruel. Anno 157 I. Erouaca, a prime Man amongft them, devour'd his own Sifter, Wife, Mother, and Children. When they defign to go a Journey, they roaft their Sons and Daughters, to ferve them for Provifions in fead of other Flefh ; and their Sick are upon the leaft Complaint bury'd alive.

The Caaguiaares, who dwell in Huts in great Woods, feed on Woorms, Mice, Apes, Tygers, and wild Honey; moft of them are bunch-back'd, and go clad with the Skins of wild Beafts.

C H A P. III.

Magellanica.

NOrthward againft Cbili and Rio de la Plata juts the Countrey, which from s Ferdinand Magaglianus is wrongly call'd Magellanica; to which feveral Voya- Vasto Magazages have been made by fundry People from, the North=Sea to the Sous thern Ocean, divers Steering ftill new Courfes: for fome follow'd the Straights of Magellan; others Sail'd more or lefs South-Weft : By which means Le Mair open'd a new Paffage between Mauritius and the States-Ifand; and H. Brewer, a Way below the States-Ifand; yet all Steer'd their Courfe. Wefterly, fo that none of them return'd the fame Way, except Elias Herkmans and Capt. Ladrillero, the laft of whom coming from Cbili to go to the North=Sea, met with fuch Storms; that he was fore'd to Tack about, and ftand back again to Cbili, as Herkmans did from Chili to Brafile.

Anno 1579. Peter Sarmiento weigh'd Anchor with two Ships, and Sailing from Callao de Lima through the Straights of Magellan to Spain, ran by the Ifles Felix and dition. Amber; difcover'd in one Inlet eighty five Ifles, moft of them defolate, founded all the Havens, found abundance of Oyfters with Pearls in them, call'd an Inlet Eran. cifco, and a Mountain on the rightshand, Punta de la Gente Rubra, becaule the Inhahabitants thereof painted their Bodies red, found the Havens Mifericordia and Cans delaria, and the Ifland Sataynes, where five of the Natives gave him an Account of Sir Francis Drake, for whom he Cruis'd, and had fight of a fnowy Mountain, whofe top vomited Fire. On the Promontory Ana he erected a woodden Crofs, and laid a Writing under the fame, wherein he advertis'd all Perfons to take notice, that Pope Alexander the Sixth had freely given the King of Spain all the Coun. treys thereabouts. Not long after he Steer'd through the Straights of Magellan along the Coaft of Brafile, to Spain.

Concerning the Sea-Coaft, which extends from (bili to Nagellanica, it is as fol- The seaz loweth : Next to the Promontory Felis lie Cypriaen, Clara, Cabode las IJlas, the Ifland conit from Socora, the Haven Domingo, the Point Gallego, the Road Stevan, the Cape Andres, and Ochavario, and the Valley Nueftra Semora, between two Hills. Along the Southern Ocean lie Abra de San Guillen, Punta del Gada, Los Reyes, Innocentes, Auguftine, Roia, Cas talina, Amaro, and Victoriano; before which the three Ines call'd The Sorlings, are feen in the Mouth of the Straights againft the South Sea.

Magaglianus Steering hither, Winter'd within the Straights in an Inlet call'd St. Juo lian, ftay'd two Moneths before the Mouth of the River Santia Cruiz, where he took abundance of Fifh, and from thence ran along the Shore to the Promontory Las Virgines, which receiv'd that Denomination, becaufe it was difcover'd on the Day Confecrated to St. Mrfula and her eleven thoufand Virgins: Going a League up into the Countrey, he found a Hut, in which above two hundred dead Bodies were bury'd after a frange manner, and on the Shore a great Wiale, driven on the Sands by a Storm. He nam'd the Countrey to the Southward, Terradel Fuego, becaufe from the Promontory Severino in the Nigtit he efpy'd feveral Fires. He was exceedingly de lighted with the pleafant Coafts on each fide of the Straights, which were the more pleafant, by reafon of feveral Hills overgrown wich fweet-fmelling Trees, whofe tops lay cover'd with Snow.

Magaglianus was follow'd, Amo 1525 . by Garcias Loayfa, who Sailing into the Straights near the Promontory Virgines, endur'd great Colds; in the Haven St. George he found ftore of green Cinamon : The People he reported to be of fo monftrous a ftature, that they might well be accounted Giants; fome of whom went naked, others wore a Net of Feathers made faft about their Waftes, and others a loofe Garment all over their Bodies. Loayfa gave this Countrey, inhabited by Giants, the Denomination of Terra del Patagoni. He judg'd the Straights of Magellan to be a hundred and ten Spanifh Miles long between the two Promontories, Virgines at the North Sea, and Defeado at the Southern Ocean. Within lie three Inlets, which have feven Leagues in breadth.

Simon Alcazova Sailing hither nine years after Loay $a$, fhunn'd the Land on the left-fide of the Straights, becaufe it lay moft under Water, and was forc'd by his Men to return to the Haven Leones, where he and all his Seamen were put to death.

Not long after the Bifhop of Placentia fitted out three Sail, which entring the Straights, Anno 1540. loft their Admiral; the Vice-Admiral Wintering at the Inlet Las Zorras, (fo call'd, becaufe they took many Foxes on a Champain Countrey without Trees) return'd to Spain without any farther fuccefs ; the third Ship with much ado arriv'd alfo at Arequipa.

The Voyages of Hawkibs,
Drake, and Drandifo.

The Englifh Captain, Richard Hawkins, alfo Sailing hither, found the Land on the South fide of the Straights, moft broken, and in fome places a few Huts.

Anno 1578. Sir Francis Drake Sailing hither along the Coaft of Brafile, Landing on an Ifland in the Mouth of the Straights, kill'd above three thoufand Birds. Sailing from hence he was miferably tofs'd in the South Sea, and difcover'd about the middle of the Straights, that the Current out of the Southern and Northern Ocean met at the place where a great Bay bends Southwardly: To three Illes he gave the Name of Elizabeth, Bartbolomeiw, and George, and drove three Weeks without making any Sail, in fnowy, mifty, and rainy Weather, falling amongft dangerous Rocks, and at laft Anchor'd in the Haven Health, which he fo call'd, becaufe his fick and wearied Men being refrefh'd there, he fet Sail from thence and return'd home.

Captain Thomas Candifh following Sir Erancis Drake eight years after, found near a Creek within the City Pbilip-ftadt, built there by the Spaniards, to fecure the Pafo fage out of the Northern to the Southern Ocean for themfelves; to which purpofe they held four hundred Men in Garrifon in the faid City, which lying near a plea= fant Wood, was defended by four Bulwarks, each fortifi'd with a Brafs Gun : But the Spaniards not being able to endure the Cold, nor get in their Harveft, which was continually fpoil'd by the Natives, were fo pinch'd with Hunger, that after three years ftay many of them $\mathrm{dy}^{\prime} \mathrm{d}$ in their Houfes, which caus'd a filthy Stink, and confequently a vile Diftemper, not unlike the Small-pox; at laft twenty three of them, amongt whom were two Women, judg'd it convenient to bury their great Guns, and march away with their Mufquets; a whole Year they travell'd in great want, feeding on the Leaves of Trees, wild Roots, and Fowls which they now and then kill'd; at laft they refolv'd to travel by Land to Rio de la Plata, but never any news was heard what became of them, onely one Spaniard, call'd Ferdinand, being ftray'd from the reft, was taken by Candifh, to whom he gave the fore mention'd Relation. Candighentring Philip-ftadt, found a Gibbet, on which hung a Malefactor in Chains, a Church, the Houfes full of famifh'd Bodies, and four Brafs Guns, which he digg'd out of the Ground. From hence he ran to 2 frefl. water River (which difembogues into the Straights,) whofe Banks are inhabited by cruel Cannibals, and the Countrey all about plain Pafture Grounds, whereas moft part of the Shore in the Straights is very mountainous. Candifh Landing, found Spanilh Knives and Stilletto's amongft the Man-eaters, and lay a whole Moneth at Anchor in the weftern Mouth of Masellanica, by rea Fon of great Storms, feeding on Mufsles, Cockles, and Fowl; and from thence Sail'd about the World, returning home at laft with a Booty of twenty Tun of Gold.

Anno 1599. Simon de Cordes Commanding five Netherland Veffels, enering the Straights of Magellan, found in the green Bay, Mufsles of a Span long, abundance of Ducks and Geefe, and a great many Trees not unlike Laurel, they being onely bigger, and had a fharp biting Shell. The Wind blew exceeding hard here over the Rocks, infomuch that they were fometimes driven from four Anchors.

A few Moneths after Oliver van Noord follow'd Cordes, and Anchor'd near the Pinguyn Ifles, the biggeft whereof is calll'd Caftemme, and the leaft Talke; the Inhabitants thereof dwell in Caverns under Ground, and feed on the Birds Pingujns, of whofe Skins they make Mantles. Thefe Birds weigh generally fifteen or fixteen Tie Bird Pound, have black Backs, white Bellies, very thick Skins, long-Bills like Ravens, fhort thick Necks, two plum'd Fins in ftead of Wings, black Feet like a Goofe, and delicate Flefh, notwithftanding they feed on Fifh, after which they fwim very fwift with the fore-mention'd Fins, which hang down on each fide along their Bo, dies when they walk upright on the Shore; they fit generally four together in their Holes, made after fuch a manner, that a Man which knows not of them, may cre he be aware, fink up to the Knees in the fame, and be bitten terribly by the Legs. Cordes his Seamen got in two hours time above nine bundred of thefe Birds, whileft he difcover'd the falvage People Enoo, which inhabit the Countrey Co ßi, and are divided into the Families Kemenetes, Kennekas, and Caraike; the firf inhabited the Territory Carray; the fecond Caramay; and the third; Morine: all of them Paint their Cheeks and Forehead. Farther into the Countrey dwell che Trimenes, a gigantick fort of People, eleven Foot high, who maintain continual Wars with their Neighbors.

Moreover, Noord difcover'd leveral Inlets full of Ice and frefh Water in the Straights of Magellan, whither the United Netherlands have fince fent the Admirals William Schouten, Joris Spilbergen, and Jaques le Heremite. The common opinion, that the Countrey on the South fide of Magellan is of the Main Continent, Experience hath manifefted; for Schouten found the fame, Amn 16i6. who Sailing from Porto Defire, left the Straights of Magellan on the right-hand, and Sail'd Southerly through whitifh Water, and in fifty four Degrees difcover'd a Channel eight Leagues broad, through which ran a ftrong Current. The Coaft rofe with high Moun. tains, whofe tops were cover'd with Snow. The utmoft Point was call'd Mauritius, from the Prince of Orange; the broken Coaft on the other fide, The States-I/land; and the Straights it Felf, Le Maire, upon the Requeft of the Merchant Jacob Le Maire, whofe Father IJaac was chief owner of the two Ships of which Schouten was Commander; who found fomany Whales here, that he could fearce Steer clear of them, they fwimming by hundreds in a Shoal. The Sea-pies, much bigger than Swans, fuffer'd themfelves to be caught by the Hands of the Sea*men. Morcover he call'd the barren grey Rocks, and others leffer, lying North.Eaft from the Promontory Hoorn, Barnevields Ifles. Sailing beyond the Point Hoorn, he was tofs'd by the vaft Billows that came rowling out of the Weft.

It was no fooner nois'd abroad, that the Netherlanders had found the Straights Le Maire, but the Spanijh King Pbilip immediately fent two Carvels thicher, under the Command of Garcias de Nodal, who took an exact Account of the Heads,Roads, and Inlets belonging to the fore-mention'd Straights, and return'd without performing any other Exploits.

Diggo filues Diego Flores Steer'd four years before Candifh to the Straights of Magellan with chor from Cales; for before he got out of fight of the Spanifh Coaft, he loft five of his Ships and eight hundred Men; yet profecuting his Voyage, he ftay'd during the Winter Seafon on the Coaft of Brafile, and was furpris'd by fo vetement a Storm, near the Ifland Catalina, that a company of Women, fent under the Charge of Peter Sarmiento to Settle in the Straights of Magellan, were all caft away, with the greateft part of the Ammunition and Provifions. The Englifh Admiral Fenton took three Ships of this Fleet from Flores, two were caft away in the River La Plata, and one ran back to Spain, whileft Flores came into the Straights of Magellan on the laft day of March, at which time the whole Countrey lay cover'd with Snow; wherefore feeing no hopes of finding out any place to Settle Sarmiento upon, he ftood back with eight Sail to Drafile, and in his Return burnt three French, Ships, took two more, and Sail'd home. But his Lieutenant Diego Ribera, and the Governor Peter Sarmiento, Landed the Year after Flores his departure, with four hundred Men, thirty Women, and Provifions for eight Moneths, in the Straights of Magellan; from whence Ribera Sail'd back, whileft Sarmiento built on the North fide of the Mouth of the Straights, the Town Nombre de fefirs; and fifty Leagues farther in the narroweft place, Philip-ftadt, with four Bulwarks; the Inhabitants of which (as is before related) were deftroy'd by Famine.

Terra del Euego, already mention'd, oppofite to the Countrey of the Patagones, lyin the South between the Straights of Magellan, is a broken Countrey, with high Mountains full of Trees, and wafh'd by pleafant Rivulets: four Foot deep in the Ground it begins to be all Rocky. The Air is troubled with exceeding greas Winds out of the Weft. The Inhabitants are pale Countenanc'd, but Paint their Bodies with divers Colours ; they have long, thick, and black Hair, and very fharp Teeth; the Men gofark naked; the Women cover their fecret Pates with a piece of Leather, and wear Strings full of Shells about their Necks; fome alfo Mantle themfelves themfelves with the Skins of wild Beafts, which affords but little warmith againft the Cold that is here in Winter. Their Huts confilt of Trees, and are made round at bottom, and fharp on the top like a Tent, having onely a Holc for the Smoak to go out at; they are digg'd three Foor deep into the Ground, and alfo heap'd round with Earth ; within the Huts nothing is to be found but Baskets with Fifhing Utenfils and Stone Hooks. Their offenfive Arms the Men always carry about with them, becaufe they always maintain Wars with their Neighbors. They handle a Quarter-ftaff very dexteroufly, are good Slingers and Bowemen; they allo ufe Lances with Charp. Stone Points. Moreover they make Boats of the Bark of Trees, which they firft cut out into a Form, then fewing it together, bow the fame after the manner of a Boat, which rifes before and behind, and being fifteen or fixteen Foot long, can carry eight.Men, going exceeding fwift. Thefe People are not onely beaftial in their Practices, but alfo Murderers.

Laftly; befides the Straights of Le Maire, Henrick Brenber hath found a new Paf. fage to the Eaftward above the States-Ifland, out of the Northern Ocean to the South Sea.

CHAP. IV.   The unknown South-Land.

   The unknown South-Land.}

THe unknown Soutb-Land extends with Ceveral Points to the Southern Ocean, which have been more feen than difcover'd by divers Nations. Oppofite to the Eaft-India Illand Gilolo, lies Terra des Papous, to which Jucob Le, Maire gave the Denomination of Nein Guinee.

The Englifh Commander, Richard Hawkins, Sailing to the Southward behind Papou, found the Inhabitants black like Negro's: round about appear feveral Inles and convenient Harbors. Herrera places here on the Eaft, the Countrey Agnada; the Road St. Fago, the Illand Los Crefpos, the Haven Andreas, the River Virginum, and the little Ine La Vellena, before the Mouth of the Stream Auguftine. Next you meet Eafterly with the Rivers St. Peter and St. Paul, the Havens Hieronymus, the Ifles Punta Salida, Abrigo, Malagente, and Maure de Dios, inhabited by white Peoplc.

The firft that difcover'd Nero Guinee, Anno 1529. was Alvares de Savedra, who, as alfo feveral others befides him, fuppos'd that fome of the Illands Solomons border New Guinee.

Eighteen of the many Solomon Illes exceed the reft, of which fome are three hundred Leagues in circumference, fome two hundred, others one hundred, and fome fifty : All that are inhabited have a fruitful Soil, producing all manner of Provifions, particularly Hogs and Poultrey. The Natives differ very much one from another, for fome are black, others white or tawny.

The fore-mention'd Hawkins in his Voyage towards the Straights of Magellan, fuppofing it by eftimation to be fifty Leagues from the Main Coaft of Amierica, difcover'd forty Degrees to the Southward of the Equinoctial Line, with a Wefterly Wind, the unknown South-Land; which he found to confift of low Land, and to be inhabited, by reafon of the many Fires which he faw afhore in the Night.

The Spanijh Commander, Peter Fernandes de Quiro, and the Admiral Lodowick Paes de Torres, have made a farther Difcovery of this Countrey; for Landing on the South-Land, they met with feveral People, fome whereof were brown, others white, and others fallow; fome had long and lank, others fhort and curl'd Hair : They acknowledg'd no King or fupream Governor, nor were Govern'd by any Laws, neither had they any Wall'd Towns or Forts; but being divided amongt themfelves, they continually Encountred one another with Darts, Clubs, and Staves. Their Houfes built of Wood, were cover'd with the Leaves of PalmTrees. Their Houfholdftuff confifted in Earthen Difhes, Pots, Ropes, Fifhonets, Flutes, Drums, and varnifh'd Spoons. Their Gardens were neatly kepr. Near their Temples were Burying-places. They Row'd very fwift in little Boats. Their Bread, well tafted, was made of long thick Roots, either roafted or boyl'd.

Fertility;
Plenty, and
Riches of th Countrey.

Here alfo grow fix forts of Platano's, great abundance of Almonds, Oranges, Cittrons, thick Sugar-Canes, Palm.Trees, which yield Wine, Cocoa's, and Obos, in tafte not much unlike Quinces; but the greateft benefit which they receive, is from the Cocoa Nuts, the Pulp whereof is delicious Meat and Drink ; the outermoft Shells whereof ferve for Cups or Difhes, the inner for Ropes and Cordage; of the Leaves they make Sails and Mats, and covertheir Houfes with the fame; of the Body, Oars, Clubs, Pikes, and Props for their Houfes.

Befides feveral forts of Pot-herbs, here grow very high Coleworts and Bledo's.
The Countrey alfo abounds with Pigeons, Partridges, Ducks, Goats, Hogs, and other ordinary Cattel and Fowls.

The Rivers afford them Souls, Salmon, Thornback, Sea-Cocks, Eels, Gurnets, and feveral other unknown Fifhes, very delicate and wholfom.

This Countrey allo produces Nutmegs, Maftick, Peppers, Ginger, Cinamon, Gold, Silver, Pearls, Silk, Sugar, Annifeed, Honey, Wax, Ebonyowood, Turpen. tine, Lime-pits, and Marble.

Pbilips=Bay bends cwenty Leagues into the Countrey, hath a fafe Harbor, and excellent Ground, confifting of black Sand. Two great Rivers difcharge their Waters into the faid Bay, round about which are pleafant Woods, full of Quails, Parrakito's, Parrots, Nightingales, and Bulfinches, which Sing very fweetly. The Bloffoms, efpecially of Orange-Trees, and the Herb Alvaca, yield an odoriferous. fmell. The wholfom Air adds vigor to aged People.

Fernandes de Quir delivering the foremention'd Account to Pbilip the Second, King of Spain, mov'd him to Plant the unknown South-Land, and the rather, becaufe he had not found any fnowy Mountains, drown'd Land, Crocodiles, Mufchito's, or any hurtful Creature, yet was not regarded; fo that no Spaniard hath fince that time fet Foot on the unknown South-Land. But the Eaff-India Company undertaking the Defign with great eagernefs, fent thither two Ships, viz. the Hemso kerk and Sea-Cock, under the Command of Abel Ta/man, to make a farther Difcovery of the faid SouthsLand: Anno 1642, on the twelfth of Auguft, they weigh'd Anchor from Batavia, Sail'd through the Straigbts of Sunda to Maurice=IJland, where they Anchor'd in the North. Weft Haven before the Caftle Frederick. Henrick, on the fifth of September in the fore-mention'd Year. On the eighth of OEtob. Tafman ftood over to the Soutb. Land, near which he was furpris'd by a violent Storm ; afo terwards, on the twenty fifth of November, he difcover'd a barren Shore, againft which the Sea beat very furioufly; and Steering along this Coaft, he found a convenient Inlet, but was forc'd by the hard Weather to ftand off to Sea again; yet not long after approaching the Shore, he faw great hollow Trees, and round about them abundance of Mufsle-fhells, and from the Wood heard a fhrill noife of People Singing : Going to the fame place again, he put the Orange Flag on a Pole, Cary'd with the Eaforndia Companies Arms, and call'd the Inlet Frederick-Henrick, the whole Coaft, Antiony van Diemen. Sailing from thence Eaftward, he on the eighteenth of December difcover'd a convenient Haven, where fending his Sloop to difcover the Shore, he came back in the Evening, being follow'd by a Boar, which approach'd nearer and nearer, but Night coming upon him, he could not well difcern what they were that purfu'd him, but heard the cry of hoarfe Voices, and a fhrill noife like that of a Trumper, which the Netberland Seamen anfwer'd by hollowing, and blowing on their Trumpers, and at laft firing a Gun, the Southo landers made a hideous noife, and blowing their Horns, return'd afhore. Tafman hereupon call'd his Watch, laid Hangers, Pikes, and Mufquets ready Charg'd, upon the Decks. The next day the Soutblanders came in feveral Boats, wwo and two ty'd together, and cover'd with Planks, towards the Ships; the Gunner of the The Somibwere betwixt both Ships fet upon by the Soithlanders, who approacht with a hideous man matips. noife, kill'd four of the Hollanders with long Poles, and forc'd the other three to fave themfelves by fwimming; which they had no fooner done, but they Row'd with incredible fwiftnefs towards the Shore, infomuch that they were out of the reach of their Guns before they could make ready to fire at them. Tafman finding that there was no good to be done here, fince he hazarded the Lives of his Seamen againft a company of wild People, he fet Sail, but was follow'd by divers Boats, at which he fir'd his After=Guns with pieces of Iron and Stones, which killing fome of them, made the reft return. In the midft of the Boats, which were ty'd two and two together, fat the Commander, who encourag'd the Rowers; they all us'd Clubs without Points.

Thefe People were grofs of Body, undaunted, Atrong, and of a tawny colour; the Hair of their Heads ftroak'd up round, was ty'd up on cheir Crown, on which fluck a ftiff white Feather; about their Necks hung a fquare Plate; they wore in ftead of Cloaks, Iquare pieces of Cloth, made faft before on their Breafts.

Tafman, by reafon of his rough Entertainment call'd this Harbor, Murderers-Bay, and afterwards Sail'd along the Shore till the fifth of Fanuary r643. on which Day he dropt Anchor near a lietle Rocky Illand, from which fell two Streams, with a great noife into the Sea. The Inhabitants, a ftrong People, beckned to the Seamen to come on Shore; fome lean'd on thick Clubs,others Fenc'd one with another. Tafman fending his Sloop afhore for Warer with ewo Drakes, return'd without any, not being able to Land, by reafon of the hollow Sea near the Shore; wherefore Sailing from thence he difcover'd two low Illes, which were full of Woods of very tall Trees; from the biggeft whereof came a little Boat, fharp before and behind, in which three.fallow Men, fitting behind one another, Row'd with great fwifto nefs towards the FFemskerk; whereupon Tafman commanded all his Men to go under the Hatches, that the three Souchlanders might not be afraid to come aboard; he allo threw a piece of Linnen out of his Cabbin Window, which one of them, leaping into the Sea, took up; and as a fign of thankfulnefs, laid the fame on his Head, and being hereby emboldned, they came nearer the Rudder, where they took up a Knife, ty'd to a piece of Wood, out of the Water, and recurn'd the Seamen a Fifhhook of Mother-of-Pearl, ty'd to a Cotton Line. Approaching the Shore, they faw abundance of People running along; with two tittle Flags on Sticks. Some of the Natives came in their Boats clofe up with $T_{a}$ man's Ship; ahd one more bold than the reft entring the fame, was found to be a tall Man with a broad black Beard, and green Leaves about his Neck, who fat down on the Deck with his Legsunder him, and bow'd down his Head ofeentimes very low : Tafinan returning his Civility, took him by the Hand to Treat him in his Cabbin, but a Dog which was in the Ship Barking, he grew fearful, and went into his Boat again. Several other Southlanders fwam aboard, and others brought Pifang and Clappes in their Boats. Againft the Evening a great Veffel, furrounded with leffer Boats, came Rowing towards the Hemskerk, the Men making a great noife; the Seamen fearing fome Defign, ran all to their Arms, but wère convinc'd of their Friendflip by the Gifes they Prefented them with from the Governor of the Ifland. The next day a frange Boat came near the Sea-Cock, viz. two Sloops, which being ty'd together, and cover'd with Boards, carry'd feveral Men, Commanded by'a Captain, by them call'd Orangkay: On the midft of the Boards which cover'd the two Boats, food a Hut made of Rufhes, and cover'd over with Pi fang Leaves ; the Sails being made of Mats, caus'd it to Sail very fwiftly. Round about this Sloop Row'd leffer Boats, out of which loud Acclamations were heard, every one crying out, Hael, Hael: during which noife, thofe Southlanders which were already come aboard, fat ftill on the Decks, which made Tafman think that their King himfelf was coming to give him a Vifit, which accordingly fell out, for he came and Prefented him with feveral Hogs, Poulcrey, Clappes and Pifang, all cover'd with white Cloths.

Interview be- tween Ta fman  > tween Tajmann and the South

 , lassilh King.This Southlandifh King was Habited in a Suit, the Stuff whereof refembled (binefe Paper, doubled and pafted together, and was attended by a great Train of Men, Women, and Children, all of them as black as a Coal; fome of them fwam after, and others follow'd him in Boats.
Thefe Southlanders barter'd their Clothes and Necklaces, which confifted of Mother-of-Pearl and white Cockles, and Fifhhooks madeallo of Mother-of-Pearl, againft Nails, Knives, and the like Trifles.

Tafman caus'd a Shirt, Breeches, Doublet, and Hat, to be put on an old Orangkay; who being thus Cloth'd, ftood a confiderable time admiring of himfelf, and was alfo much wonder'd at by his Subjects; but going into the Countrey, he came back without his Clothes.

Another Orangkay being Prefented with a Rummer of Wine, pour'd out the Wine, and fetting the Rummer on his Head, went away with great joy.
Fome of the Governors view'd the Ships, not onely above, but alfo below the Decks, and being brought to the Guns, they defir'd to know the ufe of them; whereupon one being Difcharg'd, it fo affrighted them, that had they not been held, they had all leap'd overboard.

Provifions were daily brought by the Soutblanders to the Hollanders in great Veffels, furrounded by many leffer; ftill as they put their Oars into the Water, they made a hideous noife.
Tafman bringing fome empty Veffels upon the Deck, thereby to make them un* derfand that he wanted frefh Water, the Orangkays pointed to the Shore; whither they went with two Boats, which return'd without Water, the Inhabitants them. felves being forc'd to dig Pits to get the fame.

Mean while other Southlanders coming aboard, the Pilot and Boatfwain's Boy blow'd on their Trumpets, another play'd on a Flute, and a fourth on a Violin whileft fome of the the Seamen Dancing, fo amaz'd the Natives, that they ftood like fenfelefs Creature, gaping with open Mouth upon them.

Tafman looking into a Grammar which contain'd the Language of the Solomons Ines, found that many words which were us'd by thefe People, had a great fimilitude with thofe of that Language.

Befides thefe Men, there came likewife a great many Women aboard, all of them extraordinary tall, efpecially two, who might juftly be ftil'd Gianteffes ;
one whereof had Muftacho's; both ran, and embracing the Chirurgeon Fenrick Haelbos, defir'd carnal Copulation with him, and feem'd to quarrel one with ano. ther about him : Others confidently put their Hands into the Hollanders Breeches, their Husbands giving confent thereunto : All of them had thick, curl'd, black' Hair, which they colour'd red, and comb'd with ten little round Sticks ty'd together on the top, and left wide like Teeth at the bottom; yet fome of them let their Hair hang down in long braided Locks; they fhave their upper Lips, but keep a fquare Beard on their Chin; yet amongf the old People there were. fome whofe Cheeks were overgrown with Hair: Their manner of fhaving is with the Teeth of certain Fifh made faft to a Stick; they all went bare-headed, except fome few, who ty'd a fquare piece of Stuff, wrought of Leaves or Feathers, above their Eyes againft the Sun; the upper parts of their Bodies were all naked, buit about their Middle fome wore a Girdle, others a Mat of Clappes Leaves, others a Cloth not unlike Cbinefe Paper, about the lower parts of their Bodies. The Womens Apparel differ'd little from the Mens, excepting that their Aprons reach'd farther down, viz, to their Knees. They barter'd their Clothes againft Nails. Some of the Orangkays, beian Entertain'd in the Cabbin, wonder'd to fee a Bullet that 'was Difcharg'd from the Quarter-deck, fall into the Water at fo great a diffance. They wore about their Necks Motherofepearl, white Cockles, fweet-fmelling Flowers, green Leaves, or the Nails which they had gotten of the Hollanders: Some of the aged Women wanted both their little Fingers, and the young ones the upper Joynes of them, which the old Men alfo wanted: Haelbos pointing at the Stump, ask'd the reafon of it, but one of them laying his Hand under his Chin, made ftrange Signs, out of which he could apprehend nothing.

On the twenty third of Ganuary, a fecond time Tafman went afhore for Water, carrying Spades and Pick-axes with him, to dig Pits with. Two of the Hollanders Boats going clofe together, in each of which were three Soutblanders, Tafiman call'd to his Rowers to pull foutly; which the Soutblanders in Tafman's Boat obferving to tend to their Rowing the fwifter, laugh'd and hooted at their Countrey=men that were in the Sea=Cocks Boat, when they chanc'd to get beyond them. Tafman in his going afhore difcover'd feveral Ifles at a diftance, was kindly Entertain'd, and towards the Evening carry'd by four Men through the Water, on a Mat made faft betwixt two Poles, to his Sloop, whither they allo brought nine Hogs, and frefh Water digg'd out of Pits.

Tafman being got about the Point of the Ifland, faw the Hemskerk under Sail; wherefore Rowing aboard the Sea-Cock, he was inform'd that the had flipt her Anchor; whereupon following her, he got fight of another green Illand the next day, along the Shore whereof ran reveral People with Sticks, on which hung white Cloths: fome of them came aboard, and brought with them what Provifions the Ifland afforded. The Inhabitants barter'd Clappes, Pifang, Fowls, Hogs, Mothero of-Pearl Fifh=hooks, Stone Axes, little Stools, great Clubs, with a black Point as long as a Man's Arm, and hooked, againft Trifles. The Hollanders were alfo ftor'd here with frefh Water. The People both in Language, Habit, rnd Cuftoms, were very like thofe of the firft Illand, but were not altogether fo courteous. One of the Soutblanders ftealing a Half pike out of the Boat was forc'd by his Companions to reftore the fame.

The foremention'd Haelbos relates, That going afhore with fome Soldiers, he faw their Houfes, which he found to be buile after a ftrange manner, viz. fome of them were round like Towers, Wider at top than at bottom, and without any Holes for Air, but all buile clofe of Canes, which were fluck in the Ground; other Huts were coverd with a long Roof of Pifang or Clappes Leaves, refting on Pofts; under which kind of Building Haelbos fhelter'd himfelf againft a mighty Shower of Rain, found divers young Men and Women fitting on Mats, and an old Woman, blind through Age, lying by them on the Ground, and Fanning her felf with $\mathbb{P}_{i-}$ Sang Leaves: The Men going away, fignif'd thereby a kind of Invitation to the Hollanders to go to the Women, who not receiving the Entertainment they ex. pected, rofe altogether on a fudden, and Singing, Danc'd about the Hollanders. The Men had on their Shoulders and Breafts, Scars of half an Inch deep, and an Inch long; upon fome of which, being frefh and bleeding, the Flyes fat. They eat after a ftrange manner, for ftripping off the outmoft Rinds of the Clappes with their Teeth, and breaking the hard Shell againft their Elbows, they pull out the Kernel, and eat the fame. Whatever Flefh-meat they eat, they never throughly. boyl or roaft it, but make it onely juft warm. They fleep on the Ground upon Mats, and lay their Heads on a little woodden Cricket with four Feet. They take great pride in their Hair, and thofe that have not long Hair of their own, ufe Perukes.

Tafman flecring his Courfe towards the high Coaft that lay before this Inland, was follow'd by feveral fmall Veffels from the adjacent Shore, of which fome car. ry'd a Bough of Clappes or Pifang, with white Veins at the ends; but feeing the Ships Sail from them, they threw the fame overboard. Tafman ftanding Wefterly, difcover'd three Inles, near the laft whereof the Sea broke exceedingly, which the Hollanders not without great danger had approached in the Night : after which they difcover'd to Leeward of them, a high Coaft, which extended it felf a great way, but the Sea went forough, that they durf not venture near the Land; befides, the Sea went very high on a Bank, firft ten, then five, three and a half, and again ten, fourteen, and feven Fathom deep; and oftentimes a Man might fee the Ground, infomuch that they kept out the Boats belonging to the Hemskerk, which was in moft danger, to carry them aboard of the Sed-Cock, if the firft thould chance to Split. Lafly, getting over the Bank, they faw very high Land to Windward, and many hilly Inles to Leeward; the Sea allo was full of blind Rocks and Shelves, fo that they were in danger every hour, and the rather, becaufe the Wind blew hard every day; yet at laft lofing fight of Land, they fteer'd thein Courfe Wefterly in five Degrees Southward of the Line, towards New Guinee. On the two and twentieth of March they difcover'd low Land full of Woods of tall Trees; fur. rounded with a company of Ines, againft fome of which the Sea brake with great violence, infomuch that they were again in great danger, efpecially when they were got amongft cighteen Ifles, between which the Water being fhallow, and the Current running very ftrongly, drove the Ships towards the Shore : Whileft they were Tacking to and again to get beyond the Shelves, a little Veffel, carrying a great Weatherecock on her Star board, came from the Shore, Row'd by feven Men, who fat on Boards which lay over the fame; they were of a brown Complexion, onely girt about with a hairy Girdle, made faft on the top of their Heads; under their Feet they alfo wore fomething in ftead of Shoes, about their Necks hung Flowers, and their Bodies were Painted black: Among the feven, one who was very fat, and whofe Head was adorn'd with two Feathers, ftood up and proffer'd the Seamen two Clappes, in return whereof Tafman gave them a Box of Nails and a piece of Sail"cloth, which finking under Water, an aged Man div'd for the fame, and bringing it up, gave it to his fix Companions, who made no fhew of thankfulnefs. Their Arms confifted in Bowes and Arrows. Their Clappes they call'd Anienv, as the other Iflanders had done.

Sailing from hence, they difcover'd two low Inlands full of Trees; and three Leagues from them, on their Star-board, a high Coaft, and on the other fide a great Illand, whither they drove with a fmall Gale; approaching the fame, two very fmall Boats came towards the Hemskerk; the biggeft of the two carry'd fix Men, and the leaft three, all of them very deform'd; they went fark naked, onely their Yards were ty'd up with a String on their Bellies, and about their Arms hung Chains of Mother-of-Pearl; they were Coal-black, onely red about the Mouth, which rednefs was occafion'd by the chewing of Pifang; in their Hair ftuck woodden Combs, and on their Foreheads green Leaves; but in each Boat was one who had a bruifed Reed made faft in his Neck like a Plume; the biggeft Veffel was Painted with ftrange Shapes of Men and Beafts; they us'd red Bowes and Are rows, and having call'd to the Seamen, they Row'd back again to the Shore; which Tafman left a Stern of him, and ran between the Main Coaft (by all fuppos'd to be New Guinee) and feveral great Illands, that lay fcatter'd along before the Main Coaft; from whence came four fmall Boats, adorn'd with Imagery like Serpents, but kept without Gun-fhot from the Ships; at laft one leaping overboard, fwam to the fmalleft Boat, out of which one fwam back in his ftead to the other, and afterwards came to the Hemskerks fide; he was a black Man, wore Leaves before his Privities, and Armlets about his Elbows ; through the Griftle of his Nofe ftuck a white Bone Bodkin, fharp at the ends, and of a Fingers length, and about his Neck a String full of Cockle.fhells.

Tafman Sailing on along the Main Coaft, met with eighteen Boats more, the Rowers whereof laid their Oars upon their Heads, and not without ftrange Geftures call'd aloud, and invited the Hollanders to comeafhore: On the Sterns and Heads of thefe Boats were likewife divers Shapes Painted, upon a white Ground; in fome were two, and in others three, four, and five Men; eight of them going into the Hollanders Boats, were made Drunk with Arrack. Thefe. Soutblanders went ftark naked, fome onely covering their fecret Parts with Leaves; their Skins were black, onely on their Foreheads they drew a red Stroke, which reach'd to their Ears; their brown curl'd Hair was by fome colour'd grey, by fome red, fome let it hang loofe over their Sholdiers, others ty'd the fame in a Tuft on their Crown, cover'd with a Cap of Pifang Leaves, others wore their Hair fcarce two Fingers long, and through the Griftle of their Nofe, a piece of Cane or Quill, and a broad Beard without Muftacho's; they had nothing to barter but large Snail.fhells, on which they made a ftrange noife; and whatfoe're they receiv'd, they firft fmell'd on it like Dogs: they fancy'd not Nails, as all the other Southlanders had done. Their manner of Fifhing was thus: They ty'd feveral half Clappesefhells, made faft like a Chain, to a long Reed, fhook the fame to and again on the Water, to gather the Fifh together. In the Boats lay Planks of an oval falhion, which by Ropes ty'd in the middle they held before them in fead of Shields. When thefe Soutl. landers went from the Ships, one of them threatned to beat the Seamen, flaking his great Club at them; whereupon they all Row'd with great fpeed to the Shore, whileft one in every Boat knockt with a Staff againft the fides, juft as if they had beat an Alarm. Amongft them one had barter'd for an old Doublet, with which he fhew'd many antick Tricks, putting it on the wrong way, fometimes on his Head, then his Feet into the two Armsholes, and anon the Buttonsboles behind on his Back.

The Ships Sailing from hence, ran along a broken Coaft, and on the twelfth of Aprib were fo terribly fhaken by an Earthquake, which lafted an hour and a half, that they feem'd fhivering to pieces in the Water, as if they had ran again? a

Ooo . Rock,

Rock, notwithfanding they could not fathom Ground with their longeft Line. Somewhat farther they difcover'd a burning Mountain on an Ifland, between which and the Main (on which ftood alfo a very high Mountain) they feering their Courle, came into a white Water, mov'd by a ftrong River from the Continent; and coming to an Anchor before the Illand Jamna, they faw the Ifles Moa and Arimo, before them. The Famneans calling New Guinee by the Name of Belah, inform'd the Hollanders, that they Warr'd continually with the Inhabitants thereof. There People being alfo Coal-black, fome of them had loofe curl'd Hair, hanging down over their Shoulders in long Braids, and others had onely two thick Locks, which cover'd their Ears; all of them wore four Feathers on their Heads: the Men pull'd out their Beards, and hung a great Bone Ring through their Ears, at which alfo hung a Shell like a Spur; moft of them had red Rofes ty'd about their Heads, and a Necklace of Hogs Teeth about their Necks; under their Navels they wore Gir. dles, a handful and a half broad, and about their Waftes Strings full of Shells, or Sea-Cockles, to which a fmall Lappet was.ty'd, and hung down before their Pris vities; but becaufe it was but two Fingers broad, and mov'd to an again by the Wind, their Nakednefs appear'd to thofe that took notice thereof; through the Griftle of their Nofes they wore a Hogs Tooth, or the Splinter of a Cane. Upon the Stern of their fmall Boats was the Shape of a litele Lyon. One of thefe Iflanders imitated the Hollanders when they fpoke, endeavoring to repeat their words after them, and therefore was call'd $P$ arrot.

Tajman Sailing from hence to Moa, came to an Anchor before the Coaft, ten Leagues beyond $\mathfrak{F a m m a}$, where a great Boat, carrying feventeen Men, coming near the Ship, let flie a great many Arrows at the Seamen; but the next Morning being better reconcil'd, they came aboard, where the Chirurgeon of the Ship gave a Cap to one of ahe famneans, who, as a teftimony of his thankfulnefs for the Prefent, requefted him to fit down ; which done, he began to braid his Hair from his Forehead to his Neek, tying the fame with a String.

Tafman weighing Anchor, Sail'd between Neen Guinee and the Illand Infou, having got nothing but a few famnean words from the Inlanders, who call'd a Bone, Ver tilia; a Hog, Paro; a Knife, Sapera; Beads, Safera; a Nail, Tortor; Sleep, Moeni ; and a Rat, Afplooo. So fteering his Courfe along Arimoa, which is both higher and larger than the neighboring Amoa, and refembles a Seaman's Cap, he left Nero Guinee a Stern of him, and Steering on Northerly, Sail'd by Schoutes-I/and, where eight large Boats came within Gun-fhot of him, each of which had on each fide a Wing, under which fat four Rowers, two and two together, with their Feet hanging in the Water; at their approaching near the Ship they put out a long Pole, with a white Flag upon it; whereupon Tafmanallo commanded his white Enfign to be put forth, and threw a String of Beads, ty'd to a piece of Wood, out of his Cabbin Window ; which the Soutblanders had no fooner taken up, but in teftimony of thankfulnefs they all broke their Arrows over their Heads, and kept near the fides of the Ship, till fuch time as the Boatfwain thereof founded a Trumpet, up. on the hearing of which thep all Row'd away with as much fpeed as they could poffibly. Thefe People were of a fallow Complexion; they broke their Arrows with great Ceremony; for firft they pointed with them towards the Skie, then put them into the Water, and breaking each Arrow in two pieces on their Heads, they threw one over the Larboard, and the other over the Starboard; he that broke the Arrow, made a long Speech to the Hollanders, who took the fame for an Oath of their Fidelity toward them. In every one of thefe Boats were twenty eight or thirty Men.

Tasman profecuting his Voyage farther, difcover'd the following day another rifmans sir: Inland, and a crooked Arm of New Quine, near which he judg'd might be an Open= into Noyes ing betwixt New Guinee and Gilolo; then leaving on his Starboard a great many blind Cliffs, dangerous Shelves, and uneven Grounds, he catt Anchor near a Rock, which at high Water was overflow'd. A Boat coming near the Ship, in which were fix Men, whole long Hair hung down their Backs, one of them amongst the reft ftanding up, called to the Hollanders in the Ternaren Language, Saying, What People? to which a Seaman, who underfood and Spake the faid Language, ane fwer'd, Spaniards: whereupon he ask'd, From what Country, and whither bound? to which he was anfwer'd, From Moa to Ternata: The Soutblander hereupon reply'd,' You are Deceivers, the Ship is not Spanish, but Holland make; whereupon Tasman caus'd the Prince of Orange's Flag to be put out, which the Southlander no fooner flaw, but he cry'd, It appears by your Flags that you are Hollanders, who are always more ivelcom to us than Spaniards: However, though the Seaman acknowledg'd his miftake, in Paying they were Spaniards; yet the Soutblanders would not fay within Shot of them, but at their Rowing away cry'd aloud, Here is abundance of Pijang, Clapper, Potato's, SugarCanes, and other Fruits on Shore.

From hence Tafman Sail'd Northerly between many Ines, and a Channel that Separates New Guinee from Gilolo, by Cerani, Manipe, Bolao, and Burro, to a narrow Opening, where Pangefane being on his Larboard, role with exceeding high Rocks, as Button on the Starboard. There Rocks are molt of them overgrown with Trees and Brambles. In the middle of this Channel alfo lies a Rock, for its Shape call'd $A$ Galley, by which Tasman Sailing, bent his Courfe homeward, and at lat, on the fifteenth of June, Anno 1643. aft Anchor before Batavia.

Terra Borealis, or The Artick Region.

HAving fooken fomething of the Terra Auftralis Incognita, or Unknoion South-' Land, there remains fomething to be fail of the oppofite part, namely, the Terra Borealis, or the Artick Region; which is call'd Incugnita in like manner, as the Terra Auftralis, in regard, though very much, as well of the one as of the other, hath been fearch'd into, and in part difcover'd by Several Voyagers, yet doubtless there is a very vat Tract of Land, in the Artick Region especially (if it be not rather Sea,) which is altogether unknown, and thole parts which have been difcover'd, as Groenland, Ireland, Nova Zembla, Spilbergen, Hud jon's Straights and Bay, &cc. fo imperfectly known, that they may well deferve the Title of Unknown.

The feveral parts of this Artick Region are, I. Terra Subpolaris Incognita, or that part which lies directly under the Pole, and is otherwife called Orbis Arcticus. 2. Greenland. 3. Spilbergen, or Nieuland. 5. Ifeland. 6. Nova Zembla.

The Terra Subpolaris is defcrib'd by a certain Seaman of Bofleduc, to be a great ideceripiz black Rock, about thirty five Leagues in compars, and of an extraordinary heights; safpolarit. through the Landadjoyning to which the Sea violently breaking, makes four great and violent Euripi, or Whirlpools, whole Waters driving Northward with fo forcible a Stream, that no Ship, though carry'd by nexer fo ftrong a Gale, is able to fem the Current, are at lat fwallow'd up in the Earth. It is alfo reported, that between two of thefe Euripi, namely that made by the Scythick Ocean, and thai on the back fide of Groenland, there lieth an Inland Northward of Lappia and Biarmia, inhabited by Pygmies. Much more to this purpore is related of the Subpolar Region, but fince it is very improbable that any one could come fo near as to make any difcovery thereof, to fay more of this Matter, would be but to infift upon things favoring more of Fables than Reality.

Groenland is that part of Terra Septentrionalis, which winds about from South to Eaft, and decline Northward from Cape Faruel, in the Deucaledonian Séa; however, Groenland hath been generally taken for an Ifland ; yet many late Navisators think it joyns with the Continent of Tartary, and others leave it in doubt whether it be Inland or Continent: It is bounded towards the Eaft with the Deiccaledoinian Ocean; towards the Weft, with Hudfon's Straights and Bay, which Ceparate it from Aimerica; towards the North its Bounds are altogether unknown, and is not without reafon fuppos'd to be the utmolt part of the World towards the ANorth Pole. There are who believe it to be one Continent with America, and that upon this ground, be caufe feveral who haveattempted to pals through the Straight commonly call'd The Straight of Davis, into the Eaft-Indies, affirm, that they found it to be a Gulph; but one Captain Jobn Monk; who was alfo a great Undertaker in the North-Weft Paffage through this Straight, or Gulf of Davis, alledges great Probabilities of this Lands being divided by Sea from the Continent of America.

This Countrey hath anciently been divided into two Regions, Eaft-Groenland and We fe Groenland; anfwerable to which Divifion Errick, furnam'd The Ruddy, the Son of Torvalde, is reported by the Danijh Chronicle to have buitt two Forts or Lodges, Oftrebug and Weftrebug, in the Eaftern part. The firf Planters of Cbrijtianity buile the City Garde, which became, as the faid Chronicle mentions, a City of great Repute aud Traffick, and not long after, the Town Albe, and towards the Sea-Coaft, a Monaftery, dedicated to St. Thomas. The City Garde was a Biflop's See, to which belong'd a Cathedral Church, by'the Title of St. Nicholas, built in the fame City, though a certain Ifeland Chronicle makes mention of the Church of Strofnes, as the chief Metropolitan and Bifhop's See of Groentand. The Bifhop af fifted oftentimes in the Affembly of the EStates of Derimark, and held of the Bifhop of Nidrofia or Drunthen in Norway, as the Temporal Efate of Groentand of Nidrofia or Druntben in Norway, as the Temporal Eftate of Groenland held of the Crown of Norway, the Norvegians being the onely known Planters of this Countrey, deriving their Original from the aforefaid Errick, according to the teftimony of Mr. Vormius, and alfo of Angrimus Jonas, in his Specimen Iflandicum, and the Vice-Roy of Norway, the Nomophylax (as the Faid Angrimus calls him, or Sovereign Judge of the Countrey. The Inhabitànts of Weftreburg, or the Weftern Coaft of Groenland, are by fome call'd Skreglinguers. According to the Ifeland Chronicle, the Towns and Places of chief note are Skageford, in the moft Eaftern part; 2 litele farther Weft, the Port of Funchebuder, fo call'd from a Page of St. Olaus King of Norway, who together with feveral others were caft away upon that place; a little higher, the Roanjen, full of white Bears, and other wild Beafts. In the Weftern Coaft, Kindelford, an Arm of the Sea; on the right Shore whereof flands Korfekirk, i. e. a Church built crofsways; alfo the Town Vandalebug, and not far off a Monaftery, dedicated to St. Olaus and St. Ausuftine; the next Place is Rumpefinfiord, where there is a religious Convent, and divers little Inlands, in which are Springs of. Water, warm in the Winter, and temperate in the Summer, which are accounted Medicinal, and of great Vertue in the curing of divers Maladies; upon the fame Coaft lies. Et fiatfford; between which and Rupefinford is the Palace Fos, and a great Church, dedicated to St. Nicholas; near the Promontory Clining is another great Houle call'd Daller, and beyond Ematsfiord, a great Ifland denominated Reynatsen, from the abundance of Rein-Deer which breed there: In the fame Ifland is a Quarry of the Stone Talguefin, not confumable by Fire, and yet fofe enough to be cut into any form, infomuch that Veffels have been made of it, containing twelve Tun. More Wefterly lies the Illand Langen, and another Royal Houfe call'd Helleftad, then Erricksfforl, another Arm of the Sea, and at the Entrance thereof, the Ifland Herrieven, part whereof belongs to the Dome, or Cathedral, and the other part to the Church of Dunes, the principal Church of Groenland, next to the Cachedral. North-Weft from Erricksfiord is Midfiord, and farcher Northward, Bondeford; near which are feveral little Ifles and Ports. Between Oftrebug and Wefrebug is a large Defart, altogether uninhabited.

This Defcription of the Countrey, Extracted from the Ifeland Chronicle, is look'd upon by a late Frencb Writer of note, as the moft particular and faithful; however, the Danifh Chronicle differs in many things, and amongft others in this, that not the hundredth part of Groenland is poffers'd by the Norwegians, but that there inhabit feveral different forts of People; of different Fafhions and Governments, altogether unknown to the Norivegians.
Groenland, notwithftanding its, Northerly Situation, is reported to be a Countrey not unfertile of Corn, and other Productions of the Earth ; and in refpect of its verdant Alpect at fome Seafons of the Year, above the reft of thofe Septentrional Regions, it is concluded to have merited the Name of Groenland, i.e. Greenland; nay, fo great is the Heat that is faid to be there during the Moneths of fune, July, and Auguft, by reafon of the reverberation of the Sun-beams from the Rocks, that many times there is but fix Weeks fpace betwixt Seed-time and Harvef.

The Beafts, which are faid to breed here in great numbers, are Horfes, Deer, what fort of Foxes, Hares, Bears, both black and white, common Wolves, and a fort of Beaft Ared blerte. between a Deer and a Wolf, befides great fore of Beavers and Martins, as the Ifeland Chronicle teftifies, whofe Furr in finenefs may compare with the Sables of Rußia. There are alfo Gerfalcons in abundance, both white and grey, of fo delicate a kind, that they were in ancient times fent to the Kings of Dermark as Pre. fents of great rarity.

The Seas about Greenland abound in very many forts of Fifh, as Sea. Wolves, Sea-Dogs, Sea.Calves, and above all, incredible numbers of Whales of a vaft bignefs.

But the moft remarkable Commodity of this Countrey, is a kind of Horn, com- Srrange kind monly call'd the Licornes, or Unicorns-Horn, which is found there in great quantities, fund there, and great fore of it is to be feen in Denmark, fome whole, fome in great pieces, fometimes onely the Ends or Stumps; but fince it appears very differeut from all other kind of Horn, there is great Queftion made amongft Naturalifts, whether it be Horn or Tooth? and if Horn, whether the Horn of a Beaft or Fifh ? but is is difcover'd of late to be the Horn, or rather Tusk of a certain Fifh, which the Inlanders call Narbual, being indeed a kind of Whale, as the Name feems to imply; fignifying a Whale which feeds upon Carcales.

This Countrey is call'd by the Natives, Secanunga; who was the firf Difcoverer The chief thereof is not certainly known, but the firf chief Voyagers thither were, of the thapger Dutch, William Barents, or Barent Jon; of Amfferdam, who fet forth towards thofe Parts in the Year 1594. and before him, Dithmar Blefkens, in the Year 1563 . of the Englifh, Mr. Fames Hall, who fet out from Copenhagen in Denmark, Anno 1605 . and in a fecond Voyage was flain by a Salvage of the Countrey.
 receiv'd of crict Crecks, recciv'd an Account of them from Iver Boty, a Groenlander, written in the Nor $/ \mathrm{h}$ Lan. guage, as it is call'd, are as followeth : From Stad in Normay, to Hormneß, the Eaft part of Groenland, it is feven days Sailing. Between Ifeland and Groenland lieth a Riff call'd Gombornfe-fkare, the Ice lying upon which, hindreth the Paffage. Thofe that Sail from Bergen in Norway South of Rokeneß in Ifeland, come under Swaffer, a Promontory, or high Land in the Eaft part of Groenland, and within fight of the high Mount Whitfark; between which and Groenland lieth a Headland, call'd Hernoldus Hook, not far from Sound-Haven, formerly much frequented by the Norway Merchants. Thofe that Sail from Ifeland to Groenland, Steer to Snoffne $\beta$, Weft of Rokenefs, and after South-Weft. Eaft of Herinoldus Hook lieth the Village of Skagenford, the moft Eafterly Village of the Illand; Eaft of Skagenford, the Haven Bearford, inacceffible by Ships, by reafon of a great Riff lying at the Mouth thereof. This Place is chiefly remarkable for the Whale. fiffing, the Whales upon the going back of the Tide running into a great Swalth, as they call it, which is in the Haven. Eaft of Bearford is the Haven call'd Allabong Sound, full of little Ifles. Eaft from the Icy Mountain, the aforemention'd Haven Fendobothes. Farther Eaft is the Highland Cor ${ }^{\text {e }}$ Hought, where they Hunt white Bears. Weft from Hernoldus Hook is the Village Codosford, and hard by the Sea.Coaft, a fair Church, which we conceive to be the fame with Korfekirk above fpoken of, as Codosford may alfo probably be the fame with Kindelfiord. A little farther Weft lieth the Boy, or Town of Wart fdale (for in the Norgh Language Boy fignifies a Town,) belonging to Petrefuik, or Peterswike Church: Near this Boy or Town ftandeth a Cloyfter, or Abbey of Canons Regue lar, dedicated to St. Olafe and St. Augufine. Next to Codosford is Rompnesford, the fame queftionlefs with the above-mention'd Rumpefinfiord, where there is a Cloyfter of Nuns of the Order of St. Benedif: : In this Ford lie many fmall Inles. Between Rompne $\beta$ and the next Sound lieth a great Garden call'd Vofe, belonging to the King of the Countrey, as alfo St. Nicholas Church before mention'd. At the en. trance into EmneStnesford is the Inlet Southwodersvike, and fomewhat higher on the fame fide, the little Cape Bloming, beyond the Inlet Granwike; above that, the Garden call'd Daleth, belonging to the Cathedral Church; and on the right hand to thofe that Sail out of the faid Sound, a great Wood belonging to the fame Church, where they feed their Oxen, Kine, and Horfes. The Highland lying by Emestnesford, is call'd The Ramas Hayth, from the Rain-Deer which ufe to be there Hunted: And hereabouts is that fort of Stone of which they make large Fats or Cifterns, as hath been before intimated; it is by fome call'd the Zevell. Stone, being a fort of Marble, or (as fome will have it) Load-ftone, of all colours. Weft from this lieth another Highland, call'd Long-Highland. The next Sound is call'd Swalterford, having a Church belongining to it of the fame Name, and where there is alfo 2 Garden belonging to the King, call'd St. Hentelfad. Next to that lieth Erricksford, and at the entrance thereof the Highland Erricks Hought, belonging to Deverskirk, the firt Parochial Church in Groenland. North. Weft from Erricksford, is Megdenford. Farther out is a Church call'd Scogelkirk; and farther in the Sound, Leadenkirk. Beyond Erricksford is another Ford or Sound, by the Name of Fof $\int$ a, belonging to the Cathedral Church; and to the North of it, two Villages, Ever-boy and Forther-boys From thence farther North lieth Bredaford; and after that Lormontford; and from thence Weftward, Icedeep. To the North of the Weftand lieth a fpacious Wildernefs, call'd Hemel Hatsfelt, and Edg'd with maffie Rocks and Cliffs towards the Sea fide; beyond which the Sea is innavigable, by reafon of the many Swalgen, or Whirlpools thereabouts.

In Groenland there are divers Hills, wherein are Silver-Mines, multitudes of white Bears, with red Patches on their Heads; alfo white Hawks, and all forts of Fifh. There are moreover in the Countrey divers Rivers, frozen up for the molt part of the Year, and cover'd with.Ice; yet it is generally affirm'd, that it is not fo cold there as in Norway or Ifeland. On the Hills are faid to grow Acorns and Nuts, very well tafted, and as big as Apples; alfo as good Wheat as is commonly produc'd in other Parts.

- In the Journal of Dithmar Blefkens's Voyage, mention is made of a certain blind Monk, brought up in the Monaftery of St. Thomas, who reported feveral memora. ble things concerning this Countrey, as that it was call'd Groenlad antiphraft mail blffems or by contrariety of Speech, as appearing feldom or never green; and that it abounded with Bears and white Foxes, and was not without Pygmies and Unicorns, which never appear'd till after the Sun was entred into Aries; that in the faid Mo. naftery of St. Thomas there was a Fountain of fcalding Water, which was convey'd through Pipes of Stones to the Monks feveral Cells, and ferv'd them not onely for Stoves, but for the drefing of their Meat, which was as well boyl'd by means of this Water, as if it had been over a real Fire, and that the Walls of the Monaftery were made of a kind of Pumice.fone, upon which if Water were pour'd, it would produce a flimy Matter, commonly us'd in ftead of Lime for Mortar, like the Stone of Mount Hecla in Ifeland; that two of thefe Pygmies, a Male and a Female, were kept by the Abbot, and were both endu'd with perfect humane Shape, and overgrown with Hair, even to the outermoft Joynts of their Fingers, the Male efpecially, who had a Beard reaching down to his Knees, but that they feem'd wholly devoid of Reafon and Underftanding, nor had any diftinct ufe of Speech, onely made a femblance of Hiffing of the manner of Geefe; laftly, he reported the duration of the Lives of thefe Creatures to be anfwerable to the fhortnefs of their Stature ; but that concerning their Wars with the Cranes, he had no other knowledge than by Tradition.
The Defcription of Groenland left by Mr. Fames Hall, renders it a high, moun- From Mri', tainous, and craggy Region, fufficiently water'd with Rivers, and provided with hamest hill her good Harbors, of a Soil not unfertile in all places where he came, having between the Mountains fruitful Valleys and pleafant Plains, abounding with feveral forts of Fowl, as Partridges, Pheafants, Sea-mews, Gulls, Crows, ofc. but of Beafts, chiefly black Foxes, and (as was conjectur'd by the plenty of Harts-horns found about their Tents) Rein-Deer, yet not deftitute of other Beafts, the Veftigium of one whereof was found to be not lefs than eight Inches over.

As for the Manners and Cuftoms of the Natives, they are by the faid Deferia ption reprefented to be a kind of Samoid, or wandring People, ftill moving from place to place, warlike and active, ufing Slings and Darts with marvellous dexterity, of a brown Complexion for the moft part, and of an indifferent Stature, eating their Meat either quite raw, or onely a little parboyl'd, Clothing themfelves with the Skins of fuch Beafts, or other Creatures, as they kill, efpecially Seals, or fome of the largeft fize of Fowls, which they Drefs very fmooth and foft, turning the Feather or Hair fide outwards in Summer, and inward in Winter. Their Weapons Bowes, Slings, and Bone or Iron headed Darts; their Religion Idolatrous, bue chiefly Sun-Worfhip,as was gather'd from their manner of Accoft, when any of the Englifh firft approach'd them, for they us'd to point up to the Sun, as chief Author of their felicity, and then beat their Breafts, crying, Iliont, which feem'd to fignifie as much as $I$ mean no barm, and would not come near till thofe that met them did the like. Their Houfes built of Whales Bones, and the Baulks thereof with Whales Ribs, and cover'd with Earth, but the beft fort with Seal-Skins, having Vaules or kon to have been the firft Difcoverer of it, is the fame that we vulgarly call Greenland; and which Sir Hugh Willoughby (if not the firft of all, yet at leaft the firft of the Englifh that difcover'd any thing of there Parts) nam'd King fames's Nenv-Land. The faid Sir Hugh Willoughby fer forth. Anno 1553. in the Bona Eßeranza, accompany'd with two Ships more, vize the Bonaventure, Richard Cballoner Captain, and the Bona Confidentia, and after fome time of Coafting up and down thofe Northern Seas, he Landed with his Company upon the Place, where ftaying a few days, he fent three Men three days Journey into the Countrey South. Weft, and three more as far full Weft, who all; after much hardfhip in their Travelling, return'd without having met any People by the Way, or feen the leaft appearance of any Habitation. Sail. ing hence back for Lapland, they were all frozen to death in the Haven Arzina.

Rooms under Ground, fours\{quare, and two Yards deep in the Earth. Their manner of Burial, a Pile of Stones thrown over the Corps, being firft wrapt up in Seal.Skins.

A Defcription of Greenland by one Mr. Robert Fotherby, reprefents the Nature of this Place contradictory to its Name, as before was obferv'd of Groenland: "For "certainly (faith he) no part of the World, yet known and difcover'd, is lefs Green "than this, both the Mountains and Low-lands being cover'd with Snow till the "beginning of June. The Countrey, which is for the moft part mountainous, "bearing neither Grals nor Tree, lave onely Heath or Ling, as it is call'd in the "North parts of England, which grows upon the Moors or Heathy Grounds when "the Snow begins to melt, and on which in Summer the Deer feed themfelves fat in "one Moneth; but how they live in the Winter, is a thing beyond any Man's skill "to comprehend, efpecially during the Sun's abfence under the Horizon, which "in the Latitude of feventy feven Degrees continues from the eighteenth of October "t to the fourth of February.

This Countrey is by many fuppos'd never to have been inhabited by Men, yet not altogether uncapable of affording Habitation to fuch as would bring with them fufficient defenfive Weapons againft Hunger and Cold: For other Animals, it is found, by the teftimony of thofe that have been upon the Place, not to be deftitute; for befides Deer before mention'd, there have been feen Bears and Foxes; and of wild Fowl, Cutbbert Ducks, Willocks, Stints, Sea-Pigeons, Sea-Parrots, Gulls, Noddies, ©c.

The Southermoft part of Greenland, call'd Point Look-out, ftands in feventy fix Degrees and thirty Minutes. The Weft fide of the Land was difcover'd by the firft Voyagers Northward as far as eighty Degrees and odd Minutes, and in that compafs fix or eight good Harbors for the Whale.fifhing; the Eaft fide as far as feventy eight Degrees, with divers Illands, both great and fmall, yielding good Harbors, and ftore of Whales and Sea.Horfes.

The Vopyges of $\mathcal{F}$ onex Pool Pol

 of fyonat fooland orters to

In the Year 1610. Fonas Pool, Mafter of the Amity fell in with this Land in May, and continu'd upon the Coaft, difcovering of Harbors, and killing of Mor fes, till Fune following: and he is faid to have been the firf that gave this Countrey the Name of Greenland. The next year he fet out again, accompany'd with Thomas Edge, Commander of the Mary Margaret; And fince many other Voyages have been made as to a Place known, and a great Trade driven in catching of Whales, not without feveral Contefts with the Dutch and Danes, but nothing of late difcover'd confiderable more than in the firf Voyages. The Harbors, Sounds and Coaftings moft taken notice of, are Fair Foreland, Cape Cold, Black=Point, HornsSound, Knotty)Point, Bell-Sound, Lovoneß, Croß-Road, Deer-Sound, Fowl-Sound, Clofe-Cove, Gurnet-Nofe, IceSound, and Green-Haven.

There are few that have Sail'd to Greenland, but make great mention of Cherry cterry-FIand. Illand, fo call'd, as having been firft difcover'd at the Charges of Sir Francis Cherry, an eminent Merchant; by others Bear-Ifland, from the multitude of Bears found there; it lies in the Latitude of feventy four Degrees, and is noted for fore of Fowl, Foxes like Dogs, and upon the Coafts great ftore of Whales, Sea-Horfes, and Morfes: It is alfo faid to be furnifh'd with Lead-Mines, and Pits of Sea-Coal.

Ifeland, fo call'd from the continual Ice which is upon it, is a craggy mountain- simarionand ous Countrey; and not onely the Hills, but a great part of the Low-land cover'd ryofflustach. with perpetual Snow : It is of a Form fomewhat oblong, lying between the fifty fourth and fifty ninth Degree of Northern Latitude, having Norrway on the Eaft, the Orcades and Scotland on the South, Grenland on the Weft, and the Hyperborean, or frozen Sea on the North. It is by Olaus Magnus fuppos'd to be twice as big as Sicily, that is to fay, about a hundred Leagues in length. It is the moft known, and moft througly difcover'd of all the Countreys of the Artick Region, and is faid to have been firft found out and peopled in the Year of our Lord goo. by certain of the Nobility of Eaft-Frifia in the Countrey of Breme, in the time of Alebrand, Bifhop of that Countrey ; but whether or no utterly unpeopled till that time, is a Queftion not eafie to be determin'd, though in all probability fo obvious a Place to befound out, could not lie fo long totally uninhabited. Not long after feveral Colonies of Norwegians Setled themfelves, fome in Fitland, fome in Ferow, others (following the Example of thefe Bremers) in Ifeland. The Countrey is full of Rocks and Stones, and (as is credibly reported) not a cultivated Field or Garden in the whole Ifland, and by confequence no fort of Corn, yet the People living without either Bread or Salt; are very ftrong, and of a good Complexion: Neither is there a Tree to befeen, except the Birch, which likewife grows but in one place, and exceeds not the heighth of a Man, by reafon of the violence of the Winds; yet there is faid to be great plenty of Butter, the Grafs being fo fat, that the Oxen are not fuffer'd to ftay long at a time in the Paftures for fear of burfting. Till of late there was neither Town, nor any thing that could be call'd a Village, in the whole Illand, but ftragling Cottages here and there, not above three or four together in a place, moft by the Sea fide for the convenience of Fifhing; they were built pretty deep in the Ground, but artificially fram'd of Whales Bones, with Seats, Benches, and other Utenfils of the fame; now fometimes they ufe Fir to the fame purpofe, which is caft upon the Coaft by the force of the Sea from Tartary or elfewhere. For want of Veffels, they lay their Butter in Heaps in the Corners of their Houfes like More tar. In the Winter, wanting Fodder, they feed their Cattel with Fifh. Befides thefe Cattel, which are Kine without Horns, Horfes onely fit for carrying of Burthens, and very large Sheep, there are fore of white Foxes, and huge Bears of the fame colour, and a fort of rough Dogs, very well known, and frequent amengft us by the Name of Shocks, which the Iflanders efteem not a little, and will part with their Children at a far eafier rate: They keep neither Hogs nor Poultrey, for want of Grain to feed them.

The Rivers belonging to this Illand are many, and thofe not unpleafant, alfording to the Inhabitants plenty of Fifh, efpecially Sturgeon, Trouts, and Salmons; and one is efpecially remarkable for a Bridge made over it, which being the onely Bridge of the Countrey, is made of the great Bones of a Whale. The whole Ifland

- is one continu'd Defart, without any trodden Path or Road from one end to the other; fo that all that have occafion to travel to any part thereof by Land, make ufe of the Compafs, as if they were Voyaging by Sea.

The Coaft of Ifeland hath many ftrange and monftrous Fifh worth obfervation, strnge Fifh as firft the Orca, which though nothing near fo bigas the Whale, yet is able to be the death of it; for being of the fhape of a Shipturn'd upfide-down, and having fharp long Fins on its Back, it pricks the Belly of the Whale therewith till it kills.

The next is the Hackfall, which is very fat, and about twelve Inches long.
Then the Dog.Fifh, which lifting up its Head out of the Sea, Barks, and letting forth its young ones, receives them into her Belly again, when they have fported a while in the Sea.

Lafty, another Monfter, of a moft frightful Chape, mention'd by Olaus Magnus, but not by any particular Name.

In divers parts of the Inland are Fountains of fcalding Water, which as foon as taken from the Fountain begins to cool, and when cold, hatha fulphury Subftance fwimming on the top.

At the Weft end is a fmoaky Fountain, very cold, and turning all that is caft into it into Stone.

At the place upon the Sea call'd Turlocks Haven, are two Fountains of different quality, the one hot, the other cold, which by Pipes being brought together into one place, make a Bath of an excellent temperature, and of a medicinal Vertue.

Not far from Haven Halneford is a Cliff in a Rock of an unknown depth, and no Water to be difcern'd by thofe that look down into it, but if a Stone be caft in, it Thall make a noife for half an hour together, as if it were ftriking againft a Brazen Veffel, and all this while the Water will be rifing till it comes up to the brim, and then will be fo long finking again as the Stone was falling.
Mounains of
$y /$ fland. tain of the Croß, the Moutain Snenelfockel, and the Mountain Hecla; the two firft are chiefly'confiderable for their wonderful heighth, and for the dreadful noife of Thunder which is heard on the top of them, when in the adjacent parts below, the Air is calm and clear; the third lying in the North of the Ifland, and not very high, is one of the moft prodigious Vulcans in the World, for the cafting forth of Flames, black Afhes; and Pumice-Stones, infomuch that there is no poffibility of Habita. tion within fix Miles of it round about; and it is a receiv'd Opinion of the Inhabitants, that it is the place of Torment for the Snuls of the Damned; from whence. there hàth rifen fuch a company of Arange Stories and Fables, that it would make up a Volume of it felf to relate them. The occafion of the great Eruption of this Mountain is not without much reafon imputed to the inflammation of the Sulphur, of which there are feveral Mines or Pits in the Countrey, though none of any fort of Metal.
Firft planting of Chriftian

Waldemarus, King of Denmark and Norway, being confequently Mafter of this Keligion here. amongt the other Nornegian Colonies, Planted the Cbrifian Religion in this Ifland in the Year of Cbrift 1398. and Ordain'd two Bifhops, one in Schalbolden, in the Eaft part, another in Hollen, in the Weft; and after the Reformation was begun, Chriftianus, King of Denmark, took care to propagate the Reformed Doftrine there, as wellas in other parts of his Dominions; and to that end fent overa Printer thither, that the $\mathcal{B}$ IB L E, together with the Works of Philip MelanCtbon and Urbanus Regius, might be publifh'd in the Vulgar Tongue of the Countrey. But thefe Proceedings were mainly oppos'd by the Bifhop of Schallolden, who animating the People to Rebellion, they fiew the King's Lieutenant: Wherenpon the next Year Paul Holfelt, a Kuight of the Danifh Order, being fent over with an Army, overa threw the Rebels, and taking off the chief Heads of the Rebellion, committed the Charge of the Government to another Nobleman of Denmark, whom he left upon the Place. But one Tadde Bonde, a great Man of the Countrey, meditating a Revole, drew divers Perfons of principal note into Confpiracy with him, and was advancing to a formidable Power, had not the Bifhop giveh continual Intelligence of their Proceedings to the King's Lieutenant, who thereupon employ'd Agents to the chief Accomplices of the Faction, and what with farr Means and threatnings fo wrought with them, that they return'd to their Obedience, and forfook Todde, infomuch that he flying with a fmall Party, betook himfelf to a faftnefs at the Foot of Heckelveld, where being hemm'd in, thofe about him were flain, and he himfelf taken Prifoner; and becaufe no Man to whofe fafe cuftody he was offer'd durft receive him, fo much dreaded was his Power, one fonas, a bold courageous Fellow, flew him with his own Hand, and thereby put an end to all farther Tumults and Seditions.

So much have the People of this Ifland been ever addicted to Sorcierie and Su- The pople perfition, that notwithftanding the Profeffion of Chrifianity, and the frequent of ditcelon sorPreaching againft thofe Sins, efpecially fince the Reformation, the generality of perffition them are ftill wedded to many of thofe old diabolical Cuftoms, which were praCtis'd there in time of Paganis $m$; and amongtt other thingsthey are faid to be ferv'd, many of them, by Spirits, which conftantly attend them, and (as Olaus Magnus writes of the Finlanders, they are oftentimes dealt with by Strangers, to fell them profperous Winds for Money, and (doubtlefs by the help of the Devil) perform the fame; as alfo on the contrary, they are faid by their Enchantments to fop the Courfe of a Ship, and make it as it were immovable, though in the Stream of never fo profperous a Gale. They are a proud, haughty People, and for the moft part endu'd with vaft frength of Body; their Habit fo promifcuous, that neither Sex can be diftinguifh'd by it. They are not onely forward to proftitute their Daughters to thofe Germans that Trade with them at Hafnefords, but that Virgin who hath had to do with a German, thall be fure to be fo much the more efteem'd and Courted.

The onely Towns and Buildings of note here, and thofe crected but of late Ages, Townses and are 1. Hafnefords, a Haven Town, chiefly frequented by Dutcl, Merchants for pore. Traffick with the Natives.
2. Bedfede, the Refidence of the Lord Lieutenant or Governor for the King of Denmark.
3. The Bifhops See of $H_{a l} \int_{a r}$, having four Monafteries belonging to it, viz. Pingore, Remeftede, Modor, and Monkeniere.
4. The Bifhops See of Schalloolt, to which alfo doth belong four Monafteries, viz. Vedey, Pernebar, Ǩirkebar, and Schirde.

The Nobles of Ifeland are call'd Bonden; their Fufticiaries or Judges, being twelve Their Pace in number, Locbmaders, that is, Men of Law or Juftice, who are faid to meet once enf madicurure. a year on the twenty ninth of fune, to adminifter Juftice in a place ordain'd for that purpofe in the midft of the Illand, appearing like fome feigned Paradice, fo plea. fant a place it is reprefented to be at that time of the year, being (as the Tradition goes) from a high burning Mountain like Hecla, confum'd to a Plain, and fo envi= ron'd with Rocks, that there was left but a fmall Paffage for one at a time to enter. Here the Governor having firf given the Charge, leaves the Trial of all Matters to the Locbmaders, who having diligently heard every Caufe argued on both fides, withdraw for a while to Confule together, and then proceed to Sentence, the fame Perfons being both Jury and Judge; but if any Cafe of difficulty or fcruple arife, they confule the Governor.
 by Blefkens, is not to be omitted. He faith it was firft difcover'd by one $\mathbb{N}$ addocus, $a$ on of fllusd.
Ppp Pyrate,

Pyrate, who going towards the Farenfian Illands, was caft by Tempeft upon the Shore of Eaf-Ifeland, near the Mountain Reidarfial; and as he departed from the Coaft, perceiving the tops of the higheft Mountains cover'd with a very deep Snow, call'd the Illand Snelandia, that is, Snowy Countrey.

Gardarmes Vayage to

Upon the fame of Naddocus's Difcovery, one Gardarus, the Son of Suavarus, a Sibede, was defirous to make a Voyage thither, and arriving near the Eaftern Shore, Winter'd in the Bay of Skialfanda, or NorthoIfland, in the Year of our Lord 864. and call'd the Haven Hufcamick, from the Houfes or Wintering places buile there, as the next Haven to it was call'd Nartarapick, from Natrare, an eminent Mariner in this Expedition. Gardarus returning home about the beginning of the Spring, call'd the Countrey from his own Name Gardar holm.
Fibcos's Voy- The next that follow'd his Example, was one Flocco, a famous Pyrate, whofe Daughter Geirbilda being drown'd upon the Coaft of Schetland (anciently Hietland,) gave the Name of Geirbildarwata to the Sea thereabouts: Not having the ufe of the Mariners Compafs, he made ufe of Ravens for the fteering of his Courfe, and ha. ving fent forth two without fuccefs, by the guidance of the third he had fight of the Eaftern fide of the Illand; and Steering Southward, he found a very wide Bay; between the Promontories Renkanes and Snefefnefs; which Bay, from Eara a Scot$t i / h$ Mariner that accompany'd him, he nam'd Faxaos, that is, The Mouth of Faxa, though from its many Havens it came afterwards to be term'd Hafnafordur. Sailing along the Weft fide of the Inland, he entred the Bay Bredafiord, and took up his Quarters at Watnesfiordur, a Haven in the Province Bardofitaund (for by thefe Names thefe Places came afterwards to be known:)'Having ftay'd here two Winters, he return'd back into Norway, and is faid to have been the firft that gave this Countrey the Name of Ifeland, from the great quantities of Ice which fill'd the Seas thereabouts, he allo gave it the Name of Rafnaflock, from the Ravens which ferv'd him in ftead of a Compafs.
A Plantation
fitled in If 6 . fatled in Ifo.
by Ingulphes and Hiorleifus

The laft and moft confiderable Adventurer was Ingulfius, the Son of Orn, Duke of Fyrdafilace in Norway, who, together with his Coufin Hiorleifus, that Marry'd his Sifter Helca, being adjudg'd to Banifhment by Halfen (to the Award of whofe Judgment they had fubmitted themfelves) upon the flaughter of his two Brethren, Holmfen and Herfen, (thefe three Brechren were the Sons of Allas, one of the prime Noblemen of Norway) in a Quarrel, wherein Halfen was chofen Umpire; and alfo detefting the Tyranny of Haraldus Pulchricomus, King of Norivay, went over Gonfaloniere, or chief Leader of a great Colony of People, whom he rais'd for the fetling of a Plantation in fome foreign Countrey: Accompany'd with his Coufin Hiorleifus, he took Shipping for Ifeland in the Year of our Lord 854. having been over to vifit it about four years before; he Landed at a Promontory on the South Shore, which from him took the Name of Ingulfbolde, and at Reicbarwick feeled his Habitation, while Hiorleifus feated himfelf at the Promontory by him call'd Hiore leifbolda, where he built two very large Houfes, each being about a huñdred and thirty Foot long; then he fer himfelf to Manure and Till the Ground, employing in that Work ten Slaves, whom he brought with him for that purpofe out of Nor way; but it was not long ere they traiteroufly fet upon him and flew him by an Ambufcade which they had laid for him; after which they betook themfelves to certain lietle Ifles, which were nam'd Weftmafyar, where before they had well neftled themfelves, the whole Race of them were rooted out by Ingulphus, in revenge of his Kinfman's Death. After this the Ifland grew daily more and more populous by the coming over of new Families from Norway; fo that at this day it is a Place. not the leaft confiderable belonging to the Kings of Denmark.

The ancient Iahabitants of this Place (for it is to be fuppos'd that there were People here before the coming over of Ingulf us) were call'd $\mathbb{P}_{\text {appe }}$ or Pappe, and the Eaft fide of the Illand, Papey, which agrees very well with the Names of two little Inands on the Coaft of Scotland, Pappa and Wefrepappa, from which many conjecture, as alfo from feveral Croffes and Bells found upon the Place, that there hath been in former Ages a refort of the Irijh, and of the People of the Northo Weft parts of Scotland.

The Eaftern Bound of Ifeland is call'd Aufturloorn; the Weftern, Randefandur; The Diviton the Northern, Langanes; and the Southern, Reicranes. The Ifland being divided ace ${ }^{\text {offlchand }}$. cording to the four Quarters of the World, Nortb-Ifland is Fever'd from Eaft-Iland by the aforefaid Promontory of Langanes; from WeftrIfland by Rutafordur Bay; from Soutbsifland, by vaft and unpaffable Defarts. Becween South-Ifland and EaftI/land runneth the River focolfu, through the Defarts of Solfeimafande. Between Soutb-Ifland and $W e f$ f-Ifland a famous River nam'd Albis, which emptieth it felf into the Bay of Bargar ford.
'Tis a vulgar Opinion, that this Ifland is the fame which the Ancients call'd Thule; but upon confideration it will appear, that by the Ultima Thule taken notice Ancients she of by Virgil, 'Clandian, Statius, Pytbias Mafsilienfis, Pliny, Seneca, Solinus, Tacitus, and others, is meant one of the Britijh Ines, amongt which were comprehended the Ines on the North of Scotland, as the Orcades, and fome others, the utmoft of which we call Schetland, and is very probable to be this Ultima Thule of the Ancients.

Nova Zembla, lying under feventy fix Degrees of Northern Latitude, and a hun- Noon Zemdred and twelve Degrees and twenty five Minutes of Longitude, and being rece dificorerd diff kon'd above two hundred Miles in length, was, together with the River Puora, and Straights of Weygats, difcover'd, (and, as it is thought, firft of all) by Stephen Bur. rough, who was fent out by the Mufcovia Company in the Year 1556. to find out a Way to Cathay by the NorthsEaft.

Afterwards one Oliver Bunel, a Dutch-man, mov'd with the hope of Gain, went from Enkbuiffento Pecora; where (having firft difcover'd Coftinfarca in Nova Zembla) he loft all by Shipwrack.

The States=General nothing difcourag'd with the little fuccefs of thefe two Voya. gers, fent forth two Ships under the Command of Hugo Linfchot, to the Straights of Weygats, and two others under William Barrents, who were to go direatly North wards for Nova Zembla : Linfchot went fifty Miles beyond the Straights, but the Northerly Winds and late Seafon of the year forc'd him to haften back with all poffible fpeed. William Barents and his Company were neceffitated in the Year 1596 . being not able to get off, in regard the Ice increas'd upon them more and more, to take up their Winter Quarters there in a Cottage, which they made a fhift to calt up for their prefent neceffity, having much ado to defend themfelves againft the Bears, that continually affaulted them.

This Countrey is generally deliver'd to be a barren and defart Countrey, full of Wood indeed, but the Boughs as bare of Leaves, as the Ground of Grafs; alfo trep. very incommodious to be travell'd through, by reafon of its defartnefs, and the danger of Bears, great fierce Foxes, and fuch like ravenous Beafts, which feed onely upon Flefh, and which are the onely Beafts this Countrey harbors.

In a Forrnal of Mr. Henry Hudfon, there is to be found a much more favorable Defcription of the Countrey: "Generally (faith he) the Land of Nova Zembla "that we have feen, is to a Man's Eye a pleafant Land, much Main High-land "with no Snow on it, looking in fome places green, and Deer feeding thereon, " and the Hills partly cover'd with Snow, and partly bare.
PPP

It fhould feem to have been a receiv'd Opinion from the firf Difcovery of Nova Zembla, that it was inhabited by Pygmies, it being feveral times, in the fournals of fome Voyages, mention'd particularly by the Name of The Land of Pygmies, bur upon what certain Ground cannot in the leaft be difcover'd; for we find not from the Rußlians (to whom the Place, by reafon of its Vicinity, is probable to have been firft known) any other Account of the Inhabitants, but that they are a People wholly deftitute of civil Manners, and unlimited by Law or Religion, faving that they feem to give fome kind of Adoration to the Sun, Moon, and North-ftar, and have fome Qualities which feeak them rational Creatures; whereas the Pygmies (if there be any fuch Creatures) are thought to have nothing of Humane but their Shape onely.
whanghr. Befides Nova Zembla there is not far from it another Ifland, known by the Name I/and: of Willougbby-Ifland, from Sir Hugh Willoughby, the firft Difcoverer ; they both are of the Dominions of the $C z a r$ of $\mathbb{R} u$ ßia.

Several eftempts for the difcovery of the North-W eft Paffage.

WHat hath been difcover'd of Sea in the North or South parts of the World, is of no lefs Confequence than what hath been difcover'd of Land, and the Straight of Hudfon Northward, is no lefs confiderable than the Straight of Magollan South; we fhall therefore compleat this Difcourfe of the Artick Region with a brief Mention of what Capes, Bays, Sounds, ©c. have been found out by thofe that have attempted to find a Paffage by the North. Weft to the Eaftrindies.

Not to infift upon the fabulous Stories of King Artbur's firft conquering Ireland, and then Sailing into the Northern Seas, and fubduing Scantia, Ifeland, Groenland, and (as the Story faith) many other Iflands beyond Normay even under the Pole, or of Malgo's fubduing Ireland, Ifeland, the Orcades and Norivay, or Otther's Reports to King Alfred of his Voyages to the North-Eaft parts beyond Norway, or the Voyages of the two famous Venetian Brethren, Nicolo and Antonio Zeni, or of Marcus Paulus Venetus, Odoricus and Vertomannus; the firft Englifhoman we hear of, that made an Expedition into thofe Northern Seas, was Sir Hugh Willoughby, before taken notice of for the Difcovery of King James's Nervland and Willoughby-Ifland, in the Year of our Lord $1553^{\circ}$

Stephen Burroughs (as hath been intimated) difcover'd amongft other Places, about the Year 1556. the Straight of Vaigats.

In the Year 1576. Sir Martin Forbifher fetting forth with two Barques, after he had been out about five Weeks, had fight of a High-land, which he nam'd Queen Elizabeths Foreland: Thence Sailing more Northerly to the heighth of about fixty two Degrees, he defcry'd a great Sea or Inler, which he entred, and thence it Anno 15 80. Arthur Pett and Cbarles fackman were fent out by the Rußian Company, to make a Difcovery of the River $0 b$, and paffing the Straight of Waigats, took par. ticular oblervation of the Inlands and Places there, but not being able to pafs much farther, by reafon of the Ice, towards the latter end of the year they return'd.

In profecution of this Difcovery to the North-Weft, Captain Folm Davis of Sandruge in Devonfhire, made three Voyages; his firt Anno 1585. his fecond, 1587. in which he met with many ftrange Adventures; but the main thing that accru'd from thefe Voyages, was the finding of a mighty Through-let between vaft and defart Iffands, to which his Name gave the Appeharion of Fretum Davis, or Davis's sirragisu Straight.

The next that went upon this Defign was Captain George Weymunth, who from the Year 1585 to 1602 made feveral Expeditions, which produc'd large Relations of ftrange Accidents that befell them, but little of Difcovery farther than what had been made before.

Mr. James Hall, very noted for his Voyages to Groenland, (which before was by Captain Davis call'd Defolation) at his falling in with that Place nam'd a Head-land from the then King of Denmark, Cape Cbriftianus, which fome think to be no other cape crifiaiathan Cape Farewel.

Anno 1606. Mr. Fohn Knight was fet out by the King of Denmark, of the Paffages of whofe Voyage little or nothing memorable is recorded.

The next and moft famous Attempter in the difcovery of the North-Woft Paffage, was Henry Hudfon, who is faid to have difcover'd farther Northward to the Pole than any before him. From the Year 1607 to 1610 he made feveral Voyages, being fet out by Sir Thomas Smith, Sir Dudley Diggs, and Mr. John Woftenholm, with others that were his great Friends, and Advancers of fuch publick Defigns. In his laft Voyage the Ifles of Gods Mercy, Prince Henry's Foreland, King James's Cape, Queen Annes Cape, Diggs's Ifland, Cape Woftenholm, The King's Foreland, Mount Charles, Cape Salisbury, &c. were firft taken notice of and nam'd, and, which were his principal Difcoveries, and therefore worthily retaining his Name, Hudfon's Straight and Indor's Bay ; but in his return homeward he was fet upon in his Cabbin by one Green, Wil- Ban. fon, and others of their Confpiracy, and together with his Son Joln Hudfon, Tho. Widdows. Arn. Ludlow, Sidrach Eaner, and two or three more, was put over into a fmall Shallop, in which they were forc'd to feek their Fortune, and in all likelihood perifh'd, for they were never heard of, after. Not long after Green going on Shore upon a ftrange Ifland, was fhot from an Ambulcade of Salvages into the Heart; the like End had Wilfon, and three more of the Confpirators dy'd of their mortal Wounds, the reft with much ado got home in a very fick and weak Condition, through the Hardfhips they had fuftain'd, and want of Provifions.

There was allo another Hudfon, who Anno 1608. went to the heighth of eighty one Degrees, and gave Names to certain Places, which continue to this day, as Whale-Bay, Hackluit's Headland, and Hudjon's Touches.

By the Affiftance of Prince Henry, and thofe ocher Noble Perions above mention'd, Captain Thomas Button fet out in the Year 1612. and is faid to have pafs'd Hudjon's Straight, and leaving Hudfon's Bay to the South, to have Sail'd two hundred Leagues South-Weftward over a Sea above eighty Fathoms deep, which at length he difcover'd to be another great Bay, fince call'd Button's Day: He is faid alfo to sutton's but, have difcover'd a great Continent, which he call'd Nero Wales.

Several other Voyagers there were in this great Attempt of the North-Weft Pafo fage, as Captain Gibbons, Robert Bylor, William Baffins, and Captain Willianz Hawkridge, who though they all came fhort of the main Enterprize, yet every one found out fome new Cape, Bay, or Promontory, or open'd a farther Paffage than had been before, as Bylot made known Cape Comfort; Baffin, the Inlet call'd from him Baffins a.ffn's By. Bay, as alfo Sir Fames Lancafter's Sound; Hawkridge, a farther Paffage into Lamly's Inlet.

From the Year 1616 . to 163 1. the Bufinefs flept, and then a Voyage was undertaken by Captain Luke Fox, who at his Return gave very good hopes and encouragement, that the Work, fo long in profecution, was not impoffible to be effected; neverthelefs, by reafon of the late troublefom Times it was again wholly laid afide for almoft forty years; but in the Year 1668. Several Peifons of Honor undertook to revive the Work, and co that purpofe furnifh'd out ewo Ships, which fet forth in fune, and remarad about the beginning of October the Year following, giving fo fatisfactory an Account of their Voyage, that in the Year 1670. the fame Advencurers thought fit to fend out two Ships more, fo furnifh'd, as to endure a Wintering there, which they did, with greacer hopes than ever of finding out the 2 North. Weft Paffage, befides a handfom Cargo of rich Furrs, which made it more than a faving Voyage; fo that 'tis fuppos'd this will not be the laft Attempt, but that another will fuddenly follow. And it may well be obferv'd, that nothing confiderable hath been done, in this grand Enterprize, but by the Englifh.

A brief View of what Places are poffes'd at this day in the Weft-Indies by the Englifh, Spaniards, French, Portuguefe, and Dutch.

THe Englifh poffefs in Northern America, Nerb England, the Bay of Trinity, Chincet, and a part of Terra Nova, or Neev-found Land; Virginia, part of Florida, now, call'd Carolina, the Bermudas, or Summer-I Ilands, New Holland, which they took from the Dutcb An, 1664 . with New Amfterdam and Fort Orange; Terra Marix, or Mary=Land, part of the Inles call'd Lucaies; ahong the Antille or Caribbee-Iflands; Barbados, Anguilla, part of St. Chriftophers, Montferrat, Nieves or Mevis, Antego, Dominico, and St. Vincent; the Ille of St. Catberine, otherwife call'd Providence, Famaica, the Ines of Curacao and Trinity, Ceveral Colonies at Surinam and Sinamari, with feveral Fores upon the Coaft of Guiana; and lafly, the Haven Porto Bello, once the Spaniards.

The Spaniards poffers the greateft and beft part of America, wherein they have a vaft namber of very confiderable Towns. In Nortbern. America they have I. Nerb Spain, in which are the Audiences of Mexico, Guadalajara, and Guatimala. 2. The Inlands Cuba and Hifpaniola (excepting fome parts to wards the Weft, which are in poffeffion of the French) Boriquen, &c. alfo St. Auguftine and St. Matthew in Florida, and a part of News Mexico. In Southern America, Caftilla d'Oro or Golden Caftile, otherwife call'd Terra Firma, in which are the Audiences of Panama, and the new Realm of Granada; next Peru, in which are the Audiences of Quito, Lima, and La Plata; 1aftly, Chili and Paraguay, which comprehends the Countreys of Tucuman and La Plata.

The French hate in Canada, or Nova Francia, Montreal, the Rivers Quebeck, Tadoulack, and fome Places upon the great River of St. Lawrence; alfo Accadie, or Nova Ototia, the Inle of Cape Breton, with the Fort St. Peter, from whence they Traffick to Nepigiquit, with the Salvages of that Coaft; part of the Ine of Terre $=$ Neuve, Pemptagoet, St. Fean, Port-Royal, and other Fortreffes. Among the Caribbee-Iflands, part of St. Chriftophers, St. Bartliolomew, St. Crux, St. Martin, Guadalupe, Defeado, Marigalante, Fodos los Sanctos, Martinico, St. Aloufie and Granada; likewife fome Colonies on the Weft of Hifpaniola. Ulpon the Continent of Soutbern America, on the Coaft of Guiana, the Ifle Cayene, whereftands the Fort of. St. Michael de Ceperoux, now Fort Louis; alfo the Colonies of Matbouri and Armire, Courrou, Coonama and Comaribo.

The Portuguefe poffefs all the Coaft of Brafile in Southern America, with the feveral Capitania's or Prafectures thereof.

The Dutch have onely the Inles of St. Euftace and Saba, the Town of Coro in Terra Firma, the Colonies Boron, Efquib, Berebie; Aperwaque, and others, on the Coaft of Guian..
